Suddenly, the man hugged him, pushed him back on the bed, raised his legs and thrust fast. The speed and strength were terrible. Chu Wanning opened his eyes suddenly and keep calling “Ah… Ah…” The man was anxious, unreasonable, thrusting in, pulling out, leaving only the head of the cock in the entrance, and thrusting in again, so fast that their voices were trembling.

“Wanning… Wanning…”

He was not shouting, but suddenly he looked at his face, which was opposite to his forehead.

“Baby, I’m going to come. Let me be in you…”

Chu Wanning opened his mouth desperately. He didn’t even know what he was calling for. He moaned only in his desperate desire and pleasure. He breathed heavily with desire. He intermittently said, “Come inside me… Ah! Ah… Uh-huh!”

The thick and sticky semen gushed out in a big stream. Mo Ran closed his eyes and growled. His crotch kept moving forward, the top of the bedclothes sliding down. Chu Wanning’s head kept hitting the bedpost, and the person who held him was still on top of him unconsciously, shooting the gushing stickiness into his entrance and thrusting in. Chu Wanning was convulsed by the strong prick, and his white toes were tightened. Eventually, his hands could not help but hold the man's neck.

Each other's rough breathing intertwined, he was humming at his climax, and he was screaming hoarsely under him. Such a fierce tide of desire… He did not know if it was because of the world's most exhilarating aphrodisiac, or because of the two people's hearts. Their own hidden desires they were not aware of…

A hidden desire that even he himself could not sense…

It was only after a long time that Chu Wanning's spiritual sense finally returned.

For some reason, it wasn't just perception that returned with it, but memories of his past life flooded in like a raging river.

After he combined with Mo Ran, they came in a flurry.

He thought of the time when the Heavenly Rift came and Shi Mei had died. Mo Ran was kneeling in the snow, heartbroken.

He thought about how the blood of the Rufeng Sect flowed into rivers and the color of the sky and earth changed.

He thought of how he had been made into a drip of blood, how Mo Ran had woken him up, yet had put him under house arrest, no longer able to do anything.

He remembered everything.

He could feel himself lying on the cold ground, stripped of his clothes, his body wrapped in Mo Ran, the young man's arms trembling, his body covered in sticky sweat, the air full of the scent of blood.

He remembered everything.

Chu Wanning did not move. He did not speak nor did he get angry.

His head hurt, almost splitting. He felt that in the process of their union, something invisible had passed from Mo Ran into his body.

It was that thing that had allowed him to regain the memories of his previous life.

But what was that?

There were too many memories to be received at one time. Chu Wanning's head hurt so much that he thought he must know what it was, but he could not make sense of it at the moment.

"Shizun." Mo Ran's voice resounded in his ears. It was so careful, like the tender stamens of a branch at the beginning of spring, and without the tyrannical appearance from before. "I'm sorry…"

He was enveloped in Mo Ran's embrace. He did not turn around, but from his voice, he could imagine Mo Ran's wet and red eyes, an expression of heartache and guilt.

"Sorry, I still… I still hurt you…"

Just now, under the control of the smoke furnace, Mo Ran was like Chu Wanning. Although he was clear-headed, he could not control his own movements. When he roughly grabbed onto Chu Wanning's waist and impatiently took over this man, he was in pain.

He didn’t want to do this at all… He looked down at Chu Wanning, whose eyes were bloodshot. He wanted to kiss him gently, comfort him, and let him be. But the words were so mean, and the hands so fierce.

His heart was in extreme pain. But what could he do? He couldn’t control himself at all.

Chu Wanning laid prone on the cold stone surface, a splitting headache coming his way. He didn’t even have the strength to lift a finger. Listening to Mo Ran’s apology, he felt his ears buzzing. He felt dizzy, as if he would lose consciousness at any moment.

He opened his mouth, and because the scream he made just now was too pathetic, his voice was extremely hoarse. “You first… You can leave first…”

Mo Ran pursed his lips but didn’t say anything.

He regained his consciousness earlier than Chu Wanning. Actually, he had already retreated when he was in control of his own body. However, despite the miserable state he was in, he still felt as if the weapon made from flesh and blood was in his body.

The pain in Mo Ran’s heart grew even more.

Before entering the cave, he had thought that he would see a spell similar to the memory scroll, but he didn’t expect that he would once again return to the Sisheng Peak, the wedding night. Dressed in red and gold, he pushed open the door to the Red Lotus Pavilion.

Of course, Mo Ran knew what he had done, but he had never thought that he would be able to recreate the situation in such a manner.

He did not want to do anything that would harm Chu Wanning, nor did he want to become the Emperor of the Immortals — but he could not help it. What was even worse was that he could clearly feel that his heart was throbbing with excitement as he did such a tyrannical thing.

Regardless of whether it was Taxian-Jun or him, both of them yearned to bite and subdue Chu Wanning.

So what if he was patient? In the end, he was still Mo Ran.

It couldn't be changed. He couldn't escape.

When he had invaded him rudely just now, Mo Ran had been listening to the groans of pain coming from the person beneath him. It filled his mind with pleasure along with a strong sense of guilt.

He suddenly couldn't tell who he was, whether he was Taxian-Jun or Mo-zongshi, whether he was good or evil, loyal or evil.

Between the sheets, he caressed Chu Wanning's face and said the dirty words he had said… Concubine Chu?

Yes, in his previous life, he had done three things that were too excessive. One was to kill him, and the other was to use a killing move. The second insult was to force Chu Wanning to have sex with him.

Third, marry him. That is, taking his identity, trapping him for life, a jade falling to the underworld, all for him. Because of this selfish desire, he made that proud and upright cultivator his legal concubine.

Although in this world, not many people knew the true appearance of the "consort Chu" that year, it was an indisputable fact that he was forced to cover his face with a red veil and marry him in front of everyone's eyes.

He also did not know what the meaning of what he had done in the past was.

In fact, if he really wanted Chu Wanning to suffer, he could cause a huge commotion and let the whole world know that he had married his Shizun, and let everyone know that Immortal Elder Yuheng had become Taxian-Jun's.

Why not?

He even kept it a secret for a long time, so much so that even Empress Song Qiutong did not know who the mysterious 'consort Chu' was. He was vindictive, he made a fool of himself, and in the end he only acted out a play where there were no spectators.

But he sang it with relish.

Why?

He even remembered that after Chu Wanning died, he wanted to set up a monument for him, but was afraid that the whole world would see through him and laugh at him, so he could only hold onto a pick and dig a grave himself in front of the Heaven-Piercing Tower.

Emperor Taxian-Jun sat in front of the monolith. He rested his chin in his hands and thought for a very long time. He really wanted to write:

The Tomb of Chu Wanning

However, he felt that if he were to write it like this, he would end up in a miserable state. He would end up like a woman who had nothing but regrets. That scene was truly laughable.

After strolling around for a long time, his eyes finally lit up. He thought of a naughty and intimate way to go about it, and he laughed. Using his knife as a brush, he wrote it down one by one.

The Tomb of consort Chu

But he still felt that it was not enough. He thought of Chu Wanning, that aloof and serious person, who did not like to look directly at his face, and felt angry and coquettish in his heart — he would never see such an expression again, so the Emperor Taxian-Jun still had no way of saving his wife, so he viciously thought to himself.

Chu Wanning was so determined to take revenge on him with his death.

Too much.

His eyes were red with resentment.

Yes, too much.

Therefore, he wanted to humiliate Chu Wanning and bully Chu Wanning. He wanted Chu Wanning to die with his eyes open, and when he went to hell in a hundred years, he could laugh and ridicule that guy. He wanted to tell this to the innocent man in white.

You didn’t win, I won.

Look, you’re dead, and I can still talk to you.

Emperor Taxian-Jun, holding the saber in his hand, thought for a long time. He thought of the sunset, the color of the sunset. He thought of the descending night, the shining of the silver hook.

Under the moonlight that was as white as ice and frost, Mo Ran finally made up his mind. With a stroke, he added another four words onto the tombstone:

Grave of the Steamed Consort Chu

The carvings were done. He held his cheeks and laughed, thinking to himself, “This is a perfect name, confirming that Chu Wanning is his man, whether he wants to or not, he has to be innocent and perfect.” It would be even better if Chu Wanning could be rejuvenated from his anger.

With such expectations in his eyes, he happily ran to the Red Lotus Pavilion.

Chu Wanning had the worst temper.

How could he be willing to suffer such humiliation?

So wake up quickly and fight him again after waking up. In terms of strength, seeing that his injuries had yet to recover, he could still give him a move.

If it really wasn’t possible, ten moves wouldn’t be out of the question.

Wake up.

He stood in front of the lotus pond and looked at the undamaged body inside.

I’ve already given you ten moves, you have to be tactful. Look at the monolith I’ve erected for you, aren’t you angry? Don’t you want to grab onto my clothes and shout at me? You were willing to clear your name, and ended up with those ridiculous words — “Grave of the Steamed Imperial Consort Chu”?

Wake up.

Wake up.

His expression changed from expressionless to savage.

But Chu Wanning just lay there, not saying a word or moving at all.

After a long time, Mo Ran finally understood that he had finally gotten what he wanted and won the obedience he had always wanted.

His Shizun, his enemy, his teasing companion in bed, his Chu Wanning.

He finally obeyed.

Within the icy cold silence of the cavern at Mount Longxue, Mo Ran held his scarred lover in his arms and didn’t say anything for a while.

Then, he suddenly thought of that rainy night in the inn in the Wuchang Town. The person in his embrace had once been so young and yet so passionate, rolling around with him. His ears were red, and he whispered to him, asking if he was feeling well.

At that time, he swore in his heart that he would never hurt Chu Wanning again in this life. He wanted to take things step by step and let the fire simmer slowly. He wanted to let Chu Wanning get used to it little by little.

He had made many plans and many thoughts.

He had even imagined countless times when and where their first true union would be, whether it would be under the light of the morning sun or the stars, and whether it would be an apricot blossom falling from the window.

But the only thing he did not expect was this.

For their first time in this life, their union was absurd, painful, and crazy.

Mo Ran laid beside him, a special feeling gradually appearing in his chest. It was as if there was something white violently trembling in his heart, and then the earth cracked and the sky collapsed. It was like a hundred-year-old tree had been uprooted, bringing with it a rustling sound.

That pure thing seemed to wrap itself around something dirty and terrifying in his heart. It struggled madly outwards, and a black and a white thing quickly broke free from his body.

He did not know what the two things that escaped from his heart were. He did not have the leisure to think about it, because Chu Wanning said, “You pull out first.”

Mo Ran did not say anything, nor did he know what to say.

Without saying a word, he endured the pain in his heart and slowly picked up the clothes scattered on the ground, silently helping Chu Wanning to put them back on.

These clothes took a long time to be worn because he almost didn’t dare to touch the place below Chu Wanning’s waist. The bruises on his thighs were a clear indication of what he had just done and how much pain he was currently suffering.

He did not dare to look at Chu Wanning's face.

What could be in those eyes now?

Disappointment, resentment, emptiness……

He didn't want to think about it.

It took Mo Ran a while to get Chu Wanning's clothes on. At this time, his head was already hurting and his whole body was covered with cold sweat.

He did not know where this pain came from, but it was probably related to the two things that were missing in his heart. He endured the pain and held onto Chu Wanning's cold hands.

He really didn't have the courage to look at Chu Wanning's face, so he just stared at that hand. After hesitating for a long time, he asked softly, "Shizun, you remembered it already?"

"… Yes."

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment.

There was a kind of blankness on his face. It was like being a homeless abandoned dog. He just stared blankly for a while and then closed his eyes.

He had feared this matter countless times before, but when the judgement really came, he was surprised to discover that he was actually so calm and tranquil.

Like an anxious fugitive, he was finally taken to prison.

He stood in the miserable cell on the other side and looked around. The nightmare he had once feared and avoided had finally come true, and he felt as if a stone had fallen from his heart.

There was no peace during his escape.

After falling into the net, he finally had a good night's sleep.

There was no need to run anymore.

There was no hope, no apprehension.

He felt relieved.

"I'm in a mess right now, there are a lot of things… I'm not sure yet." Perhaps it was due to the intense shouting, or perhaps it was due to the tiredness of the past, but Chu Wanning's voice was hoarse and his expression was uglier than Mo Ran's, "It's too messy."

Mo Ran gathered up his courage and rubbed his pale cheeks.

Even though his own hands were shaking badly.

"Mo Ran…" He muttered to himself in an almost empty tone, "Taxian-Jun…"

"…"

He suddenly closed his eyes, his eyelashes trembled, and the space between his eyebrows became smooth.

"Then don't think about it. Let's sleep for a while." Mo Ran's eyes were red and his fingers ran across his face and hair. "I'll accompany you."

Chu Wanning seemed to tremble slightly.

Mo Ran felt an excruciating pain in his heart.

“Shizun, don’t be afraid. It’s me, not Taxian-Jun… I will never hurt you again. Never again.”

Chu Wanning lifted his eyelashes slightly. There was a glimmer of moisture under his dark eyelashes. For a moment, he felt like he wanted to say something to him.

However, the words did not come out in the end.

Chu Wanning closed his eyes, turning his face away at the last moment as his body subconsciously curled up.

“Shizun…”

“I have something to ask you.”

“…”

“… If… You had known earlier that the person who gave you a pot of rice milk outside the Wubei Temple was me.” Chu Wanning’s voice sounded exhausted, “… During those years at the Wushan Hall, would you have let me go?”

This question was like a sharp knife, piercing straight into the heart of the listener. Mo Ran trembled as he choked with sobs. He did not know how to reply, but he stretched out his hand to embrace the person in front of him. However, just as he touched his shoulder, he felt his shoulders tremble slightly.

He was crying.

However, Mo Ran knew that he no longer wanted to see it for himself.

After a while, Mo Ran could no longer hold on. Although he did not know why Chu Wanning had set up such a maze in his previous life, the peculiar feeling in his heart became more and more distinct.

At this moment, he suddenly discovered that there seemed to be a thin wisp of smoke drifting from his chest, drifting all the way to the back of Chu Wanning's chest. That thin wisp of smoke was too light that he did not notice it at all.

If one looked carefully, one would notice that the smoke was black in one moment and white in the next. It flowed endlessly from his heart into Chu Wanning's heart.

What are these?

He noticed that the black substance was being absorbed into the incense burner on the side as it converged into an ink-black substance.

What was it?

He wanted to remind Chu Wanning, but he found that he had fainted again. The huge amount of memories from his past life was unbearable, not to mention the fact that these memories were messy. They had to be reconstructed in Chu Wanning's mind.

"Shizun."

Pain… Why was it so painful? It was as if there were two forces in the heart doing the sawing. Black and white, pure and dirty.

Mo Ran frowned and struggled to his feet. He walked over to the smoker and shakily lifted the lid.

Before he lost consciousness, the last thing he saw was the black gas that was flowing out — it gradually condensed into the shape of a black heavy flower in the incense burner.

Ch. 244 [Mount Longxue] Snake

Guyue'ye.

The cultivators that had escaped from Mount Jiao had all pulled out the Heart Drilling Worm and bandaged their wounds under the treatment of the Medical Sect's disciples. However, the depressed atmosphere was hard to handle. The air was filled with a deathly heavy scent.

Xue Meng sat on the beach at Linling Island. He put the Longcheng scimitar on his leg and watched the tide rise and fall, moving up and down.

Suddenly, he heard footsteps behind him. He turned his head around, his eyes wide and full of hope. However, when he saw who it was, he immediately became disappointed and cast his gaze back at the vast sea.

Mei Hanxue sat down beside him.

"Your father received a message that he had to return to the Sisheng Peak. He left in a hurry and asked me to come over and tell you."

"…"

"Your father and you don't seem to be in a good mood."

"If you know, then scram."

Mei Hanxue didn't roll around and threw him a sheepskin flask. "Do you want to drink?"

Xue Meng angrily turned his head around, like a hedgehog with its needles erected. "Drink! I am not that corrupt!"

Mei Hanxue smiled. His golden hair looked especially gentle in the sea breeze. His eyes were like pale green jades, but also like two pools of green water, full of fragmented flowers.

“It’s just drinking, why did you decline?” Mei Hanxue raised his hand and stroked his hair, revealing a silver bell tied around his wrist. “I’ve heard that the Sisheng Peak is not for people to speak of, but it’s good enough to get drunk, right?”

“I’ve heard that Immortal Chu was in love with Pear Blossom White. You’re his disciple, so why can’t you learn half of his magnanimity?”

Xue Meng fiercely glared at him. He opened his mouth as if he wanted to curse something, but in the end, he did not curse anything. He grabbed the wineskin and untied it, drinking a large mouthful.

“So generous. This is the Taxue Palace’s wine, it tastes the most —”

“Pfft!” Young Master Xue spat out more than half of his mouthful in one go, his face green. “Cough! Cough! Cough! Cough! Cough!”

“…” Mei Hanxue pursed his lips as if surprised, “Can’t you drink?”

Xue Meng was embarrassed. He pushed away the hand that he was trying to take back the wineskin and gulped it down. This time, it was even more powerful. After swallowing it, he immediately turned his head and spat it out.

Mei Hanxue was momentarily at a loss as to what to do. “I didn’t know you… Forget it, let’s not drink anymore.”

“Scram!”

“Give me the jug.”

“Scram!” Xue Meng was anxious. He angrily glared at Mei Hanxue and said, “If you tell me to drink, I’ll drink. If you tell me to stop, I’ll stop. What about my face? Do I have any shame?”

As he said this, he slapped his own face. He was already feeling a little drunk.

There was a rumor on the Sisheng Peak: Chu-zongshi was not intoxicated from a thousand cups, and Young Master Xue was drunk from one cup.

Mei Hanxue was not living at the Sisheng Peak, so he naturally did not know these words. Even if he did, he would not pour wine on him.

After throwing up, Xue Meng drank from his wineskin. This time around, he gulped down four to five mouthfuls before he let out a deep breath. Immediately after that, his expression turned even uglier.

Mei Hanxue immediately retrieved the wineskin and said with a frown, “Stop drinking and go back to rest. You’ve already been alone by the sea breeze by yourself for a long time.”

However, Xue Meng stubbornly said, “I want to wait for someone to come back.”

“I… I…” Xue Meng’s eyes stared straight at him. After staring for a while, he suddenly cried, “You don’t understand, you don’t understand. I’ll wait for my brother, I’ll wait for my Shizun, I’ll wait for Shi Mei…… You know what?

Four people, it's not right to have one person missing. One person missing, it's not the same anymore…"

Mei Hanxue knew how to comfort a woman.

They just have to say a few words of their own, and under the moon, present flowers and swear an oath to each other. With the right method the heart is comforted.

But he had never comforted a man.

Xue Meng also did not need to be comforted. He had just held it in for a long time and finally broke through after drinking heavily. He only wanted to vent his anger.

"Of the four of them, I am the only one left, and now I am the only one left — I feel very bad. Damn, do you understand?!"

Mei Hanxue sighed. "I understand."

"You are a liar, what do you know?" While crying, Xue Meng suddenly lowered his head and wailed. He tightly hugged the Longcheng saber, as if he was holding the last dead tree and floating grass.

The swindler didn't know how to persuade her, so he said, "Alright then, I don't understand."

"Heartless dog, why don't you understand?!" There was no reason to argue with drunkards, so Xue Meng suddenly raised his face and fiercely stared at him. His teary eyes were filled with hatred as he said, "What don't you understand? Isn't it very easy to understand?"

He extended his finger and said, "Four!"

One off, one off, and when he removed the third he broke down again, as if the third finger were his tear gland, and Xue Meng said, “There’s one left, I’m the only one left. Do you understand?”

Mei Hanxue: “…”

He did not want to be a swindler, nor did he want to be a heartless dog. Therefore, he could not answer even if he knew or didn’t know. Thus, he simply did not speak.

Xue Meng stared at him for a while, then turned his head again. “Oh —!”

He was the most flirtatious Young Master Mei. In the past, other people would stare at his face like they were lovestruck, but this was the first time. After staring at him for a while, he actually threw up.

Mei Hanxue felt a slight headache. “What’s wrong with you? When I was young, I fed you fishy grass, you vomited. When I grow up, I’ll give you some Kunlun wine, and you’ll puke again. It’s really harder to serve you than a lady.”

He looked at the person who vomited until he could not even breathe. His pale green eyes were filled with helplessness: “Alright, finished with the scolding, finished with the vomiting, and will go back to rest. Whether it’s your brother, your Shizun, or your friends, none of them would like to see you like this.”

As he spoke, he stood up to support Xue Meng.

Xue Meng felt a little weak after spitting it out. His footsteps were floating, and he no longer attempted to struggle free from the arms of others.

Mei Hanxue had brought him from the long coast, entering through the back door of Guyue'ye's room, preparing to let him in to rest.

However, before he could enter the parlour, Mei Hanxue suddenly felt a strong killing intent spreading in the air.

He suddenly restrained Xue Meng, and the two of them immediately hid behind the corridor. Xue Meng was caught off guard and let out a "Ah!", but Mei Hanxue tightly covered his mouth.

"Don't say a word."

"Hand… Move your hand away… I… I feel like vomiting…" He could barely hear the humming sound.

Mei Hanxue said, "Swallow it."

Xue Meng, "…"

Afraid that this drunkard would cause trouble, Mei Hanxue put his hand on Xue Meng's lips and cast the Silencing Spell. Then, he turned his face to the side, his pupils turning as he looked into the parlour.

The scene in front of him gave him a shock.

Mo Ran?

At this time, most of the Sect Leaders and Elders had already returned to their respective sects. Mount Jiao had changed dramatically; they urgently needed to reinforce the barrier around their territory.

However, Guyue'ye still left behind quite a few injured cultivators, all gathered in the parlour, staring at the man standing in the center with a face full of fear.

“Tsk tsk.” He squinted his eyes and looked around, “Look at these familiar faces, I didn’t think that after so many years, I would be able to see all of you standing here full of vitality.”

Someone gathered up his courage and shouted at him, “Mo, Mo Weiyu! What the heck are you doing! Were you stung by the Nightmare?!”

“Crazy?” Mo Ran’s lips slightly parted as he sneered, “Speaking to me like this, the one who’s going crazy is yourself.”

As soon as he finished his sentence, everyone saw a black light flash past. That person was stunned where he stood. Puff! Blood gushed out from his chest straight to the top of the sky.

“KILL, KILL!”

“What did you do, Mo Ran?!”

There was even someone who shouted with a heart wrenching voice, “Quick, go find Sect Leader Jiang! Quickly go and find Sect Leader Jiang!”

“Oh?” Mo Ran slowly lifted his eyes. “Sect Leader Jiang, is it Jiang Xi?”

“…”

“This person’s skill level is not bad. Among all the people I’ve killed, he can always rank in the top ten.”

“What the hell are you talking about?!”

Mei Hanxue also felt that something was amiss. This was not the Mo-zongshi he had seen before. This man was filled with resentment that soared into the sky as his entire body exuded a baleful aura.

However, no matter how one looked at it, it looked exactly the same as Mo Ran, and its voice was also exactly the same — Who could completely imprint another person's appearance and voice in such a short period of time?

In the parlour, an elder of Guyue'ye said, "Mo-zongshi, I'm afraid that you have been cursed by the Devil Dragon Curse of Mount Jiao. Please sit down first and wait for this old man to examine your pulse…"

He was interrupted before he could finish his words.

"What do you mean?" Mo Ran narrowed his eyes, "Old fool, you beat around the bush and scold me, is there something wrong with you?"

The Elders: "…"

"Since you want to be cured so much, I'll help you. There are no patients in this world, so I understand the principle of starving to death and becoming a doctor." As he spoke, the black shadow plundered everything. In an instant, the entire hall was filled with screams as blood splattered in all directions.

When Mo Ran brushed his black robe and calmly returned to the center of the hall and stood on the dark red carpet, the entire hall was filled with arms that were missing, legs that were broken. Some people were even more miserable, having their hearts, lungs, and stomachs pulled out and dying abruptly.

Mo Ran looked at the elder who had fallen to the ground and said, "How is it? I have sent so many patients to be treated by you. Are you happy?"

“Mo… Mo Weiyu…”

“The opening ceremony is grand, I congratulate you on getting rich.” Mo Ran revealed a smile and then walked out of the group of corpses that were either rolling on the ground or dying with grievances. “Oh, right.”

When they were at the entrance of the hall, he turned his face sideways and said to them, “I almost forgot to tell you, the Upper Cultivation World has been waiting to die for hundreds of years. Remember to inform your Sect Leader that sooner or later, I will raze all the sects in the Upper Cultivation World to the ground.”

The person with a tough personality said hoarsely, “Mo Ran, you don’t have the balls! You only dare to come to the Flower Hall to treat heavily injured cultivators, you are basically afraid of meeting the other sect leaders!”

“Afraid of them?” Mo Ran narrowed his eyes. “Even if all of you join hands once again, the army will suppress the world. “As long as I don’t want to die, which one of you can hurt me?”

“Mo Ran, are you crazy?! Are you in cahoots with Hua Binan?! You, what exactly do you want to do?!”

Mo Ran’s dimples were deep and his eyes shone with a ghostly light. After a while, he slowly said, “… “You’re asking me what I want?”

A strange glow flashed across his handsome face. Then, he closed his eyes.

“Even I myself do not know what I want. In short, no one in this world can give it to me, and no one can coax me to be happy again.” He blandly said,

“I have been a walking corpse for so many years, I have already lost all my desire. However, if you have to ask one —”

He suddenly smiled.

Opening his eyes, his black pupils seemed to shine with a scarlet radiance.

“To watch you die.”

Everyone was stunned. Mo Ran’s eyes swept across the deathly pale faces, and he could no longer hold back his laughter. “It’s been a long time since I’ve seen such an interesting scene. It’s quite lively.”

“Mo Ran… You’re really crazy…”

“You’ve said this a second time.” Suddenly, his smile tightened as he heard an explosive sound! In the blink of an eye, Mo Ran had already appeared behind the man like lightning. His hand swatted down and instantly, brains were splattered everywhere!

“AHHHHHH!”

Amidst the screams, Mo Ran raised his bloody handsome face, revealing a pair of extremely strange and beastly eyes. He swept through the crowd like a sparrow dispersing.

“If I’m not crazy, I’m afraid I would have spoiled your plans.”

The head of the person he addressed as ‘Esteemed One’ shattered as blood dripped all over his face and face. Mo Ran didn’t even bother to look at him, as if he had eaten an extremely ordinary meal. He calmly and coldly looked around at everyone.

“Alright, I’ve already killed enough idiots today.” The corner of his mouth slowly curled up into a smile. He casually pushed the corpse aside and kicked it away, “As a human, killing the whole thing in one go is always boring. If I kill too many people, This Venerable one will be lonely again. I’ll let you live for a few days.”

After a pause, he continued, “When my hands get itchy again, then I’ll crush your head again to have fun?”

He slowly walked out of the hall, and when he reached the door, he cast a sidelong glance at them. “Before that happens, remember to keep your heads with you.”

After he had finished speaking, he broke into a loud laughter. After wrapping himself in his cloak, he suddenly swept across the edge of the ground, and his figure quickly disappeared behind the battle arch.

Three days later.

Inside the chamber of the Mount Longxue, Mo Ran and Chu Wanning were still unconscious due to the effects of the Incantation of Law. As for the censer, black smoke and blood suddenly gushed out, followed by a shrill scream that echoed within the cave.

Mo Ran suddenly opened his eyes and woke up.

There was no longer any pain in his heart, nor was there any injury. The mysterious smoke that had been between him and Chu Wanning was also gone.

“Shizun!”

He immediately stood up and saw that a third person had already entered the cave.

That person was standing in front of the stone table with his back facing him. He was carefully examining the censer that was emitting a burning smell. His figure was slender and handsome, an indescribably beautiful figure. He lifted the lid, and with one slender white hand, he took out a thousand odd flowers and held them in the palm of his hand.

“What a thorough destruction.” He softly said, and with the strength of his two fingers, he crushed the black flower into powder.

The person looked at the white light with his hands behind his back, feeling somewhat relieved, “Well, fortunately, when I first made this flower, a piece of my soul was also fused into it. If it wasn’t for that soul guiding me, it wouldn’t be so easy to find this cave in this vast world.”

The white light seemed to understand his words, slowly coiling around the man, but the color became fainter and fainter, eventually disappearing completely.

Mo Ran said hoarsely, “You are…”

Hearing the noise, the man put down the smoker and sighed. “You’re awake?”

“Who are you?”

That person lightly said, “Who else do you think I am?”

His voice sounded very familiar, but Mo Ran had just awoken. His consciousness was still somewhat dazed, as if he had just had a long dream, and he actually couldn’t react for a short while.

Who could this person be?

Listening to what he said just now, it seemed to be related to that mysterious black flower, refining the flower Soul Devouring Insect was Guyue'ye's greatest specialty. It was… Hua Binan?

When he thought of Hua Binan, he immediately thought of Shi Mei. Mo Ran felt a sudden surge of hatred, but before he could say anything, that person turned around.

The light in the cave was dim, but as the man turned around, the room was filled with light. He was truly beautiful.

The long hair that this man was used to letting loose was tied up high in the air. A cloth with fine embroidery was placed in front of his forehead. His appearance was very different. He no longer had a soft and weak temperament, but had a pair of peach blossom eyes that were bright and clear.

Such a beauty, yet he was as shocked as thunder. The two words came out like sharp arrows cutting through the dead silence:

"Shi Mei?!"

The one who came was Shi Mei… The one who came was actually Shi Mei!

This peerless beauty stroked his hair and said, "A-Ran, are you that surprised to see me?"

Blood rushed to his skull and his brain buzzed. Mo Ran was quivering so hard that his brain could not process what had happened. He had no idea why Shi Mei had suddenly appeared here and why he had such a strange expression on his face.

His entire body was frozen, all sorts of words stuck in his throat. In the end, he first hesitantly said a sentence: “… Your eyes…”

“I’m not injured.” Shi Mei smiled and walked towards Mo Ran, “I’ve come to meet the person I admire. If I’m blind and look bad, who would like me?”

Mo Ran slowly recovered from his playful demeanor and was unable to speak for a while. He was shocked as if a black cloud was pressing down on the city and his mind went blank.

“You… How could it be you… Where’s the Cold Scale Sacred Hand?!”

The anger in his heart suddenly surged.

At this moment, Mo Ran finally understood the feeling Xue Meng had in his previous life. There was nothing more painful than being betrayed and plotted by an old friend one day.

“Where is the Cold Scale Sacred Hand?!”

“Oh, him There’s still a long way to go, so there’s no rush to explain.”

As he spoke, he moved forward step by step until he was right next to Mo Ran.

Shi Mei laughed: “Compared to talking about the Cold Scale Sacred Hand, after going through such a huge upheaval, I still want to talk about my heart with the person I love.”

Mo Ran was both angry and cold at the same time, his face grew increasingly livid. “What is there to talk about between you and me?”

The handsome and cultured man chuckled, “Hm?” The corners of his eyes were soft like the glow of smoke as he stared at Mo Ran’s face, “… You and I have a repulsive nature, so we really don’t have much to talk about.”

As he spoke, he walked past Mo Ran until he was right in front of Chu Wanning. Before Mo Ran could react, Shi Mei gently reached out a slender hand, lowered his head and touched Chu Wanning’s face.

“…” Mo Ran’s mind was blank, but he still did not understand what he was doing.

Shi Mei stared at Chu Wanning and spoke softly as if no one was around, “Shizun, that boorish fellow hurt you, right? What a pity… But then again, are you going to recover your memories?”

Pointing his scallion like fingertip at the lower lip of the sleeping person, Shi Mei squinted his eyes. His beauty was still the same, but it was like poison.

“It’s good to recover my memories. Some of the things that you did before, I still can’t figure out. If you wake up, we can still learn from each other.”

He paused for a moment before continuing with a smile, “In your previous life, you calculated everything using all of your abilities, hiding things from the world, and bullied your disciple to such an extent. If it was someone else, even if they were to torment me like this, dying a hundred times wouldn’t be enough. But if you go against me, I’ll still love you and love you.”

As he spoke, he glanced at Mo Ran, then leaned over to kiss Chu Wanning on the cheek. He lowered his eyes and sighed, “Who told me to like you. My good Shizun.”

Ch. 245 [Mount Longxue] Rival

It was as if a thunderbolt had struck the sky as it froze in place.

Unbelievable… Unbelievable… What was Shi Mei talking about? What was Shi Mei doing?! What, what was going on?

Mo Ran was unable to swallow this shock. He didn’t even feel like Shi Mei was kissing Chu Wanning. This scene was too horrifying that he thought he was hallucinating when he saw it with his own eyes.

He covered his forehead with his hands as his temples throbbed. In his mind, he could only see the warm smile from when he was a teenager. He gently called out, “A-Ran.”

But the person in front of him… He actually… Unexpectedly…

His hair stood on end.

Shi Mei likes… Shizun?

How is this possible?!

Shi Mei had never shown any signs of liking his Shizun. To say that Xue Meng liked Chu Wanning was more convincing than Shi Mei liked Chu Wanning. How could Shi Mei like him? He had always been cautious and respectful, and he had rarely spoken.

He didn’t even stick to his Shizun.

After the lesson, he would just leave like that…

How is this possible?

Shi Mei straightened his body, narrowed his eyes, looked at Mo Ran, and chuckled: “It seems like there is someone here who was frightened by me?”

“You… It was simply… Ridiculous…”

“Ridiculous?” Shi Mei continued, “My junior brother, what is so absurd? The person who bullied Shizun to such a miserable state, could it be me?”

Mo Ran’s face suddenly turned red. His eyes were filled with anger and confusion.

If anyone else were to appear here, he would have reprimanded them. However, the person standing here was no other than the person he had mistakenly thought to be in love with for two lifetimes, Shi Mingjing.

For a moment he was speechless.

On the other hand, Shi Mei was much more thick-skinned than before, and said lightly: “However…”

“It’s not like there are none of the nonsense I’ve done. For example, pretending to like you, treating you well for so many years, even going through such a damned interrogation, forcing himself to endure the pain, lying to you… I like you.”

Pausing, a hint of ridicule appeared in his eyes. “Stop fooling around. If I were to fall in love with a person like you who has nothing better than your face, I could really die just by poking my eyes.”

Mo Ran: “…”

“Why aren’t you saying anything? Are you unconvinced?” Even if he was sneering, his poise was still extremely beautiful. He squinted his eyes, then went to touch his chin.

Mo Ran burned with fury, about to summon Jiangui.

However, there was only a scarlet flash from his palm and the spiritual flow immediately disappeared.

Shi Mei didn’t even bother to look up as he said, “Don’t waste your energy. In your previous life, Wanning set up this trap and used half of his soul to pull out the Gu Flower for you. You will no longer be under control, but your body will need at least ten days to recover. If you want to fight with me now, you have to fight with an egg against a rock.”

“Who are you calling Wanning!”

“You’re such an unreasonable person. Don’t tell me that you’re the only one who can bully your Shizun and destroy our ancestors, while not allowing me to love and love your Shizun?”

“You-!”

“You’ve already tasted it countless times.” Shi Mei chuckled, “It should be my turn, right? fuck, I’m actually feeling a bit wronged. But seeing that it’s him, I have to endure it.”

Mo Ran was enraged to the extreme. He did not have a divine might, but he was able to engage in close combat.

“Sigh… That’s why I said, what I hate the most are people like you who don’t even know how to fight.” Shi Mei let go of Chu Wanning and started fighting with Mo Ran in the stone chamber.

The cave was dark, and the two tall men's figures were thrown against the wall. They were like two dragons soaring through the clouds, entangling each other in a fierce battle. Flames surged within them.

Shi Mei was not good at offense, so no matter how much of an opponent he was in close combat, he was not a match for Mo Ran. Seeing that things were not going well, he waved his sleeves, and a rolling spirit snake appeared, locking onto Mo Ran. He took the opportunity to rush to the side, lifted Chu Wanning up in his arms and flew out of the cave.

"Shizun!"

Mo Ran barely managed to shake off the cold, sticky snakes and followed closely behind. However, he saw that Shi Mei was standing on top of a tree branch with a bright moon shining behind him.

Shi Mei laughed: "Stop chasing. You just recovered. Even if you throw away your life, you won't be able to catch up to me."

"Why do you… Why are you doing this?"

"Mo Ran." Shi Mei smiled, "Did I tell you that I hate Shi Mei and Shi Mingjing?"

"…"

"So if you don't mind, you can call me by my real name from now on."

"… What?"

"My surname is Hua and I have no courtesy name. My given name is Binan."

Hua Binan!?

Seeing Mo Ran's eyes widen, Shi Mei laughed even more brightly, "That's right, on account of the fact that we are juniors, I have a very important piece of news for you — Don't go to Guyue'ye, you will be torn to pieces by Jiang Xi if you go to Guyue'ye now. Don't try to follow me anymore. Be good and return to Sisheng Peak as soon as possible."

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment before his face turned pale white, "What do you want to do with the Sisheng Peak?!"

"You're not stupid in this life." Shi Mei smiled, "Senior Brother gave you a small surprise, you'll know when you get there."

He was not even sure if he was more sad or angry at this moment, and he shouted sternly: "Shi Mei, what exactly do you want to do?! What the hell are you doing?! Didn't you tell me that the Sisheng Peak is your home? You're not the one who told me. Your uncle saved you from exile… Didn't you tell me that the most important person to you is us?!"

In the end, his voice trembled as his fingers clenched into a fist.

"… Are you lying to me? "Could it be that after so many years, after two lifetimes —" Mo Ran stopped abruptly.

A bone-piercing coldness.

"Could it be that for two lifetimes… It's all because of your scheme?!"

Shi Mei didn't make a sound. He was wearing a wide robe and big sleeves. He was floating on top of a tree, smiling at him. The peach blossom eyes curved, the jaw was sharp, and in the dense fog of the mountain, it was like a midnight fox.

“You…” Every word quivered between his teeth.

Mo Ran’s mind was in a mess. His gaze was crazed.

“Shi Mei, say something…”

From that year by the candlestick gently exhort, to the later companion, inseparable.

“Say something!”

From the elegant, jade-like youth to the later Seamless Heavenly Rift, lying in his arms in the snow, telling himself, don’t hold grudges, don’t blame Shizun.

Mo Ran was about to burn up to pieces. “You clearly died… I saw it with my own eyes. I was the one who brought your body back to the Sisheng Peak… It is impossible for you to be Shi Mei… You. How is this possible…”

A clear and elegant voice rang out. Shi Mei finally opened his mouth, but it was filled with mockery.

“You bunch of boorish fellows only know how to cultivate your spirit cores and look down on the Medical Sect. Be it you or the Sect Leader… Even our wise Shizun.” When he said this, he laughed, “The preface is wrong. Shizun is not a boor. However, people like you all are people who don’t like medicine Gu.”

Mo Ran muttered, “Medicinal Gu…”

If Mo Ran was clear-headed, he would have been able to hear the flaws in Shi Mei’s words.

Even if using medicine could fake the death of a living person, in his previous life he had been inside the Frosty Heaven Palace for seven days and then watched Shi Mei die with his own eyes. At that time, the coffin was on the third floor. Layers of Longevity Nail were sealed, and the sealing soil was even thicker. Without alerting the mausoleum watchers, who would come out of such a tomb alive?

As a result, there were only two possibilities: Firstly, Shi Mei was lying. Secondly, in his previous life, there had been a person who had sneaked into the tomb area at the Sisheng Peak, opened the coffin and the cover, and let out the fake corpse inside…

However, Mo Ran’s entire body was in a mess. With an invisible hand, his internal organs, spleen and stomach had all been turned into the wrong place. He did not have the heart to think too much about it, and upon hearing what Shi Mei had said, the pale and bloodless face in his memory suddenly appeared before his eyes.

In the midst of the falling snow, Shi Mingjing died. From then on, he hated himself for being powerless, hated Chu Wanning for not doing anything, stepped into the abyss and fell into darkness…

But who knew!

Fake… It was actually fake!

He had actually gone crazy for half a lifetime for a person who faked his death, was obsessed with it for half a lifetime, killed all of the people in the world, and ultimately caused the death of the man who loved him the most in this world.

Ridiculous.

Ridiculous!

His anger and pain had caused his scalp to go numb, his pupils had constricted, and he said in an almost tyrannical manner: “You… How can you actually feel at ease!”

“My heart is at ease. What about you, Taxian-Jun?”

As soon as the four words left his mouth, it was as if he had pinched seven inches.

“Whatever the reason for your holding the butcher’s knife. It’s fine if it’s hatred or unwillingness, but your hands are already stained with blood.”

As he spoke, he held the unconscious Chu Wanning even tighter, as if he was showing off his spoils of war.

“Taxian-Jun whose hands are covered in blood, how can he be together with the impeccable Immortal Elder Yuheng?”

The last trace of blood on Mo Ran’s face faded.

However, Shi Mei knew his weakness very well. He brandished his scorpion pincers and continuously stabbed the venom into his opponent’s body. He narrowed his eyes and pressed on.

“Are you worthy?”

“Don’t you think you’re dirty?”

“You’re stealing.”

The wind blew and the mist dispersed. A bright moon peeked out from behind the clouds.

He cut straight to the point, “Taxian-Jun, all your days with him were stolen. You yourself know what kind of trash you are, so you don’t need me to mention it.”

Mo Ran’s lips were white. He was angry, sad, afraid, and full of remorse and hatred. No one would be able to accept such an emotion without going insane.

“I…”

“Don’t bother.” Shi Mei let out a long sigh, “What about you? Do you really think that after half a lifetime as a Mo-zongshi, saving a few lives, you will be able to erase all of your sins?”

He looked at Mo Ran’s face and chuckled. “You’re thinking too ideally.”

Mo Ran had misspoken.

“Now, Shizun already has the memories of his previous life. All of the ridiculous things you did, the people you killed, the cities you slaughtered, and the ancestors you bullied — you hurt his heart. He will remember them all. All will come back to you.” He paused for a moment, and seemed to be examining the expression on Mo Ran's face with great interest. Then, with a satisfied smile, he said, "Mo-zongshi, it's time to lower your head. You have to admit your mistake."

Keep your head down.

Plead guilty.

His life was ridiculous, and he was extremely poor and cruel. It was all wrong.

Mo Ran's throat rolled, his eyes were red, staring at the man in the treetop, but when his eyes came in contact with Chu Wanning who was in his arms, he could not help but feel pain, his vision was shrivelled and curled up like cattails.

He jerked his head away.

"Think about it. When he wakes up and knows that you've lied to him for so long, how angry will he be?" Shi Mei gently caressed Chu Wanning's face. His slender fingers slid across his lips, "Shizun's strong personality. You know that. Do you think he will forgive you?"

The one who spoke pierced the vital part, while the one who listened felt as if he had fallen into a cave of ice.

Forgive.

He had never asked for it, but he had never wanted it to happen. He had never dared to imagine it would happen.

Mo Ran closed his eyes, his eyelashes trembling.

Shi Mei voice sounded ethereal and serene in the Misty Sky Mountain, as if it was a divine Buddha advising people to turn back their heads in the Sea of Bitterness: “Don’t chase me anymore, go back to the Sisheng Peak. When you get there, you’ll know what surprise I’m talking about.”

The sound echoed in the air.

“Just accept the surprise and don’t resist.” Pausing for a moment, he seemed to have thought of something. His eyes shifted as he stared at the person under the tree.

“Besides, A-Ran, we are completely different people after all. You can’t understand what I want.” He spoke warmly, as if he had been asked in the disciple’s room whether it was delicious to copy and if there was enough chili oil, “I am not as crazy as you are. I would not want to frame a close friend or family member easily. But…”

He changed the subject, but didn’t say much.

Mo Ran turned his head abruptly, “What do you want?!”

Seeing his gaze sweeping over Chu Wanning, Shi Mei couldn’t help but smile, “Don’t worry. With Shizun here, I will only love him and not hurt him. Since he is such a pure white person, naturally, I know how to take pity on him more than you…”

Every accent was soaked until it was soft between the lips before it was lightly spat out.

Mo Ran trembled from the excitement. If he still had his spiritual energy, then Shi Mei would have been torn to shreds by him long ago.

However, he did not have any Spiritual Qi, and Shi Mei had also calculated that he did not have any Spiritual Energy at the moment, which was why he was willing to do whatever he wanted.

Shi Mei chuckled: “But the fellow disciples at the Sisheng Peak, or even uncles, aunts…… There’s also the Young Lord.” His eyes moved around and he slowly finished what he was saying, “If you don’t handle that surprise well, they will die a second time. Look, if Shizun wakes up and finds out that you’ve once again hurt everyone, that you’re selfish, and that you’re living a life without doing anything — will he even look at you one last time?”

Ch. 246 [Mount Longxue] Binding

Mo Ran gritted his teeth to the point that they were about to shatter. His eyes were bloodshot. “Shi Mingjing!”

With a flick of his sleeve, the Moon Shadow caused his robes to flutter.

He stood on top of the trees, turned his face, and said with a beautiful face, “Go, if you don’t leave now, Shizun will wake up. If he wakes up and sees us standing here arguing, I’m afraid he won’t be happy.”

After pausing for a moment, he smiled and added, “That’s right, A-Ran. The next time we meet, remember to call me Hua Binan or shigong - if there is ever a next time.”

After he finished speaking, he jumped into the air. With a light step, he disappeared into the dense forest of the Mount Longxue, and his figure could no longer be seen. Only the pleasant yet cold laughter remained, like a spider’s web descending, suffused with a ghostly light, lingering for a long time.

“Shi Mei! — Shi Mingjing!”

Under the cover of the mountain mist, Shi Mei didn’t turn around to look at Mo Ran. Instead, he carried the person in his arms and quickly flew over the cliff. His cloak fluttered in the wind and his clothes flapped.

His heart was filled with an indescribable joy as his eyes lit up. He was like a hunter returning home full of harvest. However, when he was flying at a low altitude, he suddenly heard the person in his embrace call out hoarsely because of the nightmare from his previous life, “Mo Ran…”

The happy expression on Shi Mei's face froze for a moment, and then he squinted his eyes. His eyes turned cold and angry.

"… What's so good about him that's worth you doing something for him?"

However, Chu Wanning could not hear him. He had a high fever, and his handsome face was as white as a frozen lake. He could even see some light green blood vessels underneath.

Chu Wanning said softly, "Mo Ran…"

Shi Mei stopped in his tracks. It seemed that he had been enduring for too long and was impatient. However, he hesitated for a moment and then restrained himself.

In front of the unconscious Chu Wanning, he was not as relaxed as he was in front of Mo Ran. He stared at his face for a while and said, "Stop thinking about it. Just follow me from now on."

Pausing for a moment, he continued, "But I know that you owe him a great favor. If you can't forget him for a while, it doesn't matter. When I have accomplished my task, I will have enough energy to slowly wear you down."

After saying this, he once again flew into the air. Summoning his sword in midair, he flew straight in the direction of the Mount Jiao Hero Tomb.

It was late at night, and the burial ground of Rufeng Sect was quiet. Moonlight shone on one grave after another. Those that had been made into pieces by Xu Shuanglin earlier could no longer move due to the loss of their spiritual force circulation. They could only poke at their own positions blankly, not moving at all.

Shi Mei used the stored blood of the Nangong Clan to open the gate. He turned his eyes and saw Nangong Liu standing blankly at the foot of the mountain.

Nangong Liu could not be considered a complete chess piece. He was only half finished and still had a bit of his Essence. However, this person had completely lost his mind. His brain was only that of a five-year-old child, so Shi Mei didn't have the leisure to kill him. Moreover, he could at least be of some use to him.

"My dear brother, you're back." When Nangong Liu saw him, he smiled. His slightly plump face was filled with sincerity.

Xu Shuanglin had once considered Shi Mingjing to be his best friend, so Nangong Liu had also called him his best friend, his big brother.

This form of address caused Shi Mei to pause for a moment. He then narrowed his eyes and said, "Don't randomly call me that."

"Ahh…" Nangong Liu looked at him blankly, "You don't like me to call you that?"

"No, just call me Hua Binan," Shi Mei said with a gloomy face, "Go, walk forward and open a path for me."

"Where are we going, dear friend?"

"…" There was nothing to argue about with someone who was only five years old, "Take me to the secret room where Xu Shuanglin used to stay."

Nangong Liu would bring him right away.

In fact, that secret chamber was not a secret to Shi Mei, but it required too much of the Nangong Family's fresh blood along the way. Although he had stored it, he still carried Chu Wanning in his arms.

After they walked for a distance, Nangong Liu suddenly turned around. As if he couldn't hold back his curiosity, he asked, "Is my dear friend big brother bringing friends to spend the night with you?"

"Overnight?" Shi Mei seemed to have been pleased by these two words. His eyebrows relaxed and he smiled, "Pretty much. Just like that. But he's going to stay here for a lot of nights. He should be staying for a long time."

Nangong Liu became even more curious, "Who is he?"

Shi Mei thought for a moment and suddenly laughed: "You really want to know? I'm afraid children mustn't know."

Nangong Liu opened his eyes wide. This middle-aged man's face had the look of a child. It was both disgusting and funny.

They walked all the way to the door of the chamber, which was open and lit by a lamp. The interior of the room was quiet and concise. There was only a single bed, covered with the thick skin of a saber-toothed tiger, covered with a snow-white veil. There was a small table next to the bed, with a handful of brocades. The walls were empty, and there was nothing else.

Shi Mei put Chu Wanning on the bed while he sat by the side of the bed, staring at his face. The candle flame was very bright, illuminating that familiar face.

When he woke up, his sword-like eyebrows were in his temples, and his phoenix-like eyes were filled with vigor.

At this moment, his face was haggard, and the line that was drawn down to his lower jaw looked like it was the end of a cigarette…

Shi Mei didn't care. He only felt that after two lifetimes, both Chu Wanning and Mo Ran were defeated by him. At this moment, Chu Wanning was lying beside him. Mo Ran's Spiritual Energy was temporarily lost and he would soon obediently walk into his trap. His plan was finally coming true.

Just as he was looking at the spirit, he suddenly heard Nangong Liu come over and say, "Huh? This person looks really familiar."

Shi Mei cast a sidelong glance at him: "Do you remember who he is?"

"I can't remember."

"This brother has reprimanded you before, and embarrassed you before."

"Eh? Where is it?"

"In the main hall of the Rufeng sect."

Nangong Liu said in a daze, "Ah, really?… But how come I don't remember anything at all?"

Shi Mei was silent for a moment. Then, he smiled gently: "you just don't remember."

Nangong Liu did not know what he meant by that. He tilted his head and looked at Chu Wanning for a bit before suddenly saying, "But he looks really good. He looks pretty with his eyes closed and without a smile."

“He’s the favorite concubine of Emperor Taxian-Jun. Do you think he’ll look bad?”

“Pet Consort… What does that mean?”

The smile in Shi Mei’s eyes became even more pronounced, “You’ll know when you grow up. Now, you go get me some oranges and heat up some hot water. He has such a bad temper. If he doesn’t have some good food to serve after he wakes up, he would probably be even more angry.”

Nangong Liu prepared to go.

But when he reached the door, he hesitated. Seeing that, Shi Mei asked him: “What’s wrong?”

“Tangerine…” Nangong Liu bit his finger and asked hesitantly, “Do you know when His Majesty will return?”

The ‘Emperor’ he spoke of referred to Xu Shuanglin.

Of course, Shi Mei would not tell Nangong Liu that Xu Shuanglin was dead. He smiled and said, “Be good and listen to me and do things properly. His Majesty will be back soon.”

Nangong Liu’s eyes lit up. He immediately picked up the small bamboo basket that was placed beside the door and went out to pick the tangerines.

The Shi Mei looked at the direction he left in and laughed, “Interesting. When he was in his right mind, his brothers had lost their mental faculties. Instead, they had become more respectful… Indeed, there are many things in this world that are the cleanest when you are young. Once you grow up, you will become dirty once you start scheming and arguing.”

As he spoke, he turned around and caressed Chu Wanning's cheeks.

"Look, most people in the cultivation world are people like him. They aren't worthy of your protection." As he traced his fingertips across that handsome face, Shi Mei sighed and said, "Why do you have to spend so much effort, cut off your soul, tear through time and space, and endure all kinds of humiliation just for these people… Fighting with me for two lifetimes?"

Naturally, the sleeping Chu Wanning would not answer him.

His past life had been filled with pain and nightmares that had tormented him, making his cheeks feel hot and his brow knit tightly together. After staring at it for a while, he took out a silver bottle filled with Tapir Fragrance dew from his Qiankun bag.

"This is for you to drink. I know that you will definitely dream of the events of your previous life. Back then, when they were at Xuanyuan Pavilion, I knew that you would be here, so I asked them to take Tapir Fragrance dew to sell… I wanted to make you feel better, but I didn't want to arouse suspicion. So you see, it's better to follow me than to be with Mo Ran? As long as you make me happy, I can give you a taste of this worthless thing every day. But what can he give you, he can only fight."

The fragrant dew was poured into a small white porcelain cup, close to Chu Wanning's lips.

After feeding him the medicine, he stared blankly at his hard-earned victory for a while. Suddenly, he thought of something and his eyes lit up. He rummaged through his Qiankun bag and finally found a pitch-black silk ribbon. He placed the silk ribbon over Chu Wanning's eyelids and cast a Congealing Spell, completely covering his eyes.

After doing all this, he slowly got up and pinched Chu Wanning's chin to size him up. He was very satisfied with the result.

"Yes, it is indeed beautiful. No wonder Mo Ran liked to tie you up like this in his previous life. It's not bad to learn from him occasionally. At least he's a bit interesting in this area."

His smile had always been very gentle, no different from before. His fingertips slowly caressed Chu Wanning's chin, lips, and nose. Finally, they landed on the black silk belt that covered his eyes.

He said in that soft voice that made people shudder, "Shizun, wake up quickly. Me… I just thought of a very interesting trick. When you wake up, why don't we play it together?"

Ch. 247 [Mount Longxue] Hongyan

Chu Wanning lay on the bed, his mind was in a daze. His consciousness was sometimes clear, and sometimes blurry.

In a trance, he seemed to hear two people quarreling. It seemed to be Shi Mei and Mo Ran, but the sounds of their quarreling disappeared and the only sound that could be heard was the whistling of the wind.

Later on, it was as if he was lying on a warm quilt. Someone was talking to him, and the sound of breaking flesh seemed to come from a distance. He couldn't hear it clearly, but he would occasionally hear a few words, such as 'past life' or 'past life'.

What Shi Mei — He vaguely felt that this was the voice of Shi Mei, but he did not have much energy to digest it. The words quickly dispersed like the morning mist.

His memories were slowly becoming complete, gradually becoming clearer. The memories of his past life were like rainwater that had flowed into a river, finally rushing towards the sea.

The first thing he dreamed of was a serene corridor, built on the Sisheng Peak in a Red Lotus Pavilion, covered with vines and flowers, the wind blowing the snow down, the paper filled with flowers.

He was sitting on the porch, writing a letter at a stone table.

It was impossible to send the letter out. Taxian-Jun didn't allow him to interact with outsiders, nor did he allow him to raise pigeons or any other animals. Even outside the Red Lotus Pavilion, countless hissing forbidden spells were placed on top of each other.

However, Chu Wanning still wrote.

It was so lonely. If he was alone, he would be able to live his entire life like this.

It would be a lie to say that he wasn't bored.

The letter was written to Xue Meng, but there was nothing much to ask about. It was simply a question of how things had been recently, if everything was going well, if the sun, moon, and people outside were all right.

However, there were actually no old friends.

Thus, a letter was slowly written all afternoon without much content. When he finished writing, he was slightly lost in thought. He absentmindedly recalled the days when his three young disciples were by his side, when he had taught them how to draw and write poetry.

Xue Meng and Shi Mei both learned very quickly. Only Mo Ran failed to write a word three or four times. He had to teach him personally.

What was written then?

Chu Wanning was in a daze as the brush and ink slowly spread out on the paper.

He first wrote, "the body is a Bodhi tree, the heart is like a mirror," and then he wrote, "Life has no roots, floating like a stranger in the dust", a single stroke, the work was complete.

Be it writing a book or writing a letter, his calligraphy was always clear and correct. He was afraid that those who read could not understand it, or their disciples would follow his example and learn to read the wrong words.

The words were appropriate, and the spine was extremely proud.

He wrote “Where is the Old Friend” and “The Great Sea and the Mountain”.

Later on, the wind blew the purple rattan flowers down and settled them on the note. He couldn’t bear to part with it, so as he watched the light and magnificent purple, he wrote, “Waking up from the dream to see the drizzle, the rivers and mountains still seem old and gentle.”

It was very normal.

May I be like the moon and the stars, and the light of the night.

As he continued to write, his gaze couldn’t help but soften, as if he had returned to those peaceful days back then.

The wind had picked up, blowing the paper over and over. There were those that had not been pressed down by the paperweight that were blown up, scattering all over the place in the dappled and fragrant afternoon sunlight.

Chu Wanning put down his brush, sighed, and went to pick up the letters and poems.

One by one, they fell onto the grass, the stone steps, and the withered leaves. He was about to pick up a piece of paper that was floating in the fragrance of a falling flower.

Suddenly, a slender and shapely hand with distinct joints appeared in his field of vision, picking up that piece of paper before him.

“What are you writing?”

Chu Wanning was stunned. He straightened his body and saw a tall and handsome man standing in front of him. It was Taxian-Jun, Mo Weiyu who had arrived at the pavilion some time ago.

Chu Wanning said, “… Nothing.”

Mo Ran was dressed in a black Jinhua robe and wore a crown on his head. His pale and narrow fingers were also adorned with a Dragon Scale Ring. It was obvious that he had just returned from the imperial court. He first shot a cold glance at Chu Wanning, then shook the paper and read it twice. His eyes narrowed as he said, “I’ve written a letter, it’s a letter for you…”

After a moment of silence, he raised his eyes. “What does that mean?”

“Nothing.”

Chu Wanning wanted to take the letter back, but Mo Ran blocked his with his hand.

“Don’t. What are you nervous about?” After saying this, he carefully looked down again. His gaze swept across several lines as he calmly said, “Oh. To Xue Meng?”

“It was written casually.” Chu Wan didn’t want to implicate anyone, so he said, “I don’t plan to send it out.”

Mo Ran sneered, “You don’t have the ability to reach the heavens to send it out.”

Chu Wanning had nothing else to say to him, so he turned around and went back to the table to clear up the ink and paper. However, Taxian-Jun had followed along. His black and gold robes fluttered as he pressed down on the piece of paper that he was about to put away.

He raised his phoenix eyes and looked at Taxian-Jun's mischievous face.

Forget it, if he wanted it, he would give it to him.

He withdrew his hand and reached for the other one, only to be caught by Mo Ran.

Just like that, he took one, and with the help of Mo Ran, Chu Wanning finally lost his patience. He did not know why this person was so mad, but he opened his eyes and said gloomily, "What do you want to do?"

"What do you mean by 'seeing your letter is as good as seeing you'?" Mo Ran looked at him with a deep and serene gaze, his thin lips slightly parted, "Speak."

The flowers and leaves rustled, and in the midst of the mottled light and shadow, Chu Wanning couldn't help but think back to how he had just become his disciple, Mo Ran. His smile and words were very gentle as he respectfully smiled and asked, "Shizun, you are a Bodhi tree, and your heart is as clear as a mirror, what does that mean? Shizun, can you teach me?"

When the two of them compared themselves, Chu Wanning felt pain in his heart when he saw how aggressive Taxian-Jun was. He lowered his head suddenly and stopped talking. He then closed his eyes.

Without a word, Mo Ran began to grow gloomy. In this silence, he picked up the letter on the table and read it one by one. The further he read, the more dangerous his eyes became. He murmured thoughtfully, and a man who could make the year number “Halberd” looked around the stone table for a sentence and racked his brains.

In the end, with a malicious expression, he suddenly slapped the stack of letters to the ground.

He looked up coldly.

“Chu Wanning, you miss him.”

“… No.”

He didn’t want to waste time with him and turned around to leave. However, before he could take two steps, his sleeve was pulled back and a violent force grabbed his chin. In the time it took for the world to spin, he was suddenly pushed onto the stone table.

The strength of Mo Ran hand was so great and so fierce. In the blink of an eye, it had already left a purple and green mark on his cheek.

Sunlight shone through the vines, shining into Chu Wanning’s eyes, which reflected the somewhat crazed and distorted face of Taxian-Jun.

Handsome, pale.

The word ‘shameless’ caused the world to tear at Chu Wanning’s clothes. If there was another possibility for him to push him down on the stone table, then there would be no way for them to return to the world after tearing his clothes. Chu Wanning almost flew into a rage out of embarrassment. He shouted in a low voice, “Mo Weiyu!”

The tone filled with anger and disappointment did not extinguish the evil fire ignited by Mo Ran, but instead, like hot oil pouring down, it created a dense torrent of flames.

When he suddenly pushed in, Chu Wanning only felt extreme pain.

He didn't want to touch Mo Ran's back, so he just grabbed the edge of the stone table with his backhand while panting heavily, "Evil beast…"

Mo Ran eyes were covered with a layer of blood aura, but he did not judge the word evil beast, and instead said sinisterly: "You don't have to explain. I really shouldn't ask you again. You can no longer be considered my Shizun."

His movements were fierce and ferocious, seeking only his own pleasure. Chu Wanning, on the other hand, felt as if he had been struck by grass.

"What is it now?" He gritted his teeth and said, "you're just a side concubine, a forbidden mistress… spreading your legs for me."

As they fought, Mo Ran turned him over. The ink and paper on the table were all disorderly from being beaten, and the brush fell to the ground. Chu Wanning was pinned to the side of the table by his hands. He was in endless pain as the world before his eyes became vast and limitless.

He looked at that line of words, at the strokes.

His body was like a Bodhi tree, and his heart was as clear as a mirror…

Where was the old friend?

The sea was vast… Far away in the mountains.

Every word struck the heart.

In front of him was the smile of a teenager Mo Ran, the black curtain of his eyelashes gently quivering like a black butterfly.

On the back of his ears was the sound of Taxian-Jun. He was insulting Chu Wanning as he said in a hoarse voice, “Chu Wanning… Heh, my consort Chu is actually thinking about others?”

“What wish? I’m like the moon or the stars. I shine brightly every night. Do you really think I don’t understand at all?”

Chu Wanning gritted his teeth and laid himself on the stone table. Those who were bitten and pinched were all wet red marks, but his eyes were stubborn, “You don’t understand.”

Even though he knew that speaking out against others would result in a more vicious treatment, he still stubbornly said, “You don’t understand.”

You don’t know who your old friends are, and you don’t know why the vast sea and the distant mountains are like that.

You don’t know who the Emperor is or who the moon means.

You. You wouldn’t understand.

After a long moment of absurdity, Mo Ran finally let him go.

Chu Wanning’s clothes were in disarray. He was lying in the middle of the Violet Vine, in the middle of the poems and ink. There were red marks on the corners of his eyes, like rouge on his fingers when it was squeezed off.

His lips were bitten and covered in blood.

He got up and slowly dressed. He had been under house arrest for so long, from the first time he had his heart pierced and his bones gouged out, to his current grief that was greater than his heart's death.

What could he do now that his spiritual core had been destroyed? What was called dignity, however, was only after the event. He had to stubbornly put on his clothes, unwilling to leave it in his hands.

While he was doing all this, Mo Ran was sitting at the stone table, reading the letters he had written.

When he saw the one who watched the light rain, his hands seemed to freeze, but he quickly flipped over the piece of paper. With a mocking tone, he said, "My bones have gone soft, but my writing is still as good as before."

He put the stack of letters into his robes and stood up.

The wind blew through his clothes, and the gold threads of his dark robes flowed with splendor.

"Let's go."

Chu Wanning did not say anything.

Mo Ran glanced at him, and the shadow of the purple-vine flower made his black eyes seem even darker. "You don't want to see me off?"

Under the cover of the trees, Chu Wanning slowly said in a low and hoarse voice, "I've taught you before."

Mo Ran was stunned. "What?"

“Seeing the letter is like seeing you, seeing your comforting face.” After he finished this sentence, he finally raised his eyelashes and glanced at the man who had achieved greatness. “I taught you to write, you forgot.”

“You taught me to write?” Mo Ran frowned, he was not teasing Chu Wanning at all. From the looks of it, he had no impression of him.

The man stopped again.

Mo Ran asked, “When did it happen?”

Chu Wanning looked at him and said, “It was a long time ago.”

After saying this, he turned around and walked towards the house in the Red Lotus Pavilion.

Mo Ran stood at his original spot and did not leave for a while. He also did not enter. Afterwards, Chu Wanning caught a glimpse of him returning to the stone table from the window. He held the letter and started flipping through it.

Chu Wanning closed the window.

That night, he was tormented and didn’t know how to properly clean himself, so he felt a chill.

Originally, it was not a big deal, but he did not think that Mo Ran would know either. But for some unknown reason, from what Liu-gonggong had said, it seemed like Song Qiutong cooked a bowl of wontons, and for some reason, it angered Taxian-Jun. Not only did he not stay at the Queen’s place, he did not even eat his dinner, and just left.

Deep into the night, heavy rain began to fall. At this moment, someone came into the Red Lotus Pavilion.

“His Majesty has ordered for Chu-zongshi to move to his sleeping quarters.”

Although his followers were clear about the relationship between Mo Ran and Chu Wanning, Mo Ran still asked them to call him zongshi.

If there was not a trace of kindness left in him, it would be malice and viciousness.

Chu Wanning’s body was in great pain. His face was pale and his face was gloomy. He said, “No.”

“No…”

“…”

Getting into bed with a patient was naturally not something interesting. In the past, his body was especially out of place, and Mo Ran basically wouldn’t force him to do anything.

However, not long after, the dismissed servant returned. He entered the Red Lotus Pavilion, bowed in front of the coughing and coughing Chu Wanning, and said with an indifferent expression, “His Majesty has ordered that it’s a minor indisposition, and would like to invite Grandmaster to head to the Wushan Palace to serve in his bed.”

Ch. 248 [Mount Longxue] Oblivion

Chu Wanning knew that he had no other choice. In the end, he put on his fox fur cloak, held up his oil-paper umbrella, and went to the Wushan main hall.

The ninety-nine lights inside the hall were shining brilliantly like silver lanterns. They were like rivers of stars, reflecting the brilliance of the entire Wushan Palace. It was a common occurrence for servants on both sides to serve Chu-zongshi.

Upon seeing him enter, all of them lowered their eyes in respect. Chu Wanning walked expressionlessly through the side door of the veranda and towards the resting area of the back hall. When he reached the lacquered door, he stretched out his hand and pushed it open.

The interior of the house was very warm. It was different from the cold rain that flowed across the river, and there was even a strong aroma of wine that assailed his nostrils. Mo Ran was lazily lying on the couch. His jade-like fingers were holding a red clay teapot as he drank wine.

“Sit.”

Chu Wanning walked to the bamboo mat furthest from him, sat down, and closed his eyes.

Mo Ran did not force him to get close. He was already drunk, and his pale face had a tinge of red to it. His eyes were narrowed, and there were bits and pieces of radiance flowing through his dark, purplish pupils. With another dull breath, Mo Ran raised his head and looked at the peaks of the dragon and phoenix.

He tapped his fingers on his knee.

He suddenly asked, “Do you still know how to cook wontons?”

Chu Wanning’s eyelashes twitched, but he eventually said, “No.”

Mo Ran was a little unrelenting. “You did it. It was that year… The year he left.”

“Are you trying to remind me of my hatred?”

“No.”

“Then what if I order you to make one now?”

Chu Wanning did not say anything, his eyes burning with anger as he stared at him, “I’m asking you a question. If you were to make one now, would you be willing to do so?”

“Even if I did.” Chu Wanning finally opened his eyes and looked at him coldly, “Would you even eat it?”

He did not expect to be rebelled against like this. A layer of blood immediately appeared on his face. It seemed as if the smell of alcohol was rising, but also seemed to be due to anger. In short, the emotion in his eyes suddenly became very blank. Only after staring blankly for a while did he manage to react. As a result, he gnashed his teeth, and with a violent “hualala” sound, the fine pear blossoms scattered all over the floor.

Mo Ran stood up maliciously, his figure was like a mountain. He strode across the broken pottery, walked up to Chu Wanning and grabbed him by the collar.

“Both you and Song Qiutong.” Immortal Taxian-Jun gritted his teeth. “All of you… let me down.”

He let go of Chu Wanning and started walking back and forth like an eagle.

Suddenly, his footsteps stopped.

He turned his head and glared at Chu Wanning, asking, “When did you teach me this sentence, seeing this letter is as good as seeing you?”

At this moment, Taxian-Jun was already half drunk. He didn’t have the slightest rationality to speak, so he couldn’t think of anything to say.

“How come I don’t remember at all?”

His wrist was grabbed by a big, cold hand. Mo Ran pulled him to the front of the desk. He spread out a pile of books and started grinding them. Mo Ran said, “Write it for me to see. Teach me again.”

Chu Wanning was already suffering from a low fever, but being forced like this, he felt even more stifled in his rage. His face was flushed red and he started to cough.

Mo Ran put the pen in his hand and said sullenly and irritably, “Write.”

He impatiently urged, “Hurry up.”

Chu Wanning's spirit core had been broken in the previous battle between Shizun and disciple. His body was still in a bad condition. As he coughed, blood gushed out from his throat.

Mo Ran was stunned as he stared at the specks of blood. Then, he slowly let go of his hand.

"It's just a casual conversation in a letter, what's the point?" Finally, Chu Wanning stopped coughing. He let out a long sigh and wiped the blood off his lips with a handkerchief.

He raised his eyes, let out a breath, and looked at Mo Ran, "In the past, you would have written this beginning for every letter. But I'm afraid you haven't written for too long, so you forgot."

"I… wrote a letter?" The pitch black eyes stared at him. "To whom?" He said almost sullenly: "Who should I write to? Who else can I write to in this world? You made it up. You made it up. What nonsense!"

When Mo Ran said these words, he felt dejected and his eyes flickered with a hazy luster.

It was at that moment that Chu Wanning vaguely felt that something was amiss. However, he didn't think too much about it at the time. He only thought that Mo Ran was drunk and had a bad memory. Thus, he only frowned and didn't reply.

There was a letter box in the study of the Wushan Palace. All the letters on the Sisheng Peak were sealed in a Qiankun bag. Mo Ran moved around like a trapped beast in a cage. Suddenly, he remembered the existence of the letter box. It then took out the sealed box and opened the ancient letters one after another.

Most of the letters had been written by the disciples of the sect, categorizing them according to the elders under their tutelage. Most of the people who wrote the letters had already died in the year of Mo Ran's betrayal. Amongst them, Elder Yuheng had the least disciples, and there were only three of them. Soon, Mo Ran found a stack of thick letters.

Trembling, he tore it apart.

His handwriting was not bad, it was young and crooked, but it was written with extreme seriousness. As he looked at the letters, he saw that each of the letters had the words, "Seeing your letter is as good as seeing you, seeing your comforting face."

Every one.

Mo Ran's fingers were trembling, and his eyes shone with a strange color.

"Mother, the letter is as good as ever."

"Elder sister Xun, if you see the letter, I will show it to you."

The old names made him shudder. His eyes were narrow and small, and clouds were gathering on his handsome face.

Chu Wanning stood aside. Initially, he didn't pay much attention to it, but as time went on, the look on his face of Mo Ran only made him feel that something was amiss… He couldn't help but lock his eyes onto the study table. It was the man who was flipping through the old letters in a crazed manner.

A kind of minuscule terror extended its sharp beak, knocking on Chu Wanning's heart.

Something was wrong.

He walked over slowly and looked at the blank and crazy look on Mo Ran's face as he read the letter.

…… What was wrong?

"My mother is dead…" Suddenly, Mo Ran opened his mouth and muttered, "Why would I write to her?"

Chu Wanning stood at the side watching his every move. The fear in his heart was like a bloody darkness was about to break out.

Dark clouds descended.

It was strange to forget the words "see the letter as it is", which had been written so many times, but it was not impossible.

However, he had forgotten that he had written so many letters and had no impression of them. This was too strange.

Mo Ran was still reading the contents of each letter. "Spreading the letters to Shuyan…" The gloss that shone in those eyes that were black to the point of purple was so painful, so contradictory.

It did seem to be missing some important memory.

It was as if he could hear the cracking sound of a hard shell.

Chu Wanning held his breath, his spine was almost numb. Other than the two of them, there was no one else in the study. In the dead silence, Chu Wanning moved his lips and said softly, “Don’t you remember? You said before that even though your mother could no longer receive the letter, you still wanted to write to her.”

Mo Ran suddenly raised his head.

Chu Wanning could only feel his blood cooling down bit by bit as his breath turned to ice.

“The first name you learned to write was not your own.”

Mo Ran asked in a low voice, “why is that?”

“The first address you wanted me to teach you to write was ‘Mother’.”

Lightning flashed and thunder rumbled outside. The wind howled mournfully, like countless ghost claws slapping against a window, causing the window frame to vibrate with a rustling sound.

A bolt of lightning struck down, illuminating the world with its desolate light.

Emperor Taxian-Jun muttered, “…… You taught me? Why didn’t I have any impression of him at all? Not at all.”

The wind blew the trees down and their shadows swayed, filling the courtyard with the ghosts and wraiths.

Chu Wanning’s face was pale as he stared at Mo Ran. His eyes were like that of a falcon’s. “You, you don’t even remember?”

His heart pounded like a drum.

After a moment of silence, Mo Ran asked in confusion, “Remember what?”

The drum stopped.

The tiny beak finally broke through the outer shell. Terrifying emotions filled the sky as it swept towards the only sober person in the room, striking the shore with great force!

Chu Wanning felt his scalp go numb. He couldn't remember? How could he not remember?

When Mo Ran said that he would write his mother a letter, he wrote over three hundred letters. He said that he would write a thousand letters and burn them down with the Underworld's mother during the Mystic Orchid Festival…

How could he so easily forget three hundred letters!

His lips trembled slightly as he suddenly came up with an extremely terrifying guess. Chu Wanning said hoarsely, "You… Do you remember what you said the first time you saw Tianwen?"

"What did I say? How could I still remember such a long time ago?"

"You said that you also wanted such a godly weapon." Chu Wanning said, "You wanted to have Tianwen too…"

The drunk person asked him, his eyes revealing a trace of ridicule: "What would I need Tianwen for? A murder or an interrogation?"

Chu Wanning replied in a low voice, "Earthworm."

In the past, outside the Red Lotus Pavilion, there was a young man. He was still smiling as he held up an oil-paper umbrella and said, "It can save earthworms, ah."

But at this very moment, the Emperor Taxian-Jun, with his wolf-like eyes, showed no confusion. “What earthworms?”

Outside, the sky was filled with thunder and purple lightning piercing through the night.

A loud rumbling sound could be heard.

Chu Wanning pursed his lips, his brown pupils slightly quivering.

The coldness of a needle.

That night, Mo Ran didn’t actually do anything to Chu Wanning. He really did drink a little too much, and later on he held the letters in a daze.

Then, before he fell asleep, Mo Ran muttered, “What earthworm? No earthworms…”

Suddenly, a strong wind blew open the window, and with a bang, the wind mixed with the heavy rain poured in, suddenly extinguishing a few lights by the window.

The room was suddenly dark.

Chu Wanning stood by Mo Ran’s side, his lips and teeth chilled. He lowered his head to look at the sleeping man. The uncertain thoughts in his mind became clearer and clearer – why didn’t Mo Ran remember these scattered memories? Why did he selectively forget about the pure past?

Was it because he was drunk? Because of a coincidence? Or… Who had deliberately erased the kindness in his heart?

Taxian-Jun, who was sleeping on the table, softly muttered: “Cold…”

Chu Wanning's blood was already cold and numb. When he heard Mo Ran say it was cold, he instinctively walked slowly to the window.

He raised his hand and closed the window, blocking the wind and rain outside.

After doing all of this, Chu Wanning did not leave. He was confused as he pressed his forehead against the window that was carved with the pattern of a Bat-Deer, his knuckles white.

After a long while, he slowly took out a crumpled spirit rune from his shirt.

Ascending Dragon Talisman.

He no longer had a spiritual core, so Mo Ran felt that he could no longer use any spells. Therefore, he was too lazy to take away the talisman papers that Chu Wanning once used.

Actually, what Mo Ran did was right. Chu Wanning bit his finger and dripped more than ten drops of blood onto the Ascending Dragon Talisman paper. Only then did the little dragon float out listlessly.

Its entire body emitted a weak light, and weakly raised its head, "Ah… Chu Wanning… Long time no see…"

The little dragon could not stand still. He took a few steps on the paper with his dragon claw and then collapsed back onto the paper with a 'pa da' sound. It was both wronged and at a loss, "Why haven't you been looking for me for so long? Why did you only give This Venerable one a tiny bit of spiritual energy… Ugh, it really was spiritual qi… It couldn't even be considered spiritual energy… What's the matter with you?"

“It’s a long story, let’s not talk about it.” Chu Wanning gently picked it up and placed it on his palm, “Please, do me a favor.”

“Going to Zhong Wuyan when there’s a problem, going to Xia Yingchun when there is none.”[169] The little dragon sighed, but his strength was closely related to Chu Wanning, so he did not even have the strength to complain. His head was downcast as he said, “Tell me, what do you want me to do for you this time?”

Chu Wanning brought it along with him and placed it near the sleeping Mo Ran Hair.

Zhang Xuan clenched his fingers into a fist and sent it straight into the palm of his hand. Chu Wanning’s originally unsightly face turned even paler, “Go and try your best. Let’s see if he has any incantations that he shouldn’t have.”

In reality, that brilliant and obedient youth who even the earthworms could not bear to kill actually became a devil in the end.

As his Shizun, how could he not have any suspicions?

They could only watch as their disciple killed Xue Zhengyong, Madam Wang, Jiang Xi, and Ye Wangxi.

He had slaughtered all the members of the Rufeng Sect.

He stepped on the dried up bones.

He looked at Mo Ran Slaughter, at his hands covered in blood, at his face covered in blood, and at the people standing in the pile of corpses looking back at him with an evil grin.

He was heartbroken, but how could he not feel strange?

Mo Ran was not such a person.

But when he tried his best to paint a spell on the paper, even though he was prepared, he was still shocked.

Affection Spell.

Mo Ran actually had the love spell on him?!

After drawing the charm, the little dragon lost all of his strength. He turned into a wisp of green smoke and disappeared into the Ascending Dragon Talisman. On the other hand, Chu Wanning held onto that thin piece of paper. It felt as if a mountain had been cracked inside his brain, as if it was being crushed like rotten weeds.

However, after calming down with difficulty and looking at it again and again, Chu Wanning found that the image was not right.

It was actually upside down.

Ch. 249 [Mount Longxue] Authentic

The next day, Mo Ran woke up. He did not remember what happened after he was drunk.

However, he could not remember, but Chu Wanning would never forget.

After that day, he made a few insinuations and confirmed that Mo Ran had indeed lost his memory of many past events, making him even more uneasy. It took him a long time,

In the end, he managed to find records of this formation in a book of the Medical Sect's scriptures on the Sisheng Peak.

Light poured in from outside the window, "Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred…"

His fingertips caressed the black markings on the scroll, then Chu Wanning took out the runes drawn by the dragon. The two of them looked exactly the same.

It was a black heart. At first glance, it looked easy to recognize it as the love formula. However, the love formula was that the heart would have a sesame seed sized white to the left, and this one was upside down on the right.

The mark shown by the dragon and the effect of the spell were corresponding, from the looks of it, this was a kind of flower Gu that was similar to the love chant, but had the opposite effect?

It was not that easy to understand the ancient scripture and the ancient demonic language inside the empty, deserted scripture pavilion. Although Chu Wanning had some knowledge of magical runes, he still found it hard to understand.

He read it slowly, word for word. However, every time he read a sentence, the shock in his heart increased.

“Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower, Magic Seed.” His thin, watery lips parted slightly as he said in a low voice, “Rumor has it that thousands of years ago, Gouchen brought in from the Demon Realm into the human world.”

There was a strange seed in the book, and next to it a drop of blood and a wisp of smoke.

“This kind of cultivation is extremely difficult. It requires ten years of drinking demonic blood, and then fusing it with a wisp of the owner’s soul before it can bud and blossom.”

Chu Wanning mumbled, “You need demon blood and the soul of the owner to grow? However, the world… There are no more Pure Demons.”

However, the literature may not be entirely correct, and there is no need to delve into it.

He looked down and saw a heart painted on the silk book. On the right side of the heart, there was a flower with a heavy petal blooming in full bloom. Beside the map, there was another complicated magic word, “This demonic flower cannot be raised by the earth, it cannot be raised by water, it cannot be raised by the sky, it cannot be seen by the earth, only the human heart can support it.”

Chu Wanning was shocked. This flower could only grow in the heart?

Looking further down, it was even more shocking.

The meaning of the silk book was that once a person's heart had been planted with the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower, they would go through three stages.

In the first stage, the host was not too different from the previous days, but they would gradually start to feel anxious and it was easy for them to use their malicious intent to guess at others, and they would also gradually forget some beautiful memories. At this stage, although the flower was difficult to remove, as long as it was discovered in time, its effectiveness would be slowly suppressed. If the situation was good, the flower would fall into hibernation, and it would be hard to be effective again.

However, if it wasn't discovered at this time, then according to the host, it would take at least eight years to complete. And to expedite its growth it will require the emotional intensification of a certain major event, and the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower will grow to the second stage.

At this stage, the host will begin to quickly forget all the pure memories related to "kindness" "gentleness" and "hope". Instead, he will recall the obstacles and frustrations, malice and bullying in his life.

Life eight sufferings[170] will be remembered by the host.

Deep into the bone marrow.

At this point, Chu Wanning's face was already as white as snow.

Mo Ran… Wasn't that true?

He had forgotten the wishes of his youth. He had forgotten the letters that had been written one by one. Even his impression of his mother was no longer so clear.

He continued to read. By the third stage, the host would be bloodthirsty, irrational and violent.

Will retaliate back thousands times for the sufferings suffered in the past.

Chu Wanning could not believe his eyes as he saw Mo Ran grinning in the bloodbath of the Rufeng Sect. His hand was filled with spiritual energy as it pierced into the cultivator's body.

Fingers full of blood, he pulled out the heart forcefully and crushed it.

Many people cried and begged for mercy. Corpses littered the ground, but Mo Ran only laughed loudly, his eyes flashing with an excited and crazy luster. He kept chanting a line from his mouth.

"To hit three feet, you can't ask for ten feet… You can't ask for more than three meters!"

Ruthless, crazy, malicious, hideous.

Why did Mo Ran become like this?

It wasn't that he didn't have the slightest doubt about it at the time, but the effect of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was slowly deepening, layer by layer. And the most important point was — it was also written in the silk book — this kind of demonic flower would not breed violence for no reason, but would instead enlarge the hatred and desire of the host.

In other words, this hatred and desire really did belong to Mo Ran. No one had wrongly accused him.

It was true that Mo Ran wanted to slaughter the entire Rufeng Sect, and he did want to walk the world alone. He did hate Chu Wanning, but this emotion might only last for a moment, or it might be a wild thought that he had almost forgotten.

It was just that the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower would dig out all the grudges in his heart and put them into practice.

As a result, in the eyes of outsiders, even though the owner of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was insane, he still hated with cause and reason. Instead of suddenly changing his temperament, he became a completely different person. People would think, “He is slowly becoming like this because of hatred,” and not think, “He is slowly becoming like this because of a curse.”

Because of this, almost no one would be able to detect Mo Ran’s Flower. When it was discovered by others, it would usually be in the second or third stage. It would be impossible to remove or suppress it.

Chu Wanning read through this passage of information and was unable to recover from it for a long time.

What kind of feeling did he have in his heart?

Surprise? Regret? Anger? Fear? Or perhaps it was regret…

He didn’t know.

He sat on the floor of the Compendium Pavilion, which had become dilapidated due to its lack of repair. It was afternoon and the sun was still warm, but when it shone on him, not even the slightest bit of heat could be felt.

Chu Wanning sat in the book section for a long time. He felt that there was someone standing behind him that he couldn't see or touch. That person was smiling, like a ghost, observing their every move from behind the scenes.

He lowered his head again and looked at the words written on the silk —

"In the first stage, if it is discovered in time, although the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower is difficult to remove, it can be contained and the host will not lose his heart."

This sentence, Chu Wanning repeated it countless times.

In the end, he was stunned to find drops of water dripping down and slowly dying on the silk book. He reached out his cold hand and tried to wipe away the water.

But before his hands could touch the silk, he instinctively turned his face to hide his wet eyelashes and trembling eyelids.

It was his fault, it was his fault. He was the one who had always been proud and reserved, the one who cared more about his face than anything else, the one who didn't want to say anything openly.

If you found out in time.

If he didn't arrive, he would lose his heart.

However, after all these years, he had discovered nothing. Even his disciple, the so-called Immortal Shizun Yuheng, had not realized that he had become the host of a demonic flower. It was because of his isolation and bad words that Mo Ran had ended up travelling on his own.

How could he have the face to be called “Shizun” by Mo Ran?

If you found out in time.

His words were like a curse that lingered in his ears like a nightmare. He felt as if he had been choked to death. He was extremely shocked — he was truly not a human master.

Looking back now, how long had it been since Mo Ran? It was not just one or two years. In the many years that they had been together, Mo Ran had started off as a shy and brilliant teenager. He had been swallowed up by darkness, bit by bit, by the bloody wind.

As his Shizun, it was only until today — until everything was irreparable and it was hard to look back. It was only now that he found out… He hated the fact that he was in turmoil, his body felt like a floating boat — he was truly unworthy of being called Shizun!

That day, Chu Wanning did not know how he had tidied up his emotions and slowly walked out of the Compendium Pavilion, walking in the empty bamboo forest at the Sisheng Peak.

He didn’t know how he managed to return to the Red Lotus Pavilion. Under the purple-colored vines, everything was in chaos. He sat there alone, from the sun to the dusk.

Afterwards, a person entered his field of vision.

The man had broad shoulders and a narrow waist. Stepping on the sunset glow, he carried a piece of floating light and slowly walked towards the pavilion.

Due to his absent-mindedness, Chu Wanning could not react in time to see who the person was. That tall and handsome man overlapped with the youth in his memory.

He remembered that when he had completed a month of apprenticeship, Mo Ran had excitedly come to the Red Lotus Pavilion to look for him with a small clay teapot wrapped with bamboo vines in his hand.

The youth ran too fast. His face was slightly red as he panted. His eyes were astonishingly bright.

“Shizun, I tasted an especially good wine at the foot of the mountain. I ordered some, and I’ll treat you to some.”

Chu Wanning asked, “You haven’t accepted the assignment yet, where did the money come from?”

“I borrowed it from uncle.”

“… Why should we waste his money?”

“Because Shizun likes me.” He held the wine jug with both hands and held it in front of Chu Wanning, “I also like Shizun.”

Chu Wanning still remembered how embarrassed he was at that time.

The young man’s goodwill was too blazing. He felt like a hot potato in his hands, unable to hold on.

He flicked his sleeves and scolded, “What nonsense are you talking about? What do you like? From now on, you can’t talk about this anymore.”

“Ugh… Alright then.” The youth scratched his head, “But I’ll definitely think of Shizun after I’ve eaten and drunk well. I want to have a taste with Shizun.”

“… I’ve never had a drink.”

Chu Wanning pursed his lips, took the wine pot and opened it. He sniffed it and slightly widened his eyes.

“Does it smell good?”

“Yes.”

“Haha, let’s drink and have a look.”

Chu Wanning took a sip. Although it was strong, it was mellow and fragrant. Chu Wanning could not help but take another sip, “That’s right, what’s it’s name?”

Mo Ran grinned brightly. “This is called Pear Blossom White.”

This was the first time in his life that he had drunk wine, and he mumbled to himself, “Pear blossom white… That’s a good name.”

Mo Ran was very happy. “If Shizun likes it, then when I can take over the assignment in the future and earn two taels of money, I’ll buy it for you every day.”

Chu Wanning took another sip and looked at him sideways with his phoenix eyes. His expression was still the same, “Then I’m afraid you won’t be able to save your money."

Mo Ran smiled happily, "There's no need to save it. All the money I earned is used to buy things for Shizun and Aunt."

Chu Wanning did not utter a word, but a faint feeling of sweetness exuded from the gap in his heart. In order to prevent Mo Ran from seeing his happiness, so as to prevent others from thinking that "Elder Yuheng could actually buy it with just a single glass of wine," he continued to hold the wine jug and drink in a cold and indifferent manner.

Beside him was his new disciple, chattering nonstop. Chu Wanning was sometimes surprised to see that his indifference was like a wall to anyone.

Only this guy happily climbed over the wall and was still looking around as if nothing had happened.

I'm afraid he's a fool.

On this side, Mo Ran calculated what kind of filial piety he would buy for his Shizun in the future, and asked, "Does Shizun like osmanthus cake?"

"Yes."

"What about the Lotus Blossom Sesame?"

"Yes."

"And the osmanthus root?"

"Yes."

Mo Ran's dimples grew even more deep and sweet. He smiled and said, "Shizun really does like sweet things."

This time, Chu Wanning was not convinced. He finally understood that the sweets did not match his usual cold demeanor.

He took another sip of the wine. Due to his vexation, this sip was rather bold. Although the wine was sweet and mellow, it was still a little strong. He choked on it.

Helpless and ashamed, Chu Wanning choked on his alcohol and decided to keep it to himself. His throat was burning, and his eyes and nose were red from the excitement.

The youngster beside him was still full of ambition. He said that he did not have a grand future, and he seemed to have some heroic intentions, “Then I will buy everything back for Shizun. I will collect all sorts of delicious foods from all over the world, make up a book, and then accompany Shizun to eat all the good food in the world, all the good things in the world, and after that…”

He turned his head with a smile and was suddenly startled.

“Shizun, you, what’s wrong?”

Chu Wanning: “…”

As a human master, if he choked on the wine that his disciple brought to him, wouldn’t it be a huge joke?

Hold on, he can’t cough.

As a result, his eyes turned even redder, and a layer of misty vapor even appeared in them.

Mo Ran was at a loss for words. “Did I say something wrong? Shizun, why are you crying?”

Chu Wanning glared at him, his long eyelashes quivering with anger.

Mo Ran did not feel his anger and was stunned for a while. Only then did he somewhat understand what was going on. His tone suddenly became very gentle, “Is it because no one bought it for Shizun before?”

Chu Wanning was even more infuriated.

Mo Ran muttered to himself, “Actually, I used to not be able to eat for a while. I almost starved. Then I met a little brother on the way and he gave me a pot of sweet rice porridge. I like sweet things too, but no one bought them for me before.”

This young man was rather talented, and he was even sure that Chu Wanning’s eyes were red because of his emotions.

He held onto Chu Wanning’s hand.

This was really out of his expectations. With Chu Wanning’s upbringing, aside from teaching other people spells, the only other thing he could do was hold his hand in his own. He was surprised to find that he was suddenly stopped by a new disciple who had recklessly and unscrupulously followed the rules.

Just as he was about to get angry, he looked up and saw this little surprise. It was a young face with a handsome and still childish face. He said earnestly:

“Shizun, when I’m done, I’ll buy you some candy.”

The youth’s eyes were filled with gentleness.

“I’ll buy you the best candy, just enough. My mom taught me to repay favors.”

He hadn’t gone to school properly, and he had been hanging around in the music hall for a long time. His speech was always so weird, but there were always some words that didn’t make sense that were laughable.

However, Chu Wanning knew that he was scalded that time. He stared at him and suddenly lowered his eyes, not saying a word.

After a long while, the alcohol finally calmed down. Chu Wanning then coughed uncomfortably, and lightly said, “Don’t say any more nonsense in the future. Also…” It was also because of his sudden curiosity that he asked, “There’s something I want to ask you.”

“Please speak your mind, Shizun.”

Chu Wanning hesitated, but eventually asked awkwardly, “At that time, there were so many people in front of Heaven-Piercing Tower, why did you bow to me?”

The teenager Mo Ran opened his mouth to speak —

But at this moment, his memories were suddenly interrupted.

Taxian-Jun brought up his wine jug and stood in front of the stunned Chu Wanning. He raised a finger and poked his forehead.

“What’s wrong?”

Only then did Chu Wanning's eyes start to focus. He looked at Mo Ran in front of him.

His face was pale, and his expression was sinister. Although he was still handsome, it was hard to conceal the cruelty hidden within. A pair of eagle-like eyes.

It was no longer that passionate youth from before.

It's all over.

He suddenly felt very, very tired. It was an extreme loss and pain that he had never experienced in his life as a prisoner for such a long time.

He was so conflicted that he did not know how to face the man in front of him.

Chu Wanning turned around.

A large, slightly cold hand grabbed his chin and pulled his face back. Light flowed within his phoenix eyes, reflecting the last bit of red light. In the darkness, Taxian-Jun asked with a gloomy expression, "Are you still angry?"

Chu Wanning closed his eyes for a long time, then said hoarsely, "No."

"The heat has subsided?" Before Chu Wanning could reply, Mo Ran loosened his jaw, looked at his forehead, and said, "En, I'm leaving."

He sat down, and as he removed the mud from the jar, he said, "Now that you are well… Today, you will accompany me to a drink."

"…"

He knew that there was an invisible mastermind behind Taxian-Jun. He knew that this seemingly calm and peaceful Sisheng Peak was in danger from all sides. He knew that he shouldn't alert the enemy. He shouldn't do anything strange.

However, when the wine was poured out, Mo Ran said calmly, "Pear Blossom White, your favorite wine." When he did, he was still in a daze.

The fragrance drifted out, as though it was separated from the mortal world and seemed to be surreal.

It was the first drink of his life.

Never forget it.

Chu Wanning raised his eyes and looked at the person pouring the wine. He knew that Mo Ran would not remember this incident. He suddenly felt dull pain in his heart and his throat felt sore. He picked up his wine cup and drank it all in one gulp.

The liquor was too strong. If he drank too much like this, he would choke.

However, this time, Chu Wanning didn't have any scruples. It was like grabbing a blade of grass in a torrent. He began to cough violently, his eyes turned red, his eyelashes became wet, and finally, tears began to roll down his cheeks.

Mo Ran was startled for a moment, and his eyes glazed over for a moment.

However, he quickly narrowed his eyes and leisurely grinned. "What's wrong, Shizun? Why are you crying?"

Even if he had to suffer to the extreme, even if the truth was known, there was nothing he could do.

Or pull out the hate flower.

Or find out who the mastermind is.

Or his own death.

Before that, he knew he had to endure.

Pretending to know nothing, pretending to be extremely angry, Chu Wanning closed his eyes and said hoarsely, “Wine.”

Mo Ran asked slowly, “Is the alcohol too strong?”

Chu Wan didn’t answer, he just poured herself another cup and poured it into his lungs, boiling it all the way.

“Why did you bow down to me?”

He opened his misty eyes and looked into the distance. In the twilight, Heaven-Piercing Tower still stood tall and dignified like before. However, that year, he had said with a smile, “Because I like you. I think you’re very gentle.” The youth, however, would never come back.

There were eight sufferings in life.

Birth, aging, sickness, death, the parting from loved ones, not obtaining what one desire, the meeting of disliked people and the five components of one’s body and mind.

It was called Long Hatred.

There had been so many opportunities to see the truth, but he had missed them all, and when he had finally discovered the true cause of the distortion of Mo Ran's mind, he had become a cripple and could do nothing.

At night, Chu Wanning slept soundly beside his pillow. His once innocent face was now covered in a layer of chilliness, it was as white as paper.

He had hated it, hated it.

When Mo Ran had cut off his relationship with his own saber, his heart had also been chilled. When Mo Ran had forced him to sleep with him, his heart had also died.

But in the long night, sad and clear in the curtain.

As he lay beside Taxian-Jun, Chu Wanning, who finally found out the truth, felt that his past hatred, resentment, and even death were all ridiculous.

Mo Ran had long since been poisoned by the Gu poison. All of these things he had done were not his original intention.

That heaven-shaking emperor Taxian-Jun had long been imprisoned by iron shackles and iron chains. As his Shizun, there was nothing he could do.

Because he didn't know how many pairs of eyes were watching from behind him, he couldn't tell anyone the truth.

He couldn't even show the slightest bit of mercy and gentleness towards Mo Ran. The only thing he could do was to hate, complain, and die with a cold heart.

Only when it was deep into the night, in the depths of cover in Wushan Palace, when Mo Ran was asleep, could Chu Wanning get up and caress his pale face.

Only then could he softly say: “I’m sorry, it was Shizun that did not protect you well.”

Only when it was deep into the night, in the depths of Su Mu's palace in Wushan, when Mo Ran was asleep, could Chu Wanning get up and caress his pale face.

Only then could he softly said: "I'm sorry, it was Shizun that did not protect you well."

I didn't protect you.

I made you someone else's pawn.

He had become a tyrant that people cursed.

No one in the world knows your true appearance, does not know that you were good, you were innocent, they do not know that you were troubled by the rain to save little earthworms, you were filled with smile for blooming lotuses.

Everyone in the world resents you for being cold-blooded, but they don't know that you once shyly scratched your head and said, "I… I don't have much ability. If I have some spare money in the future, I should build more houses and settle down with people who live in the same condition as I was before."

Everyone hates you for killing and slaughtering them, but they didn't know that you had told me before, "Shizun, I want a divine weapon that is like Tianwen. It can distinguish between black and white, and can save lives."

Everyone was cursing you, they want to punish you.

I know the truth, but I can't give you back your dignity.

Mo Ran was always very sensitive to the eyes, even when he was asleep. His eyelids twitched, and before Chu Wanning could react, his eyes were already open, "You…"

They looked at each other.

"What are you looking at?"

At this point, Chu Wanning's emotions had already reached their peak. He didn't know how to respond, so he turned around to avoid eye contact with Mo Ran, and said, "It's nothing."

Mo Ran didn't say anything. After a while, a warm body embraced him from behind, his sturdy and broad chest was pressed against Chu Wanning's back.

In the dark of the night, Chu Wanning opened his eyes. Behind him was the warm bosom of Taxian-Jun. The man's voice sounded neither mocking nor lazy as he said lightly, "You're feeling really cold and sweaty."

As he spoke, he leaned over to sniff the side of his neck.

"Did you have a nightmare?" Mo Ran chuckled with the ease of a person who had just awoken. "I smell a little bit of fear."

Chu Wanning did not answer, but he was trembling uncontrollably.

It wasn't because he was afraid, but because the pain and self-blame almost destroyed him. He had used up all of his strength just to maintain this final bit of calmness.

In the end, he managed to feign ignorance under Mo Ran's eyes. Mo Ran did not notice his abnormality and yawned, gradually becoming more and more clear-headed. He sniffed Chu Wanning's shoulder and hair again, and let out a "oh" in satisfaction.

"But then again, with your body, why is it that you even smell like flowers when you're sweating? Just like a man made of wood and grass."

If he were to make fun of him like this normally, he would definitely end up scolding him out of shame and anger.

But that night, Mo Ran waited for a while, but Chu Wanning did not reply. He was a little surprised, so he got up and flipped Chu Wanning over. Once again, he firmly pressed down on him. His strong and broad body was completely enveloping the person beneath him.

His eyes met his.

He lay under him. They were looking at each other.

The unextinguished candle flame inside the hall penetrated through the layers of cloth. Under the dim light, it stared at the handsome face that was just inches away from it.

He still had sharp sword-like eyebrows, slanted eyes, a straight nose, and a natural prideful look in his eyes.

But for some reason, he felt that something was wrong tonight.

"What's the matter with you?" He reached out his hand and touched his cheek. The tip of his finger trembled, and the person beneath him abruptly closed his eyes.

Mo Ran had completely awoken from his slumber.

He felt a thrill.

It didn't matter if it was Chu Wanning's frowning forehead or his thin pale lips, his fragile face… All of this gave great satisfaction to the desire to conquer in his heart.

However, there was a faint sense of unease. Mo Ran impatiently asked him again, "What happened to you?"

Chu Wanning opened his eyes. Within his half-closed eyes, a glimmer could be seen.

The pain and frustration in his heart had nowhere to vent, finally turning into a hoarse voice. "We… How did we get to where we are today?"

"…"

"If I stopped this earlier, would it have been different?"

Mo Ran did not answer. He thought it was laughable that Chu Wanning had been defeated by his men for so long. He had become a wife, a concubine, and a mistress.

Everything was a foregone conclusion, so why was he having such wild thoughts tonight?

There was no one else in the Wushan Palace at night. There was only the couple naked on the bed. The fragrance of flowers wafted in from outside of the Xuanyuan window made Mo Ran feel relaxed. He didn't really want to get angry at this man who didn't know what was good for himself.

His patience with Chu Wanning was much better than his patience with the empress.

As such, he watched the pain with great interest. As he watched, his heart started to itch. It was so hot that it felt like there was a fire burning again.

Therefore, it was rare for him to joke with him, so he lazily said, "If Wanning found out earlier, how would he stop me?"

His fingertips touched him inch by inch. Taxian-Jun was sexy and lethargic. "Do you want to take the body?"

Looking at the complicated emotions in Chu Wanning's eyes, Mo Ran's eyes turned moist and gloomy. After a while, he cursed in a low voice.

He could not stand any of the temptation Chu Wanning gave him, whether it was intentional or not.

There was no explanation, nor was there any foreplay.

Like a wild beast, he lifted up Chu Wanning's long and tight legs and pressed down.

If hatred was born from desire, could this broken body of his somehow ignite the fire of Mo Ran?

He didn't know.

The semen of their previous session had not been removed, and even his entrance was used to the stimulation of being taken by a man, so it accepted his cock smoothly.

When he poked into it, he and Chu Wanning could not help but gasp and moan.

Chu Wanning opened his eyes and saw a bright, broad chest, a handsome face immersed in sexual stimulation, beautiful and full lips slightly open, breathing deeply because of pleasure…

If the curse of bitterness and long hatred originally arise from desire, can his broken body arouse the fire of Mo Ran?

He didn't know.

This night, he had sex with Mo Ran in bed. His mind, however, was very confused, and he had no strength to resist as fiercely as usual.

Either because Mo Ran was quite turned on by this unusual performance, or because Chu Wanning was not in good health, but that day there was some low fever in the inside of his extraordinary heat. Mo Ran held him in his arms. He thrust quickly and deeply, constantly kissing Chu Wanning's lips, pumping his waist and buttocks or lifting one of his legs and thrusting into Chu Wanning harshly from the side.

Chu Wanning's heartbeat was chaotic, his throat knot rolling, and his self-control was not as good as in the past, occasionally letting out moans and groans.

His response made Mo Ran more and more excited. When he was in the middle of the pillow, he breathlessly asked: "Is this here?"

As a matter of fact, Chu Wanning's sensitive spots were very known by Mo Ran, after how many times they did it. But Chu Wanning's endurance was astonishing. He rarely called out in bed, so Mo Ran was not that sure.

He changed his angle or posture, and every time he adjusted his position, he went to see Chu Wanning's beautiful face with frowning eyebrows.

"Where do I fuck you? Where does it feel the best?"

It was very messy.

Everything was in chaos.

Chu Wanning listened as Mo Ran kept groaning in his ears, kissing, gasping for breath, the pain and passion mixing like a torrential downpour.

For the first time in his life, he felt like a duckweed, unable to grasp anything, unable to control anything, unable to change anything.

For the first time that night, he was weak.

Even worse was that although he did not answer, Mo Ran was able to quickly discern from his trembling and his expression the angle and position that he could not endure the most.

So he was fiercely and quickly thrusted into. Whenever his sensitive spot was hit, Chu Wanning could only bite his lips, but then Mo Ran's thrusts would become more violent and urgent. Mo Ran's ballsack would collide with his buttocks each time, the sound of their coupling making him blush and turning his heartbeat into a mess while their love liquids came out along with a large amount of wet stickiness…

Chu Wanning was still strongly holding on when Mo Ran lifted his hand and took his chin. He was still fiercely struggling under him, but his lips sucked thirstily and wetly.

His eyes suddenly became moist.

When the kiss ended, he wanted to hold back, but he didn't know why he couldn't hold it anymore.

He groaned and gasped helplessly under Mo Ran as he was penetrated.

He tried to grasp the mattress with the back of his hand, just as he tried to grasp his destroyed pride. But it was no use. Mo Ran's thrusts were too fierce and deep.

His legs were trembling and his toes were curled. He couldn't restrain his murmuring and groaning. Even at the time when Mo Ran's movements were the most violent, he was distracted, his legs were stretched, his toes were taut, and he was gasping under him a bit silently: "Ah… Hmm… Ah ah…"

At that time, Mo Ran's eyes were very dark.

The louder he shouted, the more turned on he was, the more fierce Mo Ran became.

As a result, the bed almost flipped over. The bedding and pillows were all misplaced, sliding to the floor. However, the two people who were fiercely entangled with each other could not care about anything else.

This sort of coupling could even be said to be very intimate.

That sound even made the night watchman's face turn slightly red when he saw Chu Wanning the next day. His eyes were full of curiosity.

He had lost it to him, and he had also been stimulated to the point of orgasm and the mattress became sticky and wet.

In fact, it could be said that this was the first time Chu Wanning released after being placed under house arrest without being drugged.

In a trance, he heard Mo Ran say in a low voice, “It’s only natural for us to arrive at today’s stage. Do you know why?”

“I wanted you a long time ago. I hated you for being so high and mighty with your cold expression. No matter what I did, I wouldn’t be able to persuade you.”

Chu Wanning’s eyelashes trembled. It was almost a sharp pain.

The man was still muttering at his temples. He was the one who had been humiliated, but the guy who got the advantage was thinking about the past instead. “No matter how good I am or how hard I work, you won’t even look at me.”

No.

Between you and me, there was once a gentleness, there was also once a pot of wine between the flowers, there was also an umbrella in the rain, a moon in the middle of autumn. But you’ve forgotten, and I can’t bring it up now.

“So, look. Only by breaking your hands and feet, pulling your bones out, pulling out all your claws and teeth will you be able to obediently lie under me. Only when I become the Emperor would I be able to bully you, torture you, force you, trample over you.”

The released area was still hot, pulsing between the flesh.

“To see you like this.” Mo Ran said softly, “It is worth it even if you are sentenced to death in hell for not being able to surpass the heavens. It’s exciting enough.”

He stroked Chu Wanning’s hair but did not pull out.

It was from this day onwards that Mo Ran started to have the habit of not coming out even though he knew that Chu Wanning would be sick.

His heart was filled with a scorching hot fire. Desire splashed in all directions, and the nature of beasts was ferocious.

Only Chu Wanning was his water, his box, the person he wanted to tear to pieces and kiss.

As for Chu Wanning? After the initial pain, he finally began to slowly sink. He slowly began to be alone, sorting out all the clues he knew, thinking about who behind the scenes had planted the hate flower on Mo Ran. What exactly was he plotting, and what he ultimately wanted.

On the other hand, even though it was written in the book that it would be impossible to pull it out once it reached the third stage, Chu Wanning was still unwilling to give up.

He had always been adamant in not admitting defeat.

He did not accept fate.

Just like this, day after day passed.

Without spiritual energy, Chu Wanning would have to suffer a lot of hardship, not to mention the fact that he couldn’t let a second person know about it.

It was very hard to find the Mastermind, and it was even harder to find the culprit. However, that person's purpose in controlling Mo Ran was getting clearer and clearer —

This was because Mo Ran had begun training in the Gates of Life and Death.

"I won't be able to practice the rebirth technique."

He still remembered the day Mo Ran stood at the window with his hands behind his back, looking outside at the chirping oriole, and said lightly, "I read the file and said that only people with heavy Yin energy would be able to learn to use it." With that, he turned around and glanced at Chu Wanning, "I plan to practice the first forbidden technique."

"The Gate of Life and Death in Time and Space?"

"What else could it be?"

"… You can't learn it."

Mo Ran smiled, "You have to try before you lower your head. If you don't do anything, it might not be possible to say anything."

Chu Wanning shook his head and said, "The first forbidden art changed fate, tearing apart two different worlds. It's been forbidden by the Heavens…"

Before he could finish, his words were cut off.

Mo Ran's expression was very lazy, "So what if it's the heavens? Why does it have to accommodate me? In my life, the thing that I don't believe in is fate."

He began to put it into practice. The first forbidden art had been lost for a long time, and Mo Ran was the supreme expert of the nine to five years. With great difficulty he finally received the ancient scroll, but the most important chapter was missing. Without a complete secret manual, no matter how fierce Mo Ran's spiritual energy was, it could only be used to cultivate just the Space Gate. But was impossible to truly tear time and space apart.

It was from then on that Chu Wanning began to understand the intentions of the person who planted Mo Ran Flower Gu.

It definitely wasn't for the sake of dominating the world. His guess was that that person's ultimate goal was to open the Gate of Life and Death. And it was not just a small rift, but a complete blending of the two worlds.

Only a very small number of people, such as Mo Ran, who was born with a strong and overbearing spirit energy, were able to do this.

Ch. 251 [Mount Longxue] Regression

“What do you want to do with the first forbidden technique?”

He didn’t know how many times he asked this question. Mo Ran was in a good mood on this day, so he finally answered slowly, “Go back to the past.”

“And then?”

Taxian-Jun raised his eyelids: “Save him.”

It was self-evident who “he” is.

Chu Wanning’s white clothes like snow, standing in front of Mo Ran, said: “If you carefully turn over the books related to the first forbidden technique, you should know, no one who practices the technique of opening the portal of time and space can come to a good end. The last master tried to bring his daughter back to him from another time and space, and he and the other him living in another time and space tried to kill each other. Don’t you know how it ended?”

Mo Ran frowned, changed his sitting position, overlapped his long legs and looked at him with his cheek in hand: “This Venerable One doesn’t know.”

“What are the examples of such failures?”

“No one has ever succeeded,” Chu Wanning said.

“That Venerable One will be the first successful person,” Mo Ran said.

Chu Wanning said again, “Once space and time are in disorder, you have no idea what the consequences will be.”

Mo Ran almost sneered: “Even if the world is in disorder, the flood is raging, what does it have to do with this Venerable One”

Chu Wanning was still unwilling: “Even if you really brought Shi Mingjing back from another time and space, what about the other you? He won’t allow it. If that happened, what would you do?”

Mo Ran sneered: “It’s just another rendition of me. If he stops me, I’ll kill him.”

Chu Wanning suddenly shut his mouth, suddenly feel thrilled.

Mo Ran was really crazy.

“If so…” Almost stubbornly, Chu Wanning slowly said, “The mistake of taking a woman by the master who first tried this technique will be repeated. In the process of taking Shi Mingjing between you and yourself, there will be an accident, and Shi Mingjing of that world will probably be crushed in the space-time crack, you…”

Before the answer was finished, there was a clatter.

Mo Ran got up and kicked the fruit tray case in front of him. Grape, orange, litchi and sweet were like the heads of the people he killed, and the bones are rolling all over the ground.

Taxian-Jun stepped forward, embroidered dark dragon pattern red scoop stepped on the ground, broken a fruit, grapes cracked like blood, litchi broken like brains - in this sea of corpse blood filled with sweet fruit fragrance, he suddenly grabbed Chu Wanning's robes, eyes like tigers and wolves.

"I know look down on him and hope he dies." Mo Ran said, in a gloomy way, "But you are too vicious. How can he say that he is also your apprentice? He has worshiped you and believed in you, Chu Wanning, yet you curse him like this."

"I did not curse him. What I said is true."

"Who wants to listen to your facts? This Venerable One wants people who tear up time and space and turn the tide back! Let the mortal worlds tear each other apart, I will block it myself and kill the other me- if you stop again, how…"

He gasped for a moment, but his eyes were wet with madness. So what? Crush him? But he has broken Chu Wanning's back. Humiliation? Chu Wanning was a man who had already married him against his will.

So, kill him? Suddenly his heart was so sad that he couldn't speak out and he didn't know what was going on.

Mo Ran turned away, leaving Chu Wanning standing alone in the hall of emptiness, surrounded by the darkness. He knew somebody was planning and hiding behind the scenes.

But what should he do?

Once the first prohibited technique is used, it's not a big deal to tear a tear, just like a scar can scab, space and time can heal themselves. But if the opening is bigger, the variables are more, and the two worlds could be intertwined in disorder. It may eventually become as recorded in ancient books.

Crack.

“The mortal world is orderly, if the order breaks down, natural punishment will come, all will return to the primal state of chaos.”

—— Chu Wanning would rather not remember where he read this sentence, but the impression is very clear, talking about the consequences of time and space out of control.

The so-called “Heavenly Penalty” is coming to Hong Meng, that is to say, God will punish the world by grinding the two disordered time and space into powder and returning to zero.

The first forbidden technique is out of control, and the cost will be the complete destruction of both space and time. So in any case, he can’t let this happen. He can’t let Mo Ran go on like this again.

That evening, Mo Ran was busy dealing with the files of Kunlun Dynamics and Chaos, so he did not find Chu Wanning. He went to the library with a wind lamp.

This is also a little kindness of Mo Ran. He knows that Chu Wanning is no longer a master, so he does not set up obstacles at Sisheng Peak except when he is provoked. He doesn’t mind Chu Wanning going to the library, the back hill and even the god’s arsenal.

It’s the same as keeping cats.

If the sharp teeth are smoothed and the sharp claws are cut off, that’s enough. It would be too boring to restrict it’s movements and keep your cat motionless and tame.

Chu Wanning combed all the books of his acquisition in the library, combined with the current situation, and finally concluded two things: first, the people behind the scenes were extremely good at using medicines, but their spiritual power is not strong enough. This is understandable, because if the person's spiritual strength was strong, there would be no need to borrow people to do these things. Secondly, the death of Shi Mei must have been planned by the people behind the scenes, in order to stimulate hatred in the heart.

This point is also evidenced in the ancient books of Chu Wanning.

"The bitterness and long hatred can erase all gentleness in people's hearts, but they can also retain the warm memories of one person." The complex magic text is decoded by the words, "Therefore, the performer often makes the flower owner keep his normal memories, so that the flower owner identifies with the performer, relies on the performer, and is willing to die and be born for it."

Shi Mei has already passed away. He saw it with his own eyes. It couldn't be fake. Therefore, Shi Mei must not have been a practitioner of the art, but Mo Ran obviously remembers all the good memories related to Shi Mei, and the people behind the scenes take advantage of Mo Ran's only pure warmth to tempt him to touch the three prohibitions.

From the control of the world's Zhenlong chess game. To the resurrection of the dead. To turn the tide of time and space, life and death door.

Mo Ran did try one by one, whether successful or not. Why are people so eager to control the three doors at the same time? What kind of person would want to rip apart time and space, risking that that both worlds would return to zero to satisfy their own selfish desires?

Chu Wanning thought that the answer to this question was not the most important at that moment. What matters is how he can prevent this from happening before Mo Ran opens the door of birth and death.

After reflecting for a while, he finally understood that there was only one way ahead of him— he had to kill Taxian-Jun, and then go back to the past to contain the flower curse in his heart. Try to pull it out. The man who has suffered the bitterness and hatred for a long time can't suffer it the second time. In this way, even after the death of Taxian-Jun, if the black hand behind the scenes still manages to open the door of life and death in time and space, can't get the strongest combat power.

Kill Taxian-Jun…

At night, there were moths and fires in the library. They plunged into the wind lamp brought by Chu Wanning, and were swallowed up by the tongue of fire in an instant. There were no remnants left, only a burnt odor.

Chu Wanning watched the candlelight alone and the silly moths.

The fire was bright, but his heart was cold.

Kill Taxian-Jun… Kill Taxian-Jun…

Kill Mo Ran.

Kill that poor man who is being controlled, used and has few good days.

Formerly a shizun, he did not protect him well, but now he has to plan to bring him down personally.

Chu Wanning suddenly closed his eyes, slightly threw his head back, resting his head on the bookshelf. The lights were shining, and he would fly to the fire like a moth.

He must kill Mo Ran.

It's raining.

The incessant drizzle lingered in his bones.

Chu Wanning is his favorite man, waking up from his shallow sleep.

Mo Ran's desire and energy are always amazing. Chu Wanning didn't know whether this person would be so endlessly entangled with Song Qiutong, whether the way he vented out was a simple animal desire or only his own thirst.

It wasn't important.

Mo Ran lay beside him at this time, sleeping soundly, not much different from the previous many long nights. During this period, he became more and more absurd and demanded more and more. It was common for him not to pull out after he had finished. When he woke up the next day, before holding court, he would have another round of sex. He had to kill him.

However, the disparity of strength is so great that Chu Wanning didn't feel that he would win, even if it was just beside his pillow.

Wait a second. He told himself so.

Ultimately, there are two things to be done. One is killing. The other is to open the door of time and space before he grabs behind the scenes, to prevent the past Mo Ran from being swallowed up by the flower of long hatred. Since the first one can't be finished immediately, he will do the second one. —— Open the first forbidden art, the door of life and death.

Regarding the first technique, he always had some vague impressions in his mind for some reason. Combining the rubbings found by Mo Ran, after numerous failures, he finally roughly restored the original form of the spell. But because there is no spiritual core, it is very difficult for Chu Wanning to perform magic. Fortunately, he and Jiuge (Nine Songs) were born with compatibility, even if there is no spiritual core, he can use it. So although it's very difficult to find out, it's not necessary to say much about the setbacks he's experienced. But all things considered, Chu Wanning finally ripped a tiny space-time gap with the help of Jiuge.

That's the real gap to the past.

As he approached, he heard a whistle coming from the gap.

The time and space, life and death door, opens the door with a whistle, closed the door with a whistle. It's exactly the same as in the books.

He heard a distant, empty voice asking him, "Where are you going?"

At first his heart was beating like a drum, but when he arrived at the bridge, it was suddenly calm.

"Where are you going?"

When that voice repeated its inquiry again, Chu Wanning looked at the Wushan Palace, where singing and dancing had already risen. Today, he provoked a fury from Mo Ran. Now Mo Ran has summoned Song Qiutong to accompany him, so he shouldn't look for him again.

He took a deep breath. His eyes opened bright. “I want to go back to the year when Mo Ran had just been inflicted with the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower.”

He tried to speak more clearly.

“That is the year when the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was still in its first stage and everything can be saved… Do you understand?”

No one spoke in the crack, but when Chu Wanning was about to be disappointed, a brilliance suddenly lit up and the time-space tunnel slowly opened.

Step by step, the heavens and the Earth spin dizzily. When everything was calm again, he opened his eyes and saw just a few peach blossoms falling in front of him.

He… He really went back many years ago!

At this time, Sisheng Peak, the white moon, is the late spring season.

“…” Chu Wanning stood for a moment, tried to calm his mind, and then pulled away the heavy flowers and walked out of the cracks.

He found himself in the back of the school. The fragrance of the flowers and plants planted by Madam Wang was striking. The distant lights were sparkling. It was the light from thousands of disciples’ rooms, which converges into a quiet galaxy in the night.

It was like a dream to revisit his old place.

Chu Wanning stood in place. Although there were not too many expressions on his face, his mind is full of mixed feelings. He walked slowly down the road and watched the younger disciples happily pass by. He saw the elder Jing Rong on Wu Jianping trying to negotiate with the Lucun Elder. He passed a corner and even saw the fat cat named “veggie bun” raised by Madam Wang, squatting on the wall, stretching out its plush head and sniffing the roses blooming on the wall.

He was wrong, it wasn’t just a dream. These past years, even in his best dreams, he hasn’t been able to return to such a Sisheng Peak.

Chu Wanning looked at the next step and went forward alone.

He knew that he has no habit of leaving Red Lotus Pavilion at night, so he is not too worried about meeting himself in this time and space.

Walking along, he suddenly saw two teenagers coming face to face. One was bright and beautiful, the other was dazzling as phoenix. He had been walking very slowly, but at last he couldn’t help stopping.

That was Xue Meng and Shi Mei in their childhood.

Ch. 252 [Mount Longxue] Split Soul

The two of them were talking about something interesting, and both of them had a carefree smile on their faces. Xue Meng even raised his hand and placed a small flower with yellow and white petals on Shi Mei's hair, but Shi Mei didn't know whether to laugh or cry as he let out a laugh.

"Ah, Shizun?"

It was already too late to dodge. When Xue Meng turned around, he caught a glimpse of him from the corner of his eye. He was stunned at first, but soon after, he joyfully said, "It's rare to see Shizun so late." As he spoke, he stepped forward to welcome him.

Shi Mei also smiled as he followed, and gently bowed, "Greetings, Shizun."

Chu Wanning didn't know what to say. He wanted to reply, but before he could do so, his eyes turned red. Fortunately, it was late at night, and he had enough darkness to cover his face.

Xue Meng was curious like a cat. "Where is Shizun going?"

"I'm going…" His voice was hoarse. He coughed for a while and said, "I'm going for a walk."

After a while, he couldn't help but ask again.

"What about you?"

"Shi Mei and I just came back from Wuchang Town. I bought a lot of delicious food." At the mention of this, Xue Meng seemed very happy. "There's a temple fair today, it's very lively."

If it was the current Chu Wanning, this conversation would have ended here.

Chu Wanning would not have much interest in understanding what these youths gathered for, what kind of food they bought, and why they were so happy.

At that time, he was bland and distant from everyone, not liking to look at other people's private matters.

However, the current Chu Wanning felt that whether it was Xue Meng, Shi Mei, or even the light in their eyes, every word, expression, or even their eyes was extremely precious.

He wanted to take a few more glances and hear a few more words.

This was something that he would never be able to obtain in his own world.

So he asked, "What did you buy?"

"Does Shizun want to see it?" Xue Meng happily rummaged through his Qiankun bag as if he was offering a treasure. "Fruit Core Peel, Pine Seed Sesame, Osmanthus Sugar…"

After counting for a while, he suddenly brought a handful of osmanthus candy to Chu Wanning.

"I bought too much. I'll give these to Shizun."

Shi Mei also rummaged through his own bag, but he didn't seem to be able to find anything useful, so his ears started to turn red.

“…”

“You don’t need to give anything to me,” Chu Wanning said. He picked up two or three candies and returned the rest to Xue Meng. His eyes were almost moist and gentle under the moonlight.

“That’s enough.”

He knew that the Time Death Gate would close at any moment. He had already overdrawn the power of Jiuge, so it would not be easy for him to open it again. Furthermore, there was only one night time chance. If he went back too late, he was afraid that Taxian-Jun would notice.

Holding back his emotions, he asked, “Where’s Mo Ran? Isn’t he with you?”

The two of them looked at each other. Xue Meng said, “I haven’t seen him since after lunch.”

Shi Mei also said, “He hasn’t been with us for the past few days. He probably has something to do.”

Thus, Chu Wanning went to the disciple’s room, but there was no one in there, so he went to the temple to look for him. Seeing that he was running out of time, he became even more anxious.

After frowning for a long time, he suddenly recalled something.

He thought about it.

Could it be that Mo Ran had gone…

He stopped thinking about it after a while. This idea that seemed like a flame was not comfortable to him at all. His expression slowly darkened, and he could not help but pinch his knuckles.

He remembered a place where Mo Ran used to go when he first went astray.

Less than an hour later, Chu Wanning stood outside a wooden building decorated with red and purple engravings.

This was the slightly famous Pear Garden Immortal Peach Pavilion. At this moment, it was already deep into the night, but the resplendent splendor of the Flower Pavilion had just begun. There were people coming in from the left and right. Most of them were men who looked greasy. Chu Wanning, on the other hand, had a cold face and a straight back. He looked out of place in the crowd.

“Guest, please come inside.”

“Let’s take a walk and take a look. There’s a famous actor playing today. A famous person from the Xiangtan Lake won’t lose to Xun Fengruo in singing and Duan Yihan’s dancing. One round of eighty words, with ten words in the front row…”

At the door, a young boy who was waving a scholar’s fan happened to pass by and ridiculed them: “What shameless boast, what great fame, to actually dare to challenge the two immortals Duan Xun.”

“That’s right, a match of eighty words still has the face to be equally famous as Xun Fengruo. Xun Fengruo being weak in a play of eight hundred gold coins isn’t enough.”

“This lousy theater is cheating again!” A husband passed by, scratching his armpits and giggling.

Chu Wanning did not understand, but hearing that gave him a headache. He lifted his hand and entered the building. That was where the silk lanterns were high and noisy. Some of them were listening to the show, some of them were drinking wine, and some of them were drifting in and out of the charm and gentleness of the rouge paint.

The filmmaker’s golden voice and jade-like muscles gave birth to spring.

On the stage of the first floor, the Imperial Consort was currently drunk on alcohol, his face filled with flowers and flowers. The actor’s every move was soft and mournful, even the audience was filled with endless sighs and feelings of gratitude.

“Good —! Alright!”

“Let’s do another part!”

The pungent smell of the powder made Chu Wanning frown and his face darken. He scanned the area with his phoenix eyes, but couldn’t find the boy anywhere.

Was he wrong again, he wondered?

At this time, the Madam, who was too busy to leave, noticed him. Like a colorful butterfly, she gracefully walked towards him, opened her mouth which was smeared with scarlet rosy clouds, and smiled as she invited him in.

“Young Master, please take a seat and enjoy the show.”

Chu Wanning looked at her, “I’m looking for someone.”

“Looking for someone…” The madam’s smile fell as her gaze turned cold. “Go on and find someone for yourself then.”

Chu Wanning let out a sigh and removed the ring from his waist. It was a beautiful piece of jade given to him by Taxian-Jun. It was warm to the touch. He handed the jade to the madame and repeated, “Find him.”

The madam took it and looked to her left and right.

She coughed lightly as he kept the jade and returned the smile. It was even richer than her head. “Who is Young Master looking for?”

“A young man of about fifteen or sixteen years of age. Mo Ran.”

On the third floor of the Scarlet Beauty Pavilion, there was a graceful and elegant carving. It was no wonder that so many people would be willing to spend their nights drinking so much. Just by throwing the silver into the pot, the beauty of the theater could make up a beautiful dream that was like a poppy flower, and many heroes could turn it into nothing. If the night could be passed like this, be gently dismissed, who would be willing to face the destruction of life, the pain of reality?

“This is it.” The madam lifted a long, narrow finger stained with cardamom and turned over the wooden sign carved with the words “Rong Jiu” on the door.

She raised her eyes and looked at Chu Wanning thoughtfully, “Sir, please wait for me to call out Jiu’er, and then I will invite you to our room to have a chat with your friend.”

“…”

Even the bawd could see how much he cared about him.

Chu Wanning closed his eyes, “Sorry for troubling you.”

She then entered. There seemed to be someone speaking in the room, and it was broken and unclear.

After a while, he came out with a servant following behind her. Chu Wanning glanced at the servant named Rong Jiu, whose cheeks were still flushed red. He looked familiar, as if he was someone else.

Rong Jiu bowed to him in a low voice and left with the madam.

Chu Wanning pushed the door open, and what entered his sight was a red and purple color, causing people’s scalps to go numb. There was no incense in the room, but the smell of wine. Mo Ran lay on his side on the bed, his cheek propped up. His slender fingers were still playing with the red tassels tied to the small clay pot. The bed was also red and messy. It’s best not to think too much about what happened here.

He walked over, and as cold as snow, he stood in this bright lustful room that was out of place for him.

“Ugh… Shizun is here?”

“…”

“Sit down and have a drink? Pear blossom white, good wine. I’m sure you’ve never tried it.”

“You’re drunk,” Chu Wanning said.

Mo Ran chuckled as he watched the man in white walk to his bed. He was indeed drunk. Suddenly, he reached out his hand to pull on Chu Wanning's waist.

"Drunk, alright? Drunk, you are not afraid of anything. Come, come, it's a long night. Why don't you just mess around?"

Chu Wanning did not say anything else. He simply lifted the youth from his bed, which was as red as a sea of desire, as the veins on his hands bulged. He was a man with the bearing of a Grandmaster. At this time, he was still solemn and determined. The trembling of his fingertips betrayed his inner feelings.

He closed his eyes and whispered, "Mo Ran."

The young man let out a cry, but he still did not understand. There was even a heartless smile on his face.

Chu Wanning said hoarsely, "I'm late."

He pressed his forehead against it and slightly moved his fingers. In that instant, the pain was excruciating.

In the midst of this tearing pain, a godly weapon appeared in the world. It was a haitang tree. Its tail was curled up as seven strings of flowing light. What a great Divine Wood Ancient Zither.

Chu Wanning clenched his teeth and allowed the Divine Martial Saint to temporarily transfer his strong spiritual energy onto his body. This kind of spiritual energy was a joke against Taxian-Jun, but it was enough for him to cast many spells.

He pressed Mo Ran's forehead against his own and closed his eyes.

Then he felt… Mo Ran's body did indeed have the aura of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower. In front of his eyes, it was as if a black, heavy flower was taking root in his heart, burying deep into his veins and vessels.

This was the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower.

It was the source of his evil.

Chu Wanning took a deep breath and chanted the incantation according to the ancient book. Then, he shouted with all his might.

"Soul-Breaking Strike!"

Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes, and a cold light shone from the depths of his pupils.

The Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower could only be suppressed by the soul force. Just as mentioned in the book, he cut off half of his soul and passed it from their foreheads into Mo Ran's body.

A fierce wind suddenly blew around him, and Jiuge actually made a phoenix cry.

Spiritual energy was blazing.

Mo Ran… Mo Ran…

In the past, it was Shizun who did not protect you well.

Now, I'll save you.

I'll take care of you.

The torn soul fragments turned into wisps of white dust that kept flowing.

Mo Ran was absent-minded and Chu Wanning was in extreme pain.

There was no end to it.

I'll go with you.

When the last ray of light disappeared, the two of them suddenly lost all their strength. Chu Wanning let go of his hand and Mo Ran fell back into the bed.

Jiuge was also gone, hiding in Chu Wanning's blood and bones.

Having lost half of his soul, it was extremely difficult for him to maintain the stability of his martial spirit.

Chu Wanning sat beside the couch, slowly closing his eyes. His face was so pale that even his lips were bloodless. However, his heart was at ease and relaxed.

He had finally completed the first step of changing his fate.

He used his soul power to interfere with the flower, which had yet to be deeply rooted. He didn't want Mo Ran to lose his mind again.

Time went back. He had finally protected him.

Chu Wanning could not stay any longer. The first thing he needed to do was to prevent Mo Ran from being devoured by the hate flower. He had already done this and was going to do the second thing.

He did not know how powerful the person behind the scenes was. Although that person could not tear open the space crack, caution was always right.

— He needed to make sure that he could recover the memories of his previous life and fight back in time the moment disaster struck again.

Therefore, the second thing he had done was to find the him from back then.

All of the Forbidden Spells in the Red Lotus Pavilion were useless against him. He easily entered it. He stood by the half-open window and looked at the man in white who was fast asleep on the table.

There was an half-done drawing of a Night-Holy Guardian.

…If only the troubles of the human world could also be dealt with the same way it deals these imps and demons.

Chu Wanning transferred the torn strand of his earthly soul into his body.

Originally, this soul belonged to him, so he didn't feel the slightest bit uncomfortable with it. He watched as the wisp of pure white light floated past, enveloping the 'other him' in a layer of warm light. Slowly, the light dimmed and a wind blew the blueprint on the table to the ground.

"If there is another catastrophe, Mo Ran should not make you his enemy." He stood against the window and whispered to the person inside, "Now that my spirit core has been shattered, my soul has been separated. I can only do this, I can't change our era, but you can."

The person in the room was still unconscious.

"I divided the weakest of the three souls into two, giving half to you and the other half to Mo Ran. If your life goes well, these two halves of the soul won’t affect you much. However, if this grievance continues to invade or if there is chaos in the world, then I will find a way to merge this strand of soul back together.”

If his prediction was not wrong, the moment his soul and spirit merged, the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower in Mo Ran’s body would be completely destroyed. After merging two souls into one, he would regain the memories of his previous life.

Chu Wanning said, “Don’t blame me for giving you these things. If it’s possible, I also hope that you won’t have to think about it, but…”

He did not continue, only sighing softly.

Then he did the third thing.

This matter was the last barrier — he had gone to find Huaizui. He handed over the censer that he had started refining long ago.

In that censer, he had used the Art of Soul Harmony. This secret technique would absorb the deepest part of his subconscious memories and stimulate the two halves of his soul that had been torn apart to merge back together.

Chu Wanning was not sure what his deepest memories were. He felt that there were too many. Perhaps it was the battle when Shizun and disciple had broken up, or perhaps it was because of the blood dripping from Mo Ran’s hands, or perhaps it was the pain of being humiliated by Mo Ran for the first time.

Too much.

Sometimes people can’t even see themselves clearly.

He urged the censer to be sealed in the caves of Mount Longxue. If he saw anything different about the mortal world, he must bring Mo Ran along with him to this place.

After all this, it was time for Chu Wanning to return. Space and time had the ability to repair themselves. If it wasn't for the destructive tearing process, the cracks would have closed.

In fact, he really wanted to stay here, in this clean and peaceful place where nothing had happened.

However, Chu Wanning knew that he did not belong here. He would never do something that went against the rules of the forbidden martial arts just for his own selfishness and warmth.

He left.

Left a good dream far behind, didn't look back.

"Chu-zongshi."

Returning to his own era, Chu Wanning had just come out of a crack at the back of the mountain to cover up the traces of spiritual energy when he saw a man dressed in red walking towards him on a bluestone path. It was none other than the old servant, Elder Liu, who had served Mo Ran closely.

"Where did the Grandmaster go? Your majesty's Shizun isn't easy to find."

Chu Wanning asked, "Where is he?"

"In the Red Lotus Pavilion."

When he walked over, Mo Ran was sitting under the wisteria pergola with his eyes closed. Seeing him push open the door, he slowly lifted his face. He waved at him.

“Come here.”

Chu Wanning pursed his lips, his expression as indifferent as usual, “Listening to a tune is not good? It’s over so early.”

“There’s nothing to be disappointed about.” Mo Ran said, “Listen carefully, there are only a few notes. I’m tired.”

He opened his sleeves and pulled him into his embrace. Mo Ran did not ask where he had gone to. After all, Chu Wanning had never been obedient. It would be strange if he stayed in the pavilion all the time without moving.

He forced Chu Wanning to sit on his lap and kissed the man’s cheek before burying his face in his chest.

“I just had a dream.”

“Hmm?”

“… In the dream, it was you who taught me how to write.”

Chu Wanning was stunned, his heartbeat suddenly slowed down. However, at this moment, Taxian-Jun was immersed in his own memories. He was unable to extricate himself from them, so he didn’t notice anything strange about him. He only continued speaking in a light and sad tone that he had never even noticed before.

“I didn’t write a single word four or five times. You were very angry, but you didn’t give up on me either. Then when you held my hand and there were flowers floating in through the window, I saw…”

He was too addicted to that big dream that he no longer called himself “Venerable one”.

Mo Ran paused for a moment. In that moment, his expression was actually young and immature.

“I saw something written on the paper. It was nice to see the letter.”

He grinned. It was a smile of pleasure or malevolence.

“This sort of thing can only be seen in your dreams.”

He raised his head and looked at the eyes filled with thoughts. Slowly, the coldness that belonged to Taxian-Jun returned. “Do you know why I wanted to see you all of a sudden?”

“…”

His hand reached out and touched Chu Wanning’s slightly cold face.

“In that dream, you looked good.” Taxian-Jun said blandly, “So that I can see it and not even forget it. So I want to see the real you.”

Chu Wanning lowered his eyes.

“I’m afraid I don’t hate you. I want to hate you. Otherwise, I…”

He was suddenly at a loss for words. Otherwise, what?

Otherwise, I will no longer be able to be magnanimous, or I will not know how to continue forward, or I will not know how to continue this broken life.

I have to hate you. I haven't changed.

"Wanning." He finally closed his eyes and sighed. "In the end, it's just you and me."

For a moment, his heart felt like it was being stabbed by knives. Just as Chu Wanning was about to speak, he suddenly felt as if he had missed his footing and fell from the cliff, waking up from a dream!

Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes. What entered his vision was pitch black, he could hear his beating drum-like heart, cold sweat pouring down his body, as if the gloomy and cold face of Taxian-Jun was right in front of him.

His entire body trembled as he panted slightly. The memories of his past life made the hairs on his back stand on end, making him quiver in fear. These memories did not stop there yet, continuing to crazily pounce on him.

His Adam's apple moved, he… Where is it?

Where is he…

Why can't he see anything? Why was everything in front of him black?

His mind was in a mess. After a while, he finally remembered the matters of the Mount Longxue.

He slowly recovered and murmured, “Mo Ran…”

At this moment, his cheek was suddenly touched by a warm and soft palm.

The hand took his chin in its hand and rubbed its thumb against his lips. Chu Wanning heard a voice that had obviously used a voice changing technique, smiling at him.

“I’ve been waiting for you for a long time. You’ve finally woken up.”

Ch. 253 [Mount Longxue] Bastard

“I’ve been waiting for you for a long time. You’ve finally woken up.”

In the quiet room, the voice was strange and distorted. If Chu Wanning could open his eyes, he would find Shi Mei sitting by the bed, staring at him with a smile, like a spider staring at a creature caught in its web.

“How was it? Did you sleep well?”

Chu Wanning didn’t answer immediately. Instead, he moved a little and found that his spiritual energy was only less than 20% recovered. Furthermore, his hands were tied with the Immortal Trapping Rope, and a black ribbon was tied around his eyes.

“…”

There was no use panicking now. Chu Wanning had always been fearless. He knew what kind of ending he wanted, so he knew how to deal with it calmly. In his two lifetimes, he had only been at a loss in front of one person.

Other than that person, no one would let him get into trouble.

Thus, Chu Wanning remained silent, slowly stroking his fragmented memory and the situation before he fainted. Previously, when his consciousness was floating, he had heard some of the sounds coming from the surroundings, but now, he was trying his best to piece together the fragments of words that he had just heard.

Right at this moment, the door to the secret chamber rumbled open. Nangong Liu had returned. He was holding a pile of fresh oranges and shouting as soon as he entered the room, “My dear friend, brother, the oranges are here! I picked out small circles at the bottom.”

“This kind of taste is exceptionally sweet…” Before he could finish his sentence, he saw Chu Wanning on the bed, “Ah? Big Brother Fei woke up?”

Hearing this form of address, Chu Wanning’s already pale face turned even more gloomy.

Concubine… consort Chu?

Then the so-called brotherly brother was…

Shi Mei took the tangerine that Nangong Liu handed to him. With a smile, he rubbed his head and said, “You did well. But, Imperial Consort Chu and I have something to say to each other. You can go out first and play for a while.”

“Can’t I stay here and play? I can peel the oranges for you.”

Nangong Liu naively mumbled and turned around to leave.

For a moment, the room was very quiet. Only the sound of breathing could be heard, and the occasional sound of candlelight crackling could be heard.

Shi Mei picked an orange, skillfully peeling it off and stripping it of its white silk. As he was doing this, he chatted with Chu Wanning as if it was a common occurrence, “Do you know who that person was?”

“You should not be unfamiliar with his voice.”

After peeling the tangerine, he handed it to Chu Wanning. “Taste it. The tangerine on Mount Jiao was personally planted by Xu Shuanglin. He is very proficient in this path, so it should be very sweet.”

Chu Wanning turned his face away.

Shi Mei leisurely said: “Look at you, once you wake up, you lose your temper.”

Chu Wanning was silent for a moment, then said coldly, “Where is he?”

“Who?”

“You know who I mean.”

Shi Mei raised his eyebrows: “You want to see Mo Ran?”

“…”

Seeing him fall silent, Shi Mei smiled gently: “You sure are considerate towards him. When I woke up, the first thing you said was to find him. I didn’t even need to ask who that was. It’s not worth it to do this for someone who has despised you for half your life.”

The blindfolded man pursed his lips, and the line of his chin became even more gaunt.

Shi Mei stared at it for a while and felt the evil fire in his chest grow stronger. But he boasted of being unhurried and would not rush anything.

People should eat elegantly, without showing their teeth, without any residue. The way of eating was too hasty, like the way Taxian-Jun’s meat and bones were devoured together. Before the deliciousness of the food could even be chewed on, there was only an empty bowl left.

It was the reincarnation of a hungry dog.

So he got a fire going down there, but he slowly sprinkled his own vegetables with fresh juice and rubbed the texture of his meat. He only needed to cook it until it was fragrant, then take a small bite and put it into his stomach.

“Another piece of gossip. Don’t you want to eat the oranges that are brought to your mouth? You’re so stubborn. In the past, how did you serve Emperor Taxian-Jun?”

“Take it away.”

“I think it’s better for you to eat. Your lips are already cracked from the lack of water these days.”

Chu Wanning, however, could only grit his teeth and asked, “Where’s Mo Ran?”

Shi Mei stared at him for a few seconds, and slowly, he stopped laughing.

“Whether in this life or the previous one, whether you have memories or not, your eyes will only look at Mo Ran. Shizun…” he have not spoken the word, known aphasia, he immediately stopped.

However, it missed a slight tremble on Chu Wanning’s face. “…”

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes, “Tell me, what’s so good about Mo Ran?”

He looked down at Chu Wanning and saw that the last bit of blood on his lips was also slowly fading.

“That person is impulsive in his actions and has no brains. His thoughts are naive and ridiculous, and his character is not good either. What do you like about him?”

“…”

“Face? Spiritual force? Taste?”

In the end, he had endured for so long. The more he spoke, the more the fishy smell in his voice became more obvious.

Especially when he saw Chu Wanning biting his lips as if he was trying to suppress his emotions, his mouth grew even more dry.

Words began to move in a more intimate direction.

“Or his ability in bed?”

Anger appeared on Chu Wanning’s pale face, and it made him blush. “Shut up.”

Shi Mei didn’t intend to shut his mouth. He had finally gotten his hands on this man. If he didn’t play with him thoroughly, then why would he stop? He said with a smile, “Concubine Chu still doesn’t know that after you died in your previous life, Mo Ran gave you a noble title.”

His interest was piqued as he observed the expression on Chu Wanning’s face.

“It does sound a bit funny, but it’s quite appropriate. At the end of the day, you were indeed clean and clean in your previous life. However, this way, there’s actually no comparison. Since you have never tried anyone else, you will only think of him as the best.”

The tips of his fingers were sliding down.

Nose tip, lips, chin, Adam’s apple.

Chu Wanning was trembling slightly, the veins on his wrists bulging as he tried to break free from the immortal binding chains, but he could not move in the end.

“Don’t waste your energy. It’s fine if Imperial Consort Chu wants to untie it, or if you want to know where Mo Ran is, I can satisfy you.” He changed the subject, “But, you are my spoils of war after all. You should at least play with me for a bit, right?”

“… What do you want to do?”

Shi Mei laughed: “I want you to stop being distracted by that person. Don’t keep thinking about him, just think about me, okay?”

“You are the one who planted the curse in my previous life. What else is there to think about?”

If you listened carefully, you could hear the pain in Chu Wanning’s voice.

Chu Wanning seemed to be doing his best to suppress his emotions, but he couldn’t stop himself from bursting out.

Shi Mei laughed: “That’s right, it’s me. But why doesn’t Concubine Chu try to guess who my real identity is?”

“If you want to say it, then say it, if you don’t want to say it, then don’t say it.”

“Sigh, when can you not be fierce?” Shi Mei sighed and said, “How about this, Imperial Consort Chu, it is said that a big gamble can hurt your health, but a small gamble will make you happy; if you really want something, you have to hurt yourself. So, why don’t we take a gamble?”

“…”

“However,” Shi Mei paused, “before we begin, I still have to slightly offend you, so I have to take a look at how many pieces of clothing you are wearing.”

Seeing Chu Wanning remain silent, the lower half of his face was tense, making his expression softer. He counted them one by one, and finally he counted out a total of five clothes.

“In that case, I’ll give you five chances. If your answer is correct within five times, I’ll tell you where Mo Ran is.” After a pause, he continued, “However, every time you make a mistake, I will remove one of your clothes. If consort Chu hasn’t answered all five of his clothes, then…”

He didn’t finish his sentence. He just smiled, subconsciously licking his lips with the tip of his pale pink tongue. Then he just sat there quietly, waiting for Chu Wanning’s guess. Chu Wanning did not say anything. He was not in a hurry and continued to wait patiently.

Right now, he was very free. He had plenty of time.

However, as time passed, Chu Wanning still did not respond. Shi Mei raised his eyebrows. He had plenty of time, but he might not be as patient.

“Guess.”

Chu Wanning finally said, “Scram.”

Shi Mei’s face darkened: “… Now that you are in my hands, you should be clear about what can and cannot be done.”

“…”

“Chu Wanning. You have no bargaining chip with me. Taxian-Jun might be unable to handle you, and might let you go at times. However, I am different.”

Shi Mei said coldly, “In my hands, it’s better if you behave yourself.”

He waited for a while longer, but seeing that Chu Wanning was still silent, his tone became harder and harder, “Don’t ignore me! Don’t think that I won’t be able to do anything to you just because you don’t say anything.”

As he spoke, he placed his hands on Chu Wanning’s waist. Then, he slowly stroked the seal, his fingertips sliding past it like a knife cutting through fish.

“Listen, I’ll count to three. If you don’t speak now, you’ll bear the consequences.” As he spoke, his eyes lit up.

He actually didn’t know whether he wanted Chu Wanning to guess or not. But no one could guess that this time was no longer important. Nothing could be turned back, and all he could think of was how to reveal himself.

After all, the man in front of him had fought with him for two lifetimes. Now that he had won, he had to carefully lick the fruits of his victory.

“One.”

In front of his eyes, a glimmer of victory could be seen.

“Two.”

What would happen to Chu Wanning? Anger? Grief? Fear?

He waited with open lips.

“Three… Alright, consort Chu is truly fierce, it’s no wonder that Taxian-Jun wants you to the point of being addicted.” Shi Mei half-jokingly half-seriously said, “Since you’re not going to guess, then we’ll do something crude. You…”

“Hua Binan.”

His voice was cold.

Shi Mei’s finger paused slightly, his attempt to break the seal on Chu Wanning’s waist froze. Then, he smiled: “You guessed half of it right. Continue?”

“…”

He revealed a fox-like slyness. This slyness might seem vulgar in others, but Shi Mei was so elegant that he was like a lotus flower in water no matter what time it was.

He firmly believed that Chu Wanning would not be able to guess the final truth. He was very proud of himself.

“I’d rather you were dead.”

The smile on Shi Mei's face froze. After a while, he asked, "What did you say?"

The voice of the person on the bed was very cold, lacking even the slightest bit of heat.

"In my previous life, that time when the sky split and the snow fell… I'd rather you were dead."

Shi Mei stared at him. The words he had prepared suddenly spilled out of nowhere and became incoherent.

He had already raised his hand halfway up in the air. He didn't know where to go, so he suddenly didn't know what to do.

"Shi Mingjing." A soft sigh, like a bee hibernating in a trance, sounded, "It's you."

"…"

Although it was a sentence filled with doubts, there wasn't a single sound that could be heard.

For a moment, no one was able to see his expression. After a while, he chuckled, "I didn't die. I let you down."

He didn't want to admit defeat, but there was a certain lack of interest in his tone.

Shi Mei said: "I am indeed the Shi Mingjing from your previous life. I came from your previous life, the world of Taxian-Jun. I'm not the same person who has always been by your side." He paused for a moment. "I'll keep my word and help you untie it."

As he spoke, he untied the Immortal rope and placed his hand on Chu Wanning's silk ribbon. With a slight force, he removed the silk rope.

Peach blossom eye to phoenix eye, two look at each other, ancient well no waves.

"Greetings, Shizun."

Chu Wanning was prepared for this, but the gloom only grew deeper. He looked at him and said, "You even know that I am your Shizun."

Hearing him say this, Shi Mei gently smiled. Only now did he realize what kind of sharp dagger was hidden beneath his gentleness.

"Well, of course. I have never forgotten to hold an umbrella of my own."

Chu Wanning looked very weak, but it didn't change the determination on his face. He stared at Shi Mei like this for a long time, his lips parted and his words crushed. He coldly said, "You bastard."

Shi Mei smiled: "It's a good thing you let me win." Pausing, he continued, "But Shizun, when did you guess my identity? In his previous life?"

Chu Wanning didn't answer, only coldly looked at him.

There was resentment in those eyes, but disappointment was the most abundant.

Shi Mei thought: "No, it can't be your previous life. If you knew in your previous life that I was Hua Binan, you would've told Huaizui when you tore the Gate of Time and Space."

He lifted his eyelashes. “It was in this life. Or was it just a short while ago? When you were at Mount Longxue, did you hear the conversation between me and Mo Ran?”

“…”

“Never mind, it’s not important.” Shi Mei smiled, “No matter what, you’re in my hands now, you’ll never be able to escape.”

Chu Wanning became increasingly silent.

In fact, out of the three disciples, the one he could not see through the most was Shi Mei. At that time, he was willing to accept this disciple because he was respectful, gentle, anxious, worried, and kind to others. This was a demeanor that Chu Wanning admired a lot. He couldn’t do it himself, so he admired it greatly and accepted this disciple.

However, there were times when he felt that something was wrong. For example, Xue Zhengyong said that Shi Mei was an orphan he had picked up during the war, but when Shi Mei talked about his background, he would occasionally be a little incoherent. It was like someone had lied and then forgotten the details.

There were also times when Shi Mei’s attitude towards things would suddenly become a little strange — he was like a domesticated ferocious dog, seemingly obedient. However, whenever he smelled the scent of blood, he could not help but reveal an ominous glint.

However, after observing for a few years, he had never seen Shi Mei do anything unrighteous, and Chu Wanning thought that he was seeing things. He saw the flowers as a bunch of green flowers and saw them as fangs.

He was like a hedgehog. His whole body was very sharp, and only his abdomen was soft.

He hid his apprentice, and all those who were good to him, under a soft belly.

Regarding Shi Mei, he had once wandered between trust and distrust. He had held back in the past and tried to test him, but he eventually chose to trust him. As a result, the knife stabbed into the porcupine's abdomen, causing hot blood to flow everywhere.

"How much do you remember from the past?"

"…"

Then he asked, "Weren't you willing to stand by and watch without doing anything? Why do you have to stop me?"

"…"

In his previous life, he had been filled with too much resentment and was finally able to ask about it in his current life. However, Shi Mei was unwilling to stop at this point and continued on endlessly, "Why didn't you kill Taxian-Jun in the end and even helped him reincarnate?"

Hearing the last sentence, Chu Wanning finally raised his head, "He is different from you."

Shi Mei paused: "What's different? If you say that my heart is vicious, then isn't his hand covered in blood?"

Chu Wanning stared at him, "You should be clear about the curse you planted."

“So what? Even if it’s my curse, isn’t he the one who killed them?” Shi Mei said, “In my previous life, you saw it with your own eyes. Half of the mountains were destroyed, Xue Zhengyong, Wang Chuqing, Jiang Xi, Ye Wangxi… From whose hands did these people die?”

Slowly he raised his hand and watched his slender fingers and his smooth nails.

What a pair of delicate and clean hands, delicate and meticulous, spotless.

Shi Mei blinked and laughed: “Could it be me?”

“…” For a moment, he was speechless.

“I didn’t want to slaughter the people from the Rufeng Sect, nor did I want to kill Xue Zhengyong. So you shouldn’t have come looking for your life. What did I do? All I did was plant a Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower for him. In my entire life, I’ve never killed anyone with my own hands.”

Shi Mei continued to smile merrily: “So in the end, he was the one who took the knife, and he was the one who stabbed you. It’s not much to do with me. The Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower can’t bring him any new hate. All of his desires belonged to him, and the spell could do is only amplify them. If this debt is to be held against me, I will feel wronged.”

With every word he said, the disgust in Chu Wanning’s heart increased. In the end, when he heard him say that he felt wronged, Chu Wanning suddenly raised his head, his eyes were as cold as ice, “What are you wronged about?”

“It was him who did it. What right does Shizun have to blame me?”

“Don’t you know who he is?!”

“Of course I know who he is. The person I’m not sure about is probably you, Shizun.”

The orange had strands of white silk stuck in his fingers. Shi Mei felt that it was too dirty, so he took out a piece of white silk and carefully wiped it, then said, “Why would Mo Ran slaughters Rufeng Sect Gate? Because he had hatred in his heart. How could Mo Ran kill Xue Zhengyong? Because he had fear in his heart. Why did Mo Ran humiliate you? Because he has desires in his heart.”

As Shi Mei spoke, he glanced at Chu Wanning and said, “If someone stabbed him, he wouldn’t be able to forgive them. If someone gave him the benefits, he wouldn’t be able to refuse. For a beauty, he cannot be a man of little desire — that is his nature.”

Chu Wanning gritted his teeth and said, “Shi Mingjing. Don’t you think it’s ridiculous for you to erase his most pure thoughts, to inflate his hatred by a thousand times, and to say that everything he does is his own desires? Whose hatred will not destroy the heavens and the earth after it has been amplified, you?”

“Then who let him have his own hatred? Who let him have ambition in his bones? Who let him have his own desires?” Shi Mei laughed, “If he has such skills, then he would be like a pure child with no evil intentions. But even if he has that kind of talent, he wouldn’t be able to cause much trouble. Therefore, it was still his fault for not having a clean mind. He’s just a normal person.”

Hearing this, Chu Wanning’s face turned ugly. He was about to speak again, but then he heard another sentence from Shi Mei.

“People are responsible for one’s desires, that’s nothing to argue about.”

If Chu Wanning had wanted to talk to him earlier, then he suddenly felt that it was not worth it to say something after what he had just said. Chu Wanning turned his head away.

Seeing his expression, Shi Mei shook his head, “Shizun, you’re too biased towards him.”

“In your eyes, he has a reason for everything. It’s understandable.”

“Then tell me, who should I understand?” Chu Wanning was as cold as ice, “You?”

“…” Shi Mei was quiet for a moment before smiling, “So Shizun still likes him?”

Chu Wanning’s gaze was akin to the reflection of the moon in an icy lake.

“Thus, in my past and present lives, I have competed with him in two lifetimes. Even if I won, I would still be inferior to him.”

Chu Wanning coldly replied, “What are you going to use to compete with him?”

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes, “Do you really only have these few words to say about me? Is there nothing else?”

Chu Wanning did not reply immediately. Looking at his expression, it seemed that he was seriously considering the question. Then, he lifted the curtain of his eyelashes. It was extremely cold and quiet.

“Yes.”

Shi Mei laughed: “What is it?”

Chu Wanning said expressionlessly, “You don’t even have to compare yourself to Mo Ran. You can’t even compare to Xu Shuanglin. At the very least, he still had feelings and dared to admit it. He’s not like you, Hua Binan.”

In the end, he no longer called him Shi Mingjing.

“You are such a bastard,” Chu Wanning replied.

Ch. 254 [Mount Longxue] Missing You

Shi Mei suddenly stopped. His snow-white face was slightly twitching, as if he had been slapped in the face. However, he still pursed his lips, “You really didn’t leave me any face at all.”

As he said this, he touched Chu Wanning’s lower jaw, but Chu Wanning avoided his hand like a scorpion.

Shi Mei squinted his eyes. For a moment, the storm was on his face, but in the end it died down to nothing.

“Let’s not talk about this anymore.” After he had calmed down, Shi Mei’s face was still warm and gentle, “Anyway, you are just an single-minded person. You wanted to kill him in your previous life, right? However, in the end… you didn’t have the heart to. You even injected all of your broken soul into his heart before you died.”

Shi Mei was not wrong. That year, in the life-and-death battle in the Snow Region of Kunlun, the last time Chu Wanning touched Mo Ran's forehead lightly with his fingertip, the remnants of his own fragmented soul transferred.

In his life, in the end, his soul had spilled out. One strand of it had remained in the body of the past Mo Ran of the past, one strand had been left to his past self, and all the rest, he held a slim hope and transferred it to the Emperor Taxian.

Chu Wanning had no idea how to break through the third stage of the flower, but since the flower needed the spirit of the caster to bloom, perhaps his spirit soul would change…

He was no longer a mummified body. He had done his best to do what needed to be done and what could be done. He had never been decisive in killing. The only thing he was soft-hearted about was Mo Weiyu.

Because there was still a glimmer of hope to save him, he did not kill him in the end. He did not hesitate to sacrifice his fragmented soul, hoping to bring back the Mo Ran from before to the world.

Although at the time he wasn't sure if it would work.

Seemingly seeing through his thoughts, Shi Mei laughed: "Although you can't remove the curse in his chest by doing that, it can indeed disrupt his state of mind and make him think both good and evil, ultimately killing him like a mad demon."

"…"

Chu Wanning's expression changed slightly as he looked up.

In fact, he had already guessed the ending of Mo Ran from his previous life when he contacted Taxian-Jun, who had no heartbeat, in Mount Jiao. However, when he heard the words "his own death", his heart still ached.

Shi Mei looked at him and continued, "Shizun, you did it. You did protect him. Sigh, I still don't understand. At that time, you were just a cripple. How did you ruin my plan? You… You surprise me."

His soft eyelashes, which were as soft as cattails, fell down. It was as if he wanted to kiss Chu Wanning.

Chu Wanning suddenly snapped out of his daze and raised his hand to grab his throat as fast as lightning. The veins on the back of his hand bulged.

Shi Mei's expression didn't change at all. He carelessly pinched Chu Wanning's wrist, as if he had already expected such a reaction from him.

He laughed. "What? Shizun still wants to destroy me a second time, and a third time? Unfortunately, it's already too late. It's already impossible."

As the sound of his voice faded, the hissing of a snake could be heard. A Golden-Ringed Snake flew out from Shi Mei's sleeve, and bit down on Chu Wanning's arm.

It was unknown what kind of quenching and feeding the snake had done. It only pecked at it, but the pain was unbearable.

Chu Wanning was too weak to hold on to his wrist, so he was tied to the bed pillar in an even more humiliating manner than before.

"Don't worry, this snake is not poisonous." Shi Mei tied his hands up and sat up. His cold white fingertips caressed the Golden-Ringed Snake, and his peach blossom eyes slanted, "This snake is specialized. After it bites you, you will only feel weak all over. I respect Shizun, so this is the only way I can do it."

Shi Mei raised his hand and the slithering snake disappeared into his sleeve.

"Speaking of which, I was forced by helplessness in my previous life to have you accompany Mo Weiyu for so long. I'm actually very unwilling." He stood up and with his fingertips he calmly began to unbutton his cloak, then his outer robe, and then…

The look on Chu Wanning's face suddenly changed to one of disgust. "Shi Mingjing!"

Shi Mei smiled gently and walked towards Chu Wanning, “Let me tell you a little secret. When you were married in your previous life, I even attended the banquet as Hua Binan.”

“Although Taxian-Jun has his own selfish thoughts and was covering you with red silk so that the guests couldn’t see your appearance and could only know that he married consort Chu, I knew that it was you. So that day, after the banquet ended, I didn’t leave. I went to the Red Lotus Pavilion—and then he came in.”

Shi Mei’s eyes flashed.

“At that time, although he was already controlled by me using the curse, his thoughts and emotions couldn’t all be controlled by me. Thus, I could not let him discover me. I hid and did not leave.”

Chu Wanning was trembling in rage and disgust.

Shi Mei sat down and slowly caressed his chest with a pair of slender hands: “Did you know?”

His voice was a little hoarse, and there was a hint of greed in his eyes.

His fingertip moved inch by inch until it stopped on Chu Wanning’s abdomen and began to unseal his waist.

“That night, when you were lying under him and had your body smeared with aphrodisiac… Tsk, tsk.” Shi Mei’s eyes reddened in desire, “I’ve been thirsty for two lifetimes.”

Chu Wanning felt extremely humiliated, but the merging of his memories of his two lives was extremely taxing. After being bitten by the Golden-

Ringed Snake, he did not have any strength left in his body, so he gritted his teeth and shouted, “Shi Mingjing, fuck off!”

Shi Mei chuckled: “It’s just going to bed, there’s no need to be so fierce. Your disciple already slept with you. Let’s stop pretending to be reserved.”

“Get out!”

“Lie down and serve one disciple, or two. Both are the same. If I don’t mind, why don’t you enjoy yourself? Maybe my skills are not any worse than his.”

“You give me —”

Before he could finish his sentence, he heard a cold voice coming from the door.

“Get the hell out of here.”

Chu Wanning looked as if he had been struck by lightning. Suddenly, he raised his head and saw that the stone door had already been opened. A man with an unknown face was holding a black gold blade. He was standing outside the half-open door of the secret room, looking cold and tall with a straight back.

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes, “It’s you…? So fast?”

That person took a heavy step forward, bringing with him a cold aura. For a moment, the lights in the room flickered, and the candlelight shined on his black armor suit, making it very cold. At this point, he could finally see his appearance clearly. He had a pair of long, skinny legs, and was wrapped in combat boots. He wore a silver dragon head belt around his skinny waist, a silver concealed weapon case, sharp bracers on his wrists, and a pair of black dragon scale gloves.

Above that was a handsome face, with an heroic air to it.

The emperor Taxian-Jun!

The Emperor's body emitted a terrifying cold and bloody aura, as if he had just returned from a battlefield.

He raised his eyes, his pale cheeks still stained with blood. His eyes were like bayonets as they stared at the two people on the bed.

To be exact, he only glanced at Chu Wanning, and his eyes glinted with a cold light.

"Fuck off."

When Shi Mei saw him enter the room, his face first turned cold. Then, he straightened his body and slowly sat up.

"Did you kill all the people that I told you to kill in Guyue'ye?"

"Not yet." Taxian-Jun walked towards them while gritting his white teeth. He bit the edge of the glove and removed it, revealing the well-manicured hand beneath. He threw the blood-stained gloves on the table, stared at Shi Mei, and said maliciously, "Be tactful. You're not the only one under this Venerable One command."

Shi Mei's face didn't look good either, "You'd better be clear about who you're talking to."

“This Venerable One can only tell if he is happy or not.” Taxian-Jun said coldly, “You got on the wrong bed. Rise.”

“When did it become your turn to shout at me?”

Taxian-Jun said dangerously, “This Venerable One has always been like this.”

Shi Mei seemed to be slightly angry, his eyes flashed: “… I am your master!”

“So what if you are? Mount Jiao belongs to this Venerable one, and the person on the bed is mine.” Taxian-Jun looked down at Shi Mei with clear eyes and a mocking smile, “Master. Please get lost.”

Taxian-Jun Emperor and Shi Mingjing exchanged a few words, exchanging tit for tat, and fireworks flew in all directions. As for Chu Wanning, he did not know what was going on, so he stood aside and observed quietly.

Shi Mingjing had just said that Taxian-Jun was dead. Then, who was this person in front of him? A Chess piece? A living puppet?

Also, back then he tried to suppress the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower on this life ‘Mo Ran’. As for the Emperor in his previous life, because the parasite had entered too deep, he had long since been unable to recover from its effect. Therefore, logically speaking, he should have loved Shi Mei to the point where he was unable to extricate himself.

However, from the tone of his voice, the Emperor Taxian-Jun actually didn’t treat Shi Mingjing as such.

…And, what about the so-called Master?

Shi Mei stared at Taxian-Jun for a while, then sneered and stood up to put on his clothes.

He was very clear about what Chu Wanning did not know.

In his previous life, Mo Ran had died by himself and he had immediately lost his lackey. Thus, he used Mo Ran's corpse along with the remnant soul consciousness in his body to refine it, turning it into a living corpse. This living corpse was very similar to Zhenlong Chess. It was also willing to listen to his commands, and retained all of its consciousness while it was still alive.

Perhaps it was because he had suffered too many setbacks while he was still alive, or perhaps he had suffered too many setbacks in his life and his body was already in tatters. All in all, in the heart of this living dead Taxian-Jun, his understanding of Shi Mei, was extremely chaotic.

As a result, even if he were to look at Hua Binan's face, he wouldn't realize that he was Shi Mei. He simply thought of his as him "Master".

Moreover, he wasn't too willing to listen to his words.

"I really can't do anything to you."

Shi Mei walked up and poked Taxian-Jun on the forehead, "Soul-shattering!"

With a shout, Taxian-Jun froze. His eyes that were originally sharp as a rhinoceros suddenly became dull and lost their focus in the blink of an eye.

"It was clearly a puppet made by me, and it's becoming more and more disobedient. It always disagrees with me, and even tried to counterattack me.” Shi Mei patted his cold face, “But forget it, I won’t blame you. You are not a complete ‘person’ to begin with.”

Taxian-Jun: “…”

“Just bear with it. In a few days, when I get that thing and bring you back to your original world, you will be a good boy.”

As he finished this sentence, his control over Taxian-Jun had reached its limit. This speed of recovery caused the expression on Shi Mei’s face to darken. He didn’t think that in such a short period of time, Taxian-Jun’s pupils would regain their former brilliance and become even more resolute and cold than before.

This cold and oppressive gaze was focused on Shi Mei. Taxian-Jun paused for a moment, his eyes slightly narrowed, and his nose wrinkled. His expression was similar to that of a cheetah serving its food: “Hm? Why haven’t you rolled away yet?”

As he spoke, his fingers gripped onto the hilt of the knife.

“You want to use this Venerable one as a target?”

Shi Mingjing didn’t want to talk to him anymore, or rather, the malevolent aura of the emperor Taxian-Jun was so profound that even though he was the “master”, he knew that he couldn’t tighten the reins on his neck.

If this Lord of Darkness were to go insane, it would be terrifying.

After he left, Taxian-Jun stared at Chu Wanning on the bed for a good while with a strange and subtle look. It was as if he was doing his best to restrain himself from wishing for something.

Finally, he sat down, reached out his hand and held Chu Wanning's waist.

"I…"

He paused, not knowing how to continue. He pursed his lips and changed his words.

"You…"

Chu Wanning looked at him for a long time, but his eyes were still locked on his. Then, he slowly blinked his slightly sore eyes.

"Ahem, this Venerable one has something important to tell you."

"Go ahead."

Taxian-Jun hesitated for a moment, then said resolutely, "Actually, it's not that important. I'd rather not talk about it."

"…"

After a while, he spoke with a more determined tone, "It doesn't matter whether it's important or not. Since you want to know so badly, I don't mind telling you."

Chu Wanning: "…"

"Actually, this Venerable one wants to say…" Taxian-Jun took a deep breath, closed his eyes, and spoke in an extremely stiff tone, "This Venerable one wishes to say, after so many years, it seems… I did miss you so much…"

He quickly added, “But I didn’t think too much about it, just a little.”

He had only said these two words when his handsome and pale face immediately revealed an extremely regretful expression.

Chu Wanning stared at him blankly. With two lifetimes’ worth of memories and souls intertwined together, he didn’t even know what kind of mentality he should have to face this man.

However, Taxian-Jun did not give him much time to think.

He seemed to be irritated, so he simply untied the rope and pulled him over. A big hand touched the back of his head, and then a kiss came down.

Taxian-Jun’s lips were icy cold, but his desire was fiery.

In this intrusive and anxious kiss, the past came back to haunt him.

As he kissed him, the two of them, the two missing pieces of his spirit souls, finally kissed again after two lifetimes of being separated by the mundane world, entwined together.

While he was being hugged and kissed by Taxian-Jun, Chu Wanning seemed to have thought of many things. However, at the same time, his mind seemed to have gone blank, unable to gather his thoughts.

But in the end, he knew his eyes were moist.

It didn’t matter if he was right or wrong, good or evil, everything was difficult to define. Everything was no longer clear.

But he knew when he kissed the man who no longer had any warmth.

Taxian-Jun did not lie to him.

Mo Ran had not lied to him.

He really did miss him.

Ch. 255 [Mount Longxue] Convicted

It was unknown how long the kiss lasted before Taxian-Jun let him go. Chu Wanning thought that he would just let the matter go, but unexpectedly, his lips just left his and touched him again.

After repeating this a few times, Taxian-Jun was finally satisfied. He licked his lips and stared at Chu Wanning's face with his dark eyes.

"It hasn't changed. It's you."

There were too many things to ask and too many unforeseen events. Chu Wanning was quiet for a while, then he said in a hoarse voice: "…You still remember the past?"

"Naturally."

"Do you remember how you died?"

"The ten great sects had joined hands to attack me, I was very tired of them."

"Do you remember how I died?"

The gloominess between Taxian-Jun's brows faded slightly, but it was replaced by a layer of grey: "Taxue Palace, you were preventing me from taking actions. I hated you."

Chu Wanning asked again, "Then, do you remember how you came back to life?"

"Hua Binan saved me."

“What are the specifics?”

“This is…” He didn’t say anything else though. A look of surprise appeared on his face. However, this feeling did not last long. He closed his eyes, and when he opened them again, they were clear.

Taxian-Jun frowned, “What did you just say?”

Chu Wanning kept quiet.

He almost knew what Shi Mei had done to this body. Since ancient times, people had always had a hard time controlling it. After Mo Ran died, Shi Mei could not completely control this corpse’s emotions, nor did he dare to break the chaotic memories of Mo Ran to such an extent.

Therefore, he could only choose to erase the important matter that would affect Mo Ran’s listening ability in a very small way.

This Taxian-Jun Emperor in front of him was most likely just a walking corpse.

Chu Wanning closed his eyes. After a while, he seemed to want to say something, but before he could speak, a sweet taste rushed to his throat. He coughed violently.

“Mo Ran…” His lips were stained with blood. He raised his misty eyes. “Stop working for others. You are already a shell, rest in peace. You. Cough, cough.”

Everything in front of his eyes turned dark, and the scattered fragments began to surge again.

You should go back to the past. You have already been buried underground for a long time, and this place does not belong to you.

However, he didn't have the energy to say that sentence again. Chu Wanning only moved his lips before losing consciousness again.

In the end, he only saw Taxian-Jun frowning as he talked to himself. His handsome and pale face seemed to be somewhat anxious.

"Chu Wanning." He heard him call out to him, just like in his previous life, "Wanning…"

He closed his eyes, and the pain of his soul merging invaded him again. What happened next, he did not know.

Outside the Thousand Mountains, the forest was bleak.

It had been raining heavily for the past few days, and even the wooden frame of the relay station was covered in a fine mildew. Looking out from the window of the relay station, one could see streams of water dripping from bamboo leaves into the pond, creating ripples.

Suddenly, a pair of shoes stepped into the water, shattering the clouds and sky.

Mo-zongshi appeared in front of the winding mountain path leading to the Sisheng Peak.

Ever since the upheaval at Mount Longxue, his spirit energy had yet to recover and he was unable to control the sword. Because he was worried about the safety at the Sisheng Peak, he rushed back from Mount Longxue without stopping and spent a total of four days.

Along the way, he actually thought of many things.

For example, the reason for his rebirth, or the reason why Chu Wanning set up such a mysterious formation in the cavern in his previous life, or Shi Mei's reason.

After thinking for a long time, he could not find any clear answer.

He was not an intelligent person, and now that he was suffering and worrying, he could not calm down and think about it carefully – Shi Mei knew him, and Chu Wanning was his weakness. As long as Chu Wanning recalled the past, he would be sentenced to death. His mind was in a mess.

The rain gradually grew heavier, and Mo Ran stood in the wind at the top of the mountain steps. He raised his head, and wisps of silver frost landed on his face. In front of him, there was a winding stone staircase leading to the peak of the mountain.

This mountain path was a path of life and death. It was a path of sorrow and joy. It was a path that had been trekked countless times in two lifetimes, from youth and inexperience to the end of time and the end of time.

It was very cold. Rain mixed with snowflakes fell, wetting his black clothes and dyeing his hair.

The youth should have no worries, the wind blew white on his hair…

Mo Ran closed his eyes and walked up the long stairs, heading up the mountain.

A sound finally "creaked" as he pushed open the door to the Loyalty Palace.

The door slowly opened. His two lifetimes of madness and glory, his nightmares and darkness, were all fated for this.

He thought back to his previous life, when he was twenty-two years old and had changed Loyalty Hall to Wushan Hall. He stood in front of the old signboard and swore to step over all the deities to rule the world.

This is where that life fell, and this life should end.

The Loyalty Hall was densely packed with people. There were even more reputable people gathered here than when Mount Jiao went against Xu Shuanglin.

Hearing the door open, everyone turned around to see a tall man in black clothing standing at the doorstep. His face was pale and there were a few strands of wet black hair on his forehead. The light was behind him, the dome leaden, the rain and snow falling.

No one had expected Mo Ran to appear so suddenly.

Was he the hero that used his life in exchange for everyone's safety, or was he the bloodless devil at Guyue'ye? What kind of person was he?

For a moment, no one made a sound. Everyone's eyes were fixated on the man that just returned.

Those who trusted him found him pathetic, wet and cold, like a dog coming home out of the rain. Those who did not trust him only felt that he was very terrifying. He was gloomy and deep, like a ghost that had crawled out of hell.

The rain drummed on the roof's green eaves, seeping into the cracks in the stone in front of the steps and covering them with moss.

Mo Ran lifted his pitch-black eyes. Under his fan like eyelashes, his eyes were moist. He said softly, “Uncle, I’m back.”

“Ran’er! How — how can you be alone?”

Xue Zhengyong was sitting in the seat of honor. His face was pale and he had a rare slovenly look. His iron fan was casually spread out on the table. “The world is ugly.”

“Where’s Yuheng?”

Mo Ran walked into the hall. He was like a drop of water, falling into the oil that burned to a hundred percent and was instead tranquil. He stirred up a crackling sound, and almost everyone took a big step back while he walked.

“Mo Ran!”

“Demon, you actually have the face to come out!”

“You killed so many people at Guyue’ye’s place, yet you still dare to show your face!”

On the way here, he had long heard about the bloody incident that happened at Guyue’ye. He was also very clear on how crazy Taxian-Jun would be. What did dozens of people count for? Hundreds, thousands, and tens of thousands. In his eyes, the people of this world were nothing more than corpses.

“Madman… You and Hua Binan are in cahoots!”

“What else do you want? Today, the experts of the various sects were here, and the Pavilion master of the Tianyin Pavilion would soon arrive. Even if you are crafty and extremely fickle, you will still not be able to escape from this inescapable trap!”

“Mo Ran, you’re too cunning. Sing ‘Red Face’ and ‘White Face’ for a while, make everyone confused so that your scheme will succeed. How vicious are you!”

Surrounding them were waves of attacks and questions, as angry faces surged one after another. Mo Ran ignored everyone and continued walking forward. He had more or less understood the meaning of Hua Binan’s words — forgive him for not wanting to call him Shi Mei.

Hua Binan dug a grave for him. Even the inscription on the tombstone has been written down. Hua Binan calculated it very clearly, he would jump in by himself.

This was because from the moment Chu Wanning recalled his past life, Mo Weiyu had already turned himself into a corpse that could not be saved.

It was over.

“No matter how many fake masks you have on your face and how many heroes gathering today, I will expose your true appearance.”

“You must be sent to the Tianyin Pavilion to be punished!”

The din was deafening. The words that pierced the eardrums the most were three: “Tianyin Pavilion”.

Mo Ran did not expect that Hua Binan would involve the Tianyin Pavilion. Coincidence? Or had he planned this long ago?

The Tianyin Pavilion was passed down from an ancient sect in the cultivation world for thousands of years. The Sect Leader was first the descendant of God and immortals, and later was passed on by blood from generation to generation. After many generations, the Tianyin Pavilion Master's divine blood had thinned out, but it was still rich in spiritual energy. Even though the Tianyin Pavilion did not concern itself with the mortal world, it was just like how mortals believed in cultivators. Cultivators also believed in the justice of the Tianyin Pavilion.

A hundred years of authority was already hard to overthrow, not to mention a thousand years. Therefore, even Taxian-Jun Lord Ascended the Heavens in his previous life, in the end, he still left behind a Pure Land for the Tianyin Pavilion. Shi Mei was very smart. It was best to hand Mo Ran over to the Tianyin Pavilion for punishment. No one would refuse to accept a verdict.

The main hall was filled with clamor. Mo Ran walked along the carpet embroidered with pollia, walked to the front, and then stood still.

"I…"

The man only said one word before the commotion died down. They stared at him, and many of them had hate and vigilance in their eyes.

They waited for his excuse and his insolence and his fault, and stretched their necks ready to pounce and tear the devilish demon to pieces.

This person's good or evil was hard to determine, and his actions were unfathomable. However, he would rather kill by mistake than let it slip by him. He had to –

"I'm here to receive my punishment."

It was absolutely silent, even more so than before.

It was like sharpening one's blade and preparing to engage in a great battle. The sound of the drum of gold beating against the enemy could shake the heavens, only to suddenly find out that the enemy general had already committed suicide.

Ridiculous.

"What did he say?"

After a long while, some people finally reacted, but they still didn't dare to believe that this demon would confess so easily. As a result, they quietly asked the person next to them: "Does he mean that he came to receive the punishment?"

Mo Ran lowered his eyes and knelt down, facing his uncles and aunts, as well as the pale Xue Meng. His handsome, thin face was reflected in the dim light.

He really wanted to kill him, but he wouldn't let that man feel good because of what Hua Binan had done to him. There was one more thing he needed to do before he could confess.

He would do his last bit of strength to protect the people he could no longer protect.

Thus, Mo Ran slowly spoke, his voice was filled with a fiery heat.

"My hands are indeed full of blood because I have killed many people with my personal grudges. Although I had wanted to repent in the past few years, it was still an unforgivable sin. Chu Wanning is also aware of this…

Today, in the presence of all the cultivators, I have another matter to declare besides the sins."

He paused for a moment, his words were as sharp as knives piercing his heart, "I no longer have a Shizun and disciple relationship with Chu Wanning."

Upon hearing these words, most of the people present were shocked, "What's going on?"

It had to be known that the Shizun and the Disciple publicly breaking off all ties was a huge scandal in the cultivation world. In this kind of event, whether it was the Shizun or the disciple, they all felt embarrassed. Therefore, as long as there was no blood feud, even if their relationship was not harmonious, they would still show their prowess.

After the astonishment, many people began to whisper: "Wasn't it fine before? Why is it suddenly like this? It can't be that you're trying to trick us, right?"

"It doesn't look like it. Could it be that something happened to them after that?"

"It's possible… Chu Wanning didn't seem to care about his disciples at all. When Shi Mingjing was captured by Hua Binan, didn't he not let go to save him? He had even blinded the other party… If I were his disciple, I would also feel bad looking at him."

The voices rose and fell like the tide.

Amongst these voices, Mo Ran continued, "He won't tolerate me killing and committing arson. But all this while, he has been treating me coldly and insulting my dignity. This person was full of compassion about all the people in the world, but he treated all of his disciples lightly. How hypocritical was that! Back then, if it wasn't for him, I wouldn't have reached this stage."

It was too painful.

He stopped. His lips were trembling, but he still wanted to finish his sentence, one word at a time. He would hack himself into a thousand pieces.

"He was the one who harmed me. He was the one who mistook me. I did not conspire with him; I was ashamed to have taken him as my Shizun. Now that I have broken off all ties with Chu Wanning, if anyone considers me his disciple from now on…"

He raised his gaze to resemble that of Taxian-Jun.

"That is to disgust me. I hope you don't bring it up again!"

Xue Zhengyong was frightened, "Mo Ran —!"

Xue Meng's face became pale. "Brother, are you crazy?! Do you know what you've said!"

Mo Ran closed his eyes. He was unwilling to look at Xue Meng or any of his family. That "brother" had already pierced through his heart like a sharp claw.

Mo Ran continued, "Other than that, I have another matter to attend to."

"If you're guilty, then plead guilty. Where did all these things come from? You —"

Before that person could finish complaining, they were stopped by Jiang Xi, the current head of the immortals. “Go ahead.”

Mo Ran said, “My previous sins were too grave. It wasn’t bad for me to admit my mistakes. But the matter regarding Guyue’ye is not what I did.”

Many of the people present were here to collect their debt of blood, and their emotions were already stirred up. Now that they heard him deny the murder of Guyue’ye, they couldn’t help but feel extremely angry. They all said:

“Ha! What a joke! This is a fact that is absolutely certain, what else do you have to say for yourself!”

“That’s right, who else could it be if not you?”

Mo Ran replied, “At that time, I was not even at Guyue’ye’s place. At that time, Chu Wanning and I were at Mount Longxue. It was done by someone else. And that person, if I’m not wrong, should be…”

He hesitated and didn’t immediately reveal his identity.

It was not because he was afraid of the anger of the crowd, but because he believed that no one present would believe that the Gate of Life and Death had already opened.

“Who is it?”

Mo Ran pursed his lips and decided to temporarily wait until later to bring up the matter of Taxian-Jun. He did not reply immediately and instead said, “Who is it? In short, that person colluded with Hua Binan. One of them was framed by Guyue’ye, and the other took Chu Wanning away.”

As he finished his sentence, the crowd split into two voices.

The sound of the first wave was weak, but it could still be clearly discerned. Most of them were called out by the disciples at the summit of life and death, “What happened to Elder Yuheng?!”

“Where did the elder go?!”

The other group was the group of people who had come to denounce them.

“Mo Ran, do you think we would believe you?”

“You don’t know what kind of medicine you’re selling! What do you mean by ‘someone else’? I see that you and Hua Binan are in cahoots! On Mount Jiao, the two of you colluded and acted well! You did not hesitate to kill so many people, even to the point of wasting the friendship of fellow disciples, and caused Shi Mingjing to die. You, you, you are a liar!”

Hearing Shi Mei’s name, Mo Ran slowly raised his head and looked at Xue Zhengyong, who was seated on the seat. He then looked at Xue Meng and said, “Shi Mei, he…”

Xue Meng was confused because of his concern. He quickly stepped forward and asked, “What happened to Shi Mei? Is he okay?!”

Mo Ran couldn’t even look him in the eye.

Seeing a person’s broken appearance, it was enough as long as he could only use it once.

Mo Ran closed his eyes and said, “Shi Mei is Hua Binan.”

Dead silence.

After a long while, Xue Meng suddenly fell back into his seat and muttered, “What a joke, how could it be possible…”

Indeed, if not for witnessing it personally and hearing it personally, Mo Ran would have already said that it was impossible. The three of them had experienced many trials and hardships together, and to him, Shi Mei was the first true equal friend he had ever had in his life.

But this friend was a fake. It was just a scene out of a mirror.

Ridiculous.

The surrounding people started to discuss, “What is this nonsense?”

“Has he gone mad? How could a little cultivator be the number one Saint Hand under the heavens?”

“If Shi Mei is Hua Binan, then why would he help us remove the Heart Drilling Worm at Mount Jiao?”

There were also those who had been saved by Shi Mei in Mount Jiao, and they were deeply grateful to Shi Mei. At this moment, they pointed at him and said angrily, “Mo Ran, in order to wash away your sins, you actually said such preposterous words. You’re spitting blood!”

At this moment, Jiang Xi, who had been silent all this time, also spoke up.

“Do you have any proof that Hua Binan is Shi Mingjing?” Jiang Xi said, “Hua Binan has been under my tutelage for many years, and has almost never left Guyue’ye. If you were to say that he is Shi Mingjing, how would he be able to appear in two places at the same time?”

Ch. 256 [Tianyin Pavilion] Life and Death

“Hua Binan is covered with a black veil all the time, and he stays shut in the alchemy room all year round, so he has little contact with the outside world, so it is difficult to detect people as long as they control a person of similar size.”

Jiang Xi frowned. “What do you mean, Hua Binan is a fake?”

“Sometimes it’s true. Sometimes it’s false. If you want to avoid being discovered, the best way is to mix the true with the false.”

Jiang Xi thought, “In this way, Shi Mingjing should be able to use Zhenlong chess games, but our medicine sect is not strong in spiritual power, and it is impossible to master this technique.”

“Sect head Jiang said it very well. Zhenlong chess needs a great loss of flexibility. Hua Binan knows this very well too, but because of his weak core, he can’t do it alone. So he had to conspire with Xu Shuanglin before.”

Jiang Xi shook his head: “No. Xu Shuanglin once said that the man behind the scenes was his friend. He was unwilling to betray his friend, so he didn’t tell us who he was even after death. If, as you said, Shi Mei is Hua Binan, Xu Shuanglin should recognize him. So why did Xu Shuanglin not rebel after the rebirth was destroyed by Hua Binan?”

“Because Xu Shuanglin didn’t know that Shi Mei and Hua Binan were the same person,” Mo Ran said.

Next to him, Great master Xuanjing twisted his beard: “Since they are close friends with each other, how could he not know such a great thing…”

“It was Xu Shuanglin who took an accomplice despite his ignorance.” Mo Ran said, “But Shi Mei didn’t really talk to him. On this chessboard, Xu Shuanglin is just an important chess piece, that’s all.”

He paused and continued, “At the Mount Jiao Hall, Hua Binan was injured and took off his veil. The face was so ugly that it looked like a seastar.[171] Now I think it’s just a delicate human skin mask. For Xu Shuanglin, he may have seen only this face of his “close friend” in his life, that is, the fake appearance. He would never associate Hua Binan’s face with Shi Mei’s. So he did not think that he was framed or used by his partner until he died, and naturally he would not reveal the truth behind his back.”

Jiang Xi said, “In your opinion, Shi Mingjing and Hua Binan appeared at the same time on Mount Jiao. Do you believe one of them was a Zhenlong chess piece under control?”

“I guess so. But there is a second possibility.”

“What?”

Mo Ran shook his head. “I want to talk about that matter later.”

Master Xuanjing said, “Even if the first guess from Mo Ran was right, this poor monk still feels that there is one thing that does not make sense. Hua Binan has no reason to interrupt Xu Shuanglin’s rebirth law formation. Does he have an enemy with Xu Shuanglin? Is it harmful for Xu Shuanglin to get what he wants and Luo Fenghua to be reborn?”

Mo Ran sighed, “Did the Master forget the final result of Xu Shuanglin’s spell?”

The old man did not respond for a moment and shook his head.

“From the crack that day opened, Shi Mei did not teach Xu Shuanglin the real art of rebirth at all.”

“Ah…”

“He has been deceiving Xu Shuanglin. Xu Shuanglin took great pains to think that he was arranging a rebirth battle, but in fact he was making a magic formation for Hua Binan, who lacked spiritual strength.”

“What did Hua Binan teach him…”

“It’s the biggest forbidden art in the world.” Mo Ran paused and finally said, “What he taught Xu Shuanglin is the door of life and death in time and space.”

“!”

Those who participated in the battle of Mount Jiao couldn’t help but remember the black holes in the sky and thousands of mysterious men coming out of them.

Is that the door of life and death in time and space?

“That’s the second possibility that I just mentioned,” Mo Ran said. “As long as the door of life and death exists in time and space, Hua Binan and Shi Mei may be true, but one belongs to this timeline, while the other comes from another realm of truth cultivation.”

When the crowd heard this, they were silent, and then someone clapped their legs and laughed, “Master Mo, do you coax the children to sleep with stories like this? Take this mythical forbidden art to bluff people. There are also two Shi Mingjing… Ha ha ha ha ha ha ha! I'll laugh to death."

"Yes, how could it be? That's the prohibition that was lost thousands of years ago… Who could learn to use it?"

"The most important volume of the door of life and death of time and space, legend has long been sealed in the Yandi Shenmu, even if someone was studying this prohibited spell, what they could learn the most is space, but not space and time. Otherwise, if one world overlaps with another, the world will be chaotic!!"

Instead of arguing with them, Mo Ran spoke out all his ideas on his own. He knows that this is probably his last confession as Mo-zongshi. After today, these people may not give him any chance to explain anything.

He used his confession as a bargaining chip in exchange for a little calmness from those who demanded their lives, hoping only to tell everyone what he had guessed and what he knew. Believe it or not, what he said is an alarm bell. If there is turbulence in the future, it may not be too late for somebody to think of his warning today.

"Imagine, if I were Hua Binan, I had mastered the essence of the Zhenlong chess game and the door of life and death in time and space, but I was born with insufficient vitality and had no position to act accordingly. What should I do?"

Most of the people here are disgusted with Mo Ran and are unwilling to listen to his advice.

However, Jiang Xi appreciated Mo Ran because of some previous events. Moreover, he also had doubts about the murder case of Guyue'ye, so he thought about it carefully for a while and said: "… I'd get help."

"Who would help you?"

"Nobody."

Mo Ran said, "Yes, there is no one, so he could only deceive. Deceive a person like Xu Shuanglin who has a great wish to help him complete his plan step by step."

Master Xuanjing said, "It's ridiculous, so there's no possibility that the circle array is anything else? The door of life and death in time and space is really not something that ordinary people can learn. For thousands of years, no one has ever learned it. The most important book has been lost. Who can practice it?"

"Yes, it's just fantasy."

"You simply say that the great God Fuxi descended to the world, which is no different from the time and space of life and death."

"It's so absurd that not even a storyteller dares to say so."

At last, someone sneered and said, "Master Mo, after such a long period of preparing the ground. Do you want to tell us that the person who killed the heroes in the lonely night, is someone who came to this world through the prohibited art of life and death in time and space?"

Mo Ran: "…"

Seeing that he was silent, some people in the hall laughed loudly and said, "It's terrific. It's terrific. In order to excuse himself, Master Mo Ran made up all kinds of stories."

“Dare to go around for half a day, is it to wash the accusation for oneself?”

Jiang Xi couldn’t stand such a noise. He turned around and brushed his sleeves and angrily said to the leading people, “Speaking, what does yin and yang do?”

Master Xuanjing said, “Sect Leader Jiang is not a stranger, but Master Mo’s story is too ridiculous. According to this old monk, it would be better to invite him to Tianyin Pavilion for interrogation before making a decision.”

“Yes, the head of Tianyin Pavilion will be here in a minute. When she comes, let Master Mo come with her.”

Before Jiang Xi had time to speak, Xue Zhengyong opened his mouth. Although he was in a complicated mood, he still said, “I think what he said makes sense. Maybe the door of time and space has really been torn apart. Tianyin Pavilion is a place for interrogation of the absolute evildoers. He can’t go with you until things are clear.”

“Yes!” Some disciples from the top of life and death stood up and said, “Mount Jiao is on the front line of life and death. If it hadn’t been for Brother Mo who saved you, would you stand here well? If only he wanted to subvert the upper and lower circles, he would have trapped everyone in Mount Jiao!”

Great master Xuanjing was stunned: “This…”

Someone said, “That’s true. When we were trapped in Mount Jiao Yongdao, it was Master Mo who tried to let us out. If he wanted to harm us, then we could start.”

That’s true. Many people thought about it and were silent for a moment.

But silence is not equal to approval. Many of the people present are still in mourning, friends and relatives are newly bereaved and they feel extremely sad. What's more, the survivors of Mount Jiao Flower Hall saw Mo Ran kill with their own eyes, and the eyewitness, except for Mei Hanxue who expressed doubts about the situation, were all certain that it was really Mo Ran. Under such circumstances, it was not easy for them to give up looking for Mo Ran to collect their debt and ask for his life, but to believe in the appearance of mythical Gate of Life and Death in Time and Space.

So soon someone retorted, "But I don't think it's very uncomfortable. Don't you remember? On Mount Huang, Master Mo was very precise in controlling the whole situation and the Zhenlong chess game. He said that Shi Mingjing would treasure chess games, but I think the one who knows a lot about this technique is himself.

"Yes." After the rebuttal, someone immediately echoed, "There's one more thing, don't you think it's very strange? Why could Mo Ran open the Mount Jiao borders? He is not the heir of the Nangong family."

At this time, a loud and clear female voice came from outside the Loyalty Hall.

"It's nothing strange. Because it is the blood of the Nangong family that runs through Master Mo."

Everyone turned their heads abruptly, but saw a captain wearing a silver and blue outfit and wearing a silver medal with the name "Heaven" written on it. The leader was a beautiful woman who looked up to 27 years old, with bright eyes, white teeth, and a beautiful face. She was born extremely beautiful, even comparable to Song Qiutong, the number one beauty of the cultivation world. Despite her beauty, her temperament was very cold.

Most of the crowd changed color when they saw her, and even a few of the masters had a look of awe on their faces.

Only Jiang Xi did not react much and nodded: “The head of Tianyin Pavilion finally came.”

This elegantly dressed woman was the master of the Tianyin Pavilion, Mu Yanli, who had been absent from the cultivation world for a long time.

Mu Yanli ruled the Tianyin Pavilion, and all the serious unsolved cases in the upper and lower cultivation worlds would eventually fall into her hands, and she would preside over the trials - but there weren’t really many cases that required the presence of the Tianyin Pavilion, so the master of the Pavilion often didn’t appear in front of the public for ten or twenty years.

Because Mu Yanli didn’t often go out, her skin was extremely white, and pale blue blood vessels could be seen through it. She stepped into the palace, stopped and said softly, “I’m sorry to have kept you waiting for a long time.”

Great master Xuanjing asked, “The master of the Pavilion came a little later than the expected time. What delayed her appearance?”

Mu Yanli shook her head and said, “No, Tianyin Pavilion can never be empty-mouthed. So before I came here, my sect was thoroughly investigating some of Master Mo Ran’s past actions at Sisheng Peak.”

She paused, a pair of apricot eyes looked coldly at Mo Ran, red lips lightly opened: “This investigation found that things are not so simple, the identity of Mo-zongshi… It involves an old case in Xiangtan from many years ago.”

Everyone looked at each other and wondered, “What’s the old case?”

Only Mo Ran paled, palms sweating.

He had no idea that the matter should be told at this moment.

Mu Yanli was like an executioner, looking coldly at the man kneeling in front of the temple and saying, “Mo Weiyu, don’t talk idly. Do you know your own life and your own mind, whether you want me to invite witnesses to the temple or not?

“…” Mo Ran closed his eyes.

As early as the beginning of his rebirth, he knew that if he wanted to live a safe life, there were several people in the world who had to be killed forever. But at first, he had no strength and no chance. Later, when strength and opportunity were available, he was no longer willing to take the lives of others for his own sake.

He killed enough people in his past life.

When Mu Yanli saw him silent, she said, “It seems that Master Mo does not intend to confess himself.”

After she had finished, her cool and beautiful face showed an undisguised contempt, and then she turned around, facing the guests, her voice rang like a bell and penetrated the hearts of the people.

“Let me say it, then. Listen, everyone. This famous master, before he ascended to Sisheng Peak, had already the murder of dozens of lives on his hands. Such a ferocious person should have been brought to justice long ago!”

“What?!”

“Dozens of people had been killed before the beginning?”

Xue Meng opened his eyes wide and looked blank. He murmured, “Brother…?”

This sound was not light but not loud either, and it fell into Mu Yanli’s ear.

Xue Meng: “…”

The rain and snow outside grew heavier and heavier, and the sky grew darker and darker. Even if the candles in the hall were bright, he could not breathe.

Mu Yanli looked at Mo Ran look full of contempt. She looked at Xue Meng’s look, her face immersed in cynicism. Her lips red as she said, “Knowing your enemy as your brother, it’s really pathetic.”

Xue Meng did not respond to the meaning of this sentence, but his brain has been in a thunderstorm, as if there was a crack in the sky. He opened his clear eyes and stepped back: “What… What did you call my brother?”

He trembled all over. “What are you talking about?” he said.

Mu Yanli no longer payed attention to him, turning around and saying, “Mo Ran, is not Sect Leader Xue’s nephew at all. What’s more.” She paused, a pair of beautiful and ruthless eyes like a sharp knife, passing through the faces of Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang, not without justice, not without cruelty, said:

“Xue’s relatives and nephew, as early as eight years ago, have died in the hands of Mo Ran!”

Ch. 257 [Tianyin Pavilion] Linjiang Fairy

“What?!”

The room was full of pale faces!

Only Mo Ran closed his eyes, calm as water.

The crowd made a mess: “What the hell is this?”

“What was the old case in Xiangtan then?”

“Why did he kill people…”

Mu Yanli continued: “It’s a long story, and because of age, many people who know the inside story are no longer there. However, people won’t know if they don’t investigate. Tianyin Pavilion found some evidence.”

In this piece of smoke, which is interwoven with people and thrillers, Mu Yanli looked back calmly. “Have you brought all the witnesses you have found in Xiangtan?”

The attendant looked out and answered, “All of them are waiting outside the temple.”

“Then invite the first witness in.”

The first witness came into the temple. He was an old craftsman. He was very old, hunched, shivering and submissive. The first reaction he saw was that he fell on his knees with a thump, kowtowed, and stuttered in his mouth, “I have worshiped you fairy lords… I have paid tribute to you, Lord Xianjun…”

Mu Yanli slowed down her tone: “This old gentleman went through a lot of trouble to arrive. You don’t have to be nervous. I’ll just ask some questions, one answer, two answers.”

The old man couldn’t get up from the shivering. The monk of Wubei Temple walked over and gave him a seat to sit on. But he was afraid. He only touched a small corner and tried his best to shrink himself to a minimum.

Mu Yanli opened her mouth: “The first two questions. Where does mister A come from? What did you do?”

The old man’s teeth trembled. When he opened his mouth, he had a strong accent: “I… I’m from Xiangtan, I sell lanterns on the street…”

Everyone looked at him curiously, from his sparse crane hair to his broken shoes. They don’t know what the lantern seller can shake out from the past.

“How many years have you sold lanterns, sir?” asked Mu Yanli.

“Most of my life… Fifty years, probably. I can’t remember exactly…”

“It’s been long enough. I’m not going to ask you that far in fifty years.” Mu Yanli told him and pointed at Mo Ran. “Do you recognize him?”

The old man looked up at Mo Ran and saw that he was tall, brisk and magnificent. He did not dare to look any more. He immediately turned his eyes away. After a while, he hesitated to steal a glance at him again, and then whispered, “I don’t recognize him.”

Mu Yanli said: “It’s not surprising if you don’t recognize it. Then I will ask you again, when you used to sell lanterns near the drunk jade building in Xiangtan, did you always have a child who liked to stand by your stall and watch you paste the lanterns?"

"Ah…" The old man's eyes were cloudy, but he was very clear about it. He sighed and nodded. "Yes, there is such a child. He looked at it almost every night. He liked the Lantern I made, but he was poor and couldn't afford it… I had a few conversations with him at that time. He didn't like to talk. He was very timid."

"Do you remember his name, sir?"

"Well, he seemed to be called… Mo… Mo Ran?"

Just then, everyone was still listening to the old man's words. At this time, all the eyes fell on Mo Ran.

The old man sank into the memories of the past and muttered, "I can't remember clearly whether that was his name or not. I only know he's the man in the House of Drunken Jade…"

Xue Zhengyong calmly interrupted, "Mo Ran was originally the offspring of a brother of mine and a mother in the building. What's the meaning of Palace Master Mu inviting this old gentleman to prove it again?"

"Mammy?" The old man was stunned and waved, "Oh, No. Although Mammy's son was also named Mo Nian, he was a famous little overlord in the streets and alleys at that time. The old man said, bent his head and pointed to an old scar on his forehead."

"I was smashed by him with bricks. The child was fierce, wild and skinny."

Xue Zhengyong's face has changed: "Mo… Nian?"

Madam Wang said anxiously, “But the old man misremembered it? After all, there is a word difference. Is that mother’s child called Mo Ran or Mo Nian?”

“… It’s Mo Nian.” The old man thought about it and nodded again. “You can’t miss it. How can you miss it? It’s called Mo Ran.”

Xue Zhengyong himself leaned forward slightly. When he heard this, he was stiff for a moment, then collapsed in his seat, his eyes were stunned.

“Mo Nian…”

Mu Yanli continued to ask: “The child who came to see you paste the lantern, he was in the drunken jade building, what was he doing, you know?”

“Well, I don’t know exactly. I vaguely know that he helped to cook in the kitchen.” The old man said, “His reputation was not very good. It is said that his hands and feet were not clean. He always stole things from guests.” He tried to think about it, and then seemed to think about it. His face changed a little. “Ah, remember, that kid was hopeless. He grew up worse and worse, and later humiliated a yellow flower girl. She couldn’t stand it, and finally she committed suicide.”

“What?!”

If swapping out a raccoon for the crown prince was already shocking, it is even more outrageous that the good girl had been defiled before Mo Ran.

There are many parents of monks here, immediately angry crown, gnashing teeth and grinding teeth: “unexpectedly! Master Mo Ran is such a beast dressed in human skin!”

“Death sentence would be a pity!”

Mo Ran kept silent and only looked at the old artist quietly.

In his previous life, he was on the verge of overturning the cultivation world, smelling blood, and Tianyin Pavilion tried to stop him. At that time, the old man was brought over by Mu Yanli and identified him. What did he do at that time?

How did he do that?

Laugh heartily and accept it.

Turning his head to Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang, he said with a distorted smile, “What? Do you hate me? Resent me? Is it the same as my good Shizun, saying that I am deficient in nature and beyond remedy?”

At that time, the secret learning of Zhenlong chess games by Mo Ran was almost revealed, but Xue Zhengyong initially chose to believe him. It wasn’t until he heard this that Xue Zhengyong got up angrily, and he was so angry that he wanted to vomit blood, and he shouted, with his eyes like a tiger, “You are a wicked animal! You are just a wicked animal!”

Mo Ran listened to these two words and laughed, laughing more wantonly and happily.

Every corner of the eye was wet with laughter.

Abused the girl?

Xue Zhengyong.

Xue Zhengyong actually believed.

Ha ha ha ha

“Yes, I did these terrible crimes. I killed your nephew and killed the poor girl—what? My uncle is going to kill me for heaven’s sake?”

Before he could finish his words, there was a sudden sharp pain in his chest.

Xue Zhengyong was fierce in temperament. Before he could finish speaking, he was angry and mad. His eyes were filled with hate and tears, and the tip of his fan pierced his chest.

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment, and then a slight smile opened at the corner of his mouth. He lowered his head, looked at his mind gradually bleeding, sighed:

“Uncle, I have called you uncle for so many years. But in the end, you won’t believe me.”

“Shut up!”

Mo Ran smiled and his shoulders trembled slightly. “Forget it, after all, we don’t bleed the same blood. So, this false home, Sisheng Peak… What else do I hate?”

Blood splashed, splashed all over the face.

He watched Xue Zhengyong fall in front of himself, his brain tingling slightly. He didn’t want to kill him originally. It was his temper to rush up and start… It was he who sought his own death. Mo Ran stood quietly for a while, raised his bloody eyes, looked quietly at Madam Wang, who was deeply distressed. He licked his lips, stepped over his uncle's body and walked towards his aunt.

Xue Zhengyong had not given up yet. He clutched his clothes tightly and refused to let go until he died.

The half-old man seemed angry, and sad and heartbroken more than angry.

At that time, with a crazy mind, saw his uncle's eyes and wondered what was the meaning of the tears in his eyes. He did not understand, didn't want to understand.

Mo Ran heard Xue Zhengyong say, "Don't… Don't harm…"

"She saw it. So she is going to die." Mo Ran acted very nice and calm. "But Xue Meng is not here, so… See how many years you have brought me up, this life, I have the right to stay."

What is Madam Wang's struggle in the dark?

Besides, she was no longer able to struggle at all. She just cried. Like her husband, she said, "Beast…" But when the knife went in and blood came out, her consciousness gradually dissipated. She looked at him and finally murmured, "Mo Ran, why are you…"

Mo Ran's hand was shaking and trembling at that time, and finally it was pulled out. He looked down at the palm of his hand, which was wet. The scarlet dagger grabbed the palm and smelled slippery.

The blood has hot.

But it will soon be cold.

Like his so-called family, his so-called relatives.

From the beginning, he was worried because he knew that Xue Meng, Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang were all right.

They were not his relatives at all.

Their biological nephew had already died by his hands.

“Absurd!”

A loud shout interrupted the memory of Mo Ran.

Mo Ran almost raised his head in a daze and looked around the hall before finally falling on Xue Zhengyong.

It was Xue Zhengyong who was talking.

“I raised this child, I would know if he could bully innocent girls, don’t throw false accusations!”

“…”

Suddenly he felt his heart filled with some sour and bitter feeling.

His eyelashes rustled and his eyes closed.

It’s different.

Two lifetimes… Many things have changed.

The old artist was so frightened that he rolled down from his seat and kowtowed on the ground: “No, no, I’m not deceiving, Xianjun is quiet, I’m just… I’m just… I really…” He was just a poor craftsman. He had never seen such a scene. He was accused by the leaders of the faction. He was so frightened that he couldn't say a complete word in the end.

Xue Zhengyong shouted as if he were a ready beast: "Get out of here."

"…"

"Go away!"

The old artist immediately got up to rolled off, but the people of Tianyin Pavilion stopped him. He couldn't move forward or backward. He fell on the ground and was shaking like a sieve chaff. He said, "What's all this about?"

Mu Yanli said, "Don't be angry at Sect Leader Xue. Don't be afraid of the old gentleman. What Tianyin Pavilion seeks is to make all the injustices of the world clear. It will never frame or harm innocent people."

She paused and lifted up the old artist.

"Please finish it, sir."

"I have nothing to say…" But the old man was really frightened and never said a word again. "Please let me go. I really don't have anything to say anymore. I don't remember well. I don't remember well."

In this stalemate, the silent Mo Ran, suddenly looked at Xue Zhengyong, bowing to him.

The meaning of this action is self-evident. Xue Zhengyong and Xue Meng could not say a word in an instant. Madam Wang muttered incredibly: "… Mo Ran?"

Mo Ran said, “When I was in Mount Jiao, I wanted to come back and confess to my uncle. But I didn’t expect this to happen.”

“…”

Mo Ran eyes were very clear. Because of this, they even seemed a little dead: “Witnesses came today, people’s evidence must have been collected. There’s nothing to say. Yes, I’m not one of the top two masters of Sisheng Peak.”

He paused, and a sighing remark fell into the hall, with a soft voice like feathers and a thousand stories of waves.

“I am the son of Nangong Yan of the Rufeng sect, the lord of the Ninth City.”

“What?!” The crowd was horrified.

“Don’t you want to hear the truth of the matter?” Mo Ran closed his eyes and said, “… The fire in the House of Drunken Jade was set off by me, and dozens of lives were destroyed in my hands.”

Madam Wang said tearfully, “Ran’er, how do you do… How can you…”

“But in Xiangtan, the little girl of Tofu Square was humiliated to death.” He said here in a slight silence.

In his last life, no one wanted to hear him tell the truth.

They were angrily accusing him and abusing him, so he didn’t want to explain. Anyway, he was in the eyes of others, that is to say, such an absolute evil head, adding a bloodstain would be all right.

But in his life, he finally wanted to talk.

“About that girl… It wasn’t me.”

There was a silence in Loyalty Hall. Everyone was watching Mo Ran, waiting for him to open his mouth and tell the unknown old dust-laden cases.

Mu Yanli raised her eyebrows: “Oh? Is there anything else in that case?”

“Yes.”

“Please make a statement.” Mu Yanli spoke. “We are ready to listen at any time.”

Mo Ran shook his head. “Before we talk about the murder of the tofu shop girl, I want to talk about a more important person first.”

“Who is it?”

“A songstress.”

Mo Ran said, eyes, lost in contemplation, staring through the open window at the distant horizon.

“… At that time, there were two young pipa girls in Xiangtan, one with the surname Xun, Xun Fengruo, one with the surname Duan, Duan Yihan.”

Many of the people present heard him mention these two names, and they all looked knowingly at each other.

“… Xun Fengruo is weak… Duan Yihan… Ah! Is it difficult to teach in the two-digit music hall?”

“It’s them. I remember that they were both entertainers in Xiangtan and are called Linjiang Shuangxian.”

“Yes, the wind is weak, and the spring is coming. The clothes are cold, dancing flowers blooming all over the sky.” Someone twisted his whiskers and sighed, “I was only in my thirties at that time, and the fame of these two was widely recognized. But it’s difficult to ask them for a song. I heard that every time they perform, the music hall will be surrounded, as if even water couldn't leak out[172] and their limelight was very strong, very popular.”

Someone else said, “It seems that the two of them had fought over music at that time.”

Mo Ran said, “There was a fight. Xun Fengruo was two years younger than Duan Yihan and two years later entered Yuefang. At that time, she was arrogant and dissatisfied with Duan Yihan’s fame, so she sent out flower posts and invited Duan Yihan to play trilogy and dance trilogy on the drunk jade tower to determine her skill level.”

“Who won in the end?”

“A draw.” Mo Ran said, “But since then, they have cherished each other. Although Xun Fengruo and Duan Yihan are not songstresses together, they often walk with each other and regarded each other as sisters.”

Someone said impatiently, “Stop talking nonsense and get to the point! What do these two women have to do with you?”

Mo Ran looked at him and said, “Duan Yihan is my mother.”

Ch. 258 [Tianyin Pavilion] Soft Bone Clash

“What?!”

That year when Duan Yihan came out with her pipa, she was a young woman from the Wuling County who fought with her head and played a song with an uncountable amount of red silk — That peerless singing immortal was actually his mother?

“At that time, by chance, my mother got to know Nangong Yan, who was also the Ninth City Lord of the Rufeng Sect. He knew some poetry, he had a sweet mouth, and he was pretty.” Mo Ran paused, “My mother misjudged him and fell for him.”

At the side, Xue Meng could not help but shake his head as he muttered, “How is this possible…”

“With a beauty throwing herself into his arms, how could Nangong Yan refuse? But after all, he has status and reputation. He didn’t dare casually tell the truth about himself to a musician. He lied to my mother and said that he was Linyi’s businessman. A guest living there.”

“They’d been in contact day and night. Your mother didn’t notice?”

Mo Ran sneered, “If she had noticed, then there wouldn’t have been so many things after that. Nangong Yan was very good at making up lies, not to mention that he had only lived in the Xiangtan Lake for a short period of time.

My mother had no time to discover his true identity. Later, a letter came from Linyi. After Nangong Yan received that mysterious letter, he hurriedly left Xiangtan."

"Didn't your mother ask him where he was going?"

"He left in the middle of the night and didn't even say goodbye to my mother. They were lovers for several months. In the end, Nangong Yan only left behind a stack of silver leaves and a piece of paper with the word "Do Not Remember" written on it, and it disappeared from the face of the earth."

A female cultivator sighed and said, "Sigh, these music industry singing girls, these Pear Garden waitresses, the hardest thing to find is a sincere person. "It's also quite pitiful."

After sighing, she could not help but ask curiously, "What happened next? Was your mother not willing to be abandoned by her lover and sent to find him?"

Mo Ran shook his head, "My mother had a gentle and kind personality, so she was a bit timid. Being abandoned would only result in her swallowing bitterness and not seeking trouble. But not long after, she discovered that she was pregnant."

When Madam Wang heard this, she could not help but let out an "ah". Her eyes were actually quite mournful as she looked at Mo Ran, not knowing what to say.

"The music industry was willing to continue taking her in. But only if she didn't have a baby. Dancing is no longer so beautiful for a woman who has had a baby. They didn't want to lose money."

Mo Ran closed his eyes.

“My mother refused, and the woman in charge asked her to pay a large ransom. Thus, she gave all of her savings, all of her thin and soft jewelry, and even her embroidered shoes to the marketplace to earn her freedom. She planned to go to Linyi to find my father.”

Madam Wang said softly, “She was just a penniless woman. How did she get from the Xiangtan to Linyi?”

Mo Ran said, “Someone was helping her.”

“Who is it?”

“Xun Fengruo was weak. Sister Xun knew that my mother had left the music shop and had chased her all the way out of the city. She gave all her remaining money to my mother and told her that if she couldn’t find my father, then he might as well come to the House of Drunken Jade to look for her and the two sisters could live a good life.”

Xuanjing sighed and said: “To have such loyalty, I have underestimated these weak women.”

Jiang Xi asked, “What happened next? Did your mother find Nangong Yan?”

After a moment of silence, Mo Ran sneered, “She found him. Although Nangong Yan’s identity and name were fake, it was not difficult for my mother to find him.”

Someone exclaimed, “Eh? Is there really such a heaven defying talent?”

“He doesn’t have the ability to transcend the heavens, it’s just because of a coincidence.”

People looked at each other with doubt on their faces, “How could there be such a coincidence? The Mayor of the Rufeng Sect rarely shows his face.”

“Indeed, they rarely show their faces…” A layer of gloom covered Mo Ran’s face. “However, the grand marriage and the full moon of the children were held, and the Rufeng Sect had a feast to celebrate on the city wall.”

Everyone was stunned when they heard this. “Could it be that the letter that Nangong Yan received was to urge him to go back and get married?”

Another person recalled, “Ah, I remember now. Nangong Yan’s wife seemed to be the daughter of a rich and powerful family. Could he be forced to give up on his love affair and go back to marry that rich girl…”

Mo Ran said with an extremely indifferent expression, “He was not forced to. It’s not like he was going back to get married. The mysterious letter that he received back then was actually a good piece of news — the Sect Leader of the Rufeng Sect had told him that his wife was about to give birth and wanted him to go back and accompany her.”

This caused even the silent Xue Zhengyong’s expression to change. He said, “So when Nangong Yan was playing in Xiangtan, he was actually a married man?!”

“Yes.” Mo Ran lowered his eyes, it was really hard on him. Speaking of this matter, his face no longer had an expression of extreme pain, and he said calmly, “Nangong Yan’s wife was in poor health because of the pregnancy and it’s easy to miscarry. That’s why he came outside to relax. When he met my mother, he liked her, so he lied and said that he had never married, which made my mother happy."

Someone stomped his feet in anger and said, "This is worse than an animal!"

"His wife was pregnant, but he came out to sightsee and had another child out there. Sigh."

"This Duan Yihan is really lucky. Could Nangong Yan recognize her?"

The answer was obvious. The crowd became agitated and indignant as they threw a pitying look at Mo Ran. However, Mo Ran did not care about what others thought of him. He just continued narrating what happened to his mother.

It was the first time in his two lifetimes that he had spoken of this secret openly. In addition to the pain, he also felt a sense of relief.

Mo Ran said, "At that time, Linyi was holding a large feast to celebrate the birth of the young master of the Rufeng Sect over Lin'er. When my mother arrived at the turrets of the Ninth City, she saw Nangong Yan hugging his wife and children while the people bowed to him and sprinkled the Jichi cake. My mother… She did not look for him again. "At that time, she had already used up all her remaining money and couldn't even afford to pay for her journey back to Linyi. After half a year, she gave birth to me in an abandoned woodshed in Linyi."

Jiang Xi asked, "Did you guys return to Xiangtan House of Drunken Jade afterwards?"

Mo Ran shook his head, “When I was born, my body was very weak. In less than a month, I became ill and was completely unable to go anywhere. In order to treat me, she asked all of the doctors in the city’s infirmary, but no one was willing to help her… Later on, when she was forced into a corner, finally she held him and tried to find a way to enter the Rufeng Sect and find Nangong Yan.”

That year, a frail mother appeared in front of her lover, carrying a newborn baby that looked like a kitten in her arms.

That man did not have any joy, only endless astonishment, fear, and even anger.

He had a lovely wife and child, his wife was the daughter of a promising family, he had a son, chubby and healthy — Duan Yihan was like a piece of rat shit in his eyes, she wanted to ruin his good reputation and his family reunion.

She was uneasy and kind.

Why should he recognize them?

Afraid that she would make a big fuss out of this, Nangong Yan gave her enough money to get her and the child out of Rufeng Sect. Holding onto his last hope, Duan Yihan said with tears in her eyes: “The child still hasn’t given a name, can you……”

He glowered, his face as pale as steel. “Scram! Get lost! This is not my child, so don’t be so shameless, get out of here!”

She was shoved roughly out the door.

There was no time for sadness. The baby in her arms was crying so weakly, its hands and feet were ice-cold. It was like a dying cat curled up in her arms.

When she called to him, he opened his dark eyes and looked at her, not at all mischievous, very obedient, very quiet.

She held back her tears and carried him to the infirmary.

The doctor in the infirmary shouted at her, “How many times have I said this? We are not the Hall of Relief. If there’s no money, then —”

She quickly gave him the money that Nangong Yan had given her. She was flustered, afraid that others would scare the child in his arms.

Her eyes flashed with sadness, and he kept bowing and bowing. “Rich, doctor, rich. Please, please, save my child. Look, he… he’s still so young…”

The infirmary wasn’t completely heartless, it was just that he had been pestered by this woman in front of him, and the ointment for his child’s treatment was not cheap, so he rudely rejected her. Since this woman was able to pay enough money, their attitudes were better.

Herbs, acupuncture.

He was too ill and had to live in the infirmary.

The condition of Mo Ran was alternating between good and bad. He had lingered for several months before finally recovering his health. At this time, Duan Yihan didn’t have much silver left on her. She thanked the doctor and left with the baby. Seeing that winter was approaching, she was afraid that his son would freeze over again, so he went to cut a small jacket and a small blanket.

After doing all of this, the money would be gone, and she wouldn't be able to return to Xiangtan. However, while sitting in the abandoned woodshed and looking at the little fellow giggling at her with his fingers in his mouth, Duan Yihan felt very happy and peaceful.

She had always been a contented person.

"What should I call you?"

The child was babbling and could not speak.

Duan Yihan made a fire and held her child by the fire to keep him warm, teasing him.

The child laughed, and she laughed with him.

The fire flickered on and on, the house was destitute and old, but because of the fire, he felt very warm. She rubbed his little face, making him kick his feet and laugh out loud.

She thought for a moment, then said, "Why don't we call you Ran-er?"

Mo Ran sucked on his fingers and looked at her blankly.

Duan Yihan's face looked lonely for a moment: "I don't know what your surname is, you can't have the surname Nangong, but you can't have mother's surname either. Your mother's surname was given to her by the mama in the music industry, it's a little strange for you to follow me… I'll just call you Ran-er, okay?"

Mo Ran happily smashed his fingers together. He did not nod or shake his head.

“Xiao-Ran’er, let’s go back to Xiangtan when it’s spring.” Duan Yihan caressed his soft hair, “Mom can play the pipa and dance. There is a Miss Xun there. She is your mother’s good sister, she must like you very much. You should learn to call her auntie as soon as possible… Oh, forget it, she has a bad temper, you should learn to call her elder sister. After seeing her, you must say that Sister Xun is the best. Only then you will have candy to eat. Do you know that?”

She held his slender fingers and said gently.

“Ran’er, wait a little longer. Winter will soon pass. When the flowers bloom, we will return home.”

But this winter, in the end, was still too long.

That year was the year of disaster. The lower cultivation world was overrun by evil spirits. Linyi City was built to guard against evil spirits, and ordinary people were forbidden from entering or exiting. Thus, Duan Yihan had no way of leaving.

She went to work in a shop and wanted to earn some money to support her family. It was unknown who revealed her love story to Nangong Yan’s wife. In short, not long after, the steamed bun store that Duan Yihan was hired at chased her out of the store without any reason.

From then on, Duan Yihan became an outcast person. Since she couldn’t find a living in Linyi, she could only take her son and sell her skills and beg for money. There were several times when she would gently sing on the street. Once while traveling Nangong Yan found her like this but ignored and carefully walked past her.

He felt guilty and wanted to avoid her.

Actually, there was no need for him to do this. Although Duan Yihan was weak, she had her own pride. She only sang Xiangtan's melody and didn't even glance at this man.

He actually didn't understand how proud and reserved this Pipa girl was.

"Look at his tear-stained face. His clothes are shabby and his appearance is benevolent. She doesn't recognize me when we meet on a foreign path. Just what kind of gaze did he cast at me?"

Someone walked past her and casually tossed her a copper coin.

She was just like the beautiful and beautiful Lady Le Xian from back then. She lowered her eyes in blessing and gently said, "Thank you, Old master, for your kindness."

The days passed one by one like this, the Lower Cultivation world razed and burned while they watched from their high walls.

This lasted for five years.

Mo Ran was five years old.

One day, Nangong Yan and his wife had an argument. They were very annoyed, so they went around the West Market. It was a fine day, and he stood with his hands behind his back, looking at the jewelry stores, the pastry shops with little interest. Under the great banyan tree, there was still an old man playing chess.

Linyi had always been a paradise, so what did it matter how many people had died in the lower cultivation world? They had been singing and dancing here for a hundred years.

Nangong Yan walked over to watch the elders play chess.

He was used to traveling, so no one recognized him. Therefore, he just happily gave pointers to the people on the side, making those old men feel more annoyed in the end and chasing him away.

Nangong Yan was disappointed. His heart was not satisfied. He took a few steps forward and stood under a big tree. He looked at a golden embroidered bird cage hanging on a branch. Inside the cage, the embroidery birds were chirping crisply.

Perhaps it was because the sunlight was too great that it made people feel at ease. As Nangong Yan stood under the tree thinking, he suddenly thought back to five years ago, that gentle and gentle lady from Xiangtan Restaurant.

He tilted his head and teased the bird with embroidered eyes, saying, “Hey, can you sing Xiang Qu’er?”

The embroidery bird obviously couldn’t sing, but it could still chirp and cry.

Nangong Yan then sighed, his mouth humming the tune that he had heard many years ago when he had a cold shoulder.

Suddenly, he heard a clear and bright voice behind him. Someone was mumbling in a gentle voice, “Wild clouds, cold winds, a sky full of ice and snow.” The voice was like clink of pearls and jade.

He suddenly turned around as if he had been separated from his family for a lifetime.

It had been a long time since he had seen her because he had purposely avoided her. At this moment, through the bustle of the city and the crowd that came and went, he suddenly saw that slender and gentle woman again — he did not even dare to look and speak with her even in dreams.

He met her again.

With a frail child in tow, the mother and son pair stood by the side of the street. She lowered her eyes as she sang a song, hoping to gain the mercy of those on the street and get a meal.

She softly sang, “This road leads to the front and back of the mountain. At the front and back of the mountain, there are tens of thousands of pedestrians…”

Countless people came and went, but no one stopped for her.

Although the song was pleasant to hear, it wasn’t that striking and she was singing alone, so no one was willing to pay for it.

“… It is easy for Bairong to meet a man, but not easy for him to meet him. He can only look out into the distance and see the river filled with smoke and cold water.” Suddenly, a pair of shoes with golden threads and jade inlaid appeared in front of her eyes. She heard a man humming a song she hadn’t finished.

Duan Yihan was stunned for a moment before slowly raising her eyes.

She saw him again.

He was still the same as he was five years ago. He was handsome, had a dignified appearance, and was extremely handsome. He was not old at all, and the years had not left a mark on his face.

Duan Yihan saw her own reflection in his eyes. From a delicate and pretty young girl from five years ago, she now had a face full of hardships. Her beauty was completely gone, and the sight of it made one sick of looking at her.

But when Nangong Yan looked at her, there was a deep affection in his eyes.

After many years of marriage, his wife had heard of his past love history. Although he did not dare to say it out loud, he was still extremely displeased. He would often throw a tantrum and put on airs, and his son was also extremely mischievous. Today, when he stood in front of Duan Yihan, seeing her in such a state, more or less, guilt and pity arose in his heart.

Duan Yi was stupefied. He lowered his eyelashes and stopped singing.

“Mother?” Mo Ran, who was beside her, was puzzled. He turned his head to look at her.

Duan Yihan said: “Mother is tired today, let’s go home.”

Mo Ran nodded obediently, smiled and said, “Then let’s go back and rest. I’ll think of a way to make dinner.”

The mother and son both desired to leave together.

Nangong Yan called out to her, “You…”

His gaze once again fell on Mo Ran.

The child was small and thin and dressed in rags, but he was sensible and had a pretty face.

Nangong Yan suddenly realized that this was his own child.

It was his blood and bone.

He reached out his hand and touched Mo Ran on the head.

Mo Ran did not know who he was. He squinted his eyes and allowed the man to ruffle his black hair. “Ugh…”

Nangong Yan thought of that year when Duan Yihan came to his residence to beg for his help while holding the baby like a kitten.

“He doesn’t have a name,” she said then.

“What’s your name?” Nangong Yan asked.

“Ran-er.”

“Surname?”

“I don’t have a last name.”

Nangong Yan looked at Duan Yihan in a rather sour manner. It was unknown what impulse he had as he said, “Why don’t you guys —”

Before he could finish his words, he suddenly saw a group of Daoist cultivators from the Rufeng Sect walking past on the corner of the street.

Nangong Yan’s state of mind was interrupted.

He quivered, as if he had returned to reality.

He once again looked at Duan Yi’s cold eyes.

The pair of eyes that had once looked at him with a smile that was as curvy as a crescent moon were now very dull. There were no longer any illusions of a young lady in the room. Even when he had wanted to reunite with them, it had been very cold.

She had already seen through this man.

Thus, Nangong Yan appeared to be in a sorry state and was slightly embarrassed. In order to cover up his emotions, he coughed lightly and generously stuffed all the gold and silver artifacts in his money pouch into Mo Ran's hands.

He patted Mo Ran's head again and said, "Your mother sang very well. These jewels, gold and silver, should be suitable for her."

A slender hand took the purse from Mo Ran.

Duan Yihan took out a copper coin from his pouch and placed it in the broken bowl held by Mo Ran Hand. After that, he handed the heavy jewelry silver coins back to Nangong Yan.

She said nothing more, only gave him a gentle, flat blessing, like any passerby who had given his money.

She politely said to him, "Thank you, my lord, for your kindness."

Then, he turned around and left.

She was the Xiangtan Le Xian, also known as the moon and stars, one song and one dance. When tens of thousands of people had come to her, he had never been proud or aloof. Now that his clothes were faded and her beauty was faded, she could only beg for mercy by selling his skills by the roadside. However, she would not feel inferior.

That day, from Duan Yihan's subtle attitude, Mo Weiyu became suspicious, but after some insinuating and questioning, he finally found out about his background.

"Mother told you these because she didn't want to lie to you. But you have to remember, Mo Ran, not to be angry." Duan Yihan replied, "I won't ask for his help either."

She said, poking at Mo Ran on his small head.

"When the disaster in the cultivation world is over, Linyi will allow ordinary citizens to go in and out. We'll head back to Xiangtan."

Mo Ran was quiet for a long time, then he nodded. "I won't beg him. I'll go back to Xiangtan with my aunt."

Duan Yihan smiled and said: "I don't know if sister Xun would recognize me, I'm not good-looking anymore."

Mo Ran was very anxious. "Mother, you look good."

"Hmm?"

"Mother is the most beautiful."

Duan Yihan's smile became even more dazzling, and between her brows, she really regained the charm of that year's beauty. She teased him: "Such a sweet mouth, you better coax whoever marries you in the future."

Mo Ran felt a little embarrassed and pursed his lips. After a while, his sharp teeth were still exposed.

“When I grow up, I want to find a wife that’s like a fairy and stay by my mother’s side.”

“Aiya, you think so much. Which Heavenly Immortal is going to marry you?”

The two of them laughed, causing the fire in the woodshed to crackle. It was very warm inside. It was as if every day in the future would continue to pass by in this tranquil manner. Fire and night gave the poor an illusory solace. Thus, at that time, neither of them had expected Duan Yihan to be so short on time.

“It was in the fall when I was five.” Mo Ran said, “It was just after mid-autumn. Because of the long term closed door, Linyi food supply has been insufficient. They adjusted the price of the goods. In the end, it was to let the poor people down below keep their mouths shut and not fight with the rich over food.”

Xue Zhengyong’s heart was filled with mixed feelings as he heard this. However, after Mo Ran said this, he still thought for a moment and then nodded his head.

“Yes, I remember that time when the prices were being adjusted. After that, the hungry people started to speak. Only then did the Rufeng Sect finally lower their prices again. It went on for about. A year?”

Jiang Xi said, “I remember it was half a year.”

Mo Ran closed his eyes and said, “Not that long. It was a month and a fifth. And it only lasted a short thirty-five days.”

Ch. 259 [Tianyin Pavilion] Robes Like Children

Someone asked, “How can you remember it so clearly? How long has it been?”

How could he not remember? In Jiang Xi’s memory of the Upper Cultivation World, it was a very ordinary half a year. In Xue Zhengyong’s memory of the lower cultivation world, it was a very emotional year.

In the memory of Mo Ran, however, it gradually gave up all hope, spending thirty-five days like a year. Every day was a life worse than death. Every day was spent in Purgatory.

That year, when the price adjustment order was issued, everyone was anxious. Duan Yihan and his child couldn’t get any food, so they could only rely on picking rotten vegetables and moldy rice noodles. And then there were more and more people who couldn’t eat, they couldn’t even pick up the leaves. In the midst of his predicament, Mo Ran could not help but ask Duan Yihan: “Mother, let’s go to Rufeng Sect to look for him and get something to eat.”

However, Duan Yihan muttered: “I beg no one, I can’t beg him.”

Begging along the streets to sell their skills, nodding and bowing, smiling and shouting, these were all forced businesses. But if he went to seek help from Nangong Yan, the meaning would be different.

Although Duan Yihan was destitute, she didn’t want to cross the last line.

Since she didn’t want to, Mo Ran didn’t mention it anymore.

On the ninth day after the price adjustment order was issued, he finally managed to steal a white radish from the ground.

Duan Yihan carefully hid the white radish. Every day, they boiled only about the size of a fist, so the two of them ate it separately. By the eighth meal, the radish was already rotten, but because she hadn't eaten anything for a long time, Duan Yihan sliced off the remaining rotten radish again, barely managing to deal with it for a few more days.

On the twenty-first day of the price fixing order, they ate the last of the radish and found nothing to feed their hunger.

Twenty-fifth day.

It rained heavily, and earthworms crawled out from the ground. Mo Ran trapped them together, received some rain water, and cooked them to eat.

The feeling of the earthworm slick in his mouth made him nauseous. Mo Ran muttered his apologies to these skinny animals. There really was nothing to fill his stomach for. If he could survive this period of time, the earthworm would be his benefactors. It was a pity that he didn't want to eat any more of his benefactors. Just when would this nightmare end…

Twenty-eighth day.

Mo Ran was suffering.

No matter how talented a child was and how high their spiritual essence was, they still could not withstand this kind of hunger and suffering.

Duan Yihan had long since lost all energy and her eyes were empty.

Today, while Mo Ran was asleep, she finally made up her mind. She left the wooden storage room and slowly walked towards the towering immortal city of the Rufeng Sect. She had her own bottom line, she would rather die than beg for food from Nangong Yan.

But the child was innocent. He was still so young, so how could he accompany her when she left the mortal world?

At this moment, the faces of everyone in the hall were filled with pity. Let alone the fact that Mo Weiyu was innocent, the past that had happened in the past was truly too tragic.

Someone slowed his tone and asked with a sigh, “Did you get it?”

“No. Her luck was bad. When she went there, Nangong Yan was arguing with his wife.”

He paused for a moment before continuing, “When the Mayor’s wife saw my mother, she flew into a rage. Not only did he not give any food to my mother, she even kicked her out of the Rufeng Sect.”

“What about Nangong Yan?”

“I don’t know. My mother didn’t mention him.”

He could have been stopped, or he could have just been standing there, unable to help.

Mo Ran did not know exactly what happened that day, he only knew that when his mother came back, her entire body was covered with scars. He curled up in the woodshed and held her, not saying a word. Then she began to cough up, spitting out blood and acid. The place smelled sour.

The thirty-fourth day.

Duan Yihan was on the verge of collapsing. She was almost unable to utter a word and could not shed tears.

That night, she woke up from her stupor and recovered some of her strength. Seeing Mo Ran curled up beside her, he tried to warm him with her small body. She gently said to him, “Little Ran-er, you have to find a way. Go back to Xiangtan.”

“Mother…”

“Go back to Xiangtan, find elder sister Xun, and repay the gratitude.” Duan Yihan caressed his hair and said, “You need to go to Xiangtan to repay my gratitude. I don’t want to stay at Linyi’s place to seek revenge…… Listen to your mother, and be a good… When your mother came to Linyi, she owed your sister Xun a lot of money, but it was still unclear… Go back, stay with her, do something for her, make her happy. In the future, if someone else gives you a favor, then remember it well.”

With tears in his eyes, Mo Ran raised his head to look at the woodshed. He looked at her emaciated face.

Duan Yihan’s eyes were black to the point that they were shiny, with even some purple tinge.

“Then I’ll return the favor.”

That was the plan Duan Yihan had made for Mo Ran before she died.

She was afraid that after she left, the child would go astray, so she reminded him repeatedly that he must, must leave this sad place.

If a person had a sense of purpose, he would not fall into a pit of despair and hatred.

She gave him a purpose — to repay the debt of gratitude and not hold any grudge.

Don't take revenge.

The thirty-fifth day.

This ridiculous order was finally annulled during the riots. It lasted for only a month and five days.

To the rich, this was like the end of a farce. Linyi was filled with the miasma of the city. As they woke up lazily in the warm sheets, they took the Eight Treasures Aroma Dew that the maid brought over and rinsed their mouths to clear their teeth. When they heard that the price fixing order was invalid, they just grumbled and yawned.

It didn't matter.

However, for Mo Ran, it was something he could not be more excited about.

He didn't have to worry about his rations anymore, so there were more kind-hearted people on the street. Mo Ran even brought a biscuit and a poor bowl of meat porridge.

He didn't want to drink a single mouthful, so he carefully held it in his hand. He wanted to hurry back and give it to his mother.

Meat porridge was such a good thing. If his mother were to drink it, she would definitely be able to recover, right?

He couldn’t wait to save his mother’s life with the bowl of porridge, but he didn’t dare run home. The bowl of porridge was cracked, and there was a big hole at the side. If he ran too fast, it would be a waste to spill it.

Just like this, he returned to the woodshed in high spirits and suffering.

“Mother!”

He held the broken bowl in both hands and used his dirty head to brush away the dust on the woodshed broken door like a little puppy. He had a smile on his face and was filled with longing for the future.

How nice, now that the meat porridge has been drunk, his mom will soon be better. Finally the flowers are blooming in the spring. They are going to go back to Linyi together. There was no hunger, and there was a sister with the surname Xun, so they no longer had to leave their homes and beg for a living.

How nice it was for them to go home together.

‘Squeak! ‘

The door opened.

“She was lying inside.” Within the Loyalty Hall, Mo Ran spoke quietly and indifferently.

The others were either surprised by his coldness, or their teeth were chilled by his coldness.

This person was actually very calm when it came to his mother’s death. There was no warmth, no ripples, not even tears.

However, no one had ever thought about how many years of despair and heartbreak before the scars could be healed and for his face to be so impassive.

“I called to her, but she didn’t wake up. She would never open her eyes or drink that porridge again.”

There was a long silence.

Madam Wang said with a trembling voice, “Then… And then you. You returned to Linyi alone?”

Mo Ran shook his head and said, “I went to the Rufeng Sect.”

Someone “Ah!” He said, “You… were you going to seek revenge?”

“My mother said, repay the debt of gratitude. Don’t seek revenge.” Mo Ran said indifferently, “I didn’t want to seek revenge. I just wanted to bury my mother. But I had no money, and I didn’t have time to raise it, so I went to his house and begged him to give me some money.”

“Did he?”

Mo Ran almost smiled and said, “No.”

“N-no? But according to what you said before, Nangong Yan still has your mother’s figure in his heart.”

“Because he found out not too long ago that his wife had passed away.”

“What?!”

Jiang Xi narrowed his eyes. “Nangong Yan’s wife did indeed die prematurely, and it was known that she killed herself…”

“That woman was pregnant at the time, but her husband was having an affair outside. After she gave birth to his child, she was always quarreling, and her life went extremely awry. That day, my mother went to find them at home. After she met them, she became even more furious. It was said that she stabbed Nangong Yan with a knife and made him anxious. She said that he wanted to divorce her.”

Mo Ran paused for a moment, then said, “She could not stand it. That night, she hanged herself. She passed away a few days before my mother actually did.”

Hearing this, the crowd was at a loss for words. It began with a beautiful romantic relationship between two people and ended with death of the woman. His family was also ruined, and the cycle of karma in the world was more or less like this.

“When I appeared, Nangong Yan was being reprimanded by the Sect Leader. His wife’s family also came, they are Linyi, a well-known businessman. Nangong Yan has already been scolded to the point that his head is being drenched in dog blood. He didn’t have a good temper at all when he suddenly saw me.”

Madam Wang’s heart was the softest. Although she knew that Mo Ran wasn’t a blood relative, she still lamented in her heart. With tears dripping down her face, she said, “Ran’er…”

Mo Ran really didn’t want to talk about these matters of the past.

The face of Nangong Yan at that time, the face of those who were present there.

There was also Madame Nangong's mourning hall — golden paper and silver flowers, paper wrapped around small children, a mountain of spiritual tools and tools, an embroidered soul gathering flag, a shiny black gold silkwood coffin, and too many things.

Hundreds of people were kneeling on both sides of his body, guarding him and crying in grief.

The lamp was filled with whale oil, and ninety-nine volumes of heart calligraphy were silently burning. The wind blew the smoke away, and the powder rustled.

It was too lively.

And his mother?

The Xiangtan Le Xian Duan Yihan only had one piece of torn clothes that she probably wouldn't be able to wear once she took it off, and that was a skinny child.

She didn't even have a mat to wrap her body in.

"It's hard for you to find a third of a meter."

— Those were the words that Nangong Yan said to Mo Ran in extreme anger and despair.

Then, under the gaze of the Sect Leader and under the watchful eyes of his in-laws, this man ruthlessly pushed his illegitimate son out of the door, refusing to acknowledge him as his son.

Madam Nangong's death was matched with a gold and red colored coffin, Agate Fragrance Beads, and a snow cold birthday suit to protect her corpse. Her face was covered by silk and silk, while her eyes were covered by silk.

Duan Yihan was dead, a corpse, one person crying, Yin and Yang being separated, there was nothing else. According to Nangong Yan's idea, he shouldn't even ask for a thin wooden coffin.

So who dares say that men are equal in the face of death?

Destiny was unfair from the beginning.

In the end.

She was still flesh.

She was rotten to the bone.

"I dragged her to the cemetery and buried her." The few parts that were explained by Mo Ran were all too simple to describe.

He did not elaborate on how he had begged the gentlemen to give them a ride, and how he had spent fourteen days dragging the rotting, stinking body to the outskirts of the city.

He also did not say how he had used his hands to brush away the rubble and debris, burying his mother's petite body.

Mo Ran is not used to complaining in front of people.

He had always been a man who buried the past well, and would not speak lightly unless he had to.

He had long since suffered humiliation, malice, contempt and slander in the first dozen years of his life. His heart was as hard as iron, so he didn't care what others thought of him. He disdained to be pitied.

“And then I went to Xiangtan.”

One day, he couldn’t stand the sight of Linyi any longer. He hid behind the Daoist’s cart outside the city and sneaked out of the city in his basket.

He began to follow his mother’s advice and walked to the Xiang City. He walked for half a year, from the peak of summer to the beginning of winter. If his shoes were broken, then he would walk barefoot. In the end, a thick callus would form under his feet.

Just like this, he continued walking and asking questions. When he reached the entrance of the Wubei Temple, he finally fell into a pile of grass because he was both hungry and cold.

“Mother…” The little child was lying prone on the ground. Under his messy black hair was a pair of unfocused eyes. He looked at the vast world.

It’s snowing. It’s snowing early this winter.

“I’m coming to see you. I’m sorry. I can’t hold on any longer…”

Snowflakes gently fell, gently descending like a sigh, covering his face and eyes.

In a trance, the sound of footsteps approached, followed by rustling sounds. A pair of hands dug through the grass, and he heard a young voice say, “master, come quickly! Look at him, what’s wrong with him?”

After a while, a pair of shoes approached and a man said, “Leave it alone. Go back first. I’ll see to him.”

The man's voice was deep and cold, without much emotion.

Mo Ran instinctively felt afraid. He instinctively felt that the young man was close, while the man was cold. He did not know where he got the strength, but the desire to live made him raise his hand and pull weakly at the corner of the young man's clothes.

Before he could say anything, tears had already started streaming down his face.

"Rice…"

I'm hungry, please, I want to eat.

The young man he was holding back was indeed Chu Wanning, who had gone down the mountain with Huaizui that day. Chu Wanning was stunned, "What?"

Mo Ran lifted his extremely dirty little face and shakily made a gesture as if he was going to eat something. He swallowed the bitter taste in his throat. Everything in front of him was blurry and dizzy, and his ears were buzzing.

Tears were streaming down his face as he pleaded with the man in front of him. He knew that if this young big brother was like the other old masters and Young Masters that he had met, abandoning him, then he would definitely die. He really couldn't take it anymore.

"Eat…"

Later, Chu Wanning fed him a pot of rice soup.

A pot of soup saved a man on the verge of starvation.

After drinking the rice soup, Mo Ran left the Wubei Temple. At that time, his mind was still muddled. He only remembered a pair of slightly raised phoenix eyes with long and thick eyelashes for the appearance of his benefactor.

However, he had worn the cloak that his benefactor and big brother had given him throughout the day and night from the Wubei Temple to the Xiangtan. He was small at the time, and his young clothes made him look awkward and comical, especially when he put on his hat, which almost covered his whole face.

Along the way, there would always be children who didn't have to worry about food or clothing. They would nestle by their parents' side, laughing and shouting, "Dad, mom, look at that little beggar. What is he wearing? It's so funny!"

Mo Ran was not angry.

What was the derision of others to him? He was only grateful that this unfitting cloak could protect him from wind and rain, could give him a gentle attitude.

He wore it, and when it snowed, the snow did not fall on him. Late at night, the darkness would not enter his heart.

And when night came, he would rise from the fire and sit at the edge of the fire, hugging his knees to keep warm. He covered his head with his cloak and shrank into it, watching the melting orange flames from under the soft edge of his fur.

The cloak was very warm, like the embrace of an aunt, and also like a benefactor's big brother's pair of gentle phoenix eyes… The little child curled up and fell asleep just like that. In his dreams, he could even smell the faint fragrance of the cloak, as if he was leaning against a haitang tree that had bloomed to the size of a mantis.

Looking back now, it was no wonder that he felt that the smell on Chu Wanning's body was very good. As long as there was his scent in the bed, he would be able to sleep peacefully.

It was no wonder that the first time he saw Elder Yuheng at the foot of Heaven-Piercing Tower, he felt that his downcast phoenix eyes were extremely gentle. It was as if he had seen it somewhere before.

It turned out that everything had a cause and effect.

He and Chu Wanning… It turned out that he had said something earlier, that he had touched his body temperature, and he had even licked his palm before. It turned out that he had smelled the fragrance of the flowers on Chu Wanning's clothes so early on in the day. The benefactor he had been looking for was right beside him, and he had never left.

A trace of warmth was actually born in Mo Ran's lowered eyes within this clear and cold Loyalty Hall.

But this was a secret between them, Mo Ran thought, sour and sweet at the same time. He kept this secret in his heart, not telling anyone, not telling anyone.

He took a deep breath, paused, and then continued, "After arriving at Xiangtan, I followed the will of my mother and found Xun Fengruo."

At that time, Mo Ran was only five years old, and he was wrapped in a thick cloak that belonged to the young Chu Wanning.

The hem of the cloak was hanging on the ground and it was already dirty. A little kid poked out a dirty bird's nest head from inside the fur, raised his yellow skinny little face and softly asked: "Excuse me… Elder sister Xun Fengruo, are you here?"

"Xun Fengruo?" The actress who was being pulled by him laughed and looked him up and down curiously, "The music industry's top courtesan? Although we don't sell our bodies here, but for Miss Xun's fame, how many people don't like her looks more than they like her singing? Little brother, how old are you to actually know to look for her?"

Mo Ran's eyes were wide open and his expression was clear. He did not understand her words at all.

However, the mockery in the girl's eyes was obvious, making Mo Ran blush. He tightly gripped the collar of his cloak, and said with a flushed face, "Please, I want to see Sister Xun. My, my mother told me to come find her…"

"Eh? Who is your mother?"

"My mother's surname is Duan, and her name is Duan Yihan…"

The singing girl's expression changed. She took a step back and covered her mouth with her handkerchief. Even her originally lazy peach blossom eyes suddenly widened. "You, you're Duan Le Xian's child?"

Back then, when Duan Yihan's name was known throughout the world, she had never acted with authority, and she had even frequently distributed the excess money to her sisters who were no longer as earning as much as before. Thus, when this actress heard that he was Miss Duan's child, she immediately changed her attitude and hurriedly brought him to the greenhouse of the Flower Pavilion. He saw Xun Fengruo lying on a high bed in the room.

Closing the door, Mo Ran bowed to Xun Fengruo and told her everything. Xun Fengruo's heart was weak as she mourned and her tears flowed down her face.

She immediately found Lady Mo and told her to keep Mo Ran by her side. She didn't want to do it, but she couldn't resist the incessant pleas. After examining Mo Ran for a while, she felt that he could at least do something for the building, so she reluctantly agreed. The beggar entered the building afraid of provoking misfortune, according to the rules, he had to burn all of his clothing, and then thoroughly wash it clean.

There was no problem with taking a bath, but when he mentioned burning clothes, Mo Ran cried.

"What are you crying for!?" It's not like I'm not going to buy you new ones in the future!" The mama knocked on Mo Ran's head impatiently with her water pipe. "Be more tactful. I'll eat and live with you. Others can't laugh even if they wanted to. Look at how poor you are!"

Mo Ran was afraid that he would implicate his elder sister Xun, who had already said all the good things for him.

So he bit his lip and held on. He rubbed his red eyes and stood in front of the fire, silently sobbing.

At that time, he had truly not understood why all of this happened. Why was it that he only wanted to keep an old garment with him, but because he was lowly, because he was weak, because he was a scoundrel, and in order not to cause trouble for others, he had to let others take it off him.

He could not struggle, could not say no, he did not even have the power to shed tears.

It had given him so much warmth and support. In order to protect him from the wind and rain, the original color of his clothes had already been dirty to the point that it could not be seen.

Now that he had a foothold, he might never need it again. He just wanted to wash it carefully and fold it neatly, even if it meant never wearing it again, under the small box. It was his friend, not just an old dress.

But now it was out of his control.

With a boom, the filthy cloak was thrown into the flames. To the person who threw it was just a litter, but in the end, it was still considered a waste. But to Mo Ran, it was a cremation, a funeral.

He watched on helplessly.

The flames rose up with a loud rumble, blurring the magnificent splendor of the mortal world.

“Drink slowly… If it’s not enough, there’s still…”

“Where are you from…”

He could still hear the gentle voice of the teenager. That was one of the few kindness he had gained in his humble life.

Everything turned to dust.

Just like that, Mo Ran had taken the mother of the House of Drunken Jade as his godmother, and he had also acquired a surname, Mo, with her. From then on, he became a servant in the building and finally, Duan An Sheng's life passed.

However, good times didn't last long. According to the rules of the building, the music industry might not be comparable to the brothels, but once one reached the age where they could not earn a full "self-pitying fee", then the young ladies' first night would be sold to those rich Young Masters and merchants.

Xun Fengruo was weak and not worried. She had long ago made a fortune for the House of Drunken Jade.

"We're still short of one hundred and fifty thousand gold." Xun Fengruo smiled and said to Mo Ran, "Ran-er, once I earn enough money from your sister, I can redeem myself. Big sister will take you to live a good life."

Mo Ran was sent to the kitchen and rarely saw her. This mama didn't want the people in the building to form gangs, so when Xun Fengruo and Mo Ran met, it was always in secret.

She reached out her hand and pinched his cheek, then handed him a handful of candy. "Shh, take it and eat. It's a pity I can't give you the money. Lady Mo's eyes are so poisonous, hehe."

Mo Ran then grinned, revealing a mouth with missing teeth, "En, thank you, big sister Xun."

However, Xun Fengruo was still short of one hundred and fifty thousand gold coins to redeem herself. How could the mama not be clear about this matter?

Although she looked calm on the surface, her heart was burning with anxiety.

After Xun Fengruo's became weak, she lost more than half of the House of Drunken Jade's source of income. Lady Mo planned to make a good profit before Xun Fengruo left.

At that time, there were many rich families that were drooling over Xun Fengruo's beauty. They all offered sky-high prices, enough for the mama to sit down and eat for the rest of her life. In the end, Lady Mo started conspiring. With Xun Fengruo being weak, she had made a contract with a wealthy merchant. The two took advantage of the Spring Festival, Xun Fengruo sat weak and played a song, was given a cup of tea that had been drugged, and then brought it to her room…

On the day of Mo Ran, he cooked the Soup Dumplings and carefully brought them to the Warm Pavilion for his sister to eat.

Before he could enter, he heard a heavy panting sound coming from inside the house. Mo Ran was startled. He pushed open the door, and a strong smell assaulted his nose, causing him to almost vomit.

In the dim halo of light, he saw a rich merchant that was greasy with a pork belly. He was drooling and his clothes were wide open. He was currently on top of a weakly struggling Xun Fengruo, who was trembling all over.

"Clang clang!"

He did not know where he got the strength from when he rushed into the room — his natural endowment had been shocking since he was a child — but after furiously beating up that rich businessman, he held onto that fatty and shouted at Xun Fengruo, who was already crying until there were tears and was so shocked that he did not know what to do.

“Elder sister, let’s go!”

“But you…”

“Hurry up and go! I can’t go, I have to grab him! If you don’t leave now, we’ll all have to answer to you when the mama arrives. Run! If you go, I’ll run away immediately!”

Xun Fengruo was his benefactor.

Mo Ran had sent her flying far away from Yuezhou, never to return.

That day, he finally became a hero.

Xun Fengruo weakly bowed to him and ran out of the building. However, Mo Ran did not leave in time. When the mama heard the commotion, she quickly brought people up. The moment she came up, she saw Mo Ran beat up the esteemed guest and let her courtesan go. Her face contorted in anger, as if he was about to vomit blood.

The mama had a son about the same age as Mo Ran, who had a vicious mind and a belly full of evil tricks. Seeing how angry his mother was, he came up with an idea — sometimes, the viciousness of a child could be so naive and terrifying. The boy punished the peer who had angered his mother by punishing him like an animal.

He found a dog cage and had Mo Ran locked in. The cage was extremely narrow, and Mo Ran could only squat, not lie down, and not stand up. They fed him cold food like dogs, and so on for a full seven days.

Seven days later, Mo Ran was trapped in an old room with a weak breeze. The smell of incense mixed with the stench of a man's body and liquid.

He crouched, hunched.

Smelling the drowsy, sweet, greasy smell.

He wanted to vomit.

Seven days.

From then on, the smell of incense made him sick, and fear and horror filled his bones.

Ch. 260 [Tianyin Pavilion] Living as a Furnace

In the Loyalty Hall, the group of cultivators didn't know what to make of it. Many of them lowered their heads in silence.

Master Xuanjing said: "Sigh… Miserable people, they are all miscreants."

The master of the Tianyin Pavilion, Mu Yanli, said, "There is always someone to blame for what happened. There are many things in this world that are related to karma." At this point, she changed the subject, "But Mo Ran, you must know that suffering is not the reason for you to vent your hatred and disregard for human life."

"Yeah."

An elder of the Fire Phoenix Pavilion also sighed, and said, "Immortal Mo, you have suffered greatly, but it is still a pity. But that's also because you're from a bad family fate played tricks on him. Everyone has their own destiny. You can't just go back and bully someone you don't have anything to do with just because you've been bullied."

"You have done good and have been wronged, but as far as we know, you have also killed people later on… This is one matter and that is another, they should not affect each other."

Mo Ran did not speak.

Jiang Xi suddenly asked, "How?"

"This…"

“Who knows? Whose life is not a life? Who can be the fairest ruler?” Jiang Xi acted recklessly and did not make the Tianyin Pavilion into a God. “I don’t have any intention of favoring Mo Ran, but I do want to ask one thing. Today, we are standing here and saying that we will settle the score with Mo Ran one by one. Then — what about the humiliation of Mo Ran? What about the injustice he has suffered?”

“…” No one would have thought that Jiang Xi, who had suffered the most in the bloody battle a few days ago, would stand up for Mo Weiyu. Everyone was stunned for a moment.

Mu Yanli said, “Sect Leader Jiang, the Tianyin Pavilion has always been impartial. My clan will guard the divine weighing tool for generations. When the time comes, we will use the magical equipment to measure Young Master Mo’s merits and demerits and determine the punishment. You don’t have to worry.”

“Strange, what relationship does he have with him? Why should he be worried?”

Jiang Xi had been unhappy with the Tianyin Pavilion for a long time. He cultivated the Way of Medicine, so, to put it bluntly, as long as the medicine was refined well, the mortal body would be able to roam freely in the mortal world.

He narrowed his almond-shaped eyes and coldly said, “But I am very curious. May I ask, everyone from the Tianyin Pavilion, after the interrogation is over, will you also interrogate the others involved in these old matters? Should he dig three feet into the ground and see if Nangong Yan was still alive? Should he go to Xiangtan and look for the rich man who had assaulted Miss Xun? It is perfectly justified for Mo Ran to kill to repay the debt, so if he is imprisoned, beaten up, beaten up, humiliated by his guests, and his mother starved to death, who should he talk to?"

Xuanjing stammered: "Sect Leader Jiang, why did you suddenly speak up for the sinner?"

"It's hard to say." Jiang Xi said with his thin lips, "I'm just thinking about how we treated Nangong Si and Ye Wangxi when we were at Mount Huang. I don't really want to see the old story repeat itself."

Someone said, "That's two yards of situation. It's completely different."

"What's different?" Jiang Xi said, "Now that Nangong is dead, and Ye Wangxi has been sick in Guyue'ye's bed ever since, things have changed. But back then, were we not the ones who forced them to say that the Rufeng Sect's debt of blood was theirs to pay with their lives?"

He spun around, his brown eyes like a hawk's.

"What about then? Where is the Tianyin Pavilion. Where is justice?"

The people of Bitan Manor had a deep grudge with the Rufeng Sect because of the sword art manual. "Sect Leader Jiang's words are biased," said Zhen Kuan, Li Wuxin's disciple. "Nangong Si was the descendant of the Rufeng Sect, and there was always a debt to be paid. Unless all the people from the Rufeng Sect died, they would still pursue the old debt. No one wants to be a fool."

Jiang Xi sneered, "Yeah, so you see, don't you understand this logic? No one wants to be the last person to be slapped without being able to retaliate."

Zhen Congming: "…"

“You’re thinking this way. Xu Shuanglin is thinking this way. Mo Ran can also be thinking this way.” Jiang Xi said, “When things happen to other people, these words will always come out easily. However, when injustice and brutality truly fall on me, I will only feel that there are so many wicked people in this world, but I am the one who has to suffer.”

Zhen Congming said, “Sect Leader Jiang, do you mean to say that we are being too cruel and unfair to Ye Wangxi, and that the matter regarding the Bitan Manor’s sword art manual has been resolved?”

Jiang Xi said, “Since Nangong Si is no longer around, who else do you want to pursue the matter with?”

Zhen Congming suddenly became angry, “Then my master died in vain?! Nangong is no longer here, but there is still Ye Wangxi, isn’t there? She is the commander of the Rufeng Sect’s hidden city. Regarding the sword manual, doesn’t she have a trace of whereabouts?!”

Silence.

Everyone knew that Jiang Xi had a cold and gloomy temperament. Zhen Congming and his name didn’t match at all, actually confronting Jiang Xi in front of everyone.

Jiang Xi stared at Zhen Quming for a moment, then said, “Back then on Mount Jiao, when Nangong Si fought with Nangong Changying, he was seriously injured. At that time, he used his lips to speak to me.”

“… What do you mean?”

Jiang Xi closed his eyes and spoke slowly to herself, as if the last words of the bloody battle between Nangong Si and himself were going to happen.

“I hope you can scatter all the treasures of the Rufeng Sect for a hundred years.”

“This…” The cultivators looked at each other in dismay, unable to keep their faces straight. The monks of the Wubei Temple even lowered their eyes, clasped their hands, and began chanting.

Zhen Congming’s face turned red, he finally gritted his teeth and said, “He doesn’t even have a corpse anymore, the treasures of the Rufeng Sect are all in the secret room, who can open it? Isn’t he just speaking empty words and putting on an act?”

Jiang Xi said, “Nangong Si did not expect that there would be nothing left of him in the end. Furthermore, I would rather believe that he was about to die and that his words are good.”

Zhen Congming’s lips trembled as if he wanted to refute something, but in the end, he didn’t say anything.

After a long while, he said, “Is this the reason why Sect Leader Jiang protected Mo Weiyu today? Do you want to ask for leniency so that you don’t end up like Nangong Si?”

Jiang Xi said, “I only feel that seeking justice is an extremely difficult and even impossible task. I hope that everyone will not praise yourself too highly when reprimanding others, and that you do not feel that you represent justice and the will of the heavens.”

He looked at the descendant of the God, the Tianyin Pavilion. “Even if it’s the Public Judgment Hall, they might not all be correct.”

As he said this, Xue Zhengyong also spoke.

Xue Zhengyong was obviously very tired, he didn't even know how to face Mo Ran. However, after pondering for a long time, he sighed and said hoarsely, "Sect Leader Jiang is right. For so many years, the cultivation world had been in turmoil, and there had been many storms. There had been a lot of trouble, and each sect had more or less done something muddleheaded. "Sigh, actually…"

He sighed and closed his eyes.

"Indeed such disregard for human life. Is it only when it kill people personally? Back in the days when the Rufeng Sect set the price adjustment, no blood could be seen on the blade, but it caused the deaths of so many innocent civilians. Xue's body has stood for more than forty years in the world, with little accomplishment, did not practice cultivation to become an immortal, and did not do for the name to go down in history. I just want to make the suffering in this chaotic world less."

He spoke with a straight face.

The Sect Leader at the Sisheng Peak, no matter how calm he was, was still at a loss after knowing that the child he had raised for so many years was not her own nephew.

"I just want the number of people who are suffering to be less," he murmured.

At this time, Mu Yanli coldly spoke, "Sect Leader Xue is a kind and benevolent person, but have you ever thought about how you would be lenient towards sinners? The Tianyin Pavilion was weak. It was true that they could not clear up the crimes committed by everyone one by one, bringing everyone to justice. However, they made an example to everyone. The Sect Leader understands."

Xue Zhengyong: "…"

After Mu Yanli finished speaking, she turned her head to look at Mo Ran once more.

"Young Master Mo, now that you have explained all the suffering of your life, you have gained sympathy from almost everyone. Why don't we talk about something else?"

Mo Ran looked at her indifferently, "What does Pavilion master want to talk about?"

"Earlier, you said that you were not the one responsible for the matter of that girl from the tofu shop getting killed after assault. I believe you. But there is one other person whose death is always related to you."

Mo Ran closed his eyes, "Pavilion master has investigated thoroughly."

Mu Yanli coldly said, "Then come and have a good talk with me. Back then, how did you kill Mo Nian? That was Sect Leader Xue's true nephew."

Before he could finish, he was interrupted by an angry voice.

Xue Meng's eyes were filled with tears and hatred. He gritted his teeth and shouted in a low voice, "Shut up. Don't say anymore!"

Mu Yanli glanced at him and commented, "…… Running away from the truth is just a matter of escaping. It seems like the so-called darling of the heavens can only do this much."

The reply he got was the clamor of Longcheng, as though it was a warning. The scimitar passed by Mu Yanli's face and penetrated into the pillar. Wood chips flew everywhere.

Mu Yanli did not dodge. She did not even bat an eyelid as she stared at Xue Meng with her beautiful eyes that were cold as snow.

Xue Meng gritted his teeth as the muscles on his face trembled in hatred. "What nephew? Did you say enough?"

Abruptly, he pulled Longcheng back, his chest heaving.

He no longer looked at Mo Ran, nor at anyone. He was like a trapped beast, driven to madness in the same place.

"Are you done talking?! Was it enough?! Is it a good show to watch?"

Madam Wang said, "Meng'er…"

His eyes were scarlet red as he held Longcheng up in the air. Looking around him, he seemed to ridicule himself with contempt: "Watching a Grandmaster turn into a demon murderer, watching his brothers at Sisheng Peak fight each other, watching relatives turn into enemies — do you feel very happy?"

His voice was hoarse like a broken xun, and his last words were trembling like feathers.

"Did you guys really come here to seek justice? is it to seek the truth?" He paused, then gritted his teeth and said, "Aren't you here to seek revenge?!"

Jiang Xi narrowed his eyes, “Young Master Xue, you’ve lost your composure.”

Xue Meng suddenly turned his head. His eyes were like fiery lightning. “Are you in charge of me?”

“Meng’er!”

Xue Zhengyong stood up and grabbed Xue Meng’s shoulder, but when he touched Xue Meng, he was stunned. Although Xue Meng howled in anger, his entire body was trembling slightly.

It was almost shattered.

“I don’t want to hear it.” He stuttered, each word more bitter. “It’s all a lie. A lie. A bunch of liars!”

Xue Zhengyong wanted to persuade him, but Xue Meng had already pushed through the crowd and left the Loyalty Hall.

From start to finish, he did not look at Mo Ran.

In fact, Xue Meng already knew very well who was lying and what the truth was. However, many things in this world were easy to understand and difficult to accept.

Xue Meng had been following the flow smoothly for more than twenty years. Other than the death of Chu Wanning, he had never experienced any major calamities. It was because of this that he was still like a naive child to this day. This was not a good thing. Although they had a heart like a naive child, they also had their recklessness, ignorance, impulsiveness and sharpness.

Xue Zhengyong looked at the place where he left and stood there blankly for a long time before slowly sitting down.

He was no longer young. He was nearly half a hundred years old. He didn't know if he could bear it. He had to sit down.

This way, at least, he would be able to relax.

It was as if a thin layer of ice had formed on Mu Yanli's face, but there was not the slightest bit of warmth. She was only concerned with the matter, so she said, "Mo Ran, are you going to speak of this matter yourself, or should I call for a witness?"

Mo Ran was very calm.

He was as calm as a prisoner on death row.

"Don't bother others. If there were any other witnesses alive, I wouldn't want to see any of them either."

He looked up slowly.

The weak sunlight shone down on his somewhat pale face.

"I'll say it myself."

Mu Yanli raised her hand, and immediately a person from the Tianyin Pavilion moved into an empty chair. She sat down and rested her hand on her chin, as if she was going to listen to a long story. "Please."

Mo Ran closed his eyes for a moment, then finally opened his mouth.

"This was originally a businessman."

“What businessman?”

“… You should all know that there is a type of business in the cultivation world called ‘Bao Dating’.”

Palace Master Ma Yun was the most familiar with this. He raised his hand and said, “Right, right, our Villa is most familiar with these people.

Mo Ran replied, “Yes, that’s why Uncle was asking around for the remains of his deceased brother. He was also looking for Mr. Bao Wen.”

Xue Zhengyong: “…”

Of course, Xue Zhengyong remembered that it was Mr. Bao Wen who provided the clues. At that time, the House of Drunken Jade was engulfed in a sea of fire, and it was said that only one child survived. He could even clearly remember the excited face of Mr. Bao Wen, and he could not help sighing — God bless your brother’s son, who had survived a great ordeal.

“That year, Mr. Bao Wen accepted the assignment and investigated a few times. Finally, he got an idea and went to the House of Drunken Jade to look for someone. Find a woman with the surname Mo.”

Someone asked curiously, “Who is that?”

“She is the beloved companion of Sect Leader Xue’s elder brother. She was known as Lady Mo. She was once the concubine of a rich family.”

Someone reacted and said in surprise, “Lady Mo? That’s the head of the House of Drunken Jade’s, isn’t it?”

“But by what he said just now she seemed like an evil woman.”

Mo Ran said indifferently, “She wasn’t born to do evil. Listening to my mother, Lady Mo and her story are quite similar, and she is also a pitiful person. When she was young, she had a lover, a penniless rogue cultivator. That rogue cultivator said that he was going to the lower cultivation world to create a famous sect, so Lady Mo gave him all her money and accessories, determined to help him achieve his ambitions.”

Xue Zhengyong muttered, “My big brother…”

Mo Ran continued, “When that rogue cultivator left, he swore to Lady Mo that he would marry her off to his home in glory after he achieved great things. For this, he even gave Lady Mo a sentence— “On the River of Smoke and within the pleasure boat, the fairy’s lute sounds were slow, and my husband didn’t need to listen to anything.”

This kind of thing between a man and a woman caught everyone’s attention.

A female cultivator asked, “Could it be that the previous Sect Leader of the Sisheng Peak also did the same thing as Nangong Yan, abandoning his wife?”

Xue Zhengyong’s eyes were wide open as he scolded: “Nonsense! How could my brother be that kind of person! My brother… he has never forgotten Miss Mo…”

Speaking of his deceased brother, the man couldn’t help but feel sad. His eyes turned slightly red.

Elder Xuanji also said from the side, “Please be careful, this Immortal Lady. The previous generation’s Sect Leader died in a fierce battle not long after he became a member of the founding faction. He did not intentionally go back on his words. Before he passed away, he often talked about that woman with the Sect Leader, always saying that once the sect was slightly more stable, he would immediately go and pick her up. He is not the same as Nangong Yan at all."

"Indeed. In the end, she was still much luckier than my mother. Her husband had died, but there was someone who still wanted to bring her back. Nangong Yan was still alive, but he had never dared to recognize me or my mother."

"Ha! Then I know! So that's the reason why you feel jealous. That's why you changed the crown prince for a cat, killed Lady Mo, burned down the House of Drunken Jade and impersonated him!"

Hearing this malicious guess, Mo Ran looked at this "extremely smart" cultivator and said, "I never thought of impersonating him."

The cultivator was not convinced and sneered: "What's going on? Could it be that there is someone forcing you to be the Young Master at the Sisheng Peak?"

What was going on?

In fact, there were many things in this world that weren't like this in the beginning. However, one day, the butterfly suddenly flapped its wings, causing the wind to blow and the sea to turn into a mulberry field.

It was as if he had thought of replacing Xue Zhengyong's nephew from the beginning, and Lady Mo wasn't that wicked music industry's mama.

She had been gentle and kind in her youth, and had stood by the Xuan window, hoping that her husband would return home soon. She had been glad to write to her distant lover when she learned that she had a son in her womb. She had also received a letter from him, and the excitement of the man who had become a father overflowed over the paper.

She had experienced these wonderful times before.

So what if she was a concubine? Others mocked her lover as a nobody. So what if they mocked her for being pregnant before marriage? One day, he would fulfill his promise and gloriously receive her and her child through the door. She was so sure.

But then, day by day, the days passed. Gradually, the letters changed from three days to seven days. Then from seven days to one month. Finally, there was no news.

Lady Mo's heart was eventually dispirited. She had a wild personality, and this relationship was originally hidden from her parents. After the birth of the child, she hesitated several times before carrying the child home. As a result, her husband got angry and his legal wife began to insult her. Lady Mo left in anger. After a few rounds, the mistress of a rich family eventually became the manager of the House of Drunken Jade.

The ups and downs of life are like this, fate is like a furnace, you don't know what to do to go in, come out again, perhaps completely changed.

Mo Ran was like this, as was Lady Mo.

It had been fourteen years since her innocent days in the boudoir when Mr. Bao Wen found her.

The teacher who was carrying Xue Zhengyong's request sat down, opened his fan and smiled, "Where is your mama? Tell her to come here."

The mama arrived, dressed in a peach blossom coat, with goosebumps hanging from her arms. She twisted her waist, picked up a hookah, and lifted the ding-dong bead curtain as she smiled charmingly, “Yo, Young Master, you came to listen to a little song in the early morning? Do you like the zither or the pipa? I have a songstress here who is proficient in everything. I’ll open the door for you and make it cheaper for you.”

This was life. Fourteen years ago, when her lover had left, she had leaned against the beaded curtain with a sad expression.

Fourteen years later, her lover’s brother finally found her. The pearl curtains of time separated the vast lives, then rolled back again. She had brushed away the vermilion green and was now experiencing the vicissitudes of life. The shy as a deer woman died a long time ago. Now, sitting in the House of Drunken Jade is a middle age woman who smokes and winks brazenly..

Mr. Bao Wen did not sigh with emotion. In his eyes, there was only money. He waved his fan and smiled. “There’s no need to listen to a song. I came here to inquire about someone from the mama.”

The mama’s smile froze as his tone turned cold. “Find out who? Find out who?”

That Mister said in a slow and unhurried manner, “On the River of Smoke, in the pleasure boat, the sound of the fairy lute is slow, and my husband is not listening to you.”

When the mama heard this, her expression changed. When he finished speaking, she had already lost all color, her lips were trembling, and her sharp, even mean, eyebrows were twitching. She held her handkerchief to her chest for a long time before finally trembling and asking:

“You, just who are you… Who is it?!”

Mr Bao Wen asked with a smile, “If I’m not mistaken, I’ve finally found someone on behalf of cultivator Xue. Lady Mo, how have you been all these years?”

Lady Mo swayed a little and lost her balance. She collapsed on the round wooden bench, panting heavily. Her face was pale and flushed red. She waved her hand to dismiss everyone, leaving Mr. Bao Wen alone in the hall. She stared at the face of the businessman, her eyes filled with ecstasy, sadness, and a myriad of other emotions.

Mr. Bao Wen’s expression was indifferent. He lifted the teapot to fill his cup with a teacup that was half cold and half warm. He passed it over and said, “Drink some tea first.”

Trembling, Lady Mo held the cup, took a sip, and then another. When the tea was finished, she still took a few sips before she finally raised her head.

“Xue… Xue Lang asked you to come find me?”

Mr Bao asked with a sigh, “To tell you the truth, the cultivator Xue that Lady Mo missed has long since passed away.”

“What?!”

“It’s his little brother. He asked me to search for his elder brother’s soulmate. In the past, the two brothers had established their own sects in the lower cultivation world. They were no longer the loners that they used to be. But that Xue Xiansheng was busy building his sect, and was unable to leave for the time being. After that, an accident happened while he was beheading the demons, unfortunately…"

Before he could finish, Lady Mo covered her face and burst into tears.

Only after being coaxed by Mr. Bao Jiu for a long time did she finally stop her sobs. Then, the gentleman continued, "Before Immortal Xue Jun passed away, he had talked to his brother about the mama's whereabouts. His brother has been searching for her all these years, hoping to find you and bring you back."

Lady Mo muttered to herself, not daring to be confident. She abruptly pulled on Mr. Bao Jiu's hand and said, "Repeat that sentence again! I don't believe it, I don't believe the one dying is him…"

This was the most important part of this business. He recited it by heart and immediately repeated it again, "On the Misty River, in the pleasure boat, the sound of the Fairy's lute is slow. Husband, please don't listen."

Lady Mo exclaimed in a low voice as tears welled up in her eyes. "He… he hasn't come looking for me all these years. I thought… And I blamed him…"

Mr Bao asked with a sigh, "It has already been many years. Mother, please restrain your grief. Right, does this lady have another son?"

"Yes… Yes, yes, yes!" Lady Mo choked with sobs, weeping and wiping away her tears. She then called out to the Warm Pavilion upstairs, "A-Nian, A-Nian… Mo Nian! Quick, quickly come down!"

The door of the pavilion opened, but it wasn't Mo Nian who came out, but a frail child.

The child held a pile of laundry in his hands. His small face stuck out from behind the clothes, and there were some bruises on his cheeks. He looked timid.

Mr. Bao Wen hesitated: “This is… Your son?”

“Ah, no, no.” Lady Mo wiped away her tears and said, “This is a servant boy who’s staying in my building.”

Mister immediately heaved a sigh of relief and laughed in his heart, “Oh, so that’s how it is.”

Lady Mo turned to the child and asked, “Mo Ran, where did Young Master go?”

Ch. 261 [Tianyin Pavilion] Guilty

Hearing this, Master Xuanjing sighed, “Amitabha, Young Master Mo is indeed not Sect Leader Xue’s nephew. What a bad fate.”

Another person reacted, “Ah… Is it him?”

The surrounding cultivators were puzzled, “What is him?”

“The one who mentioned earlier about the kid who came up with the idea of keeping Mo Ran in the dog cage.” The man said, “His age is similar to Mo Ran, and he is also the son of Lady Mo.” As he was thinking, he suddenly came to a realization. He patted his head and said, “I understand.”

“So it turns out that the reason why you killed them and their children, and took up such a place, was not because of greed, but because of hatred!”

When some people heard this analysis, they felt that it was very reasonable. They all cast gazes of disdain and pity at Mo Ran.

“In this way, it makes sense.”

“Sigh, there must be something pitiful about people who hate them.”

Amidst the discussions and sighs, Mu Yanli cleared her throat, and the surroundings immediately quieted down.

She said, “Young Master Mo, I’ve heard that you have been unable to eat your fill and have been subjected to abuse in the House of Drunken Jade all year round. Your mama has never been one to beat you up or scold you, right?”

Mo Ran said, “… Yes.”

“The son of that mama was the one who came up with the idea of locking you in the dog cage all those years ago. Was that wrong as well?”

Seeing that their guesses were correct, the crowd sighed and nodded their heads, “Ah, look. It is indeed a killing intent born out of hatred. He must hate that mother and son duo.”

What they said was right, how could he not hate them? Mo Nian was the same age as him, but he was much stronger. Because he was the mama’s son, no one in the building dared to offend him. This child had been fierce and naughty since he was young. If he had nothing to do, he would just use Mo Ran to vent his anger. If he caused trouble, he would often frame Mo Ran. Mo Ran would go and take the blame for anything that went wrong.

However, Mo Ran was a very honest man. Even though he had been wronged, he didn’t dare take revenge on Young Master Nian.

At that time, he only ate one cake a day. If he dared to say too much, then this last ration would probably be deducted, so when he was scolded or wronged, he would not utter a single word. If he really could not take it anymore, he would just curl up in the sleeping woodshed and quietly cry for a while.

He didn’t dare to make a sound. If he woke up someone else, he would get another beating.

“Do you hate them?”

Mo Ran raised his eyes and there was a hint of a sneer in them, “… Otherwise…”

“But your surname was still the same as hers. You hated them so much, yet you never thought of changing it?”

“The surname ‘Mo’ is the surname of the House of Drunken Jade. Many servants who sell themselves here take this surname as theirs. We call Lady Mo ‘mother’ or ‘mama’. Everyone is like this. I am used to it, so there is nothing for me to change.”

“She was so bad to each of you?”

“…No.” Mo Ran said, “It’s just that she never really liked me. Later on, when I let Xun Fengruo go, she became even more disgusted with me.”

“Then how harshly does Lady Mo treat you?”

Mo Ran had lived in the building for so many years that only on New Year’s Eve could he eat a piece of crescent meat, which was half of the fat that the guests had eaten. Other than that, he only had one biscuit to eat every day, while he had to do the heaviest work.

But he really didn’t want to say anything more. He simply said, “I don’t want to talk about this.”

“Alright. If it’s harmless, then let’s change it to another one. Because she treats you badly, that’s why when she asked you where Mo Nian went, you lied? Had you already begun to have your own plans?”

Mo Ran replied, “No.”

How could he have dared to lie? His life and clothes were in the mama’s hands. Thus, when he heard the mama’s question, Little Mo Ran cried like a beaten up dog. He first winced before whispering, “Young Master Nian has gone to the private school…”

Lady Mo knew her son well, and she thought to herself, How is this possible? That kid usually didn't like to read books the most, so he probably went somewhere to play crazily. However, Mr. Bao Wen was still sitting beside her. He lightly coughed and nodded his head. "Ai, that child of mine is very serious and sensible. Sir, look, aren't you going out to attend class again?"

Bao Wen laughed and said, "Ah, it's a good thing to be diligent and studious. Like this, he will first cultivate the beginning cultivation method to give the Sect Leaders at the Sisheng Peak. When that time comes, their uncle and nephew will recognize each other, so there's no need to rush for this moment."

Lady Mo stood up and bowed down in gratitude. "Thank you, sir. In the future, when you have the wealth and glory, I will never forget the kindness that you showed me."

After the inquirer left, Lady Mo sat in a daze for a long time, lost in thoughts and emotions. Sometimes she cried, and sometimes she laughed.

After being stunned for a long time, she realized that Mo Ran was fearfully standing in the corner and looking at her.

Perhaps it was because she had seen Duan Yihan's experience that was too similar to hers, or perhaps it was because she had dared to do something rash before Mo Ran, but she actually let him earn money. However, for whatever reason, as Mo Ran recalled, she didn't like the son of a bitch.

She stared at him. "What are you looking at?"

Little Mo Ran hurriedly lowered his long eyelashes. "I'm sorry."

“Do you think it’s ridiculous for me to laugh and cry when you say sorry?”

“…”

Seeing that he was silent and only had his head lowered obediently, Lady Mo scanned him back and forth and said with loathing, “Forget it, I won’t bother with you. What do you know? A thankless dog that eats off the inside.”

Mo Ran was already used to the mama calling him a dog, so he kept his head down and didn’t speak.

Lady Mo said, “Don’t just stand there. I’m in a good mood today, so I won’t hit you. Go and fetch Young Master Nian —don’t ask me, I know he’s not in the private school— and bring him back. I have something important to tell him.”

Upon hearing that he was asked to look for his Young Master, Mo Ran subconsciously trembled. But in the end, he still nodded submissively and whispered, “Yes, mother.”

“Don’t call me mother from now on.” Lady Mo wrinkled her nose. “I will soon… Forget it, I won’t tell you much.”

That evening, Mo Ran was anxiously searching for Young Master Nian’s figure in the vicinity of the House of Drunken Jade, following Lady Mo’s instructions.

He didn’t know if he wanted to find this person quickly, or if he wanted to find this person slower. If he found him, he would undoubtedly be scolded by Young Master Nian. He would be unhappy with him spoiling his own good mood. If he couldn't find him, Lady Mo would blame him for everything when he returned. She thought he was useless.

The little figure helplessly walked under the setting sun.

At that time, Mo Ran did not know that his fate was going to be reversed with Young Master Nian.

One by one, he obediently searched.

To every place Young Master Nian usually visited — the riverbank, the casino, the brothel, the cockfight yard… Then they were all jeered at and chased out.

Finally, after some questioning, he found out that Young Master Nian had gone to the mill on the outskirts of the city in the afternoon with a bunch of his friends. He was also said to be carrying a large gunny sack.

Mo Ran did not think too much and hurried back to the mill.

The mill had long since been abandoned and was surrounded by cemeteries. Normally, there was no one around, so before Mo Ran even got close, he heard a commotion coming from the mill. A group of youngsters with disheveled clothing rushed out, led by Young Master Nian who was tying his belt.

Mo Ran hurriedly said, "Young Master, Mother is calling you back. She said it's —"

He did not finish his sentence.

It was because he noticed that the group of youngsters all had faces overflowing with fear of the impending disaster. A few of them were even crying from fear as they shrank to the side while shivering.

After being bullied for so many years, he had developed a sense of vigilance. When he saw Young Master Nian staring at him with bloodshot eyes, he immediately turned around and ran, trembling with fear.

Young Master Nian's reaction was extremely fast as he shouted, "Capture him!"

Mo Ran was no match for these children. He was pressed down to the ground in a matter of seconds and was sent to Young Master Nian.

Someone said in a low voice, "What do we do, A-Nian. This is trouble."

"It's too late to run, I was seen by this kid."

"How about we also include him…"

Mo Ran did not know what they were talking about, but these young and tender faces were malevolent and fiendish. That was his first impression of the two words "evil spirit".

Young Master Nian's eyes narrowed. He was the calmest and gloomiest of these people.

He thought for a moment. "Don't kill him," he said.

Mo Ran looked up in shock.

Kill?

These people had beaten him and insulted him in the past, but he had never thought that the word "kill" could come from the mouth of a bunch of fourteen or fifteen year old.

For a moment, he was at a loss, unable to react.

Young Master Nian said, “Put him in the mill.”

“…” The surrounding people looked at each other, and then, a young man with monkey like cheeks and sharp mouth was the first to react. His eyes were shining, and his nose was still dripping with sweat. “That’s a good idea!”

More and more people came to a realization: “Ah! So that was what he meant! Ah Nian is still the best!”

These people were originally staring at Mo Ran as if they were staring at a mortal enemy with a blood feud. But now, their eyes were falling down one by one, like a pack of wolves that were about to starve to death staring at a fat lamb.

Mo Ran was pushed into the mill without any explanation.

First he hammered at the door, struggling, but it was soon blocked, and there were no windows in the mill, just the ragged sunlight seeping through the cracks of the broken planks.

Mo Ran shouted, “Let me out! Let me out!”

Outside, someone was shouting, “Go to the press! Hurry up and report this to the government!”

“Quick, quick! We’ll watch from here. Those who are walking fast, go and report to the officials!”

Mo Ran shouted for a while, and after hammering for a while, he realized that he could not open the door no matter how much he tried, so he gave up. He turned around in a daze, and in the dim light, he saw another person lying in the room.

It was a girl.

Young Master Nian had been pestering her recently, especially when he remembered that she was the daughter of the tofu seller on the east side of the street.

This girl's clothes had already been torn to shreds. Her green and naked body was lying on the ground. Her hands and feet were spread out. Her body was covered with blue and purple spots, and her private parts were a mess…

She had been humiliated to death by these beasts, and her eyes were still wide open when she died. The tears had yet to dry from her cheeks, and her eyes were lifeless as she stared at the door in the direction of Mo Ran.

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment before letting out a miserable scream. His back slammed against the door and his pupils contracted— he finally understood what those people outside had done and wanted to do.

So it turned out that Young Master Nian had been unfriendly towards this girl many times, so he had evil thoughts. He knew that this girl was a soft persimmon with no family background, so it was easy to bully her. He and a few of his companions had made a profit in the mill and had defiled her in turn. The girl was weak, and the bastards were rough, and in the middle of it the girl died.

Mo Ran muttered, "No…No!" He turned around and began to beat wildly on the door. "Open the door! Open the door! Not me! Open the door!"

As if at his plea, the door of the mill swung open.

Mo Ran wanted to charge out, but his hands were violently held down by the group of youths.

The leader was Young Master Nian. He was vicious and said, “I almost forgot. Do it well.”

He then ordered his companions to strip Mo Ran of his clothes and smeared some blood and mucus on Mo Ran’s body.

Their eyes flashed with the light of a wild beast, and whether this child was begging or crying, they all turned a deaf ear to him. There was even one person who, after being bitten by Mo Ran, suddenly raised his hand and slapped him a few times, and said fiercely: “You fucking shut up, you are the murderer! A strong, violent criminal! With so many people supporting us, how can you be so clear about this?!”

“No… Not me! It’s not me…”

But so what if he resisted? They threw him into the mill, naked and chained to the dead girl, and then they called for the thief and reported him to the authorities.

It was difficult for Mo Ran to explain himself. In the magistrate court, he was heavily condemned. His skin was torn, his flesh was lacerated, and his flesh was mangled. He was then taken to prison, awaiting his final judgment.

The prisoners in his cell jeered at him, railed at him, and some of the prisoners with daughters heard of his actions and began beating him up — some even tried to assault him — but the jailer didn't want it to get out of hand.

Lady Mo came that very night. She had already known the whole story and was angry at he son for failing.

But so what?

As a mother, she would always protect her child.

She was afraid that when the court was in session, the officials would investigate everything in detail. If they found out about her son Mo Nian, how could the two of them rise above and become the phoenixes? The letters had already been sent out, and someone was going to come pick them up from the Sisheng Peak. She had waited for so many years, and his hair had already turned white.

Whether it was glory or status, she and her child deserved it.

She would not allow anything to go wrong.

Therefore, she came in full time, giving the jailer and the officials enough money to beg them to turn a blind eye and put the blame on Mo Ran alone.

However, because her conscience worried her, Lady Mo came to the prison to visit him after bribing him. She even brought a bowl of Red Braised Meat to Mo Ran.

"There's no poison, I won't poison you."

Mo Ran shrank in the corner and looked at her, his eyes black and purple with helplessness, sadness, and pain. This was the look on the faces of the cattle, sheep, pigs and dogs that were about to be massacred.

Fear, sadness.

However, it also had the taming of someone who had lost all hope.

Lady Mo suddenly felt her heart shudder and his neck tighten.

She was shocked and frightened by his emotion. She suddenly stood up, lowered her voice, and said resolutely, “In any case, you are a fatherless and motherless child. Although it was a pity, if you died, no one would be sad. I’ve raised you for so many years, it’s about time you repay me for my kindness.”

“…” Mo Ran did not say anything. He did not say yes, nor did he say no.

Lady Mo gritted her teeth and said, “I’ll treat this bowl of roasted meat as practice. If you eat it, don’t blame me after you enter the netherworld… I don’t have a choice either.”

With that, she turned around and left.

Mo Ran had never eaten Red Braised Meat in his life.

Now that he had a bowl in front of him, he stared at it for a while before deciding not to eat it. He turned the bowl upside down on the ground, the juice running in it. He stared at it for a moment, thinking of the blood flowing under the girl’s body, and suddenly he felt an indescribable nausea. He turned his back on the wall and threw up.

He couldn’t spit anything out.

He was a man who ate only one biscuit a day.

The bread had long since been digested, and all he could spit out was sour water.

That night, he could not sleep. The blood covering his entire body had congealed into a shell, and the shell gradually became brittle and hard. Upon contact, it fell to the ground like a powder made out of rust.

He was in his cell, not talking to the other prisoners, no one knew what he was thinking, no one knew whether he was dead or alive.

He was alone, curled up, and he slowly thought through many things.

In that dark, dirty cell, in that cell smelling of sour and red-braised meat, the honest Mo Ran was sentenced to death. The ones who had come back to life were the ones who had frightened the entire mortal world, the emperor Taxian-Jun — his initial appearance.

Later on, the hatred of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was born because of this.

Ch. 262 [Tianyin Pavilion] A Comedy Drama

The Xiangtan prison was old and crude. The second day, early in the morning, when Mo Ran was with the prison inmates, he ran out secretly. After regaining his freedom, the first thing he did was to return to the House of Drunken Jade.

As soon as he entered the backyard, he saw A-Nian standing triumphantly in the sun center in a black robe.

As ever before, the orphan named Mo Ran was carrying the misfortune for him, and he believed that he was safe.

“Anyway, you have no mother or father, and no one will be sad if you die.”

“It’s time for you to return the favor that I have kept you for so many years.”

That’s why they put an innocent man on the gallows.

He is full of dignity and neutrality.

Mo Ran stood in the shadows, standing in the dark, looking at the handsome and free, a relaxed boy.

Oh, somebody hurt, somebody loved, somebody cared for, is that the way it is?

When the sky fell, there were people standing in the way.

It is not a pity to die alone.

Mo Ran looked at him for a long time.

Mo Nian had bought a robe and dressed up as a monk. After his mother dropped the drunken jade building, he set out to work as a young master. At this time, he was in the courtyard pretending to dance with a sword, surrounded by a group of young people. They were his gang members who helped him imprison Mo Ran.

“A-Nian Good Swordsmanship!”

“Your uncle’s Sisheng Peak seems to be very strong. You were blessed. Don’t forget your brothers!”

“Yes, yes.” Someone echoed, “A-Nian don’t forget us. We grew up wearing a pair of trousers. We shouldered all the good and bad things for you, even the death of that little bitch in Tofu Square.”

A-Nian had taken his position very detached, and could no longer allow others to mention the stain that he had insulted the girl. When he heard that, he immediately pointed his sword at the tip of his throat and said angrily, “The death of the girl in the tofu shop was Mo Ran’s fault. We saw with our own eyes that day that he was possessed by animals, bereaved of all conscience and impolite to her. You will remember these words several times!”

The man was pointed at by the sword, trembling and hurrying, “Yes, you’re right… It’s my poor memory! I was wrong!”

Others rushed to calm A-Nian: “It’s all that Mo Ran’s fault, human face and animal heart, pigs and dogs are not as bad as that!”

“Yes, yes, to rape a woman, to kill after rape, we have all seen, this life can not forget his devil’s face.”

Several people have deepened their fabricated lies. Some people have told them thousands of times, even believing themselves to be true. The more they spoke, the more righteous they felt, the cleaner they pick themselves up. A-Nian laughed loudly and brushed and danced a sword flower. He chopped several swords at the straw man hanging in the sunshine field. He cut the straw man down and pointed the sword at the straw man.

“Look at me as a swordsman, to get rid of evil and punish evil… Punish that…”

He doesn’t like reading. He used to be absent from school, so when he talked about it, he got stuck.

Next to it, a teenager immediately answered, “Punish the evil and promote the good! Promote justice! Help the world at the same time! Clean up all directions!”

A-Nian hummed and scorned, “You’re the best talker.”

Unexpectedly, the man clapped the horse on the leg and was embarrassed: “…”

A-Nian brushed and danced several more swords and said, “It’s strength that sweeps away all sides, not your tongue. From now on, when I encounter the evil spirit of Mo Ran again, I can go to his head with a sword. What can you do with him, right? Ha ha ha ha-”

He had not finished his “ha”. Suddenly, a leisurely voice came from the wood door in the backyard. Someone clapped his palm twice, and then said:

“Nian-gongzi, you really deserve to be a young master on Sisheng Peak… Good authority.”

“A-Nian suddenly blocked his sword in front of him, instantly changed his face, and said sharply, “Mo Ran??!!”

A huge cloud slowly flowed through the sky, gradually obscuring the sun and casting huge shadows on the sun farm.

The shabby teenager somehow appeared like a hawk on the stack of firewood in the sunshine yard and raised his head slowly.

Although his face was thin, it was clear and handsome to look at it carefully. At this time, his eyes were burning, and there were still fierce whips in his eyebrows. He had just come out of prison, and the blood had not been erased. A-Nian looked at the face and thought it was both familiar and unfamiliar.

The one in front of him was indeed Mo Ran, but there seemed to be something wrong.

Mo Ran bent his eyes and touched a machete in his hand with a laugh. Two pools of dimples, stormy waves, blue water and cold pools, unspeakable intimacy gentle, unspeakable thriller.

“… Supporting justice and sweeping away the eight sides? Mo Nian-zi, the future Sword Fairy, a Sisheng Peak lord. When did you have this ambition? But I’m going to laugh to death, hahahaha”

The more he talked about it, the more brilliant his smile was and the more distorted his features were.

From childhood until now, the kid who burns the fire in the firewood room was always obedient and quiet, obedient and not very talkative. But when he did not see him overnight, he was like a cocoon-breaking moth, laughing wildly and publicizing with a fever of fire.

He used to have few smiles, and occasionally he laughed like a cowardly man with lips on his face.

But now he was driven to madness.

The group of teenagers retreated in horror. A-Nian's sword-holding hand trembled slightly, but his throat rolled up and down. He gulped with a hard scalp: "Mo Ran, you ate ambitious leopard gall? How dare you escape from prison? I'll kill the people and kill your dog for the government!!"

"OK." Mo Ran wore a heartless smile, the knife in his eye flashes, and rushed up. "I don't want to live like this anymore. If you have the ability to take my dog's life. Just take it, but if you don't have the ability, then—"

He didn't even finish his words, and people had already skimmed past. But when the light and shadow disappeared, the machete fell, and the sword in A-Nian's hand fell to the ground, rolling with his eyes and head.

Blood rush, sprayed a few feet far!!

The headless body staggered and fell to the ground.

For a moment, the birds were silent.

Mo Ran's face sprayed with blood, threads of rag clothes hanging on his body, in the foul wind hunting and brushing, like algae floating in the sea.

When he raised his head again, his face became more and more smiling and his eyes were bloodshot. He licked the blood splashing on his lips and said in a warm voice the half-truncated words: "Then let me take your head off your neck."

The teenagers were so frightened that they couldn't speak a word.

Mo Ran raised his eyes and they were cold. "Aren't you all very good? Aren't they good at upside down? Not very good at fighting!!! In addition to the guardian of evil, punish evil and promote good… Good! Come on together!"

They didn't dare move, all their legs were like sieve chaff, buttocks and urine flew. None of them could believe it. Is this is Mo Ran? Is it that submissive, suffered great grievances, are silent Mo Ran?

Mo Ran raised up his head, sighed, and then dragged his machete forward step by step. The tip of the knife drew a bloody line on the ground.

"How can you suddenly be so modest?" He smiled, raised his blade and opened his mouth. "Since you are unwilling to do it, I'll have to come first."

Suddenly there was a blood rain.

A slaughter.

It was closing time, most people in the drunken jade building were resting. Mo Ran killed the people in the backyard. He went to the compartment and killed the remaining people one by one. Some people had their throats cut in their sleep. Others woke up only to see a flash of the knife, and their world turned upside down.

By the time everyone responded, it was too late. He set fire everywhere, igniting the drunken jade building into a sea of flames. The singing servants were crying and sobbing, but no one dared to rush into the sea of flames to save them.

After killing the last few people, Mo Ran was not satisfied with that, and he sat down in the middle of the hall. He smiled and looked at the people who had been cut off by their feet and unable to move. Mo Ran watched them writhing like maggots, twitching and trickling, and his face became blurred in the smoke and fire.

He took the handle of the machete across his knee, but did not kill them. Instead, he picked up a bunch of fresh grapes on the table with the tip of the knife, held them in his hands, slowly peeled and clipped them, and slowly put them into his mouth one by one, and chewed them bulging and sacking.

Suddenly, Mo Ran smiled and said, “Oh? It’s delicious. It’s so big. I’ve never eaten the grapes of Western Regions. It turns out that what you eat every day is such a good thing.”

He lowered his head and stayed for a while. Then he laughed and said, “I really envy you.”

A section of the roof was burnt and fell down, sparks splashed, burning and falling beside them. Everyone sobbed more bitterly, only Mo Ran, a boy holding his cheek, legs crossed, knife in his arms, ate his bunch of grapes conscientiously, as if nothing had nothing to do with him.

“The fire is so big that none of us can get out.” After eating the grapes, Mo Ran picked up another peach and laughed, “Why don’t you just sit here and talk?”

“Who wants to chat with you? Mo Ran, you beast! Not as good as dogs and pigs! Not as good as beasts!”

“No chat?” Mo Ran spit out grape seeds and laughed. Then got down to business. “Last night, Mo Nian also said that in the past ten years, I should be grateful to you all for your dedication and care. Now it’s time to be filial. So let me take you on your way.”

He stood up, walked around them, bowed like a model, and said, “But don’t go too far on Huangquan Road, wait for me.”

Everyone else was crying, and Lady Mo yelled, “Mo Ran!!! You dog! When Xun Fengruo saw you pitifully and kindly took you in, I shouldn’t have been kind and allowed her! You evil, you evil spirit! You’re this— you perverted beast!”

“You allowed Sister Xun?” Mo Ran laughed lightly, “I came all the way from Wubei Temple, in order to return her debt according to my mother’s wishes. She knew that I had no mother, so she gave you all the money she earned a year, hoping you could let me stay and have a shelter. She is my benefactor, and you? What do you reckon?”

“I shouldn’t have allowed her! I shouldn’t—what’s a year’s worth? You secretly let her go later! She is the head of the drunken jade building! How much money can she make for a song, do you know?! But you are — You…”

Mo Ran interrupted her: “She is my mother’s benefactor, but also my benefactor, she didn’t sell herself in the drunken jade building, but you took money from the rich businessman, you sold her, you forced her to receive customer. Why shouldn’t I let her go?!

“These years you hated me, you tortured me, but I did not say anything, I did not resist, because my mother told me you could give me a bite of food, I couldn’t be bad to you.” Mo Ran closed his eyes and said, “I have been enduring, I have been enduring…”

“Bah! You still have the face to say that?! You ungrateful thing, it’s me! I gave you a place to live, let you little crybaby have food and bed! You beast, you son of a bitch!”

“… Well, what a coincidence. Does the bitch give birth to a bastard?” Mo Ran laughed in the light of the fire. “If you scold me like this, would your son think you were calling him when he heard it?”

As Mo Ran said this, he went over and pinched Mammy’s face.

“But, godmother, you reminded me that you have given me food and bed these years. I really thank you. In that case, I’ll see you off first.”

“You —!”

“But for the sake of entertainment, why don’t we play a game first?” Mo Ran said enthusiastically, “What do you think of blind people guessing paintings?”

He said, picking up a small piece of broken wood on the ground and lighting a fire at the end. Then, slowly and slowly, he drew the shape of the sun in her eyes. The wooden tops passed by, the skin was burnt and the flesh was rotten. She cried sadly, but Mo Ran laughed and said to her: “Godmother, guess what I painted here? If you can’t guess, even if you lose, I’ll draw the next thing.”

That day, the remaining few people were slowly tortured by him, bit by bit to death.

He returned the poison and hardship that had been accumulated for ten years, and hurled it back at the House of Drunken Jade, destroying everything, a scorched earth.

He finally lay down in the fire, with the twisted bodies, looking at the shaky Qionglou, smiling, mouthful by mouthful, delivering cakes and fruits to his mouth.

“Delicious.”

He paused, and suddenly laughed bitterly. As soon as his eyelashes were wrapped up, tears rolled down and streamed down his bright smiling face. He reached out and blocked his eyes, crying and laughing.

“Unfortunately, we can’t eat any more…”

The ebony red plaque of the drunken jade building fell and smashed in front of the hall, splitting in pieces. Smoke billowed and the buildings with carved beams and painted walls finally collapsed.

This building was used to see Pipa singing and dancing, and the dress stained with wine. Once the scenery was infinite, singing and dancing became even.

Today, yesterday’s glitz is gone, the past luxury was turned into smoke. The love between men and women and the entanglement between love and hatred are all burning and degenerating in successions of beams. The fire was burning, and the fairy sounds of the two blossoms seemed to come out of the cracks in the wood and from the seams in the tiles.

Duan Yi chilly sings: “Like a beautiful family —”

Xun Fengruo’s weak chant: “All pay for the broken wall and ruins…”

The famous building in Xiangtan was buried in this faint and unreal music. The curtain fell and a long drum music ended. Those were sad, or brilliant, fold operas, in this fiery fire, brilliant and solemn curtain call.

Ch. 263 [Tianyin Pavilion] Old Dream Repeats Itself

Mo Ran's confession was over. For a moment, no one made a sound within the Loyalty Hall. Everyone was silent.

Right or wrong? What's right and what's wrong?

Although each has their own personal belief no one can say for sure.

"I thought I was going to die in the sea of fire all those years ago," he said. "But when I woke up, I found myself lying on the Sisheng Peak. Mr. Bao Wen, who was sitting on the edge of my bed, placed his hand on my shoulder when I woke up and told me that from now on, I was the son of a great master."

He paused for a moment before he chuckled, "It's uncle's nephew."

The ground of the Loyalty Hall was embroidered with the blooming of pollia. Mo Ran looked at the luxuriant purple flowers blooming all over with an indifferent expression.

"Mister Bao Wen was afraid he wouldn't get the reward. So when my uncle rescued me from the fire in the House of Drunken Jade and asked him anxiously if this was the child he was looking for, he nodded." Mo Ran said, "With this nod, he changed my fate."

Master Xuanjing sighed and said, "Amitabha, Benefactor Mo, can you be at ease? All these years, have you never thought of confessing to Sect Leader Xue?"

"Why didn't I think about it? In the days when I just woke up, I was very uneasy. I really wanted to confess."

The black flames in his eyes were hazy, as if he was looking at the passage of time.

“But to hear me awake, Uncle. Just come and saw me. My aunt cooked the noodles for me personally, and I remember there were three poached eggs, all sweet and covered with meat foam. She said. ‘I’m afraid you just woke up and don’t digest it. Only after you’ve chopped it up can you swallow it easily.’ Xue Meng also came over and gave me a whole box of pastries.”

He slowly closed his eyes.

“I ate that bowl of noodles, those flower cakes. And I could not speak the truth. They smiled at me like that and treated me well. If I said that I set the fire in the House of Drunken Jade ablaze, that I killed his nephew, his sister-in-law… What would happen then?” Mo Ran said softly, “I couldn’t say it. That phrase was swallowed in my throat, and then it got stuck in it… the more time passed the more I didn’t know what to say.”

Master Xuanjing sighed, “Sigh…”

“I knew what kind of person Mo Nian was. He was lazy and does things frivolously. At first, I didn’t know if uncle really knew much about him, so I did everything to help him. When I found out that my uncle didn’t know, I didn’t take him for granted.” Mo Ran paused for a moment, then slowly continued. “At the end of the day, I have a blood feud with Mo Nian’s family. But in the end, I took over their family and relatives.”

The people at the Sisheng Peak were all at a loss. There were many disciples and elders who had interacted with Mo Ran before who stood there dumbstruck, all feeling at the same time. Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang didn't say anything as they stared blankly at Mo Ran's figure.

They had watched this child grow up from a young age until he became a Grandmaster.

But now, he was telling them that all of this was wrong from the beginning.

Mo Ran was not their nephew. What's more, there was even a blood debt between them that separated them from each other.

What should he say?

What should he do?

Xue Zhengyong didn't know, and neither did Madam Wang.

They did not know who Mo Nian was, but they had touched Mo Ran's hair, held Mo Ran's hand, and been called "uncle" and "aunt" by Mo Ran.

Xue Zhengyong's mind was in a mess.

In the silence, Mu Yanli said, "Mo Ran, although you are pitiful, you have committed many crimes and cannot be forgiven. Count them, do you know how many great sins you have committed?"

Mo Ran didn't like the Tianyin Pavilion, so he closed his eyes and didn't answer.

Mu Yanli looked at him disdainfully, her voice as loud as a bell, "You killed many mortals, set fire to a building, swindled a Young Master, and took his identity.— On Mount Jiao, you clearly knew that you had the blood of the Nangong Family on you, but you just watched coldly from the sidelines. It is hard to predict your intentions, but Guyue'ye, you started a massacre and spilled your blood on the hall. What exactly do you want?"

"I'll say it again, I didn't kill Guyue'ye's people. After the Gate of Life and Death opened, two lives intersected. That person was not me."

"The Gate of Life and Death is the first forbidden technique. It hasn't been opened for thousands of years. Don't you think that your excuse is too ridiculous? I'm afraid that as the descendant of the Nangong Family, you will remain unresigned, have your ambitions expanded, and plan to overturn the world of cultivation?"

"Pavilion master Mu is too excessive with her words." Jiang Xi couldn't help but frown when he heard this. "In my opinion, Mo Ran has no motive to overturn the cultivation world of the upper and lower levels. If he wanted to do these things and used any means at Mount Jiao, the top ten sects would probably suffer heavy losses. These places are full of doubts, but before you understand them clearly, you must be careful with your words."

Mu Yanli stared at him coldly. "Sect Leader Jiang, you don't need to speak up for him. Even if he does not wish to overturn the cultivation world, the sins he had previously committed would be enough for him to be brought to the Tianyin Pavilion for questioning."

After she finished speaking, she raised her hand and commanded the people behind her, "Capture Mo Ran and bring him away."

"Wait a minute!"

Mu Yanli raised her eyebrows and looked at Xue Zhengyong, "Sect Leader Xue, do you have something to say?"

Xue Zhengyong's face turned red and green. He didn't seem to understand why he stopped Mu Yanli. After all these years, he had seen Mo Ran as his own. It had become a habit of his.

He couldn't just sit there and let the Tianyin Pavilion take their people away.

But what should he say? To stay?

Xue Zhengyong closed his eyes, his teeth chattering. He felt cold and empty, as if something important had been gouged out.

He buried his face in his palms. He had always been in high spirits, but at this moment, he was surprisingly old and stooped.

"Does Sect Leader Xue want to bid farewell to his nephew?"

Mu Yanli was a rough person, intentionally or unintentionally used the word "nephew", which made Xue Zhengyong even more so, trembling.

"I…" Xue Zhengyong's throat became hoarse, "Ran'er… Mo Ran…"

He didn't even know what to call him.

Mo Ran stopped making things difficult for him. He closed his eyes, walked up a few steps, and knelt and kowtowed to Xue Zhengyong without saying a word.

Three kowtows and nine kowtows.

Someone was muttering, "Just dawdling, doing something."

"Putting on an act…"

Mo Ran turned a deaf ear to this. When the ceremony was over, he stood up and prepared to leave.

However, just at this moment, Xue Meng suddenly rushed into the Loyalty Hall. His sword was filled with black blood and it was extremely shocking. He shouted, “Outside —”

“What’s going on?”

“There is a large number of Zhenlong Chess pieces attacking from outside, and many of them are the death soldiers of the Rufeng Sect!”

Everyone was shocked! At the Sisheng Peak, three hundred meters away from the Cloud Sky, countless cultivators flew into the air, their robes fluttering in the wind. Half of these people wore standardized black robes that covered their faces, while the other half wore crane feathered clothing that covered their eyes. They were the corpses of the Rufeng Sect’s Hero Tomb.

“What, what is going on?!”

“Didn’t these bodies sink into the ground? Why did they all appear again! Who undid the restriction?”

As the words left his mouth, he already had the answer in his heart.

Who had broken the restriction on the Nangong family, and who else could break the seal on the Nangong family?

Quite a number of Li Li’s angry eyes had already shifted to Mo Ran.

Although Mo Ran knew who the mastermind behind this was, there was nothing he could say. What was even worse was that he had lost all his spiritual energy and couldn't stop the pawns from invading them. He could only watch helplessly as hundreds and thousands of Death Soldiers descended.

The Sisheng Peak was the same as in his previous life.

In an instant, the place turned into a sea of blood.

It turned out that the 'surprise' mentioned by Shi Mei was not over yet.

"Fight first!"

"Get rid of this wave of chess pieces! Defeat them first!"

The crowd welcomed them out of the palace hall, but because they had no idea what was going on, and because these Zhenlong Chess pieces came in full fury and without warning, it was chaotic all of a sudden.

Mo Ran stood in front of the hall and watched the chess pieces land one by one. They exchanged blows with the disciples at the Sisheng Peak and fought against the cultivators' magic techniques.

The Silverblue Light Armor and the black cloaks clashed in a chaotic melee.

He stood on the jade steps, his eyebrows twitching in pain. Everything in front of him was like a replay of the memories of his previous life…

In his previous life, he was the one who controlled the pawn army that was formed from the living and the dead. He killed anyone who dared to say "no" to him.

From that moment on, he became accustomed to killing people. Accustomed to seeing human life as grass, liver brain smears heavy mountain.

He still remembered standing in front of Loyalty Hall like that. The traitorous disciple Mo Weiyu looked down at the heroes of the wilderness with a smile, as if he was grieving for all living beings. Next to his boots lay the corpses of Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang.

“From the Sisheng Peak, use your blood to pave the way for me.”

The sneer from his previous life still lingered in his ears, Mo Ran’s eyelids jumped up and down as he shouted towards Xue Meng, “Don’t fight, you can’t win! Hurry up and go, all of you!”

The crowd was noisy, and Xue Meng was too far away to hear.

Mo Ran looked around and saw the battle between the swords in the surroundings.

He saw Jiang Xi fighting against more than ten chess pieces, and at that moment, he was thinking about how Jiang Xi had fallen to his saber in his previous life —

“You won’t kneel to me?”

“Don’t kneel.”

“You don’t recognize me as an Emperor?”

“No.”

Fresh blood splattered everywhere.

He couldn’t beat them…

The voice pierced through the nine heavens, causing the mind of the pawns to become blurry and shaky. However, he thought of how this Palace master had ended up with his ten fingers destroyed and his tendons and bones torn apart —

“Why are you resisting so stubbornly?”

“Since I am the master of a palace, even though I am unable to ensure the safety of the Taxue Palace, I will definitely not run away.”

When the xun was shattered, it finally became an unstoppable sound.

He couldn’t beat her.

As the chaos raged, Mo Ran saw Madam Wang and Xue Zhengyong fighting hand to hand in the distance. What flashed before his eyes was the two of them from his previous life, whose eyes were filled with grief and anger.

Staring at him through two lifetimes, resenting him.

Cold.

It was cold.

The muscles and bones throughout Mo Ran body trembled, and the tip of his fingers turned ice-cold. For Shi Mei to do this… He could actually do this!

Previously, he felt that he should not underestimate the threats that Shi Mei had made before he took Chu Wanning away. That was why he had so decisively returned to the Sisheng Peak. At this moment, he could not help but feel his scalp tingle.

What would have happened if he had acted on impulse and refused to listen to the threats of Shi Mei, insisting on chasing after Chu Wanning?

Half of the elites of the cultivation world were here. What would happen if these people died at the Sisheng Peak?

The rings that Shi Mei had set up didn't give him any time to breathe. Mo Ran raised his eyes and looked at the treasured chess set that covered the mountains and plains… Those who were not afraid of death, those who were not afraid of pain… A mountain of corpses and a sea of blood…

This could not continue, this could not continue!

If Shi Mei had said that this was a "surprise" for him, then he wouldn't have laid it out for no reason. Since he came back, if he obeyed, there must be a way to solve it! He could not watch his old dream repeat itself. He could not watch the Sisheng Peak being destroyed. He could not watch his aunt and uncle die in front of him.

If the past were to reappear, how could he face himself… How could he face Chu Wanning?

Mo Ran suddenly recovered his wits and separated the crowd as he ran towards his aunt.

"Stop fighting! Retreat from here, leave this place first, don't fight anymore! It's impossible to win!"

His voice was hoarse and his eyes were bloodshot. He was like a man sinking into the ocean, struggling as hard as he could to get to the other side. He was like a dead man struggling for life, like a moth struggling for fire, a life struggling for another life.

“Stop fighting! Go, go, go! You can’t beat them!”

You couldn’t beat him.

I have seen your deaths with my own eyes.

Come on, please.

Suddenly, a sword slashed out horizontally, carrying a cold, sinister sword light.

It was Mu Yanli’s ice-cold face.

“Are you trying to escape in the chaos?”

Mo Ran angrily said, “Get out of the way!”

“You are already a felon in the cultivation world, I should —”

As she said this, Mu Yanli felt a chill behind her. She turned around and saw a chess piece with a face covered by a veil swinging down. She quickly turned around to face the blow, his eyes filled with killing intent. She shouted, “Mo Ran! It really is you!”

The woman’s face was clear and limpid, like an icy spring, easily recognizable.

This sound attracted a lot of attention from the surrounding cultivators. They saw that the chess piece and Mu Yanli were fighting intensely, but not a single piece of the piece was touched.

Only now did everyone realize that almost all the pawns that were approaching the Sisheng Peak seemed to view Mo Ran as their pawns. They all avoided him, not harming him at all.

Someone shouted in anger, “It is really the work of that traitor, Mo Ran!”

“He’s on the same side as these pieces!”

Flames of fury were twisting and twisting in his face. Whispers and growls were pouring into one ear after another, and pairs of bloodshot eyes were looking over at him.

In such an angry gaze, he was once again a murderous devil. It was as if he had once again become that Emperor who trampled over all immortals to rule the world. He immediately broke a thousand rules! He viewed this world as he had gone mad!

Someone shouted, “Seize him!”

“Watch him! Don’t let him escape!”

“Let’s see how long he can keep up the act!”

His ears buzzed with the exact same anger, the exact same accusations, the exact same crusades.

The two lives were so similar that he could even recall the life-and-death battle between him and Chu Wanning back then.

On that day, just like today, Mo Ran held Zhenlong Chess pieces in his hands and controlled the dead to fly. His army was like a black cloud, while his soldiers were like a sheet of ink that reflected the snow on a mountain.

He sat high up in the air looking down at the world with a disdainful smile. The sky and earth were overturned, and the day had become dim and yellow.

Finally, it was Chu Wanning who stopped him.

It was Chu Wanning. He tried his best to fight against his million pieces. His weapons were exchanged from Tianwen to Jiuge, and from Jiuge to Huaisha.

Huaisha.

He would never forget the sadness and pain in his eyes when he finally summoned it.

“Rumor has it that this is Shizun’s Blade of Killing. I’ve finally seen it today.”

Chu Wanning asked him, “Mo Ran, what do you need to do before you can put it down?”

He only laughed brightly, “I can’t let it go, Shizun. My hands are already covered in blood. I killed my uncle and aunt, my fellow sect disciples… Now, as long as I offer you my head, I will be the unparalleled overlord of this world. No one can stop me.”

Chu Wanning’s expression was full of pain.

He saw it, but he felt very uncomfortable. A wave of revenge surged through his heart. He gritted his teeth and squeezed out every single word.

“Kill you. There is no one else in this world that I cannot kill.”

Ch. 264 [Tianyin Pavilion] Emperor Is Like Him

In the past, the Shizun and the disciple became enemies.

It was a battle at the peak of its power.

In the end, because of his weak core, Chu Wanning was no match for Mo Ran. He was young and fierce.

“Stop struggling to the death.” The more the young demon fought, the more his fighting spirit flourished. He grinned wantonly.

Golden rays of light flashed and dimmed.

As for Chu Wanning, his eyes were filled with fire.

Mo Ran glanced at Chu Wanning’s pale face, then he rolled his eyes. He looked at the gradually dissipating flow of Huaisha, his eyes full of mockery.

“You no longer have any spiritual energy. If you keep fighting with me, your spiritual core will shatter. Shizun, you are so arrogant, and will not be willing to become a mortal even if you die, right?”

Chu Wanning clenched his teeth and did not answer. His lips were bloodless.

Finally, the glow of Huaisha dissipated, and Mo Ran knew that Chu Wanning’s spiritual energy had been depleted. He laughed heartily and his voice sounded like a vulture.

“What else can you use against me? Wanning, Yuheng… My esteemed Shizun?”

Chu Wanning was half-kneeling on the ground, his white robe was stained with blood.

He raised his eyes. At that time, the hatred from Mo Ran was too deep. He could only see the determination in his eyes, but he could not see the sorrow buried deep within.

Many years later, when Taxian-Jun Jun committed suicide by consuming a deadly poison, he couldn't help but recall the first battle in his entire life.

He could not help but think that at that time, Chu Wanning was indeed determined to die to stop him…

Being the leader of all living things was already the end.

He had called him a vile character, and only had a good mouth.

However, Chu Wanning was a man of his word.

"Let's pray for goodness."

His Shizun said.

"Don't be wicked."

A golden light flashed.

Mo Ran only had time to take a good look at the calmness in Chu Wanning's eyes before the light in his palm blazed brightly. This Immortal Elder Beidou, this man who had no friends or relatives in the cultivation world, had sacrificed his spiritual core to summon three godly weapons.

Jiuge and Huaisha.

How much did Chu Wanning get for the arrogance of a son?

The mighty troops made by Mo Ran was finally suppressed by the power of Chu Wanning's Spiritual Core. Under the brilliant light of the Divine Martial Realm, the white of the black stones were crushed into ashes.

Strangely, Mo Ran was standing right in front of Chu Wanning, just a few feet away. He looked at the person who had stubbornly resisted, the person who had poured in so much blood and sweat, and yet he actually did not do anything to stop him.

He was somewhat astonished and curious at the same time.

He wanted to know to what extent this person who had a soft spot could do to help.

He just watched.

He saw Chu Wanning exhaust the last inch of his spiritual energy.

The raging tide had subsided, and the sun-blotting birds had dispersed.

One by one, the living people under his control regained their consciousness, while the people under his closed their eyes and went to sleep forever.

Mo Ran just looked at it.

He saw the destruction of the Beidou Immortal's spiritual core, saw the fall of Chu Xiange, saw his Shizun kneeling in front of him, and finally fall into the dust.

At that time, Mo Ran did not have much of an expression on his face. He turned his face to the side and faintly heard his mother's warning before she died. The kind-hearted woman caressed his cheek and said to him, "Let's repay this debt of gratitude. Do not seek revenge."

After all these years, he had heard the familiar sentence again. Before offering his spirit core, Chu Wanning said to him, "Think about kindness, don't harbor evil."

But he didn't.

His heart seemed to be filled with endless hatred. Only his blood could cause him to gasp for breath…

He had exterminated the Sisheng Peak, massacred the Rufeng sect, killed his aunt and uncle, and killed several Sect Leaders. He had dyed the Heaven Lake red and turned the entire mountain into a pile of bones.

In the end, the rebel army surrounded the mountain, and he went to lay dead at the front of the tower.

He was the one who had personally experienced all of this, the one who had committed all those heinous crimes. In this appalling tragedy, he was the creditor, and if he didn't return, he would be stained with the blood of thousands of people.

It was him.

Mo Ran felt dizzy, and he was unable to catch his breath.

Suddenly, he heard a groan and pulled him out of the mud of his memories. When he regained his senses, he saw that Mu Yanli's shoulder had been stabbed by a chess piece. Hot blood splashed onto his face.

“Pavilion master!”

“Pavilion master, be careful!”

The people from the Tianyin Pavilion immediately flocked over to protect Mu Yanli.

Mu Yanli took a deep breath, then gritted her teeth and said, “No harm done.”

The treasured chess piece in front of her drew a sword flower in her hand. Under everyone’s gaze, that chess piece nimbly knelt down towards Mo Ran. He covered his head with the mask and said with a low voice, “It was not good for this subordinate to protect and save you, causing master to be disturbed. I deserve to die a thousand times for my crimes.”

Everyone was terrified.

“He calls him master!”

Mo Ran said, “No… That’s not it…”

But who would believe him?

Who would believe him!

Mo Ran shook his head in despair and retreated. He looked at the faces that were filled with hatred and doubt.

No.

He went to see Xue Meng, but Xue Meng was too far away to notice anything. Then, he saw Madam Wang and Xue Zhengyong.

When the two of them saw this change, their expressions became extremely ugly.

Mo Ran's lips trembled. He wanted to say something, but he did not know what else to say.

Suddenly, he caught sight of a group of chess pieces pouring out from behind Madam Wang. In a split-second, he shouted, "Auntie! Be careful!"

This shout turned everyone's head. Xue Zhengyong immediately became alert, but because of the pawns on his left and right, it was too late for him to return to the continent.

"Auntie!"

"Mother!"

"Bam!"

A metallic sound rang out. Jiang Xi had rushed out of the crowd. Xuehuang's sword energy had repelled a piece of chess piece that was close to Madam Wang in one move.

Madam Wang said in astonishment, "Junior brother…"

"…" Jiang Xi cast a cold glance back at her, and only said, "Grow eyes."

At this time, Grandmaster Xuanjing suddenly discovered that the horizon was covered by a dense layer of clouds, pressing down on the very Sisheng Peak. He couldn't see it at first, but then he saw it and he couldn't believe it.

It was only when the surrounding people had noticed the rolling black clouds that he finally confirmed it. He blew on his beard and shouted: "How is that possible?! How many pieces are there exactly?!"

The black chess pieces surged forward as far as the eye could see.

Some were dead, some were alive. All of these people had their faces burnt by some kind of spell and were tongue-tied. Even if they recovered their spiritual sense, they still could not speak.

Behind them were even flying beasts and dragons and serpents that were being controlled by Zhenlong's pawns.

"Mo Weiyu!"

"Mo Ran…"

At this moment, when these people turned to glare at him, their fear had already surpassed their hatred. Those who were originally approaching him couldn't help but take a few steps back.

"Madman… Are you crazy…"

"How many chess pieces have you refined?!"

Mo Ran opened his mouth.

He wanted to say, No, not me.

But if it wasn't him, who else could it be?

The the Gate of Life and Death in Time and Space opened once more. Taxian-Jun led a million mighty soldiers to descend upon this world.

What was the difference between him and the emperor Taxian-Jun?

They both had the same memory and the same technique. Mo-zongshi was also adept at the Zhenlong chess game of Taxian-Jun. If the chess piece that Taxian-Jun made was not specifically ordered, it would also recognize Mo-zongshi as its master.

As such, he killed his family in the city and trained in forbidden arts.

An army of thousands of men and horses could be formed by scattering beans.

To subvert the world, all living things.

This was all his doing. No one had wronged him.

More and more chess pieces were pressing down on him, and he couldn't see the end of them. They were like black ink that was quickly spreading on the paper, and it was getting closer and closer.

Someone was already panicking, "What should we do?!"

Mu Yanli shouted angrily, "Mo Ran! What other excuses do you have! You designed all this! I only hate that the Tianyin Pavilion did not interfere in this matter earlier, and did not kill you!"

Dark clouds covered the sky and covered the earth.

The mountains were filled with the wind. These tens of thousands of dead bodies were like giant bells hanging in the sky. They could fall down at any time and shatter the five seas. People were like ants.

Mo Ran's pupils constricted as he looked at the sky.

No one wanted to surrender. whether it was sword kinesis or close quarters combat, they were already engaged in a chaotic battle with those chess pieces. This time, the battle was much more intense than before, with blood and miserable cries everywhere.

The head rolled down.

The intestines flow out.

However, there was still a never-ending black tide rushing in from the horizon. It was so endless that it made one's hair stand on end.

Suddenly, he heard Xue Meng's shout from afar, "Father! Mother!"

When he turned around, he saw that Xue Zhengyong and Jiang Xi were both covered in blood. The blood was so red that it was hard to tell if it was their own wounds or the blood they had shed while killing the enemy.

Xue Meng did his best to squeeze in the direction of his parents. He fought the entire way, but he was outnumbered.

"Xue Meng —!"

Mo Ran wanted to help him, but Xue Meng seemed very conflicted the moment he saw him. Xue Meng was avoiding him.

Suddenly, a death warrior from the Rufeng Sect raised his sword and stabbed Xue Meng's shoulder. Immediately, blood flowed from his wound, and his armor was dyed in blood.

“Xue Meng… Xue Meng!”

Mo Ran pushed his way towards him with a burning heart, but there were so many people fighting in the battle, and they were so far away that he could not get through… He couldn’t make it.

After being injured, more chess pieces rushed towards Xue Meng. The young man’s body was soon swallowed up by a group of Zhenlong chess pieces.

“Meng’er!”

“Meng’er!”

Miserable screams rang out.

It was Madam Wang’s voice and Xue Zhengyong’s voice.

Mo Ran had never heard a scream like this that shattered his bones and shattered his bones.

His scalp was tingling.

Xue Meng…

No.

It shouldn’t be like this.

There had to be a way, there had to be a way!

Since Hua Binan asked him to come here and set up such a situation, it was definitely not to let him see the Sisheng Peak being destroyed. What did Hua Binan want him to do?

What was he supposed to do? What did Hua Binan want him to do? What was the purpose of this ‘surprise’? How to end all this, how to let him go…

Suddenly.

He thought of it, and he understood.

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment, and then his heart began to pound.

He finally understood.

What Hua Binan did was ruthless. Not only did he want Mo Ran to lose his reputation, he also wanted him to have no way back… He understood.

Nangong Si had done this at Mount Jiao.

In his previous life, Chu Wanning had fought in battles before.

He didn’t have any more spiritual energy now… But the core was still there.

He could feel the brilliance flowing through his chest, matching his heartbeat.

In his previous life, the savage and crazed sneer of an Taxian-Jun appeared in front of his eyes once more…

“You no longer have any spiritual energy. If you keep fighting with me, your spiritual core will shatter. Shizun, you are so arrogant, and will not be willing to become a mortal even if you die, right?”

He knew what to do.

His eyes were warm, and the flames of war swirled around him. However, the mind of Mo Ran had suddenly calmed down.

In his previous life, Chu Wanning had sacrificed himself and personally told him that the so-called “all living beings are the leaders and they are the last” was not a lie.

It was as if he could see the pale face of his past life before Chu Wanning overused his spiritual core.

At that time, his Shizun thought that he would definitely die. Before he died, he said to Mo Ran:

“Remembering kindness, don’t do evil.”

The earth rumbled.

“What’s wrong?”

“What’s going on?”

Everyone was stunned. While dodging, they were searching for the source of the disturbance.

Actually, he didn’t need to look for it.

From where Mo Ran stood, a fiery light suddenly exploded — it wasn’t real flames, but the spirit energy flowing through his fire attribute spirit core, enveloping the entire Mo Ran within.

It was drizzling.

In his past life, he had become a Grandmaster.

He… In front of a great disaster, he actually… To think that he was trying to stop it all…

He had broken his own spirit core!

Just like Nangong Si, the destruction of his spirit core allowed him to gain the greatest amount of spirit energy in an instant. His eyes were dyed red by the flames, and there was no pain on his handsome and upright face.

Who was he at this moment?

Could he stop being cursed at by tens of thousands of people as Taxian-Jun?

If possible, he also wanted to be like Chu Wanning.

The spirit core slowly cracked and melted in his chest.

The flames burned brighter and brighter, piercing through the clouds and mist, illuminating the endless sky.

At this moment, he suddenly felt that all those pure and clean dreams from his childhood had returned to the bottom of his heart. He stood in the middle of the flames and saw Duan Yihan and Chu Wanning.

Seeing her touch his cheek in the woodshed, she said — “To repay gratitude, not to bear grudges.”

Seeing the youth outside the Wubei Temple, he held the rice milk and carefully fed it to him to drink.

“Drink slowly, if not enough…”

In his two lifetimes, he had always wanted to be a good person.

He hadn’t been able to do it in his previous life.

In this life, when he thought back to the past and asked himself, he felt sad for nearly ten years.

He did not know how to make it up to them. Even if he had to suffer day and night, he would not be able to get a single result.

If he told others that he also had the dream of protecting all the cold warriors of the world, who would believe him?

There was only ridicule, abuse, and ridicule.

This was because he was Mo Weiyu, the Emperor of the Immortals.

He had missed out on and killed people before, so no matter what he did to make up for it, it was all useless.

It was all wrong.

No one could forgive him.

Perhaps, only when the spirit core was broken and he walked down the road to his former world as a martyr would he be able to obtain some comfort.

Only then could he cautiously say:

“If possible, I also want to be with Chu Wanning.”

Please, hear this wish, don’t laugh at me.

Don’t despise me.

I was stupid, and for a long time no one accompanied me.

I walked two lifetimes like this, twenty years in the wrong direction.

Stupid, I don’t know why I ended up in endless darkness, I don’t know why things ended up like this, looking back, it was all wrong.

I can’t find my mother.

He couldn’t find his Shizun either.

Please, hell is too cold.

Just let me go back, okay…

I want to go home.

Ch. 265 [Tianyin Pavilion] Shi Mei's Ignorance

The wax burned out, leaving only darkness.

The fire went out, only the embers remained.

However, the darkness had also once lit up, and Ashes had also once warmed up. He had also experienced the years of light and heat, and at this moment, not a single person knew about it, so he wouldn't be mentioned again.

Mo Ran had used up the last bit of his spiritual force.

He watched as the birds dispersed, the ghost soldiers sank, the living people were no longer under control, the chess pieces were cracked. He watched as the black tide that was about to engulf the Sisheng Peak retreat in a daze, watching as the calamity of hell finally came to an end.

Everyone said he was wicked beyond redemption, and he himself felt the same way. However, this demon had done exactly the same as the God of Heaven. Chu Wanning was his wax torch, and he followed after the light.

"Brother!"

"Ran'er!"

He heard someone calling to him. Out of the corner of his eye, he saw Xue Meng stagger towards him. He saw Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang break through the encirclement and rush towards him.

He was so relieved at their call that he grinned as if he wanted to laugh, but tears ran down his bloodied face.

He wanted to say, “I’m sorry, I didn’t do it well.”

But in the end he begged, “Don’t hate me.”

I’m really.

I really like you.

He liked his uncles and aunts, liked the Sisheng Peak, liked this period of stolen warmth, stolen family.

Uncle, Aunt, Xue Meng.

Don’t hate me.

The million soldiers retreated, and Mo Ran fell heavily onto the ground, his body covered in dust.

In his previous life, when Chu Wanning was in a coma due to severe injuries, his white robes were stained with blood, but he still looked clean and immaculate. Unlike Mo Ran, Mo Ran was always dirty.

When he lost consciousness, he felt Madam Wang’s arms around him, her soft, warm arms calling out to him in a voice that was not without heartache, “Ran’er.”

He heard Xue Zhengyong and Mu Yanli arguing and shouted angrily, “Sly plan? What other sinister scheme could he have? If it was a pawn that he summoned, how could he have done this for the sake of retreating?!”

He heard Xue Meng yell, “Don’t touch him! Don’t touch him! Don’t take him away!”

Chaos.

Mo Ran wanted to explain more, but he was too tired, too tired.

He closed his eyes.

Mount Jiao.

Inside the Hall of Sages, the lamp glowed faintly. The wax torch made from whale oil was as thick as the mouth of a bowl. The sun, moon, and morning light were nowhere to be seen.

Shi Mei wore a white fox fur robe and sat in a high position. He rested his forehead and closed his eyes.

This seat had originally been occupied by Xu Shuanglin. Back then, he had watched Xu Shuanglin refine and create a series of precious pieces of chess, creating an extremely happy and hellish hell, hoping with all his heart that his Shizun would return to the mortal world.

He felt that this person was very interesting, but unfortunately, he couldn't stay.

In front of him was a piece of cloth covered with illusions. Dragons, snakes, and other small dots of different colors were flying on the cloth.

The black dot was a black Zhenlong chess piece, the silver dot was a white chess piece, the red dot represents those who died in action, and the small square on the silk cloth represented the hostile forces — as long as he had this sand table, he could clearly see the battle even from a thousand miles away.

Shi Mei spread out the silk cloth before him, but didn't take a good look at it. He was well aware of the choice Mo Ran would make in the end. It was just a piece of cloth, but it was just for fun. Taxian-Jun had countless ways to get out of this predicament, but Mo-zongshi only had one way out, so there was nothing to look forward to.

After an unknown amount of time, the door of the hall suddenly opened. Light footsteps came from within the hall. Shi Mei didn't raise his head and only asked: "You're here?"

On the shiny brick, a man stood still.

The man who walked in wore a snow-white cloak. The brim of his hat was very low, so it was impossible to see his face. He stopped in the middle of the hall, his figure like a lotus.

The man spoke with a clear and elegant voice, but his tone was low: "Just now, there was a commotion coming from outside. Mo Ran destroyed the chess pieces that Taxian-Jun King made."

Shi Mei didn't even bat an eyelash as he indifferently replied, "Yeah, he has no other choice."

The man continued, "… Taxian-Jun's body was no longer in a good condition. Therefore, the chess pieces that he has controlled have already begun to devour you. Now that Mo Ran has released all of them using the power of its spirit core, it can be considered a good thing that you have been released."

Shi Mei laughed: "Oh? Are you concerned about me?"

The man did not answer. After a while, he said, "What are you going to do next?"

"Just follow the old plan." Shi Mei finally moved. He stretched his waist and opened his peach blossom eyes. With a smile, he said, "Didn't I already tell you that?”

“… I know what you think. But you have to think clearly, Mo Ran paid such a heavy price to stop Zhenlong Chess from wreaking havoc. The cultivators of these sects are not idiots, they would not have no doubts about the whole matter.”

Shi Mei smiled, “I know what you mean. In order to protect the cultivation world from a calamity, he did not hesitate to shatter his own spirit core.”

“Do you think the cultivation world will interrogate their hero?”

Shi Mei didn’t answer directly. He was still smiling, his fingers folded under his chin as he gently asked, “Does the Chu Wanning of my past life look alike to the matter I did with Mo Ran?”

The man was silent for a while. Like. “It’s almost a repeat.”

“Alright, let me ask you this again. In my previous life, Chu Wanning was forcefully taken over by Taxian-Jun, so how many people in the cultivation world truly cared about him? Do you remember him?”

“…”

Seeing that he did not answer, the smile on Shi Mei’s face became even more enigmatic: “Almost none, right? I told you. In those years, Xue Meng ran all over the place. At the beginning, there were even some people who shed two drops of tears of sympathy, promising that he would lend a helping hand and go to the Sisheng Peak to save others. But then what? Under the pressure of the emperor Taxian-Jun, those promises were only on his lips. Furthermore, as time passed, the initial feeling of being moved dissipated, people began to feel more and more annoyed with Xue Meng.

When he went to ask for help, everyone told him that Chu Wanning had been in the palace for a long time. Perhaps he was already dead. How can you lose your life for someone whose life is unknown?"

The mysterious man shook his head, "Chu Wanning was really missing at that time, and now Mo Ran is still well and sound beside them. No matter how ruthless they are, they probably won't hurt a person who has just shed blood for the cultivation world."

Hearing his rebuttal, Shi Mei could not help but sigh, "You, compared to me, are only lacking a few years to live, so you're still too naive."

As he spoke, he put away the silk cloth on the table. The pieces on it had all turned red, meaning that they were all useless. He didn't care about it at all and returned the silk to his Qiankun bag.

"When people do not involve their own interests, they can be very noble. But once it hurts, it will gradually reveal its animal nature."

His slender fingers made a knot on the Heaven and Earth Pouch, and Shi Mei raised his head: "In their eyes, half of Mo Ran could be a good person who has been wronged, and half of him could be a cunning and evil person. It is a pity to mistakenly injure a good person, but to wrongly release an evil person could lead to a bloody storm in the cultivation world."

"…"

Seeing that the other party was listening silently, Shi Mei continued, "So, even though he shattered his spirit core to help protect the cultivation world from a disaster. However, there were too many suspicious points on his body. If his human nature was suspicious and something harmed them, they would choose to get rid of it. This small variable will not change the end result."

The mysterious man asked, "So, do you think the Tianyin Pavilion can successfully capture Mo Ran?"

Shi Mei laughed, "The Tianyin Pavilion is on our side. Everything is planned. That is inevitable. Next, as long as I can find a way to obtain the spirit core shards from Mo Ran, I'll be able to make Taxian-Jun submit to me once more. With his power, what else can't be done?"

The man didn't answer immediately. After a while, he said, "But in another world, you have controlled him for nearly ten years. What have you accomplished?"

Shi Mei was startled. He seemed to be stung by the man's questioning. His face slowly darkened. After a while, he narrowed his eyes and asked: "What do you mean? Are you questioning me?"

"… No, I didn't question you." The man sighed, "You and I had the same intention. I'm afraid no one in this world understands you better than me."

Shi Mei's cold expression calmed down a little, but his beautiful eyes were still staring at the man's face. He seemed to be examining the man's words to see if they were true or not. He pursed his lips and said: "It's good that you understand. Every step I take is to get back what we deserve, so some sacrifices are inevitable."

"Yes."

"You're very right, the person who understands me the most is none other than you." Shi Mei said softly, "Between these two lifetimes, I have lived in constant fear and fear. I have almost no one to trust but you."

"…"

"Don't let me down."

As soon as Shi Mei finished his sentence, the mysterious man spoke up after a period of complicated silence, "I've been wanting to ask you a question for a while now."

"What?"

Outside of Mount Jiao, dark clouds densely covered the sky. The wind had picked up, and the vegetation was bleak as it swayed back and forth. It was as if countless people had been displaced and were wailing in grief — the whistling of the wind.

The man said, "I really want to know, in my previous life, just how big of a sacrifice we made for our sake. Tell me the truth."

He didn't expect him to suddenly ask this question. Shi Mei frowned, and his eyes lit up: "Didn't I already tell you? It's normal for some innocent people to die, and if you think about the trampling we've had before, you'll __"

"What are some?"

The man's gentle but firm voice interrupted Shi Mei, who looked like a mute.

His face began to darken visibly. This was very unusual, because Shi Mei was a person who never spoke lightly about his emotions. However, in front of this mysterious man, he didn't seem to care about his teeth or claws, as if he couldn't even see the killing intent on his face.

"Some are just some. Do I really have to register innocent people who have died in harm's way and show them to you?"

The man smiled faintly and said softly, "Alright, you know it as well. I won't be able to see it anymore."

"…"

"I've always been cooperating with you. Ever since you came to find me and told me the truth about my past life, I've been helping you for so many years. While you were lying in ambush for Guyue'ye, I was doing everything you told me to do on the Sisheng Peak. Despite the occasional confusion, your thought is my thought and your quest is mine — I have long ago put death at the back of my mind for what we have in common, and I have always thought you would be the same, so I don't mind sacrificing myself, as long as we succeed."

Shi Mei suddenly stood up and started pacing back and forth.

"What do you mean? Do you mean to say that as you have put your life and death on the line you don't want live anymore?"

He flicked his sleeves as he turned around and stared at the white-robed man with a cold expression.

"If you knew what sort of person I am, you shouldn't have said those words."

"I know." The mysterious man said, "But I was thinking, in your previous life after you faked your death, using Hua Binan's identity to hide behind the scenes and control the Soul Devouring Insect in his heart… for ten years."

"Eight years." Shi Mei interrupted, "Later on, Chu Wanning split his earth soul into two and injected it into his body, more or less bringing back some of his personality. He committed suicide in eight years, not ten years."

"Alright, eight years. These eight years, you've expanded the hatred in his heart, made him commit such heinous crimes, but now you're moving further and further away from our original purpose. If you see him like this, why didn't you stop him in time?"

Shi Mei laughed out of extreme anger: "Do you know how hard it is to refine a single flower?"

"… I know."

"Do you know that for those who were afflicted with the Flower curse, once it is removed, it will no longer be effective for a second time?"

"I know."

Shi Mei no longer smiled. His eyes flashed with anger, "Then what else do you want to ask? If it were you, what would you do?"

The man was silent. After a long time, he sighed, "Didn't you already make the choice for me?"

Shi Mei was suddenly at a loss for words.

The man said, "I have never personally done this before. Even if I knew that I would have made the same decision if I had encountered the same situation, I…"

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes. Step by step, he walked down the stairs and stopped in front of the man: “But you?”

“… But I still have a guilty conscience.”

Dead silence.

Suddenly, Shi Mei grabbed onto the man’s robe. Such a beautiful hand, wearing a snake-print ring, such an elegant hand, clutching the person in front of him tightly, the meridians on the back of his hand protruded.

He gritted his teeth and said, “What a guilty conscience, what’s the difference between you and me? Past events came one after another. Which one of them wasn’t planned by the two of us? Didn’t you understand it well, didn’t you? Aren’t you vicious and merciless? Are you ashamed now? — Why?”

“…”

“Because you feel that Xu Shuanglin views you as a friend, but you’ve always deceived him, told him about the fake method of rebirth, and asked him to open the Gate of Life and Death for us. Are you ashamed?”

The man said softly, “He didn’t betray me to death.”

Shi Mei was stunned, his eyes flashing with despair and grief: “Fine, fine - I was wondering why you were so unwilling - what else? You saw thousands of pieces, and you feel heartache for those people, and you blame yourself?”

However, the man was very calm. “Don’t you feel the slightest bit of remorse?”

“You…” He stared at the person in front of him for a long time, as if he was looking at a huge joke, or as if he was looking at a traitor who had made his teeth go cold.

Suddenly, he seemed to have thought of an extremely vicious phrase. He sneered, exposed his poisonous pincers, and fiercely stabbed into that man’s blood.

“Good, very good. You have said so many beautiful words. Self-reproach, shame. But in the end, you’re still lamenting, right?”

Seeing the blank look on his opponent’s face, the light in Shi Mei’s eyes became even brighter. He was like a vulture pouncing on food, circling around and waiting for the moment his prey died.

“You’ve suddenly come to me to denounce me. You probably think you’re regretting it because you saw a million dollars worth of chess. It was most likely because he had seen Xu Shuanglin’s death that he had been moved. But I know you. I know what you are — self-reproach and shame don’t exist for you, you’re as cold-blooded and untrustworthy as I am.”

The vulture’s wings cast the shadow of death, descending lower and lower, colder and colder.

“You are not confessing at all. Don’t lie to yourself.”

He smiled proudly and decently.

Shi Mingjing, who always kept people at a distance, was always graceful and calm.

He paused.

“In my opinion, you’re just praising your eyes.”

As soon as he finished speaking, he took out the dagger at his waist and slowly used the handle of the dagger to pry open the man’s white cape. Then, bit by bit, he suddenly ripped it off.

As the cloak fell, a devastatingly beautiful face was revealed behind the white velvet hood.

He had a peerless appearance and an elegant appearance.

The two of them actually had the same face!

The only difference was that this cloaked Shi Mei had his eyes closed and was covered by a snow-white bandage. A few strands of his hair fell in front of his silk belt.

Shi Mei looked at the man whose cloak had been lifted and sneered: “Shi Mingjing, look at yourself. All you lament is that you have sacrificed more than I have. That day, the situation on Mount Jiao became extremely dire. In order to disturb Chu Wanning’s mood, we had to make the final move that we had discussed before. With so many people around us watching, we naturally could not act out the show. So in the end, you lost your eyes, but I’m still okay, you’re jealous.”

“… If I had been jealous, I would not have agreed to your plan from the very beginning. As far as I was concerned, it was fine for either of us to live long enough to finish the unfinished business. Why would I…”

Before he could finish, he was interrupted.

“Who?!”

The dagger was thrown out, accurately hitting the pillar.

Shi Mei looked back and coldly said: “Come out.”

Huang Xiaoyue, with his disheveled hair and dirty face, came out from behind the stone pillar in an extremely weak manner.

That day, he had betrayed the crowd and searched for the treasure of Mount Jiao. However, because of the triggering mechanism, he was trapped in a secret room and was unable to escape. In the secret chamber of the Rufeng Sect, gold and silver treasures, secret manuals and swordplay manuals, there was nothing missing except for the lack of food.

The group of people from the Jiangdong Hall were trapped in there. Their hands and feet were maimed, and they bullied the weak. People ate people, and in the end, only Huang Xiaoyue remained.

He finished the last disciple and struggled his way out of the secret room. However, he didn’t expect to run into such a bizarre situation.

— What did he see? Two Shi Meis?

Huang Xiaoyue couldn’t figure it out.

With his brain, he could at most guess that they were twin brothers. He would never have thought that they were two Shi Meis who had appeared in the same world under the influence of the Life and Death art.

However, the more he heard, the weirder the conversation became. Huang Xiaoyue was a cunning old fox, and he vaguely felt that something was wrong. He wanted to leave first, but who knew that Shi Mei’s eyes and ears were sharp?

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes, “I was wondering who it was. So it was an old Shuo.”

His gaze shifted down and landed on Huang Xiaoyue’s robe. “Blood? There are no animals on Mount Jiao.”

He was silent for a moment, as if he had understood something.

His lips and teeth parted, showing his disdain.

“Human blood?”

Huang Xiaoyue felt the killing intent, and ran away.

“Where can you escape to?”

His body was as light as a kite, and he stood firmly in front of Huang Xiaoyue, raising a pair of misty eyes.

Unfortunately, his gaze was too cold. The rain in his eyes had turned to ice.

“Old man. I’m afraid you don’t know that the most disgusting thing in my life was eating people.”

— This was the last sentence Huang Xiaoyue heard.

The hall was filled with the thick smell of blood. Seeing Huang Xiaoyue on the ground, blood flowed out from the hole in his chest, and Shi Mei frowned in disgust.

As he wiped the blood off his hands, he said, “Disgusting.”

He turned around and stared at the other him for a moment.

Then he slowed down.

“It’s been two lifetimes, and there are many beasts like Huang Xiaoyue in the world. Did you see that? Therefore, the cards in the cultivation world should have been reshuffled a long time ago. Besides, don’t think too much about it. I told you, I won’t let your sacrifice be for nothing. When this is over, I will think of a way to heal your eyes.”

Seeing that the white-cloaked mage still did not make a sound, he rolled his eyes, and said indifferently: “Stop being stubborn…… Forget it, I promise you that unless it’s absolutely necessary, I won’t drag in any more innocent people. You can finally relax now, right? Are you satisfied?”

His lips moved, as if he wanted to say something to the other person. However, after this incident, the Shi Mei from his previous life became extremely unhappy, and did not intend to listen to him anymore. He had already strode out of the main hall of the Pantheon Monastery.

Ch. 266 [Tianyin Pavilion] Warm for You

At the foot of the mountain, there was a hidden path that was covered by layers upon layers of vines. From this path, one could see the clear pool palace used for resting during the Nangong family's ancestral worship. The palace is not big, but as you turn a corner the scenery changes.

There's a garden in which a type of Dragon Blood Flower grows that emits fluorescence in the night. At this moment, the blooming season was over, and only a few clumps of it were still open. From afar, it looked like stars were falling and adorning the night sky.

Shi Mei walked into the depths of the flower bush where there was a hot spring. He took off his clothes and stepped on the shore with his jade-white toes, then looked down at himself in the pool.

The hot spring water was very hot, but his eyes were very cold.

He stretched out his hand and slowly touched his heart.

The area had been festering from the backlash of the forbidden technique, but now he didn't need to worry. Everything was going according to plan. Everything would be fine.

He stepped into the spring. The hot spring at Mount Jiao was mixed with the aura of the demonic dragon. It was extremely comfortable to soak in. Shi Mei leaned against the edge of the pool and closed his eyes.

Suddenly, there was a rustling sound not too far away. Shi Mei didn't open his eyes. He only asked: "Who is it?"

Nangong Liu came out from the bushes. There was a Dragon Blood Flower in his hair.

When he saw Shi Mei, he smiled happily: “My dear friend, brother, is taking a bath? Is there anything I can do to help?”

Shi Mei replied: “No.”

Nangong Liu scratched his head, “Then, then I won’t be standing here. I’ll be leaving first. Otherwise, if you were naked and I wore clothes, you would be in trouble.”

In the mist, Shi Mei smiled. His face became more and more transparent as it was moistened by the spring water. It was like the thin ice in the early winter in Jiangnan, sparkling and easy to break, yet cold to the bone.

He opened his peach blossom eyes and looked at Nangong Liu with a smile that was not a smile. “What do you mean?”

Nangong Liu was very honest, “Because you look good.”

“Oh… You’re just a little kid, do you know what’s beautiful and what’s ugly?”

Nangong Liu said with some anger, “I’m already five years old, I’m not a child.”

Shi Mei seemed to be interested and his smile deepened: “Okay, then it’s big brother’s fault. Come, my brother asks you. Taxian-Jun and I, which do you prefer?”

“Of course it’s my good friend brother.” Nangong Liu said without any hesitation, “Who is Taxian-Jun? I don’t know him.”

“Then let’s put it another way. Mo Ran and I… You remember? He said hello to you.”

Nangong Liu held his finger and seriously thought for a moment before nodding his head.

“Who do you like more between him and me? Don’t choose because you’re familiar with me, I just want to ask about the beauty in your eyes.”

This time, Nangong Liu did not immediately reply. He tilted his head and thought for a while before saying, “I still prefer my close friend brother.”

Shi Mei seemed to be pleased: “Oh? Tell me, what’s wrong with him?”

“… I can’t say.”

“Then why do you like me more?”

Nangong Liu seemed to be wronged, “I don’t know either…If you think that it’s beautiful, it’s beautiful.”

Shi Mei pondered for a while, then suddenly walked out from the depths of the hot spring to a shallow part of the water mist. He crossed his hands and laid on the side of the pool, revealing a gentle and beautiful back as he smiled and said, “Come here.” As he spoke, he beckoned to Nangong Liu with his wet hands. When Nangong Liu came closer, Shi Mei stood up straight from the depths of the hot spring.

“Aiyaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaah!”

Shi Mei laughed: “What’s with you? We are both male, what’s there to be shy about?”

Nangong Liu used his hand to wipe his eyes as he muttered, “I’m not shy at all. You brought water into my eyes.”

However, Shi Mei didn’t care about whether he had water in his eyes or not. He pulled on Nangong Liu’s wrist and forced him to look at him. Thus, the ferocious scar on his chest completely appeared before Nangong Liu’s eyes.

“Look here. Are you afraid?”

The wound was festering badly and was still leaking pus. Nangong Liu only took a glance before turning his head away in disgust. After all, he was a childish person who spoke without restraint. He said, “Disgusting.”

Shi Mei’s smile did not change, but his eyes turned cold: “Do you still think I’m good-looking?”

“…” Nangong Liu tried his best to struggle free from his grasp, but Shi Mei’s strength was too great. No matter how much he tried, he was unable to do anything. In the end, his eyes became watery. “I don’t like it.”

“I don’t want — Ouch!”

Due to the excessive force, Shi Mei managed to squeeze Nangong Liu’s hand until it was dislocated. His eyes flashed with an unspeakable anger or unwillingness, almost paranoid: “Didn’t you say I was good-looking just now? What, with just a small wound on me, I turned from beautiful to ugly?”

“That’s not it…”

“Do you think that if a beauty has even the slightest flaw, he will be detested by others?” Shi Mei approached him, “Old lingering feelings will become disgust when reexposed. Old desires will become a fishbone stuck in one’s throat.”

Nangong Liu finally could not hold it in and cried loudly, “I don’t understand, I don’t understand! Let me go, I don’t want to stay here.”

His racket caused the originally anxious mood of Shi Mei to darken even further. A dark cloud seemed to be churning in his eyes. He suddenly raised his hand and slapped Nangong Liu’s face.

In the end, he released Nangong Liu and coldly said, “Trash, scram.”

After Nangong Liu left, Shi Mei once again returned to the depths of the hot spring. The scenery around him was still pleasing to the eyes. Dragon Blood Flower’s brilliance was revealed and the air was filled with a faint fragrance. However, his initial happiness had completely vanished. There was only anger in his heart.

He suddenly hammered the surface of the water, causing water to splash everywhere as he regained his calm.

The ripples dispersed, once again reflecting the image of his still gentle, but festering chest.

Shi Mei’s anger gave birth to a wave of helplessness and weakness. He leaned back against the edge of the pool, lifted the curtain of eyelashes, and gazed at the sky.

“People change.” he murmured.

Just like how a seed would germinate, a tender bud would turn dark green, a flower would bloom in the green leaves, a flower would wilt or fall, and a falling flower would shatter into the mud.

Time could not be seen or touched, but everyone was being quietly worn away by it. Some people had been sharpened by claws and teeth, while others had been sharpened by edges.

“It’s all going to change…”

He cupped his hands wearily and wiped his face.

Comparing it with his previous life and this life, he would know. However, from which step did he start to go astray and never return?

After taking a bath and changing clothes, Shi Mei loosened up the black hair bun and returned to the secret chamber in Mount Jiao from the fragrant path. He stood in the doorway for a moment, then reached out and pushed the door open.

At this time, it was already deep into the night. Almost all the candles in the room had been extinguished, leaving only a single flame burning behind the curtains of the room.

Without making any sound, Shi Mei quietly entered the room, bringing in the unique scent of soap after taking a bath. However, it was this fragrance that alarmed the man deep within the bed curtain.

Taxian-Jun slowly and hoarsely asked, “Who is it?”

Shi Mei said gloomily: “… Me.”

There was a momentary silence in the pavilion, followed by the sound of rustling. Taxian-Jun's voice sneered through the curtains: "… Master is truly elegant. In the middle of the night, you come to my room and eavesdrop from the corner. Aren't you ashamed?"

Shi Mei's expression became even colder: "You should stop there. If we kill him, we won't be able to play with anyone."

Taxian-Jun's voice was lazy and low, with a hint of laziness in it, "Master, please be at ease. This Venerable One doesn't have any perverted hobbies while in bed. Always love to be practical, pointless blather, stinging people with snakes, playing guessing games with blindfolded eyes, none of that interest me. Rest assured nobody is getting killed."

"…"

Pointless blather, stinging people with snakes, and playing guessing games with blindfolded eyes — no matter how big one's heart was, they will know who he was talking about.

Anger boiled in Shi Mei's heart as he stepped forward and parted the curtains. It was as if swords and blades clashed, and sparks were flying everywhere as Shi Mei's gentle face faced Taxian-Jun's handsome face.

"You-!" Before he could finish, he suddenly stopped.

He had thought that after Taxian-Jun reunited with Chu Wanning again after a long time, he would be as starved, eager and impatient, having sex in every way.

But behind the drawn curtain, the scene in front of him was truly surprising.

He saw that Chu Wanning was sleeping soundly, his cheeks were slightly red from the heat, and he was having a fever. As for Taxian-Jun, his clothes were slightly open, revealing his smooth and well-proportioned chest. He held him in his arms with a dark expression, while stroking the hair of the person in his arms with his large hands. He looked like he despised him but would never let him go.

Shi Mei: "… What are you doing?"

"What do you think I am capable of doing?"

"…"

Well, why bother with a dead man.

He closed his eyes and suppressed his anger, but the small flame in his chest continued to burn and he was unable to extinguish it. In the end, he could not help but retort coldly, "Who would have thought that at your age, you would need Shizun to accompany you in your sleep. I think if it's not because you're afraid of the dark, then it's because you want to be coy with Shizun."

It had to be said that Shi Mei's words were very effective. Taxian-Jun immediately narrowed his eyes. He subconsciously wanted to push the unconscious Chu Wanning away or kick him under the bed. This way, he would look very imposing.

However, the last thing he did was to hug the man in his embrace even tighter as he watched Shi Mei approach. He waved his wide sleeves, covering Chu Wanning's face.

After doing all of this, Taxian-Jun raised his eyes gloomily, “What does my matter have to do with you?”

Shi Mei gritted his teeth: “You should know how to talk back. Why don’t you think about who created you?”

“The Cold Scaled Sacred Hand only has one sentence to threaten me.” Taxian-Jun said coldly, “He really does have a great future ahead of him.”

“You-!”

Even though he had been rebutting Shi Mei, he still found it hard to endure. He raised his hand and poked Taxian-Jun in the forehead, transferring some of his spiritual energy over.

“Soul Gathering.”

He chanted the incantation from his full lips, but Taxian-Jun’s eyes persisted on for a long time, long enough to make Shi Mei’s heart tremble. He even felt that this man was about to break away from him.

Sweat trickled down his forehead as he stuck himself to Taxian-Jun. In the end, he used up almost all of his spiritual power and shouted, “Soul Gathering!”

This time, Taxian-Jun’s body trembled, and then his gaze finally disappeared.

Shi Mei withdrew his spirit energy and took a deep breath. He held his chest in pain and felt dizzy.

Because of his physique, his spiritual core and spiritual energy were of low quality. No matter how hard he trained, he couldn’t compare to others.

Normally, drugs were naturally powerful, but once it involved someone who needed spiritual energy, his body wouldn't be able to withstand it.

He closed his eyes and rested for a moment. Then, he looked at Taxian-Jun again, "Let me ask you again, what were you doing just now?"

Since he was already out of control, Taxian-Jun said without emotion, "He has a fever and is afraid of catching a cold."

"… So?"

This zombie, who was only left with a sliver of his soul from his previous life, lightly said, "With me holding him, he will be warmer."

"…"

For a long while, Shi Mei stared at Taxian-Jun.

"Warmer?" His pale lips moved, and he suddenly laughed out loud. Although there was no smile in his peach blossom eyes, "Mo Ran, have you gone mad? Feel the temperature of your own body — what are you? Your entire body is as cold as ice. You have already died, and have no heart or lungs, and no body temperature. You are even as cold as a corpse, yet you still want to warm him?"

A hint of pain seemed to flash through Taxian-Jun's black eyes, but that pain only lasted for a moment. In the end, he was still a corpse.

Shi Mei said: "Get up."

The emperor Taxian-Jun didn't immediately get up when he heard the order. His black brows were knitted tightly, as if he was struggling between his will and the control of Shi Mei.

“Get up!”

The order was even stronger, and under such a vicious tone, Taxian-Jun finally obeyed.

He slowly got up from the bed, his robe was still open, and Chu Wanning’s body temperature was still in his chest.

Shi Mei said in a gloomy voice: “Get out.”

Just like that, Taxian-Jun walked a few steps slowly before he suddenly stopped and said in a low voice, “Yes.”

“… “What?”

“Yes, I do.”

Shi Mei didn’t know what to say, so he asked: “What is it?”

Shi Mei felt as if he had been stabbed by a needle. He was furious. Nothing vexed him more than the disobedient puppet in his palm. He shouted in a low voice: “Get the hell out of here.”

Taxian-Jun took two more steps, but this time, it was only two steps before his expression suddenly turned bitter.

“No…” He held his head, the meridians in his palms bulged, his entire body was trembling, and a low gasp came from his throat, “This Venerable one… Unreconciled… How, how could this be… If that’s the case…”

His eyes were closed, his will was strong but weakened, his memory was far and near. He was struggling and struggling. After suffering for so long, he had been tormented for two lifetimes.

"… By you. Impudent…!"

The mutterings stopped as the trembling came to an abrupt halt.

"Hmph!" Shi Mei groaned. He covered his heart — the backlash from Taxian-Jun gave him a powerful burst of energy. He almost staggered back a step. Then, he saw Taxian-Jun's eyes suddenly open wide, and a bloodthirsty and fiendish look appeared in his eyes.

"…"

That pair of hawk-like black eyes no longer contained any traces of confusion. Instead, a clear and cold face was reflected within them.

Shi Mei's face was pale as he slowly said, "You're recovering faster and faster."

Taxian-Jun did not say anything, his eyes flashed with a bright light, he slightly gasped for breath, and raised his hand to summon Bu'gui.

Shi Mei raised his chin and looked at the blade's hilt. His sharp gaze fell on Mo Ran's face: "What, angry? You want to kill me?"

The pitch-black blade was lifted up, and in the blink of an eye, it was already hanging around Shi Mei's snow-white neck.

Shi Mei did not retreat and said with a sneer, "Your Majesty, the reason why you can move now is all because of my spirit energy. If you kill me, you will also die. You can understand that."

“…”

Shi Mei continued, “In terms of strength, I really can’t beat you. But you should think about it clearly. Do you want to die or do you want to continue living in this world.”

Taxian-Jun’s hands were steady and he didn’t shake.

However, after a while, he suddenly retracted his hand and turned his head away.

Seeing him retract his saber, Shi Mei raised his hand and slowly touched the bloody wound on his neck. He then said, “Fortunately, you weren’t too stupid.”

“…”

“From now on, don’t just stand there and scream angrily. Actually, you know very well about our relationship. You are like a rusty knife. I want to restore you to your former state of being useful. Continue to be my blade. As for you, I’m afraid that you plan on completely getting rid of my control and taking my head after you recover.”

Taxian-Jun’s black eyes turned as he turned to face him, staring at him coldly.

“All these years, you have continued to work for me in another world. The crack in the Gate of Life and Death is very narrow and difficult to pass. Usually, I send you a message with a carrier pigeon. But occasionally, we would also use Soul Devouring Insects to communicate with each other and connect our hearts. So of course I know what you think. You don’t have to be surprised.”

Taxian-Jun finally spoke, and said coldly: “You’re not too far away from being blind, which eye of yours saw my surprise?”

“…” Shi Mei pursed his lips, his face turning even darker, “Okay. Since you know the pros and cons of this matter, you should endure it even more. We will work together and see whether you can kill me or whether I will have an invincible weapon when the day comes.”

Taxian-Jun said, “I’ll be waiting to see.”

Just as Shi Mei wanted to say something, Chu Wanning, who was on the bed, let out a soft groan. However, with this light sound, the two men immediately turned their heads.

“Wanning?”

“Shizun!”

“…” The former martial brothers looked at each other, Taxian-Jun was sinister and didn’t say a word. After a while, his eyes shifted from Shi Mei to the unconscious Chu Wanning.

A moment later, he said in a seemingly indifferent tone, “This person has been having fever for many days. No matter what, it’s not good. If this goes on, will he…”

After he finished saying those words, he stopped. His long eyelashes moved and he closed his eyes.

On the other hand, Shi Mei was indifferent: “What do you want to ask? You want to ask if he will die?”

He didn't know if it was an illusion, but the pale face of Taxian-Jun became even paler. He pursed his lips as if he loathed the word "death" and said concisely, "Will he?"

"Of course not. You are underestimating the Beidou Immortal. But you still have the nerve to ask me about this?" Shi Mei raised his eyebrow, "Who's the reason for his fever? Isn't it because you're as fierce as a wolf?"

On the other hand, Taxian-Jun's expression turned even worse. His stench had reached its peak as he gloomily said, "He is not me, then don't confuse me with that trash."

Hearing him say that, Shi Mei looked at him up and down, and finally said: "What a coincidence, I also think he's trash. You also know very well that I have spent a lot of effort to tear open a huge rift in space and time in order to invite you over so that that trash could disappear and allow you to ascend to the top again."

"Your Majesty." He suddenly had a look of playfulness on his face as he addressed Taxian-Jun in this way, "I still have a little more to go before my goal can be achieved. Actually, you also want complete power. You want a surging spiritual core, right?"

"…"

Shi Mei was like a snake hunting for its prey. He had a scarlet tip of his tongue as he seduced and enticed the other party.

He could see the desire in the eyes of Taxian-Jun.

Thus, he smiled, determined to win.

“If you want to recover your full strength, then be obedient.” His white teeth were filled with poison, and his eyes were sparkling. “You better listen to me, then we’ll do things properly.”

Taxian-Jun was silent for a moment, then said, “Don’t talk about this for now.”

Then he pointed at Chu Wanning, “Talk about this.”

“Him, he’s only suffered too much stimulation due to his soul merging.” Shi Mei lightly replied, “There’s nothing to talk about. But if you really want to make him more comfortable, you might as well go out first.”

Taxian-Jun’s eyes flashed with vigilance, “What are you trying to do?”

“That won’t do.” Shi Mei said, “When the Cold Scale Sacred Hand uses magic to save someone, it doesn’t allow others to see it.”

“…”

Seeing that Taxian-Jun had no intention of leaving, Shi Mei said: “It’s fine if you don’t want to leave. Then I’ll go out and you stay. Anyways, Emperor, since you have the ability to transcend the heavens, you will definitely be able to take good care of him.”

When he heard Shi Mei’s words, Taxian-Jun’s expression became even uglier.

His spirit energy was tyrannical and ferocious, the most unsuitable thing for him to learn was healing techniques. In his previous life, there were many people in the palace, and there was no lack of doctors, so he had never studied it in detail.

Shi Mei regained his composure and looked at him with a smile.

Taxian-Jun was obviously disgusted by his smile. He suddenly turned his head and gritted his teeth, unwilling to look at Shi Mei again.

After a long while, he said, "… All right. This Venerable One will go out and you can treat his injuries." Pausing, he continued fiercely, "But I will be at the door, if you dare…"

Before he could finish his words, the coldness on his face was almost enough to force someone to death.

"If you dare to do anything to him, I will immediately take your life."

This kind of threat didn't have much of an effect on Shi Mei. He smiled again and gestured Taxian-Jun to leave.

Taxian-Jun left. Before leaving, he remained at the entrance with a dark face for a long time. Shi Mei stood in the quiet chamber, looking at the stone door that had finally closed. After a while, he turned around and walked to the man in white on the bed.

"…" The mocking smile on Shi Mei's face disappeared, replaced with an extremely peaceful and crazed expression. "Shizun."

He walked over step by step.

Now that Chu Wanning was in his grasp, what did it matter if Taxian-Jun was standing outside? He had ways to prevent Chu Wanning from making a sound.

When the emperor of the Mortal Realm entered, no matter how fierce and furious he was, he would be powerless. He could only blame himself for being too naive and useless. He had no choice but to leave his lover in the snake den with him.

His slender white fingers lifted the curtain, and he stared at the burning man on the bed with almost gentleness and greed: “This time, no one will bother us again.”

He slowly sat down and placed his hand on Chu Wanning’s face.

“… Come, consort Chu, let me teach you in a place that is just a wall away from your husband. “Hmm?”

Ch. 267 [Tianyin Pavilion] Golden Dragon Coiled Pillar

First, Shi Mei fed Chu Wanning a healing medicine. Then, he bent over and used his soft and thin fingers to hide between his hair like ten bewitching white snakes. He held the back of Chu Wanning's head up against his own forehead.

"Zhuang Zhoumeng, butterfly incarnation, always with you…"

He chanted the incantation softly, but as he continued to chant, he suddenly stopped mumbling.

He initially wanted to cast a spell to remove some of Chu Wanning's memories. This was one of his best spells, and he had used it on Mo Ran before.

However, because Chu Wanning's soul was in a mess and his memory was still in the process of recovery, he found that this trick did not work on Chu Wanning.

"This is a real nuisance." He closed his eyes, and then opened them —

A bewitching light lingered in his peach blossom eyes. He used his eyes to stare at Chu Wanning, then started to recite, "Zhuang Zhoumeng, the butterfly incarnation, you will always be together with me. Yesterday, you were like flowing water, intoxicated in this mountain…"

There was some effect this time, but it was not perfect.

His incantation was like a huge rock thrown into a pond. Although it had caused tens of thousands of ripples, it would soon return to its original state.

But it doesn't matter. It's good to forget it for a while.

He did not want to leave for the sea of desires with Chu Wanning, as his mind was still full of killing intent.

That would be too unappetizing.

"Shizun, you've slept for such a long time. It should be time for you to wake up."

This soft call was like a curse. After a while, Chu Wanning's eyelashes moved slightly and his eyes opened up.

Because of the Incantation of Conviction, his consciousness temporarily became blurry. It stopped after his previous life and his death.

In the past, Chu Wanning had been hurt so deeply by Mo Ran, his beloved. Subconsciously, he had always thought that it would be great if it could be changed. Thus, his divine sense was able to trace back to those years.

However, a human's three souls and six souls were already exquisite. Chu Wanning had two lifetimes' worth of souls in his body, so even if he was cursed by Shi Mei, his mind was still in chaos. He looked like he was in a dream.

He had lost some of his memory and was still dreaming.

"… Shi Mingjing?"

"Yes." Shi Mei's voice was very gentle, suppressing a kind of twisted tenderness, "It's me."

Chu Wanning seemed to be very tired, the high fever made him feel very uncomfortable. He only replied faintly before closing his eyes again.

Shi Mei knew that he was just getting used to it, so he didn't rush him and waited patiently by the side.

After a while, he heard Chu Wanning sigh with his eyes closed, "I'm afraid I'm dreaming. It's good that you're still alive."

He knew that his memories had stopped after the Heavenly Rift from his previous life, but he didn't think that he would have such an emotional reaction. Shi Mei was startled, surprised to find that it had been a long time since he had last seen him.

"You can't bear for me to die?"

"… You're so young. So many people like you…" Chu Wanning said softly, "It shouldn't be you. I'm sorry…"

"…"

"If only it were me. At least no one would be too sad."

The bitterness in his heart grew more distinct, pulsing in his dead heart. This feeling existed the first time Chu Wanning and him went home together under the same umbrella. After conspiring for so many years, the people around him, they either died or scattered.

He lied waiting in the dark, thinking of himself as a heartless rock.

Then he really thought he was a rock, and it was only today that he truly felt the existence of his heart.

They were both sour, sweet, bitter and itchy.

He clearly knew that he shouldn't be in this mood. The sour rain would corrode the boulders, and the soft moss would cause him to fall apart.

However, he couldn't help but hold onto Chu Wanning's hand, his heart thumping wildly.

He opened his mouth, but his throat was dry. He swallowed a mouthful of saliva and then asked again, "What about you? Are you sad that I died?"

"…"

"Have you ever been sad?"

Chu Wanning's phoenix-like eyes were half open. Under his long and thick eyelashes was a pair of eyes that carried too much of his worries. Shi Mei tried his best to look inside, trying to find a trace of an edge to his emotions.

But no.

Just like how water alone is water, or wheat grain alone is wheat grain, a kind of feeling that is simply placed there can only always be that kind of feeling.

Unfortunately, people's emotions could never be singled out. The death of Shi Mei had caused him to be sad, to suffer, to blame himself, and then to regret. So many emotions mixed together, just like the wheat grains mixed with water to store, fermented and changed, no longer the same as before.

"Shizun, if I were to give you another chance, would you sacrifice your life to save me as if you were willing to?"

Chu Wanning's eyes were blurry.

"Would you?"

"Shi Mingjing…" He only had time to say these three words before his lips were roughly stuffed shut.

After waiting so long for an answer, it was really about to be revealed, but he didn't dare to listen. He didn't want to hear it.

Shi Mei thought that he probably knew the answer.

The resentment in his chest was rampaging. He was kissing the man on the bed in retaliation, greedily sucking on him. At first, Chu Wanning did not react at all. It was only when Shi Mei's tongue was trying to pry open his teeth and get in that he suddenly opened his eyes wide as if he had just awoken from a dream.

"Urghhh!"

"Shh, don't make a sound." Shi Mei took a deep breath and pointed at Chu Wanning's throat. He then said, "This incantation was taught to us by you. You said it could keep us from making a sound in dangerous situations. Did you ever think that one day, I would be able to use it?"

As he spoke, he ignored the confusion and hatred in Chu Wanning's eyes. His jealousy and thirst made him lose his composure, "Shizun, do you know? Two lifetimes. I have worked hard and hard, and I have not lived a single day in peace."

He tied Chu Wanning's hands and feet, tied them to the headboard, and did all this while gritting his teeth, "I am not a normal person, and I am not allowed to do what I want to do, but so what? For a puppet like Emperor Taxian-Jun to be able to do as he pleases, why should I care about everything?”

As Shi Mei said this, he saw Chu Wanning struggling furiously under his feet.

He felt both pain and pleasure.

“Now I understand. Whether one was proud or not, one had to be happy… Shizun.” He straightened his body and began to remove Chu Wanning’s clothes in a hurry, “it was so hard to reach this step, you should let me have a taste of you. Reward to your disciple, huh?”

A seriously ill person didn’t have much strength to resist, so Shi Mei easily took off his robe. The air was slightly cool, and the lights were dim. The muscular man’s body was covered in bruises and purple ink.

Shi Mei’s eyes dimmed as he muttered to himself: “He’s really that fierce.”

With that, he raised his hand and pinched Chu Wanning’s chin, examining his eyes.

At that moment, his eyes looked like they were covered by a layer of fog. Chu Wanning must have been in a dream, and he couldn’t tell the difference between reality and fantasy. He must have felt that everything before his was absurd and unreal.

Adding on the memories of his past and present lives that were in disarray, it was actually not that easy for him to immediately react to it.

“I’m not like him.” Shi Mei stared at Chu Wanning for a while, and his gaze gradually turned gentle again. However, there was still a trace of strangeness in that gentleness, “He doesn’t know how to make you addicted. You will try me and you will know he’s nothing.”

With that, he began to undress himself.

He had just taken a bath and was wearing only a bathrobe. He easily slipped to the ground and revealed his exquisite body that was like the jade of Kunshan.

“Shizun…”

He whispered and pressed forward.

No matter if it was a dream or real, Chu Wanning could not bear it any longer. His whole body was trembling and his face was ashen.

“You’re so hot.”

“…”

He knew that if he let go of the forbidden spell on Chu Wanning, this man would probably curse and threaten him with death. But Shi Mei couldn’t help but caress it as he mumbled: “Is it hotter inside?”

“Shi… Mingjing!”

When Shi Mei heard this, he was shocked.

“… You managed to break away from the Silencing Curse?” He raised his eyes and looked at Chu Wanning’s face, “You, really…”

Chu Wanning’s lips trembled, coughing up blood, he said hoarsely, “You are too presumptuous! Get lost!”

Shi Mei was silent as he lowered his head to look at the man below him.

Is this person too vicious?

Too stubborn?

Or was he too unresigned to accept his fate and refused to admit defeat?

There were too many things he wanted to say, so he didn't know what to say.

In the end, Shi Mei just smiled. Then, when Chu Wanning was about to angrily shout out the next words, he suddenly covered his mouth, quickly took off his hairband and tied it between his lips.

"Since you are able to escape from my spell, I will have to tie you up. Sorry, Shizun."

Shi Mei felt his blood boil as he looked into those confused, angry, and humiliated eyes. He bent down and whispered into Chu Wanning's ear, "No matter how good you feel from me, you have to remember to call me in a low voice. Your Emperor is right outside. If he were to hear that you are also so strong beneath me, do you think he would be happy?"

Shi Mei's finger slowly slid down, lingering on each of the bruised kisses. As he descended further, he felt as if he was being pierced by shame.

His memories were in disarray. But they stopped at his previous life, when he had yet to discover the secret of Mo Ran's curse, so he thought he hated him.

However, he hated his own shamelessness even more.

Even though he was humiliated, hated, and disappointed in Mo Weiyu. But when he was carried by Mo Ran, when he heard Mo Ran catch his breath, when that person's sweat gathered on his body and dripped onto his abdomen, he would involuntarily feel excitement and pleasure.

In fact, during the most frenzied of lovemaking, he could even feel himself secretly yearning for Mo Ran not to stop, tearing himself apart just like that and penetrating his spirit soul.

The storm-like entanglement gave him an illusion of tranquility.

Lying in Mo Ran's arms, he would occasionally feel like nothing had happened. This person who kept pestering him might also love him.

But Shi Mei was different.

Although he did not know why he would fall into such a bizarre nightmare, when Shi Mei touched him, all he felt was anger and bitterness. He simply could not stand this kind of relationship…

He didn't like it at all.

Shi Mei's body was different from what he remembered. It was very tall, but it was still smooth and fair. The lines were soft and elegant, as if they were made from goat fat. The scent of his body was fresh and fragrant.

It was not the hard power that he was used to.

He was only used to Mo Ran. Although the man's skin was pale, the blood that flowed beneath his skin was like that of a ferocious beast, wild and untamed. The purest smell of a man burned his heart like a scorching sun.

Even though there were times when the smell of blood and iron still lingered in the air.

Hard, cold.

However, his sturdy chest was extremely hot.

Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes. His bound hands were struggling, and there were traces of blood on his wrists. Two lines of red appeared on the tail of his eyes due to humiliation.

However, his struggles were ineffective. The bed was covered with a thick layer of animal skin, and so there were no loud sounds.

Shi Mei looked at him with interest, and laughed in the end, “Shizun, why waste your efforts? Do you not believe that I will make you feel good?”

As he spoke, he lifted up Chu Wanning’s slender and firm legs. His waist was wedged in, and his eyes were gloomy. He was about to enter as he had imagined countless times before.

Chu Wanning suddenly closed his eyes. He had bit his lips, and his nails had sunk into his palms — the muscles throughout his body had tensed up, not because of the fear of the pain that would come later.

It was because of shame.

It was too humiliating, whether it was true or not.

If it was a fake, then he would be ashamed of himself for dreaming about such things. If it was true, then he would be ashamed of himself for being so foolish as to accept two disciples.

He had always been a person who was used to reflecting on himself first.

Mo Ran’s lust for him, if anything, could be said to be just Mo Ran’s problem. But what about Shi Mei and Mo Ran together?

He couldn’t help but wonder if there was something he had done wrong, something he wasn't doing right, not acting like a teacher, so this disciples one by one succumbed to this kind of wolfish ambitions in bed.

What was wrong with him that caused him to suffer like this?

“…”

They were in a deadlock, tense.

After a long while, nothing happened.

Chu Wanning slowly opened his eyes. His dark brown eyes rolled around, only to see that for some reason, Shi Mei had frozen in place. The spring color on his face had completely vanished, and was instead as black as the bottom of a pot.

He still didn’t fully understand why Shi Mei would have such an expression. He looked down a few inches and saw something that left him speechless.

……

What… Things…

The heavy atmosphere from before was swept away, and Chu Wanning felt as if he had been struck by lightning.

Cough cough cough, the thing under Shi Mei’s feet was actually gold?

This situation was really too absurd. Chu Wanning stiffly turned his head away, not wanting to hurt his eyes.

But after a while, he felt that something was wrong — which normal person would have something of this color?

He turned his face around again and glanced at it again.

This time, he clearly saw that it wasn't Shi Mei who was golden, but rather a small golden demonic dragon that had appeared out of nowhere and occupied the same spot as Shi Mei. The dragon held its head high and glared angrily at Shi Mingjing. It seemed as if it would ruthlessly crush the thing that was wrapped around it into dust if it dared to act recklessly.

Chu Wanning: "…"

Shi Mei: "…"

The little devil dragon bared his teeth and roared at the unlucky guy he had trapped: "Wa, Baa —!"

If it wasn't for the fact that his hands were tied, Chu Wanning would have raised them to support his forehead at this moment. He really didn't see it.

"…" Shi Mei was silent for a while, before gritting his teeth, "What's going on?!"

As soon as he finished speaking, he heard the rumbling sound of a stone door opening. Taxian-Jun's sinister face appeared behind the door, and his voice contained the killing intent of a black cloud.

Taxian-Jun stepped through the door and crossed his arms. His gaze swept across the scene of the "Golden Dragon Coiling Jade Pillar". His killing intent was tinged with a hint of scorn. Then, with his thin lips parted, he said coldly, “Miss, please get off the bed.”

Shi Mei was furious from embarrassment, and did not understand what he meant for a moment. He sulked: “What Miss? Who?”

“I’m sorry.” Taxian-Jun carefully examined the item that the dragon was trapping around, “So it’s a Young Master. Young Master is too young, I didn’t notice it at all.”

The little gold dragon climbed on top of the pillar and raised its beard. It bared its fangs as it echoed and summoned its master. “Baa, waa!”

To humiliate a man to this extent was the limit. No matter how calm and composed Shi Mei was, he couldn’t help but feel his veins bulge and his face turn red. Unfortunately, his clothes were in a mess and he was tied up by a Demon Dragon that had seen a ghost somewhere. When he got angry, he seemed to have no vigor, so he just didn’t say anything.

The emperor Taxian-Jun walked towards him. He stood by the bedpost with his arms crossed and leaned against it.

“Hua Binan, do you think I don’t know what you’re doing without making a sound?” He narrowed his eyes, and his handsome face was filled with contempt. “You really think This Venerable one is three years old. Hmm?”

Ch. 268 [Tianyin Pavilion] Return to Wushan

After saying that, the emperor Taxian-Jun moved his finger and the little devil dragon immediately wrapped itself tighter around his body. Shi Mei's expression changed. It was obvious that he was in pain, but he had always treasured his reputation. Even at a time like this, he still tried his best to remain calm.

"Mo Ran, how dare you spy on me?"

Taxian-Jun laughed, "Interesting. Tell me, is there anything in this world that I don't dare to do?"

"…"

"Let me introduce you. This is a split of the Mount Jiao Demon Dragon, they only listen to the Nangong Family's orders." Taxian-Jun gave him a sidelong glance, "You still don't know how to restrain yourself in my territory. I think you're asking for death."

Shi Mei's forehead and veins were bulging; he was obviously very angry. However, he did not expect the Mount Jiao Blood Pact to be used like this. After being pinched for a while, he did not dare to act too arrogantly. He could only say, "Withdraw this disgusting thing for me."

Taxian-Jun didn't say anything. He stared at the demonic dragon's entanglement for a while longer before sneering, "Then you have to promise me that you'll never take out this disgusting thing like you again."

Being disturbed like this already made him angry. He then asked with a gloomy face: "Who are you calling disgusting?"

“Whoever is tied up will be the one I’m talking about.”

Chu Wanning: “…”

When he saw the tied up Chu Wanning, Taxian-Jun frowned, then changed his tone and said, “Whoever is naked will be the one.”

Chu Wanning: “…”

There were too many misunderstandings, so Taxian-Jun shook his hand. “This Venerable one did not refer to you.”

Shi Mei said: “Mo Ran, you are really funny.”

However, even though he said that, he still wore the bathrobe with a calm expression. He then looked at Mo Ran and said, “Alright, can you release it now?”

“There’s no hurry. You go out first and walk further. When you reach the back of the mountain, it will open up by itself.” Taxian-Jun said lazily, “However, I shall remind you that if you wish to do anything to my person next time… It is already familiar with your smell. Even if you were outside of Mount Jiao, it would chase you there to strangle you.”

Taxian-Jun was invincible.

The only two people left in the room were the Emperor and the Immortal Elder Beidou.

Taxian-Jun walked over and extended his hand —

Then he saw Chu Wanning's eyes, which were clearly filled with hostility and sharpness, moist at the same time. He reached out his hand. Perhaps all those years of imprisonment reminded Chu Wanning of his tyrannical actions, which made him tense up in the blink of an eye.

"…" Taxian-Jun sighed in his heart, but he didn't know why he was so soft-hearted.

He touched Chu Wanning's forehead.

"It's not that hot anymore." Taxian-Jun didn't have much of an expression on his face. "He's a bit crippled, but the medicine's really good."

Pausing, he continued coldly, "I won't let that evil creature bully you anymore. No one is allowed to touch my people. You can rest assured."

He did not know that Chu Wanning's memory had been erased by Shi Mei, and it had temporarily returned to his previous life. Thus, he did not know how much of a shock he had given to him.

To think that Mo Ran would call Shi Mei a vile beast…

Taxian-Jun Lord didn't pay attention to Chu Wanning's expression. In fact, he had always avoided looking directly at him. He knew that if he looked at the scene in front of him a few more times, he would lose control. However, in his current state, it would be even harder for him to endure.

If it was before, he probably wouldn't have pitied him.

But he had been alone in another world for so long, unable to make decisions even if he died. He could only live like a zombie.

When he saw Chu Wanning again, his ice-cold heart felt a faint warmth. It was this warmth that made him less irritable than he used to be.

He untied the rope for Chu Wanning, and when he saw the red marks on his wrist, he even subconsciously rubbed it to comfort him. But then he realized what he was doing and stopped.

He really didn't know what was going on with himself.

After a while, the Shi Mei's Memory Disturbance Incantation weakened, so Chu Wanning's eyes started to look a little confused, but under this strange dizziness, his face was still pale. He endured the pain in his head and said, "Mo Ran…"

"…"

"He's back."

It is no longer important to be awake or dreaming, but a long-cherished wish has been redeemed in his heart.

Chu Wanning said almost hoarsely, "So… Stop hating me."

Taxian-Jun looked at him.

Feeling that the dream was about to happen, Chu Wanning closed his eyes and touched Taxian-Jun's face with his red hand, saying, "Let's turn back."

He felt as if something inside of him was collapsing. He stared at him without blinking, and the blank look on his face was like a thin layer of smoke.

Chu Wanning frowned, he was actually choked with sobs.

“There is no road ahead. Go back… Don’t go any further.” He held his face. The Beidou Immortal, who had sunk into his two lives, looked at the dead Taxian-Jun Emperor. After two lifetimes, both of them were in tatters. Chu Wanning’s voice was hoarse. “Mo Ran, why is your face so cold…”

It was as cold as ice.

If I could, I would like to be a wax torch, waiting for you to turn back at the crossroads of the long winter night. I’m willing to burn my life away and follow your path home.

But why are you so cold.

I don’t know how long I can burn, but what if when I’m exhausted and burnt out, and if when I’m extinguished, you still walk in the dark and refuse to look back?

Chu Wanning’s fingers trembled as he closed his eyes.

He had been alone all his life. He had no family or friends, so he wasn’t afraid of leaving.

Just thinking that he might have burned all the heat of his life and still be unable to warm his already cold heart, he felt very guilty. He thought that if he died, if that young man ever wanted to turn back and couldn’t find his way back, then he felt that he should live.

It was good to wait another day.

Maybe tomorrow, the ice will melt.

The man would turn around and walk out of the endless night towards the lights.

For the next few days, under the influence of the remnant spells of Shi Mei and the fluctuations of his memories from two lifetimes, he woke up less and slept more. Furthermore, every time he woke up, his mind was a mess and everything he knew was incomplete.

After Taxian-Jun understood the whole story, he also felt that it was a bit of a relief. Chu Wanning was just disoriented and his thoughts were muddled, he was easy to push and coerce him other, but when he opened his eyes the next day, he might not be able to remember everything that had happened. Since his memory was shattered, Chu Wanning thought he was dreaming, hence he was less vigilant than usual.

Although a sharp finger-and-claw cat is certainly good, a large white cat soft as a milk dumpling was also rare.

It had to be said, he felt that Hua Binan had done something good.

“How many things did you remember today?” This became the question that he would ask Chu Wanning when he woke up in the morning.

On the other hand, Chu Wanning usually frowned and asked, “What?”

It was a rare occasion for him to reply patiently and tirelessly, “Do your memories still only stop when we were married in our previous life, or did it become a different day?”

At this point, he would most likely wait for Chu Wanning to finish with an embarrassed look on his face. He then said in a low voice, “Mo Weiyu, why are you being so crazy again?”

This wasn’t a good thing. If it was before, he would definitely have slapped him.

Taxian-Jun got slapped too now, but there was no force behind it. Then, his other hand caught up to slap him again. It looked like he wasn't slapping him, but rather that he was holding his face in his hands.

He sneered, but there was a trace of satisfaction in his eyes. "Very good. If you continue to be like this, then it will be even better."

He really did not wish for Chu Wanning to think about the events of his life, nor did he wish to think about the Mo Weiyu who had become a Grandmaster. It seemed that as long as Chu Wanning remained confused, they would be able to return to that year at the Wushan Palace. No matter how much Chu Wanning hated him, the two of them would be together day and night.

His Shizun, his Wanning, all belonged to him alone.

Hua Binan mocked him, "If you can't even drink your own vinegar, you are not as generous as a woman."

Jealous?

Taxian-Jun thought, "It doesn't exist." However, even if an animal stayed with him for a long time, he would still develop a feeling similar to 'habit'.

That's all.

Today was a beautiful day at the Heaven Mount Jiao. Taxian-Jun forced Chu Wanning to rest with him in the orange flower tree. He looked at the small white flower that was filled with its fragrance and sighed lazily, "It lacks flavor. It would be great if it was a haitang."

Chu Wanning's spiritual sense was still blurry, he still thought that this was a dream of his.

So he said, “Why are you so picky even in my dreams?”

Taxian-Jun rolled over on the lawn, leaned over, and rested his head on his knees. Their gazes met, and Taxian-Jun said, “It has always been this way. Oh yeah, I’m hungry. When we go back later, you can cook a bowl of porridge for me.”

“…”

“I want some thin meat porridge from the eggplant. Don’t get too cooked and the porridge can’t be too thick. Just put a little bit of the meat in and it’ll be fine. You’ll do it, won’t you? I’ve taught you many times.”

Chu Wanning didn’t want to go, but he was dragged along by him until there was nothing he could do. Afterwards, they had no choice but to follow him to the sacrificial hall.

The firewood was ready, the rice was cleaned, and the water began to boil. Taxian-Jun sat by the small table, supporting his cheeks with his hands as he looked at Chu Wanning’s agitated and helpless expression.

Fortunately, Chu Wanning thought it was just a dream, so he didn’t want to spend too much energy to resist.

As for Taxian-Jun, he knew that this dream would eventually shatter, so he cherished it more than ever before.

The water was boiling, and the aroma of rice and meat wafted out from under the wooden lid.

Taxian-Jun changed his posture and folded his hands under his chin. He felt that he had a lot to say to Chu Wanning, but he felt that it was meaningless and in vain.

In the end, he moved his lips and spoke in a low and lazy manner, but he could only say, “Hello.”

“Hmm?”

What do you want to say?

Actually, he didn’t know either. Thus, after some thought, he solemnly said, “Remember to add salt.”

“… I did.”

“Then remember to taste the salt.”

“…”

A hint of amusement and relief flashed through Taxian-Jun’s black eyes. “Don’t count on salting me to death.” As he spoke, he got up and walked behind Chu Wanning. He looked into the pot, then suddenly raised his hand and embraced the warm man in front of him.

He rubbed the hair on Chu Wanning’s ears and lowered his eyes, “I still want to torture you for a lifetime.”

“Mo Weiyu!”

Sensing the man’s stiffness, he hugged him even more tightly than before. Unable to hold himself back, he turned his face to the side of his neck and gave a gentle kiss, his long eyelashes fluttering. “I have taught you the art of cooking porridge for so long, but you are still unwilling to cook a bowl for me?”

Chu Wanning was rendered speechless by the bandit's logic. It was not easy for him to think of some rebuttable words, but before he could even open his mouth to speak, he was completely blocked by Taxian-Jun's lips.

He carried the fire he had lost and returned to the world of blooming flowers.

In the smell of firewood, he who was already a dead man kissed Chu Wanning passionately. His cold lips were wrapped in warmth.

His Shizun, his Wanning, his consort Chu.

No one could take it away, no one would give it to anyone else.

When the kiss reached an intense point, Taxian-Jun felt dizzy. He pressed the person down on the table, and from time to time, he would go over to kiss his red and swollen lips, while at the same time, he would reach out to take off his clothes.

He used to do this kind of darn thing all the time. When he was in a good mood, even if someone wanted to see him, he wouldn't care.

In the most crazy of times, he had a sudden desire to have sex in the meeting hall of the Wushan Hall with Chu Wanning, who had just been bestowed the title of Imperial Consort. In the end, he was annoyed, so he ordered someone to put down the curtain and let the monks in.

He continued to invade his Shizun through that thin layer of gauze, the crisp beaded curtain, and the summer bed carved with small purple sandalwood.

"Don't make a sound… I told these men that I was calling upon Imperial Consort Chu's favor, and gave you some face." At that time, he was thrusting on top of Chu Wanning, gasping for breath, “If you scream, then those bald donkeys will know it’s you.”

“Mo Weiyu…” The person beneath him was humiliated to the extreme. His eyes were red, “You bastard!”

Taxian-Jun’s response to this was only a more ferocious and sticky thrust inside. He said, full of erotic mockery: “Baby, you are so hot and wet below, how can your mouth above be so cold? Don’t pant out for too much at the moment.”

Those monks came in without knowing why. They saw the blurred and tall silk yarn, and long and tight legs spread out, which trembled with the rude penetration of Taxian-Jun. The fingertips were delicate and cold white, like orchids trembling with the rain dew.

The request was confusing and vague, and Mo Ran didn’t hear much at all.

He only remembered that Chu Wanning would rather endure to the extreme, silent appearance, physiological tears flowing from the red like Rouge eye tail, under his body was shot at the moment, is suddenly spasm, stretched up, extremely painful and hidden comfort, bite broken lips never moan….

It was so exciting.

After the monk left, he could no longer hold back, lifting Chu Wanning’s feeble long leg, settling it on his shoulder, and thrusting into him more ferociously and forcefully from the side.

However, Chu Wanning's divinity had been scattered. He could only remember that he must not make a sound at all. Taxian-Jun went over to kiss his bloody lips and swallow the rusty smell.

"No one…"

He turned Chu Wanning over again and let him lie in front of him and be pushed forward. The hot and hard cock plunged into the already wet and sticky hole, and one hand reached ahead to touch and rub the man's solid and tearful chest. His throat was swollen and he gasped in the heat of sex.

"Feeling good? Is the sting stimulating?"

"…" Chu Wanning's forehead was hidden in front of his unfocused eyes. Half of his handsome face was hidden behind the chaotic soft cushion. Mo Ran's cock was too big. Every time, he had the illusion of being penetrated through the belly. He slightly opened his thin lips and tightened his fingers with silk and satin.

The faster the person behind him got to the top, the almost fanatical rhythm, and the deeper the ejaculation went at the end, as if even the sacks were going to be crushed in together.

The semen sprayed into the depths of his already wet and sticky entrance, and Chu Wanning trembled all over. Mo Ran was always like this. He knew that his sensitive point was there. Every time he vented, he would come against that place. The thick semen made his scalp numb. He couldn't help closing his eyes and groaning: "Ah…"

But this was not the end.

Mo Ran kept going vigorously, just pressing on him for a little while, and the dick buried in his body swelled up again. Mo Ran opened his dark eyes and stared at Chu Wanning through his slightly sweaty forehead.

The eyes burned away inch by inch.

From wet and blurred eyes to bitten lips.

All the way down, suddenly he buried his head again, holding his chest. Chu Wanning, who had already been made incoherent, burst into a muffled gasp and then his legs were raised again. He gasped for breath and endured the penetration of his fiery sex organ again in his body.

“Ah… Ah…”

He shook his head and heard his groans and groans. He could not help raising his hand to his lips and biting.

But the light in his eyes was more and more broken.

His body was already wet, and Mo Ran’s semen became his lubricant, making a sticky wet sound by the two men’s intense lovemaking.

“Don’t bite yourself. Release your hands.”

Where would Chu Wanning listen to him, still gnawing his wrist, trying to block the voice. Mo Ran cursed, holding the couch with one hand, and holding Chu Wanning’s arm with the other hand, pulling him down.

“Hold me.”

“What to do… Ah…”

Without giving him time to react, Mo Ran carried him from his low couch, and all the weight of the man who lost his dependence was on Mo Ran.

Mo Ran smiled slowly and kissed him. “You’re not that heavy either.”

So he held him in his arms and wanted to go to the inner hall.

But his angry penis was still embedded in his Shizun’s body. This position made him push deeper in the inner walls with every step he took.

Whether it was coincidence or deliberate, the burning head was in the most difficult position in Chu Wanning. Every time it reached the depths, he was stimulated to tighten his toes, but he still refused to cry out, staring fiercely at the disciple in front of him with only a pair of black eyes.

“Why do you always look at me doing it?”

Mo Ran laughed softly, and suddenly stopped walking, but still tied Chu Wanning’s legs, and made a small, graceful top.

“Want that?”

“…”

It was too humiliating, but his body had long been sensitive to him, Chu Wanning was gasping for breath, mouth open, face involuntarily flushed.

He could clearly feel the viscous body fluid flowing down. As Mo Ran thrust in and out, their lower parts became more and more obscene.

Mo Ran held him for a short time, and it seemed that he could not bear it. He glanced dimly into the rear hall, seemingly tired of traveling too far. He simply pressed the man on the cold floor of the meeting hall - he did not want to wait any longer, he felt that he was wrapped around something warm, slick and wet, so he pressed Chu Wanning on the ground, and started thrusting inside, moving almost frantically now.

“Ah… Ah…”

At the most enthusiastic time, the souls as if to be sucked out, Chu Wanning couldn’t endure it, he couldn’t help losing his mind in this stormy sex.

His legs opened powerlessly, hanging on the tight and vigorous waist of Mo Ran, and his body trembled and shook with the passion of the man. For a moment, he even felt that Mo Ran wanted to kill him like this…

Wushan Palace was in a riot of clouds and rain. There are no other people above the majestic temple. There are only two men naked and entangled in each other.

Mo Ran was hot and the sweat was gathering in his waist and abdomen. He embraced and hugged his shizun who had been distracted by himself. Under him, he pressed hard, and heard Chu Wanning’s depressing murmur and occasional unsupported moan in his ear.

“Wanning…”

The fiery kiss held Chu Wanning’s slightly open lips. The sex was so fanatical that the meridians and the veins on his neck bulged, the heat in his eyes was the same.

He grind him and entangled with him. After a long time, in this lingering kiss and fierce confrontation, Mo Ran fiercely threw Chu Wanning’s dead weight on the ground, covering Chu Wanning's breathing mouth and nose with one hand, leaving only those eyes that lost focus.

He eventually gave two small thrusts, then jacked them in, deep enough to whiten his toes against the ground.

"To cum… Wanning… should it be here?"

Chu Wanning had been mad by his monstrous violence and energy. His hands were powerless on the cold stone. His body was completely opened by Mo Ran. He shivered slightly because of stimulation and pain.

Mo Ran lowly gasped, voice sexy, deep pupil color, he broke off Chu Wanning's side face: "Here?"

The huge and full head of his cock was against the muscles deep in Chu Wanning's body. One of the thrusts made Chu Wanning suddenly open his closed eyes, and the tail of his eyes had a pink color that was unwilling to be humiliated.

He shivered under Mo Ran, but was held tightly by a pair of big hands. Mo Ran breathed deep in his ear and gasped warmly, "Don't move baby, it's coming! Ah…"

He gave a muffled groan and ejaculated warm fluid, pouring all of it into the deepest part of Chu Wanning's body, which caused Chu Wanning to close his eyes and convulse. His whole body was shaking like a leaf, numbness spreading to his extremities. He felt like his soul was coming out of the body.

"Wanning, did it feel good? Did I make you happy?"

Chu Wanning, at that time, could not answer anything, whether it was scolding or reprimanding, there was nothing.

He was already out of his mind, a pair of long legs stretched out, legs full of the semen of his apprentice…

After that, they often did it again on the throne of the hall, or on the steps, or even against the wall. The fierceness and wildness of Taxian-Jun were almost destructive.

This kind of sex, if you like it, can be called ecstasy, so even with the meaning of revenge and humiliation, it was still extremely pleasurable.

At this moment, deep within Mount Jiao, Taxian-Jun Lord gazed at Chu Wanning's thin face.

He silently recalled the events of that year, but his heart was slightly knotted with curiosity – he did not know whether Chu Wanning had any curiosity back then, why his energy was so strong, yet with Song Qiutong he had nothing to show.

In fact, although he had once favored that woman, there was always some affliction. He did not wish to have children with Song Qiutong, even if it meant having fun, he would avoid her from getting pregnant. Perhaps it was because of his background, but he always felt that two people who could stay together their whole life and didn't have a deep friendship shouldn't have children.

But it was strange. He hated Chu Wanning so much, but he always thought that if his consort Chu was favored by him day and night like this, it would be great if he was pregnant with his blood and bones.

Conquest?

Revenge?

Possession? It was still a more humiliating punishment than being taken.

He didn’t know.

In this kind of paralysis, he dragged Chu Wanning along with him to the abyss of sin and destruction time and time again.

Ch. 269 [Tianyin Pavilion] Separation Between Kings and Men

As he was lost in his emotions, Taxian-Jun pulled down the waist of the person below him. His robes were in disarray, revealing the deep green and purple marks underneath. His movements paused for a moment as if he had thought of something. His gaze was gloomy and fiery, as if there were two clumps of flames within the ashes.

After a while, he closed his eyes and sighed. “Forget it…” He also knew that if he were to continue, Chu Wanning would probably be torn apart by him.

“Today… Today I’ll spare you…”

Amidst the tranquility of this place, he finally let go of the person in his embrace, and did not do anything excessive. Still, he lowered his head, his Adam’s apple moved, and kissed the face of his lover. Finally, it landed on his neck…

He took a bite with his sharp white teeth. Then he straightened up and picked up the man who had been pressed down on the table.

The porridge simmered and bubbled.

Taxian-Jun clumsily arranged Chu Wanning’s clothes. He coughed lightly, but his voice was still deep and warm, “The porridge is done. Go, fill a bowl.”

Although Chu Wanning was confused by his actions, he was usually temperamental. Moreover, he felt that it was just a dream, so he did not probe too deeply into it. Besides, it was much more comfortable to eat properly than to have fun and foolishness, so he didn't say anything more and went to uncover the beech pot.

"Serve me."

"… I'm going to kill you?"

Taxian-Jun smiled faintly, "Try if you want."

As he spoke, he sat down at the table.

Although he really wanted to go over and see how the pot of porridge looked like, he still had the dignity of an Emperor. Thus, he sat upright at the table and put on an indifferent expression.

However, when the porridge was truly served, Taxian-Jun couldn't afford to be careless anymore…

The porridge was overcooked with too much water and taste was a little salty. Even though he hadn't yet touched the spoon, he knew that it was a familiar taste that he had not tasted for a long time.

"Eat."

"…"

Taxian-Jun was lost in thought for a long time as he looked at the small bowl in front of him. He stirred the bowl with his spoon, but he didn't put any of the porridge into his mouth.

Chu Wanning glanced at him, "If you don't eat any more, it'll get cold."

"… Oh."

When the porridge was scooped up, he put it to his lips and hesitated before letting it drop.

Chu Wanning finally felt his strangeness and asked, “What’s wrong?”

“Nothing.” Taxian-Jun smiled, but he still maintained his cruel and disdainful look, “The cooking is so terrible, I don’t want to drink anymore.”

“…”

After he finished speaking, he pushed away the untouched bowl of porridge and walked towards the door. Just as he was about to leave, Chu Wanning’s voice sounded from behind him.

“If you don’t drink.” Chu Wanning’s voice was very calm, it was a calmness that came from the many times he humiliated him, “Then I will have to pour the whole pot.”

In any case, the things he made for him would most likely be discarded.

It had been like this since the day he had been knocked to the ground.

Taxian-Jun immediately turned his head, “Leave it alone!… I mean…” He coughed, hiding his lack of composure. “Just leave it.”

“Why?”

“… It’s none of your business.”

He pushed the curtain aside and went out under the eaves, closing his eyes and sighing heavily.

He was actually a corpse. No matter how much he looked like a living person, he was still a walking corpse — he could no longer eat.

Back then, he had committed suicide in the Wushan Palace and had been used by the Cold Scale Sacred Hand as a living corpse. The Cold Scale Sacred Hand had come to this world through a crack in time and space, and he had been left in that tattered and dilapidated world to do things according to orders, just like that, for nearly ten years.

In the ten years he had been a walking corpse, he had eaten nothing. However, he was not a greedy person, so he never felt any regret.

Until today, when he was sitting in front of the bowl of eggplant thin meat porridge, he suddenly felt dejected —

Why was he no longer alive?

He had waited for so many years, and finally, a few days had passed. He finally obtained a Chu Wanning that belonged entirely to him.

However, he couldn't even drink the bowl of porridge personally made by that person.

What was the taste of the congee Chu Wanning cooked?

After a long time, he suddenly raised his arm to cover his eyes. No one could clearly see the expression on his face, what he revealed was only his puckered pale lips and the line of his chin.

Then he lowered his arm and opened his eyes, which were slightly red.

He had a bad memory and was not very smart. If the tip of his tongue could sense a little bit of sour, sweet, and salty, he might be able to recall his memories. However, his bones and blood were ice-cold, and his lips and teeth were tasteless. So even if the bowl of porridge was right in front of him, he could not remember what it tasted like.

He would never know.

Deep in the night, he went to find Shi Mei.

Beside the cold pond in front of the Sacrifice Heavenly Palace, the handsome man stood barefooted, poking at the cold spring water with his foot, bringing up a star-like stream of water light.

Seeing him arrive, Shi Mei's eyebrows shot up. Seemingly knowing the purpose of his visit, he said with a cold, mocking expression, "Such a beautiful sight. I didn't expect that the Emperor wasn't accompanying Chu-zongshi in his secret chamber. So he came to find me."

Taxian-Jun didn't want to beat around the bush, so he directly asked, "Do you have any way to temporarily make me look the same as when I was alive?"

"…" Shi Mei glanced at him, "Even though you are a dead person, the matters on the bed should not be affected."

"I didn't mean that."

"Oh? Which one do you mean?"

"… To eat." Taxian-Jun Jun said coldly, "I want to eat something."

The expression in Shi Mei's eyes was gloomy as he thoughtfully asked, "Could it be that the Emperor wants to eat that bowl of wontons?"

“Other than my shixiong, no one else in the world can do it well.”

Shi Mei laughed: “How rare. You actually thought of him today.”

Taxian-Jun’s memories of Shi Mei were in a mess. Sometimes, he could recall them, and sometimes, he couldn’t remember them. However, most of the time, he couldn’t remember them, so when he mentioned the word “Shixiong”, Shi Mei felt a sense of freshness.

He asked, “Hey, why don’t you think about your Mingjing-shixiong when you were hanging out with Chu Wanning all day long?”

“…”

That was more or less what it meant to not know each other.

Taxian-Jun said after a while: “You said it before, this body of mine has too much Yin Qi. Before I obtain a new Spiritual Core, I shouldn’t have come to see my shixiong. He is of the Water Attribute, so I will hurt him.”

Shi Mei didn’t seem to be lying at all. “Indeed.”

“So why are you asking about the wontons.” Taxian-Jun looked at him coldly. “Don’t you know not to bring it up?”

“I’m just curious, in this world, what other food would the emperor Taxian-Jun, who has tasted all sorts of delicacies, remember?”

“…”

“What? Are you unwilling to say?”

“…”

“Let me guess, Chu-zongshi must have cooked for you?”

Seeing that Emperor Taxian-Jun’s expression changed, his lips pursed slightly. Shi Mei then smiled and said: “I’ve heard that Chu-zongshi from Sisheng Peak is the worst at cooking. You sure are interesting. You can swallow this down.”

Taxian-Jun’s face darkened, “Just say if there’s anything you can do. There’s no need to be so long-winded about the rest.”

“There’s definitely a way, and I’ve already told you about it.”

Taxian-Jun frowned, “What is it?”

“That’s the old way.” Shi Mei said gently, “Get Mo-zongshi’s spirit core as soon as possible. If I give you his spirit core, you’ll be just like how you were before you died.”

An orange flower floated in the water, and with a flick of Shi Mei’s foot, the fragrant white flower appeared between his toes. Although the flower skin was white, it was not as delicate as Shi Mei’s skin.

Shi Mei smilingly looked at this flower that was trapped at his toes and could no longer float, and said: “The two of us will work hard together, if we can get the Spiritual Core sooner, then I will obtain your complete strength. As for you, you can also eat what you want to eat sooner.”

Pausing for a moment, he lifted up his soft and fluffy eyelashes. “To see someone you’ve yearned for day and night.”

“…”

“That’s why you should cooperate with me more, your Majesty.”

“Before, you wanted me to kill Guyue’ye, and later on you asked me to summon a great army of Zhenlong to attack the Sisheng Peak, and I did all of that. How do you want me to cooperate with you?

Shi Mei clapped his hands and laughed, “Good, that was great. Actually, there’s not much else I need you to do next. There’s only one last thing.”

“Go ahead.”

“Come with me to the Tianyin Pavilion. We’ve finished our game. Put away the net.”

As he said this, Taxian-Jun noticed a pigeon with golden feathers resting behind Shi Mei. It was the Spiritual Bird of the Tianyin Pavilion.

“Did the Tianyin Pavilion send you a message?”

“Yeah.” Shi Mei stretched out two long fingers and held onto a piece of paper, “This is good news, everything will go according to our plan. It’s not easy being a good person, Mo-zongshi used all his spirit core to protect the peace of the cultivation world, but no one want to give merit to him for it.”

He smiled, and with a twist of his finger, he chanted an incantation and instantly folded the letter into a paper butterfly, and threw it to Taxian-Jun.

“Take a look for yourself.”

“No need to look.” Taxian-Jun In took the paper butterfly, but he didn’t unfold it. He looked at Shi Mei with his black eyes, “Just say it, when will you make your move?”

“Interrogation three days later. Another three days before the execution.”

“Six days?”

Shi Mei stroked the wings of the golden tailed carrier pigeon with a gentle expression. Suddenly, a multicolored triangular snake sprang out of his sleeve and bit the pigeon’s neck with lightning speed. In an instant, it swallowed the gentle bird into its stomach.

All of this happened in a split-second. There was no change in Shi Mei’s expression, as if he had already gotten used to it.

He smiled and brushed away one of Wandering’s remaining feathers. He raised his head and said, “That’s right, so we will stay at Mount Jiao for another three days. Afterwards, we will go to Tianyin Pavilion and wait there.”

The feather fell into the pool, the ripples spreading gently and shattering the reflections of the two men on the shore.

“His spirit core will give you unstoppable power. In that case, you’ll have everything you want very soon.”

After this conversation was over, Taxian-Jun returned to the secret room at Mount Jiao with a heavy heart.

Chu Wanning was not in high spirits. He seemed to be reading a book at first, but now he fell asleep on the table. His snow-white sleeves fluttered like the first snow.

He stood by his side and watched for a while. He’s just that sort of person, like a lonely light or a simple book. He’s experienced the bustling of humanity and known bright vibrant luxuries. What beauty had he not seen?

Chu Wanning was nothing.

What's there to look at? He thought irritably, but his Adam's apple moved, and he bent over the man uncontrollably, burying his cheek in the man's neck and nuzzling it.

"…" Chu Wanning woke up from his daze and opened his eyes. His phoenix eyes were first filled with confusion and gentleness. Then, he remembered the brutality of this Emperor Taxian-Jun, so his gaze suddenly turned cold.

All of these changes were seen by Taxian-Jun. The annoyance and unwillingness in his heart grew like wild grass, and in the end, he couldn't bear it anymore and quickly picked Chu Wanning up.

"What's the matter with you again — oh!"

With a muffled grunt, he was pushed against the wall.

Taxian-Jun kissed him passionately and despairingly, from neck to lips, from lips to chin, and as he gasped and gasped, he asked, "Do you like me?"

"…"

"Chu Wanning, do you like me?"

"What are you doing? Why did you suddenly…"

However, it seemed like Taxian-Jun didn't want to know his answer. He just wanted to ask this question. As for what the answer was, it had nothing to do with him.

Or perhaps it was because no matter what the answer was, the path of return was too vast, and he could not turn back. Thus, there was no point in doing so.

“If I had not become a grandmaster like you, would you have been willing to be together with me? Would you be willing to treat me better?”

He bit onto the side of Chu Wanning’s neck and took over his body like he was sucking blood.

It was only in this way that he could prove that the person in his embrace belonged to him and not to the completely different Mo Weiyu.

However, the moment he lowered his eyes, his voice became hoarse.

“Do you like him like that after all, more than me…”

“Mo Weiyu, what are you talking about?”

That’s right, Chu Wanning’s memories were in disarray. He only had memories from his previous life, not this life’s memories. Naturally, he would not understand his nonsense.

It was probably only at this moment, that he was completely under the control of Emperor Taxian-Jun.

He suddenly felt very sad.

For some reason, there was even a hint of pride and misery in his voice.

Taxian-Jun was entwined with his lover, and in the end, he softly asked, “If I take away his spirit core… Will you hate me more?”

There was nothing more incomprehensible than being denied.

Taxian-Jun Jun held the person in his arms.

“But you are this Venerable one…”

“Don’t betray me.”

When he mumbled his selfish desires, he even felt desolate.

After being alone for a long time, even a sharp blade would be sharpened to a dull state.

“Eight years. After he was reborn, how long did he have you? I was alone, waiting for how long in the mortal world.”

Lonely Wushan Palace, drifting without purpose.

“Don’t leave me a second time. The first time, I could die. But if you go away a second time. I can’t even choose to die.” Taxian-Jun frowned. His face was gloomy and crazy, while sadness and paranoia coexisted. “I will not be able to take it…”

Ch. 270 [Tianyin Pavilion] Punishment Will Be Imposed

Three days passed in the blink of an eye. At the break of dawn on the third day, Shi Mei arrived in front of the secret room.

Taxian-Jun was already dressed, still in his black armor, with a slim waist and a shiny silver hidden weapon case. His legs were long and slender, his shoulders were broad and straight, and he wore a dragon scale leather set on his hands.

He raised his eyes, which were cold. “You’re here.”

“Get ready, we’re going to the Tianyin Pavilion.”

Shi Mei sized him up: “Then what about Chu Wanning?”

“I fed him medicine and put him to sleep.”

Shi Mei nodded his head, but just in case, he and the emperor Taxian-Jun had to enter the secret room again. After checking his pulse, Shi Mei said: “He should be able to recover his energy in a few days. We have to be careful.”

Taxian-Jun Lord was not afraid of Chu Wanning’s battle prowess, but he asked, “What about his memories?”

Shi Mei glanced at him: “It’s the same.”

“…”

Ignoring the gloomy and unhappy expression on Taxian-Jun's face, Shi Mei got up and set up a bewitching formation in the secret chamber to ensure that Chu Wanning would not suddenly wake up and spoil his plans. Finally, on the way out, he left a high level forbidden spell on the door.

Taxian-Jun frowned, "What are you doing with this curse? There is no one else on this mountain. Nangong Liu only has the mind of a little brat. No one can enter to save him."

Shi Mei's expression did not change as he said flatly: "Thieves are hard to guard against."

"Who?"

"You don't know him." Shi Mei sighed, "He's the person closest to me. Let's not talk anymore. Let's go."

The two of them left.

In the cold stone room, only Chu Wanning was left. He was still unconscious, the memories of his two lives swirling around him as they recovered.

However, not only did he not feel it, but even his memory and spirit had not recovered yet due to the fact that he was not in a good condition. There was another very important reason…

What he wanted to recall was not only his own memories!

Roughly half of the Earth Soul had been in Mo Ran's body for a long time, and it had been entangled with Mo Ran's soul day after day. When the Earth Soul returned, it actually brought him some memories from the depths of his soul.

At this very moment, these memories became the last images that flowed into his brain. He was dreaming. All he dreamed were broken memories.

The first thing he dreamed of was the mass grave, with a child with unkempt hair and a dirty face crying on top of a rotting female corpse, his faces covered with tears, eyes blurry.

“Mother… Mother… Is anyone there? Is there anyone… Bury me, too. Bury me and my mother together…”

Then, he dreamt of Xiangtan’s House of Drunken Jade. Mo Ran’s body had turned purple from the beating, and he was curled up in a dog cage.

A child around his age sneered at him. “You want to be a hero without even looking at yourself? I think you’re a joke! Pui! Your whole life will be a joke!”

He spat.

Little Mo Ran closed his eyes.

Chu Wanning’s eyelashes trembled.

Mo Ran…

Then, he dreamt that the raging flames were like a ghost that was hanging and twisting around the building, dancing in a dense manner.

There were wails everywhere, burning beams falling down, someone was screaming, thick smoke billowing.

His expression was extremely cold and his eyes were calm. He lowered his head and placed a bloody knife on his knee. He held a bunch of grapes in his hand as he slowly peeled off the purple skin.

“It’s all over, Mother.”

Mo Ran looked very peaceful.

“But I can’t see you anymore. I’ve killed, and my hands are covered with blood. Mother, I’m going to hell after I die, and I’ll never see you again.”

Mo Ran… Mo Ran…

Suddenly, his eyes lit up.

It was the gentle face of a woman, with the tail of his eyes slightly raised.

Who is it?

Chu Wanning felt that the woman’s brows were quite similar to his own. When she lowered her head to do her work, her actions were particularly clear.

She was carefully sewing the coarse clothes in her hands.

“Mother…” A child’s voice was calling out softly.

The lady raised her head and smiled at him, “Why are you awake?”

“I had a nightmare… I’m so hungry…”

The woman let go of her clothes and opened her arms. She smiled gently and said, “Did you have a nightmare again? Alright, don’t be scared, Ran-er, come into Mother’s embrace.”

Ran-er… Mo Ran…

Chu Wanning closed his eyes, his heart was filled with an indescribable bitterness.

Too bitter.

Just by looking at it, one would feel that this day was shriveled and dry, and every day and night was extremely difficult to endure.

Mother…

This was the first time he had seen the appearance of Mo Ran's mother, and he suddenly understood why outside of the Wubei Temple, Mo Ran would instinctively grab onto his robe and believe that he was praying for him. He also suddenly understood why that youth would walk over to him in front of the Heaven-Piercing Tower and stubbornly beg him to accept him as a disciple.

The youth smiled brightly and said, "Because you look the most beautiful and gentle."

At that time, everyone was laughing behind his back saying that he was being excessive and that his eyes were blinded.

Not really.

No…

He was not blind, nor was he fawning on him, but he could not tell him the truth, he could not cry, he could not hold his hand and said, "Immortal, when you lower your head, you look like the person who treated me the best in this world. She is no longer here. Can you please look at me, can you take her place and look at me one more time?"

I miss her so much.

Mo Ran couldn't say anything. He could only bear with the bitterness in his heart and the tears that were welling up in his eyes. He endured Chu Wanning's indifference. Chasing after him, he pretended to be leisurely laughing, tricking everyone.

No one had to know his past, no one could share his pain.

He could only smile at the scene below Heaven-Piercing Tower. That smile was too fervent, too eager, and full of longing.

Mo Ran opened his eyes.

He was no longer at the top of the grave; he was in an extremely narrow cell. The only source of light came from a small space underneath the black iron gate.

The top of the cell was embossed with a weight coat of arms, and he knew he was in a prison.

This was the world's most impartial judgment temple, independent of the top ten sects in the cultivation world.

The Tianyin Pavilion.

He lay inside, his throat burning, his lips chapped.

It was very quiet around him, so quiet that the empty wind could be heard in his ears and his spirit could be heard mumbling. It took him a long time to collect his scattered consciousness.

Actually, he felt that such a day should have happened in his previous life, but fate was still kind to him in the end, allowing him to live another life before clearing away his sins.

“Mo Ran, time to eat.”

He didn’t know how long he had been lying there. Time seemed to blur around him.

He heard someone come up and push the food out of the cave to him, a slice of pastry, a bowl of soup.

He did not stand up to receive it. The attendant of the Tianyin Pavilion also did not speak to him again. His footsteps clicked, and he quickly left.

How is Chu Wanning?

How was the Sisheng Peak?

Where did the destroyed pieces end up?

Faintly, wearily, he thought about these three questions for a long time before he resigned himself to the fact that no one would tell him the answer.

He was a prisoner now.

He sat up.

His chest was in pain and he had no strength left in his entire body. The spirit energy that had been surging violently was gone. He leaned against the wall and was stunned for a moment.

It turned out that this was the feeling after his spirit core had been broken.

He couldn’t summon his godly weapon or use any spells. It was like a roc that had lost its tail, or a roc that had lost its wings while riding the clouds.

He was curled up in a corner, his dark eyes staring blankly ahead.

Mo Ran suddenly felt sad, but it was not because of him. He thought of Chu Wanning from his previous life, the reincarnation of the heavens, and finally, he felt his helplessness and pain at that time.

He really wanted to apologize to him.

But it was too late.

Nothing can be turned back.

He was trapped in the house, the cake and the bowl of soup cold. Later on, he began to eat. After eating this small amount of food, no one else came to this cell.

He was once more Mo Ran of his childhood in a dog’s cage, but the room was so much better treated than a dog’s cage that he could lie down comfortably.

He lay in this darkness, dozing off and waking up, but waking up and sleeping wasn’t that important. In this room, it was as if he had died.

Perhaps he was already dead, he thought dully.

Perhaps, this life was a good dream that he had as he lay in a coffin under Heaven-Piercing Tower. He passed the thirty-two years of his life as if they were a circus, colorful, joyful, angry, sad, and finally turned into the bones of a tomb.

He curled his lips into a smile.

He actually felt that if the truth was as it was, it would be the best.

He was very tired. He had walked for too long and struggled for too long. Whether it was hell or the human world, he no longer cared. He only wanted to rest.

His heart was very old. In fact, ever since Chu Wanning had died, his body had already completely collapsed and aged. He had been doing good deeds all these years, making up for it. He was looking for a medicine that could cure this old age.

But he couldn't find it.

He had fought for so long, had brazenly and brazenly begged for so long, and now he was tired, tired. In this life, he had lost his mother, his master, his close friends, his loved ones, his stolen family, and his false heroic name.

Now, he had lost his spiritual core as well. However, he was still taken to the Tianyin Pavilion, and was still unable to escape the harshest rebuke of the cultivation world.

He finally gave up. He knew he would never be forgiven again.

This Mo Weiyu was an ugly and deformed broken mountain, and the boundless winter snow covered his wounds.

But the snow had melted.

There was no place for his darkness or his horror to hide.

He was unable to become Mo-zongshi. From the moment he was stained with the blood of the first innocent person, he was destined to be an Immortal Emperor — he, boil a crane, grind his teeth and drink his blood. His face was ferocious, worse than an animal's — he deserved death.

He's dead, the world is cheering.

He didn't know how many days it had been since he was trapped in the forbidden room, but the door opened.

A disciple of the Tianyin Pavilion walked in and wordlessly tied him up with a immortal rope. Then, one on each side of him, he dragged him outside.

They led him through a long, dark corridor.

"What happened to them?" Mo Ran asked in his first sentence of the past few days, his voice hoarse and dull.

No one paid any attention to him.

He was led to the end. The sky lit up, and Mo Ran seemed to burn like a dragon that had been huddled up in the darkness for too long. Its blind and rotten claws seemed tired and uneasy under the dazzling light. He couldn't get used to the sudden light. He wanted to cover his eyes, but his hands were tied behind his back, so he could only lower his head and shed a few tears under his thick black eyelashes.

He was deaf and did not know where he was. Only his sense of smell was distinct.

He smelled the wind, the sea of people, the flowers and trees, and he was pushed forward, hesitating.

Slowly, the ears adjusted to the noise.

He could hear a lot of people talking, whispering together like the tide of a river. The tide can wash away the filth, but it can also drown people.

Mo Ran felt breathless.

He was very weak.

He was weak to the extreme.

“Kneel.”

His captors were pushing him, and he knelt, the sun shining brightly on his haggard face.

Who would have thought that it would be such a sunny day outside?

“It’s that Mo-zongshi…”

“I never thought that one day I would see him being interrogated by the Tianyin Pavilion. Ai, I really don’t know what is going on.”

Mo Ran’s ears buzzed, and his eyes gradually became clearer, but it was still very unclear. He could only use the shadow of his eyelashes to slightly close his eyes and look at everything in front of him.

It was the public trial platform of the Tianyin Pavilion in his memory.

When he was young, he had seen the trial together with Xue Zhengyong and Xue Meng.

However, he had gone from a spectator to a person on trial under the eyes of many.

The crowd gathered below the stage like a crowd of crucian carp, packed and rushing. These were the common folk who came to watch the interrogation at the Tianyin Pavilion, the rogue cultivators of the four seas. He could not see the faces of anyone, nor could he see the expressions on their faces. He only felt that the heads that were whispering together were like the rising and falling of a wheat wave.

Then he looked up again.

On the four walls of the high tower, all sorts of visitors from different sects were seated.

The jade colored one was the Bitan Manor, the red one was the Fire Phoenix Pavilion, and the yellow one was the Wubei Temple… Then, his heart suddenly clenched. It was strange that he would still feel pain.

He saw that familiar silver-blue area. The quietest and most crowded sect in the entire stands.

The Sisheng Peak.

He blinked, ignoring the pain in his eyes, trying his best to look in that direction — but he could not see, he could not see where Xue Zhengyong was, could not see clearly who was Elder Tanlang and who was Xunji, he could not find Madam Wang.

At the end of the trial, he still couldn't see the people he cared about the most.

"Mo Ran from the Sisheng Peak, the ninth city lord of the Rufeng Sect, Nangong Yan's illegitimate son…" On the high platform, Mu Yanli was clearly using a sound amplifying technique to express what was going on,

“…… Therefore, we should strictly interrogate him, put him in order, and make sure that he doesn’t make any mistakes…”

Mo Ran did not heed his words.

Such a bright voice was simply too ear-piercing for someone who had been in seclusion for a long time.

In the time it took for a cup of tea to be brewed, the words that left Mu Yanli’s mouth were all incomplete phrases such as “killing to pay with one’s life”, “doing evil things”, and “cultivating a forbidden art”.

In the end, he heard her say, “It’s the responsibility of the Tianyin Pavilion to exonerate a felon, and also to give justice.”

After Mu Yanli finished speaking, a disciple of the Tianyin Pavilion walked over. The disciple arrived in front of Mo Ran. Against the dazzling sunlight, he cast a shadow as black as ink.

“Open your mouth.”

“…”

Seeing no reaction from Mo Ran, the man clicked his tongue, pinched his chin roughly, and poured a pot of bitter and salty medicinal juice into his mouth.

“Cough, cough, cough ~ ~ ~”

Mo Ran could not stop coughing. He had not eaten for many days. His stomach suddenly came into contact with such a strong liquid. He felt like he was going to vomit.

The man held him by the throat and forced him to swallow the whole pot. The ice-cold liquid was like a snake that slithered into his stomach, overturning the river and overturning the seas. It was as if it wanted to tear his internal organs apart and pierce through them.

Mo Ran's face turned ashen. He wanted to vomit, he really wanted to vomit.

But he would not yield, he would not beg, he did not even want tears to fall from the corners of his eyes. He had spent half his life thinking that he had lived too many days, but that did not mean that he had no dignity.

The man let go of him as he gasped for breath.

His wings were dejected, and he looked exhausted.

However, it still had the fierceness of a lone eagle on the verge of death.

The people from the Tianyin Pavilion explained to the spectators from all over the place as per usual —

"This is against you."

Mo Ran's lips turned pale and his eyes drooped down as he smiled.

Swearing Water… Heh, Sin Shui, how could he not know?

This medicine was not to be drank by the innocent. Only when one became a prisoner of justice in the Tianyin Pavilion would they be given this medicine. Only after that would they become unconscious and recount the great crimes committed in their lives.

After the Tianyin Pavilion disciple finished his explanation, he walked over and lightly tapped the side of Mo Ran's lips. With a sound amplifying technique, everyone could hear his words.

Mo Ran closed his eyes and frowned, as if there was a knife twisting in his stomach.

He was enduring it. Because he had endured too much, his entire body was trembling, and his shackles were clanging. His face was pale, the whites of his eyes were slowly rolling up, and he was writhing on the platform. They were all twitching…

He was still conscious, but that consciousness was sometimes clear and sometimes blurry. He had exhausted all of his willpower to fight against the medicine, but he still couldn't get rid of it.

"I… I've killed people." In the end, he still closed his eyes in pain and spoke in a hoarse voice.

His ragged voice staggered around every corner.

Everyone quieted down as they stared at the people on the stage.

Mu Yanli cast a disdainful glance at him from the high platform.

"How many people have you killed?"

"… Too many. I can't remember…"

The faces of the people below had already changed.

"How old were you the first time you killed someone?"

"Fifteen."

“Were you killing a cultivator or a mortal?”

“Mortal.”

“Killing for revenge, or for self-preservation?”

“Both.”

The two of them asked and answered. Many of the guests had come to watch the show, so they weren’t aware of what had happened. When they heard that Mo Ran killed more and more people at the age of fifteen for revenge, they couldn’t even remember the exact number. All of them were shocked and furious.

“I can’t believe that the famous Mo-zongshi is a devil that kills people without blinking an eye!”

“So terrifying… This person is too sinister.”

“When I was fifteen, I didn’t even dare to kill a chicken, but he already started killing people! What a monster…”

Mu Yanli acted as if she did not hear him, and said coldly, “Continue with your crime.”

“I…” He endured until his muscles and bones bulged, but he could no longer endure, so he said hoarsely, “I… Impersonated him. I’m impersonating the nephew of the Sisheng Sect Leader…”

“How long?”

“Eight years…”

“Continue with the crime.”

Mo Ran slowly said, “I… cultivated… Three forbidden arts… Jinlong… Jinlong… Chess game…”

Many people in the stands were struck speechless at this moment.

Someone looked at the Sisheng Peak with a weird expression, and said coldly: “Didn’t Xue Zhengyong want to excuse this beast? I said that I fed him a cup of suing water, and he must be telling the truth — Xue Zhengyong actually didn’t let the Tianyin Pavilion follow the rules and burn Mo Ran. I think that this old thing was blinded by greed and didn’t even want to take revenge for killing his nephew. [There are actually disciples at the top of the mountain who train in forbidden martial arts. Can the sect disperse now?] What was there to keep it for? Continue to nurture demons?”

“I also said that he did it! At the Sisheng Peak, for him to cripple his own spirit core to save us, it was nothing but a stratagem. Fortunately, we did not let him off that time!”

“That’s right, there is no need to worry about whether there will be more wood to burn. He must have thought of something. With his ability, so what if his spirit core has been destroyed? He might even think of some evil scheme to restore himself. “It looks like it’s really dangerous. If not for the Tianyin Pavilion’s insistence, we might have let this vicious thing go by mistake!”

On the platform, there was a large scale, flowing with a golden brilliance — it was an extremely special godly weapon, weighing over a hundred tons. Since the opening of the Tianyin Pavilion, it had been standing here for thousands of years, generation after generation.

It was said that this Libra was left behind by a god, and could judge all crimes and punishments in the mortal world, giving the most just judgement.

Mo Ran didn't even open his mouth to admit his guilt, and Mu Yanli ordered her disciples to throw the weights condensed from golden spirit energy into the weighing scale. Those exquisite weights fell into the weighing scale, rapidly growing in size and pressing down heavily, punishing the people on the other side of the weighing scale accordingly.

When he recounted his first sin, the Libra had pointed to "the raw excavation of the spirit core."

After he finished talking about the most Zhenlong Chess game, the Libra pointed to the most extreme punishment —

"Destroy the soul."

In the stands, Xue Meng's face instantly lost all color.

He muttered, "Destroy his soul…?"

From then on, there would be no more Mo Weiyu in the world, no more Mo Ran.

It didn't matter if this elder brother of his was real or fake.

Even the reincarnation of the reincarnation was never to be seen again.

His mind was blank, his hands stiff.

Xue Zhengyong stood up and sternly said to Mu Yanli, "The punishment of shattering the soul has never been inflicted upon anyone since the establishment of the Tianyin Pavilion. Pavilion Master Mu, I’m afraid your judgement is unfair.”

Ch. 271 [Tianyin Pavilion] Final Trail

Hearing Xue Zhengyong's words, the people from the other sects got angry and stood up: "Can you shut your mouth for the best?! Your disciples have violated a great taboo in the cultivation world by cultivating a Zhenlong Chess game. Logically speaking, your shitty sect should have immediately dispersed and left! Right now, I do not have the time to bother with you guys, but can you guys be a little self-aware?"

"Xue Zhengyong! You still speak for him? You shouldn't be on the same side as him, right?"

Surrounding him was the buzzing human language.

Whether it was a sect or a clan, they were often like this. Once a person attains enlightenment even his pets seems to be ascended to heavens. However, once one person did something unforgivable, the entire sect or family would be viewed as a cave of devils.

"This is a punishment, not a sentence Sect Leader Xue, there's no need to be anxious. After the sins are measured the merits are also calculated. The difference between the two is the final conclusion."

After he finished speaking, he turned his head back and looked at Mo Ran. With a clear and cold voice, he said, "Continue with your confession."

"I… Once. Bullying my shizun… Destroy… Ancestor…"

"Deceiving Master to exterminate our Ancestor?"

This statement was quite puzzling.

Mo Ran felt like its heart was on fire.

Bullying his teacher to exterminate his ancestors was a sin from his previous world — This accusation actually forced the heavy crime he committed in his previous life out of his throat!

But he didn't want to say… He didn't want to say! Did he have to reveal how he had humiliated Chu Wanning in his previous life under the watchful eyes of countless people?

Made him a prisoner, married him as a concubine.

He humiliated the other party's prideful bones, and in the end, even caused his death.

He didn't want to say.

He felt that he would not be able to live, but Chu Wanning's life was still very long.

Chu Wanning was a spirit of the Divine Wood, possessing the purest Spiritual Qi and a natural talent. He hoped that Chu Wanning would continue walking down the path. In the end, he would be able to ascend to the Immortal Class and not have to suffer the pain of reincarnation or love anymore.

His Master was so good, so clean.

He wanted to protect him.

They must not let others think that they had anything to do with it.

Everyone must not think that Chu Wanning was dirty. His body was tainted with the guilt and sweetness of Taxian-Jun.

He wanted to protect him.

Protect him…

The abdominal cavity is still burning a handful of fire, pain to the point of breaking the intestines. He could faintly hear Mu Yanli's cold voice asking him, "What do you mean by bullying your shizun, and exterminate the ancestors?"

He didn't say, he didn't say.

His fingertips grazed and bled on the rough gravel, and his forehead was a deep red. He lay there hunched, panting like a fish on the edge of a river.

He wouldn't say.

This resistance was the same as Resistance Against Tianwen. As long as you gritted your teeth, you could endure it in the end.

He was currently being interrogated by the Tianyin Pavilion. Everyone's eyes were focused on him as they struggled and cried like trapped beasts. The torment was too deep for ordinary people to endure, and it was a hundred times, a thousand times, more painful than the interrogation.

He felt as if a pair of invisible hands was tightening, tearing, and twisting his stomach. The mottled wounds on his body were flooded with salt water and burned with a burning pain.

The sound of Mu Yanli's voice seemed so far away, as if it came from across the ocean.

“What exactly do you mean by bullying your shizun and exterminating your ancestors?!”

He did not say anything. He bit his tongue and bit his lips. His mouth was full of blood, but there were no tears.

Just like his seven days in a dog cage.

He did not cry.

His tears would only be the laughing stock of the audience.

No one would feel pity, and he did not care about the pity of these people.

Even if the pain was excruciating to the point of death, he had to endure it no matter what.

“What did you do to Chu Wanning?” Mu Yanli asked in a condescending tone.

It was too painful, and in the end, he could see illusions.

He could vaguely see Chu Wanning ascend into the Immortal Realm after a hundred years. His clothes were still as white as snow, and his appearance was handsome. When he wasn’t smiling, his eyes were sharp, and when he was smiling, it was just like a lake or a sea.

“I’ve never…”

Mu Yanli was stunned for a moment before she asked, “What?”

Mo Ran’s throat had been crushed to bits and he said hoarsely, “I was wrong, I didn’t… I didn’t bully my shizun…”

He raised his head and saw bloodshot eyes, but they were shining brightly.

“Destroy the ancestors!”

His words were broken.

“…” There was a trace of shock on Mu Yanli’s face, but at the same time, there was also a trace of confusion. However, she was too cold, and the shock and confusion quickly froze into ice.

Mo Ran coughed up blood. His lungs felt as if they were being churned to bits. Even when he breathed, there was a foul smell coming from them.

He lay on the ground, soaked from the excruciating pain, his face as pale as paper, his cheek pressed to the ground, his hair matted against his cheek, gasping for breath.

Mu Yanli couldn’t help but take half a step forward.

She stared at him. “Continue to say your crimes.”

“No more…” Mo Ran closed his eyes and said hoarsely, “… to declare.”

Mu Yanli ordered a disciple to go ahead and get a drop of Mo Ran’s fresh blood, and then smeared it on the exquisite weight. The weight was carved with the three “Merit Good Virtue” charms, and it was used to measure the person’s merits.

She tossed the weight into the scale.

The Libra was slowly floating, and apart from Mo Ran, everyone was staring at the golden needle.

“Destroy the soul! It was still shattering the soul”…

The needle was moving.

It shattered the soul.

Yet it could not break out of the soul shattering circle.

Xue Meng held the Longcheng scimitar on his knees, his face was extremely anguished. He stared at the scale. He tried his best to straighten his back, because he knew that if he collapsed, it would be difficult for him to straighten up.

At this moment, his palm was actually colder than Longcheng's dark-steel.

Mu Yanli's beautiful eyes stared unblinkingly at the golden scale. The needle was moving slower and slower, moving within the soul shattering domain. It was almost forbidden.

She brushed away her sleeve and lightly said, "Alright, looks like the situation has turned…"

"Still moving."

"Young Master Xue…"

Xue Meng stared at her. He was talking, even though his voice was also shaking, even though he didn't know if he was doing the right thing or not.

"The needle is still moving."

Mu Yanli said, "It's about to stop."

"Then wait for it to stop."

Mu Yanli met his gaze.

After a while, a cold and mocking smile appeared on her face. “Okay, then we’ll wait for it to stop.”

The sun was scorching hot and a layer of gray smoke was rising from the grilled gravel.

They waited, all of them looking at the needle, waiting for it to stop. However, the strange thing was that the needle did not calm down even after a long time had passed.

It also seemed uncertain as to how Mo Weiyu should decide. It swayed, hesitating as it tilted slowly, bit by bit, towards the place where the punishment was reduced.

Mu Yanli seemed to have never encountered such a situation before. He did not say anything else as his yellow robe fluttered to and fro as he quietly waited for Shen Wu Tianliang’s judgement.

Xue Meng’s knuckles turned white. He stared fixedly at that needle, as if the next adjudication was not only about Mo Weiyu’s life, but also about the years he and Mo Ran had known each other.

From disdain to disgust, from disgust to acceptance, from acceptance to approval.

Was the initial coldness wrong, or was the later “brother” ridiculously wrong?

He didn’t know.

He stared at the needle. In his heart, there was only hope as he stared at the needle.

Don’t stop.

Please.

Go on, you see, just a little more.

No matter how wrong that fellow was, he had broken his spirit core and retreated back by tens of thousands of men.

How could he be punished by capital punishment?

How could he shatter his spirit soul?

A little. A little more.

In the end.

“Digging the Spiritual Core.”

Mu Yanli expressionlessly announced. She seemed extremely impartial and cold-blooded, completely different from the golden, warm light of the gown she wore. His entire person was much colder than the snow and frost.

The needle stopped.

The tip of his finger pointed at the words “digging for the spirit core”.

That was Mo-zongshi’s final judgement.

Mu Yanli faced the audience, as well as the top ten sects on the stage.

Indeed, it was one of the ten great sects. The Tianyin Pavilion still had the old seat of the Rufeng Sect. On that seat sat a lone person. It was the black-clothed Ye Wangxi.

She was carrying Nangong Si's quiver and on her knees was Naobaijin who had lost his owner forever. Her face was haggard, but her eyes were clear. She too was watching everything happening on the platform.

Mu Yanli replied, "The blue sky has its own eyes, and is very clear. The Tianyin Pavilion has each other's achievements, and has never acted maliciously for personal gain, never showing favoritism, never making things difficult for others, and has never deliberately made things difficult for others. Announce to the world three days, and if there is no objection, three days later —"

Xue Meng had been patiently waiting with his eyes closed all this time, but at this moment he finally could not hold it in. He suddenly stood up. His silvery-blue light armor was flashing with radiance. "I have an objection."

"…"

"There's no need to wait for three days. I have an objection now."

The commotion became even more intense, "Fucking Sisheng Peak, quickly shut the fuck up! What the heck is that thing!?"

"Why don't we interrogate Xue Zhengyong and Xue Meng together? There's a high chance that they are in the same group. How can they even speak up for the devil at this point?"

"At that time, how come he didn't kill that many people? Are you really not from the Devil's Cave?"

Xue Meng was so angry that his face turned ashen, but he had no choice but to suppress his anger with all his might.

Naturally, Mu Yanli could hear the angry roars of the cultivators, but she turned a deaf ear and only lightly said: “Young Master Xue, I am all ears.”

Xue Meng opened his mouth, but did not know what to say. Madam Wang was extremely worried, and he quietly pulled at his hand. “Meng’er, there are still three days left. We will think over our plan carefully and think of a way to put it…”

However, Xue Meng didn’t seem to hear his mother’s words. He stared blankly at Mu Yanli for a while, then turned to look at the scale. Finally, his gaze fell on a black dot in the distance.

That was Mo Ran on the execution platform.

Xue Meng’s eyes abruptly trembled. It was as if a curtain had been blown by the wind, causing his eyes to wrinkle.

Dark or light.

He answered absentmindedly, “He no longer has a Spiritual Core.”

“What do you mean?”

Xue Meng suddenly became excited. He looked back at her. “What do you mean? Don’t you know? The person who saved you on the Sisheng Peak, the person who retreated from the chess pieces, isn’t that the same person? Pavilion Master Mu, I would like to know how will you execute it? His spirit core had shattered! What else do you want to do? Dig out his heart?”

There was moisture in his eyes, and his nails dug deep into his palms.

“Digging out spirit cores and digging out spirit cores alive… Without any more spirit cores, do you want to take his life?!”

Mu Yanli narrowed his eyes. “The Tianyin Pavilion has its own methods.”

“According to the rules, after the verdict, the execution is carried out in three days.” Suddenly, a slightly hoarse voice rang out. Everyone looked over and saw it was Ye Wangxi who was speaking, “Pavilion Master, what solution do you have? Please explain it clearly.”

Immediately, a person from the Bitan Manor scolded: “What qualifications do you have to speak? Who do you think you are?”

Another person whispered, “Relying on Jiang Xi’s backing and Nangong Si’s death to restore the purity of the Rufeng Sect, he has really taken herself seriously. How could a nameless woman be worthy of questioning the Tianyin Pavilion Master in such a grand occasion?”

Ye Wangxi ignored them all.

Until someone who had a grudge with the Nangong family shouted at her, “Ye Wangxi, the Rufeng Sect is already dead. You sitting there alone, don’t think that you are the Sect Leader of the Rufeng Sect?”

Ye Wangxi hugged Naobaijin which had yet to recover his spiritual energy, and let out a loud cry. She stood alone in her original spot, neither angry nor noisy. Waiting for the angry or mocking voices to gradually calm down, she said, “The leader of the Rufeng Sect’s dark city is still alive. It’s not up to you to say whether he’s dead or not.”

“You…”

Ye Wangxi didn't want to talk much with the others, so she looked at Mu Yanli with her eyes, "Pavilion Master, please enlighten me."

Mu Yanli said, "There is a way to reconstruct a Spiritual Core in this world. The Spiritual Core is broken, but the fragment is still inside the heart cavity. Naturally, there is no need to ask for the Spiritual Core to be intact."

Xue Meng's face was as pale as paper. "So what do you want to do?"

"Just cast a spell and dig out the spirit core. The Tianyin Pavilion will not take his life…"

Xue Zhengyong also stood up before the "Order" came out. His face was full of dark clouds as he asked, "Dig through all the spirit core fragments?"

"That's right."

"Then how many times do you have to dig?" Xue Zhengyong stared angrily, his hair already mixed with white. "Five times? Ten times? Digging out a spirit core to injure the heart is always extremely painful — a few years ago, the Sound Pavilion dug out a prisoner's spirit core, but he was unable to make it through. On the same day, he returned to the prison and died."

"That is because he was too weak and it cannot be blamed on the Tianyin Pavilion."

"Then you might as well take his life!" Xue Zhengyong shouted angrily, "Mu Yanli, broken spirit core! If his spirit core is broken into two pieces, then he will dig it up twice. But if his spirit core is broken into three pieces, then he will dig it up three times… But what if it was shattered into a hundred pieces? Are you going to torture him?! You are delaying him!"

"If it really shattered like that, it would be his own fate."

Xue Zhengyong was speechless.

Fate?

Everything was fate.

He suddenly felt that it was very absurd.

What was fate?

Because of his fate, he mistook this child for his nephew.

He gave this child's family, master, a place to stay, a home. But what was the original fate of this child?

He had been born an abandoned illegitimate son, so he hadn't had enough to eat since he was young. He had followed his mother and begged for a living by selling off his skills.

His mother had died. He was just a skinny child, dragging her rotting body along as he buried the only warmth of his childhood in the unmarked cemetery.

He had been beaten and scolded countless times. He had been locked up in a dog cage. He had been framed and imprisoned.

Everyone hoped that this world would be fair, but from the moment he was born, fate had always been unfair…

Why did the young master of the Venerable family here exchange his wealth for a beautiful smile?

The poor people there were displaced, so they had to eat the insects and the heaven and earth.

Why some people can indulge in a carefree act of coquettishness towards their mother.

However, some people would bring their mother's corpse to the tycoons of Wealthy Class and ask them for a "three feet hit, you can't ask for ten feet".

Why did someone dig himself and bury himself in the ground?

Some people were born rich.

It's not fair.

When fate had poured injustice on those at the bottom, a mere price adjustment order could take the lives of the loved ones around them.

Where is justice?

They were all living people. How could they not hate him? How could they feel relieved?

Even if this child had missed it, even if he was not his blood kin, even if his fate played with him… Thinking of this, his heart still ached.

Xue Zhengyong closed his eyes.

He muttered to himself, "It's too cruel, I don't think the Celestial Scale ever took into account the fact that his spirit core was destroyed…" Hundreds of times.

He raised his eyes, his voice trembling.

"Take the awl and gouge his heart, hundreds of times."

"…"

The heaven and earth was clear and bright. The Tianyin Pavilion was strict, impartial, and meticulous.

Xue raised his face and watched the clouds drift by.

“Okay, now that his sin has been repaid, he should at least repay the debt he owes this world.”

The wind was blowing.

Xue Zhengyong suddenly choked with sobs.

“But this world owes him… Did someone give it back to him… Has anyone returned it to him…”

Ch. 272 [Tianyin Pavilion] People May Talk

The public trial finally ended.

Even though there were voices and arguments, the result could not be changed.

The trial of the Tianyin Pavilion's scales of prowess had been passed down for a thousand years in the cultivation world. No one was able to escape, and naturally Mo Weiyu was not spared as well.

After clearing the area, Mo Ran was escorted to the Sky Sound Pavilion's penitential counter.

The magical equipment was tied up, the barrier was in place, and the guards stood still. He would kneel here for three days and three nights, accepting the mockery and curses of passersby until the day he dug up the spirit core.

It was a public announcement.

"Father, mother, I want to go see him."

Inside the guest room of the Tianyin Pavilion, Xue Meng could not sit still. He suddenly stood up, but was stopped by Madam Wang.

Madam Wang said, "Don't go."

It was rare for him to be so determined, but at this moment, he could not deny it.

"Don't go to the penitentiary. Don't look at him."

“Why?! I just. “I just…”

Madam Wang shook her head.

“The Sisheng Peak can’t even protect itself, how many people are ordering us to disperse today? You, father and son, must be calm. If there was anything wrong with the Sisheng Peak, both Yuheng and Gui`er, Even the last path of retreat has been cut off.”

Xue Meng was at a loss. “But will there really be people who fight against him and surround and scold him? I don’t know what’s going on with that Zhenlong Chess game, or why he can solve it. But…”

He buried his face in his hands and his voice was moist.

“But, he really saved us that day… Why haven’t some people experienced that day’s calamity and seen what happened on that day? Just by hearing those words, they would treat him like this.”

Why?

Xue Meng did not understand. He was too pure and clean.

But Madam Wang knew, and so did Xue Zhengyong.

The Tianyin Pavilion was the most impartial palace in the cultivation world — once something was fixed in nature, especially after experiencing countless years of cultivation, it would stand tall for thousands of years. Very few people would think about why it was just, whether it was wrong or not. In this kind of power, even if there were any retorts, they would be easily overshadowed.

Mo Weiyu was a sinner.

Because he was a sinner, anyone could talk to him and scold him.

Because they were scolding sinners and beating up sinners, even if they were drooling and punching, it was not violence, not venting, not following the wind, not a venting of jealousy, nor was it the boundless satisfaction one would get from a fallen tiger.

It was punishing evil for good.

Everyone should applaud and cheer. Whoever dared to speak out and plead for mercy, was his accomplice. He should be brought up on stage with his face painted and his hair cut off.

Xue Meng could not go to the confessional.

It would be crazy.

In the evening, it began to drizzle.

The penitential platform was open. Mo Ran was kneeling in the misty rain, the thin drizzle covering his face. His eyes were closed, the crowd surging, even the rain could not extinguish the excitement.

At this time, the cultivators had already dispersed. Those who remained were mostly ordinary people who didn't understand anything. These residents of the Upper Cultivation World did not cultivate for real, nor did they know about the various events that had occurred. However, they were extremely curious, holding up oil-paper umbrellas as they sized up this man that was tied up.

In the daytime, their stands were far away, making it impossible to see Mo Ran's appearance.

But when the penitentiary came to trial, these people were allowed to approach.

A girl said in surprise, “From what I heard from him in the morning, I thought he was some ugly monster with a green face and fierce teeth. I didn’t expect him to look so good.”

The strong guy next to his tidied up his cloak considerately and said, “You’re just too naive. In this world, there are countless good-looking people who have malicious intents. You must not be fooled by the appearance of such people.”

There were also parents who came with their children.

The father was a scholarly teacher of the Upper Cultivation World, a gentle and gentle man. He picked up his own child so that Mo Ran could see him kneel down on the ground.

“Did you see that? In the future, you must behave properly and never behave like those beasts.”

The child, who was five or six years old and was not very sensible, asked, “Father, what did he do wrong? Why is he kneeling here?”

“The number of mistakes he has committed is truly untold.” The teacher said sourly, “According to the Tianyin Pavilion’s public trial conclusion, he killed people, set fire to them, cultivated forbidden techniques, and deceived them. This man, he has no sense of shame, no humanity, he is cold-blooded, worse than dogs or pigs — when you grow up, do not be like him, do you remember?”

“Got it.”

Just as the father let out a breath of relief, he heard the child ask himself, “But father, do you know him?”

The father was stunned for a moment. “Me? Of course I don’t know him. Your father, I, am the most righteous teacher in the Upper Cultivation World, the Clearwind Institution. In my entire life, I have always been fair and square, and the people I have friends with are all knowledgeable and upright.”

He paused, as if he felt that he had to add fuel to the fire, and began to instruct the child: “Our family is a scholar’s family, and has been nurtured by excellent morals since childhood. To talk to a person like him, even if you speak an extra word, you should feel extremely ashamed and dirty. Do you remember?”

This time the child did not say he remembered, nor did he say he did not remember.

He puzzledly asked, “But father, since you don’t recognize him, how would you know that he… He… Hmm…” He tried to emulate his father’s words and recalled with difficulty, “What about him? We’re meeting him for the first time today. Didn’t it take a very long time to understand a person? For example, the Little Flower next door and I…”

The teacher: “You don’t understand. This is different. He’s been convicted.”

The child looked at Mo Ran with his large, clear black and white eyes. He said half-heartedly, “But this brother looks so pitiful… He doesn’t seem to be a bad person. That ‘Sound Chamber’, could it be that the interrogation was wrong?”

“You’re too young, that’s why you think that way. When you grow up, you will understand that the Tianyin Pavilion has always been the fairest and fairest place in the world. The temple left behind by the God of Heaven cannot be wrong.”

The child held his finger and stared at Mo Ran. He did not seem to understand, but as expected, he no longer spoke up for Mo Ran.

Deep into the night, the crowd gradually thinned and dispersed.

It was already late in the morning, and the drizzle had turned into heavy rain. There was no one left.

The night passed, and at daybreak, a peddler slowly pushed a cart past the city.

The rain was heavy and the wind was strong. The peddler was hunched over as he pushed his old wooden cart. At this moment, Mo Ran was half asleep and half awake. He could hear the sound of the wheels rolling on the limestone road and the heavy breathing of the peddler.

His consciousness began to wander as he absentmindedly thought that he was still wandering around in the outside world for the past few years.

He slightly opened his eyes as they lost focus.

But almost reflexively, just like every other night since he lost Chu Wanning, he instinctively wanted to help the exhausted peddler push the cart under the tree. He wanted to do whatever he could.

But he found he couldn’t stand up.

It was a long time before he remembered that those days of atonement were gone.

He was now a sinner appointed by the Tianyin Pavilion.

Suddenly, a strong wind blew, the wind was too fierce, the tarpaulin on the peddler's cart was rolled up, he tried to flatten it, but it was useless.

The tarpaulin was lifted and the pile of goods on the cart was thoroughly drenched by the rain. The poor man who was tired of running for a living was anxiously chasing the tarpaulin in the rain.

Mo Ran looked at him.

He felt terrible because he remembered his mother dancing for a copper coin.

In this world, there were always so many people who would have to bear the hardships of life and wander around for a meal when others were sleeping peacefully.

He wanted to help him.

On this quiet rainy night, he felt so at ease that he could recall many things from the past. He thought back to the time when he had giggled and said those words to his mother.

"When I have a future, I will build many houses, and everyone will have a place to live. No one will be hungry or cold anymore."

In fact, Mo Ran didn't understand why none of the Tianyin Pavilion disciples attending to the hawker had stepped forward to help him.

It was obviously a simple task.

However, these people stood tall and straight like pines. This was the most solemn and dignified act of the Tianyin Pavilion, but they did not move at all. Their bodies were like boulders, and their hearts were roughly the same as the boulders.

The peddler ran after the tarpaulin, panting for breath. The tarpaulin was blown and rolled all the way to the penitentiary, to Mo Ran.

A hand as thin as an old tree bark had finally caught it.

Mo Ran breathed a sigh of relief and felt relieved for him.

But the peddler knew that his car's contents had been drenched, and his mood was extremely poor, yet he didn't know how to vent it. He held the tarpaulin in his hands, and when his heart ached, he suddenly realized that Mo Ran was looking at him.

He turned and stared at him.

Suddenly, he gritted his teeth and spat fiercely at Mo Ran's face. "What are you looking at! What's there to look at! You want to laugh at me? Damn thing! Let's see how you die!"

He did not want to vent his anger, but he did not dare to get too close. He picked up a few rocks beside him and threw them at Mo Ran.

The young disciples of the Tianyin Pavilion were used to this.

They would laugh in private and say, "As long as you can distinguish good from evil, you will always hate those felons. It doesn't matter if you hit them twice."

They are very understanding of the mood of the people.

Thus, they didn't stop them often.

A few pieces of stone hit his face, but it didn't hurt.

But Mo Ran was trembling slightly.

Seeing him tremble, and seeing him in pain, the peddler seemed to feel that his misfortune and misery today was nothing. His resentment was somewhat lifted as he dragged his weak body towards the cart and covered it with a tarpaulin before walking away.

The rain had washed away all the sputum the peddler spat out, and had also washed away all the stains.

The rain was getting heavier and heavier, and the world was clean.

Daybreak had arrived.

One by one, the cultivators of the Tianyin Pavilion walked out of the city gate, passing by Mo Ran. They either turned a blind eye to him or looked down on him.

A pair of black boots suddenly stopped in front of Mo Ran.

An umbrella leaned down, blocking out the patter.

Mo Ran was silent as he slept, unaware.

Until he heard someone arguing.

A gentle and deep voice sounded, but it was very insistent, "Give him a barrier to protect him from the rain."

“Without the Pavilion Master’s order, the Penitent Platform is not to be touched at all.”

Mo Ran opened his eyes and saw a tall and straight man in a daze — no, not a man. It was Ye Wangxi. She was adamant, “The day of execution has not arrived. You should not do this to him.”

“What did we do to him?” Someone frowned, “Miss Ye, you have to be responsible for your words. The Tianyin Pavilion does things according to the rules, but the heavens do not see him through. This rain is not our punishment.”

Anger flashed across Ye Wangxi’s eyes, “Isn’t this punishment? All night! You let him get wet like this all last night? If I hadn’t seen it today…”

Below, a group of people from Bitan Manor were passing by. They were Zhen Congming and his juniors.

Hearing the commotion, Zhen Congming raised his eyebrows and sneered: “Oh wow, the leader of the hidden city of Rufeng Sect is meddling in other people’s business again?”

“Hold up the umbrella for the sinner, hur hur.”

People crowded around them and whispered to each other. A few female cultivators rolled their eyes and started whispering to each other.

Unfortunately, their voices weren’t low.

“I heard that back in Rufeng Sect, the man in black who stood up for Ye Wangxi was none other than Mo Ran.”

“What? Why didn’t I know. She actually helped this evil bastard?”

“Mo Ran even killed his godmother! How could he treat Ye Wangxi so well?”

After a moment of silence, someone opened his eyes wide, covered his mouth with a handkerchief, and changed his color. “Oh my god, could it be that the two of them are…”

What is it?

Very smart. No one had made it clear at the moment. However, their faces were filled with disgust and excitement. Irresponsible speculation was too comfortable, like a prolonged and fierce climax that spread through the crowd and the rain.

They stared at the two people on the stage.

A man and a woman.

Why would a woman be willing to help a dejected man? Had she slept with him? She must have slept with him. She must have loved him to death.

So dirty.

Mo Ran raised his eyes and glanced at Ye Wangxi. He tried to speak, but for the first time he couldn’t.

He could only swallow his saliva and say hoarsely, “Miss Ye…”

“You’re awake?”

Ye Wangxi lowered her head, she was still the same gentle and upright look.

“… You can go. Don’t stand here. It’s not good for you.”

Ye Wangxi didn’t leave. She brought a pot of warm water with her. She bent over, holding the umbrella while opening the pot. The umbrella tilted and a large portion of the rain fell on her body.

“Drink something…”

Someone from the Tianyin Pavilion immediately came forward to stop her. “Miss Ye, no one is allowed to give food to a prisoner.”

“Can the prisoner be beaten up by bystanders?”

Although Ye Wangxi did not see what happened last night, there were stones of all sizes scattered around Mo Ran. There were also bruises on his forehead and cheeks.

She stared at them with a certain ferocity in her eyes.

The shadow of an old friend gradually appeared on her body.

“Isn’t the Tianyin Pavilion supposed to act impartially? Is this your fairness?”

Those people knew they were in the wrong, so they didn’t say anything more. The leader looked embarrassed, and coughed lightly: “Forget about the water, he can’t eat anything else.”

Ye Wangxi fed him some warm water.

Mo Ran said in a low voice, “Why…”

“You helped A-Si.” Ye Wangxi did not raise her head. “You helped me too.”

“… On Mount Jiao, if I was the one to die, Nangong Si would…”

Ye Wangxi’s hand paused slightly. She was trembling, but she still said in the end, “Everyone wants to live. I won’t blame you just because you want to live.”

“…”

“Drink it.” She said, “Xue Meng won’t be able to come, he’s been stopped by his parents. I’m holding an umbrella here, and you’ve been helping me and A-Si by risking our lives. Now, even if no one is willing to help you, I will still help you.”

Her expression was still dull, but it was firm.

“I’m here.”

As she said ‘here’, she was indeed standing by the side of Mo Ran. The Tianyin Pavilion did not allow the enchantment to be opened, so she held an umbrella in her hand. She tilted it slightly to shield Mo Ran from the rain.

With her standing up, there were no more people throwing stones, but the words of discussion became more and more unpleasant to hear.

An androgynous demon. A well-dressed beast.

A good and bad woman. A heartless murderer.

Why is there no excuse for the crime you wish to commit? Furthermore, everyone knew that the man kneeling on the ground would never be able to turn the situation around. The woman standing beside him had long since lost her sect and had no one to rely on.

No matter how ugly their curses were, who would care about them?

It was at this moment that Mo Ran realized how many warriors there were in the world. They came out one after the other, impassioned and impassioned, like bamboo shoots after a spring rain.

So righteous, indignant, and resentful of evil.

In the past, these people had gone somewhere.

The Tianyin Pavilion's interrogation was the hardest thing to come by. It would take at least ten years for anyone to obtain such an honor.

The onlookers came and left in waves, echoing back and forth like the tides. Someone said, "Mo Ran had done a lot of good things before, but now it seems like he has some ulterior motives. He even stayed in our village for a while. Just thinking about such a murderous demon is enough to make one tremble."

"I heard his mother is that Duan Yihan, did you all know?"

"Duan Yihan? The music immortal that's hard to find?" Wenren was surprised, "Isn't that girl very nice? I've heard that she's talented, gentle, noble, and kind-hearted…"

Immediately, someone said in a weird tone, "You men are really interesting, aren't you? These days, you can even be praised as noble and noble. I think that this world has truly changed. In my heart, you don't even have a shred of morals."

The man who was being retorted with displeasure, “Duan Yihan is a songstress, not a prostitute. She has been in the music industry for so many years, yet she had never received a single flower guest…”

“Do you think that’s because you’re poor that she didn’t accept it? This kind of woman, as long as we have enough money, what’s there to be ashamed of?”

At this time, someone exclaimed, “What’s the difference between a music artist and a prostitute? They were all people who didn’t know self-respect and were shameless. These days, there are actually people arguing on behalf of prostitutes. Who would have thought that the morals would have reached such a low level in the cultivation world.”

The one who spoke was none other than the teacher who came yesterday with a child in his arms.

Today, he was not carrying his own child, but was holding a pile of books. Behind him was a group of bookkeepers from the academy. The teacher slightly raised his chin, appearing extremely tall.

Someone recognized him and politely said, “Mister Ma, it’s quite early to end class today.”

“Paper has to have a shallow end.” The teacher said, “The reason for coming out of school early today is to bring students to be taught personally and to see the world.”

After he finished speaking, he shot a glance at the Young Master who spoke up for Duan Yihan and snorted disdainfully, “But I didn’t expect that I would actually hear such shocking words. It has really broadened my horizons and caused me to be deeply worried for my culture in the world of cultivation."

"Yes, what Mister Ma said is right. Teacher is truly a model of morality."

"Mister has put a lot of effort into becoming a teacher."

The man who was brave enough to defend Duan Yihan earlier was both embarrassed and angry, but the surrounding people were all laughing at him. His face was flushed red like a pig's liver, and he couldn't say anything else.

At first, Mo Ran was furious, but afterwards, he was powerless.

There was nothing he could do but listen as his mother, long dead, became stinking between the lips of the crowd.

He could only let the woman who had warned him before he died, "Remember your kindness, don't take revenge!", be chewed into a prostitute or a woman who gave birth to a lowly scum.

He couldn't block the opening.

Ye Wangxi waited patiently for a long time, but finally, she couldn't take it anymore. He took a step forward, wanting to argue with the crowd.

But Mo Ran called to her in a low voice, "Stop it."

"…"

"It's useless."

Ye Wangxi returned to his side. The rain had gradually stopped, but her umbrella had yet to close. It was as if this thin oil-paper umbrella could block anything.

Mo Ran looked at her and said hoarsely after a while, “Don’t stand here with me. Miss Ye, if you trust me… return to the Tianyin Pavilion, find Xue Meng, and find the people at the Sisheng Peak… Tell them…”

He paused for a moment.

At this moment, he didn’t even have the strength to speak.

“Tell them, listen to me, try. Find Hua Binan as soon as possible… Find my Shizun…”

When he mentioned Chu Wanning, his heart ached again.

Where was Chu Wanning?

Listening to Shi Mei’s tone didn’t hurt him, but where would he be taken by Shi Mei, and what would he be forced to do?

He couldn’t think too deeply about it.

“The first forbidden technique has truly been released. You have to prepare for it as soon as possible.” Mo Ran’s eyelashes rustled, “…” I can’t block the second attack. But there would definitely be a second time… Please believe me. I have no other intentions. I just want this to stop.”

We can’t go on like this.

I don’t want to repeat the same mistake again and see Chu Wanning call out Huaisha.

I don’t want to see him by himself again.

Ch. 273 [Tianyin Pavilion] Different Path

Within the main hall of Mount Jiao, a single lamp was lit.

Nangong Liu was sleeping soundly beside the throne. Beside him were two oranges that he had not finished eating.

Suddenly, a slender figure appeared at the corner. A shadow landed on Nangong Liu's body and slowly approached him. The man's steps were slow, and he pointed at his staff. A snow-white silk cloth covered the soft bridge of his nose, completely covering his eyes.

"Ugh…" Perhaps it was due to the sound of the cane hitting the ground disturbing Nangong Liu. He woke up from a shallow dream and rubbed his eyes, somewhat at a loss. What happened to your eyes?"

The person who appeared within the hall was precisely the blind Shi Mei who had appeared mysteriously before, trying his best not to appear in front of the crowd.

Nangong Liu stared blankly, "Didn't you go to the Tianyin Pavilion?"

Shi Mei shook his head: "It's a long story, so I won't go into details with you." After a slight pause, he continued, "Liu, I should have left a copy of the Zhenlong Troop Index on the table. Can you help me find it?"

"What's wrong with that?" Nangong Liu immediately searched the table and quickly found the list of weapons made of silk. "Here."

"Thank you very much."

Shi Mei's slender fingers moved over the silk slowly. His eyes were already blind, so he couldn't see the words on it. However, this type of weapon wasn't just using characters to record things, just in case.

He could read it with his spiritual energy. He stood in the empty hall, reading its contents bit by bit. It was written on the cover that Hua Binan had used to force Mo Ran to burn down his own spirit core.

In his previous life, the people of Linling Island numbered 46,000.

Wubei Temple had 13,000 people.

……

All this.

All of the top disciples of his previous life.

Shi Mei held the soft and delicate silk cloth, feeling numb at first. In his mind, he thought, "So the sacrifice that I mentioned in my previous life is this kind of a mountain of corpses and a sea of blood?"

All of the disciples at the Sisheng Peak.

All of them had been turned into Zhenlong Chess pieces, and for the sake of Taxian-Jun on, no one had been spared other than Xue Meng?

However, he clearly remembered that Hua Binan had gently said to him, "You know, I am also used to life and death. The human world is filled with hardships, and I only wish for evil to not be done. I hope that very few people have died on this path, otherwise my conscience will not be at peace."

That was what Hua Binan had just said to him after passing through the space crack.

There is much suffering in the human world, but do not do evil, and you have no choice but to suffer.

This was not too different from his own thoughts. He was ruthless, but it was not what he wanted. He was also forced to do it.

“Conscience is hard to settle…” At that time, he had begged him to say those words to him. However, he had killed everyone in the world in the other world.

However, it was only now that he realized it.

“My dear brother, you… what happened to you?” There was blood rushing to his head, Nangong Liu’s anxious voice could be heard, “Your face is so ugly, why are you trembling? You. Are you sick? Are you cold?”

Suddenly, a wave of warmth wrapped around him. It was Nangong Liu who had taken off his robe and put it on him in a flurry.

“Come, I’m not cold. I’ll give you my clothes.”

That sinner who once hid needles and calculated everything had become so simple after losing his spiritual sense.

Maybe everyone had this kind of anxiety, worry, and sincerity when they were young? However, after being refined by the passage of time, his heart and face had developed the same wrinkles.

He no longer looked like himself.

Shi Mei was wrapped in Nangong Liu's clothes. He was cold, cold to the bone.

His vision became blurry as blood flowed out from under the white cloth… He slumped back in his seat and curled himself into a ball.

"He's not me… He's not me…" Shi Mei mumbled to himself.

Nangong Liu was at a loss listening on the side. "What?"

Shi Mei curled his face into the crook of his arm. The tiny tremor spread throughout his entire body. He didn't even want to touch the silk again.

"I want to save people, and I know that sacrifices are inevitable. I know that there will be many schemes, and I will not live up to my sincerity, so I was already prepared to die for sure. When he discussed with me that I should donate my eyes, I did not hesitate either. But I…"

"Good friend, big brother…"

Nangong Liu covered his hair with his hand, like comforting a child. He clumsily comforted him.

Shi Mei suddenly choked with sobs: "But I really didn't think that he would kill so many people……"

The silk cloth floated to the ground. On it were recorded the experiences of almost all cultivators and commoners in the world of mortals.

They were all bones.

After a long while, when Nangong Liu was about to squat down to the side, not knowing what to do, Shi Mei slowly supported himself on the cold table and slowly stood up.

Nangong Liu quickly asked, “Where are you going?”

Shi Mei stood still for a while. He seemed to be really confused about where he should go. After Nangong Liu asked for the third time, he came to a sudden realization. He bit his lips and said, “Secret room.”

He could not continue to be wrong. He had to go save his Shizun.

Arriving at the door of the secret room, he touched it and realized that Hua Binan had actually placed an extremely profound forbidden spell on the stone door.

“…” Shi Mei was startled, but then he smiled bitterly.

From the Silk Cloth Troop to the Forbidden Spell on the Stone Door. He suddenly felt that he was so ridiculous.

He was wary of him, so he used a forbidden spell. It was a spell that logically speaking, he had never learnt before. In the end, Hua Binan didn’t trust him at all.

“Sorry to disappoint you.” A blue light appeared in his hand as he moved towards the heart of the formation.

“Perhaps the old you haven’t learned this spell at my age. But I have, and you just don’t know it.”

The stone door to the secret room suddenly opened.

Who will live again, and the path of life will be the same?

Even if it were the same person, perhaps because they had avoided the rain on a spring day and slept soundly in the shade of a summer tree, their lives would have changed because of this.

Shi Mei hesitated for a while in front of the door to the secret room, but eventually, he slowly walked in.

Inside the secret room, there was a candle lamp burning with nine dragons, emitting a pure and bright light. However, this light was of no use to the two people inside the room.

One of them was unconscious, the other blind.

Shi Mei, who was wearing a bandage on his head, sat by the side of Chu Wanning's bed. He stretched out his hand and stroked his face with his slender white fingers.

He softly murmured, "Shizun…"

Chu Wanning did not wake up, nor did he respond. His face was still burning.

The soul split apart had merged into one.

He endured the fragmented memories that belonged to Mo Ran, suffering in his dreams.

Shi Mei's fingertip lit up with a bright light and pointed at the side of his neck. A gentle spiritual power, like water, flowed through his entire body.

"Are you better?"

Still no one answered him.

Shi Mei lowered his eyelashes. He knew that Chu Wanning was still sleeping, otherwise he would not have been able to muster up the courage to go into the stone room and sit beside him.

He was dazed for a moment, as if he had thought of many things, but also as if he had not thought of anything.

In fact, before he entered the sect, when he was still very young, he had a wish in his heart. For this wish, it was worth it to sacrifice anything.

He knew very well what his destiny was, so he had never felt that he had made a mistake.

However, one day, spacetime was reversed, and he suddenly appeared in front of another person. He was covered in dust from the mortal world.

He had seen himself more than ten years later.

Putting aside the surprise and fear, when he first saw him in his youth, his greatest feeling was disharmony — he didn't know what had caused him to become like this. Cold, cunning, impatient, desperate.

However, in order to achieve their common goal, he finally agreed to Hua Binan's request. It was only because they had done this that they had come to this step.

In these past few years, the master of the two mortal world had each assumed their respective duties. The one who stayed by Mo Ran's side had always been him, while the one controlling the other, Shi Mingjing, was the one who returned from his transmigration.

Just like how Taxian-Jun and Mo-zongshi were like two different people, he and that Shi Mingjing were actually not that similar. Due to their different experiences, Shi Mingjing was more like a scheming Cold Scale Sacred Hand. In the current of time, he actually became a spy on the chess board of the Sacred Hand.

Now that he thought about it, before Hua Binan broke through the gate of life and death, he could be considered a ruthless young warrior. But after working with Hua Binan, he had been telling him to restrain his edge and learn how to disguise himself.

When he was a teenager, he had a huge argument with Hua Binan, “I’ve had enough. How long do you want me to pretend? He was gentle and kind everywhere, and he could only swallow his anger. Who can remember that so many lies and lies are in cahoots with you?”

At that time, when he had returned from the Jincheng Lake with Mo Ran and the others, Hua Binan was not satisfied with his performance in front of Zhaixin Liu so he scolded him a few times. He did not expect that the reaction of Shi Mei would be so huge, he could not help but be startled: “I was just reminding you to be careful and not be caught.”

“You speak quite lightly.” He bit his lip. “When have I ever failed to confirm Mo Ran’s intentions when you asked me to do it again and again? Do you know how disgusting it is to flirt with someone you don’t like?”

Hua Binan seemed to not know how to respond. After a while, he said, “I’ve experienced everything that you’ve experienced. What right do you have to say that I don’t know?”

“But I have never experienced what you experienced!”

“…”

“Ever since you came to this world, you’ve told me that what I do is wrong and what you do is right. Yes, you are. For that purpose, I am willing to listen to you and give my all for it. But Hua Binan.” The more Shi Mei said, the more excited he became. He panted and his eyes were red, “You better know that you don’t have the right to criticize me.”

This was the first time he had such a huge conflict with his young self since he had transmigrated into this world.

“You failed in your world, so you came here through the Gate of Life and Death rift to start over. But you have to be clear, I’m not your chess piece.”

“…”

“I’m conspiring with you for our common purpose.”

Hua Binan closed his eyes, “You think too much. No one will treat you as a chess piece.”

Shi Mei was still very excited: “Forget it, ever since you sensed Mo Ran’s rebirth, which one of these things didn’t happen according to your instructions? It’s me who has been watching the hibernating Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower in his body all this time for you! It’s me!”

“…”

“Ever since the first time he appeared in Wuchang Town, you were in a hurry for me to ‘bump into’ him. From now on, you have me carry small dishes to spy on him, not to mention the things you did to get me to deliberately distance myself from him and Chu Wanning.” Shi Mei stared at Hua Binan’s increasingly embarrassed face with his peach blossom eyes, “I’m going to puke from my acting!”

“Even without me, you would have done these things.” Hua Binan gritted his teeth and said, “Don’t think that I am the one forcing you. I have done all of these in my previous life. Mo Ran is the host of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower, only by repeatedly verifying his emotions can you know the situation with the Flower curse in his body. Do you think that I have not suffered all these grievances?”

Seeing that Shi Mei did not immediately refute, Hua Binan continued: “In my previous life, I did the same thing as you. I also kept on pretending until the Ghost World split, and I used my own death to fuel the hatred in his heart. After that, I started my life as Hua Binan.”

“…”

“I’ve endured for so long. Why can’t you bear it in just a short one and a half years?”

Shi Mei suddenly raised his head: “Do you even need to ask? You’re fighting for yourself. What about me?”

Hua Binan: “…. What’s the difference between you and me?”

“There’s a difference. If I can, I don’t want to be manipulated.” Shi Mei stared at him, and then said the last part of his sentence, “Even if it’s me from another world.”

However, it was difficult to fulfill one’s wish. No matter how indignant he was, after the argument that broke out that day, Shi Mei had no choice but to bow his head to fate.

He was, after all, too young to have experienced many unforeseen events, and he knew exactly what he wanted at the end, so he would eventually compromise on his previous life.

All these years, he had been constantly being manipulated by the other world's him, living more like a puppet than a Zhenlong chess piece. It would be false to say that there was no boredom. However, whenever he was extremely agitated, he would constantly remind himself that all this suffering was nothing for the sake of the great things he had planned.

"When can we end this show?" This became his most common question to Hua Binan, "When is the sky splitting?"

The answer that Hua Binan gave him was usually like fishing for a radish in front of a flower donkey: "Soon, it will be faster than in my previous life."

He waited day after day, patiently waiting.

After that, the door to the ghost realm finally opened, and he believed that he could die to free himself, just like how he had in his previous life. However, he hadn't expected that Chu Wanning would die in this battle.

That night, the conflict between him and Hua Binan had reached an unprecedented level. In the tightly shut disciple's room, Shi Mei had smashed all of the blue and white porcelain bowls in front of him, and his chest was heaving violently —

"How can I pretend to continue? Shizun is dead, do you think you can calculate so far?"

Hua Binan's face was extremely ugly: "How can you blame me for this? If you want to blame someone, you should blame Mo Ran too. He acted rashly." His fingers were clenched into a fist on the table, almost sinking into the palm of his hand. His voice suddenly turned sharp, “He was the one who killed Chu Wanning.”

“… Yes, it’s him.” Shi Mei’s eyes turned red, but he tried his best not to cry. Ever since he was young, his mother had warned him not to cry no matter what he encountered.

Hua Binan was the same.

“If he’s the one who killed shizun, then don’t stop me. I’ll go kill him now!”

“Are you crazy?” Hua Binan raised his head all of a sudden.

“Oh?” Shi Mei gasped and nodded his head, his eyes full of provocation, “You know the word ‘crazy’?”

Hua Binan gritted his teeth and said: “…… Protecting Mo Ran, refining him, and controlling him are the keys to our work. As for everything else, it’s not what you should be thinking.”

“Look, that’s it. You are the Cold Scale Sacred Hand, so you can follow the other cultivators and worship Chu-zongshi from afar, or even scold Mo Ran whenever you want — but what about me? What kind of shitty bullshit are you telling me?”

“…”

Shi Mei sat down on his chair. He had a disdainful look on his face as he said, “The first thing you told me today was to make sure that the Cursed Flower Mo Ran had had completely lost its effectiveness and that it could still be saved.”

He murmured as he slowly raised his eyes a few inches high and looked at the pale white face of Hua Qingan.

Mockingly, he said, “You want me to confess to Mo Ran right now? Telling me that Chu Wanning must not be allowed to take my place in his heart?”

His words were as sharp as needles, piercing towards Hua Binan and himself.

He sneered, “Who the hell is the crazy one between us?”

Hua Binan suddenly closed his eyes, and his pupils rolled under his thin eyelids. Then he said, “I can’t do anything about it. Due to the sacrifices made by Chu Wanning in his previous life, Mo Ran’s Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was already in a precarious situation. If it were to be completely destroyed, it would be even more difficult to control Mo Ran.”

“so you put off all the things you couldn't accomplish on me, right?!” Shi Mei could no longer hold it in and suddenly slammed the table and stood up, “Shizun just left… Have you considered my feelings?”

“…”

“Don’t you like him?”

After Shi Mei said this, his voice couldn’t help but tremble.

The room was deathly silent.

At last he sat down and put his hand to his forehead, and his long eyelashes trembled under the palm of his hand. For a moment, no one made a sound. Rain poured outside the window, and the world seemed as if it had been cracked by the thunder and lightning.

After a long time, he heard Hua Binan sigh softly, “…A’Nan, I can’t do anything to you.”

Shi Mei’s reaction was stiff and cold: “Don’t call me A’Nan.”

“…”

“I’m not like you. Call me Shi Mei, or Shi Mingjing.”

Ch. 274 [Tianyin Pavilion] One Thousand

Most people would change. Even if they were the same person, they would initially look the same. However, due to all kinds of fortuitous encounters, the variables would change. After ten or twenty years, their personalities and circumstances would no longer be the same.

In fact, when he had planted the Curse on Mo Ran, he had been a cold-hearted and resolute person.

In his eyes, other than his own revenge and his own pursuit, there was nothing else he could do.

However, at that time, when he was looking at his actions in the mortal world, he suddenly wanted to know if Hua Binan had ever felt that uncomfortable and cold in his heart.

In the end, he did as he instructed. At this point of his sacrifice, he could not dismount from the tiger.

He knew very well that personal relationships would make a big mistake come to naught. Nothing was more important than stabilizing Mo Ran and protecting himself.

In any case, he had been acting for so long, and after wearing so many years of mask, he was sick to his bones, so he became numb. What show, what show, even if it wasn't Chu Wanning's death, it would not change anything.

He just stood by the Bridge of Helplessness holding the Soul Lamp given by master Huaizui and didn't go anywhere. He couldn't help but feel envious even when he wasn't willing to go through fire and water for someone he loved.

It would be great if he could be like Xue Meng and Mo Ran to make decisions for his own life, or perhaps think he could make decisions for others.

But fate had never been his. He was like a little boy from a pear garden, unresigned but silent as he played the play in his hands that only he could achieve perfection.

In the beginning, he had seduced Mo Ran.

Mo Ran smiled at him and said, "Shi Mei, I really like you."

Afterwards, he had used Xu Shuanglin.

Xu Shuanglin lazily tossed the tangerine in the air, squinting his eyes. "I've drifted for my entire life, but I never thought I'd meet such a friend like you. Many thanks to you for being willing to teach me the forbidden technique of rebirth. When that trash, Luo Fenghua, revives, I will definitely make him cook a bowl of Soup Dumplings for you — you don't know, the Soup Dumplings he cooked are the most delicious. I'm only willing to let you taste it because I think highly of you."

At the end of the day, the picture was the same.

Like the worst case scenario he and Hua Binan had discussed earlier, he had to sacrifice himself in order to stir up his Shizun and friends. He had to make the Space and Time Gate open at that critical moment.

He was a man with a chess piece.

But ten years later, he came and became his pawn.

The feeling of being controlled was actually not that pleasant. It was not that he did not hate them, but his heart was too persistent and his desire was too deep. He did not want to give up so easily.

However…

He truly did not know that the “tiny sacrifice” of his worldly self meant the loss of hundreds of thousands of lives.

It was only after he had opened the gate of life and death that he had seen the cruel truth.

In the end, this Shi Mingjing was not like that. He had not experienced that decade, nor had he experienced the day after day of his downfall.

At this moment, he truly could not understand his own self ten years later.

But there was no way out.

At this moment, he was no more than an abandoned child, just like the black-and-white armors on the chessboard. He had lost his edge, and was no longer of any use.

“Shizun.” The light was hazy, reflecting his beautiful face, he was still calm and gentle, “Actually, I have thought about this matter for a long time… I was thinking that Mo Ran could start all over again and become different. I was wondering, if I could turn back, would I also make a different choice because of my thinking?”

The room was very quiet, and only his voice could be heard.

“However, it’s already too late. I know that Shizun already hates me to the bones, and Mo Ran also hates me to the bones. Even Young Master wouldn’t treat me as a friend anymore… Regardless of whether or not I hesitated along the way, I still have his appearance in the end.”

He placed his hand on Chu Wanning’s hot cheek and quietly distributed the healed spiritual energy to him.

“I’m sorry, I’ve disappointed Shizun. The only good thing is that I’m blind and don’t have to see you hate me.”

After pausing for a moment, Shi Mei smiled. As he smiled, the entire room turned into spring.

“The last thing I saw was that you were sad for me. That’s enough.”

He untied the immortal binding rope from Chu Wanning’s hands, removed the forbidden spell on the bed, and removed the curse on the stone door.

After doing all of this, Shi Mei turned around and slowly left the secret chamber while rubbing his hands.

He walked away, swallowed by darkness.

At the same time, on the ground of the Tianyin Pavilion.

Mr. Ma, the corrupt teacher, had just returned from the private school. He entered the house, tapping his sore shoulder. As usual, he went to the kitchen to make himself a cup of eight treasure tea.

He pushed the door open and entered. It was pitch black.

Mr. Ma could not help but frown. He rubbed the lampstand and shouted: “Madam? Why didn’t you light a candle at night? This is…”

With a “chi” sound, the fire knife and the fire stone shined brightly.

Mr. Ma lost his voice and stood silently in the middle of the room. He could clearly see that all the servants in his house had been strangled to death, just like a string of wind chimes hanging on a beam. His wife, her stomach ripped open, her bloody intestines all over the floor, her eyes and mouth open, her head turned in the direction of the door.

“Ahh…” Mr. Ma wanted to scream, but the words that came out of his mouth were extremely vague, trembling, and powerless. After a while, his scalp went numb as he screamed miserably, losing bowel control, “Ah!”

“Tsk. What are you whining about?” A man came out of the back room with a scroll in his hand. He scratched his neck with the scroll and yawned, “Haven’t you seen a dead man before?”

“You… You, you, you! Mo — Mo……!”

The man snapped his fingers and lazily explained, “Silent Curse.”

“Wha… What spell?”

“Obliterating Curse, you don’t even know that?” The man rolled his eyes, “This reputed one is currently studying the classics in Teacher’s room and knows that it is bad for the neighbors to rest so late at night. Come. If anyone can hear you, please do not hesitate to blame me.”

Mr. Ma’s face was as pale as a ghost. When he stood on two sides, he was usually alone, but when had he ever seen such a bloody scene? He was so frightened that he started sweating all over, and after a while he said with a shaky voice, “Mo… You demon. Devil… You. Shouldn’t you be at the Tianyin Pavilion…? You. You…”

“Tianyin Pavilion?”

The man lifted his purplish black eyes and smiled.

“Not bad, I went there to take a look. How else could you have heard what you said the other day?”

As he spoke, he threw the book aside, straightened his body, and slowly walked towards the teacher.

The lantern light shone upon his handsome face. Who else could it be other than Taxian-Jun?

Taxian-Jun smiled, his dimples were deep, and he actually clasped his hands in front of him, “In my life, I have always admired the ability of a scholar. It would be very rude of me to come and kill your whole family. Greetings, mister.”

This tone was eccentric. In addition, it was the tone of someone who had died in vain.

Even if there were only seventeen or eighteen people with the surname Ma, he still wouldn’t have the guts. He fell to the ground with a thud, gasping for breath, “What are you trying to do… What are you trying to do!”

Taxian-Jun only smiled as he raised his hand and a blade appeared in his palm.

He turned his face to look at the teacher. “Guess?”

“Don’t kill me!” Mr. Ma screamed miserably as he continuously retreated, “Don’t kill me!”

As he was retreating, he bumped into something. As he turned his head, he saw his wife’s dead face and he cried out, “No no no! No, no — no, please. Don’t. AHHHHHHH! Ah Ah Ah Ah Ah Ah!”

What answered was a knife stabbing down, straight into his thigh, straight through the ground!

“AHHHH!”

Taxian-Jun narrowed his eyes, his smile was kind and sweet: “May I ask, Sir… What’s the difference between a musician and a prostitute?”

“W-what?” Mr. Ma stared blankly, the pain was so painful that he didn’t have the brains to think. He could only cry, “What…”

“You said it yourself.” Taxian-Jun slowly said, “Sir said so in front of the Tianyin Pavilion. The musicians, the prostitutes, the prostitutes… they were all people who did not know self-respect and dignity, and were also shameless. These days, there are actually people arguing on behalf of the prostitutes. Who would have thought that my morals would have reached such a low level in the cultivation world.”

He imitated the tone of the teacher and remained calm and collected.

After saying that, he paused for a moment, sneered, and turned his handsome face to the side.

“Is it familiar, sir?”

At last, Mr. Ma realized something after being frightened. He remembered that these were the words he had said to attack Mo Weiyu's mother, so he hurriedly said with tears flowing from his nose, "No no no, I'm confused! I'm confused! This…" He swallowed his saliva and said with a face covered in sweat, "A prostitute is a prostitute, a musician is a musician… No, it's not the same, it's not the same…"

"How is it different? This Venerable one felt that what Mister said was very reasonable." Taxian-Jun's face didn't seem to be smiling as he walked over and raised his blade, "Speaking of which, my brain isn't working well. I'm in need of someone to guide me. If you have such a clever tongue, why don't you give it to me, eh?"

"No… No, no, no! Grandmaster, spare me! Please have mercy, lord cultivator!" Mr. Ma's incoherent words made him break out in a cold sweat. "Please, I beg of you, for your great kindness and righteousness…"

Taxian-Jun smiled merrily. "What Grandmaster? Do you have long ears? — Your Majesty."

"Your highness… Your Majesty?" Mr. Ma was startled, but who cares. As long as he was alive, he could call him father. And then, one after another, "Your Majesty! Your majesty, spare me! Your Majesty, please be merciful!"

Taxian-Jun crouched down, pinched his chin, and said with a smile, "Ai. Moral role model, I ask you, am I shameless, or is mister shameless?"

"I, I, I! It's me, it's me! It's me. It's…"

"But what's the point of sparing your life?"

Taxian-Jun exerted force into his palm. Amidst his wails and pleads, he broke his throat with a bright smile.

After doing all of this, the man in black looked around the room and confirmed with satisfaction that no one was still alive. He then stood up, wiped the blood off his hands, and walked out of the courtyard.

Hua Binan was waiting for him outside.

“Finished venting?”

“More or less.”

“Can you come with me back to the Tianyin Pavilion to prepare?”

Taxian-Jun glanced at him. “Fine.”

Hua Binan shook his head: “I really can’t do anything about you. Even with such a small grudge, you still have to care about it. Isn’t it just a few words from your mother? As for you…”

“How about I say a few words to your mother?”

“…”

Hua Binan’s expression changed slightly. He turned his face to the side and no longer answered.

“Let’s go. Didn’t you say that you would return Mo-zongshi’s heart to my body tomorrow? Then what are you waiting for, I can’t wait.”

As Taxian-Jun spoke, his robe fluttered as he strode in the direction of the Tianyin Pavilion.

Golden light radiated everywhere, and the clouds had just begun to glow. The sky quickly brightened up.

Accompanied by an extremely terrified and miserable scream, the corpses of Mr. Ma and his family were discovered by the neighbors who had woken up earlier. This kind of murder should be able to cause a huge commotion, but unfortunately, it did not happen.

Because at this very moment, an even more eye-catching judgement was in progress.

On the execution platform of the Tianyin Pavilion, the torches were burning fiercely. When the wax melted, it gave off the fragrance of pine and cypress. The two maids from the Tianyin Pavilion were dressed in robes of gold, their jade-like arms graceful as they lit up the lampstands on both sides of the platform.

Strangely, the guards of the Tianyin Pavilion were all extraordinarily good-looking. It was unknown if the male and female beauty was due to the mental cultivation method cultivated by the Tianyin Pavilion, or if it was due to the fact that Mu Yanli had taken a liking to their looks when accepting disciples.

“Heaven and earth naturally have their own brilliance, good and evil will eventually be rewarded.”

One after another, bronze candles lit up, and the flames were like bright red silk that fluttered in the air.

There were people everywhere.

Onstage, off the stage, southeast of the northwest direction.

The execution platform was so tightly blocked that not even a drop of water could leak out. Xue Meng sat on the Sisheng Peak's place, trembling slightly.

For the past three days, Xue Zhengyong had been begging everywhere, but it had been useless. Those cultivators were superstitious about the fairness of Tianliang, and also feared Mo Weiyu, who was in control of the Zhenlong Chess game.

"He saved us."

The people at the Sisheng Peak patiently tried to explain to everyone they could convince, "It was him who released his spirit core to save us that day. If he had a conspiracy, why would he do this?"

However, there were too many questions about Mo Ran's life, so no sect was willing to stand on their side. Even Guyue'ye and Taxue Palace remained neutral, keeping their silence.

The first forbidden technique that had been lost for thousands of years suddenly reappeared. Compared to the first public trial that was thousands of years old, it was much more powerful.

Only a fool would choose to believe the former.

So Xue Zhengyong's running seemed so stupid, and the defense of the Sisheng Peak was so weak.

Xue Meng vaguely thought, how about we take the jailbreak.

But he also knew that it was impossible.

There were guards of the Tianyin Pavilion everywhere, as well as the Sect Leaders and disciples of other sects. Below the stands were the commoners.

Countless pairs of eyes stared, unable to escape.

Therefore, digging for the spirit core was ultimately the end of it.

“The Tianyin Pavilion has issued a public notice for three days. The punishment for this crime has been decided.” Mu Yanli solemnly and elegantly looked down at the endless sea of people below. She rang the bell in her hand. “Bring the prisoner Mo Ran.”

From the prison to the execution platform, Mo Ran was being escorted away. A person with a broken spirit core was being watched by dozens of disciples of the Tianyin Pavilion.

They were vultures. However, he was going to die soon. Not many people would be able to survive after digging for their spirit cores. The vultures’ eyes flashed with the smell of blood.

“The body of the felon Mo Ran. Today at noon, you will be sentenced to death by the digging of his spirit core.” Mu Yanli’s voice was clear and cold. “There are ten counts. I hereby announce them to the world.”

The rain had stopped, but the ground was still wet. Mo Ran stood in the pool, the light of the sky and the shadow of the clouds hovering beneath his feet. He looked up and found Ye Wangxi in the crowd.

His dark eyes were fixed on her, inquiring. He asked if she had already followed his instructions and brought up the people at the Sisheng Peak. Asking her if she knew what was behind her.

Ye Wangxi nodded to him, and Mo Ran's lips curled into a bright, gentle smile, his eyes shining.

The weather was good.

The rain stopped.

"Crime number one, slaughter the people and disregard human life."

Mu Yanli's voice echoed within the Tianyin Pavilion, solemn and respectful.

"Crime number two, burn down a building to avenge your wrongdoings."

The Buddha in front of the burning incense, the divine Buddha in the clouds, either angry or benevolent, fell to sit in the ring, looking down at the vast masses. All these years, Mo Ran had been looking up into the sky with displeasure. If there really was a God in the sky, then his eyes would hide sin and hide evil. He was afraid that he would be discovered.

But at this moment, he finally relaxed. He looked up at the sky, and the sunlight was like a bath. It soaked his purplish black eyes into a light brown glaze, making them seem pure.

He looked at the sky. The sky was sparse and clear, even the clouds were light.

Mu Yanli's voice was so far away that he closed his eyes.

He did not look at the Sisheng Peak, nor did he look at the faces of any of his old friends.

"Crime number six, Sneak in Forbidden Techniques, Violate the Big Commandment."

Suddenly thinking of something, a hint of regret and affection appeared between his brows.

Originally, he wanted to be good to Chu Wanning, but he was unable to do so. Even his first true relationship with Chu Wanning was a mess.

It ended in failure.

He really wasn't a good man. He was a disaster, a plague, and a bad joke.

In these two lifetimes.

He wanted to protect his mother, but failed.

He wanted to repay someone for their kindness, but he failed.

When he was a child, he wanted to be a hero, but later on, he wanted to secretly become Sect Leader Xue's nephew for the rest of his life. Now, he was at the end of his road and gave his all to become the world's coldest and most merciless Immortal Emperor.

However, they were all in vain.

"Taxian-Jun, Mo Xianyu, Mo-zongshi…" His eyelashes trembled and his Adam's apple rolled. In the end, he let out a laugh and a deep sigh that only he could hear.

"You really are the most ridiculous person in the world."

He sighed and raised his head to look up at the sky. The wind was blowing his hair into the air. He narrowed his eyes and thought, where is Chu Wanning now?

It was probably because he had received too much and had already expended all of his destiny, that he wouldn't be able to see the man again for the rest of his life.

Good. He narrowed his eyes and snickered on the execution platform.

At least, he didn't need to let Wanning see his sorry state.

"Time is almost up! Prepare for punishment —!"

A majestic melody was heard as the horn sounded.

As if a nightmare cast its shadow, as if this "prepare for punishment" could be heard from thousands of miles away. Inside a secret room of Mount Jiao, Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes and woke up from his stupor and sat in shock.

"Mo Ran!"

Candles flickered, and he gasped for breath, sweating profusely.

He trembled slightly, and almost subconsciously, the moment he opened his mouth, the name that he had been entangled with for two lifetimes came out. Then, his Adam's apple rolled up and down, and his eyes became a little dazed.

He felt as if he had seen the shadow of a blade. He felt a strong chill run down his spine, and his heart pounded like a drum. He didn't know why, but he was terrified.

"…"

He sat on the couch and rubbed his face with his palms. As his sweat gradually became colder, he finally regained his senses.

Memories kept flashing before his eyes, but they didn't belong to him — half of his soul had been in Mo Ran for too long, so long that when it returned to him, it had brought back many memories that belonged to Mo Ran. Those who had been devoured by the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower, those who had been abandoned.

It was an important memory that even Mo Ran himself could not remember.

Chu Wanning saw it all…

Ch. 275 [Tianyin Pavilion] Broken Heart

When he was a child, Mo Ran was smiling brightly at his mother. He saw Duan Yihan touching Mo Ran's head and said, "You must repay the debt of gratitude, do not hold a grudge."

He saw Mo Ran carefully nibbling on a box of pastries given to him by Xue Meng, not willing to waste any of it.

He saw Mo Ran standing in front of the wine shop in Wuchang Town.

Wearing a new disciple's uniform, he gave the silver pieces in his pocket to the boss with both hands, then laughed bashfully and expectantly: "If you want a pot of good Pear Blossom White, can you bring a better looking wine pot? I want to give my shizun a taste."

All the memories came one after another.

The warmest, clearest memories of the past that had once been burning in Mo Ran's heart — just like that, they flashed all over the place.

In the image, Mo Ran was always laughing, from his cold and hungry childhood, to those tender years before the eruption of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower. But these memories are not many,

The amount of pure time that Mo Ran had in his life was too little. There were only a handful of days when he could laugh heartily.

Chu Wanning looked at the passing pieces of memories.

Then everything settled down.

Because their souls had been entangled for too long, he could clearly feel how Mo Ran liked him, respected him, clung to him, loved him, even though he didn't like to laugh or was even a bit strict when teaching.

But he liked it, and it felt familiar and warm.

He felt that this Icy Cold shizun was actually a very, very good person.

Mo Ran actually liked him… He had loved him passionately and innocently at that early hour.

The memories in front of his eyes continued to flow through his mind. Chu Wanning's body then sunk into a clear, moonless night as his memories of Mo Ran. That night, the disciple at the Sisheng Peak sat by the side of the table with a solitary lamp lit in his room. Facing the open book, he carefully sewed on the white handkerchief in his hand.

After a few stitches, the tip of his finger was clumsily punctured, and blood dripped onto the cloth.

Mo Ran opened his eyes wide, and immediately after, he seemed very depressed. He sighed, "So hard."

The white handkerchief was rolled up and tossed aside.

He took out a new piece and sewed it again.

The candle light didn't extinguish for the whole night. After throwing away countless pieces of handkerchief, his hands and feet finally became more agile. Slowly, the light red petals began to blossom. One petal, two petal… Five.

Each petal was embroidered in detail, each petal was embroidered in sincerity.

The youth clumsily sewed a pure white handkerchief, stitching it one by one until it bloomed into an undefeated haitang flower.

There was light in his eyes as he looked at the handkerchief.

He had already finished embroidering, but it was also very ugly. The place where the legs were not in the same place was obviously the work of a new hand, but Mo Ran was overjoyed. He looked around excitedly, then threw the handkerchief away, and a gentle handkerchief fluttered in the air and landed on his face.

It covered his face.

He laughed under the handkerchief and blew, and the haitangs lifted their horns to reveal his gentle eyes. Full of light.

“Giving this to Master, he will definitely like it.”

His heart was heavy with warmth, a warmth that could not be tolerated by the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower he was infected with later, a warmth that had to be devoured.

“He will think of me every time he uses this handkerchief.”

Mo Ran put the handkerchief away in his arms. He had thought countless times in his heart that Chu Wanning would praise him and look happy. He could only feel an uncontrollable joy growing out of the grass. That night, he ran excitedly to Chu Wanning’s room to find the man standing by the pond watching the fish.

“Shizun!”

He ran over excitedly, his face glowing.

Chu Wanning turned around in surprise, “Why are you here?”

“I, Achoo!”

He came out in a hurry. He didn’t wear a cloak, and he sneezed before he could finish his words.

Chu Wanning said, “… What’s so urgent that you couldn’t even remember your clothes?”

Mo Ran rubbed his nose and grinned. “I can’t wait. I have something. If I don’t give it to shizun now, I won’t be able to sleep.”

“What is it?”

“Shizun’s acceptance gift as a teacher.” As he said that, he carefully fished out the folded handkerchief from his bosom. When it came to his present, he suddenly became timid and his face had actually turned red. It wasn’t really worth much money. “No, it’s not very good.”

After some thought, he hid the handkerchief behind his back and began to trample on the ground with his toes.

Chu Wanning: “…”

“What did you buy?”

The youth’s ears were completely red as he blushed and replied, “I didn’t buy it, I don’t have any money…”

Chu Wanning was stunned, “You made it yourself?”

Mo Ran lowered his head and his eyelashes caged his eyes like clouds. He said softly, “Yes.”

Without waiting for Chu Wanning to reply, he hurriedly added, “If we don’t count them, they are really, really ugly!” After a few sounds, he still felt that it was not enough. He mustered up his courage and looked at Chu Wanning again, then forcefully added, “Especially ugly.”

Chu Wanning still remembered his feelings at that time. In fact, it was a surprise.

He had never received a handmade gift.

However, he was too embarrassed to show it, and he was too embarrassed to smile. He could only tighten his face, afraid that this new disciple would see the sweetness that seeped into his heart.

He coughed lightly, and said while weighing his options, “Then, it’s done. No matter how ugly, can you let me have a look?”

In the end, Mo Ran still took out the handkerchief. He wanted to present it with both hands, but he felt that the handkerchief had already wrinkled after the last struggle, so he frantically tried to smooth it over.

It was when his face was burning red that a slender hand reached out and took the handkerchief that had caused him so much trouble.

All the chaos died down, and thus, the flag stopped beating.

“Ah!” Mo Ran was dumbfounded and couldn’t help but exclaim, “Shizun, it’s really ugly…”

At that time, Chu Wanning was not in love with Mo Ran, so he only remembered the pair of shiny black eyes. They were wet, like a sweet rain on flowers, very beautiful.

Sometimes love is as swift as thunder and lightning, and sometimes it as slow as dripping water drops.

Chu Wanning was one of the latter. He had been touched bit by bit by the tenderness of the young man. At that time, he did not realize how fierce his smile was, and little did he know the after-effect of it.

When he came to a sudden realization, this tenderness had become a quagmire, and he was deeply immersed in it, unable to extricate himself from then on.

“A handkerchief?”

“Um… Yes, yes.”

White square scarf, sky silk, the side embroidered with haitang flowers, the needle carefully firm, raw to a somewhat cute.

Chu Wanning’s heart was suddenly moved. There was a spring in the valley, and flowers were falling from it. He stared at the handkerchief, not knowing what to say for a long time.

This was the first time he had received such a gift.

Seeing that he did not say anything, the giver thought that he did not like it and stuttered as he explained, “I, I was embroidering according to the drawings in the painting, but actually… Well, in fact, this kind of handkerchief is sold in town, and it’s not expensive. The embroidery… it’s also much better looking than mine.”

Finally, he got a little anxious and wanted to get the handkerchief back. However, Chu Wanning was one step faster than him, and he had already put it away.

“Nonsense. How can I possibly return an apprenticeship gift after it’s given?”

The crumpled handkerchief and the temperature at which Mo Ran was burning were indeed very ugly. To Wuchang Town, the same style of ten copper could be bought for eight pieces.

However, he just felt it was too precious and didn’t want to return it.

Thus, it became the first gift that Mo Ran gave to Chu Wanning. After being afflicted with the Gu curse, regardless of whether it was this memory or this handkerchief, it was all forgotten by Mo Weiyu.

Chu Wanning was thin-skinned and didn’t speak very well, but he didn’t mention anything else. He saw that Mo Ran was getting more and more interested in Shi Mei and that he had given him more than 80 things, so he became more and more silent. He didn’t want Mo Ran to see this handkerchief again.

It was something that Mo Ran had freely given him, and he was very attached to it.

He remembered…

The merging of the souls brought back the past. Things like this, one by one, Chu Wanning slowly recalled them all.

He stood up, more furious than ever, anxious, sad, and in pain —

His hands were shaking. He finally knew the truth. He knew the whole story.

In fact, it was not just his innocent childhood.

It was more than just being bewitched by Shi Mei.

It was much more than that.

However, the most important memories were all suppressed by Shi Mei's incantation. In these 20 years and 2 lifetimes, no one knew what the original appearance of this event was.

Until today.

Truth, truth…

This was the final truth!

There was no one on Mount Jiao to stop him, so Chu Wanning did not care about anything else. He ran towards the foot of the mountain like a madman. When he arrived at the nearest village, he asked where Mo Ran was.

"That Mo-zongshi?" The villagers did not know Chu Wanning's identity, so they said roughly, "What a grandmaster, he's just a beast with different appearances."

The surface was different, the beasts…

Sinner…

Tyrant.

He felt dizzy for two lifetimes. In his previous life, Taxian-Jun in front of him was grinning malevolently. In this life, Mo Weiyu was smiling at him with his eyes downcast.

No.

This was not the truth.

Chu Wanning asked with a pale face, “Where is he?”

“Tianyin Pavilion.” The villagers said, “In the world of cultivation, who doesn’t know of the crime committed by this person? Today, his spirit core will be dug out and he will receive the punishment he deserves!”

It was like a mountain had been split open, causing the brain to buzz.

“When is the execution?!” Chu Wanning’s question was too urgent. His eyes shone with an intense light, startling the villagers.

“I can’t really remember. It seems to be… Noon?”

Noon… Noon… He looked at the sundial beside the sun and his expression suddenly changed!

The Ascending Dragon Talisman flew through the air, creating a violent storm. Chu Wanning ordered the paper dragon to take him to the wind, heading towards Qi Jing. At first, the paper dragon wanted to bicker with its master, but it was surprised to find that there was moisture in Chu Wanning’s eyes.

The little paper dragon was stunned, “… What’s the matter with you?”

“Help me.”

He didn’t know what to do, so he just said, “I’ve never refused to help you. Oh, please don’t cry.”

Chu Wanning gritted his teeth viciously, but he was an empty frame.

The truth was like a worm that had bitten off his spine.

“I’m not crying. Take me to the Tianyin Pavilion. If I don’t hurry, it’ll be too late!”

“What are you going there for?”

“Save him!” He could not stop shaking. He did not want to cry. He never wanted to cry, but tears still rolled down his face. Chu Wanning ruthlessly wiped away his red eyes.

“Save a wrongly convicted man.”

“…”

“If there is anyone in this world who should have their spirit core dug out alive and be scolded by tens of thousands of people, it shouldn’t be him. I want to save him.”

The paper dragon did not ask any further questions. It carried him on its back and transformed into a giant dragon that pierced the heavens. It howled, soared into the sky, and stirred up the group.

Chu Wanning sat beside its dragon horn.

A strong current of air brushed across his face. The sky was frighteningly cold, and the blood on his fingertips seemed to be on the verge of freezing.

He looked ahead and saw layers upon layers of clouds, mountains, rivers flowing endlessly. All sorts of things like yesterday flashed by below.

In fact, from the moment he woke up, he had been crazy, numb, and broken.

Now that he had recovered, he was completely immersed in the grief brought by the past. He curled up on top of the dragon, slowly curled up, and slowly buried his face in his palms.

The wind was strong, whistling past his ears.

They wanted to pass judgment on Mo Ran, they wanted to cut open his heart, they wanted to shatter his spirit core —

A heinous crime deserves death.

No.

The sound of the wind was so loud, it was enough to cover up the sorrow and joy of mortals.

The sky was high and the clouds were vast. Chu Wanning finally broke down crying in this sorrowful wind. These two times of floating… Regardless of whether it was Taxian-Jun or Mo-zongshi…

It was never supposed to be this way.

Mo Ran was right.

From the start, the bow from Heaven-Piercing Tower was wrong.

As the sun rose higher and higher, the copper pot outside the Tianyin Pavilion dripped to a certain point. The female official's strike was exhausted. He shouted, “It’s noon —”

Birds were startled.

“Execute the punishment!”

He was boarded onto the rack and tied with the Immortal-Rope. His outer robe was removed and the collar of his robe opened.

With a cold expression on his face, Mu Yanli wielded her godly weapon and stepped forward to stand in front of Mo Ran.

“Today is the day of your punishment. I hope you will repent.”

Her lips opened and closed as she chanted the ancient chant of the Tianyin Pavilion.

“The Tianyin is vast and mighty, it cannot be hidden.

The son of the Tianyin Sect must not be sentimental.

The heavenly music was weak and could not be disrespectful to the gods.

Tianyin has pity on all, respect all living things.”

She lowered her eyes to pay her respects to Mo Ran. It was a farewell.

Following that, she drew her blade. Flames flew everywhere, and the divine artifact hummed as golden feathers scattered in all directions. The dagger shone in his eyes, and there was no emotion.

Some people covered their eyes, some stretched their necks, some closed their eyes and sighed, while others clapped and cheered.

All beings are nothing.

“Penalty by excavation of the spirit core.”

Blood splattered everywhere.

Dead silence.

Following that, someone on stage lost control of his voice and shouted, “Brother —!”

Red, bright red blood oozed out from his wound, flowing into his chest. Mo Ran’s eyes were wide open. At first, he was unconscious, but then he stiffly lowered his head to look at the blood and flesh of his heart.

His lips moved, and the pain began to explode like fireworks. Light and shadow were boiling before his eyes.

“Cough, cough!”

Blood gushed from his mouth, dripping, iron.

The world was vast, and just like that, it turned into a desolate red sea.

But wrong, wrong.

Chu Wanning flew closer and closer to the ground.

He had once thought that Mo Ran was indifferent to him, playing games in the mortal world, because of resentment, because of the hatred in his heart.

He had thought that Mo Ran had gradually forgotten about the gentleness of the two as he reprimanded him over and over again.

Actually, that's not it. Those memories had always been trapped within his soul.

He saw it.

Chu Wanning saw the deepest part of his heart, under the suppression of the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower, filled with friendship.

That year, Mo Ran was still so young and pure. He also had a warm and healthy heart that beat under his chest. That year, he saw his new shizun standing by the window of the Lacquer Wood Pavilion. He turned towards him with a pale look in his eyes. "Mo Ran, come over here."

As he approached, he kept ink and paper before him.

"From what Sect Leader said, you still don't know how to write your own name. Take the pen, I'll teach you."

He taught him, his voice was light, like the apricot flower outside the window, blooming in the sky.

"The surface character that the Sect Leader gave you is called drizzling rain, which is the opposite of your name. I will write it down, so you'll have to look at it carefully."

Horizontal, vertical and curved strokes,, his master's calligraphy was intricate, and his little disciple was standing on the side, learning without a care in the world.

"One more point."

"There's one less point missing this time."

The two words were taught to him five times before he finally managed to write it right with difficulty. However, it was as shabby as a rune and extremely ugly. Chu Wanning had never seen such a stupid disciple and could not help but feel a little annoyed. “Is it hard?”

Not hard.

However, Mo Ran did not dare to tell him that it was actually because the way he lowered his eyes and wrote was too good-looking. He was insatiable in his greed, so he asked for more, so he deliberately wrote more and less.

Just so he can teach him again.

“How difficult.”

Chu Wanning glared at him, “Watch carefully, don’t laugh.”

Mo Ran pursed his lips into a smile, sincerely feeling vexed. “Then, shizun, write it again and teach me again.”

He really liked that moment when he lowered his head and his phoenix-like eyes curved upwards.

As long as Chu Wanning held his hand and taught him, he would be able to hear the sound of haitang blossoms blooming outside the window.

The execution platform’s had a high barrier. No one could stop Tianyin’s judgment.

The dagger godly weapon was sharp enough to break gold, it understood the master’s intentions. Mu Yanli’s expression was pale, as if she could not hear the rough breathing of the guy who had just coughed blood, his face was pale like a corpse, his forehead was burning, and his veins were popping out, and blood was trickling from the corner of his mouth.

She only carried out the judgment of the scales.

She dug out the spirit core.

The dagger stabbed into his heart and rapidly weaved through his flesh. The moment she reached the spirit core fragment, she gathered her strength and pulled it out — the tip was sharp and would inevitably cut his flesh.

She did not seem to care at all, throwing the flesh and blood along with the glowing pieces into the silver plate carried by the servant at the side.

The healer female cultivator immediately stepped forward, stopping the surging blood, sticking it to his convulsing heart, so that he would not die just like that.

His punishment was the excavation of his spirit core, so the Tianyin Pavilion would protect him to his heart's content. At the very least, he would not die on the stage, nor in the process of execution.

They kept him awake in case he was in a coma or dying from the pain, so Mo Ran watched his heart being cut open again and again, searching for fragments, then temporarily repressed and healed.

Again and again.

Xue Meng had already collapsed. He was crying, his face buried in his palms as tears fell like rain.

"Brother……"

He was in so much pain that his soul consciousness became blurry and his tendons started to bulge.

But he felt that he had finally been liberated.

Each time his blade descended, it would pierce through his heart and dig out a fragment. He felt that the sins he had committed in his past life, and the bloodshed on his hands, faded a little.

Will he be forgiven when the pain is over?

Could it be that if I dug out the remnants, I would be able to return to the past?

But where was before?

On the day he returned to the Heaven-Piercing Tower to be a disciple, he would still be a fake young master at the Sisheng Peak. His mother had also already starved to death.

If he returned to the woodshed when he was young, he would only be able to live with Duan Yihan for the rest of his life. However, he was also afraid of the possibility of not encountering Chu Wanning. This kind of happiness would be extremely regretful.

Looking back, he couldn't find a safe place to start from scratch in his two lifetimes. He couldn't find a truly carefree and simple day, even if it was just a day.

He had lived for more than forty years, and yet, there was not a single peaceful night in his life.

Mu Yanli was still stabbing deep in the flesh and blood, acting on behalf of the heavens.

He knew that the crime of his soul being filthy was unforgivable.

However, at this moment, he suddenly felt a bit sad.

He loved his mother, his shizun, his younger brother, his aunt, and his family.

However, he was probably too greedy and wanted so much.

So in the end, he had nothing.

The happiness he knew, the warmth he had gained, were all false in the end. He couldn't compete with the water in the basket and the sand in his palm.

He had used everything he had to make up for it, but nothing came of it.

He was by the river of life, holding his small, wet basket. He crouched down, the basket empty, and stared out at the rushing tide.

In fact, from the beginning, he had only had one broken basket, and he held it.

A dream that was destined to break.

Ch. 276 [Tianyin Pavilion] I Came to Die With You

The execution ground was solemn. Mo Ran spirit core shards were continuously being dug and taken out.

Piece by piece. One after another.

He endured it fiercely with all his might. It was one thing to pay him back for his crimes, and another to be weak. He did not want to cry out in pain in front of Mu Yanli, he was like a rock.

The pain was too deep, causing his Sea of Bitterness to sink.

All of a sudden, a shocking voice exploded inside his brain like a thunderclap.

“Mo Ran!”

Impossible, how is this possible?

How could it be him…

He must be in too much pain, having hallucinations and losing his consciousness.

“Mo Ran!”

The sounds gradually became noisy, as if someone was shouting and screaming. The wind started to blow and Mu Yanli’s hands stopped moving.

Mo Ran trembled and used all his strength to raise his head.

He saw his God riding the dragon, swooping down from the sky.

He saw the white clothes of his God, looking like an exiled immortal.

As he got closer, the face next to the soaring dragon horn became clear. Mo Ran's heart suddenly hurt, and it was even more painful than being stabbed by a knife.

He saw his God crying, Chu Wanning… he was crying.

"Shi… zun…"

The wound on his chest was bleeding profusely. Mo Ran struggled as the buckle made "ding ding" sounds.

Chu Wanning jumped off the huge dragon, and the instant he landed in front of the execution platform's barrier, the paper Candle Dragon turned into a dazzling golden light and returned to the incantation.

"Yuheng!"

"Shizun!"

"Elder Yuheng!"

Everyone in the viewing gallery stood up, the people from the other sects also stood up in shock. Even the commoner dressed in plain clothes asked in astonishment, "Is this the legendary Immortal Elder Beidou?"

"It's Mo Ran's shizun!"

"Didn't they say they severed ties?"

Chu Wanning's eyes were originally red. When he saw the blood and spirit core fragments on the silver tray, he collapsed even more.

His throat was hoarse and he wanted to speak, but before he could, he was choked with sobs.

“You all… You can’t treat him like this…”

The crowd went into an uproar.

“What is he talking about?”

“Is he crazy? Mo Ran is a crazy murderer!”

Every word was like a sharp knife slicing through Chu Wanning’s heart, and every accusation was like a hammer piercing into his chest.

It was extremely painful.

Chu Wanning looked into the Tianyin Pavilion’s enchantment, at the man with the moist black eyes who had silently gazed upon him, the man whose heart had been cut open and whose spirit core had been damaged.

The man who did not know that he had been wrongly accused even after he had gone thousands of years ago.

So stupid.

Chu Wanning’s lips twitched and his whole body trembled.

He placed his hand on the Tianyin Pavilion’s transparent barrier and choked with sobs, “Wrong judgement… Wrong…”

Don’t stab him with a dagger.

Stab me…

Both lifetimes, the ruthless Taxian-Jun and Mo Weiyu resigned to his fate.

In the previous life, everyone had criticized him and couldn't wait for him to die. In this life, it was difficult to escape from the internal condemnation day and night.

But who knew the truth?

Mu Yanli seemed to be anxious. After the initial shock, she immediately raised the sharp knife. Blood dripped from the tip of the knife as it sparkled.

Mo Ran muttered, "Don't look."

With a "pfft", the dagger once again pierced his heart, causing blood to gush out.

Chu Wanning's pupils suddenly contracted. After a long while, his voice sounded hoarse, "Don't!"

Golden light flashed as astral winds surged.

The Tianwen was summoned and the whip fell. The several tens of high-ranked disciples of the Tianyin Pavilion that were maintaining the enchantment were unable to withstand the attack. They vomited blood and knelt on the ground, and the enchantment instantly shattered. Amidst the dazzling brilliance, Chu Wanning held his sparking godly weapon and charged straight towards the center of the execution platform.

"Someone wants to rob the prisoners!"

"Chu Wanning wants to rob the prisoners!"

Immediately, Mu Yanli placed the remaining pieces of his spiritual core into his Qiankun bag, then ordered in a stern voice, "Stop him!"

“Yes, Pavilion Master!”

The golden waves from the Tianyin Pavilion surged forward and fiercely collided with Chu Wanning’s spirit energy. The cultivators in the stands were all shocked; they had never seen Chu Wanning like this before.

Mad and sorrowful.

He no longer had any sense.

Seeing that Chu Wanning was getting closer and closer, Mu Yanli cursed in a low voice. A cold light flashed in his eyes, and she finally took out a piece of broken spirit core and put it into his Qiankun bag. Then, her robes fluttered as she turned around to exchange blows with Chu Wanning.

“Chu-zongshi, you really want to save him? You have to think this through clearly. If you take this step, you will be infamous for thousands of years, and both you and him will have to bear the consequences!”

The sword light illuminated her almond-shaped eyes staring at him.

Tianwen strangled the blade that was held by Mu Yanli and it instantly shot out streaks of light in all directions.

Chu Wanning bit down on every word, “Then, let me accompany him!”

The true history is well organized, and the record is that of heroes.

But I just want to be with you, be it lying in the Tyrant’s Legend or rotting on the Fearful Ranking, it’s all good.

I do not want future generations to refer to you as a ghost when they speak of us. I don’t want future generations of books to carry this passage, saying that you and I are enemies and master and disciple became enemies.

If I can't be wronged for you.

Mo Ran and Taxian-Jun.

I am willing to be scorned with you for all eternity.

Hell is too cold.

Mo Ran, I will die with you.

As the clouds converged, the dazzling light was already shining.

The audience was even more confused. In the chaos, there was only the sound of "Zheng!" "Clang!" Tianwen abruptly broke the chain that was tied to Mo Ran.

Mo Ran knelt down on the ground and fell into the warm embrace of Chu Wanning.

His blood dyed his white clothes red.

From the very beginning, there had been no tears. Even as his heart was dug out he didn't choke but Mo Ran finally collapsed. His hand trembled as it lifted up and drooped down.

He wanted to hug Chu Wanning, but he also wanted to push him away. He wanted nothing more than to be separated from him. He also wanted nothing less than for everything to be good, forever clean, unrelated to his filth.

Thus, he did not know whether to hug him or to separate him.

His hands trembled for a long time before he carefully held him back.

Mo Ran cried.

He said, “Shizun… Why don’t you blame me… Why did you save me…”

Chu Wanning’s heart ached. He held the man tightly in his arms, no longer caring about the gazes around him. Everyone was watching him and speaking a thousand words, but he did not know what to say first.

“I’m so dirty… I’ll dirty you too…” The more he cried, the more he grieved. This man, who would never show weakness in front of others, had no armor in Chu Wanning’s arms anymore, “But I’m also afraid that you won’t want me anymore… If even you don’t want me, then I really don’t know where to go…”

What was broken was obviously the spirit core that was Mo Ran’s, and what was pierced was the heart that was Mo Ran’s.

However, at this moment, Chu Wanning felt as if his heart was convulsing as well. Like his body was badly mangled and torn to shreds.

The original tendons and bones were now tightly intertwined.

A large group of surrounding cultivators from the Tianyin Pavilion surrounded them, bearing them down step by step.

Chu Wanning’s white robes were stained with blood. He held Tianwen in one hand and Mo Ran in the other.

Many of the black and white in the human world were not easy to explain clearly.

Too much self-righteousness.

There were many schemes with ill intentions.

They could still be repaid their innocence, but what about the rest of the youngsters? Not every injustice could be exposed, and there was still the one who would never be able to turn the tables on others.

Chu Wanning held Mo Ran in his arms and said softly, “Don’t be afraid, I won’t leave you behind.”

“Shizun…”

“I will always be with you. Live or die, I will bring you home.”

Having lost the healing spell, Mo Ran’s consciousness turned increasingly dim and his heart began to hurt more and more. However, when he heard those words, his entire body trembled, his lips moved, and tears rolled down his face. He smiled.

“You treat me so well, my basket is full. I’m very happy…” He paused for a moment before his voice slowly faded.

“Shizun, I’m so tired… I’m cold…”

Chu Wanning’s body trembled almost imperceptibly. He held the hand that belonged to Mo Ran and used even more strength to continuously send in his spiritual power, but to no avail.

It was just like how, at the peak of Mount Kunlun in his previous life, Taxian-Jun carried his dying body and tried to save his life.

It was useless.

Chu Wanning was anxious. His eyes were wet and red, and tears were rolling down his cheeks soundlessly. He turned his head and kissed his damp forehead, saying hoarsely, “Don’t sleep, tell me, what basket?”

Those who were nearby had faces full of vigilance, contempt, chilliness, vigilance, loathing and disgust.

But so what?

Nothing mattered anymore.

Reputation, dignity, life.

For two lifetimes, he had seen Mo Ran fall into the abyss, but he was helpless. He felt only pain and defeat.

It was he who came late.

Mo Ran was breathing softly, his consciousness was fading, more blood was flowing, and his body was getting colder. He said softly, “I only have one small basket. There are holes in the little basket. It’s empty. I’ve fished for a long time…”

He subconsciously wanted to curl up.

His white lips moved slightly as he sobbed.

“Shizun… My heart hurts…”

“Hug me, please.”

Chu Wanning’s heart ached, “I’ll hold you, it won’t hurt, it won’t hurt.”

However, Mo Ran could no longer be heard. His consciousness was in chaos.

It's all messy.

He looked like the helpless, underfed child from years ago. He looked like the child kneeling and wailing beside the rotting corpse of a mother on the cemetery.

He looked like Taxian-Jun who would never return to the past.

It was like the lonely figure at the foot of Heaven-Piercing Tower.

He looked like Mo-zongshi, who was waiting for his return to the world by relying on his sword.

It was like the man curled up on the couch in the middle of a rainy night, wetting his pillow.

"I'm in so much pain… it really hurts…"

"Shizun, have I paid my debt? Am I already clean?"

It was getting more and more blurry.

"Shizun."

In the end, the little disciple, the teenager, the demon, and the tyrant choked with sobs.

"It's getting dark, I'm so scared… I want to go home…"

Chu Wanning had been listening to him all along, and at this very moment, he was sobbing silently.

Mo Ran, Mo Ran, why are you so stupid?

What was clear, what was clean…

I owe you.

No one knows the truth, not even your own memories.

However, I finally know…

I finally know that you've only been my disciple for a few months, but you've spent two lifetimes protecting me.

To cover up all the infamy, crimes, misunderstandings, slander.

Being forced to become crazy, crazy, bloodthirsty, dirty.

If it weren't for you, the person kneeling on the altar today should be me, the one whose heart has been dug out… It would be me.

It was Emperor Taxian-Jun that used his own soul to protect Elder Yuheng.

Ever since then, he had fallen into darkness.

And he stayed bright.

It was all wrong.

At this moment, the Tianyin Pavilion's elites were like cheetahs that had wandered around for a long time. Finally, they broke through the air, claws tearing through the air as over a hundred people rushed towards them!

Tianwen golden light was intense to the point of being pale, and dazzling to the eye.

“Kill them!”

“Stop them!”

Chu Wanning closed his eyes.

The sounds of killing filled the sky —

The surrounding people attacked in groups. Within the bloody glow of the sword shadows, Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes! Then, he lowered his hand and extended his five fingers. In an instant, astral winds swirled around him as he shouted, “Huaisha, summon me over!”

Ch. 277 [Tianyin Pavilion] This Venerable One Is Lonely and Cold

With this shout, that fierce killing intent of that golden light was summoned. Its infernal energy defied the heavens!

The crowd paled, and the high-ranking disciples of the Tianyin Pavilion took a step back in fear. However, they braced themselves and shouted, “You are not allowed to retreat, you are not allowed to let go!”

“How can we let such a disaster go on! We must eliminate the roots!”

Both sides had no choice but to take action. The atmosphere was extremely tense.

“Attack!”

The sound was like a drop of water falling into a wok, instantly creating a clamor! He saw the magic curse and the sharp blade slashing down from the middle of the execution ground from all directions, while Chu Wanning’s hand was holding Huaisha, the golden light blocked with a ‘clang clang clang clang’. With his strength alone, he faced the cultivators rushing over like a tidal wave. The sword qi in his phoenix eyes intertwined with the blood flowers, making him look like an Asura.

He held Mo Ran, protected the sword, protected the flesh, protected his life, and protected his future innocence.

No one listened to his explanation. No one was willing to let two beasts in dire straits to return home. No hope, no redemption, no trust, no light.

All they had left was each other.

“Mo Ran, bear with it a bit longer and I’ll take you away.”

All of a sudden, a powerful curse struck Chu Wanning’s arm, causing blood to gush out like a fountain. The wound was so deep that even the bones could be seen. However, Chu Wanning only bit his lower lip and swung his sword.

“Get out of the way!” The cultivators on the Tianyin pavilion cried out in alarm, “Get out of the way!”

With an astonishing power, the sword slashed down with a loud bang. Sand and stone filled the sky, sword beams crisscrossing each other, creating an immeasurably deep chasm on the ground.

Mu Yanli’s voice was shrill, “Chu Wanning! Do you still follow the cultivation path?”

“…”

Seeing that he had ignored her, Mu Yanli became even angrier, and shouted sternly: “Could it be that you want to openly oppose the god heirs, defying the will of the heavens?!”

Someone from the spectator’s seats also shouted, “Immortal Elder Beidou, please stop. Are you going to be a felon in the cultivation world?”

Under the explosive killing intent of Huaisha, no one in the surroundings could immediately take half a step forward.

Chu Wanning finally turned his face to the side, looked at the cultivators from the Tianyin Pavilion and said, “… I already am.”

Finished speaking, he clenched his teeth as he carried the dying Mo Ran onto his shoulder and said hoarsely, “Don’t be afraid, it’s all over. Let’s go, let’s go home. I’ll take you home.”

However, when he looked ahead, he saw that there was already a path of blood and bones crisscrossing in front of him. As he killed the cultivators of the Tianyin Pavilion, more and more bloodshot death warriors emerged from behind the broken limbs and bodies.

Where was home?

They had nowhere to go, only hell.

In the end, he didn’t know how many people he had killed before he was finally able to escape. When he brought Mo Ran out of the nine heavens, his entire body was trembling. He had never taken so many innocent lives before. Right now, his body was stained with the blood of Mo Ran, his own blood, and most of all, the blood of the dead soldiers of the Tianyin Pavilion.

Dirty.

It was so dirty that it could not be washed away.

The clouds dispersed before his eyes, leaving him at a loss.

Where should I go?

It was impossible for Mount Jiao, and Mount Longxue was no longer safe… The Sisheng Peak… How could he have the face to drag down the Sisheng Peak?

“Shizun…”

Hearing the hoarse moan in his ear, Chu Wanning suddenly turned around. His face was looking at Mo Ran, which was like golden paper, “You… Take me back.”

“What nonsense is this!”

Mo Ran only shook his head. “You’ve already come to find me. You didn’t leave me behind.” He forced himself to smile, even though his eyes were glazed over. “That’s enough… I have a family. That’s enough…”

“Take me back, take me back… You still have a way out…” His voice became softer and softer, and his eyelashes gradually drooped, but he still held onto Chu Wanning’s sleeve and kept muttering, “You still have a way out…”

“No.” Chu Wanning felt as if his heart was being stabbed by a knife. He held onto Mo Ran’s hand and hugged him tightly, “I have no way out, I won’t go anywhere.”

“…”

“I’ll stay with you.”

If it was in the past, Mo Ran would definitely be ecstatic and elated to hear Chu Wanning say such words to him. But now that he heard it, he was at a loss. He raised his hand, but even with all his strength, he could only lift his hand.

The puddle of blood had already dyed his clothes red. Mo Ran finally lost consciousness and fell into Chu Wanning’s arms.

He wasn’t sure how long it would take for those people to arrive. He brought Mo Ran with him and landed on a hillside nearby. His hand was shaking so badly that he pushed away Mo Ran’s shirt a few times.

— A bloody hole in his heart.

There was an explosion in his head. He did not even dare to look at Mo Ran's face.

He suddenly recalled that in his previous life, Mo Ran had guarded his corpse for two years.

What would he feel during those two years?

"Don't leave, Mo Ran…" He folded his hands in front of his wounds and transferred a stream of spirit energy to him. Chu Wanning, who was covered in blood, stood by Mo Ran, who was also covered in blood, like a wild beast that had been skinned alive by a hunter.

In the afterglow of the apocalypse, blood melts into blood and flesh wraps around the flesh.

"It's not your fault that you can't leave… It's never been your fault…"

Mo Ran, Mo Ran… Mo is darkness, Ran is light. He had sought light all his life, but he could not escape the darkness. Chu Wanning finally mustered up the courage to look at Mo Ran's face. It was only a glance and he was already on the verge of breaking down.

There was not even a shadow of a living person on that face. It was terrifyingly white and covered in blood. There was even a mottled old scar on his forehead — the mark of a stone being smashed.

He could not hold it in any longer. He cried bitterly in front of Mo Ran, his heart aching.

Was this the youth that once surrounded him under the Heaven-Piercing Tower in a brilliant and vigorous manner, telling him to “Xianjun! Please pay attention to me”?

Why… Blood. Why… There was no longer any trace of anger on him, and not even a hint of a smile could be seen on his face.

He couldn’t even recognize him anymore… He couldn’t recognize it.

So what had Mo Weiyu done wrong? In his entire life, he had been subjected to such torture and suffering.

Perhaps it was because he had no relatives, no one, that even fate had humiliated him. The smile he had tried so hard to form in the crevices of his life was eventually seen as a loathsome face.

Who knew the decomposed dust and mud in front of the steps were in April vibrant blooms.

“… Chu Wanning.”

Suddenly, a familiar voice coldly sounded from close by.

“In order to save him, you didn’t even hesitate to damage your good reputation?”

Chu Wanning froze, then suddenly raised his head and saw a tall figure slowly striding towards him against the sunlight.

Taxian-Jun stood among the trees, his eyes squinted as he stared at them.

“I thought the most important thing to you in this world was your innocence.” he said slowly. “I didn’t think you’d end up dirtying yourself for him.”

As he walked closer, the dark dragon pattern embroidered with black and gold lights sparkled in the sunlight, the red dragon pattern stabbing through the black and gold waves and stopping right in front of them.

Instinctively, Chu Wanning rose to his feet. A golden light shone from his palm, and Tianwen appeared along with it — he stood between Mo Ran’s previous life and his current one.

Taxian-Jun’s eyes turned. His gaze first landed on the rattan vines, which were emitting a golden light. Then, it quietly landed back on Chu Wanning.

At this moment, this man seemed to have been fished out of a pool of blood. Not a single piece of clothes on his body was clean. His eyes were moist, and he was looking at him with a complicated gaze.

“Is he that important to you?”

“…”

Seeing that Chu Wanning did not answer, Taxian-Jun Lord said coldly, “Move aside.”

Chu Wanning did not move. His mind was in a mess, but he still knew that Mo Ran in front of him was just a sharp weapon, a flesh and blood shell.

The sneer on the corner of the body became even more cruel, “What, do you think that I can’t do anything to you just because you are standing on my head like that?”

“… I want to take him away.”

“Where to?”

Just one sentence was like a sharp knife cutting into a clam shell.

Taxian-Jun’s eyes flashed with mockery, “Chu Wanning, ask yourself. In this vast world, other than me, who would be willing to take you in, where would you find a place to stay? Take him away? Don’t be ridiculous.”

He stepped forward like a bolt of lightning, and suddenly grabbed Chu Wanning by the chin, closing in on him.

“The last bit of incomplete spirit core on him belongs to me. You’re mine, too. You’d better get your bearings.”

As the voice rang out, a golden light suddenly shone out. Taxian-Jun was able to withdraw his attacks in time, but he still felt a fiery pain on his face. He carelessly rubbed his ears, and Tianwen had already pulled a vicious wound on his ear. Black blood flowed down his face.

“…” Taxian-Jun remained silent for a long while. He raised his eyelids maliciously, his expression revealing neither rage nor joy. His nose was wrinkled, and his expression and mood were distorted. “Good, very good.”

He laughed sinisterly, waving his sleeve and flapping his black robe like the clouds.

“I didn’t expect that after so long, I would still be able to fight against Tianwen.” He raised his slender fingers and touched his cheek to wipe away the blood. Taxian-Jun’s eyes were dark as he stared at Chu Wanning’s face, “This Venerable one really misses your presence.”

Behind him, his life was hanging by a thread. If he were to delay it even a little longer, he might not be able to make it back to the present. Even though Chu Wanning's mind was in a mess, he knew that he could not talk too much with Taxian-Jun.

"Tianwen – ten thousand coffins!"

Taxian-Jun cursed under his breath. As soon as his feet touched the ground, a thousand cracks immediately appeared on the ground. Countless thick vines sprouted out from the ground and started sprinting towards him. As for the other vines, they carried Mo-zongshi, who was still unconscious, into their stomachs, protecting him tightly in the depths of the willow branches.

Taxian-Jun Lord looked at Chu Wanning, who was standing in the middle of the formation, and almost laughed in anger, "Are you treating me this differently?"

"Tianwen, Wind."

"…"

His questioning had only been exchanged for an even fiercer attack. The knife-like gale engulfed everything, and it would be a lie to say that there was no resentment.

Taxian-Jun stared at the disheveled man on the ground and suddenly felt a wave of bitterness in his heart that he hadn't felt in a long time. In that split-second, the wind blade struck his abdomen. He felt pain, and looked down to see black blood gushing out from the wound.

He hurt him again.

Whether it was his previous life or his current life, Chu Wanning had never placed him in his eyes.

He felt a sense of uneasiness rising in his throat, and Taxian-Jun's smile suddenly tightened. He raised his hand and shouted: "Bu'gui!"

The green field and red bridge from that year… Another year goes but still you do not return. But so what if the emperor had returned? He came back, the only reason why he didn't fight with his sword was not for such a stupid reason but to take his blood, and to take his life!

He suddenly felt extreme hatred.

The two martial spirits let out a dragon and tiger roar when they clashed with Tianwen.

Two lifetimes.

Two lifetimes had passed since the last life-and-death battle between these two weapons. The engravings on the hilt of Bu'gui had long been worn out. It was as if the past of Taxian-Jun and Immortal Beidou were already dilapidated.

Golden splendor and eerie blue rays of light were biting each other, as if they hated each other to the bone and blood, but also seemed to be lingering around each other. In the midst of all this light, Taxian-Jun stared fixedly at the face in front of him.

The blood was mottled and the expression on his face was complicated.

Alive.

His heart was burning with excruciating pain.

He gritted his teeth and suddenly asked with extreme unwillingness, "Why is it clearly me… Yet you want to fight another battle with me for his sake."

“…”

Chu Wanning did not know what to say. Nothing that he could say could change his mood.

However, he didn’t know if the light was just too dazzling, but it gave him an illusion. For a moment, he felt as if Taxian-Jun’s eyes were filled with pain and loneliness.

It seemed to be moist.

“You will suffer if he is injured like this. What about this one?” Taxian-Jun’s voice was hoarse and he tried his best to be sinister, but his unwillingness was too lush. He wished that the fire could burn his unwillingness to die, but when it did, the flames would make his eyes red.

“Chu Wanning. You know that after I revived, I saw that there weren’t even any bones left in the Red Lotus Pavilion… “How do you feel?”

Chu Wanning was stunned. Finally, Taxian-Jun, who couldn’t hold back anymore, closed his eyes as the muscles on his face tightened. Anger and humiliation, pain and insanity made him nearly go mad. He suddenly poured all his spirit energy into Forsaken —

There was a loud bang!

The mountain range cracked and the earth shook. The surrounding vegetation was instantly pulverized by the violent flow of spirit energy, and even the willow vine could not endure the violent nature, and was disintegrated into ashes one after another.

“Nearly ten years!”

Amidst the scattering tribulation, Taxian-Jun's berserk eyes could be seen clearly. His eyes were completely bloodshot.

"Ten years, Chu Wanning. He was reincarnated in the past, and this Venerable One was awakened in Sisheng Peak, in the Wushan Palace. For ten years I have read in letters of your joys, of his exploits — What about me? And me!"

The blade suddenly slashed down, causing sand and rocks to fly everywhere, and the ground to split into an unfathomable chasm.

"From the beginning till the end, I have only one person! When he turned around, I didn't even have a handful of ashes!"

With a slash of the blade, Chu Wanning returned Tianwen and welcomed it with Huaisha in his hand.

However, it was this deadly blade that made Taxian-Jun the Heavens even more ruthless. At this moment, he was like an evil spirit that had just returned from the underworld, filled with deep hatred.

The look in his eyes even caused Chu Wanning to be taken aback.

…… Why was he so emotional when he was just a corpse?

"What right do you have to treat me like this?"

Raging flames burned through the trees, and the falling leaves were still smeared with fire. The corners were scorched black, and the stars were bright and dark. Taxian-Jun was dressed in black. He suddenly retracted his power and moved backwards, standing amidst the desolation and bleakness of the leaves and the blooming of the grass.

Chu Wanning didn't know why he suddenly pulled back, but he saw that he had closed his eyes, and that pair of thick, thick eyelashes covered his overly pale face. Taxian-Jun murmured:

"Why are you treating me like this?"

As his voice fell, the ground faintly rumbled.

Suddenly, Chu Wanning's face changed. He turned around at once.

"Mo Ran!"

Just as he was about to turn around and stand in front of the unconscious Mo Ran, he heard the bone-chilling, bone-piercing words.

Taxian-Jun said, "Damn it. The ten thousand man coffin."

It was earth-shattering!

Chu Wanning's whole body was covered in cold blood. Willow vines… Willow vines… Taxian-Jun and Mo Weiyu were the same person. Mo Weiyu could summon Bu'gui, and Taxian-Jun could summon Jiangui as well!

The thick vines shot out from the ground and wrapped around Chu Wanning's limbs. As for the other, it cut open the already damaged Mo Ran and pulled him out from the deep parts of the willow leaves that was protected by Tianwen.

Chu Wanning was burning with anxiety, "Stop!"

No one paid any attention to him. Taxian-Jun gracefully walked in front of Mo Ran and coldly looked into the depths of the vine, at the face that was identical to his.

His gaze shifted downwards and landed on the chest that was already badly mutilated.

Chu Wanning snapped, “Tianwen!”

He didn’t even raise his head and just pointed at the air. The re-emerging golden willow vine and the fiery red ghost were entangled together. For a moment, no victory or defeat would be decided.

Chu Wanning’s lips turned white and the meridians in his hands bulged. He tried to break free of the damned binding with his own flesh and blood.

“…” Finally, Taxian-Jun turned his eyes away, and gave him a complicated look. His thin lips moved, and he sighed softly, “Chu Wanning. You truly care about him.”

As soon as he finished speaking, he suddenly raised his hand and stabbed straight towards Mo Ran’s chest!

As long as he had the last bit of the spiritual core, he would be able to recover. He was the real Taxian-Jun Emperor. He was the real Mo Weiyu. He was the person who had endured ten years of loneliness. He was the one who was supposed to get what he wanted.

He should be alive.

“Sha —!”

However, in the time it took for a spark to fly off of a piece of flint, a golden light flashed and pierced through Taxian-Jun’s palm.

Black blood dripped down.

Taxian-Jun stared at his hand that had been pierced through by the Tianwen Vine, and remained expressionless for a moment.

Pain?

Disappointment?

Resentment?

He had tasted it so many times in his life that he had probably gotten used to it.

The last thing he did was to slowly turn his head back and look at the man who was tightly bound by ghosts. He was still gasping for breath, and had a determined look in his eyes.

Taxian-Jun looked at his palm, which was dripping with blood. After a while, he smiled.

“Chu Wanning.”

“…”

“Why didn’t you just take my heart out?”

Chu Wanning was trembling. It was as if thousands of tiny thorns had grown out of his body, stabbing into every inch of his flesh. He frowned, his eyes filled with pain under his eyelashes.

Taxian-Jun Lord looked at him and poured his spiritual power into his palm, cutting off the willow branch.

At this moment, he was not in a hurry to dig up Mo Ran-burned heart. Step by step, he walked towards Chu Wanning.

He walked closer and touched Chu Wanning's pale face with his bloody hand.

"I'm asking you." He seemed to be playing it down, yet it also seemed as if his hatred was as deep as his bones as he said, "If you are so ruthless, why didn't you just dig out this reputed one's heart?"

"…"

"In your eyes, just what do you think I am…"

Taxian-Jun sighed softly, then closed his eyes.

Naturally, Chu Wanning would not answer him. Taxian-Jun wanted to say something, but at that moment, he noticed the willow vine emitting a dazzling fiery red radiance. He seemed to remember something as he murmured: "An interrogation?"

Since it was the same as Tianwen, then Tianwen's interrogation ability was the same even if it was the same as Jiangui.

Taxian-Jun's dark purple eyes suddenly lit up. He really wanted to use the devil to interrogate Chu Wanning for the truth. His lips moved, but he probably didn't know what to say, so he pursed them again. After a long while, he tried his luck, "Cough… If…"

"This Venerable one is referring to if."

The question he wanted to ask seemed too disgraceful, but if he did not ask such a godsend opportunity, he would regret it for the rest of his life.

He hesitated for a while longer before finishing his sentence, "If, in his previous life… I left early, before you."

The light of Jiangui was getting brighter and brighter, forcing the people who were being held down to speak the truth at any time.

Taxian-Jun raised his eyes.

“You… would you remember me too?”

This man’s desire to know the answer was too strong, so Chu Wanning felt as if millions of needles had stabbed into his body, tearing his guts out. Every needle was trying to force out the truth in his heart, and he was trembling, his bones trembling, his face ashen.

Taxian-Jun stared at him unblinkingly, his thin lips parted slightly, his thoughts deep within his heart.

“Would you?”

“I…” The pain seeped into his bone marrow as if his internal organs were about to be torn apart. Chu Wanning, who had been forced into a corner, raised his eyes and looked at Taxian-Jun in a daze.

The handsome face in the moist mist was so familiar, so full of desire, so much so that it seemed to be filled with love.

It was actually just like that Yue Ye a long time ago. On the tides of Flying Flower Island, Mo Ran rode on a flying sword with him. He held his hand and said, “I love you, what about you?”

His eyes suddenly became wet.

Chu Wanning mumbled hoarsely, “……It’s the same…”

Perhaps it was because his answer was too soft, or perhaps it was due to some other reason. Taxian-Jun moved even closer, almost sticking close to Chu Wanning as he sweated, revealing a face devoid of any human color.

“Like what?”

“It’s the same…” His eyelashes drooped down, and when they overlapped, they were warm and blurry, “I won’t… I won’t let you go before me…”

“…”

“I’m sorry.” His voice was hoarse, like a broken xun, “I did not protect you well.”

Taxian-Jun was suddenly stunned.

His originally bloodless face instantly became even more desolate.

His eardrums rumbled like a clap of thunder, and he couldn’t help but think of the Tianshan Heavenly Lake. When that person fell into his embrace, he used his blood-stained hand to lightly poke his forehead.

The man said, “It’s this master’s fault. I won’t blame you in life or death.”

His heart suddenly hurt, as if something had split open inside.

“… Wanning…” He stood stiffly where he was, like a wooden sculpture.

He once again stretched out his hand, but this time he did not frown. He did not even know why, but he reached out his hand just like that, wanting to touch that face that was so similar to his previous life.

Icy, bloody face.

Suddenly, a sharp whistle pierced his eardrums.

Taxian-Jun's fingers that were about to touch his cheek froze.

As far as the corpse was concerned, that pair of eyes that carried too much emotion suddenly became empty and vacant. Taxian-Jun lowered his arm, and after this whistle passed, it was as if he had lost his self-awareness. He slowly backed away, then waved his hand and removed all his weapons.

Be it in the previous life, or this life, or whatever it was like, it had all disappeared.

Chu Wanning fell into the dust. When he looked up, he saw a man in white clothes standing in the distance. He wore a mask, holding a jade flute in one hand and a cane in the other.

The man was standing at the end of the forest, amidst the bamboo leaves that were scattered everywhere. His figure was like a lotus, quietly standing there and leading Taxian-Jun towards his direction.

"You are…"

"Take Mo-zongshi and leave." The man sighed. His voice had clearly been distorted by the spell, "I can't hold on for too long. He will soon regain his consciousness."

"…"

"Let's go." The man said, "The Tianyin Pavilion and Hua Binan will catch up soon. If I get captured by them, I won't be able to change anything."

Chu Wanning clenched his teeth and stood up, then he set Mo Ran up, activated the Ascending Dragon Talisman and summoned the Azure Dragon to carry them away.

Before the dragon leapt up, he turned his head to glance at the man standing in the depths of the bamboo forest, only to discover that the man needed a staff of light to touch the ground in order to move forward.

There were some vague memories intertwined in his mind, but he could not think of anything at the moment.

“… Thank you very much.”

The man only shook his head and urged again, “Let’s go.”

The paper dragon knew Chu Wanning’s feelings, so it opened its mouth, “Little brother is very kind, my master would like to ask for your name, if fate allows in the future, he can come and thank you.”

“…” The man was silent for a moment before he whispered, “Me?”

The trees rustled, and in the midst of all the sounds, his voice seemed hollow.

“I’m just a man who’s finally free.”

The paper dragon wanted to ask more, but Chu Wanning knew that this man would never reveal his identity. He greeted the man, patted the dragon’s body and said, “Let’s go.”

Since he had spoken, the paper dragon knew what was important and didn’t say anything more. It suddenly soared into the sky and disappeared into the sky without a trace.

The earth was shaken by the wind, and the man in white, who wore a mask over his face, stood quietly where he was for a while. He raised his head, and only when the wind had gradually weakened and the surroundings had become silent did he look at the sky that he could no longer see, and his back that he could no longer see.

“Disciple Shi Mei greets shizun.”

Sunlight shone down onto his clean clothes.

“Shizun, please take care of yourself on the long journey to the martial world.”

Ch. 278 [Sisheng Peak] Never Before

In these past few days, regardless of whether it was the upper or lower cultivation world, everyone was abuzz with the rumor that the Tianyin Pavilion, which had been standing for several thousand years, had been robbed for the first time. And the thief was the world's number one Grandmaster, Chu Wanning.

He had killed eleven elites of the Tianyin Pavilion and wounded a hundred. He had taken the felon, Mo Weiyu, with him and left.

Some people said that Chu Wanning had gone mad, and some people said that he was just like Mo Weiyu, a beast in disguise. There were also some who had seen the details clearly because they were too close. They were furious — there was something not right between Chu Wanning and Mo Ran, there was something fishy going on between them.

Very dirty.

However, no matter how many people were discussing outside, Chu Wanning and Mo Weiyu did not appear in the martial arts world again. No one knew where they were.

The most righteous Grandmaster in the world had taken away the most dangerous evil ghost in the world.

Then, they disappeared completely.

The wooden window was ajar, the snow was soft, and the curtain was covered with fresh moss.

Four days had passed since the commotion within the Tianyin Pavilion. A pot of porridge had already been cooked outside, and there were all sorts of evaluations going on. Only the empty mountain was quiet.

Suddenly, someone came out from the depths of the empty forest and walked into the window frame of the colored ink scroll. He held a large oil-paper umbrella in his hand.

Hugging a bundle of firewood, he pushed open the door and entered. It was very cold in the room, so he stacked the logs by the hearth, added a few chopping sticks to the hearth, and turned the flames on until they were weak.

It had been a long time since anyone had used this place. Although it had been roughly cleaned, there was still a musty smell in the air. To this end, he specially broke off from the outside a branch containing dew white plum, brought back and placed on the headboard.

Chu Wanning sat down and looked at the man lying on the narrow bed.

On the fourth day, he still hadn't woken up.

Ever since he escaped from Taxian-Jun, he had used the spells he had learnt in his previous life along with the spiritual energy that he had never lost in his previous life to keep Mo Ran afloat. However, even after so much time had passed, Mo Ran was still dazed and lifeless. His spirit core could no longer be restored.

"This house was built by my Shizun when he was travelling. It's been a long time since anyone has lived here, so it still has a bit of a smell to it." Chu Wanning looked at his face with rapt attention, "I know you don't like incense, but you don’t hate flowers. I brought a pear of balsam and it should go on for a long time.”

Mo Ran lay, his eyelashes dropped.

The way he slept was very quiet and peaceful. It was a rare moment in his life.

For the past few days, Mo Ran had been sleeping peacefully like this. After finishing all the work that he needed to do, Chu Wanning stayed by his side and talked to him.

In the past, when they were together, Mo Ran had always talked while he was the one listening.

Who would have thought that one day, the person who said that would turn the tables on the person who heard it.

“The enchantment outside has been strengthened and the Forbidden Spell set up. No one will find this place. I’ve brought back the firewood and food. There won’t be any other matters for some time now.”

After a pause, he sighed and said, “Why are you still unwilling to wake up?”

As he spoke, he reached out his hand and stroked Mo Ran’s hair.

The pool of fire swayed. He sat on the edge of the bed and waited for a long time. The shadow cast on the ground moved with the sunlight, but he still did not open his eyes.

Chu Wanning closed the curtain and sighed softly.

“Since you still want to sleep, then go to sleep… I’ll go on with the story I told you yesterday and tell it to you.”

“Sorry, you said you like listening to bedtime stories, but I don’t know how to tell anything… So, we can only talk about what happened to us before.” He was silent for a moment, then said gently, “Um… What did you talk about yesterday? Let me think. Oh yeah, about how I found out that you were hit by a cursed spell in my previous life, I’ve always wanted to help you undo it.”

“But the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was so deeply rooted that nothing I can do was of any use,” said Chu. “This life it was resolved, but I never thought it would turn out like this.”

He touched the back of his hand.

It was always that cold.

Just like that, he held Mo Ran’s hand, softly saying such words to him.

In the past, because of their schemes and also because of their personality, many things had never been spoken on the surface. As a result, they had been wrong, and thus, there was no way for them to find each other.

Chu Wanning regretted.

What if he was more honest? Would everything change just like that? Would he have realized earlier that Mo Ran had been poisoned by the flower poison?

He could look back.

“You have been wanting to atone for your sins since you were alive.” Chu Wanning closed his eyes and sighed. In the end, he said in a low voice, “But do you still remember how you suffered so much? Think about it. Mo Ran, think about it…”

You’ve never owed me anything.

From the beginning, I owed you.

Please, wake up.

If you can wake up, if you can remember those lost memories, then you will know… The truth of all this began seven years ago, on that rainy night when I was in seclusion.

That was the point where his fate had changed with Mo Ran. It was a day in his life that he had not paid much attention to. That day, the rain and wind was blowing in the Red Lotus Pavilion. Rain was pouring down from the roof tiles, and thunder and lightning were flashing, but he could not hear them.

Chu Wanning’s core was weak, and that year was the year that it would be repaired.

In order to let the disciples who were accompanying him feel at ease, before he went into closed-door cultivation, he had already cast the Sound Destroying Curse on himself, and after that, he quietly sat in the pavilion with his spiritual sense entering the Great Void.

Thus, he could not see the tension in front of him.

That day, in front of him, in the midst of the thunderstorm and the Red Lotus Pavilion, Mo Ran and Shi Mei were staring at each other. Mo Ran's face was pale, and Shi Mei's expression was sinister.

A truth that Chu Wanning did not know before slowly unfolded in the rain.

During his closed door cultivation, Mo Ran, who had just entered the sect, felt wronged because of the matter of "picking flowers". He said that he couldn't serve his Shizun well and didn't want to come and accompany him.

But how could he take the words of a young man seriously?

After tossing and turning for two nights, Mo Ran still remembered his grudges. He suppressed the depression in his heart and went to the Red Lotus Pavilion by himself, wanting to take the place of Shi Mei.

However, he did not expect that he would run into a plot that would change his entire life just because of this…

Shi Mei was using the curse flower on Chu Wanning.

Confusion, shock, fear, anger, and disappointment. Instantly, his internal organs were burnt through.

He rushed forward, and seized the blade in Shi Mei's hand. He bellowed like a beast, "What are you doing?!"

Shi Mingjing only had a moment of surprise before his beautiful peach blossom eyes narrowed.

He smiled, "I was wondering who it was. As of now, there are many layers of barriers around the Red Lotus Pavilion. It can only enter the three of us disciples as well as the Sect Leader of the Sisheng Peak. Young Lord, Sect Leader, whoever comes here will be in trouble.

Mo Ran had anxiously ran over. He panted and stood in front of Chu Wanning. The night wind was blowing his clothes and his hair.

He stared intently at Shi Mei's face.

"Why are you taking advantage of Shizun's closed door cultivation? You. You…" At that time, Mo Ran simply could not believe that the gentle and quiet Senior Brother Mingjing would have a second fiendish devil's face. "Who the hell are you?!"

Shi Mei laughed: "A-Ran, you are so cute. I am naturally your Senior Brother Mingjing. Who else could I be?"

He looked at the way Mo Ran was protecting Chu Wanning.

A new disciple, so small, overestimating himself.

Like a bad joke.

"Didn't you say that you hated Shizun and didn't want to see him again?"

Because he was confident, Shi Mei teased and mocked him at a leisurely pace.

"When I passed you the script, you told me that you hated a merciless person like Shizun to death. Why did you change your mind and come look for him within two days?"

"If I did not find him, who knows what you would have done today!" Mo Ran was both angry and sad, "Shi Mingjing, it was all in vain for me to think about you back then. It was in vain for me to believe in you now!”

“Aiya, you yourself are so easy to coax. Who are you blaming?” Shi Mei laughed, “A bowl of wontons and a few warm words has already tricked you to the point that you are dead set on it. Actually, you are just a dog that no one wants. Whoever gives you a bone, you can leave with them.”

“…”

“Why are you staring at me like that? How about it? Is it delicious?”

Mo Ran’s teeth had turned cold and his black eyes looked wet and cold in the night. After a while, his Adam’s apple bobbed up and down. “Your heart is actually black.”

“The black one is the heart that has been infected by the parasite, the sick one. My heart is neither sick nor in pain, so naturally, it will be the same as the current you and my Shizun, red.”

He paused, and with a twist of his white and exquisite finger, an extremely gorgeous flower appeared. The flower was in bud and had not yet bloomed. It had a black petal, the edges of which were flashing with silver light.

Shi Mei grabbed that flower and sniffed it.

Flowers and beauties, all kinds of beauties, but all kinds of dangers lurking in every direction.

It was chilling.

Mo Ran muttered, “Just what are you planning to do…”

He looked to be in a good mood, “Actually, it’s useless to explain it to you. I only need to cast a spell and you will soon forget about tonight’s events. You won’t remember anything.”

Black flowers pressed down on his watery fingers.

“However, seeing as we’re from the same sect, I can tell you. This is the bud my mother gave birth to, it is the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower that I painstakingly cultivated. If no one appreciates it, it will disappear from this world. I feel that it lacks some flavor.”

“Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower?”

“Shidi, there are eight hardships in life, and there are also endless grievances in death. In this world, there is a type of flower that was left behind by the demons. It is extremely difficult for mortals to grow. This kind of flower drinks human blood when it’s young. After blooming, it needs to be rooted in the heart, absorbing the kindness and warmth in the heart, nurturing the viciousness and hatred.” He said, stroking the black petals affectionately.

“No matter how good one is in this mortal world, as long as there is a trace of dissatisfaction in one’s heart, they would all be spurred by bitterness and hatred, and gradually… Become a devil that kills people without blinking an eye.”

His eyes shone like snake scales.

His peach blossom eyes turned as he stared at Chu Wanning, who was sitting in meditation.

“Do you want to plant the Long Hate Flower into Shizun’s heart?!”

“Why are you so surprised? He’s the greatest Grandmaster in the world. Tell me, if he becomes a devil, how much power would he have?”

“Are you crazy?! How can you. How could you bear to…”

“He was cold-blooded — didn’t you say? I turned him into the person you hate the most. Junior brother, from now on, you can rightly hate him. Wouldn’t that be perfect?”

Mo Ran’s scalp felt like it was about to explode, and his spine felt numb from the attack.

“You… Ridiculous… That was just a moment of anger. I-I didn’t hate him, so quickly! Put it down! Don’t hurt him like that…”

Shi Mei asked with interest, “Why?”

Why?

He was so good. The tables in the Red Lotus Pavilion were filled with blueprints drawn by him. Whether it was mecha construction or weapons made for him, he was always worried about the safety of others.

He was pure and clean, like the first new snow that fell in the early winter.

Even though he was very strict and sometimes did not treat others with kindness, he would hold his hand again and again to teach himself how to read and write.

He would accompany him in training, from day to night.

He was willing to accept him. From then on, Mo Weiyu was no longer alone, only having fake relatives and happiness.

From then on, he had a true identity.

Chu Wanning's disciple.

"You can't hurt him…" He wanted to wake his Shizun up, but he didn't know what to do. He could only stubbornly stand in front of Chu Wanning, "He can't become an evil spirit. He's so good, if you let him kill… He will be sad."

He didn't know how to express the intense grief and anger in his chest. He could only try to persuade him with the simplest, simplest, and even the most incoherent sentences.

It was as if he hadn't learned any spell in time and could only use his thin and weak body to resist it.

Letting a good man kill someone is an extremely painful thing.

He could already feel it bone-deep in the flames of the House of Drunken Jade.

Shi Mei looked at him and found him to be quite funny.

"Sad? When he becomes that kind of person, then he won't feel sad. A-Ran, you don't need to worry about this."

"But why would you do it?! Why do you insist on hurting him?!"

Shi Mei didn't reply immediately. He lowered his eyelashes, paused for a moment, and then said: "Because I also have something I need to do."

"…"

“I need the strongest power for me to use.” Shi Mei pursed his lips, “You won’t understand.”

The youth, Mo Ran, seemed to be using his pitiful little strength to convince the enigmatic senior brother in front of him with all his might.

“You should know what kind of person Shizun is, even if… Even if you treated him like this, polishing off all the kindness in his heart and turning him into a murderous demon, he wouldn’t listen to you and be of use to you — You… You can’t do it.”

“How do you know I can’t do it?” Shi Mei chuckled, “Oh, I forgot to tell you. I fused with half of my residual soul in this Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower. As long as I blossom in his heart, he will slowly fall in love with me.”

Mo Ran was terrified, “You are insane!”

Shi Mei closed in on him. The curtain of night was illuminated by the lightning, and a loud explosion resounded, illuminating the beautiful face of Shi Mei.

“Like you said, he is so good, he is mine to use. How can he not become my man? So what if he became a demon? When the time comes, he will only listen to my every word and be infatuated with me. Wouldn’t that be amazing?”

He knew that Chu Wanning would not wake up at this moment, nor would he hear the conversation between the two. Therefore, he was not afraid at all and said calmly, “Shidi, please move to the side. Do you really think that you, who have just cultivated the elementary spirit core, can beat me?”

Mo Ran gritted his teeth and said, “I won’t allow it.”

Shi Mei just smiled. Then in a blink of an eye, he had already moved behind Mo Ran like a ghost. His hand was already suspended above Chu Wanning's head, holding the black flower that was about to bloom.

"A-Ran, do you know how much effort I put in to cultivate this one? I have painstakingly trained only for the day that Shizun would go into seclusion."

He lowered his body, his cheek almost touching the side of Chu Wanning's face.

"He will become my blade, my puppet, he will become my partner. What can you stop?"

Flowers falling.

His life was about to change.

Suddenly, he heard the youth's stern voice and blocked his path with all his might.

"Don't touch him!"

"You're really funny." Shi Mei slowly lost his patience, "Did you know…"

"Let me do it."

The rest of the words were cut off between his lips. A clap of thunder tore through the sky from the horizon, and a flame bolt tore through the night sky.

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes and asked: "What?"

Mo Ran trembled.

He had only been in the sect for such a short time, and he had only learned a few techniques. He was fated to be unable to stop Shi Mei, and he did not know how to wake Chu Wanning up.

He was unarmed and undisciplined.

Only flesh and blood remained.

Therefore, he could only say, “Let me do it.”

Shi Mei was quiet for a while before laughing, “Do you know what you’re talking about?”

“I know.”

“The Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was cultivated from the blood and sweat of my mother and my soul to nurture it.” Shi Mei straightened his body and stared at Mo Ran’s face, “Who do you think you are? You think you are qualified?”

“I…” After clenching his fingers into a fist, he suddenly raised his head and said, “I may not be qualified, but I am much more suitable than Shizun.”

There were spots of light that flickered in Shi Mei’s eyes: “…What do you mean?”

“You said that this flower could give birth to hatred in one’s heart. But what if that person doesn’t have any grievances against others?”

Shi Mei was silent for a moment, then laughed: “Impossible. Everyone has a grudge in their hearts, even the Immortal Elder Beidou is no exception.”

However, as his hand caressed the petals of the hate flower, a wave of restlessness gradually arose.

In fact, all these years he had been wondering if Chu Wanning could be used as a breeding ground for the hate flowers. What if this person never had a shred of hatred in his heart?

Cultivating another flower required time and effort, not to mention the soul splitting was too painful. He didn't want to experience it a second time.

Seeing him hesitate, Mo Ran stepped forward. "In all these years, have you ever seen Shizun hate anyone?"

"…"

"You said that the Flower of Endless Hate will devour the kindness and warmth in your heart… To ordinary people, these things may not be everything, but you should understand it better than I do, Shi Mei."

The rain was getting heavier and heavier, and the trees were bleak.

"Shi Mingjing, aren't you afraid that he will gradually lose all his memories and forget everything good? Aren't you afraid that someone will find out?"

Shi Mei suddenly narrowed his eyes.

His pupils were dark and gloomy, as if there was a snake flicking its tongue.

Mo Ran was coming towards him step by step, his heart beating like a drum, noisy, more urgent than the rain.

“I don’t know what you’re going to do, but if you insist on offering it to me, then so be it.”

“You…”

“I have hatred in my heart, and it can be nurtured. I don’t have too many pure, good memories. Even if I gradually forget them, it’s not easy for people to find them.”

Mo Ran was trying to persuade the executioner to turn the blade around and place it on his own neck.

“I still can’t do anything, but Shizun and Uncle both said that my gifts are high and my spirit energy is sufficient… I can do it.”

He trembled slightly as his fingernail entered his palm, but he still persisted in speaking.

“I can take his place and become the knife and weapon you want.”

“I can replace him and become the demon you want for killing.”

“Shi Mei.” In the end, he stood firmly in front of Shi Mingjing. Lightning flashed, and a gust of wind blew, blowing the curtain of rain diagonally into the pavilion.

There was a wave of coldness.

“Let me do it.”

It was probably because he had hit the nail on the head with this, or maybe it was because Shi Mei was not sure if Chu Wanning could make the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower take effect, or because the Spiritual Energy that Mo Ran displayed back then was unparalleled, so the time he took to form his Spiritual Core was even faster than the favored son of heaven, Xue Meng, and it was so fast that it made one's eyes go red.

In short, after weighing the pros and cons several times, it was still the black bud that was about to bloom that pierced the bottom of Mo Ran's heart.

After doing all of this, Shi Mei sat by the stone table and started chewing on the food with his hands. His eyes seemed to be in a trance.

He did not understand why.

Why did Mo Ran help Chu Wanning by blocking this fatal blow? With life, soul, future, and dignity.

They clearly only had a year or so of destiny between Shizun and disciple.

He didn't understand.

Shi Mei watched as the black flower bud melted into his chest. Although it was just a soft leaf, it felt like a needle could pierce through flesh and blood and pierce into the deepest parts of his body.

During this whole process, Mo Ran kept holding it in, not saying a word. Only when his stamen was like some kind of Soul Devouring Insect with strange tentacles and a fierce seed drilled into his heart, did Mo Ran finally let out a whimper and kneel on the ground.

The young man trembled in front of him, while Shi Mei just sat there quietly. His jade arms were shining as he watched Mo Ran spasm in front of him and vomit blood in front of him.

“Does it hurt?”

“Cough cough…”

Shi Mei was interested, but his gaze was still gentle: “How much pain does it cause? I’ve never cast this kind of spell on anyone before, and I’m really curious. My good junior brother, what does it feel like to be pierced through the heart by a hate flower?”

His gaze was like spring water, flowing past Mo Ran’s body on the ground, and finally landing on Mo Ran’s pale knuckles.

Mo Ran’s fingers subconsciously dug into the ground. Even the tips of his fingers had been torn, forming lines of bloody marks.

“Does it hurt more than digging your heart?”

Mo Ran did not answer him.

The pain was real. However, it was much better than the pain he had suffered that year on the unmarked cemetery outside Linyi City.

It was much better than watching one’s mother die in front of him.

It was much better than digging through the mud and burying the flesh.

“Back then…” He didn’t manage to protect his mother properly, and now, he could finally… “I can protect Shizun.”

His eyes were unfocused as he mumbled to himself.

Those best memories were fading away bit by bit, his pure and clean past was fading away bit by bit, those few pitiful and beautiful memories flashed before his eyes…

A bowl of hot soup was given to him and his mother one year.

An old farmer had once offered to ask them to come in on a snowy night to warm themselves and set them near a fire.

Some other begging child had shared half a loaf of meat loaf with him.

Duan Yihan pulled his hand and brought him over the autumn river bank where dragonflies danced…

There was no hatred, no sadness, no unwillingness, no apprehension, no hostility.

Everything was peaceful.

It was the purest of good.

He saw himself carefully embroidering a haitang handkerchief under the lantern light, saw himself supporting his cheek as he sat at the stone table, smiling and watching his Shizun eat the mooncake. He saw them drinking under the moon, and the first time he brought a pear blossom wine for his Shizun.

These memories would have to be forgotten forever.

He would never remember again…

Henceforth, hatred would be born, and the gentle memories of the past would be transformed.

From then on, the burning passion in his heart would be extinguished, and there would be no more flames. The spring water in his eyes would freeze and turn into ice.

From then on, he would go against his mother's last words.

Duan Yihan said: "Repay your gratitude. Don't hold a grudge."

I can't do it anymore.

He did not know where he got the strength from, but he clenched his teeth and endured the tearing pain in his internal organs, trying to stand up. He staggered, but he could not stand up, so he knelt and crawled until his soul trembled.

"Shizun…"

He struggled and wriggled, trembling pitifully.

Shi Mei thought that he was going to do something, but in the end, he realized that this youth was just doing his best, using his final bit of passion and gratitude to knock him down.

Tears welled up.

"Shizun, soon I… I'm going to disappoint you…"

Rain falling heavily in the night.

"Very soon, I won't be able to remember you anymore. I won't be able to… I won't be able to learn from you anymore… You will hate me, hate me…"

He was crying, telling him his final farewell before his good sense was gone.

However, Chu Wanning could not hear him.

He was right in front of him, but he couldn't hear anything.

“I’m sorry, the reason why I broke that flower was because I wanted to give it to you. Shizun, the reason I’m here today, was originally… I intended to apologize to you when you wake up and put all that I have in my mind into words… I would tell you everything.”

His voice was hoarse, as if it had been gouged out of his throat along with his flesh.

“Shizun, thank you for not looking down on me, and for taking me in…”

“I really, really…”

His heart suddenly jerked as his eyes were filled with blood. This was the sign that the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was about to take root. It was also an indication that the love art had begun to take effect.

His forehead fell and heavily crashed into the ground.

He sobbed silently.

“I’m serious, I really love you.”

Shi Mei sighed softly. His expression seemed to be filled with both interest and pity.

However, whether it was his pity or his interest, everything was bland and nothing could enter his heart.

He walked over and lifted Mo Ran’s face. He stared at Mo Ran’s eyes that were gradually becoming blurry and softly asked, “Come, junior brother. Tell me, what do you want now?”

“What do you want…”

What is it?

In front of Heaven-Piercing Tower.

Duan Yihan was laughing, Chu Wanning lowered his gaze.

Xun Fengruo's elder sister from the music industry revealed her two sharp canines, her eyes flashing with a fervent and excited luster. She said to him, "Ah Fengruo, I'll soon earn enough money to ransom myself. I'll take you along with me. We'll leave this place. Elder sister will take you to live a good life."

Although Mo Ran was still unconscious, he was still doing his best to capture these memories that were scattered like grass.

He muttered, "What I ask for in return is… Not… To hold a grudge."

Shi Mei shook his head and waited for a while.

He then asked, "What do you want?"

Mo Ran said hoarsely and persistently, "What I ask for… One day, to die under Shizun's hands."

Shi Mei froze for a moment, then he laughed: "Die under Shizun's hands?"

"I don't want to be a devil… I don't want to go to hell…" He mumbled over and over again, "I don't want to remember only hate, Shizun…"

He had actually freed himself from Shi Mei's grasp, kneeling down in front of Chu Wanning, almost howling in pain. His eyes were bloodshot as his consciousness became more and more chaotic.

"Kill me."

In the end, the only thing that remained was this wish.

“On the first day of my wickedness… Please, please. Kill me.”

The torrential rain poured down, engulfing the inky night. The young man’s hoarse cry that sounded like a trapped beast was heard. The sound of thunder rumbled, the bamboo forest was desolate, and all the lotus flowers in the Red Lotus Pavilion fell into the pond in the middle of the night.

There were eight hardships in life, and there was a deep hatred in death.

Before he lost his consciousness, Mo Ran stretched out his trembling hand and held onto the corner of Chu Wanning’s clothes. He looked up and muttered to himself, “Shizun… You… Don’t you worry about me…”

You keep me in mind.

How much suffering and hatred in this world had been blotted out by the torrential rain?

After two lifetimes, after finally learning the truth, Chu Wanning finally recalled the past. He vaguely remembered the next day, when he finished one cycle of cultivation, he woke up from his meditative state.

Golden light scattered into the bamboo pavilion, and the flower blossoms within the pavilion were almost all gone. Fangfei, who used to have a branch, was soon to be grind into dust.

The rain had stopped. Chu Wanning blinked and turned around to see the Shi Mei standing by the stone table, cooking tea. The mist rose in spirals, and Shi Mei’s face was so gentle and beautiful. He smiled when he saw that he had woken up.

“Shizun.”

“Why aren’t you going to rest? You have been guarding it for the past three days.

The teacup was filled with boiling amber water.

Shi Mei served him tea and said with a smile, “Today I will be the one guarding Shizun. A-Ran is a child and has been punished by Shizun. I still feel bad about that.”

Chu Wanning was taken aback, “He’s not coming anymore?”

With the soft black eyelashes fluttering in the wind, like two tender stamens on a branch in early spring, he replied, “He’s not coming. He went to the library to help the Sect Leader organize the books.”

Chu Wanning was lost for a moment.

He had originally planned to take advantage of the two of them being alone to have a good chat with Mo Ran about the matter of the flower breaking. In the end, he had been too strict with himself…

He had never encountered a violation of the law by his disciple, and thinking about it afterwards, he also felt that the punishment was too severe.

However, Mo Ran didn’t even want to see him, nor was he willing to go into closed door cultivation with him.

Chu Wanning closed his eyes.

After a long while, he agreed. He took the cup of fragrant tea from Shi Mei's white and long hands, blew away some of the mist, and took a sip.

The tea was too full, and when he received it, a few drops sprinkled onto his robes.

Shi Mei was extremely meticulous. When he saw it, he smiled and said, "I have a handkerchief."

"No need to borrow yours." Chu Wanning took out a white handkerchief embroidered with haitang and wiped away the remaining tea stains.

"What a beautiful handkerchief. It looks like the best one in town. Shizun, did you buy it yourself?"

For a moment, Chu Wanning wanted to say, "No, it was given by Mo Ran."

He embroidered it.

A gift for my apprenticeship.

However, he was in a bad mood and did not want to say it. Furthermore, he felt that his words were inexplicably a bit shameful.

Thus, after a moment of silence, Chu Wanning only replied with a dull "Okay" before folding the handkerchief and putting it away.

After putting the handkerchief away, he let out a soft sigh.

On that day, the sun shone brightly, the desolate wind and rain of last night had only left behind a red light to brush the appendix dry, the lotus leaves had been exposed to the new dew.

"Was it raining hard last night?"

As Shi Mei fiddled with the tea set, his fingers froze as he heard the question. His eyes turned dark: “Huh?”

Chu Wanning cast his gaze on Fangfei, lightly saying, “All the flowers have fallen.”

Shi Mei laughed again and carefully arranged the tea cups. Then, he calmly said, “Last night, there was a thunderstorm. The ruckus lasted for a while before it stopped. It’s going to be a good day. When the ground dries up a bit, I’ll go and sweep away all the falling flowers in the yard.”

Chu Wanning did not say anything else.

In the distance, the sky looked like it was being washed clean. When the sun rose in the east, golden feathers fluttered everywhere.

Indeed.

It was a rare sunny day.

Ch. 279 [Sisheng Peak] Snow Night for the Remaining Life

Nanping valley.

It was late at night, and fresh snow was falling outside the hut.

In the past few days, the injuries on Mo Ran's body became worse and worse. Even if Chu Wanning had used the flower soul sacrifice technique to heal him, the results would still have been minimal.

In the afternoon, he vaguely woke up once, but he was still unconscious. Squinting his eyes, he saw Chu Wanning, so he just cried. He apologized and said not to go, and his words tumbled over and over until he burst into tears.

He had been dreaming, shuttling back and forth through his turbulent years.

For a moment, he thought that he had just been picked up by Xue Zhengyong, and for a while, he thought that he was in the five years that he had lost Chu Wanning.

The only thing he couldn't dream of was his memories that had already been taken away by the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower. He could not dream of all the sacrifices, all the protection, all the innocence.

"Mo Ran…" After serving a bowl of freshly brewed congee, Chu Wanning came to his bedside.

It was a technique from his previous life that could barely be eaten.

He sat down on the edge of the couch, raised his hand, and touched his forehead.

It was very hot.

He called out to him, but he couldn't wake up. Chu Wanning waited until the porridge cooled down and became cold. He felt that he could no longer do this and kept the porridge warm again.

He did not know when Mo Ran would wake up, but if he did, he could always eat something immediately.

"It was cooked with chicken soup, your favorite." Chu Wanning told him softly that the spiritual spells used to maintain Mo Ran's heartbeat had not been broken. However, Mo Ran could not wake up.

If he couldn't wake up, it meant that once his spiritual energy was cut off, he would no longer be able to open his eyes.

There was no way he could save him.

But he couldn't accept it. How could he accept it?

Mo Ran was still alive, even though his aura was still extremely weak. These days, sun, moon, and the morning were all in a daze. Chu Wanning stood by his side, watching his chest move up and down. He felt that there was still hope. Everything could be turned around.

There was still time.

Chu Wanning remembered one night when Mo Ran woke up in a daze. There were no lights on in the room, so Mo Ran just stared at the candlestick, his dry lips were moving slightly.

At that time, he was very excited. He hurriedly held Mo Ran's hand and asked, "What do you want to say?"

"… Lamp…"

"What?"

"… The light. You want a lamp…" Mo Ran looked at the candlestick that he was destined to be unable to light, and tears began to flow down his cheeks, "I want the lamp to be lit…"

In that instant, time overlapped.

It was as though he had returned to that year when he had just taken on a shizun. Mo Ran was sick. The skinny young man was curled up on the bed, feeling extremely drowsy.

When Chu Wanning went to visit him, he was sobbing for his mother.

Not knowing how to coax him, Chu Wanning sat beside the young man's bed. He raised his hand hesitantly and touched the young man's forehead.

And the little boy cried and said, "Black… They were all black… Mother… I want to go home…"

Finally, it was Chu Wanning who lit up the candlestick, lighting up the walls and illuminating his face. As if feeling the warmth of the light, the child with the high fever opened a pair of shiny, watery eyes.

"Shizun…"

Chu Wanning agreed. He adjusted the blanket for him and spoke softly, sounding very gentle, "Mo Ran, the light is on… Don't be afraid."

After so many years, the lone bean lamp once again flickered on. A warm yellow halo submerged into the thatched cottage, dispersing the endless darkness and cold.

Chu Wanning stroked his hair and called him hoarsely, “Mo Ran, the lights are on.”

He wanted to continue. You don’t have to be afraid.

However, his throat was choked with sobs and he could no longer speak. Chu Wanning tried his best not to cry but his forehead was still pressed up against Mo Ran, breaking into tears. “The lights are on. Wake up, okay?”

“Pay attention to me, please…”

The lantern was in a pool of tears, always burning bright and clear, until the end of the oil.

Later, when the sun had risen, the sky outside the window had turned white, and Mo Ran had not yet opened his eyes. The time that could awaken the sleeping youth with a single lamp had passed.

Will never come back.

Another three nights passed.

These days, Chu Wanning stayed by his bedside every day, taking care of him, accompanying him, losing his spiritual power, and telling him about things he had forgotten.

It was already dusk. The snowing had stopped. The red sun shone outside the window, illuminating the land. A squirrel leapt over the snow-covered branches, causing the pears to rustle and sparkle.

The man lying on the couch was bathed in the gentle twilight, which added to his pale, haggard complexion. Under his thin eyelids, his pupils slightly shifted — and then, just as dusk was about to fall, he slowly opened his eyes.

After days of heavy illness and dizziness, Mo Ran finally woke up.

He opened his eyes, his gaze still blank and empty, until he saw Chu Wanning napping tiredly beside his bed.

Mo Ran said hoarsely in a low voice, “Shizun…”

He lay in the depths of the blanket, his consciousness slowly returning. Gradually, he recalled the words that Chu Wanning said to him over and over again while he was still half asleep.

A glass of wine, a haitang handkerchief… There was also that year at the Red Lotus Pavilion, the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower that he had sacrificed his life for him.

Was it a dream?

Was it because he longed for salvation that he dreamt of Chu Wanning telling him these stories? Was it because he wished to go back and dream that Chu Wanning was willing to forgive him?

He turned his face to the side and reached out his hand to touch the sleeping man beside the couch, but his fingertips did not touch him.

He was afraid that if he touched him, the dream would break.

He was still in the Tianyin Pavilion, kneeling in front of the Confession Platform. Beneath him were the guests who had been summoned by the mountains and sea. He was on his knees before thousands of people, all of whom had eventually become blurred faces in his eyes, souls who had once died in his hands, screaming and laughing at him for their lives.

No one wanted him, no one wanted to save him.

It was his audacity, his wild heart, his madness, his illusion that Chu Waning would come — he was in the pain of digging his heart out, this illusion is the last fire in the world.

Fake.

No one had ever cut the chains, no one had ever embraced him, no one had ever come with the wind, no one had ever brought him home.

His eyelashes trembled as he held onto his tears. He stared at Chu Wanning's sleeping face, not daring to blink until his eyes became hazy and tears began to fall.

Chu Wanning's reflection shattered into thousands of specks of light and he once again went to look at his dream.

The dream was still there.

Mo Ran lay on the bed exhausted. His eyelashes were wet, his throat was choked with sobs, and tears continued to flow from the corners of his eyes… His heart was in pain, and blood kept seeping out. He was afraid that he would wake up Chu Wanning, who had finally gotten some sleep, so he bit his lips and wept silently.

He was awake, but he knew his body. He knew that this was only temporary, it was time borrowed, just a glimpse.

It was also the heavens last pity for him.

He had been worried for most of his life, had gone mad for the rest of his life. His hands were covered in blood and there was no escape from his notoriety. It was only at the end that he was convicted. As a result, he felt very at a loss, and even somewhat apprehensive.

He didn't know if it was luck or misfortune.

Unfortunately, two lives are absurd.

Fortunately, the rest of his life would be peaceful.

But how much of his life was left? One day? Two days?

That was a good day for him.

— It was a peaceful time that he had never had before.

Later, when he heard the sounds of Chu Wanning waking up, he hurriedly wiped away his tears. He did not want his shizun to see that he had been crying.

Mo Ran turned his head and looked at the person sitting beside the bed. His eyelashes trembled.

Outside the window, the golden crows were sinking and the Big Dipper was turning.

He heard Chu Wanning whisper, "Mo… Ran?"

The voice was slow and gentle, like spring sprouts breaking through the earth, like the first melting of an ice river, or like the wine on a small red clay stove warming to the third stream, as wisps of steam emanated and filled the air, causing one's heart to feel warm. It was a heavenly sound that he would never forget for the rest of his life. Mo Ran was silent for a moment, then he smiled.

"Shizun, I'm awake."

The clear night had no snow, and the rest of his life was long.

On this night, in the deep valleys of the Nanping Mountains, the most relaxed and most gentle time of his two lifetimes finally arrived. He woke up, he could see the joy and sorrow in the corners of Chu Wanning's eyes. He woke up, leaned against the couch, and allowed Chu Wanning to tell him what he wanted to do, what he wanted him to say to him.

None of this mattered to him.

He just wanted to hold on a little longer, a little longer.

"Let me see the wound again."

"No." Mo Ran smiled and held Chu Wanning's hand. He pulled him over and kissed him lightly, "I'm fine now."

After a few rejections, Chu Wanning looked at him, as if he suddenly understood something, and the color of his face slowly faded.

Mo Ran calmly replied, "It's really alright."

Chu Wanning did not answer. After a while, he stood up and walked over to the furnace. The firewood within was gradually extinguished. He left Mo Ran with his back as he slowly fiddled with the wood in front of the fire.

The fire started and lit up again. The whole house became warm afterwards, but Chu Wanning didn't look back. He still held the poker and poked at the wood that didn't need to be fiddled with.

"Porridge…"

Finally, he spoke in a hoarse voice.

"The congee is still warm. Drink it when you wake up."

Mo Ran was silent for a moment before he lowered his eyes and laughed. It's been a long time since I've had a drink of the porridge that was cooked by Wanning. "In my previous life, you left, but I haven't had a drink of it since."

"It's not ready." Chu Wanning said, "I still don't know, about… I can barely enter…" His last words were a bit shaky, as if he couldn't continue any further.

Chu Wanning paused for a long time, then said slowly, "Let me get you a bowl."

Mo Ran said: "Alright."

It was warm in the house, and the snow outside began to fall fitfully as the night turned darker.

Mo Ran held the bowl of porridge and drank a few mouthfuls. Then, he looked at Chu Wanning, lowered his head and drank a few mouthfuls, then looked at Chu Wanning again.

Chu Wanning asked, "What's wrong? Is there something wrong with it?"

“No.. I just want to look at you again.”

“…” Chu Wanning did not say anything. He picked up the silver dagger and picked up the roasted fish from the fire. It was a melting river fish, but there were still thorns. He picked out the thorns and carefully divided the snow-white fish.

Mo Ran had always taken care of him when he ate.

Now it’s the same if you turn it upside down.

He handed the sliced fish to Mo Ran and said, “Eat it while it’s hot.”

Mo Ran obediently ate it.

The man didn’t look that tall as he leaned back against the couch and wrapped himself in a quilt. The orange glow of the fire illuminated his face, making him look very young.

It was at this moment that Chu Wanning suddenly realized that whether it was Taxian-Jun or Mo-zongshi, they were both ten years younger than him.

But they had experienced so much suffering.

Mo Ran finished the porridge, then poked the most plump piece of fish up, wanting to give it to Chu Wanning to eat, but he was surprised when he asked, “Shizun, what’s wrong?”

Chu Wanning lowered his head, his eyes red. He calmed himself down and said lightly, “It’s nothing. I just caught a chill.”

Afraid that he would be unable to control himself if he continued to sit there, he stood up and said, “I’ll go and check around. Rest early after you finish eating. Once your injuries have healed, I will bring you back to the Sisheng Peak."

Both of them knew that getting better was not going to happen in the end, and that all the warmth was already running out of time.

They were talking about tomorrow, talking about the future. It was as if he wanted to stuff the decades to come into this night, to transfer all the stars in the future, and to spend them on this snowy night.

After Chu Wanning left, Mo Ran sat in front of the fire for a while. Then, he untied his clothes and looked down at the scar on his chest.

Then he was stunned for a moment, feeling empty.

Outside in Nanping valley, it was snowing.

The floating clouds outside were getting bigger and bigger. Mo Ran didn't know when he would rapidly deteriorate, nor did he know when his life would come to an end. He lay on the bed and looked out at the drifting snow. The wind whistled past his ears, and he suddenly felt that his life was like the current, swift wind, and all the things he had experienced in the past had gone away.

In fact, whether it was his previous life or his current life, there would always be such a smart person scheming and playing games.

Whether it was Shi Mei or Shizun, one wanted to protect him, and the other wanted to harm him. But they all had their own plans.

Mo Ran was different from them. He was the type of stupid dog that did not have any complicated thoughts. He did not know how to move about and make the chess pieces look beautiful. He would only obediently guard the person he loved. Even if his skin and flesh were ripped open and his bones were lacerated, he would still stubbornly stand in front of that person and not leave.

This kind of person was brave to say it nicely.

To put it bluntly, it was stupid.

This very stupid person was lying by the window, his eyelashes trembling. Suddenly, he saw a familiar figure standing under the Plum Blossom Tree.

Chu Wanning did not go on a patrol. It was just an excuse.

He stood under the flower tree, too far away. The wind and snow were too fast, so Mo Ran could not see any of the expression on his face, only his blurry silhouette. Standing alone in the obscuring snow, he did not move.

What was he thinking?

Is he cold?

He…

“Shizun.”

Chu Wanning, who was lost in thought in the snow, turned around and saw that the black-clothed youth had actually appeared behind him in the dark, carrying a blanket in the snow.

Chu Wanning was shocked, and immediately asked, “How did you get out like that? What are you doing out here? Hurry up and go back!”

“Go!” Before he could say anything, a wave of warmth enveloped him.

Mo Ran lifted the quilt with the blanket. It was pitch black and warm, so he also wrapped Chu Wanning in the quilt.

The two of them stood under the old plum tree. They had not used it for a long time. No matter how much they basked in the musty smell, they would always find it in their thick quilts. No matter how heavy the snow outside or how fast the wind blew, it had nothing to do with the two of them.

Mo Ran embraced him in this warm and pitch-black place. “Don’t even think about it. Although I don’t remember what shizun said, but…”

He paused for a moment, first kissing Chu Wanning’s forehead, then whispering, “But if I were to go back and experience it again, I would still do it.”

“…”

“Also.” He held onto the quilt, stroking Chu Wanning’s cold hands, “Shizun doesn’t need to feel sad. In fact, I think what Shi Mei said was true. The Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower was only able to make those thoughts in my mind come true, those thoughts that cannot be seen in the light of day.”

The ten fingers interlocked.

Mo Ran pressed his forehead, “I already had a lot of hatred in my heart, but I just couldn’t vent it when I was young. Slaughterer of the Rufeng Sect… I thought about it. I have thought about dominating the world. When I was five or six years old, hiding in a broken house, I had fantasized that one day I would be able to summon the wind and rain to scatter the beans into the army. These are my own thoughts, and no one has forced them on me."

He caressed Chu Wanning's face, "So, if the one who got infected with the curse was you, shizun, you might not have become an unforgivable tyrant like me. You wouldn't be used, and you wouldn't be harmed by the Tianyin Pavilion." He smiled with a heavy nose and rubbed his forehead to comfort him. "You are not replaced by me. Don't think too much. Go back to the house and sleep."

The bed was very narrow, and Mo Ran held him.

The moment that should come would always get closer and closer. It was impossible to escape.

The pain in his heart was even worse than ever before. The afterglow would not last long, and it was the same with his mother when she died. He knew that he did not have much time left.

His thick eyelashes were down, and the fire in the furnace had dimmed a little by now. The dim yellow light shone softly on his young, handsome face.

This stupid man could see the pain in Chu Wanning's eyes, so he forced a smile and said, "does it look good?"

Chu Wanning was stunned, "What?"

"The scar. A man should have a few more scars."

Chu Wanning was silent for a moment, then he raised his hand and slapped his face, not hard, but gently.

After a moment, he seemed to be unable to hold it in any longer. He buried himself in the warmth of Mo Ran chest. He did not say anything, but his shoulders were trembling slightly.

He knew very well.

Chu Wanning knew all about it.

Mo Ran froze for a moment, then hugged him and kissed him on the forehead and hair.

“So ugly.” Having survived the calamity, he was much warmer than he was in the past. He sighed lightly, “Have I made Wanning cry?”

It would be fine if he called him Shizun.

A “Wanning”, two alternate lifetimes.

Chu Wanning was hugging the man’s warm and lively body in the depth of bedding. He had always hated and was ashamed to express any of his intense emotions, but at that moment, he felt that his nervousness and shame were laughable and ridiculous.

And so they embraced each other on the narrow mattress, in the empty huts on all sides, and in the long night of wind and snow.

Chu Wanning said softly, “How can it be ugly? It doesn’t matter if you have a scar or not. They all look good.”

Mo Ran was stunned.

He had never heard Chu Wanning express himself so bluntly.

Not even on the day of the confession.

There was only the last of the light from the fire in the room. It was quiet and gentle.

The tranquility and tenderness of the night.

“In my previous life, in this life, I have always loved you and was always willing to be with you. In the future, I’m also willing.”

He could not see his face clearly, but he could imagine what he looked like right now.

Her eyes were probably red, and even the tips of his ears were red.

“Once I found out that you were cursed, I couldn’t show it. I could only hate you… Now I can finally make it up to you.” Chu Wanning’s cheeks burned and his eyes were damp. “I love you, I’m willing to tie the knot with you, I’m willing to die for you, and I’m willing to submit to you.”

Hearing that he was willing to submit to him, Mo Ran’s heart felt as if it was being burned by a raging fire, and his entire body trembled.

He was both moved and sad, both painful and loving.

He was almost trembling. “Shizun…”

Chu Wanning raised his hand to stop him, “Just let me finish.”

But after waiting for a while, Chu Wanning was still a person who could not speak words of love. He had thought of many things, but they were not suitable. No matter what he thought, it was not enough.

For a moment, Chu Wanning really wanted to say, “I’m sorry for causing you to suffer so much, you had to bear too much of a burden.”

He wanted to say: “In my previous life, until I left, I still could not tell you the truth. I was wrong.”

He wanted to say, “That year at the Red Lotus Pavilion, thank you for being willing to protect me.”

He didn’t even want any dignity anymore. He wanted to cry to Mo Ran, wanted to hug his warm body and say, “I beg you, don’t leave. I beg you, don’t leave.”

But his throat was choked with sobs and his heart was filled with bitterness.

In the end, Chu Wanning lowered his head and kissed the scar on Mo Ran’s chest. His eyelashes rustled as he spoke in a low and hoarse voice.

“Mo Ran, no matter how it used to be, or how it will be in the future, I will always be with you.”

Shame burned through his blood.

But his words were solemn.

“As a person who had belonged to Taxian-Jun in his past life, and also someone who belongs to Mo-zongshi.”

It was too hot.

Mo Ran only felt the flames of the world in his embrace light up once more. The fireworks before his eyes were bright as all the pain and sorrow disappeared at this moment.

“Two lifetimes, they belong to you.”

“No regrets.”

Mo Ran closed his eyes, which were moist.

He kissed him on the lips and sighed, “… Shizun… Thank you.”

Outside, the snow was falling harder and harder, and the night was getting darker.

They slept in each other’s arms, both of them thinking. So, this is the rest of my life.

Mo Ran knew that his clothes were wet with tears, but he did not speak. Ever since he was young, he had been wishing for so much joy for the rest of his life. At this moment, he should be happy.

He hugged Chu Wanning and said, “Go to sleep, Wanning. Sleep, I’ll hold you. You’re afraid of the cold, so I’ll be warm for you.”

“Wait for me, we will return to the Sisheng Peak together. I want to ask for forgiveness from my aunt and uncle, and I want to argue with Xue Meng again… We still have a lot to do…”

Mo Ran caressed Chu Wanning’s hair and spoke softly.

His throat was filled with the sweet taste of blood, and his breathing became more and more sluggish.

However, he continued to smile. At this moment, his expression was very tranquil. “Master, I will give you an umbrella for your entire life.”

In his arms, Chu Wanning choked with sobs.

“Xia-shidi…” He was teasing him again, even though he was already at a loss for words, he still teased him, “Shige… will tell you a story. I’ll tell you a story every night. Don’t despise your shige for being so talkative. All he knows how to do is talk about cattle eating grass…”

Finally, Mo Ran raised his eyes and looked at the window sill, which was covered in a layer of sparkling snow.

The world was pure white.

“Wanning.” He embraced him, his heartbeat echoing in his ears. He whispered, “I’ve always loved you.”

He slowly closed his eyes. The faint dimples of the pear blossoms were immersed in the whiteness of the snow.

His heart beat slowly, bit by bit.

Suddenly, a branch of a plum tree outside the window was covered with snow. The snow was too heavy, and the branch broke, creating a sudden disturbance. The snowball and the tree branches fell together, creating a crisp crackling sound.

After the commotion, Chu Wanning could no longer hear the sound of heartbeats.

He waited for an instant, he waited for a moment, he waited for another moment, he waited for a long time.

There was no more sound.

No sound… Nothing.

It was a terrifying silence that chilled the bones.

It was a terrifying silence that would cause one to despair for the rest of one's life.

The end.

Stop.

Rest.

The room was deathly still, terrifyingly quiet.

After a very long time, Chu Wanning did not move. Chu Wanning was still lying on the bed in Mo Ran's embrace. He did not even get up, did not raise his head nor did he speak.

His little disciple, his Mo Shixiong, and his Immortal Taxian-Jun, wanted him to sleep in peace.

He said he would hold an umbrella for the rest of his life and tell him stories. He would love him for the rest of his life.

It's cold outside, it's snowing heavily.

I'll warm you.

Chu Wanning was curled up in his arms, not moving at all, on his chest, where the heat had not yet subsided.

They were leaving for home tomorrow.

He wanted to rest well with Mo Ran.

Chu Wanning reached out his hand and placed it around Mo Ran's waist.

In the dark night, he said, “Okay, I’ll listen to you, I’ll sleep. But tomorrow, when I call for you, you have to remember to wake up.”

He was pressed against his chest, which no longer rose and fell, and his tears soaked into Mo Ran’s clothes.

“Don’t stay in bed.”

Good night, Mo Ran.

The night is long, but I will stay with you. May you have a good dream, a fire, and a light.

And a home.

Ch. 280 [Sisheng Peak] Good and Evil Talk

On the morning of the second day, the sun shone through the window.

Chu Wanning opened his eyes. The bed was warm, one person's temperature could warm two people's bodies. He looked quietly at Mo Ran's face. To him, this was the most handsome person in the world, the best.

He did not move. He was thinking, what kind of porridge should I cook today?

He had already finished yesterday's porridge. Mo Ran drank four full bowls like he was starved, not leaving anything behind.

He kissed Mo Ran's cheek and asked, "Can I make you some more?"

The man slept soundly, his pitch-black eyelashes drooping down like two rolls of grass. He was so gentle that it seemed as if he would open his eyes at the next moment. He would pull him over with a smile and said, "Hungry. Tonight, you should go cook a bowl of porridge for me."

It also seemed that he would affectionately and sweetly tell him, "Whatever Shizun does is good, I will like it."

The corpse was already cold. The kiss on the cheek was cold, without any warmth at all.

Chu Wanning did not cry.

He got up and covered Mo Ran with the quilt. Then he went out to the yard to gather firewood and make a fire. He cooked seriously and cooked well.

The water boiled and the fog rose. The rice porridge bubbled and bubbled. He removed the foam with a spatula, added some salt, and covered it with a wooden lid to simmer.

People who had already been reborn once couldn't be saved again by the Rebirth Technique.

Chu Wanning stood by the stove blankly. There was a moment of clarity in his spiritual sense, and that moment was enough to take his life. He quickly stopped the trembling of his fingertips and lifted his hand to cover it up.

Once the porridge was cooked, someone would eventually drink it.

He had the fragmented memories of Mo Ran. When he was a child, Mo Ran was very poor. He could not eat until he was full and could only enjoy a steaming hot biscuit for an entire day.

Mo Ran won't waste it, so he will wakes up.

When the porridge was ready, he went out to the yard to clear the snow. Then he broke a new rose and took it back to cut off the branches and soak it in a small clay jar.

The plum blossoms had a fragrance of ten li. If Mo Ran was walking on the road, he would still be able to smell it.

No, his mind was in chaos again.

What was it like walking on the road, what was it like seeing the world… It was the same as yesterday and a few days ago. However, his face was thinner and thinner, and his face was even paler.

He'll wake up.

For two lifetimes, whether it was hatred or resentment, love or pity, ever since they met, Mo Ran had never taken the initiative to leave him. That was why, gradually, he soaked his life. It became the wind, the time, the spring that flowed through his fingers, and the light that covered his long hair.

He was his day, his night, his world.

Chu Wanning strolled in the world. In this earthly world, the snow will fall, cicadas will sing, the autumn lotus will die, summer flowers will be born. Everything would be the same as before, so why would Mo Ran leave?

He would stay with him, day after day, waiting for him to wake up. It was just like how Mo Ran had made a contract with Chu Wanning's corpse in his previous life. In this life, both Yin and Yang were at fault, and Chu Wanning had done the same thing as Taxian-Jun.

"Only on the day when I leave will you leave."

Standing in the Red Lotus Pavilion, Mo Ran, who was wearing a black robe, said to the sleeping Chu Wanning.

"Stay with me."

Today, in the depths of the Nanping Valley, Chu Wanning was clad in white, overlapping with the previous emperor.

He reached out his hand and caressed Mo Ran's bloodless face. "Stay with me."

A golden light rose and his spiritual energy flowed into the corpse. From then on, even if the Jade Descends Underworld and the Earthly Paradise, as long as Chu Wanning was still alive, Mo Weiyu's corpse would not rot. It was only after many years, when Chu Wanning passed away and the circulation of his spiritual energy stopped, that they would both die together.

They would turn to dust, scattered into fine powder, and scattered into the ground, turning into dust.

He would leave with him.

The Tianyin Pavilion's fire burned fiercely, casting flickering shadows on the walls. Mu Yanli stood alone in the middle of the hall with her hands clasped behind her back, her eyes closed.

Suddenly, the door to the palace hall opened. A person walked in.

She didn't turn his head around. She indifferently asked, "You're here?"

"I'm here." That person took off his cape and hat, revealing a beautiful face that could topple nations. It was precisely Shi Mei. "Sister Mu, are you not going to the back hall to take a look?"

"There's nothing to see. But it's about you cutting open people's chests and cutting their brains. The smell of blood is too strong, I can't take it."

"What can we do? The path of the Medical Sect has always been like this." Shi Mei laughed, "Even if it was Guyue'ye's Jiang Xi, he wouldn't be so fragrant if he were to use a knife on a dead person."

Mu Yanli frowned. She didn't plan on talking much about cutting open corpses, so she asked, "Speaking of which, you've been using this technique for a few days already. When will the Emperor be completely reborn?"

"His rebirth can't be counted as a rebirth. He only has a single conscious soul in his body. At most, he'll just be a living dead person."

"What we want is just a living dead person," he said. "The more obedient, the better. What about those pieces of spiritual core, are they still useful?"

"Pretty much. Although it's not complete, its power is still terrifying. Mo Ran is indeed worthy of being called the number one cultivator in the endowment. It is enough to open the path for us."

"I hope there won't be any more accidents this time."

"It's hard to say whether or not he'll get into business. I'm currently casting a spell to restore his Spiritual Core inside Taxian-Jun, and it will take at least ten days. In these ten days, I hope that Big Sister Mu can help me with two things."

"Go ahead."

"First of all, after Taxian-Jun is fully recovered, we will be going to do that great thing. At that time, no matter how foolish these cultivators are, they will know Mo Ran is speaking the truth and I'm afraid they will come to stop us together." The Elder paused, "Although there are not enough shrimp soldiers and crab generals, it will still give you a headache if you have too many people."

"So?"

"Although the fighting strength of the Upper Cultivation World is strong, we do not have enough experience. The key was the Sisheng Peak. I hope that Sister Mu can release some news, and start a conflict between the Sisheng Peak, and the various sects, and destroy this sect ahead of time."

Mu Yanli said, "Chu Wanning escaped after capturing his captive, Mo Weiyu. These two were originally at the Sisheng Peak, so it wouldn't be difficult for them to write an article about it. Not to mention that the Sisheng Peak was already under attack, and many people wanted to force them to disperse. That's easy to say. And the second thing?"

"Two." Shi Mei sighed, seemingly regretful, "Help me kill a person."

"Who?"

"Myself."

Mu Yanli turned het head and stared at him. The light from the fire illuminated Shi Mei's gentle face. "You from your previous life?"

"Yes."

"Are you crazy? Are you serious? No matter what you say he is still…"

She stopped and did not continue. She saw Shi Mei lift up his soft and thick eyelashes, revealing a pair of black pupils. The murderous intent beneath them had reached a crescendo.

"He is still me?" Shi Mei laughed, "You're right. But he is also a traitor."

"…"

"If he did not release Chu Wanning, would anyone have come to rob the prisoner?"

"…"

“If it wasn’t for him disturbing Taxian-Jun’s spiritual sense, would Chu Wanning have been able to take that half-dead Mo Ran away?” As he said this, a cold glint flashed across Shi Mei’s eyes, “It’s fortunate that he learned some techniques behind my back. He’s a blind person, so he escaped fast with his tracks concealed. He didn’t let me skin him alive.”

“I know he did not do this properly, but he is still a member of our race.”

“He is me. These two mortal worlds will eventually superimpose on each other. One of them is enough for me.” Shi Mei walked up the steps and stood next to Mu Yanli, “Just like you. Your illness from the previous life is already dead. But with the help of Sister Mu today, it will be the same.”

“But you don’t have to kill him. Our clan has suffered enough.” Mu Yanli looked at Shi Mei’s eyes a little anxiously, “A-Nan, we swore that as long as they were from our tribe, we would help each other and not kill each other.”

He looked at the dancing flames of the dragon and serpent, and said after a long while, “I thought the same thing when I was at Mount Jiao, I suspect that no one suspected him, which is why I gave him the chance to take advantage of me. After all, he is not the same as me.”

“…”

“I am still Hua Binan and Shi Mingjing.” In the end, he closed his eyes and sighed, “But what about him? He only remembers that he is Shi Mingjing. He has long forgotten who Hua Binan is.”

Flames crackled, orange sparks flew out.

In the end, Mu Yanli shook her head and said, “I can’t do the second part of what you said. He has already lost a pair of eyes for us, now that we can’t take him anymore, they won’t accept him either – he can’t go anywhere, he can’t do anything, why are you in such a hurry to kill him just because he betrayed you? Just because he is different from the path you chose in the end?”

After some time, he smiled, “You have always been decisive in killing, why are you so soft-hearted now?”

Mu Yanli suddenly raised her head. Pain flashed through her eyes. “Because he’s also my little brother. He’s also you.”

Her face was no longer so cold because of the emotions of the secular world. He no longer looked like a stone statue or an ice sculpture.

“A-Nan, whether it is in my previous life or this life, no matter how you turn into, I can’t do anything to you. I can’t do it.”

The tongues of flame in the brazier crept upward, dancing in interlaced red silk.

Shi Mei sighed, “… Forget it, this is a private matter. It’s up to you whether you want to or not. But the first matter is related to success or failure, so I ask Big Sister Mu to do it properly.”

At this moment, it was the evening bell that rang, and Mu Yanli descended from the corner of the pavilion’s roof with a solemn expression on his face. The Tianyin Pavilion’s Old Zhong had been established thousands of years ago, but his voice was still as sonorous as ever. Amidst the lingering sound of the bell, Mu Yanli slowly spoke.

“I see. Don’t worry.”

On the second night after the conversation with the Tianyin Pavilion, a serial killer case suddenly occurred in the Upper Cultivation World’s Bitan Manor. This matter had yet to be thoroughly investigated, and similar cases had already occurred in succession in the Fire Phoenix Pavilion, the Wubei Temple, and the Guyue’ye sects.

Soon, a single terror became a cycle, and people quickly discovered the crux of the problem —

Zhenlong Chess.

Chess is everywhere.

The town, the alleyway, and the Huadu Immortal School. No one was spared.

There were more and more pieces that had lost their sanity. Killing and arson everywhere, the various sects in the cultivation world could no longer attend to their own needs, no longer having the energy to care about the lives of their citizens.

Day after day, the rivers were dyed red with blood. City after city was left in ruins. This calamity was even more terrifying than any other Heavenly Rend.

It was because no one was even sure who the mastermind was, nor did they know how to end this sudden massacre. However, most of the cultivators believed that this disaster was orchestrated by Chu Wanning and Mo Ran, who were still missing. However, there were also people who were skeptical, such as the group of refugees gathered in the dilapidated temple. They discussed, “If you were to say that it was Mo Ran who was causing trouble, it would be rather believable. But why would Chu Wanning help him?”

“Who knows, maybe for a share?”

Another person said, “I think it’s more than just a piece of the cake. You all have seen on the day of robbery at Tianyin Pavilion. If it were just an ordinary Shizun and disciple, would they still be so emotional? In my opinion, the relationship between Chu Wanning and Mo Ran is not normal at all.”

“Ah… You mean?”

“Long Yang’s right, Shizun and disciple together.”

His upper and lower lip met with his teeth, not sparing any obscenities.

Those people who were seated around him all revealed extremely astonished and disgusted expressions as they muttered, “It can’t be? He is the Immortal Elder Beidou…”

“Then don’t forget the time when Chu Wanning accidentally died while repairing the Heavenly Rift, his disciple, Mo Ran, risked his life to go to hell to save him. Although Shizun and disciple have deep feelings for each other, but this is a matter of life and death, if it were you, would you be able to do it?”

The other side fell silent.

One of the pods in the bonfire burst apart, producing a cracking sound.

“Have you guys heard about the Mount Jiao incident? Before Shi Mingjing was kidnapped, he said something.”

“What?”

“I don’t remember the specifics. At that time, the situation was very critical and many people did not think about it carefully. However, when they thought about it carefully later on, they always felt that there was a sense of ambiguity between the lines.”

Someone frowned and said, “But I heard Shi Mingjing is Hua Binan. Can his words be trusted?”

“Nonsense!”

Everyone was startled by the angry shout, and turned around to see a man staring at them with wide eyes, “How can you believe that! It’s obviously Mo Ran. He is filthy whereas Shi Mingjing’s pure!”

“Brother Li, why are you so excited…”

The man said, “Why am I not excited? My life was saved by Shi Mingjing!”

“Ahh…”

“At that time, I was at Mount Jiao. Hua Binan had poisoned us with a Gu poison called the Heart Drilling Worm. If it wasn’t for Shi Mingjing’s eye healing technique, I would have died on the spot! If benefactor Shi Mei is Hua Binan, why would he need to help us remove the curse?”

The burly man was getting more and more agitated as he spoke. In the end, tears had started to form in his eyes.

“In order to save us, benefactor was wounded in the eyes by Hua Binan. It is still unknown whether he is dead or alive, yet he is being blackened by fire, I… I’m not worth it for him.”

As he spoke, he began to wail. The rest of the people inside the temple were at a loss as to what to do. They all looked at each other.

On one side was Shi Mingjing and the Tianyin Pavilion, on the other was Mo Weiyu and Chu Wanning. Both sides were suspicious, but the latter was much more suspicious.

A female cultivator, who was in the middle of the crowd, suddenly whispered as she looked at the flickering fire, “Actually… That day on Mount Jiao, when we were fighting Xu Shuanglin, I was also in the team. I have seen what Shi Mingjing did and what Mo Ran did, and neither of them looks like a bad person.”

“But one of them has to be lying, right?”

The female cultivator shook her head, “Who is lying is of great importance, I dare not make a decision. But I want to say something I saw with my own eyes.”

Seeing that everyone was looking at her, she blushed a little and coughed, saying, “At that time, everyone was injured, Mo Ran and Chu Zong… Chu Wanning was also not in a good condition, so he sat to the side to rest. I accidentally saw Mo Ran secretly extend his hand… He touched Chu Wanning’s face.”

Ch. 281 [Sisheng Peak] I Would Like to Be More Than Good

“Ahh…”

Many of the older students couldn’t stand this dubious relationship and immediately covered their mouths with their sleeves and frowned.

“How is this even proper!”

The female cultivator held the bowl of tea in her hands and lowered her head, saying, “I thought it was weird, so I was stunned for a moment. But they were both famous masters, and I didn’t dare think of anything against them. However, when he looked back…”

“There’s something wrong with the two of them.”

She paused for a moment before continuing, “And the words that you just mentioned — the words Shi Mingjing said before he was taken away. At that time, his words were vague,

“I feel awkward and haven’t thought about it too much. Now that I think about it, he means that Mo Ran once loved him and then changed his mind and fell in love with Chu Wanning.”

Everyone fell silent.

Many of the previously inconspicuous details had now become clear.

Suddenly, someone whispered, “You all went to the Tianyin Pavilion right? Did you see when he came to rob the prisoner? When Chu Wanning comforted him, I could almost see him kissing his forehead.”

“AHHHHH!” The details were even more repulsive, but even more intriguing. “Who kissed who?”

That man scratched his head and explained, “Chu Wanning kissed Mo Ran.”

“…”

“Didn’t you see?”

Everyone expressed that they did not see clearly, so that person spread out his hands and said, “Alright, then I’ll just pretend that I didn’t say anything. Maybe I was mistaken.”

However, there were many times when “act like I didn’t say anything” was just a sentence of nonsense, and “this official has something to say, but I don’t know if I should say it” was similar.

Will the spilled water be reclaimed? The nausea became more pronounced. Shizun and disciple were together. It would be better if the disciple took the initiative.

However, if the Shizun took the initiative, then this taboo would have an even more fishy stench, and it would seem that the Shizun had an ulterior motive and did not respect the disciple.

These private discussions and speculations were not limited to just this run-down temple. As the biggest suspects, Mo Ran and Chu Wanning became the talk of the town.

As the saying goes, good things don’t go out, while evil things go a thousand miles away. The topic of “filial love between Shizun and disciple” would make one drowsy, while “love between Shizun and disciple” would make all the eyes on the table gather at a lively conversation. Even if there were people who were suspicious and people who were dissatisfied, it did not stop the rumors from spreading.

Therefore, they speculated everything — that Xue Meng and Chu Wanning were tainted, that Shi Mei and Chu Wanning were not clean either. Thus, the originally clean Immortal Beidou became a perverted old man who liked to molest the handsome youth.

“Words aren’t always true, but they are never empty words.”

“Look at his three disciples, which one of them isn’t good-looking? Do you believe that he didn’t have such thoughts?”

“When Mo Ran just entered the sect, didn’t Chu Wanning refuse to take him in? I know a friend of mine at Sisheng Peak. He told me that Mo Ran went to the Red Lotus Pavilion for the night, and then Chu Wanning accepted him — why? You even need to ask, he slept over it. he question is, was Mo Ran good in bed?”

These details caused everyone to feel itchy in their hearts as they discussed about it with great interest.

“At that time, Mo Ran was only a weak crowned adult, Chu Wanning really wanted to go for it.”

“I suddenly understand why that female cultivator who peeked at him taking a bath was beaten half to death. She probably saw something that she shouldn’t have seen.”

After some ambiguous silence, a local thug laughed maliciously and said, “Hey, actually, I’m a bit curious. Tell me, when the two of them are sleeping, who’s up there and who’s down there?”

“Mo Ran must be down there. You guys should be aware of Chu Wanning’s temper. He’s so arrogant, he wouldn’t have found a disciple to sleep with him.”

“Now that I think about it, Mo Ran is really quite pitiful… Being forced into bed with an old man who has a fierce and difficult personality to handle. He’s not the most good-looking one, so it must be disgusting.”

“Sigh…”

However, these chattering were not the most intense of them all. As time passed, a few Zhenlong Chess pieces were recognized by the people around them. They were all Sisheng Peak disciples.

If one or two were a coincidence, then every time the clues pointed to the Sisheng Peak, no matter how innocent the sect was, they would inevitably become the target of public criticism, causing a great deal of panic.

In the past few days, there had been people who had come to the peak to argue, but all of them had closed the door.

“Sect Leader Xue is not here. If you have anything to say, please wait a few days.”

“Where did Xue Zhengyong go?”

Seeing the other party call out the Sect Leader’s name, the little gatekeeper became angry, “Since the change, my sect’s Sect Leader has been running around day and night, busy arranging chess pieces and doing things himself. Wherever there is trouble, he will be there. Go find him yourself!”

The people who are causing trouble sneered: “Busy taking care of the chess pieces? I think he’s busy manipulating the pieces and colluding with the criminal, Mo Ran.”

“What nonsense are you spouting?!”

“I’m spouting nonsense?” That person said, “Mo Ran cultivates forbidden martial arts, Chu Wanning helped him escape from prison, combining with Xue Zhengyong’s constant pleas for Mo Ran, and the disciples from Sisheng Peak everywhere these days being made into a Zhenlong Chess piece. If they say that there’s no tricks behind this sect, who would believe it?”

Xue Zhengyong sighed tiredly after hearing the report about the agitators. “Let the facts be louder than words, truth will speak for itself, history will judge if innocent or guilty. Don’t bother with what they say. Just let them do as they please.”

On this day, another person came to the mountain gate carrying a few corpses. They said that they wanted to make the Sisheng Peak pay with their lives.

It was already late at night when Xue Zhengyong returned. He was covered in blood and had a few injuries. As he listened to Madam Wang tell him these things, he washed the mud off his face. He took a deep breath and did not say anything immediately.

Madam Wang said, “We can’t go on like this. Do you think we should seek help from the Tianyin Pavilion…?”

“Ask for help from the Tianyin Pavilion?” Xue Zhengyong’s eyes narrowed, there was a claw mark left behind by a zombie on his cheek, “I think there’s something wrong with the Tianyin Pavilion. That Mu Yanli is just like a clay Buddha, muddleheaded and simply shameful."

Madam Wang quickly covered his mouth. "Don't speak nonsense."

"…"

"I know you don't feel well." Madam Wang sighed and caressed his face. "But what can we do? They were the descendants of a God, a thousand-year-old sect established by the God of Heaven. Therefore, even three hundred years ago, no one dared to question the PingKing's calamity. What kind of strength do you have to shake it?"

Xue Zhengyong's eyes were filled with anger, as if he wanted to say something, but didn't know what to say. Finally, he threw away the towel he had used to clean the wound and went to the window alone. He stood with his hands behind his back, looking out at the crescent moon.

"What do you think is going on with Ran'er at the moment?" After a long while, he asked in a hoarse voice.

Madam Wang dragged her long robes and walked to his side. "Husband…"

The moonlight shone on the man's face. The smile that had always been a smile on his face had disappeared. He looked so tired, even a bit old.

"Although he is not my brother's biological son, he even killed my nephew. But all these years. Do you understand? All these years, I've been putting him… I…"

"I understand. You don't have to say it, I know it." Madam Wang's eyes were a little red. "Me too."

Xue Zhengyong buried his face in his palms and rubbed them in pain and agitation. Suddenly, he bent his body and began to cough violently.

He finally managed to stop his coughing, and when he moved his hand away, it was only the blood from his palm.

Madam Wang was stunned and immediately felt like her heart was on fire. “How did you receive such heavy injuries? Lie down and let me see.”

“Nothing to look at.” Xue Zhengyong wiped the blood dry with a handkerchief. “It’s just some internal injuries. I’ll be fine for a few days.”

“Tomorrow, you should stop running outside. Look at the other sect leaders, who are like you, who are able to do everything by themselves?”

Xue Zhengyong seemed to want to force a smile, but he was too tired. His heart and body were both exhausted, and his smile fell when it was halfway through. A few days ago, even Wuchang Town at the foot of the mountain was attacked, and nine people died. “You want me to sit down at this time?”

“…” Madam Wang opened her beautiful eyes and silently looked at him.

Xue Zhengyong patted his head and said, “You also know that it is impossible for me.”

Madam Wang bit her lips. “Then you should at least rest for a day. Your internal injury has already caused you to vomit blood, so don’t be careless. Have you forgotten how elder brother passed?”

The last traces of a smile disappeared on Xue Zhengyong’s face.

When he saw Madam Wang's eyelashes drooping and the faint rippling of water under her soft eyelashes, he could not help but be overcome with grief. "Don't, don't cry… My fortune is great… Ai, alright. I'll stay in the sect tomorrow and not go anywhere else. I'll rest for a day and then go out again. Is this enough?"

Madam Wang choked with sobs. "I can't take care of you, nor can I control you. I'll follow you wherever you go."

"Of course not." Xue Zhengyong laughed bitterly, "Alright, don't worry. Look at me over the past few decades. I've seen all sorts of storms and waves. Believe me, it'll get better."

The next day, Xue Zhengyong did not go out, but he did not stay idle either. He went through his meridians in the Compendium Pavilion and pondered deeply.

"Sect Leader, the Young Lord made some medicine for you, you have to drink it while it's still hot."

Xue Zhengyong said, "Leave it."

He was thinking about something important, but he was not in the mood to leave. He busied himself until the afternoon. Later on, because of the internal injury of the abdomen, he remembered to slowly drink the medicine that had become cold.

Walking out of the library, Xue Zhengyong asked the gatekeeper, "Where is the Madam and Xue Meng?"

"The Young Master just returned from the foot of the mountain. Madam is burning incense in the ancestral hall. Should we call them over?"

Xue Zhengyong originally wanted to talk to them and rest for a while. But just as he was about to speak, he felt a wave of dizziness before his eyes — he was old after all, no longer in his twenties. He would be able to recover very well from his injuries and sleep well.

He had to admit that he was old.

“Forget it, don’t disturb them. I’ll go to the meditation room to meditate for a while. If there’s anything, come find me there.”

“Yes, Sect Leader.”

Xue Zhengyong raised his hand and patted the disciple’s shoulder. It was probably because of the sudden change of events in the past few days, and his entire mind was a little desolate. Looking at the disciple in front of him now, he couldn’t help but sigh in his heart.

As for him, if he could do something for the sake of these youths’ good years, it would be for the best.

“Let’s go. I’ll have to trouble you with the books that I flipped through…”

Before he could finish his words, someone rushed over and knelt down when he saw Xue Zhengyong. With an expression as if a disaster was coming for him, he reported, “Sect Leader! This is bad!”

This scene made Xue Zhengyong’s abdomen hurt even more. Sigh, seriously, I should have let Tanlang have his diagnosis first.

His face was slightly pale, but he endured the pain and asked, “In a hurry, what’s wrong?”

That disciple said worriedly, “All the sects in the Upper Cultivation World came here to Loyalty Hall, and they even included the greatest sect under the heavens, Guyue’ye.”

Xue Zhengyong’s heart thumped, he had already guessed the reason, but he still said, “… What are they doing here?”

“In this period of time, there have been too many complaints and doubts regarding the Sisheng Peak. They said that they couldn’t sit by idly and do nothing. They wanted to question the Sect Leaders and ask them for an explanation.” The more the disciple spoke, the more frightened he became. He was on the verge of tears, “Sect Leader, look at their posturing. I’m afraid they want to force us to disperse.”

“…” Xue Zhengyong’s face turned pale. He gritted his teeth and pressed a few acupuncture points on his abdomen. He endured the discomfort and said, “This is not right. This is going too far.”

He turned around and said to the guard of the Compendium Pavilion, “Don’t speak of this matter to Madam so that she won’t worry too much.”

“Yes.”

After giving out the orders, Xue Zhengyong picked up the messenger disciple who was kneeling on the ground and said with a serious expression, “Follow me to the front hall.”

Ch. 282 [Sisheng Peak] Lonely Wolf in Despair

Inside the Loyalty Hall, Xue Zhengyong and the rest of the disciples were staring at the uninvited guests with sullen faces.

As expected, almost all the people from the big sects were still alive. Even Jiang Xi, who was quite understanding, was among them. Although he didn't want to target a sect, this matter was extremely important.

Moreover, there were simply too many clues which pointed to the Sisheng Peak. As the chief of the immortal gate, he had no choice but to lead the crowd here.

The disciples at the Sisheng Peak, who had been constantly been attacked these past few days, were originally unhappy. But today, they were suddenly pointed at their noses and scolded "long planned for disaster" and "hiding criminals".

He was furious. Moreover, the Upper Cultivation World was approaching aggressively, and their words were full of suspicion and contempt. As they chatted, the air was already filled with the thick smell of fire and medicine.

"I will repeat once more. The Sisheng Peak has never intentionally revealed the Forbidden Technique Scroll to Mo Ran, nor has I condoned Mo Ran from cultivating this path."

"He did not secretly refine Zhenlong Chess pieces, nor did he plan to rely on this forbidden technique to unify the cultivation world. Also, Yuheng and Mo Ran are both not in the sect at the moment, please be reasonable."

Amongst the Upper Cultivator Sects, the Bitan Manor, Jiangdong Hall, and the Sisheng Peak had the deepest grudges.

There were only a hundred or so people in Jiangdong Hall right now. On the surface, they all drew a clear line between them and Huang Xiaoyue, but deep down, they were not necessarily the same. They looked at each other, and one of them sneered, “Sect Leader Xue, you have no proof. Although you are innocent of the Sisheng Peak, But now all sorts of suspicions are directed towards your sect. A person’s heart is far away, who knows what you guys want to do?”

“Exactly.”

“All those Zhenlong Chess pieces that caused a bloody storm in the cultivation world these past few days were all related to the Sisheng Peak. If it was a coincidence, then it was too far-fetched.”

Someone from the Bitan Manor raised his head and said, “I wonder if any of you have ever understood that the Sisheng Peak replaced the lower cultivation world in slaying demons and exterminating devils. Often, they are not willing to take any action, and have been doing so for more than twenty years. They are fighting for the hardest and most tiring job, and they don’t even ask for anything in return after doing it. The first time was probably out of good intentions, but in these twenty years, don’t you guys think that it’s a little too absurd?”

Xue Zhengyong said angrily, “I started my family from scratch. The original intention of the establishment of the sect was to shield the citizens of the dawn of the cultivation world from the rain and wind. Xue’er is a generous person, I will be honest with myself.”

“Core heart?” That person sneered, “The kind-hearted Xue Zhengyong has taught a nephew who secretly learned a forbidden technique. He has raised a Grandmaster who killed and robbed people in prison. Now that the two greatest devils are the ones at the Sisheng Peak, how can Sect Leader Xue even have the face to bring up the word “Core”?”

Someone chimed in, “That’s right. Sect Leader Xue’s words were truly pleasant to hear. Haha, to shield the people of Dawn from wind and rain? No one in this world was stupid. No one would do something good for twenty years without hoping for a reward. There must be a conspiracy behind this!”

“And there are also so many pieces of unknown origin that were definitely not made in a single night. Perhaps in these years that he had been at the Sisheng Peak, he could be known to be a master while secretly raising a Zhenlong Chess piece…”

Xue Meng was also in the hall. He had been holding back his anger for the past few days, and when he heard this, he could no longer hold it in.

“Are you all done yet?”

“…”

Xue Meng raised his eyes, his gaze ruthless. “Not only are you secretly spreading rumors, you even ran to the Sisheng Peak to behave atrociously. Who gave you the guts?!”

Jiangdong Hall was at the end of his tether. After so many seniors had died in a row, he was already acting recklessly when it came to the Sect Leader. The new Sect Leader was a young girl who looked to be only sixteen or seventeen years old. Other than her beauty, there was nothing else about her. Just like that, she had actually managed to get a position thanks to the embrace and love of a few of her senior brothers.

She probably thought that everyone in the world was the same as her unlucky senior brothers, and were completely manipulated by her beauty. Therefore, she giggled charmingly and said, “Ziming gege, don’t be angry.”

Xue Meng, “…”

“When you get angry, you lose your looks.”

“Pfft!” Immediately, someone laughed out loud.

Even though the atmosphere in the hall was tense, many cultivators could not keep their faces straight when they heard his words. Large sects like the Fire Phoenix Pavilion’s Taxue Palace’s disciples all looked at this person as if he was a fool. “Sect Leader.”

The girl felt more and more that all the men in the world were falling for her. She raised his snow-white neck and said in an intoxicated tone, “What grievances are there that you can’t speak calmly? As long as what you say makes sense, and with me as the leader, the heads of the top ten cultivation world’s sects will uphold justice for you.”

When these words came out, the Sect Leaders, who had pretended to be solemn and solemn, could no longer hold on.

Ma Yun from the Peach Blossom Villa was a merchant, so he reacted the fastest when it came to numbers. He was stunned for a moment before asking, “What? How many sects are there in the world of cultivation? Ten?”

Taxue Palace's Palace master, Mingyue Lou said expressionlessly: "He miscalculated. Just pretend you didn't hear it."

Ma Yun was a kind person, he immediately made two "oh oh" sounds and giggled without interrupting.

However, the faces of the Xuanjing Elder of the Wubei Temple and the few Taoists from the upper pavilion of the Fire Phoenix Pavilion were unsightly to behold. However, the complexions of all the Sect Leaders added up probably couldn't compare to half of Jiang Xi's sullenness.

Although Jiang Xi didn't say anything, he was obviously offended by that girl's "thinking I'm the boss". While stroking her Sect Leader's ring, he gloomily stared at that girl.

The girl was still in the limelight, "We are all discussing the matter. Everyone should express their opinions and speculations, that's not wrong."

Xue Meng's tone was full of fire as he said, "You have to tell a story and go back home to tell it. There's no place for you to talk nonsense in Shu!"

"?"

The little girl was stunned for a moment, and then suddenly burst into tears. She turned around and sobbed to the Senior Brothers, Senior masters and Uncles behind her, "He… he is unreasonable! He scolded me… I was just saying some words, why is he like this?…"

Jiang Xi: "…"

Mingyue Lou: "…"

Elder Xuanjing: "…"

Someone at the scene whispered, "Jiangdong Hall is finished."

"Who is this little girl? Even worse than Huang Xiaoyue…"

Mei Hanxue was also in the crowd. When he heard his words, he rubbed his nose and smiled, "You can't put it like that. It's better than Huang Xiaoyue. At least the little girl is not bad looking."

Once this girl started crying, Jiangdong Hall immediately became anxious for his senior brother. A white-faced scholar first took out a handkerchief and wiped her face before turning to Xue Meng, coldly saying, "Truly worthy of being Chu-zongshi's disciple, Mo-zongshi's cousin."

Currently, to Xue Meng, Chu Wanning and Mo Ran were like the reverse scales of a dragon; how could they be raised?

Xue Meng narrowed his eyes dangerously.

That fellow didn't know yet. With a smirk, he mocked, "You're a criminal, the younger brother of a devil. Where did your dignity come from?"

Before his voice had even faded, the cold light of Longcheng suddenly pointed at that person's neck! The four of them were silent.

That person did not expect that Xue Meng would actually make a move. The blade flashed a cold light, but seeing Xue Meng's extremely cold eyes and the difficulty in keeping his mind, that person's face became even paler. He opened his mouth, but no longer dared to say anything.

"Yes, I am mighty. Can't I be impressive?"

Xue Meng used the tip of his blade to stab at that person's neck. His hands were trembling in anger, and his strength was uncontrollable. It had already pierced through that person's skin, and his blade was covered in blood.

"But you, who do you think you are? Do you think you're qualified to be at the Sisheng Peak and speak rudely to me?"

Xue Zhengyong saw that Xue Meng had calmed down a bit and said in a deep voice, "Meng'er, sit down."

Xue Meng quickly turned his head, "Do I have to let them say it?!"

Xue Zhengyong: "…"

Xue Meng shifted his gaze away from his father. His eyes like a tiger and wolf gazed at every person who dared to look at him as they whispered to each other. His chest rose and fell.

"That's ridiculous. For so many years, the Sisheng Peak had not been filled with injustice, and disciples were running all over the place — for what? Vanity? Money? Forbidden arts?"

The Longcheng was high up in the sky, the snowflakes billowing about.

"Fellow immortal elders, righteous warriors, heroic elites, Sect Leader." Word by word, his words tore through the air, cutting through everyone's face. Xue Meng's eyes were bloodshot as he said, "Let me ask you…"

"Twenty years ago, when the Wuchang Town was about to become a ghost town, where were you?"

"Fifteen years ago, when the sky was splitting, where were you?"

“Three years ago, the enchantment around Butterfly Town was destroyed again, and ghosts ran rampant. The hungry were displaced, where are you now?”

There was a glimmer in his eyes, but his voice was hard and cold.

“All these years, how many times has this lower cultivation world begged you to help us? Is there any use in begging for mercy? In the past, how much money did Rufeng Sect have to pay to be willing to take action? The underworld refugees don’t even have enough to eat. How could they possibly have the money to make a move on the great buddhas?”

Everyone was a little embarrassed from his words, some of them did lower their heads to reflect, but there were also others who tried to force the dirty water onto a member of the Rufeng Sect, “That’s right, the Rufeng Sect was indeed black-hearted back then, but that has nothing to do with us. If I send someone to exterminate demons, the amount of money required will only be a few hundred silver. Young Master Xue, you can’t overturn a boat with just a stick.”

“Oh. A few hundred silver.” Xue Meng suddenly sneered. “Daoist masters, have you been to the towns in Shu?”

“…”

“Go look at the southern borders of Shu. Go look at the Fengdu Ghost City, look at the feet of Emei. Look at how those people live. Then, come and tell me, you only got ‘a few hundred silver coins’.”

Master Xuanjing sighed and said: “Young Master Xue, this old monk knows the pain in your heart.”

After a pause, he changed the subject.

“However, no matter what, the matter of a disciple cultivating a Forbidden Technique did indeed appear on the Sisheng Peak. Moreover, there were even Elders who deliberately shielded and obstructed the Tianyin Pavilion’s spiritual energy field. They even killed eleven cultivators of the Tianyin Pavilion in order to escape from this calamity. Just based on these two crimes, the Sisheng Peak cannot escape responsibility.”

Xue Meng’s anger grew stronger, like a black cloud covering his eyebrows, “Master, you saw how vicious the Tianyin Pavilion was. They wanted the lives of my Shizun and Mo Ran! If my Shizun didn’t leave, would you have still wanted to sit in place and wait for death?!”

He had a violent temper. As he blurted out those words, he immediately gave others an opening.

“Hmm? According to what you’ve said, Young Master Xue actually thinks that Chu Wanning and Mo Ran did the right thing?”

“There are so many reasons to kill. Fish begins to stink at the head.”

“Seeing such a notion of right and wrong is disheartening. I think that this Sisheng Peak truly cannot be left alive any longer.”

After hearing the last sentence, Xue Zhengyong’s Qi and blood began to surge, and the pain from his injuries became even more intense. He clenched his ten fingers and endured the pain. Then, he stared at the speaker and his face turned extremely gloomy. “This immortal elder is most likely joking.”

“They’re not joking.”

Xue Zhengyong narrowed his eyes and turned his head slowly as he tried to find the source of the sound. He murmured, “Jiang Xi…”

From the start till now, Jiang Xi had never spoken of slander, but he also did not speak out to help him. He was dressed in a light green robe with silver threads embroidered on it. Standing in the middle of the hall, one couldn’t see his mood.

Jiang Xi actually didn’t want to get involved in this mess, but if he didn’t open his mouth now, the situation would get more and more anxious, so he raised his eyes and said, “According to the rules of the cultivation world, if a disciple practices forbidden techniques, regardless of whether or not the sect is willing to directly instruct them, they are all unfavorable to the instructor, and there is no way to monitor them.”

Xue Zhengyong’s face was pale.

Jiang Xi continued, “To prevent future troubles, once discovered, these kinds of sects will immediately disperse their disciples and force them to shut themselves away. Sect Leader Xue is aware of this.”

Indeed, it was not unclear.

However, even though this rule was formulated, it had never been followed for the past hundred years in the cultivation world.

How many disciples were there in a sect? What did each disciple do? How could they control it? Looking back, it didn’t matter if it was the Rufeng Sect, Guyue’ye, or even the Wubei Temple or the High Pavilion, which family hadn’t had a few people practice the three forbidden arts before? For example, the one who had been famous for his rebirth technique — who would attack the Wubei Temple and close it down?

To put it bluntly, this rule was only for the sake of restriction, and was never fulfilled. Only in today's situation when the walls were being pushed by everyone and they were afraid that the Sisheng Peak was hiding a conspiracy, would they bring out this piece of empty paper and force the Sisheng Peak to turn upside down.

Xue Zhengyong didn't reply, he only described his defeat. He stared at Jiang Xi like a lone wolf who had been trapped in a desperate situation.

After a long while, he asked Jiang Xi, "Don't you think that this is absurd?"

Jiang Xi replied, "I think it's ridiculous. But since the Written Order is like this, I cannot help you identify it."

"The Written Order…" Xue Zhengyong suddenly laughed, and rubbed his knuckles against the carved beast head on the edge of his seat, letting out a long sigh, "Twenty years. The edict from the Upper Cultivation World was still strict. It was still the same when it was said that it was wide and it hadn't changed at all."

Jiang Xi seemed to be conflicted with this matter. He pursed his lips and didn't say anything more. On the other hand, several other Sect Leaders from the other sects began to speak up. "Sect Leader Xue, please follow this order and disperse the Sisheng Peak."

"The punishment for provoking someone, Sect Leader Xue knows what he should do."

"Everything has to be done according to the rules. You guys have caused so much trouble, do you dare to say that you're innocent?"

Amidst the buzzing sound, someone turned to Jiang Xi and said, “Sect Leader Jiang, before we came, we had already received complaints from all the large cities. This time, the Sisheng Peak will be blamed on us.

Jiang Xi: “…”

Everyone’s eyes were focused on him. Jiang Xi frowned, and after a while, he spoke slowly, “Your sect indeed has many doubts. The current situation is too chaotic, and we can’t act rashly. Sect Leader Xue, the Sisheng Peak shall be treated as a loose faction. In the future, if you get evidence of your own innocence, you can also…”

Before he could finish his words, he heard an angry shout, “Jiang Xi, don’t go too far!”

“… Young Master Xue.” Jiang Xi had always done things his own way, now he was himself was asking for order he was already in a bad mood. Now, he was even called “too much” by a little guy. He could not help but feel even worse. The veins on his forehead moved, and then he narrowed his eyes. “I’ve told you so many times, when elders speak, you must learn to shut up. You are also in your twenties, but when it comes to handling people, I am afraid that you are much weaker than Nangong Si who is also from the Young Master’s clan.”

When Xue Meng heard his harsh words, he became even more furious. He kicked away the cultivator standing in front of him and directly pounced towards Jiang Xi. He fiercely grabbed onto the front of Jiang Xi’s shirt and fiercely pressed him against the pillar.

His eyes were like bayonets, and his blood was like a tide.

He was not without resentment, “Jiang Xi! You still dare to compare me to Nangong Si? Why are you not competing with Nangong Liu yourself?”

Jiang Xi’s expression turned even colder upon receiving the offense. “Since you’re still young, let’s give you a free pass. Let go.”

Xue Meng completely ignored them. He had already been forced into a slightly crazed state as he continued to grind his teeth: “In my opinion, you are even more unworthy of being the head of the various sects than Nangong Liu! Your black and white are inverted, you’re too bad and too bad you can’t even differentiate between good and bad! You. You…”

Everyone was terrified, and Guyue’ye’s disciples didn’t even have time to react. They never believed that their Sect Leader would be treated so rudely in front of them.

Glaring daggers at Jiang Xi, Xue Meng gritted his teeth and stared at his cold eyes.

“Jiang Xi, you bastard.”

What was this? The Loyalty Hall was instantly in an uproar.

“Xue Meng! How dare you! You are just a junior, how could you speak to your esteemed elders!”

“What proud son of heaven, he ate a dog’s belly while recuperating!”

Jiang Xi slightly raised his chin as a ghostly light flowed in his eyes. He stared at Xue Meng for a while before slowly raising his hand and grabbing onto the hand that was holding onto him. He exerted his strength —

Ka-cha.

The crisp sound of tendons breaking and bones breaking.

“Ugh!”

“Meng’er!”

Jiang Xi threw Xue Meng to the side as if he was throwing away the remnants of his clothing, carefully smoothing out the creases on his clothes before he spoke.

Not towards Xue Meng, but towards Xue Zhengyong.

“Xue Zhengyong, you really taught a good son.”

Xue Meng’s hand was pinched to the point that it was dislocated, but he still furiously howled as he charged forward. But this time, Guyue’ye’s men wouldn’t let him do as he wished, and they all drew their swords to block him.

Jiang Xi finally lost his patience. With a fire burning between his brows, he said in annoyance, “Disperse.”

“Disperse!”

“The Sisheng Peak must be scattered!”

The black mass of people pressed forward. Nothing could make people more united than fear. Different mouths had the same meaning —

The Sisheng Peak must be dissolved today. This demon’s lair cannot be left alive.

Ch. 283 [Sisheng Peak] The Bonfire Finally Ignited

The atmosphere in the Loyalty Hall was tense to the extreme, one point was enough to ignite the fire. The disciples of Sisheng Peak and the disciples of the Upper Cultivation World stood facing each other, neither giving in to the other.

The bowstring was already stretched. If it were to pull it down again, it would either break or shoot.

At this time, someone from the crowd suddenly stood up. It was the Palace Master of the Kunlun Taxue Palace, Mingyue Lou.

Mingyue Lou's gentle voice broke the dangerous silence, "Please wait a moment. The rules are dead and the person is alive. Everyone, please empathize with them."

"Now that I thought about it, there was no proof to prove that the Sisheng Peak could be forged into chess pieces. Forcing the scattered factions to do so was indeed a bit too much. How about this, we temporarily put away the remnant scroll of the Forbidden Technique at the Sisheng Peak, and carefully judge it before making a decision."

Great master Xuanjing shook his head: "Palace master Mingyue and Sect Leader Xue have a deep personal relationship, you are biased. The Sisheng Peak has already offended the taboo in the cultivation world, so why would we need to be cautious?"

"Reverend, you're wrong. This rule has been broken by many sects." Mingyue Lou spoke in a gentle tone, but her attitude was firm. She said gently, “If we’re going to plan things out, I haven’t forgotten the Master for incriminating affairs from your sect.”

“You-!” Xuanjing’s face darkened, he then brushed his sleeves, tidying up his expression once again, and said with his hands clasped together: “How can the art of saving be compared to a Zhenlong Chess game?”

“Then is the art of reviving someone counted as one of the three forbidden arts?”

The one who spoke was Xue Zhengyong. By now, the people closest to him had noticed that something was wrong with Xue Zhengyong. The normally domineering and awe-inspiring man was slightly anxious, the color of his lips bluish white.

Xuanjing said: “… Naturally.”

Xue Zhengyong closed his eyes and took a deep breath. Then he stared at Xuanjing again and said hoarsely, “Since that’s the case, how can the Great master exclude him from the rules because the Rebirth Technique can save people?”

Xuanjing hesitated for a while, not knowing how to explain. He stiffly said: “This is not the same thing.”

The disciples who were at the Sisheng Peak walked up to him in anger and questioned him: “Why is it not the same? There are many people in the Upper Cultivation World who have cultivated forbidden techniques, but they have just not succeeded. If you want to severely punish our sect because of this rule, wouldn’t it be better to lock you all up as well?”

Elder Tanlang said sinisterly: “The Wubei Temple is guilty, and Guyue’ye has Hua Binan. Why would he only use Sisheng Peak to speak about matters? If Sect Leader Jiang wants to shut down the Sisheng Peak, why not use your sect as an example to announce the dissolution of Guyue’ye?”

No one wanted to be turned against them like this. The various sects all felt a little guilty, and the people who were clamoring just now all quieted down, not wanting to draw trouble towards their own doorsteps.

He quietly covered up the blood that had been coughed out from his palm. He raised his eyes and said with a strong smile, “Since all the sects have done the same and the so-called Sisheng Peak to steal and refine pawns, attempting to subvert the cultivation world, even if it’s true, I will not be able to sit still. Then, please forgive me for my rudeness — everyone, please leave immediately.”

“This…”

They had originally thought that they would be able to disperse this foreign sect, but they didn’t expect that they would end up in such an awkward situation. Everyone’s faces turned ugly for a moment.

Jiang Xi had no intention of forcing everyone to scatter after Sisheng Peak. However, he couldn’t back down now. Seeing that everyone was silent, he closed his eyes and said, “Let’s go.”

Hearing this, a stone in Xue Zhengyong’s heart finally fell to the ground. He took a light breath and relaxed his tensed back. However, there was a sudden pain in his ribs. His eyes swept down and saw that the dark blue robe had mottled blood seeping out from the side of his waist.

The injury from yesterday was truly too severe. He must look for Elder Tanlang in a while……

Before he could finish, a disciple from the Tianyin Pavilion barged into the hall, sword in hand. All of them had ice-cold expressions and were approaching menacingly. As soon as they entered the room, they said in a loud and clear voice:

“Xue Zhengyong, you sure have some face. How could you say that you have never secretly refined a Zhenlong Chess on Sisheng Peak!”

None of them expected that someone from the Tianyin Pavilion would come, and they all turned around in shock. However, they saw dozens of submissive people in cloth clothing following behind them. There were even a few faces that looked very familiar. It seemed to be the village chief of a few small villages in Shu.

“What’s going on…”

The first senior brother from the Tianyin Pavilion said sternly, “Don’t you want evidence? Is this enough?”

Another disciple said to the group, “The Sisheng Peak is filled with filth, and the Sect Leader is full of wild ambition. He has been spreading fishing nets throughout the years, forcing ordinary people to sacrifice young boys and girls to train in the Zhenlong Chess Game. These are all witnesses, what else is there to identify?!”

Xue Zhengyong suddenly stood up, his eyes burning with fury. Blood gushed up his throat, “Nonsense!”

“Whether or not they are spouting nonsense doesn’t count even if you and I say it. You can ask them for yourself.”

The dozens of villagers were like a flock of frightened ducks, swaggering and flocking together. Their heads were lowered and their eyes were pleasant to the eye. No one dared to speak first.

With his sharp eyes, Xue Meng instantly recognized a familiar face inside. He said in surprise, “Village Chief Liu?”

That Village Chief Liu suddenly shivered like a slippery fish in hands who tries to swim away.

“What are you doing here?” Xue Meng was unable to react for a while. He seemed somewhat innocent and cute, even though this sort of innocence seemed so pitiful at this moment.

“I…” Village Chief Liu swallowed a mouthful of saliva as he pinched the corner of his robe with his skinny fingers. He kept staring at the ground, his legs swaying.

The man from the Tianyin Pavilion said in a domineering tone, “To be honest, if you’re lying, the Tianyin Pavilion will always be impartial and will never forgive you.”

Village Chief Liu shivered and knelt down fiercely, using his head to snatch the ground, “I… I, I will say it! All these years, the Sisheng Peak used the cover of exterminating evil and defending the way, saying that they won’t take a single cent. In fact, they have been coercing us to give them the boys and girls from the village…”

Xue Zhengyong flew into a rage and slapped the table as he stood up, “Bullshit!”

The voice of the Tianyin Pavilion was even louder than Xue Zhengyong’s, “Continue. What do they want with boys and girls?”

“I, I don’t know either.” The village chief’s forehead was covered in greasy sweat. He swallowed a mouthful of saliva and his shoulders shivered. “They said they were brought to train in the mountains, but I never saw them again. Xiao-Zi, Xiao-Shitou… None of them came back.”

The people from the Tianyin Pavilion turned to ask the cultivators at the Sisheng Peak.

“Among you all, do you have the child mentioned by this Village Chief?”

“…”

Of course not.

Xue Meng’s blood all over his body was boiling. Xiao-Zi and Xiao-Shitou… When he rushed over to save the small village, they had already been buried in the belly of the demon.

“Lies!” Xue Meng’s chest was burning with anger and his throat was filled with a sweet taste. He was so angry that he was on the verge of vomiting blood. “How can you bite the the hands that feed you, can your conscience rest?!”

Village Chief Liu’s expression was dejected as tears streamed down his face. However, he did not know what the Tianyin Pavilion was trying to use to force him, but he still insisted, “The Sisheng Peak is not a good sect…

They, they played it right in front of his face… Behind him… In Shu, I did… He has done countless heinous things…”

His tears and snot flowed, but he did not dare to look at anyone anymore. Instead, he touched the ground and wailed:

“The Sisheng Peak is oppressing the Lower Cultivation World!”

The crowd went into an uproar.

Normally speaking, the words of these tens of tribesmen would not be completely believed by cultivators. However, most of the people had come here to make Sisheng Peak disperse. They had already made their own decisions, and now that they had received such evidence, they could only accept it. They were furious.

“I knew they wouldn’t do it for nothing!”

“Xue Zhengyong, what other arguments do you have?”

Whether it was Xue Zhengyong, Xue Meng, or the disciples and elders at the Sisheng Peak, everyone was stunned.

Before this, many sects had joined hands to invade. However, they were still angry and could wave their arms while shouting out grievances and injustice.

However, at this moment, they were actually the village heads and dozens of civilians in Shu… They were people who had once offered eggs, white flour, and with tears in their eyes with gratitude had thanked the cultivators for their lives. They said that they would never be able to repay their debt.

These dozens of wolves in the mountains. They plunged the knife into the heart with their own hands.

It was painful and cold.

Like falling into a cave of ice as the entire body turned cold.

Those witnesses came forward one by one. One of them still had guilt in their eyes, while the second one was still trembling. The third one was already able to look straight at everyone, while the fourth one began to speak righteously. He was like a goose, with his head in the front of his head, and a flock of others following him.

As the saying goes, “Repeated rumor becomes the truth”. As they spoke, they became impassioned. As they spoke, they actually thought that they were speaking the truth.

Xue Meng felt his blood run cold and his teeth go cold.

He had thought that a man had a spine that could not be broken, but he had never expected that dogs could live and drink feces.

“Yes, it’s true…” It was Jia Village’s matchmaker’s turn to testify, “They forced us to give them our child as the reward for exterminating the devil. The Sisheng Peak does not take money but only small children. This is a rule that we, the Lower Cultivation World, all know.”

Jiang Xi frowned and asked, “Why do you still seek them when you already know about it?”

The matchmaker then used a peach powder handkerchief to wipe his tears, “There’s nothing I can do. I’m poor, and I can’t afford to hire a cultivator, so I can only send a child from the village… They said that they would be sent to the Sisheng Peak to cultivate, but everyone knew what they were doing. These desperate children that are sent away… they won't survive."

As he spoke, he pounded his chest and stamped his feet, covering his face as he wailed.

There was also a scholar who came to testify, "Indeed, the Sisheng Peak doesn't accepts money but children, we still have to live our lives, so we dare not say anything. Fortunately, the heavens have eyes, so many wrongdoings will end on their own. The Sisheng Peak has finally revealed the tail of a fox. Ladies and gentlemen, please make the decision for the Lower Cultivation World!"

Someone immediately stood out from the Jiangdong Hall and said, "Don't worry, the Upper Cultivation World is currently in a state of glory. Everyone here today is a reputable and upright clan. All of them have a hundred years of history, so they will definitely act impartially."

The townspeople who had come to testify began to weep with gratitude as they approached the Sisheng Peak and complained of the evil deeds they had done.

They knew that since they had perjured themselves, there was no turning back. If the Sisheng Peak did not fall today, they would definitely settle it in the future.

For a moment, no one could be seen inside the hall. The only thing that could be seen were the evil spirits who were keeping watch as they opened their bloody mouths to bite down on the dilapidated wooden pillars and the simple and unadorned roof tiles and walls… Biting on the plaque that had been hanging on the door of the ‘Loyalty Hall’ ever since due to the lack of funds.

Fresh blood.

Xue Meng was trembling. He closed his eyes and tears rolled down his face. “How can you say that?”

Did the Tianyin Pavilion promise them glory?

They would still force each other with their lives.

How could he say it out loud, how could he say it out loud…

The matchmaker’s crimson lips were still opening and closing, as bits and pieces of his words spread into Xue Meng’s ears like poisonous snakes — “The Sisheng Peak is to steal and refine chess pieces”, “To treat human life as grass”, “To abduct and capture children”.

Each word was twisted into a ferocious nightmare.

“They are bullying the cultivation world.”

“Wearing the clothes of a beast, behaving gracefully!”

“That Chu Wanning and Mo Ran were the ones who disliked them the most. They cheated so many innocent people just to make pawns…”

They were both filled with hatred, and their hands were trembling.

His rationality crumbled.

“How — how can you say it?! How can I do it!”

Anger, like an ant's nest, destroys the last dam in the heart. With a kacha sound, Xue Meng caught the elbow of the wrong place and drew his blade. The Longcheng tiger's roar resounded. Before anyone could react, the scimitar had already been dyed with blood.

The matchmaker who was in the midst of choreographing "Top Disciple of Sisheng Peak assaulted a young girl" was stunned. He looked down at his chest and spat out a mouthful of blood. Before he could even say a word, he fell to the ground with a thud.

Dead silence.

Strangely, the people from the Tianyin Pavilion stood beside the villagers, but did not intervene to stop them — because they were shocked? Or did he not react at all? The answer was unknown, and no one would ponder over it.

Everyone's eyes were focused on Xue Meng. The blood droplets dripped down along the edge of Longcheng's blade. One drop, two drops. It accumulated into a deep red pool.

Feng Yu couldn't escape when the abyss fell.

"AHH!" Suddenly, someone screamed out like an apocalyptic bell, "KILL, KILL…"

"Xue Meng recklessly kills witnesses! Xue Meng is going crazy!"

The hall became even more chaotic in an instant. It was unknown who moved first as the long suppressed flames of anger gushed and broke. The bowstring broke and the Sisheng Peak people and the Upper Cultivation World began to fight.

Private enmity, fear, rejection.

This battle contained too much selfishness that the scene instantly became out of control.

Amidst the shadows of swords and the gleam of blades, Xue Zhengyong endured the pain of the wound and growled, “Stop the fight, all of you stop!”

However, when the people at the Sisheng Peak listened to him, the cultivators above did not stop. Xue Meng’s heart was already crushed, so much so that his eyes turned moist red. While holding the scimitar and hacking away at evil spirits, he could not stop sobbing and crying.

Perhaps it was only at this moment that Meng’er truly understood the feeling that Mo Ran had felt when it was young.

In the House of Drunken Jade, when a machete was slaughtering an entire building’s worth of people, the despair, disgust, excitement, and self-loathing he felt. Nothing was important anymore. Anger had burned his heart, and only blood extinguish it.

Suddenly, a sword blocked his attack. The sword emitted a brilliant blue light, and it looked extremely familiar… but Xue Meng couldn’t recall it at this moment. He only roared at the ugly appearance of the Taxue Palace Mistress, “Scram! Don’t stop me!”

“Stop hitting him, if you continue, you will really cause trouble. Calm down.”

A familiar voice entered his ears.

Who is it?

Xue Meng could not remember, nor was he willing to think about it.

Pain and hatred broke his heart, a man's patience had its limits. Beyond that hurdle, God was like a ghost, and a saint turned into an Asura.

One remembrance of the Buddha, one remembrance of the Devil.

His eyes were red and filled with hatred. The hatred that had been burning inside him ever since he entered the Tianyin Pavilion had finally exploded outward, swallowing him in an instant.

"Scram!"

Longcheng and that blue sword clashed, but that crude looking man was not inferior in the slightest. He struggled against the sword as a pair of jade green eyes stared at Xue Meng's face.

"If you still don't calm down, you will only cause your death to be even more miserable."

"Who do you think you are!? It's your turn to meddle?!"

The more he hacked, the more vicious he became. However, his sword remained calm as it clashed with each other.

His blue eyes stared at the black, familiar eyes.

…… Who was it…?

"Ziming, stop fighting."

A slow voice rang in his ears. It wasn't much, but there was still a trace of anxiety and pity in it.

Xue Meng's frenzied and chaotic mind seemed to flash with a trace of brilliance. His fierce and fiendish attacks slightly halted, but his chest was still fiercely rising and falling.

At this moment, his face was covered in blood, and his hair was in a mess. He glared fiercely at the ugly man, "You…"

Before he could say anything, he felt a cold wind blow behind his back.

Xue Meng suddenly turned his head. It was already too late to lift Longcheng up. His arm had been cut open, leaving behind a hideous bloody wound that went straight to his bones!

"Meng'er!"

Xue Zhengyong saw that his beloved son was injured and rushed over to save him.

The Tianyin Pavilion's ten or so elites, who were all Mu Yanli's Death Soldiers, looked at each other as they pounced at Xue Meng.

These people's individual strength were all similar to the Elders at the Sisheng Peak. They had all launched their deathblow towards Xue Meng who was already injured, which was about to take Phoenix's life.

"Meng'er… Meng'er!"

However, the distance between them was too far. Xue Zhengyong was unable to come over, but more people had already encircled him, trapping him within. Xue Zhengyong was anxious to protect his son. His body was also wounded under the powerful attacks, and his blood was all over the place.

Xue Meng gritted his teeth and brandished his blade. He had retreated two people in one strike, but his arm was bleeding profusely and his entire wrist was trembling.

Suddenly, a red light flashed —

“Be careful!”

In the time it took for a spark to fly off of a piece of flint, the green-eyed man that had fought with him earlier had blocked a killing move for him.

The Tianyin Pavilion disciple squinted his eyes, “A traitor has appeared in the Taxue Palace? You want to stand together with the Sisheng Peak?”

The azure-eyed man did not answer, but kept his sword as cold as frost. He turned around and said to Xue Meng with a pale face and fierce eyes, “Go to uncle. Hurry up.”

“I…” Xue Meng covered the blade of his arm. In reality, he could not even hold on. The bones beneath his flesh were exposed to the air, and his entire arm was drenched in hot blood.

His lips moved as if he wanted to say something, but he did not. His gaze fell on Xue Zhengyong.

With just this glance, the last traces of blood on Xue Meng’s face faded.

He almost cried out miserably as he ran towards Xue Zhengyong, ignoring the danger. He roared, “Father!”

Xue Zhengyong’s eyes turned cold. He immediately reacted and raised his hand to block the man behind him with his fine steel wristguard. He then threw the man to the ground. Xue Meng abruptly let out a breath of relief and squeezed to his father's side as if he didn't care about his life.

He grabbed Xue Zhengyong's arm fiercely, feeling sad and happy at the same time: "That's great, Father, I'm fine… I'm fine…"

Xue Zhengyong, on the other hand, had been injured from the previous attack, and a large amount of blood gushed out from his waist, but his body was already covered in red, so Xue Meng did not notice it. He grabbed his father's hand and said, "Father, I want revenge, today I want the lives of these people, and the lives of others, I —"

"Cough cough…"

The voice suddenly stopped.

Xue Meng saw Xue Zhengyong abruptly kneeling on the ground, blood gushing out of his throat.

"Father…?" Meng'er was instantly stupefied. He had never seen his father suffer such heavy injuries in his entire life. In that instant, his mind buzzed and he said, "Father, what's wrong? You…"

Xue Zhengyong's blood-stained lips opened and closed. He held Xue Meng's arm and said hoarsely, "Stop."

"… What…"

Xue Zhengyong stared at Xue Meng's face, but his peripheral vision also scanned the surroundings for signs of trouble.

Was this battle what he wanted?

There were shouts everywhere. Red blood and white brains splattered. Even before the mastermind was found, the various sects and sects had already started to kill each other…

Xue Zhengyong said, “Tell those at the Sisheng Peak to stop.”

“But they…”

“What can we do if we continue fighting?” Xue Zhengyong’s face was ashen, “Who can get what they want? Or is it because the sect is destroyed?”

Xue Meng did not say anything. His eyes were red, and even the tips of his fingers were trembling.

“Go…” Xue Zhengyong gave him a light push, and Xue Meng’s tears fell. He almost staggered to his feet, stood in front of his father, and yelled:

“Armistice! Stop fighting!”

Ch. 284 [Sisheng Peak] My Son Is Extremely Precious

As if all his strength and arrogance had been drained from his voice, Xue Meng abruptly closed his eyes, his cheeks hot and wet.

“Stop…”

However, it was just like a prairie fire. It was easy to burn, but very difficult to extinguish. After a messy battle, the hall was already filled with dead and injured people. The blood of these people had turned into hot oil, igniting the hatred and madness within them. For a moment, Xue Meng’s or Xue Zhengyong’s sigh, both didn’t get much of an attention.

Even if they did, the pairs of bloodshot eyes would not stop.

There was too much unease these days. One after another, murders, heavenly rift, Zhenlong Chess, people of Guyue’ye dying.

The Jiangdong Hall was in a mess. The Bitan Manor had been ownerless for many days, and there was no mourning temple or Buddhist temple that wasn't stained with blood. Many cultivators present had lost their friends and relatives in the past few days…

Who was the mastermind? Who was lying?

There was no answer, but all the directions pointed to the Sisheng Peak, and thus the accumulated hatred and fear exploded in this one battle.

It was difficult to stop it.

Xue Meng had not experienced many great battles, so he still did not understand what this meant. His chest rose up and down as he stood in place, watching the crazy slaughter.

However, Xue Zhengyong already knew that things had gone out of control at this point, so much so that even the culprit wouldn't have expected it.

He gritted his teeth as he endured the pain of his wound cracking and the dizziness he had in front of him as he grabbed Xue Meng's shoulder. "Hurry up and leave."

"Father?!"

"Get out of here quickly! Go to your mother, quick!"

However, before his voice fell, seven or eight people had already gathered in front of the two of them, and each of their eyes were bloodshot from killing. "Xue Meng, you killed my Senior Brother. I want you to pay with your life!"

"Son of a beast!"

Xue Meng froze in place — He killed this person's Senior Brother? When… He had clearly never harmed anyone, he had never…

His mind was in a mess. In the confusion, he looked down and saw that the Longcheng in his hands was dripping with blood. He felt a chill run down his spine.

Yes, he did.

He killed — first the perjury matchmaker, then.

He couldn't remember. He had just started a mad slaughter. His hands were covered with blood, his face was covered with blood. His face and hands were covered…

“AHH!”

Xue Meng suddenly howled like a dying beast. His forehead, tendons, and veins bulged, and his eyes were bloodshot.

Why did it become like this… Everything had changed since the day Mo Ran left. One by one, everything was falling out of his control, and he was moving further and further away from his former self.

“I killed someone… Father… I killed someone…”

He turned around in panic, only to see Xue Zhengyong’s terrifyingly pale face in front of him. Xue Zhengyong grabbed his hand and dragged him behind him. Then he himself used the iron fan to cut and kill him, creating a path of blood in the heavy encirclement.

“Let’s go.”

A man on the verge of collapse was giving his son, who was no longer a teenager, a chance to live.

“Meng’er, hurry up and leave.”

Xue Meng stood there stiffly without moving. At this time, another person rushed forward to kill. Xue Zhengyong could no longer resist as he raised his hand to grab the hilt of that person’s blade. Instantly, blood flowed like a fountain, causing his bones to be visible. Xue Zhengyong cursed. With his other hand, he took out a dagger from his waist and stabbed it into the man’s stomach.

Hot blood gushed out!

“Go!”

Xue Zhengyong roared. He suddenly caught sight of someone and shouted sternly: “Hanxue! Take him out! Take him away from here!”

Mei Hanxue had also been fighting in this direction. At this moment, he finally broke through the heavy encirclement and floated over to Xue Meng’s side. He first glanced at Xue Zhengyong, and his eyes actually showed a faint pain. Then, he grabbed Xue Meng’s arm and said in a deep voice, “Follow me.”

After he finished speaking, he brought Xue Meng, who had already become numb and absent-minded, with him as he charged towards the back door of the Loyalty Hall to fight his way out. Perhaps it was because of the Taxue Palace’s betrayal that everyone was distracted for a while. Mei Hanxue had brought Xue Meng to the entrance of the hall, and only then did someone react. With an angry roar, he pounced at the two of them and yelled: “You want to run after killing someone? Who will pay for their lives?”

Mei Hanxue swept his hand through the air, causing a series of clanging sounds, like metal breaking through the air, to repel the enemies in front of him. Just as he was feeling relieved, he suddenly heard Xue Zhengyong yell, “Watch out for the back!”

He suddenly turned his head, only to see a man with a face full of blood, slashing down with his blade, but it was already too late to block — At this time, a steel fan suddenly flew up into the air, and after tempering its spirit energy, it spun in midair, and pierced straight towards the man, instantly piercing through his chest.

“Uncle…”

“Father…”

The two young men turned around and saw Xue Zhengyong gasping for breath. Obviously, this attack had consumed a lot of his energy. The iron fan landed on the ground after hitting its target.

Blood stained the fan. Regardless of whether it was the beautiful Xuelang, or the ugly people, the words on the fan could no longer be seen clearly.

Xue Zhengyong made a gesture to the two of them with great difficulty and said softly, “Quick…”

Before he had even said anything, Xue Meng’s pupils contracted to reflect a heavy sword that was filled with spirit energy. A Jiangdong Hall expert was standing behind Xue Zhengyong with a ferocious blade in hand. Before Xue Meng could even make a sound, he had already turned towards his father —

A slash down!

Everything quieted.

Xue Meng’s eyes widened. Suddenly, he could not hear anything around him.

It was just like a calm sea that was ten thousand miles deep. There was no wind, no heat, and no light.

Black.

The blood flow throughout Xue Meng's entire body seemed to have frozen yet at the same time exploded. It was absolutely horrifying. His pair of eyes were cracking with fury as he stared at the person in front of him.

Because he had seen his son saved, Xue Zhengyong's face showed traces of relief and gratification. He froze at this moment.

He felt a sense of serenity.

The sea was deep and endless. The water was freezing, entering his bones and muscles until he was drowning.

It was very quiet, deathly still.

No sound… No sound…

No.

Until blood dripped down from the cracked top, down his eyes, and down his face.

Two lines, red like tears, dripping down.

At this moment, Xue Meng seemed to think that this was a joke, or perhaps it was a dream, or perhaps all of this could still be turned around and it's not too late.

But no.

Too late. If there was concern, then there would be weakness.

Wargods will also die.

"Father!"

With a roar, the mountain range entered the sea.

All the silence was shattered by this — waves rolling up, a thousand piles of snow, but the stones breaking the sky, the torrents pouring down, the seas churning, the waves splitting the sky!

Xue Meng ran towards Xue Zhengyong like a mad man. He shouted like a dying beast, tearing through the sky to cut off all the underlings' movements. Upon hearing his shout, everyone turned around in fright…

The waves parted, and he stumbled through the crowd towards Xue Zhengyong.

Xue Zhengyong stood there without even bending his spine. He just stared at Xue Meng like that, his tiger-like eyes wide open. Those eyes made Xue Meng feel like he was still alive, that he could still be saved, and…

Xue Zhengyong fell when he was just inches away.

With a thud, he almost fell straight down. The four of them were scattered and there were no longer any sounds of fighting.

Xue Meng suddenly stopped. He did not continue forward.

He just stood there, trembling all over. From a tiny tremble to a violent tremble, lips, fingers, there was not a single part of him that was not under his control.

he murmured, inquiringly, carefully.

He said hoarsely, "Father?"

The entire hall was filled with blood.

No one answered.

With a “Clang” sound, the Longcheng’s gate fell to the ground. Xue Meng slowly retreated, retreated… But where could he retreat to? Yesterday? It’ll never come back.

Any step in life, whether it is a mistake, whether it is painful, as long as it falls, there is no turning back.

The Loyalty Hall was deathly silent.

He stopped retreating, his body swaying violently. He then knelt on the ground, staring blankly at the scene before him. Tears could not stop flowing down his face. He raised his hand and tried to wipe it away, but he couldn’t wipe it away no matter how hard he tried.

At last he buried his face in his palm, and a little whimper came from his throat, like ink on paper — and then the paper was full of absurdity and completely stained with ink.

“Father… Father!”

The whimper eventually turned into a wail.

The people blocking Xue Meng’s path were unable to stand up again. With their broad shoulders and hearty smiles, they helped him block out the storms of life.

The days of the blessed youth truly ended at this moment.

The earth crumbled.

It was a mess. Everything was a mess.

The ruthless Jiangdong Hall cultivator froze in place, his heavy sword dropped onto the ground as he muttered: “No, no…It’s not me…”

He could not help but shake his head. Seeing Xue Meng kneel where he stood, seemingly in a state of madness, he was extremely afraid, trembling like a sieve. He wanted to flee for his life, but everyone’s eyes were focused on him. He had nowhere to retreat to.

“No… Listen to me… I only wanted to shoot down the weapon in his hand…”

He stared at Xue Meng, nervously swallowing his saliva.

At this moment, Xue Meng was still immersed in great grief. However, he knew that once Xue Meng raised his eyes, there was only one path for him — death.

“Hurry and invite Madam Wang over.” Elder Xun Ji was the calmest of everyone. As he looked at Xue Meng who was curled up on the ground, he still hadn’t stood up and was still crying. He instructed his disciple in a low voice, “Be quick, I’m afraid that no one will be able to stop the Young Lord later.”

Seeing the Sect Leader’s death, the disciple’s face was filled with tears. “But master, the Sect Leader forbade the Lady from coming. The Lady would never interfere in major matters. She…”

“Why are you still talking about this at this time?” Xun Ji said, “Quickly go!”

The disciple wiped his tears away and ran back to the mountain with a nod.

Only after the Sect Leader died did everything finally start to calm down. There were people in the hall who were in pain from their wounds, some who were livid, some who were pursing their lips without saying a word. Another person whispered, “What’s going on? Xue Zhengyong’s ability shouldn’t be limited to just that. How could he not be able to dodge it?”

What they didn’t know was that Xue Zhengyong had been stabbed in the vital parts because he killed the evil spirits in Wuchang Town the day before, and had been injured in the vital parts of his body. They only sighed:

“Ai, the longer you stay at the heard, the older you become. The hero is late.”

Xue Meng did not listen to those rustling words. His eyes gradually became covered with blood due to tears and hatred. He sobbed, sobbed, and wailed. In the end, his eyes became a sea of red maple.

He lifted his eyes and stared at the invaders. His eyes burned with pure clarity and sincerity. Only blood and hatred remained, as well as enmity.

An angry howl! Longcheng burst into action!

Kill!

This time, Xue Meng really lost control of his mind. He screamed at the top of his lungs. He had become so terrifying that he lost all sense of reason. He was not afraid of death, nor was he afraid of pain. Who could stop him? No one could stop him.

Biesang Temple, Guyue’ye, Jiangdong Hall, Fire Phoenix Pavilion… Pui! He couldn’t see! He could only see the faces of the wraiths, as well as their distorted figures. He felt as if he was in Purgatory, in the midst of an endless sea of blood.

Hate!

Why?

Why our loyalty for twenty years had to be earned , but cannot escape a single misjudgment, a few gossips?

Why did he spend all his life bowing to someone, in the end, only paying something in the wrong with sincerity?

Why was he trying to nurture kindness and enmity?

Why so stupid.

Blood flowed like a river.

No one could hear his words, and no one was able to persuade him otherwise.

Xue Meng was going crazy. The phoenix desired blood, and his blood boiled into a fire. From the fire came a pair of scarlet red eyes of a vicious beast. Its bloody teeth bit through the throats of everyone who tried to stop him!

You know that year the cicadas were chirping in the middle of summer.

Xue Zhengyong smiled as he patted Xue Meng's head and asked, "What does my son want to do in the future?"

"Just be like Daddy." Meng'er's eyes were clear as he said, "Be a great hero. Be a good man and punish evil. Be worthy of living up to your words."

Blood sprayed on his face, and someone screamed miserably.

Who did he kill?

Seems to be someone's sister and wife.

It doesn't matter.

It was fine if she died. In any case, he wasn't a clean person anymore. In any case, they had brought this upon themselves… They forced him!

He massacred like a madman, and the crowd dispersed. He couldn't hear it. Can't hear…

Until that person's voice rang out.

"Meng'er."

It was as if the sound hit him where it hurts the most.

A trembling voice that was trying hard to suppress its emotions.

A soft and delicate fragrance rose up in the air, and the tip of his finger pinched the smoke before dispersing it.

Xue Meng was stunned.

"Seize him!"

"Don't let him go crazy again!"

People rushed in from all directions.

"Meng'er…"

Xue Meng was a tiger leopard that was being attacked by a pack of wolves. His entire body was covered in blood and his arm was trembling uncontrollably. After this battle, he would probably never be able to use this arm to hold the saber again. He narrowed his eyes. Blood dripped from his eyes. He turned his head stiffly.

The back door of the Loyalty Hall was wide open, and boundless daylight spilled in.

Madam Wang appeared in the doorway, dressed in plain white. Her body was weak, her temperament gentle, and she never interfered in any affairs in front of the palace. She had always been like this.

It was only at this moment that he heard the news and arrived. She was a beautiful lady with grey hair and a wet dress.

Xue Meng asked hoarsely, his voice broken. “Mother?”

All of the disciples at the summit of the mountain bowed down, “Madam.”

The Elders bowed as well. “Madam Wang.”

There was not a single trace of blood on her face, and the only beauty was the coral red pearl on his earrings. She did not utter a single word. She first saw her husband’s corpse and his body fiercely swayed. Then she saw Xue Meng being suppressed by someone and falling to his knees. Her face became even paler.

The disciples were worried about her weak body. They were afraid that she would pass out the very next moment.

But Madam Wang only trembled slightly, her lips moving slightly. For the first time, she was unable to speak.

But the second time, she spoke. Her voice was hoarse, but she tried her best to remain calm.

“Let him go.”

These three words were softly said to those people who were violently suppressing Xue Meng.

Many of those people had never even seen Madam Wang’s face before. Now that they saw her, they felt that she was just an extremely weak woman, so they fiercely said to her, “Your son has killed so many people. How can you release him?!”

“I must bring him to the Tianyin Pavilion to be detained for trial!”

There were tears in Madam Wang’s eyes, but she continued to speak word by word, “Let him go.”

“…”

No one let go. Everyone was in a deadlock.

Madam Wang slightly raised her head, as if he was trying to hold back his tears, but to no avail. Bitter, salty tears rolled down her cheeks. She closed her eyes. Her slender body was trembling slightly, as weak as the wind.

Someone said, “The Sisheng Peak refused to be dispersed today, and countless cultivators of the Upper Cultivation World have been injured. Mo Ran and Chu Wanning were suspicious, so no matter what, they had to seek justice — murder to pay for it. Madam, I’m sorry.”

Madam Wang did not say anything, nor did she look at her husband’s corpse again. She silently walked through the crowd that she had consciously dispersed. Step by step, she reached the high level of Loyalty Hall and stood in front of the position of Sect Leader.

Stand still.

Everyone below was buzzing loudly: “Sect Leader Xue’s death was purely due to coincidence, but Xue Meng deliberately killed.”

“That’s right, we must take him away.”

The sound was like a tide, rising and falling in waves, one after the other.

The cold wind blew into the hall, the curtains fluttered.

“Xue Meng is innocent!”

“Bam!” A loud sound rang out!

The entire hall was shocked.

The one who slammed the table was actually this weak and frail woman. Madam Wang’s eyes were wide open, and her beautiful face, like a lotus, was flushed red.

She didn’t know how to get angry, but the anger had already burned her heart.

She stood in front of the palace, her gaze sweeping past everyone —

“Meng’er is my child, Ran’er is my nephew, and Zhengyong is my husband.”

Her voice was quiet, but her words were clear and decisive.

“You all, dig out my nephew’s spirit core and took away his life. Now, you still want to take my son away in front of me?”

There were many women in Jiangdong Hall, but they couldn't understand what Madam Wang was feeling the most.

Immediately, a female cultivator coldly said, "Madam Wang, please speak some reason."

"That's right. If your nephew wasn't cultivating this forbidden technique, why would we dig for his spirit core? If your husband had listened to our advice, how could it have ended up in such a mess? If your son didn't kill countless people, why would we take him away? Madam Wang, you have to take good care of your own mistakes."

At this time, the hatred between the various sects and the Sisheng Peak had suddenly deepened, and none of them were willing to let them off easily.

"Close the door!"

"Take away all the people who just attacked! We had to severely punish them! Do you really want to let go of all these murderous demons?"

"We can't let any of them go, capture them all!"

Madam Wang stood at the top of the hall, facing this scene of chaos. The frail woman closed her eyes, then slowly opened his mouth, "The deceased are here. If they were alive, I would not allow you to attack again the Sisheng Peak, or touch a hair on my son's head."

The rest of the crowd found this funny, except for Jiang Xi, whose expression changed slightly. Beside the pillar, a female cultivator from Jiangdong Hall was the first to speak: "You really boast too shamelessly."

Madam Wang slowly walked down the steps of the hall. She ignored the female cultivator and said to everyone who was looking at her, “What ability do you have to bully orphans and widows?”

After walking down the last flight, she stopped on the dark red carpet embroidered with pollia and raised her pair of beautiful eyes. Her face was still gentle, but her eyes were firm.

She raised her hand, moved it, and removed a silver bracelet from her wrist.

The female cultivator who had mocked her narrowed her eyes and asked, “What are you doing?”

Madam Wang raised her hand. For some reason, a dazzling red light suddenly appeared in his palm. With a flick of her fingers, the silver bracelet was crushed into fine powder!

Many people were so frightened that they took a step back. Even the people at the Sisheng Peak were so shocked that they couldn’t speak. Xue Meng was also stunned. Among the crowd, there was only Jiang Xi — only Jiang Xi.

He stared at her. His face was extremely ugly, but he wasn’t surprised at all.

“The Sisheng Peak, will never change. Everyone who wish to close our doors and come step forward —”

Madam Wang brushed away the powder from the silver bracelet and raised her eyes to say something that would cause everyone’s faces to change in fear.

“Fight me.”

Ch. 285 [Sisheng Peak] Phoenix Searing the Heavens

As the silver bracelet broke, there was a distant phoenix cry, and the flames behind Madam Wang transformed into sparkling feathers. In that instant, red light overlapped each other, and flames soared to the sky! The vicious and violent flow of spirit energy was like a rushing lava, surging and devouring everything in its path.

She stood in the fire and raised her delicate hand. In that hand, a large amount of fire immediately gathered and poured into the plate and palm, making a hissing sound.

“What’s going on?! Isn’t her spiritual energy weak?”

“Xue Zhengyong is married to a woman who can’t learn spells… Wh… What the hell is going on with her?!”

Xue Meng was almost frightened. “Mother?!”

Jiang Xi also stepped forward and shouted, “Chuqing! Stop! How could you be able to accomplish such a feat with what you have done today?”

It had been a long time since anyone had called out Madam Wang’s name. An indescribable emotion flashed through her eyes that were red from the blazing fire, but it was quickly dispelled. She looked at Jiang Xi, “Sect Leader Jiang, if I didn’t do this, would you all retreat?”

“…”

“Will you let go of the Sisheng Peak and let go of Xue Meng?”

Jiang Xi gritted his teeth and said, “Stop right there. We can talk about everything else later.”

Madam Wang shook her head. “You have already dug out my heart once. I have already died in front of the Loyalty Hall. There is no third time.”

“Chuqing!”

Madam Wang’s clothes fluttered in the wind as her pupils gradually turned blood-red. Some sharp-eyed people noticed that her waist started to emit an intense red-orange light, and as it penetrated through his clothes, they couldn’t help but exclaim, “What’s that?!”

Jiang Xi cursed in his mind. He turned around and shouted at everyone, “Go down the mountain!”

“But things are not over yet, Xue Meng still…”

“If you want to die, then stay!” Jiang Xi said angrily, “This is Guyue’ye’s Phoenix Heavenly Flame! Do you all want to die?!”

The moment they heard the words “Phoenix Fire”, almost everyone’s faces turned ashen — a high ranking female disciple of Guyue’ye had her Phoenix tattoo stabbed into her waist. To be able to ignite a Phoenix Fire in times of danger was a well-known fact. However, even though they knew about it, no one had ever seen it with their own eyes.

The price they had to pay was too great. The least they had to to lose cultivation, and the most they had to pay was their lives.

The group of cultivators rushed out of the Loyalty Hall in a panic, like stray dogs. They scrambled towards the foot of the mountain to ride their swords. Only a few people were left in the large hall that was filled with swords just now.

Jiang Xi had not left yet, his silk ribbon fluttering in the wind as he looked back at Madam Wang. “Your Spiritual Core can’t withstand it at all.”

He squinted his brown eyes in confusion.

He was both angry and sad.

“That kind of tyrannical spirit core, the Phoenix Heavenly Flame? You can protect your son today, but what will happen after that?”

“If I don’t destroy the Heaven Flames, even my son will not be able to protect me today.” The flames on Madam Wang’s body intensified. Once this evil fire was ignited, it would erupt and never be extinguished.

She walked up the jade stairs, standing at the place where Xue Zhengyong had stood countless times with a smile on her face, her red eyes sweeping across all the disciples and elders at the peak of the hall.

“Fellow disciples.” She bowed slightly and said, “Zhengyong and I both believed in the truth of what we said before we parted. Today, the various sects had forced the Tianyin Pavilion to act suspiciously. In the eyes of the kings, right and wrong are seen in black and white.”

All the disciples looked at this woman who used to be so gentle.

Sparks flew off her clothes, covering his clothes in brilliant, mottled shadows.

“The Sisheng Peak was established for more than twenty years. They did not injure the innocent or commit injustice. Even if they are slandered and framed, they still live up to their expectations. However, I am too weak to affirm the truth and to return justice. “Don’t go today. I have asked for three things. I hope that all of you will be generous and help us out on account of our former friendship.”

All of the disciples lowered their eyes and said with tears in their eyes, “As Madam commands.”

As for Xue Meng, he choked with sobs as he murmured, “Mother…”

“After the Phoenix Heavenly Flames explode, it would last for at least three days. The first thing is that I hope that all the lords can preserve their lives, temporarily leave the Sisheng Peak and earn their own living.”

“This…”

Tanlang shook his head and said, “I prefer death to disgrace, I'm not running like a dog.”

When Madam Wang heard this, she smiled and said, “This isn’t a dog walking around. In the past, I heard that the Rufeng Sect’s Nangong Changying had a saying that makes sense.”

She had seen all of the disciples and elders in the hall before, just like the previous times when they had appeared before everyone.

“Nangong Changying once said that regardless of whether the Rufeng Sect is established or not, as long as there is still someone in the world who stands against greed, murder, resentment, stealing and debauchery the gentlemen of Rufeng sect will persevere.” Madam Wang paused for a moment before saying, “I picked up his wisdom. What I want to say today is the same as well.”

“Madam…”

“When all the cultivators leave and the truth is revealed, everything will be decided. If you still have the heart, then you can come back to this place.”

No one in the hall said anything for a while, only the young disciples were crying sorrowfully, and their clothes were heavy with tears.

Madam Wang said, “The second thing is to ask you not to make things difficult for Mo Ran or Yuheng. I believe that the two of them have their reasons for doing this, and that the words that Ran’er said were not false.”

Led by the elders, all the disciples lowered their heads and said in a low voice, “The disciples of Sisheng Peak will never be enemies with Young Master Mo and Elder Yuheng.”

“Then, the third item.” Madam Wang sighed. “I’m afraid that it’s just like what Mo Ran said. The Gate of Life and Death will open again in the future. When the time comes…”

She paused, as if she didn’t know whether his insistence was right or wrong.

However, she still slowly continued, “I still wish for the various cultivators and commoners to see eye to eye when the time comes.”

Tanlang, with his strong temper, could not help but be furious: “Those beasts that tried to bite you, what is there to protect?!”

“The Madam wasn’t here just now. She didn’t even know how disgusting those people’s faces were!”

“There are so many people in the Lower Cultivation World. There are dogs, and evil people. Good will not always be rewarded. But when we founded his sect, it was not to receive praise and gratitude, but to live up to his sincerity.”

Her pupils became more and more scarlet, and the Phoenix tattoo on her waist also became brighter and brighter.

Madam Wang stood amidst the blazing flames. “Everyone, how vast is this world of mortals? The word ‘fair’ is really too vague. But even so, to be able to do me justice and help me with my heart is still a small matter that is feasible with a body of my size.”

She closed his eyes and sighed.

“Therefore, if the Sisheng Peak were to collapse due to the dozens of traitors who had suffered injustice, they would ignore the lives of the people and become the second Rufeng Sect… That is what Zhengyong laments the most.”

“We can’t change evil, and we don’t have eyes that can see through people’s hearts. But at least we can do it. Don’t let malice and hatred change us.”

Finally, Madam Wang smiled and said, “May the hearts of all of us remain unshaken for the rest of our lives, forever unchanging.”

As soon as she finished, Phoenix Heavenly Flame!

The seal of the Phoenix Heavenly Flame was finally completely undone. A powerful energy continuously flowed out of Madam Wang's seemingly thin body, and in an instant, a wave of flames surged out like a flood from a mountain.

Green Sky Palace, Sword Discourse Arena, Mengpo Hall, Naihe Bridge… Two mountain peaks, a river, a palace of frost, the Red Lotus Pavilion…

In that instant, it was completely enveloped by the spirit fire.

These flames could recognize the will of their master, and they would not burn a single blade of grass or tree that was on the Sisheng Peak. It was just like the elders and disciples that were still standing in the hall.

Madam Wang said, "Go."

No one moved.

She sighed and urged everyone, "Go, why are you still standing there foolishly? Hurry up and leave."

After repeating the process several times, some people lowered their heads and left. The Loyalty Hall gradually became spacious and empty. In the end, only Xue Meng and Jiang Xi remained.

Jiang Xi gave his one last glance before turning to leave. However, Madam Wang called out to him. "Wait a moment."

"… Do you still have anything else to say?"

Within the firelight, Madam Wang's expression was not very clear. Sometimes bright, sometimes dark, sometimes cold, sometimes warm. She hesitated for a long time as if he was suffering from some inner torment.

Finally, she closed her eyes, steeled her heart, and whispered, “Shidi, come closer. I have something I want to tell you.”

The moment he said this, both Xue Meng and Jiang Xi were stunned.

Xue Meng really couldn’t understand what Madam Wang had to tell Jiang Xi alone at this time. Jiang Xi obviously thought the same. He narrowed his eyes slightly, not moving an inch.

Although he and Madam Wang were fellow disciples of the same sect, they had parted ways and hadn’t met privately for many years. In addition to Xue Zhengyong’s new demise, he was also one of the people who denounced the Sisheng Peak – to be on guard, it was not as if he didn’t have one.

Jiang Xi said, “If there’s anything you want to say, please say it here.”

“…”

“There is nothing between you and me that cannot be told to others.”

When Madam Wang saw that he couldn’t persuade Jiang Xi, he turned his head and said to Xue Meng, “Meng’er, you go down the mountain first. For mother to have a few words, I can only say that he knows them all by herself with Sect Leader Jiang.”

“Mother…?”

“Quickly go. This has nothing to do with you.”

Xue Meng’s face was dirty to the point that it was tainted with blood. His tears flowed down, leaving behind streaks after streaks of marks as he embarrassedly wiped his face and choked with sobs, “I don’t want to leave… You're all here. I don't want to go anywhere! I just want to be with you guys…"

"If you don't want to leave, then just wait at the Frost Hall." Madam Wang sighed. "When Mother finishes with Sect Leader Jiang, bring your father over."

"…"

At this moment, Madam Wang's face was extremely pale. There were also traces of blood leaking from the corners of her mouth. She frowned slightly and coughed lightly. She said softly, "Meng Er, be good…"

Xue Meng could not help but shake his head and wipe his tears away with his hands. He knew that his mother had ignited the Phoenix Heavenly Flame at this moment and that her life wasn't too long away. He shouldn't have gone against her wishes and wasted his remaining time.

In the end, he still left, leaving only Guyue'ye, brother and sister from the same sect, in the vast Loyalty Hall.

After Xue Meng left, the last breath he had left to support Madam Wang disappeared. She slumped into her seat of honor, no longer able to maintain her composure.

She stared at the counter in front of her for a long, long time. Tears rolled down her soft, jade-like cheeks, and then she began to cough violently and vomit blood.

Jiang Xi stood at the same spot. He saw that Madam Wang was coughing blood and wanted to step forward, but in the end, he didn't move. After a while, he said, "There's no one else here. What do you want to say?"

Madam Wang was coughing so badly that she couldn't answer for the moment.

Seeing that, Jiang Xi frowned and said with a gloomy face, "Because of the incident back then, your spirit core became more and more tyrannical. Afterwards, it was even difficult for you to continue practicing techniques, not to mention igniting the Phoenix Heavenly Flame. This will take your life."

Madam Wang caught her breath, her eyelashes moist. She looked at the tables on the stage, her eyes somewhat vacant. "Yes, I know."

The sea of fire had flooded them, but it could not burn them. It was as if there was a scarlet sea separating her from Jiang Xi.

"Then what else do you have to say?"

"…"

"If you have nothing else, then I'll be leaving."

Jiang Xi waited for a moment, but seeing that she was still silent, he lost his patience.

He turned to leave, but heard a soft sound.

"Shidi."

Raging flames danced in the air like red dust.

"Do you really look down on Meng'er?"

Jiang Xi was actually worried about nothing after he blurted out those words. "What?"

“The first time you met him in the Rufeng Sect, you had a fight with him. If I didn’t come later, I’m afraid you would have started a fight with him.” Madam Wang sighed softly. “Shidi, his temper really isn’t that good, but please consider the fact that he and you were similar when you were young… Don’t bother with him.”

Jiang Xi didn’t know what to say. He turned his face to the side and asked, “What do you mean?”

Madam Wang did not immediately reply. This patch of silence was like a rolling thundercloud that covered the two of them. It was as if a torrential rain would fall at any moment, causing the sky and earth to change color.

In this silence, Jiang Xi suddenly recalled a story from his youth. His heart was pounding, but the expression on his face was getting colder and colder. He didn’t say a word, but clenched his fingers into a fist and waited for Madam Wang to speak.

“Xue Meng…”

Madam Wang sighed softly, but her sigh was like a bolt of purple lightning splitting the sky, startling the world —

“Xue Meng, he is actually very similar to you. Junior brother, do you understand?”

Even though he had already predicted that something like this would happen, when he heard his words, Jiang Xi’s mind was still in a whirl, and his thoughts instantly went blank.

Who is like him?

Xue Meng?

That youngster who was so irritable and rude every time he saw him, causing him to despise him to the depths of his heart?

Ridiculous…

The hall was deathly silent. Jiang Xi was chewing on his meaning, as the truth that was sealed in the air cracked open layer after layer like chapped ice. Jiang Xi's face did not move, but the blood had already turned cold.

He was almost scared, but he also felt that it was ridiculous.

He suddenly turned around and stared intently at Madam Wang's face. He thought he had misheard, but he knew that it was impossible. Although the words were spoken softly, each word was clearly spoken. They were as clear as water, and they rushed towards him through the raging flames.

In front of his eyes, it became a sea of shock.

"Jiang Yechen." Madam Wang slowly lifted her moist eyelashes and looked at him with her black eyes. "Xue Meng, he is your child."

Ch. 286 [Sisheng Peak] Lang Boland Is Deeply In Love

"…" In the silence, Jiang Xi almost sneered, but his eyes flashed with fear. "Wang Chuqing, are you crazy? Do you know what you're talking about?"

The hand under his sleeves had already been clenched into a fist. It felt as if a mountain had cracked inside his skull. His entire body felt faint and dizzy.

"What can he have to do with me?"

Although Jiang Xi's attitude was tough, what Madam Wang had said had already frightened him, from fear to doubt, from suspicion to anger — he had been thinking that he was alone for so many years.

He no longer had any family members in the mortal world — Son? Tell him that Xue Meng was his son? It was simply… Ridiculous!

Madam Wang held back the blood in her throat and took a deep breath. She seemed to be ashamed, but she still insisted, "Junior is well aware of what happened back then. What relationship does Meng'er have with you? I will never lie to you."

"…"

After a moment of silence, Jiang Xi suddenly began to laugh. It was a rare occasion for him to burst into such unbridled laughter. The ridicule and rage filled his eyes as he laughed and laughed.

Every word was filled with chilliness.

“My son? Senior sister, if you want to be alone, you can tell me about love, but why make up such a ridiculous story! Your son has a personality and a temper. When have he ever been anything like me?”

It was probably because of the intense uneasiness in his heart. He tried his best not to admit it and made threatening gestures.

“You actually want to use such despicable method to earn money for me to clean up the stall you and Xue Zhengyong left behind? How could Xue Meng, Xue Ziming, be my son!”

In the depths of his consciousness, there seemed to be a voice coldly telling him, Yes, he is your child. Think about his age, think about how Senior Sister Wang left Guyue’ye at that time.

What was there to think about?

He bit back like a cornered beast, tearing his wits from the bottom of his heart to smithereens.

What makes you think so?

He had been single for more than twenty years and she had suddenly told him that he had a son. That son was always opposing him, and was born with an appearance that made him extremely disgusted. He had even adopted someone else as his father for such a long time.

Ridiculous.

He, Jiang Xi, wasn’t some good-hearted person who would never become a brainless fool. He would never be fooled, would never listen to such a joke, would never…

“Xuehuang.”

All sound stopped.

It was as if all the light had been extinguished at this moment. Jiang Xi looked around in a daze, as if he had been left in darkness for a long night.

This was the first time he was so at a loss.

Madam Wang looked at him and said, “Xuehuang.”

“… What do you mean?” His lips were moving, growing paler.

Madam Wang softly said, “Shidi, it’s not like you don’t understand.”

“…”

It was impossible for him to not understand.

Xuehuang was his weapon, although others could use it, they could not display the mighty power of the godly weapon. Only his blood relatives could make Xuehuang sincerely submit to them.

Jiang Xi couldn’t say a word for a moment.

She didn’t even need to try. If Madam Wang could speak to such an extent, what else could he do? He was actually forced into a corner.

He was speechless.

“… This matter…”

After a long while, Jiang Xi finally spoke with a hoarse voice and a pale face. After the initial frenzy, he was almost exhausted, “In this matter, Xue Zhengyong, he… he knew about it too?”

Madam Wang said, “He always knew.”

“…”

When she said this, her eyes were soft and painful.

When Xue Zhengyong saw her, she was seventeen years old, which was the good time when the Lotus had just opened.

That day, he happened to pass by Yangzhou on a little donkey with a piece of dogtail grass and coincidentally saw Wang Chuqing, who came to the port to buy fabric. Guyue’ye was a group of beautiful female disciples, but he didn’t look at any of them, and only took a fancy to Miss Wang who was in the crowd.

Xue Zhengyong was a straightforward person, so he went to greet her with a smile.

The other female cultivators mocked him for being frivolous, while Wang Chuqing was a bit embarrassed. She blushed and gave him a few words of advice before leaving in a hurry with her head lowered.

That girl was gentle and pretty. Xue Zhengyong fell in love with her at first sight, so he would often go to Guyue’ye to look for her. Every two to three years, during the middle of autumn, he would come looking for her. Until the end, Guyue’ye had spread the rumor that she was involved with a little hoodlum. No matter how good Wang Chuqing’s temper was, she couldn’t bear it anymore, and angrily chased him away.

Xue Zhengyong was also a little rascal and wouldn’t leave.

Madam Wang then said, “You can leave, it will be difficult for me if you do this.”

Xue Zhengyong said, “If you don’t have a boyfriend, and I don’t have a girlfriend, I’ll come and see you. If you ever get married, I’ll immediately disappear.”

Madam Wang was speechless.

Xue Zhengyong laughed. Seriously, he would definitely disappear faster than lightning.

He paused before asking his with some concern: “You… You don’t already have someone you like, do you?”

Madam Wang’s face instantly turned red. She lowered his head, his delicate flowers shining in the water. She softly said, “No.”

However, it was not the truth.

She naturally had someone she liked. That person was not only her lover, but also the dream lover of many of Guyue’ye’s female cultivators — she really liked his junior brother, Jiang Xi.

However, every disciple of Guyue’ye knew that Jiang Xi was a scum.

Among the younger generation, he had the most handsome appearance, the most swift and fierce movements, and the most pleasant voice.

And the most unmoved heart.

This man was eccentric, harsh in his speech, but strong in his abilities, ruthless in his skills, and extremely good-looking — a man who could easily harvest a girl’s heart, but Jiang Xi treated it as a pig’s heart, he would never value anyone, the women gave him their true love, he thought they were sloppy, the men gave their love to him, he called them perverts.

Jiang Ye was living his life like this, always hurting others without knowing it.

Like many other martial sisters, Wang Chuqing had always secretly liked Jiang Xi. But she knew that she was not peerless and was older than Jiang Xi, so she didn't dare to confess. After all, Jiang Xi had never accepted any woman's good intentions. If someone praised him, he wouldn't be able to hear it. If someone praised him, he wouldn't appreciate it. If anyone dared to make love with him, he would scold them until they didn't even know their own mother. All in all, those who could expose their worries to Jiang Xi were all heroes.

Madam Wang didn't think of herself as a hero, so she had thought that this love would eventually die with his time, and eventually be sealed away in a coffin. However, one day, the Sect Leader found them.

The Sect Leader replied, "Guyue'ye is the sect that specializes in raising the soul through the years of life. The majority of disciples are able to live past the age of a hundred. Furthermore, all of the previous Sect Leaders were bitterly cultivating the method of longevity, hoping to find a way to live forever.

Indeed, for the sake of the Immortal Art, Sect Leader Guyue'ye had made such an attempt, which naturally included the dual cultivation technique left behind by the Nine Heavens Profound Maiden.

She and Jiang Xi had the purest water element and the purest fire element. Furthermore, both of them were inexperienced, so it was most suitable for them to cultivate together. At that time, the Sect Leader came to find them for the sake of letting them cultivate together. Wang Chuqing had adored Jiang Xi for a long time, so she was very happy. Jiang Xi, however, was not unhappy. He was focused on cultivation. He was extremely disgusted with love affairs and thought they were both troublesome and useless. He really didn't know how there could be so many idiotic men and women in this world.

"Love is an illness. If there's an illness, cure it early."

These words came from the mouth of Guyue'ye's number one beauty, Jiang Xi, who knew how many women had been hurt by these words.

In Jiang Xi's eyes, even the Mystic Maiden Room shouldn't have any feelings. Duo Cultivation was a dual cultivation. Since the Sect Leader had requested, he didn't dawdle and went into seclusion with his Senior Sister to cultivate according to the sect's secret scripture.

However, the love in the young girl's eyes could not be concealed. After a while, Jiang Xi gradually understood how his senior sister felt for her.

This made him very agitated and uneasy.

He cultivated with her only because of orders, without a trace of selfishness. Not to mention that the dual cultivation technique itself required unmoving mortal thoughts. When a man and a woman were combined, it was also for the sake of spiritual integration, so there was absolutely no room for love and desire.

Because of this, Jiang Xi and his senior sister solemnly brought up this matter many times, telling her to calm down and not to think about anything useless.

"If you continue cultivating like this, I'm afraid your cultivation will go berserk and your spirit core will become tyrannical."

But how could Madam Wang control her feelings? Finally, there was one time where, after her cultivation had ended, her state of mind became unstable and her spiritual flow became chaotic. Her spiritual sense was also unclear. Jiang Xi had spent a great deal of effort to suppress his Scorching Sun Spirit Core. This enraged him, and he asked her why she didn't listen to him repeatedly and continued to think nonsense.

"If this goes on, don't cultivate anymore, it will kill you."

At that time, she was also extremely sad. It was unknown where she got the courage from, but she actually cried and went all out to ask him, "Yechen, are you cultivating only because of the Sect Leader's orders?"

Jiang Xi had an extremely unsightly expression on his face as he retorted, "Why else would I do that?"

Although she already knew that Jiang Xi was like a cold spring, his heart was as hard as iron. However, when she heard him say this, she could not hold it in and tears began to roll down her cheeks. Feeling embarrassed, she raised her hand to wipe away the tears, but it only made her more and more embarrassed. She hurriedly got up and choked with sobs. "I'm sorry."

Then she turned around and left, never looking back.

After that, Jiang Xi didn't come looking for her again for several days, and when he saw her on the way, he no longer spoke to her.

A few of Guyue'ye's younger generation of beautiful ladies noticed the change, and gathered behind her back and laughed at her, "I was looking forward to it, and thought I could climb up to Senior Brother Jiang just like that. How is that possible?"

“A dual cultivation is a double cultivation, but she has so many emotions. If you cultivate to the point of going berserk and even implicating our Senior Brother Ye Chen, it will truly be harmful.”

“Forget it, what dual cultivation?” Her Senior Brother did all these things with her for her sake. She and her senior did all of this for her own selfish reasons. Everyone is clear about what she is thinking. Heh, I think she is just trying to take advantage of Senior Brother.”

“Shijie Wang is older than us, and her skin is thicker than ours as well.”

These words spread and reached Xue Zhengyong, who had come looking for Madam Wang as usual for the Mid-Autumn Festival.

Young Hero Xue was straightforward but not stupid. He quickly understood the whole situation. He immediately tidied up those chatty little girls in a rage and then ran off to find Madam Wang. However, when he saw her, he didn’t know what to say. He could only blankly stare at her. “You…”

Wang Chuqing raised her eyes, they were red from crying.

Xue Zhengyong was flustered, “Don’t cry, don’t stop the gossip, you, you… I think you’re fine, I. I…”

Wang Chuqing stood next to the willow tree, looking at the sparkling lake. “I didn’t tell you the truth before, but I have someone I like.”

“… Right.”

“Then why aren’t you leaving?”

Xue Zhengyong then scratched his head, “But that person doesn’t like you either… He doesn’t like you, I. I can still talk to you, and he can’t.”

“…”

Seeing his silence, Xue Zhengyong hesitated. “Can he control it?”

Madam Wang lowered his head and softly said, “He doesn’t care.”

What was Jiang Xi to her? From beginning to end, it had been his sect’s order, and it was his own wishful thinking.

Everyone in the school said that Jiang Xi was scum, but Wang Chuqing felt that if a man was sentenced to be scum just because he didn’t want to be loved by others, then it would be too mean.

Jiang Xi had never lied to anyone’s feelings, never given anyone hope. It was them who chased after him like moths to a flame, knowing that he was cold and heartless.

At this point, she also felt very embarrassed and wanted to let it go.

However, it was most likely because the disciple in charge of the medicinal food was in a daze and had made a mistake while concocting the medicine one day. Perhaps it was due to some other reason — Madam Wang had discovered that she was already pregnant.

She only felt flustered and helpless. He didn’t know how the martial sisters would comment on or mock her after this matter spread, nor did he know what kind of attitude Jiang Xi would have. She couldn’t do anything about it, so she anxiously sat there and decided to find the Sect Leader.

However, before she could knock on the door of the Sect Leader’s room, she heard a cold voice coming from inside. It was Jiang Xi.

“Shijie’s heart is unsettled, her spirit core is becoming more and more tyrannical, and now even the smallest of spells are unable to control her spirit energy. If this goes on, it might harm her body. I humbly request the Sect Leader to take back her dual cultivation token, and I can no longer cultivate with her.”

“Sigh, Xi’er, why don’t you talk with her again? Maybe we can…”

“No need for that. I’ve told his many times, but she’s not suited for this.” Jiang Xi said, “Chuqing is too easily swayed, it’s useless.”

The Sect Leader asked, “… Then what are you going to do next?”

Jiang Xi replied, “If there’s no one capable of clearing my mind, then I won’t dual cultivate anymore.”

The Sect Leader sighed, “… I know, go ahead. A pure and quiet state of mind is the most painful trial of the dual cultivation path. I wonder if Guyue’ye will be able to have a person like you, who will be so focused on things without distractions in the next few decades.”

However, Jiang Xi didn’t leave immediately. He stood in the same spot for a while before asking, “Is it difficult?”

“It’s extremely difficult.” The Sect Leader glanced at him, “You and Wang Chuqing have been together for so long, yet you haven’t wavered at all?”

Jiang Xi asked in confusion, “… Why would I… waver?”

The Sect Leader stared at Jiang Xi for a while. He didn’t see any hypocrisy in the young man’s eyes, which made him even more surprised. He hesitated for a moment before asking, “Jiang Xi, what is Wang Chuqing in your eyes?”

“Eldest Senior Sister.”

“What about when you dual cultivate?”

“… The subject of the dual cultivation.”

“Nothing else?”

“Nothing else.”

“…”

Noticing the Sect Leader’s complicated expression, Jiang Xi frowned, “Is there something else?”

“No.” After a long while, the old Sect Leader sighed, “After so many years, this disciple and disciple pair cultivation have always been unable to get by. You’re the first. Unfortunately, I wonder who will be able to accomplish this feat with you.”

That day, whether it was Jiang Xi or the head of the sect, neither of them knew that Miss Wang had already heard all of their conversation. Previously, Madam Wang still had a sliver of a dream, a sliver of hope. However, this exchange of words caused her entire body to turn cold and lose face.

Too embarrassing. She really didn’t know how to stand up in the sect anymore. She didn’t know what to say. In the past, her spine was already about to be broken by her junior sisters. If people knew that she had carelessly given birth to a child with her junior brother Jiang…

Just thinking about it sent shivers down her spine. She no longer dared to stay in the sect. At night she fled from the sect.

“… Didn’t you elope away with Xue Zhengyong?”

Madam Wang said, “No.”

Jiang Xi abruptly closed his eyes, unsure of what to say.

He was indeed a merciful person. His heart was filled with his own great path. In his entire life, apart from Madam Wang, he had never met any woman. Back then, he also felt that he had no feelings for this eldest senior sister. However, when he heard that Madam Wang and Xue Zhengyong had eloped and left the island, he still frowned.

He felt that relationships in this world were not as long as flowers and plants, and that women in this world were really unreliable. Even this senior sister who was deeply in love with him had left with other person just because he said so.

From then on, his aversion to matters of love grew, and even his teeth became cold.

Only today, after twenty years, did he finally hear the truth about the past from his eldest senior sister. It was just that the ‘Madam Wang’ of that time had become the ‘Madam Wang’ of today. The best years of their lives had already passed.

After a long time, Jiang Xi said very stiffly, “Then you… Why did you have to leave Guyue’ye?”

“I couldn’t live under the same roof with you anymore, Shidi.” Twenty years later, Madam Wang was finally able to calmly look at him. “Humans have dignity. I no longer had the face to stand at my teacher’s door.”

“…”

“I wanted to kill Meng’er in my womb, but I couldn’t bear it.” Madam Wang said indifferently, “That’s why I went through many places by myself. Then I gave birth to our child in White Emperor City. When Zhengyong found me and accompanied me, Meng’er was already a year old. He always knew his identity.”

As she spoke, she began to cough up blood again.

In the past, her cultivation went berserk and her spirit core became tyrannical. All these years, she had been suppressing it and never used any spells. Now, with the rise of phoenix fire and surging flames, her life had already come to an end.

Madam Wang slowly stopped coughing. Her breathing had already become disorderly, so she said, “Junior brother, the so-called ‘Zhengyong’ who kidnapped me to the Sisheng Peak and married me was something he said to the outside world. He was always afraid of my embarrassment. I’m also afraid that Meng’er would be embarrassed.”

Her gaze lingered for a long time, then fell on Xue’s body.

However, it only lasted for a moment before it was pricked.

She thought of that year’s wedding, and Xue Zhengyong said to her with a smile, “Well, from now on, don’t think about the past anymore. In the past, Guyue’ye, that bad guy always made you lose face. I won’t.”

“If you’re with me, I’ll let you enjoy life for the rest of your life.”

“As long as I am here, I won’t let you suffer any more.”

Madam Wang turned her face away. She was trembling slightly.

If a gentleman makes a promise, he will never be able to keep it up.

Xue Zhengyong had done it. When he was here, she never had to show her face, and she would never be troubled by others. Her tears, her humiliation, her blood, all came after he left.

“All these years, he did not care that I was weak and could not be pregnant again. He didn’t care that Meng’er wasn’t his flesh and blood. He treated him as his own flesh and blood. Xue Meng… Xue Meng has never suffered much since he was born…”

She closed her eyes, and her face became transparent.

“We can’t protect him anymore.”

Jiang Xi stood there, numb.

“Shidi, just consider these twenty years as my revenge against you… One had to hate it, loathe it… Count it on me alone.”

Madam Wang’s voice became softer and softer.

“Please help him. Do not let others harm him…”

In the end, she muttered with a voice as light as a feather, “Ye Chen… I beg you…”

The Phoenix Heavenly Flames blotted out the sky and blotted out the sun. Jiang Xi stood in this sea of flames, both heaven and earth burning with a similar scarlet color. He looked at the woman in the high seat. Her eyes were closed and downcast, as if she was asleep. He felt that she probably still had something to say. Moreover, she had clearly just promised Xue Meng that they would meet in the Frosty Heaven Palace. Thus, he patiently waited.

He waited for her to stand up and told himself that it was all a lie, a joke, a farce.

He waited patiently for a long time. As her face became more and more sinister, her heartbeat became more and more dull, and her blood became colder and colder.

She did not speak again.

Madam Wang and Xue Zhengyong returned to their former homes together.

She was once a high-ranking female cultivator of a famous family, gentle and virtuous. Later on, people said that she was kidnapped by Xue Zhengyong to become his wife, and others said that she had eloped with him and became his wife. There were many people who didn't know the truth. In these past few years, many people at the Sisheng Peak felt that Madam Wang probably didn't like her husband very much, but because she was timid, she didn't dare to complain.

However, no matter what others thought, she had already decided to leave the moment she found out that Xue Zhengyong had died. She didn't know if it was a martyr or something else. Perhaps in the end, even she herself could not understand this woman's thoughts. Was she grateful or loving to her husband for the rest of her life? Were her feelings for Jiang Xi long forgotten? Actually, he couldn't see through it.

There were many things in this world where there was no definite answer.

In the end, all she could think of was a poem she had read years ago by the window.

“Only general will open his eyes all night long, to repay for not having been able to open his eyebrows in his life.”

At that time, when she and Xue Zhengyong were newly married, she would absentmindedly recall the time when she was a young girl in Guyue’ye’s time. She looked out of the window. The fog in Shu was always so thick, it was like clouds that were scattered and scattered, as if no one was there to sweep it away.

She didn’t know about the heavens and earth.

When someone walked over, she still thought that it was Jiang Xi as she was lost in his thoughts. However, when a piece of cold clothing was draped over her shoulders… The dream woke up.

She knew very well that Jiang Xi would never know that she was cold or warm.

Madam Wang turned around. Candles were still burning by the west window.

The young and handsome husband looked at her with a smile and scratched his head, “The sky is cold, be careful not to freeze.”

The Loyalty Hall’s interior was covered with a thick carpet made out of pollia patterns, which was Madam Wang’s favorite flower design. Jiang Xi walked out of the hall full of pollia flowers. His expression was still indifferent, even a bit more wooden than usual.

With a squeak, he pushed open the door.

He was prepared to leave this place, but when he opened the door, he saw Xue Meng, whose face was deathly pale and motionless.

Ch. 287 [Sisheng Peak] Fate Is Impossible to Escape

Jiang Xi didn't say a word. Xue Meng also did not say anything.

After a long time had passed, Jiang Xi finally said, with an extremely uneasy and sullen look on his face, "Since you've heard it all. I don't need to say more."

"…"

"Go and take care of the rest of the matters, according to the rules of the Sisheng Peak." Jiang Xi turned his gaze away. He didn't even want to look at Xue Meng again. "Your mother left me alone. I will be waiting for you at the foot of the mountain."

Xue Meng moved, but it was just a meaningless movement.

All the hot blood in his body seemed to have been sucked out. Just two or three movements of his knuckles had exhausted all of his strength.

Xue Meng suddenly turned to stare at the quiet, deep Loyalty Hall. The blood on the carpet was no longer clear against the flames, but his father was still lying on the ground. When he wasn't smiling, he looked old and his wrinkles were very distinct.

He had white hair on his temples.

Jiang Xi, on the other hand, was in his early thirties, always in the prime of his life.

Xue Meng slowly took a few steps forward, then stopped.

"You can go."

Jiang Xi turned his head and saw Xue Meng's lonely back.

Xue Meng said, "I don't recognize you. You are not my father."

After he finished speaking, he slammed the door. After a while, Jiang Xi heard Xue Meng's hoarse and sorrowful cries coming from inside, breaking his heart.

"…"

Jiang Xi stood in the cold wind for a long time, until his hands and feet were cold, and then he slowly walked down the mountain.

At the foot of the mountain, most of the cultivators had dispersed in fear of the Heavenly Phoenix Flames. Only the Taxue Palace had a few disciples left, among them was Mei Hanxue.

Seeing that Jiang Xi had come out, and according to etiquette, the younger generation members of the Taxue Palace bowed to him in respect. They then whispered, "Sect Leader Jiang."

Jiang Xi could feel the muscles on his face stiffen. He pursed his lips and turned his brown eyes onto Mei Hanxue. "Why aren't you leaving?"

Mei Hanxue said in a gentle but cold tone, "Waiting for an old friend."

Jiang Xi understood who he was referring to and said, "He won't be able to get down for a while."

Mei Hanxue said, "Then I'll have to wait for a while, even three or four days. If there's nothing else, I'll just stay here." He paused for a moment before continuing, "Also, Sect Leader Jiang. The Palace Mistress has a message for me to bring to you."

Unable to vent his anger, Jiang Xi asked, “What?”

Mei Hanxue bowed. “The Palace Mistress has decided not to blindly follow the teachings of the God’s descendant, the Tianyin Pavilion. She has also stopped collaborating with the various sects in the world of cultivation. Sect Leader Jiang is the leader of the immortal sects. From today onwards, for future actions you do not have to consider Taxue Palace.”

Jiang Xi was silent for a moment. With an unreadable expression on his face, he asked, “Are you planning to be independent from the immortals??”

“It’s scary to stand alone without any help.” Mei Hanxue’s eyes were still filled with happiness and a smile, but his expression was somewhat cold. “However, the most undesirable thing is blind obedience and following the so-called teachings of God.”

Jiang Xi stared at him.

He felt angry, stuffy, and toothless for no reason.

Back then, when he saw Nangong Liu sitting in this position, he only felt that many of Nangong Liu’s decisions were ridiculous and laughable. But when he really did reach this step, he discovered that there were many things that he could not help himself with.

Was it his intention to kill Mo Ran?

To blindly listen to the Tianyin Pavilion, was he sincere?

He had tried his best to dissuade them from going against Sisheng Peak, but the sects all retorted that as the leader of the immortals, what could they do in the end? In the past, he could even lead Guyue’ye to stay out of this matter, having his own attitude. And when he ascended to the throne, when Guyue'ye became the greatest sect under the heavens, he discovered that he already had nowhere to return to.

In the end, he would become the next Nangong Liu.

Jiang Xi closed his eyes and left without a word. Mei Hanxue bowed to him as he was well versed in books, and then he bowed again behind him. He said lightly, "Greetings to you, Sect Leader Jiang. Farewell to the cultivation world."

He did not reply. Dressed in green clothes with gold threads and dark patterns embroidered on them, he walked away without looking back.

Previously, he had ascended the mountain and replaced Nangong Liu's glory from yesterday. The audience burst into applause and cheers. At that time, he had thought that he would definitely be different from his former self, that he would be able to rely on his own strength to change the sun, the moon, and the world. At that time, he was ambitious, hot-blooded, and greedy.

But now, he understood.

It turned out that the applause of that day was not to welcome a brilliant deity. Instead, it was a funeral for a free spirit soul.

From then on, the martial world was vast, and the world was vast. It was easy for them to meet Sect Leader Jiang, and it was difficult to find Jiang Xi.

After Xue Meng buried his parents, he had never left the Sisheng Peak. Later, when the heavenly fire was extinguished, Mei Hanxue was ordered to go up the mountain to search for him. Finally, he found the unconscious

Xue Meng in the Frosty Sky Hall and brought him back to the Taxue Palace on Mount Kunlun.

At the same time, the palace Master of Taxue Palace announced that from then on, there would no longer be a need to support Kunlun and Kunlun would no longer be bound by the laws of the cultivation world. Thus, he cut it off.

Later on, Jiang Xi summoned everyone to the spirit mountain to discuss the recent events. At the meeting, Jiang Xi proposed that the important case should be reopened after three trials, namely, “court hearing”, “the court hearing”, “the people hearing”, and “the public hearing”, and not to listen to the words of a family.

Even though he had yet to point out which sect the “family statement” referred to, everyone already understood that he was somewhat dissatisfied with the status of the Tianyin Pavilion. Therefore, Jiang Xi’s move was strongly refuted —

“The Tianyin Pavilion was created by a god. Pavilion master Mu interrogated it using the divine weapon left behind by the God of Scale. Nothing is more just than an Empyrean God.”

“If Sect Leader Jiang acts so recklessly, you might be punished by the heavens.”

There were even some who believed in the Tianyin Pavilion, who were excited about Mu Yanli’s words and actions as a doctrine. They had no idea where he got the courage to rise to their feet at the meeting.

“The Tianyin Pavilion is the glory of the cultivation world for the past few thousand years. It was because of the presence of the Tianyin Pavilion that many people would hesitate before committing adultery in the cultivation world. Sect Leader Jiang, are you going to extinguish this sacred fire in the cultivation world?”

Jiang Xi said in a stern voice, “From your point of view, the Tianyin Pavilion is a pure white, immaculate place?”

“The Tianyin Pavilion was founded by a God for a thousand years, so it can’t be wrong.”

“All of us Immortal cultivators can ascend into the Dao of the Heavens after death. Sect Leader Jiang, if you think that the deities in the sky are wrong, then where is your cultivation belief?”

There were too many people who were conservative. They were all in a frenzy as they fought to defend the Tianyin Pavilion left behind by God. In the end, even though Jiang Xi’s face was ashen, he was still powerless to contend against him.

In the end, it didn’t matter.

But paper could not contain fire, and the truth would eventually surface. After the Sisheng Peak had been scattered, the chaos did not slow down. Instead, it became more and more intense. Three days later, a violent storm began in Shu.

The first to lose control of themselves was the Wuchang Town. A group of people dressed in cloth and wearing filial clothes headed towards the Upper Cultivation World’s Tianyin Pavilion, insulting them in protest.

“When did the Sisheng Peak accept children?”

“Where did you find such a beast in the Tianyin Pavilion! He actually called the Sisheng Peak a thief! Can your conscience rest?!”

“Cultivators and immortals. Wuchang Town is at the foot of the mountain. Why didn't you dare to come to the foot of the mountain when you inquired about the crime? The group of heartless traitors you found, the lackeys who avenge their grievances, are nothing more than a reason for your own brutality and ugliness! A group of murderers! Please clean Sect Leader Xue's name!”

“Please clear the name of Sect Leader Xue!”

The old cultivator who was saved of the Linyi Tribulation Fire had tears in his eyes. His eyes were filled with anger as he shouted, “You want to frame us, you are not humans at all. You are evil beings! It’s a ghost!”

Some cultivators could not bear to watch any longer, so he raised his sword and said angrily, “Is that enough? The Tianyin Pavilion was set up by a god. With all the obscenities in his mouth, he’s not afraid of going to hell after death?”

Everyone was silent for a while. Suddenly, a storyteller took out a fan, pointed it at the door, and sneered, “Go to hell?… Then, cultivators, listen carefully —” He cleared his throat and continued in a controlled voice, “The Tianyin Pavilion is not as good as the pigsty!”

The crowd burst into laughter as they clapped their hands to show their speed.

One of the Young Masters sighed, “Teacher, this is the most exciting part you’ve heard in the past ten years.”

“That’s right! The Tianyin Pavilion is not as good as the pigsty!”

Shouts rose and fell one after another. The cultivator’s face was as pale as a pig’s liver. He could neither curse nor curse, so he stood still for a moment, then left with a pale face.

Because these people were commoners without spiritual energy, the Tianyin Pavilion simply didn’t place them in their eyes, allowing them to freely make a ruckus. However, he did not expect that more and more people would arrive from all over the place. On the second day, the disciples of the pavilion finally could not hold themselves back anymore and reported to Mu Yanli.

“Pavilion master, the plaza is already filled with citizens who have come to avenge the death. Do you think we should go out and say something?”

“There’s no need to explain it to them. This kind of person would just give himself up after shouting a few words. He’ll leave.”

“But now…” The disciple mumbled, “More than a thousand people are blocking the door…”

“Over a thousand people?”

She got up from the rosewood bed and walked over to the window while stepping on the thick leather carpet.

The eyes looked down, and from the window of the brocade pavilion, one could see the vast expanse of white that covered the main square of the Tianyin Pavilion. The people dressed in cloth were all dressed in mourning clothes. Some were cursing loudly, while others were sitting upright on the ground with a stubborn look on their faces.

A crease appeared between Mu Yanli's eyebrows.

The direct disciple said cautiously: "It's been two days and we haven't lost a single person. On the contrary, we have gained more and more people. The residents of the large and small towns and villages began to rush to the Tianyin Pavilion. If this goes on, we might really be unable to find someone to do the perjury and get exposed."

Mu Yanli: "…"

"Pavilion master, what should we do?"

Mu Yanli pursed her lips, but before she could reply, she heard a warm, jade-like voice from behind her. "If you can't wrap your head around it, then don't."

When that disciple saw Hua Binan, he hurriedly bowed his head and greeted him, "Senior Sacred Hand."

Mu Yanli frowned. "Why are you here? Not staying with Taxian-Jun to guard the place?"

"The spirit core shards have all fused into his heart. But he won't wake up for a while." Shi Mei walked to the window and looked down indifferently, "It looks like there are quite a few people. They're really free."

Mu Yanli looked a little worried. "You're still spouting sarcastic remarks at such a time. Currently, I relied on the Tianyin Pavilion's prestige to keep the situation from going out of control, but I don't know how much longer I can last. There were many fools among those cultivators, but there were also some who were not stupid. If the group of people below were to continue, then I'm afraid that before Taxian-Jun is awake, the situation will change greatly."

However, Shi Mei smiled: "Don't worry, Sister Mu. No matter how great the change, the Tianyin Pavilion is safe."

"What do you mean?"

"In order to become an Immortal, one must ascend and become an Immortal. You shouldn't offend the descendant of the God of Heaven just because you were on the ground." Shi Mei said, "Actually, the Sisheng Peak is innocent. Don't those cultivators know that? Do you not understand whether it is perjury?"

"…"

"At that time, they chose to believe it because they were afraid of a conspiracy at the Sisheng Peak, afraid of Mo Ran. It was because they themselves wanted to eradicate this sect that they were willing to believe the evidence of dozens of people." Shi Mei's fingers touched the windowsill and lightly said, "Their hearts are clear."

The personal disciple beside him said, "T-but let these commoners clamor about it. They can't do anything about it, we still need an explanation, right?"

"So I just said. "If you can't, then don't."

"What do you mean?"

"Let's just drive them away."

Mu Yanli: "… The Tianyin Pavilion could not help but say these words directly, and would not chase people away without a reason. If you do this, I'm afraid it will attract a lot of criticism."

Shi Mei lightly said: "Didn't I explain everything just now? Whether the Tianyin Pavilion was right or wrong, they already knew. But they would not rise up for a while. By the time they turned around and came back, our Taxian-Jun will be already awake. You know what that means?"

"…" Mu Yanli seemed as if she wanted to say something, but felt a bit conflicted. In the end, she closed her eyes, turned around, and said to the disciple, "Go and disperse them."

After the most loyal disciple left, only Mu Yanli and Shi Mingjing were left in the Warm Pavilion.

The two of them stood by the window, watching the scene below.

The disciples of the Tianyin Pavilion filed out, their golden white robes rippling in the sunlight. When the commoners saw them coming out, they thought they were finally going to speak, so they all stood up. They surrounded the group of disciples.

Because they were so far away, Shi Mei and Mu Yanli weren't able to hear what they were saying, but their anger could be seen with the naked eye.

Suddenly, for some unknown reason, a commoner rushed forward to grab the Tianyin Pavilion disciple. He raised his hand and gave him a resounding slap —

The scene turned chaotic!

Mu Yanli opened her eyes wide, and the crowd below her surged. They pushed and shoved, and the ten-odd Tianyin Sect disciples surrounded the two of them in a barrage of fists and kicks.

What was this? No matter how calm Mu Yanli was, she couldn't do anything when she saw her disciple being publicly insulted and beaten up. She was about to open the window and let the disciples use spiritual energy to protect themselves when her hands were caught.

Shi Mei said: "Let them fight."

Mu Yanli replied, "The Tianyin Pavilion has a rule that without an order, cultivators are not allowed to attack the common people. If I don't make a sound and my punches and kicks are merciless, they might be in danger of losing their lives."

Shi Mei calmly said: "Then one will die."

Mu Yanli: "!"

Anger can make people lose their reason, especially when a group of people gathered together to beat up a few people.

Soon, the crowd froze.

They slowly spread out in a small circle. Within the circle was a new disciple who had just entered the Tianyin Pavilion. Mu Yanli couldn't even remember his name. That disciple was lying on the ground, and a puddle of blood gradually spread out from underneath his body.

Shi Mei let go of Mu Yanli's hand and said: "Okay, now we have a reason to crush these ants to death. Let's do it."

It’s an excuse.

As long as an excuse is found, violence and pressure can be easily accomplished.

The door to the Tianyin Pavilion opened, and a large number of disciples quickly came out, each of them holding onto a sword as they rushed towards the common people who had no spiritual energy at all.

The crowd instantly fell into chaos.

They first chased them away, then wielded their swords to kill them. Screams, furious curses, and reprimands intertwined. People dodged, shouted, and frowned. No one dared to turn around and run.

“If you continue to tangle with me, don’t blame the Tianyin Pavilion for being merciless!”

“Since when did the Tianyin Pavilion have any feelings for you?” Suddenly, a shaky voice rang out from the crowd. It was actually the village head of the village, “Today, this old man wants to seek justice for himself. Even if I die here, I won’t have any regrets.”

Ling’er, who was in the village, was even more upset and furious. He stood together with his aunts and uncles in the village and did not retreat. “If you want to kill me, kill me. Today, let us see if you can kill all the people of Shu to block our way!”

The leader of the Tianyin elite gnashed his teeth and said, “A group of vicious and unruly people lined up to seek death.” Seeing the group attack together, the Incantation of Law flashed.

Whoosh! The arrow pierced the ground and burst into golden light! Subsequently, the bright yellow enchantment rose into the air and blocked both sides with a loud bang.

The Tianyin elite bellowed, “Who is it?!”

A white light shot up into the sky. In the blink of an eye, the horned bow pierced through the clouds and the wolf’s howl pierced through the sky! Amidst this astonishing and powerful spiritual force, a heroic and beautiful cultivator leapt down to the ground. She grasped her bow and stood coldly before the common folk of Shu, her entire body wreathed in smoke. And behind her, stood a wolf demon that was as tall as two grown men. It had snow-white fur and golden claws, and its eyes were bloodshot as it ruthlessly exhaled.

The master in question narrowed her eyes. “Ye Wangxi…”

Ye Wangxi raised her hand and put away her bow swiftly. With her other hand, she drew her sword and stood alone in the wind. Her gaze was firm and fierce.

“It’s you again?!” A person from the Tianyin Pavilion recognized her and glowered at her. “You remnant evildoer of the Rufeng sect!”

Ye Wangxi did not utter a word. She took a step forward with her long legs.

“Last time I saw you insisting on sending Mo Ran some water, I knew that something was wrong with you!” The elite of the Tianyin Pavilion said, “You are indeed in cahoots with Mo Ran! They are all villains!”

The long sword was unsheathed, flowing like water.

Ye Wangxi narrowed her eyes and said, “You all know who the true culprit is. However, there is one sentence that everyone has spoken correctly.”

She paused for a moment, then opened her mouth again:

“I am indeed on the side of Mo-zongshi.”

The leader of the soldiers said with a cold sneer, “Ye Wangxi, you, a woman, want to fight against us alone?”

Her eyes flashed with a fiery light, and she suddenly threw the sword in front of her, the valiant spirit had actually managed to directly pierce the long blade that was not a Divine level weapon into the stone floor, creating a long crack on the ground!

She gritted her teeth and said, “I have tolerated you for a long time. Don’t put the word ‘woman’ on your mouth all day!”

“…”

In the past, when all the cultivators had seen Ye Wangxi, she had always been patient and patient, always settling things peacefully.

It was the first time they had seen her in a rage.

“Listen carefully.” She did not back down as she stared at the men, “In the past, the Sisheng Peak had never struck down on our Rufeng sect, and more importantly, they protected the citizens in the sea of fire — even though the Sisheng Peak no longer exists today, I will not let you hurt a single one of them here!”

No one in the Tianyin Pavilion had ever fought face to face with Ye Wangxi, so they did not know her strength. They only felt that she was a little girl crying beside her Young Master. Therefore, some people could not help but sneer, “Little girl, do you know what you are saying?… With just you alone, you want to protect the group of fallen quail behind you? What a big tone you have. Where did you get your skills from?”

“Then open your eyes wide and see if I have the ability to do so!”

The scabbard was thrown to the side, and the blade of the sword was like frost.

Ye Wangxi did not waste her breath on them anymore. With a snap of her fingers, he leapt onto the demon wolf’s back with her long legs. Then, she raised her hand to pull out the sword that had been stabbed into the ground and rushed towards the group of cultivators, whether they were contemptuous or waiting.

Inside the pavilion, Shi Mei looked down at the bustling scene without batting an eyelid. His watery lips moved as he sneered, “Hmph, I thought I’d never see the female war god again in my previous life. I didn’t expect that in the end, she was still forced onto this path.”

“War god?”

Shi Mei didn’t answer, but looked at Ye Wangxi with a hint of pity, “Elder sister, look. In one’s life, there may be many twists and turns. But in the end, the result was the same. What kind of person was she in her previous life? She’s fated never to be able to escape.”

Blood spewed out as the flaming lightning collided. In an instant, the sounds of battle shook the sky. She was actually surrounded by countless blade lights and sword shadows, and the barrier behind her was blocking all the ordinary citizens who could not use spiritual energy.

This woman was dressed in black, and had a slender waist and long legs. When she held the sword, she was Ye Wangxi.

However, Naobaijin coordinated well with her, and the quiver of arrows embroidered by Madam Rong hanged from her waist.

At that moment when she was holding the bow, she was also Nangong Si.

She had experienced much more in this life than she had in her previous life. She had been helpless, lost, and even had such a short time when the clouds opened and the fog cleared.

The evening when Nangong Si had gifted her with the jade pendant, the clouds on the Bridge of Helplessness had been perfect. She thought that she could finally relax her tensed chivalrous bones and return to being that gentle girl who cried and laughed without restraint.

But Nangong Si died.

His death came without warning. Before he left, he even said to Ye Wangxi, who had remained behind to kill the enemy, “I know you’re afraid of the dark. I’ll be back very soon.”

But he never came back.

Therefore, in the end, Ye Wangxi was still the same as her previous life. She had lost her weakness and her armor. As she slowly digested the remaining tenderness, she slowly accepted his solitary self. In her heart, she silently organized two funerals for herself —

Elder Xu died and took away Xiao Yezi. She personally buried her foster father’s cup of wine, peaches and plums in spring breeze.

Nangong Si died and took Miss Ye away. She personally extinguished the torch she had carried for A'Si for ten years.[173]

The War God sealed off the graves of girls and women.

She turned around and walked alone to the front of the Tianyin Pavilion to confront the soldiers.

Shi Mei looked down at the fierce battle and said to Mu Yanli: "Call out all of the high ranking disciples of the Tianyin Pavilion to come out and fight. This woman cannot be left alive."

Mu Yanli was slightly shocked, "All of the high ranking disciples? She… she is just a girl…"

Shi Mei smiled: "This lady has caused Taxian-Jun to suffer a lot in his previous life. If you underestimate her, you'll have to experience how hard her bones are in the future."

The valve opened, and all the high level Tianyin Sect disciples came out. Ye Wangxi kept the barrier open while battling with the crowd.

She was still wearing the royal blue headband from the Rufeng Sect, dodging in and out of the way, her hair ribbon fluttering in the wind. Mu Yanli had sent out a death command, and the Tianyin Sect disciples continued to attack her. Although Ye Wangxi was strong enough to deal with a group of enemies, she did not retreat.

"Add them in." Shi Mei was like a fish watching a fish by the pond. He looked down at the situation below and lightly said, "Anyway, today she delivered herself to my doorstep. I can't let her return alive —"

"A-Nan, look over there!"

Suddenly, Mu Yanli interrupted Shi Mei. Following his gaze, Shi Mei saw a layer of blue and silver smoke rising into the sky.

It was actually the elders at the Sisheng Peak, leading their disciples here!

Due to the protection of Madam Wang, the remaining combat power was still clad in the armor of the Sisheng Peak. Stepping on the dazzling silver sword, it came crashing down from the depths of the clouds, majestically spreading out.

Behind them, over a thousand disciples were glaring at them.

The Xuanji Elder said in a clear voice, “The so-called descendant of a deity in the Tianyin Pavilion is this way to bully the fewer?”

Tanlang, on the other hand, was gloomy and violent. His brown eyes were fixated on the ground. He did not have so many words to say. The five words were succinct and concise. His anger could be clearly seen: “Go to hell!”

“…” Facing the onslaught of such a torrential storm of soldiers, Shi Mei’s face was slightly gloomy. He didn’t know whether to laugh or mock him.

“What a bad fate. In every single war, victory and defeat must first be decided between the ones at Sisheng Peak.” As he spoke, he looked at the surging crowd.

There was no sign of Chu Wanning in the crowd. After the looting of the Tianyin Academy, where did Chu Wanning and Mo Ran go? That Mo Ran had been dug up so many times, he was definitely not going to survive. Then what about Chu Wanning?

Was he staying by the new tomb of Mo Ran, or had he simply died along with Mo Ran, just like he had in his previous life?

Regardless of which possibility it was that had annoyed him, but in Shi Mei's heart, there was a vague sense of unease. He turned and walked back into the house.

"Where are you going?"

"Let's go take a look at the situation with Taxian-Jun. Think of a way to wake him up early. When he wakes up, the Gates of Life and Death will open once more… no one will be able to stop us."

A slender finger caressed the rune of the Tianyin Pavilion as the secret room rumbled open. Shi Mei walked down the long stairs and followed the path engraved with exquisite ancient runes. After passing through three card barriers, he arrived at the deepest part of the stone room.

The ground was covered in ice, and a mist filled the air. A piece of jade was embedded in the greyish green dome, and it was currently flowing with a holy light. Beneath this piece of jade was a crystal coffin that was emitting a cold air. Shi Mei stopped in front of the coffin and lowered his head to look at the man lying inside the coffin.

"Taxian-Jun Emperor Mo Weiyu…" His gaze fell on the light array on the man's chest. "You've slept for a long time. You should get up now, right?"

It was clear that his words did not have much of an effect. Taxian-Jun's eyes were still tightly shut, and his lips were bloodless.

"The flow of spiritual energy is so chaotic." Shi Mei placed his hand on Taxian-Jun's head. After sensing his surroundings carefully, he stared at the handsome face thoughtfully, “Did you have a nightmare?”

Naturally, the person in a daze would not answer him.

His expression was very gentle, as if he was looking at an otherworldly divine weapon that was about to be forged. He said slowly: “Although this is your own Spirit Core, but Spirit Cores are things that are closely related to the heart. When it merges together, it will at least make you feel uncomfortable.”

His voice was bewitched, and he cast a spell of hypnosis.

“Taxian-Jun, no matter what you dream of, don’t believe it. It’s all fake. Come, wake up. Wake up and you can get anything.”

He lowered his body so that it was almost close to his ear. It was extremely coquettish and alluring.

“Shi Mingjing, Chu Wanning, and even your mother will be back soon.”

“Hurry and wake up.” He mumbled to the Emperor in his dream, “I’ll wait for you.”

Ch. 288 [Sisheng Peak] Grandmaster and Emperor

It was a dream.

Taxian-Jun opened his eyes and found himself standing in a vast expanse of land. The clouds were a deep red, and they were so low that they could be easily touched. There were lush reeds all around, floating in the air, and there were people whispering among the reeds, and there were people laughing,

Some people were crying, and those sounds were very soft. It was as if a veil had brushed past the tip of their fingers, and the sounds were like the contact of water.

He walked on, startling the dark blue flurries in the depths of the reeds, and then he saw a great, still river, larger and slower than any great river he had seen before.

On the surface of the river floated a few small boats, and the voice of the ferryman drifted from afar: “I have entered the Thunder Abyss, and my limbs have been turned into paste. My skull falls into the wilderness,

His eyes turned to dust. Eat my heart, Red Ants shine. Peck at my stomach, vulture vast… Only the soul would return… Only the soul will return…”

Only the soul returns, yesterday like flowing water.

He seemed to have been here before. When?

Taxian-Jun looked around. Everything was so familiar, but as he thought about it more carefully, his mind went blank.

“Hey, you.”

Someone suddenly spoke behind him.

He suddenly turned around, but saw nothing other than fireflies.

The voice was very hazy and illusory, “You go ahead, I’ll be right in front.”

Although being pointed out and doing things was very annoying, he still couldn’t resist his curiosity. With a sullen face, he walked towards the depths of the firefly’s dancing reeds.

Soon he saw a dilapidated mill, a small, overgrown yard littered with broken shingles, and in the center of the yard, on a black slab of graphite, sat a man, his back to him, staring up at the sky.

“Who are you?”

When the man heard his voice, he did not turn around immediately. Instead, he sighed. “I might be someone who wants to leave now.”

“Go? Where to?” Before the man could reply, he asked in a slightly anxious tone, “Where is this place?”

“The other side of the soul. Did you see the river?” Riding on a bamboo raft and traveling with the waves, we will head to the Underworld.”

“…”

“You have to wait seven or eight years for your reincarnation. Once you enter the door, there will be a guard whose intestines will leak out of his body, measuring the merits of your entire life. Anyone who has committed a deep sin will be directly escorted to the eighteen levels of the Infernal Realm.” The man’s tone remained gentle and gentle as he spoke of the aftermath of his death, as if he was reliving some past events.

“The first floor is called Nanke Township, where there is a poor scholar who sells paintings, but he is probably not poor now, and I’ve burned a lot of paper money for him since. And there’s also that old man who sells wontons, if we go further in, we’ll encounter a palace that was built by the Fourth King of the Ghost World.

Taxian-Jun interrupted, “What gibberish! What are you trying to say?”

The man was quiet for a moment, then suddenly asked, “Taxian-Jun, are you afraid of death?”

Taxian-Jun laughed coldly, “What’s there to be afraid of?”

“I thought so too.” The man said, “So, I chose to take poison and commit suicide. I used to think I had nothing else to ask of the world, and that I was not afraid of death.”

After a pause, the man lowered his head.

“But I don’t want to go now. He’s still in the world, and I can’t let him go.”

After saying this, the man lightly jumped down from the graphite and circled under the clear moonlight from the dark shadow. The wind blew from the other side of the Soul River. For a moment, the air was misty and and the fireflies gathered and dispersed.

Taxian-Jun’s expression changed slightly: “… It’s you?”

Mo Ran walked toward him. His heart was empty, a black hole leaking air, his face was handsome, his nose was high, and his eyebrows arched. He was almost the same as the first time they met at Mount Jiao. However, this time, he appeared much calmer, and there was no longer the confusion and fear he had at that time.

“Why are you…”

“As you can see, I’m not alive.”

“…”

“But I don’t know why, I seem to be different from the others as well. It's been seven days, but there’s no Black and White Impermanence that can rope me into the Underworld. I’ve been wandering around here.”

Taxian-Jun narrowed his eyes.

“You don’t have to be nervous. With my spirit core in your body, you won’t be able to live any longer.” Mo Ran looked towards the vast Soul River and said softly, “But I don’t want to leave either… I want to go back.”

Hearing what he said, Taxian-Jun was startled at first, and then raised his hand to stroke his chest. After a few moments of silence, suddenly he revealed a twisted slightly hideous smile and said “Your spirit core is with me now? In other words… Hua Binan succeeded? He has done it, and I will soon be free to come and go, and then —”

Before he could finish, he was interrupted by Mo Ran.

Mo Ran turned his head and looked at him indifferently, “Do you know who Hua Binan is?”

“…”

He walked towards Taxian-Jun, and as he got closer, he raised his finger, which was emitting a white light, and gently pointed it between his brows.

“Actually, it is useless to tell you. He’s done something to you here, and he’ll get rid of a lot of things that aren’t good for him manipulating you. However, since you still have a wisp of soul, you should at least remember some of it… Don’t be so mindless and easily manipulated.”

He didn’t know why, but the moment Mo Ran touched him, he suddenly felt an excruciating pain in his skull. It was as if fragments of him were flying past his eyes.

“What are you doing?!”

Mo Ran did not answer. He only cupped his face and looked at him very quietly and somewhat sorrowfully. “If you could only know the truth about everything, that would be great.”

“You…”

“This way, even if I leave, I can feel more at ease.”

Taxian-Jun gritted his teeth and said, “What truth?! What nonsense! Let go of me!” As he spoke, he furiously tried to free himself from the grip of Mo Ran, but all his strength seemed to have gone to waste on the cotton wool, and the spell and the legs passed through the translucent body in front of him.

Mo Ran closed his eyes and sighed softly, “Did you know? I really want you to see what I’ve experienced since my rebirth, and I really want you to have all of my memories.”

“Perhaps it is because I am too stubborn that my soul has not been taken away. That is why I can see you here.”

As he spoke, he leaned forward and pressed his forehead against Taxian-Jun.

“Let’s turn back. Forgive yourself.”

When he heard this line that was very similar to the one Chu Wanning had in his previous life, Taxian-Jun’s entire body shook. However, before he could vent out his anger, a bloody scene flashed before his eyes.

He once again saw the Ghost World’s Heavenly Rift.

During the great calamity that had changed his life, everyone was too busy crying and crying.

Taxian-Jun was floating in the air like a kite. The people below him were all wailing and screaming as blood splattered everywhere. He looked around. Where was Shi Mei? Where is Shi Mei?

He could not find him, he could not find him. His heart was burning with fury — Suddenly, he stopped.

Amidst the smoke, a familiar figure was moving. Taxian-Jun flew over and was surprised to see that it was the him of his youth. Insensible, dying.

What was going on?

As if answering him, Taxian-Jun saw the scene change. Someone was carrying his broken body on their back, crawling through the mountains of corpses and the seas of blood with great difficulty.

Who is it?

Those bloody hands… Whose.

He could no longer crawl, yet he was still unwilling to let go. Who was the person that was dragging him?

Taxian-Jun flew down to the ground and circled around the two men. He stared at the blood-soaked man whose face was hard to discern — in the end, when he saw the man clearly, he felt as though he had been struck by lightning.

“Chu Wanning?”

How was this possible… How is this possible!?

Someone seemed to be angrily howling in his ear. Although the voice was far away, the person’s anger was like a bayonet that pierced the heart. He bellowed, “The stairs are still stained with a trail of blood; that’s the road he took to bring you home.”

“The Discernment Barrier is twinned! Whatever damage you took, he also suffered the same!”

“How can you say that he didn’t save you… How can you say that he didn’t save you…”

His entire body felt cold.

Taxian-Jun opened his eyes all of a sudden, and his eyes were completely red. He stared at Mo Ran, and gritted his teeth as he asked, “What are you showing me? If that was the case… Ridiculous!”

He was filled with rage, but when he looked into his eyes, he suddenly froze.

Mo Ran stared at him. His dark, calm eyes were actually moist. “I’ve tried my best to hand over all my memories to you.”

“Who wants to see what happens between you and him?! Who wants to know what happened after you were reborn! Yet, you betrayed Shi Mei… You are not the same as me at all!” He was almost furious. “Who wants you to act on your own? Get lost!”

The rage of countless people was not stirred in Mo Ran’s eyes.

Mo Ran looked at him with pity in his eyes. He stood in front of Taxian-Jun, and from the corner of his robes, a golden flame suddenly ignited. His ethereal body melted little by little, turning into specks of light.

“Actually, you don’t need to say anything. It’s time for me to leave as well.”

“I gave you all of my memories with my own soul force. This is something that defies the will of the heavens, I don’t know what will happen to me in the end.” At this point, Mo Ran paused, then smiled, “Perhaps I will be tolerated by the Six Paths of Samsara, or maybe I will be directly sentenced to the Infinite Hells.”

“…”

“I’ve thought of the best possibility. Perhaps my soul can follow the spirit core and enter your body together with it.”

He did not care about what he said before, but when he heard this, he suddenly frowned, “Don’t even think about it!”

Mo Ran looked at him with a smile that was not a smile. “Are you afraid?”

“What’s there to be afraid of?” Taxian-Jun had received a great offense. He narrowed his eyes, “But this body belongs to me, don’t even think about seizing the treasure nest!”

“You just don’t want to accept some facts.”

“…”

“You don’t want to accept the truth that I’ve already admitted and you’ve turned a blind eye to.”

“Shut up!”

Mo Ran looked at him calmly as the illusions disappeared faster and faster, instantly reaching his waist and chest… Before he disappeared, he raised his hand to try and touch the hair on the side of Taxian-Jun’s head. However, it was as if Taxian-Jun had been stung by some highly toxic substance, and he took a step back in disgust.

The specks of golden light in his body, like moths drawn to fire, suddenly surged towards the heart of Taxian-Jun. He felt a familiar energy resuscitating within his body, a power that was blazing and fiery, like a river flowing beneath a rock.

The power made him feel warm, but it also made him extremely disgusted.

“Don’t even think about merging with my soul…”

“I don’t want to leave. I will try my best.”

Taxian-Jun went berserk, “Get the hell out of here!”

But Mo Ran just stared at him. “I’m sorry. In the end, I still have to fight with you for this body.”

“…”

“If only your ability had recovered.”

“Mo Weiyu.” The golden flames quickly ignited the tip of his finger, engulfing that young and handsome face. “Don’t be the emperor Taxian-Jun.”

As soon as he finished speaking.

Destroyed like ashes…

At the same time, the secret chamber of the Tianyin Pavilion was instantly illuminated by the blinding golden light. It was as bright as day, causing Shi Mei to be unable to open his eyes for a moment. He suddenly raised his robes to cover his face. Only after a long time did the intense light slowly fade away.

Shi Mei had never been in a situation like this before. He suddenly waved his sleeves and looked inside the ice coffin with a pale face -

And was met suddenly with a pair of dark, purplish eyes.

Taxian-Jun slowly sat up from within the coffin. His face was ice-white, and his lips had not recovered any color. He looked as if he had been carved out of cold jade and formed from dark spring water. Even his black robe that was embroidered with golden threads was suffused with a cold mist. The light that shone on his body also seemed to have frozen over.

Taxian-Jun raised his hand and placed his slender white fingertips on the edge of the coffin. Then, he rolled his eyes and looked at Shi Mei.

“…”

Even though he knew that he was Shi Mei, under such a cold gaze, he couldn’t help but take half a step back.

“You…” With his Adam’s apple bobbing up and down, Shi Mei forced himself to stay calm. “You’re finally awake.”

Taxian-Jun did not answer. His face was extremely sinister, even more so than before.

He was gasping for breath, his back was drenched in cold sweat while Mo-zongshi’s final smile was still flickering in front of his eyes. He closed his eyes, trying to sense if there were any unnecessary three or six souls in his body.

Shi Mei stood at the side and saw the change in the expression on the disciple’s face. He hurriedly placed his hand on the disciple’s forehead and started chanting an incantation to calm the restlessness in the heart of the emperor Taxian-Jun.

“How is it?” After chanting the Soul Suppressing Curse, Shi Mei stared at his face and asked.

Taxian-Jun did not immediately reply. After a long while, he raised his hand and moved his five fingers. The manicured nails were like ice and did not have the slightest hint of blood on them.

He rose from the coffin.

“I seem to have had a very long dream…” Taxian-Jun Lord spoke his first sentence in a hoarse voice.

Shi Mei’s eyes were very wary: “It’s all fake.”

The Emperor’s black robes were like clouds, and the golden threads were like water. He stepped out of the coffin, and his expression was somewhat gloomy. “I think so too.”

He stared at Shi Mei, and Shi Mei stared back at him. After a while, Shi Mei asked in a low voice: “Do you still remember who you are?”

“…”

There was a moment of silence.

The cold and handsome man seemed to chuckle, and his thin lips parted: “Why don’t you remember? Immortal Taxian-Jun, Mo Ran.”

He paused for a moment, lowered the curtain of his eyelashes, and made a lazy bow to the extremely strict Shi Mei. “I am willing to serve master.”

A hint of ecstasy flashed through Shi Mei’s eyes, but he still didn’t dare relax. He took out a crystal from his Qiankun bag. That thing was shining with a green luster and had a strange appearance. It was the strongest crystal used to test a cultivator’s spiritual energy.

His Adam’s apple bobbed up and down in anticipation as he walked over and handed the crystal to Taxian-Jun.

“Can you light it up?”

"…" Taxian-Jun's eyes roamed about. He glanced at the rock coldly, then said slowly, "How hard is that?" As the sound of his voice faded, he clenched his fists tightly as the meridians in his hands bulged.

In just an instant, the most powerful spirit power in the world poured into it. Not only did the crystal instantly shine, there were even cracks appearing on its surface.

Shi Mei held his breath as he stared at the stone, his eyes unmoving for a moment.

Suddenly, with a crisp "pa" sound, the stone exploded between the pale and narrow fingers of Taxian-Jun stage cultivator, and was then blasted into smithereens by the fierce spiritual energy.

Ash!

"What is this?" Taxian-Jun, however, casually flicked out a pinch of powder and sneered coldly, "I'm not playing around."

Shi Mei suddenly relaxed. He took a few steps back and sat down on a stone chair.

This… It was the strongest battle force in the world… Did it finally belong to him now?

Shi Mei couldn't help but tremble violently. The dim light in the stone room shone on his face. Was he in ecstasy? Or was it relief? The light was wobbly and not very clear, even eerie.

After a long while, he saw Shi Mei bury his face into his hands, and mutter under his breath: "Mother, did you see that? I did it."

He suddenly turned crazy, he got up and looked at the empty walls, then towards the stone room where no one else was, he shouted with all his might, “Did you see that? Almost! Did you all see that?”

No one answered him. He began to laugh loudly in this empty secret room. Tears began to flow from his eyes as he laughed — it was a drop of golden tears.

It was exactly the same as the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Song Qiutong.

Ch. 289 [Sisheng Peak] Visiting the Old Half as a Ghost

The nightmare of the cultivation world had become even more insolent in the recent days. Zhenlong Chess spread like a plague through the world. The person behind the scenes was like a lunatic, not fussing over the host's identity at all. Be it an old man or a young child, they were all in the books.

No one could guess what he was trying to do by spreading the net so wide.

Someone mourned for help from the Tianyin Pavilion, but the Pavilion master suddenly declared that she would not be able to leave. Even if someone fled to starve to death in front of the pavilion, the door would not open. Gradually, these people understood with great unwillingness — perhaps from the beginning…

They were wrong.

But it was too late. Mo-zongshi was dead, Chu Wanning's whereabouts were unknown, and the Sisheng Peak was destroyed. The various sects were busy with their own affairs, and more and more Zhenlong Chess pieces that had lost their consciousness wandered around the mortal world, killing and arson.

It had already spread throughout the cultivation world at an alarming rate.

Jiang Du, Yang Zhou, Shi Zhong, Lei Zhou… The sculptures and paintings of the buildings and the snow on the deck all emitted a dull lament under the scorching and scorching flames. The walls collapsed and the countless wind and moon were solemnly blown away under the tribulation of these flames.

On the Star Observation Platform of the Tianyin Pavilion, Shi Mei was staring at the chaos near the mountains and rivers. He stood alone for a while before the faint sound of footsteps came from behind him.

The woman's silk shoes stepped on the thin snow and covered it with his hands.

"What about Taxian-Jun?"

"He left this morning."

"… You've sent him to do it? Why are you so fast?"

"There is nothing to wait for. I have already done all the preparations that I needed to do. It depends on him."

After saying this sentence, after a long while, he opened his mouth again. His usually calm voice had a slight tremble to it.

"Elder sister." He whispered to Mu Yanli, "After so many years, after two lifetimes, I finally managed to do it…"

Mu Yanli turned her head to the side, and saw that his peach blossom eyes were glistening with moisture. He seemed extremely excited, but also extremely aggrieved.

The man closed his eyes and trembled uncontrollably. "Let's go."

He said in a low voice, "The Portal is about to open. We'll take all the pieces we made and send them over there."

"All the chess pieces?"

"All of them."

“But so many people…” Mu Yanli’s face was a bit pale, but when she saw the pained and excited expression on Shi Mei’s face, she still firmly said, “… Good. I understand.”

She turned around and left. Just as she was about to step off the edge of the Star Observation Platform, Shi Mei suddenly called out to her.

“Wait!”

She turned her head and saw that Shi Mei had turned sideways under the dim yellow sky. The strong wind was blowing against his cloak. He looked at Mu Yanli as if he wanted to say something, but his eyes were red and he did not.

Mu Yanli looked at him for a while and then she said, “Don’t worry. Even if it’s cruel, I won’t betray you.”

Shi Mei suddenly closed his eyes. It seemed that he was always so sensitive and weak in critical moments.

His voice trembled slightly. “I have betrayed myself in this life…”

“He didn’t betray you. He betrayed the entire clan, all of us. His hands are bloodless— but he has condemned us to hell ever since.”

“…”

“I understand your helplessness. No matter what people say about you in this world,” said Mu Yanli to Shi Mingjing. “In the clan of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty, you are a well-deserved hero.”

He left.

Shi Mei watched as her back gradually disappeared into the distance. Then, he turned around and placed his bony hand on the jade ornament. The cold feeling spread to his heart.

“Hero?” Shi Mei raised his head and looked at the dark clouds in the sky. After a long sigh, he said, “It’s impossible for me to become one. There’s no hero that carries such a heavy burden on their life.”

There seemed to be a moment of disappointment in his eyes, before it turned into ice.

“I, Hua Binan, have spent two lifetimes in this struggle against heaven and earth. I do not believe that the heavens cannot be changed — now that the Gate of Life and Death, the most Zhenlong Chess pieces, these forbidden techniques are all in my hands, I would like to see who in this world can stop me.”

His knuckles were the color of jade.

“Forget about heroes. I just want a way out.”

His words scattered into the wind.

“For us.”

In the vast Snow Region of Mount Kunlun, a black silhouette swiftly swept past.

The wind was blowing like a knife across his cheek, but he could not seem to feel the cold in his narrowed, purplish eyes.

He was flying like a hawk over a cliff. Jumping on top of the jumbo, light footstep, quick and agile. There were so many patrolling experts in the Taxue Palace on Mount Kunlun that no one noticed his arrival. The snow that he walked on didn't have a single trace.

Very quickly, this man arrived at the highest point of the Taxue Palace. From here, he could see the snow-covered Heaven Lake. It was misty and tranquil, filled with mist.

The lightning fast black figure stopped.

The man stood at the summit of Mount Kunlun, straight as a bayonet, his dark eyes fixed on the surface of the lake. The wind picked up, blowing away his cloak, revealing a handsome face that was pale and devoid of blood.

It was Taxian-Jun.

After going through the second tempering, he now had Mo-zongshi's spiritual core, and had regained his strength as strong as it was in the past and will no longer disobey the orders of the "master".

He finally became the killing blade and spiritual energy source that made Shi Mei completely satisfied.

However, ever since the Tianyin Pavilion awakened, Taxian-Jun's mind would be filled with scattered fragments — previously, he had always thought that he hated Chu Wanning, that he loved Shi Mei and that his feelings for him were related to these two.

However, he vaguely felt that something was wrong.

Recently, he would often hear a vague voice and see some vague images.

He saw Chu Wanning carefully wrapping the wontons in Mengpo Hall and heard himself say to Chu Wanning, “Shizun, let’s start over again, okay? Don’t you worry about me. Okay…”

He saw a crescent moon hanging over the sea cliff, shining only on the two of them. He held Chu Wanning’s hand tightly while Chu Wanning kept his head down. His usually fierce eyes were moist and red. He heard Chu Wanning say to him, “I’m not good. I’ve never been loved by anyone before…”

He saw him and Chu Wanning sleeping on the bed of the inn. The weather outside was heavy, and it had nothing to do with them.

He saw Chu Wanning lift up the curtain of his eyelashes and look at him —

Suddenly, his heart palpitated.

Taxian-Jun suddenly opened his eyes.

What are these?

He saw Chu Wanning looking at him so gently, the kind of look in his eyes that never came back after he had tortured him with an aphrodisiac, humiliated and imprisoned him.

Taxian-Jun felt his head hurt. He raised his hand, and the light of day shone upon the cold spikes on his wrists. He rubbed his forehead and cursed softly, “What nonsense is this?”

He stood on the roof for a moment, stunned. It was snowing heavily in Kunlun, and soon, it was covered in frost. He was slightly surprised, because deep in his heart, he felt that this was also good. It was like a good dream, and yet he felt at peace because of the gentle gaze Chu Wanning gave him.

"… This Venerable one has gone crazy."

He blinked his eyes, pushed these ridiculous thoughts to the back of his mind, and moved on.

Shi Mei's order was for him to go to Kunlun, where the spirit energy was most concentrated, and completely open the gate to his previous life. So he should go north. However, when he saw the heavenly lake, he couldn't help but circle around it.

That was the place where he would forever lose Chu Wanning.

Taxian-Jun stood in place for a while, but in the end, he couldn't help but walk in that direction in a daze. However, just as he was passing by a nearby veranda, he suddenly heard a familiar voice.

"Father… Mother…"

This voice was very familiar. He suddenly stopped in his tracks and hid himself in the shadows, revealing a pair of pitch black eyes as he looked down.

Then he saw it clearly and couldn't help but sneer. "I was wondering who it was. So it was you."

In that courtyard, there was only Xue Meng. Xue Meng was holding a jug of wine as he leaned against the table. He was already drunk.

"This time, your parents weren't killed by me." Taxian-Jun enjoyed Xue Meng's drunken state with great interest as he stroked his chin. "But when you are sad, I am very happy. I haven't forgotten who made a hole in my chest earlier."

"How is it? Isn't the feeling of heartache great?"

The courtyard was quiet, and no one else was present.

Taxian-Jun stared down at the ground for a while. Suddenly, he made up his mind. With a flash of his black shadow, he arrived in front of Xue Meng.

The drunk phoenix did not notice his arrival and continued to caress the pot of wine, wanting to drink the nectar within it again.

Suddenly, a cold hand reached out and grabbed the red clay teapot, stopping his movements.

"You… Who…?"

"Guess."

Xue Meng forced open one of his eyes that was swollen from crying and sleepily looked up along that hand. His handsome face was filled with mockery.

Taxian-Jun had never seen Xue Meng in such a depressed state. Although he was convinced that Xue Meng in his previous life also secretly collapsed many times behind him, this was the first time he had seen it with his own eyes. He licked his lips and felt very excited.

He bent over and stared at Xue Meng as if he was staring at a prey. "Interesting. It turns out that the disciple that Chu Wanning was most proud of would get drunk and turn into a pile of mud."

As he spoke, he sat diagonally on the edge of the stone table and then raised Xue Meng's chin.

"It's been a long time since I've seen you when you were young. After staying in the mortal world for so long, I have almost forgotten what kind of domineering face you had when you were a youth."

His fingertips gently caressed it.

He brushed his cheeks, the bridge of his nose, and the space between his eyebrows, then poked his forehead in a manner that was neither light nor heavy.

"Xue Meng, do you know? There is one thing that I am actually quite regretful about." He looked at Xue Meng's startled eyes, and gradually revealed a smile that would cause chills, "In my previous life, I was kind enough to let you live, but you wanted to kill me instead. Sometimes I think. Shouldn't I have killed you in the first place?"

"Humans are supposed to be comfortable living, but those who die might not be in pain." Taxian-Jun's voice was low and gloomy. "Xue Meng, do you want to accompany your parents?"

As he spoke, he bent down.

His cold breath brushed against Xue Meng's cheek, and his two cold fingers even touched the artery on the side of Xue Meng's neck— All this time, he had been staring into Xue Meng's eyes.

He looked at his reflection in those hazy, teary eyes, like a ghost that had descended into the world.

“In truth, everyone living in this world will die in the end. You and I are brothers for half our lives, after all. Since I met you here, why don’t I send you off first to help you escape.”

He exerted force with his fingers and was about to kill.

“Brother…”

Suddenly, a whisper, like a sprout breaking through the earth, could be heard.

Taxian-Jun was startled.

As Xue Meng looked at him, he seemed to be able to distinguish the appearance of the person in front of him amidst his drunkenness. His teary clothes made him stagger to his feet as he choked with sobs.

“Brother…”, he called to him.

He only knew that the person in front of him was Mo Ran, his elder brother, that his family, that his most carefree days of youth, had finally returned.

This time, Taxian-Jun heard it clearly, and he was sure that he didn’t hear wrongly. Thus, he was somewhat astonished, and his face unexpectedly did not know what sort of expression to wear.

The brain was in chaos again.

In a blur, an image flashed past Taxian-Jun through his eyes. He saw himself and Xue Meng sitting in the Red Lotus Pavilion, brewing tea and brewing wine. Under the moonlight, they clinked cups.

…Was this what that Mo-zongshi did again?

“Brother.” At first, he was still trying his best to hold back his sobs, but in the end, he sobbed and choked on his words, which eventually turned into a wail of grief, “Don’t go… Don’t leave me behind…”

After a while, he seemed to have thought of something else, and his entire body suddenly started to tremble. His lips were green and white, “Don’t kill my father, don’t force them… I was the one who killed those people. Don’t hurt my parents, just come at me…” Large teardrops rolled down, dampening Taxian-Jun’s chest, “Don’t… Don’t dig out my brother’s heart…”

Amidst this heaving sob, Taxian-Jun slowly lowered his hand. He stood there stiffly for a moment, wanting to push Xue Meng away. But Xue Meng held him so tightly that his hands and feet were full of blood.

Gradually, the area closest to his heart was soaked with tears.

In the end, Taxian-Jun ran like the wind and dashed up the roof rafters. He lowered his body on the porch and looked at Xue Meng, who was hugging his knees and crying in the snow.

The Xue Meng in his memory had always been fierce, arrogant, aggressive, sharp, and harsh. However, the child that was left in the snow and wind was the one who could no longer find his brother.

He looked at Xue Meng standing there, crying for a very long time. Afterwards, Xue Meng stood up, either because he had woken up from his drinking or because he was tired from crying. He stood blankly in the courtyard for a while, then carried the wine jug towards the depths of the Plum Blossom. The young man walked aimlessly, his mind in a trance, slowly walking away —

Taxian-Jun looked at the snowy ground. There were two lines of twisted footprints, but he no longer turned his head back. He continued to travel deeper into the snowstorm until he could no longer see Xue Meng's back.

In the wind, there was a sudden and powerful singing. It was a short song Xue Zhengyong had sung before he died. Now, it flowed out of Xue Meng's throat and echoed through the Taxue Palace in Mount Kunlun.

"I pay my respects to an old friend like a ghost. Only in this drunken state do I have a chance to get along with each other." A voice rang out. It was still young, but it had already become ancient. "Under the main horn of the mountain, it has already decayed."

The snow had dyed the young man's black hair.

That hoarse voice, mixed with the sound of the wind and snow, was filled with desolation.

"Heaven's Light Dream shatters everything in the distance…" It was getting further and further away. Or perhaps it was not Xue Meng who had walked far away, but the young man finally sobbed, each word choked with sobs. "Abandon my old body."

Give up my old body.

He was only twenty-two years old, but only in his drunken dreams could he see his old friends laughing and seeing each other again. He was only in his prime, but he could only see a pot of Du Kang, Gao Tang's love, and two or three old friends.

Xue Meng raised his head, as if he was trying to hold back the tears in the corner of his eyes. However, he did not know whether he had held back.

The snowstorm had already blinded him.

He closed his eyes and let out a long howl, trying to stop Xingyun. It was as if he was kowtowing to the heavens and crying out to the earth.

“We are willing to extend our lifespan to Duke Zhou. Let him carry the wine, and we will return it!”

As the clouds gathered, he dropped the wine jar in his hand.

Spreading his hands, Xue Meng fell straight into the snow. He didn’t want to go any further. What was in front of him? Everywhere was a world of ice and snow. There were no more familiar figures, no more homes.

Even though he had dreamt of Mo Ran just now, it was all fake. It was all just a reflection of the moon in the water, fading away in the blink of an eye.

Xue Meng lay in the snow. After a while, he raised his hand and covered his eyes.

His thin, blood-red lips slightly parted as hot tears flowed down his cheeks.

“Why did you all leave? Leave me alone.”

Xue Meng suddenly choked and lost his tone.

“Why is that… Why did you leave me alone…”

In fact, he had lived two lifetimes, and in the end, he was the only one left.

Taxian-Jun listened to the lingering sound of the howling wind as it swallowed him up. He looked towards the direction where Xue Meng had disappeared to. He stood there motionlessly on the roof while the wind blew against his cloak, fluttering it. He raised his hand and touched his chest, not knowing what to feel.

I worship half of my old friend as a ghost.

This was true for Xue Meng, but it was also true for Taxian-Jun?

In his previous life, Wu Shan Hall was completely empty. In the end, he was the only one left, and no one else was present. He did not know where the incense burner in his room had once been, nor did he wear the clothes he had worn as a teenager. Sometimes he would blurt out a joke when he was trying to study, but everyone around him was respectful and tense.

No one knew what he was talking about, no one understood him.

Those who knew him were either in the underworld or at the ends of the earth.

Taxian-Jun slowly came to the edge of the celestial pond. The weather was bad, the distant fog was thick, and the snow seeds on the pond were flowing rapidly. He stood there without a sound, like a heartless, unfeeling statue of wood.

He allowed the frost to cover him.

“Chu Wanning…” He sighed softly, “If only…”

What if it was back then?

He did not continue. His eyelashes were folded and his eyes were closed.

In the past, there had never been anything like this. If he was the Immortal Emperor, then no one in the cultivation world would have been able to compare to him. He did not know what regret was, what turning back was.

What happened happened.

He did not regret it, and he did not admit defeat.

Even if it was a mess of flesh and blood, even if he had to abandon the traitors, this was the path he had chosen. Even if it was filled with thorns, he would still force himself to continue walking.

However, in the vast sky, in the middle of the snowy sky, in a place that no one would ever be able to see or know about. After standing there with his hands behind his back for a long time, he finally did something unexpected — he knelt down.

At the place where Chu Wanning died in battle, he kowtowed for a long time.

He bowed.

Second bow.

He kowtowed three times.

Taxian-Jun raised his head. Under his hat, his eyelashes were frosted over, and his expression was solemn. No one knew what he was thinking about. He then stood up, as if he had fulfilled a wish he had for many years. Without a word, he moved his cloak and robe, heading towards the most abundant spiritual energy in Mount Kunlun.

Since the Emperor was out, no one in the world could stop him. Shi Mingjing had chosen the right one. He possessed the strongest and most powerful spirit energy in the world and a formidable cultivation base that was unrivaled.

The Gates of Life and Death were about to open.

Ch. 290 [Sisheng Peak] Hanmei and Tisheng

Xue Meng lay on the ground. When he was drunk, he was confused and completely unaware that he had just met the greatest devil in the world. He was still lying on his back in the snow. The snow on the peak of Mount Kunlun was still drifting down, like the willow leaves on a spring day.

The autumn reeds covered him.

After an unknown amount of time had passed, someone approached from within the snow, holding a bright red paper umbrella. Xue Meng squinted his eyes, and then he saw a clear and cold face.

“Mei…”

Xue Meng mumbled the two words “Hanxue”. He was too tired.

“Mm, it’s me.” Mei Hanxue didn’t say much and helped him up from the ground.

Xue Meng lay on Mei Hanxue’s shoulder, but he did not leave. Instead, he asked, “Do you have any wine?”

Mei Hanxue said, “No.”

Xue Meng acted as if he didn’t hear anything. “Okay, okay, okay. Then why don’t you have a drink with me?”

“… Nope.”

Xue Meng was silent for a moment, then laughed. “Look at you, you dog. I didn’t drink it before, but now that I’ve drunk it, you tell me that I haven’t. Are you messing with me?”

“I don’t like alcohol.”

Xue Meng muttered a few more sentences. It sounded as if he was cursing someone. Then he pushed away Mei Hanxue and walked into the snow. Mei Hanxue was holding onto an umbrella as he looked at his slightly hunched back.

Instead of chasing after him, he asked, “Where are you going?”

He did not know where he was going. He only hated the fact that he had not drunk enough wine to kill himself.

Mei Hanxue replied: “There is no way back.”

Xue Meng suddenly stopped moving and stood there blankly. After a while, he suddenly burst into tears, “I just fucking want a drink! You won’t even let me drink it! If you don’t drink, then don’t drink, and you lied and said you don’t drink! Are you even human?!”

“… I didn’t lie to you.”

Xue Meng did not take it in at all as he wailed, “Are you guys human?”

“…”

“I’m not feeling good, can’t you see that?!”

Mei Hanxue said, “Yes.”

Xue Meng stared blankly for a moment, and then felt even more wronged. Even the tip of his nose had turned red. “Fine, fine, fine. Even if you can tell, you won’t drink with me. Are you afraid that I will drink you for nothing and won't give you money? I’m not that poor…”

He went to his pocket and actually mumbled something. He took out a pile of broken coins and counted them back and forth a few times.

Mei Hanxue stroked his forehead, his head obviously hurting. “Xue Meng, you’re drunk. You should rest first.”

Before Xue Meng could reply, the sound of rustling footsteps came from behind him.

Another gentle voice sounded out, “Big brother, why are you arguing with a drunk person?”

With that, a hand with a silk sheath reached out, carrying a sheepskin bag, and a silver bell on his wrist. Mei Hanxue glanced back.

Behind him stood a man who looked exactly the same as him. However, the smile on his face was deep, and his expression was extremely gentle.

“Actually, there are only two ways to deal with drunkards.” The man grinned. “Concuss him or knock him out.”

Mei Hanxue: “…”

As the man spoke, he winked at Mei Hanxue and said, “I know you don’t drink. You can go back, and I’ll drink with him.”

Light green smoke curled up into the air. It was graceful, graceful, and full of love. However, the smoke was everywhere else.

Taxue Palace’s Eldest Senior Brother’s room was filled with the rich, expensive fragrance of ambergris. This place was covered with a white, fluffy carpet, and every step of the way, one of the steps went straight up to one’s ankles.

Mei Hanxue was sitting on the white carpet with his bare feet and his head in his hands. His toes casually rubbed against each other as his jade-like eyes stared at Xue Meng, who was sitting cross-legged in front of him and gulping down the wine.

After thirty minutes of drinking, Mei Hanxue smiled and asked, “Hey, Ziming, aren’t you surprised?”

“Surprised about what?”

“There are two of us.”

Xue Meng, “… Oh.”

Mei Hanxue shook his head. “I forgot that your alcohol tolerance is very low. After you get drunk, your brain is probably different from an ordinary person’s, so there’s nothing surprising about you.”

Xue Meng, “Hmph.”.

“I don’t know if you’ve noticed, but that day at the Sisheng Peak, the person who helped you block the sword was my big brother.”

“I can’t remember.”

Mei Hanxue said, “You’ve seen his weapon, Shuofeng. A sword made of silver black iron.”

Xue Meng frowned and thought hard. But on that day in the Great Hall, the person who held me back was very ugly. The weapon wasn’t silver, either. “It’s…”

“It’s blue. Because he was angry that day, and he was very anxious, so he put the elixir into it. He doesn’t usually pay attention to his spirit, but my brother doesn’t really like to be cruel.”

“…”

“We actually know how to use that sword differently. I’m a Wood, Water, Spirit Core, and he’s a Water, Fire, and Spirit Core.” When the time comes, you will see three types of spirit currents, green, red and blue, but…”

He did not continue, because Xue Meng did not seem too interested in this matter. After hearing half of it, Xue Meng began to drink his wine, his expression indifferent.

Mei Hanxue narrowed his eyes.

He suddenly felt that Xue Meng’s appearance was not like his usual domineering attitude, but instead carried a trace of coldness. This coldness made Xue Meng not like himself, but rather like another person.

But who?

Mei Hanxue did not think about it for a while, and he was too lazy to think about it. His work had always been done in the same way that the Brainless Golden Beast breathed out, lazily drifting about wherever it went, seemingly without any bones.

Xue Meng drank another bag of sheepskin and then asked Mei Hanxue, “Do you have any more of this wine?”

“Yes, but you’ve already drunk too much. You can’t ask for more.”

Xue Meng said, “I’m not drunk from a thousand cups.”

“Are you sick?” However, he still handed the wine to him, and said warmly before he left, “This is the last pot. If I give it to you again, and if my brother finds about it, he'll cut me alive.”

Xue Meng slowly drank his wine, his expression very cold.

He was not like Xue Meng.

While drinking, Xue Meng suddenly whispered, “You have a brother.”

“Ah!” Mei Hanxue laughed. “I've been talking about him for a long time now and you only now acknowledged it.”

Xue Meng’s eyes were a little unfocused. His eyelashes were long like a butterfly resting on the ground. He then muttered, “I also have a brother.”

“Yeah, I know.”

Leaning against the beam column, Xue Meng crossed his legs. After sitting for a long time, he felt a little numb. He stretched out one of his legs and stared at Mei Hanxue for a while.

Suddenly, the ice-cold expression on his face disappeared and was replaced by a dazzling brilliance. However, under this radiance, Xue Meng still did not seem like Xue Meng.

He smiled and asked, “Hey, how does your brother treat you?”

Mei Hanxue was surprised by his sudden change in attitude. Was this man drunk like this? But he still said, “… It’s pretty good.”

“Ha ha-ha, you sure are gentle with your words. What kind of good method do you have? Would he forge a weapon for you, or would he cook you a bowl of noodles when you were sick?”

Mei Hanxue smiled. “Neither, but he will help me block the women.”

Xue Meng, “…”

“I don’t really like watching old lovers cry. The things he can’t handle are things he do for me. He did a lot more than I did. He had no feelings, and he didn’t drag his feet. But he just doesn’t have much fun, so he’s too old to even hold a girl’s hand.”

Xue Meng wrinkled his nose. “What’s your brother’s name?”

“Méi Hánxuě.”[174]

“Like you?”

“The words are different.” He smiled. “He is a cold man. He deserves his reputation.”

Xue Meng mumbled, “Why did you do this…”

Mei Hanxue replied, “It’s convenient to do things. For some things, it’s not strange for two people to do it. However, if others think that it was done by one person, then they would feel that it’s very mysterious. The Palace Master intentionally allowed us to do so, so she has been bringing me and Big Brother since we were young.”

As he spoke, he opened the lid of the smoker, picked up the silver spoon and began to fiddle with the remaining embers inside. He then poured in some spices which were able to calm the mind and dispel the cold. His voice was very soft.

“He and I have been carrying human skin masks with us. When he puts them on, I will show them my true appearance. When I put them on, he will act as his real self, and in a flash, more than twenty years has gone just like this.”

“Aren’t you all tired?”

“I’m not tired. It’s pretty fun.” Mei Hanxue smiled. “But my brother must be tired. He always says that I owe too much debt outside that he even walks around those female cultivators.”

Xue Meng had never experienced the feeling of being surrounded by female cultivators. In fact, he felt that he was about the same age as Méi Hánxuě. He had not even touched a woman’s hand before.

However, there was nothing to show off about this sort of thing. He drank dryly, silently, without a word.

Mei Hanxue had thought that he was drunk and that his brain was abnormal. But unexpectedly at this time, Xue Meng suddenly asked him, “Why did you save me?”

The tone changed again, this time very gently.

This kind of gentleness appeared on Xue Meng’s face in a way that was far too out of place. It was even more piercing than his previous brilliance.

Mei Hanxue finally could not stand it any longer. He sat up and raised his hand that was tied to the silver bell. He turned Xue Meng’s chin left and right as he looked, saying, “Strange, it’s you. But what’s different? What’s going on?”

Xue Meng did not struggle at all and allowed him to pull and analyze. His pair of black eyes quietly looked at Mei Hanxue, and after a while, he asked, “Why are you helping the Sisheng Peak? Do I know you well?”

“Not really. I played with you when I was little, but one day it was me and one day it was my brother who played with you. In fact, I’ve only been with you for about ten days.”

“Then why are you willing to take me in?”

Mei Hanxue sighed. He extended a slender finger and poked Xue Meng’s forehead, “Your mother and father saved my mother’s life before. She’s from Shattered Leaf City, and Shattered Leaf has a lot of evil spirits. “After she gave birth to us brothers, she sent us to the Taxue Palace on Mount Kunlun. Afterwards, there was chaos in the city and heavy casualties. She managed to escape but was heavily injured.”

The new spice has a sharp scent of cedar.

Mei Hanxue smiled. “After a long and arduous journey, she didn’t have any money left. By the time she reached the foot of Mount Kunlun, she was already dying.”

His expression was still very gentle, and between his forehead, there were red droplets of water that were shining.

“At that time, it was Uncle Xue and Aunt Wang’s first visit to the Taxue Palace on Mount Kunlun. They saw my dying mother, but they did not ask about her background, did not accept her money, and took the best medicines to treat her. After finding out that she was here to search for her son, they even carried her on their backs to Mount Kunlun.”

Xue Meng was speechless for a moment as he blankly listened.

After a long while, he asked, “Then what happened to your mother?”

“She was too sick.” Mei Hanxue shook his head, “There’s no way to get back from that injury, so she died. But thanks to Uncle and Aunt, we’ve seen her for the last time.”

Outside, a little wind blew in. The smoke in the room dispersed, and the wind chimed in from the corner of the eaves.

It was like the sound of water.

“All these years, my aunt and uncle have always said that there is no need to say anything. It was just a simple gesture. In the end, they even forgot about it themselves, but my brother and I still remember it.” Mei Hanxue raised his jade eyes and looked at him peacefully.

Too much time had passed, and when he talked about it, the pain was invisible, only gentleness.

“That day, it was Uncle Xue who carried my mother on his back, while Aunt Wang held an umbrella by his side. They were afraid that my mother would suffer from another cold. The first thing my aunt and uncle said after entering the hall was not to do business at the Sisheng Peak or to form an alliance or make friends with the Taxue Palace. They asked if there was a pair of twins from Shattered Leaf City.”

Her light golden eyelashes drooped down, covering the clear pool of water.

“To be honest, that is the most outstanding Sect Leader and Lady Sect Leader that I have ever seen in my entire life.”

Xue Meng choked with sobs. “My parents…”

Mei Hanxue answered, “Yes, your parents.”

Xue Meng buried his face into his palm. His shoulders trembled slightly. He was crying again. It seemed that the tears in his life were about to run out in these few months of collapse.

He cried. He finally turned back into Xue Meng’s appearance.

At this moment, Mei Hanxue suddenly remembered.

Just now, he had coldly said, “I’m not drunk.” That was Chu Wanning.

He brightly asked, “Do you have a brother too?” It was Mo Weiyu.

He said softly, “Why did you save me?” It was Shi Mingjing.

He was trying, clumsily, to remember their faces, their bits and pieces, their glances, their smiles, their sitting or standing, their anger or annoyance.

In the past, he was used to having Chu Wanning’s cold stubbornness, Mo Weiyu’s scorching heat, and Shi Mingjing’s gentleness. In the past, he had a Shizun, a cousin, and even a close friend.

Suddenly, a night of rain and duckweed. Mountains and rivers shattered and the wind blew.

The rain had stopped and he was alone.

They all disappeared.

Xue Meng alone drank a jug of turbid wine. After that, he became three people by himself.

He cried, laughed, cold, hot, and gentle, and he liked them, respectfully, definitely, awkwardly.

He thought that perhaps he didn't express it well. His love for his Shizun always seemed to be very dull. His fondness for his cousin was always sharp. His love for Shi Mei was always very indifferent.

After he finished drinking, Xue Meng slowly curled himself up. He had shrunk to such a small size, and his eyes were red.

He said, "It's my fault. What I did was wrong…"

Come back.

I am no longer arrogant, no longer arrogant, no longer hesitant, no longer indifferent.

Xue Meng sobbed, his forehead pressed against his knees as his entire body trembled. As he sobbed, he said, "Come back… Don't leave me alone."

If he could return to his old friend, if he could start all over again. He did not want the reputation of a proud son of heaven, nor did he want the dignity of a Young Master of Sisheng Peak.

He just wanted to tell them directly and passionately…

I really, really love you, can't do without you, all your life have to do with you.

He was willing to use his spirit core, and he was willing to pay a thousand gold coins.

He is willing to give it all. To see the deceased gather again and look at them greedily, even if it's for a while.

Mei Hanxue sighed as he saw him grieve. He raised his hand and touched his ears. He was about to say something when he heard a muffled sound. It was like thunder had crashed through heavy clouds and the earth was shaking.

The tremors continued for a while, as if there was a giant beast awakening in the depths of the snowy plains. It was as if it could release its breath at any time and swallow the sun and the moon.

Mei Hanxue knew that something was wrong. He settled down Xue Meng and was about to go out when he saw his brother holding his sword, pushing aside the veil and striding in.

The eldest brother’s expression was solemn and extremely gloomy as he said, “Immediately go to the main hall.”

Mei Hanxue was stunned: “What’s wrong? What was that movement just now?”

His elder brother, who was usually cold, pursed his lips and said, “A huge mysterious formation has appeared in the northeast. I’m afraid Mo-zongshi is right. The Gate of Life and Death is about to open.”

Ch. 291 [Sisheng Peak] The End of Two Generations

Taxian-Jun stood at a height of tens of thousands of people in the sky. His black robe fluttered like ink.

He narrowed his eyes, his sleeves flapping wildly. The spiritual power in his palm was like a dragon swallowing the sun, tearing apart the cold mist and the invisible time and space.

“Boom!”

Suddenly a thunderous sound echoed out as the bolt of lightning shattered the sky in an instant!

After a few breaths of dead silence, the heavenly lake’s water crazily poured, the snow in Mount Kunlun angrily surged, the yellow clouds rolled up the ground, and a cold wind blew all over the sky… Once, when Chu Wanning came to this world, he only tore apart a small mark.

Later on, Shi Mei spent a lot of effort to repair that trace and also came to this world.

But those two space and time cracks were only minor injuries. They would very soon be restored to their original state by the power of grandmist. Even later, on top of the Mount Jiao, Xu Shuanglin had used the five godly weapons to open up a Great Heavenly Rift.

That would only temporarily break the barrier between them.

But this time, the cracks that Mo Ran had personally torn open were completely different from the previous ones. The sky was suddenly suffused with a scarlet color. At the same time, two suns and two moons rose up, emitting a weak glow as they hung high above the dome.

From the south of the river to the north of the desert, from the tip of the sea to the horizon. For a moment, almost everyone stopped what they were doing, raising their heads to look at this bizarre and terrifying constellation.

Wuchang Town. His mother hugged him tightly. The mother kissed his face and whispered, “Stop crying, stop crying. Baby is good. Mother is here. Mother is here.”

Yang Zhou city. An old woman with a head full of hair was leaning on her walking stick with a hunched body and a hoarse voice, “This… Why were there two moons and two suns in the sky… Heavens, oh heavens, just what exactly is happening…”

Flying Flower Island. Third Madam Sun raised her thick eyebrows and stood on the shore with her hands on her hips. She sternly ordered everyone to turn off the lights and hide inside the house. She also ordered the servants to bring all the homeless people from the island to the mansion.

She stared at the vision in the sky, her eyes ablaze.

Not to mention the great sects like Guyue’ye, Fire Phoenix Pavilion, and Wu Sang Temple, regardless of whether they were willing to accept it or not, almost all cultivators clearly understood one thing at this moment:

The Gates of Life and Death had truly opened.

Mo Ran’s was high up in the wind, and his eyes were filled with a bloody aura. His eyes flashed with an excited and crazy light.

He was urged by Shi Mingjing back and forth several times. He was dead, then brought to life, and died again and was alive again. The memories were even more fragmented, and there was only a ray of consciousness in the body supporting him.

So he was all crazy, even more unreasonable than before.

Destroying the heavens and destroying the earth.

Very quickly, half of the surrounding mountains and rivers were covered by the black cloud. Taxian-Jun raised his head and laughed heartily — but why was he laughing?

He did not know, nor did he want to know.

His mind was in a mess, and inside his chest, there was only the unceasing order given by Shi Mei.

He narrowed his eyes and looked at the layer of sparkling and translucent barrier underneath the rolling black clouds. His lips formed a sneer, then he raised his hand and said in a low voice: “Bu’gui.”

Bu’gui appeared.

Taxian-Jun’s fingertip brushed against the blade of the saber, one by one, until it shone.

Then, he ruthlessly hacked at the two barriers that blocked the world of mortals.

It was dead silent for a moment.

Suddenly, the hinterland rumbled, and the Myriad Manifestation Steps appeared.

The Space-Time Gate of Life and Death was finally opened, broken, and shattered by him.

In an instant, the mountains and rivers changed color.

His ferocious and tyrannical spiritual energy and the aura of the Immortal Martial Spirit caused this rift to expand so thoroughly that it could not be sealed within the next hundred years!

The task was completed.

Taxian-Jun stood at the crack in the sky. He squinted his eyes for a moment and then turned around to look at the mortal world. He paused for a moment, then turned around and walked into the world that truly belonged to him…

When the wind stopped whistling in his ears, he raised his eyes.

Before his eyes was a vast expanse of white. He once again returned to the world where he claimed the title of emperor. He returned to his previous life, to the Taxue Palace on Mount Kunlun.

“Your Majesty.”

“Welcome back, your Imperial Majesty.”

Standing on the hazel plains, he saw large numbers of people rushing toward him, kneeling like tides on the snow, kowtowing and kowtowing to him.

Taxian-Jun didn't say anything as his hawk-like eyes stared at the cultivators in front of him. Each and every one of them was covered in a black cloak.

He couldn't see the end of these people. They stretched all the way to the foot of the mountain.

The leader was a shaky old man, the wind blew his white hair, he was Liu-gonggong, who had served him for many years.

The year Taxian-Jun died, Elder Liu was sent back to his hometown along with the other palace maids. He originally thought that everything would end here, but not long after, a Medical Sect Saint Hand called Hua Binan appeared out of nowhere, baring his fangs and making Taxian-Jun's corpse into a living corpse to control it.

However, this living corpse still retained a certain level of emotions and willpower. He was dissatisfied with the mute servant that Hua Binan had sent to serve him. He didn't give up until Hua Binan had found the people from Wushan Palace back.

Later on, for reasons unknown to Old Liu, Hua Binan disappeared from this world, leaving only the Emperor to fend for himself in this world.

As time passed, even the most foolish of people could tell that the Emperor had always been controlled and Old Liu was no exception. But what could an old man like him, with half his neck buried in dirt, do?

He had no relatives or family, and his friends had all died long ago.

Because of this trust, Liu-gonggong's eyes were filled with both joy and worry the next time he saw him. In the end, he looked more real than the others.

Taxian-Jun moved his lips: “Old Liu.”

“Your Majesty. His Majesty is finally back,” Elder Liu said, kowtowing to the king.

“… Do you know?” When Taxian-Jun said these words, he didn’t even realize that he looked like a kid who was in a hurry to share the good news with his elders. “I’ve met him again.”

Liu-gonggong was stunned, “… Chu-zongshi?”

“Yes, I’ve seen it many times. My spirit core has also been restored. When the important matter is completed, I can —”

When in the elderly man’s middy eyes he caught a glimpse of his excited face, Taxian-Jun suddenly stopped talking and looked around in embarrassment at the kneeling crowd.

Fortunately, no one dared to laugh at him.

He pursed his lips, making himself cold and dignified once more. With a brush of his sleeve, he said, “Enough. Don’t kneel. Everyone, get up and follow me back to the Wushan Palace.”

Along the way back to Shu, the place was lifeless and empty.

There were not many living people left in this world, and he had long since gotten used to it. It was just that after staying in another world for a while and seeing the bustle of people walking back and forth, he would still feel a little lonely when he returned to this hell of people.

That night, he opened an aged pot of Pear Blossom White Flower and drank alone in the empty Wushan Palace.

Ever since he obtained Mo-zongshi's spirit core, his body had recovered significantly, allowing him to do what many living people were able to do. For example, drinking wine or eating food. However, no matter how much he repaired it, the corpse was still a corpse. The taste that he could taste with his tongue was not even 30% of what it was when he was alive.

Still, he was satisfied.

After three rounds of drinking, he was slightly drunk. He rested his forehead on the soft couch as he thought back to the past, bored out of his mind. These memories were not pleasant at all. It was always disconsolate to drink.

He hadn't wanted to think about it before, but now he wasn't afraid.

The two mortal worlds had already been cleared. No matter how unhappy they were, their past would soon change. He narrowed his eyes and twirled his fingers around the red tassels, muttering, "Chu Wanning…"

He stood up and headed to the long-sealed Red Lotus Pavilion. When he arrived at the door, he saw Liu Jing walking out. Upon seeing each other, both of them were stunned.

"Your Majesty."

"What are you doing here?"

As he spoke, his gaze fell onto the basket of things like a feather duster and a broom that Liu-gonggong was carrying.

"Cleaning up?"

Elder Liu sighed. “That’s right. I don’t know when His Majesty will come again. I’m afraid that the item will rot from not using it for a long time. That’s why I have to tidy it up every day.” Elder Liu paused. “This place still looks the same as before. Your Majesty, please enter.”

Taxian-Jun suddenly didn’t know what to say.

He walked alone to the lotus pond. The pond was filled with spirit energy, so the flowers stayed there. He tilted his head and listened to them for a while, then slowly recalled the afternoon when he was also on the bridge. The summer was so scorching that it made one’s head spin, and he suddenly became interested. He pulled Chu Wanning along and kissed the man on the forehead.

At that time, aside from sex, they didn’t seem to have much warmth towards each other. This sudden kiss with a slight hint of intimacy made Chu Wanning a little surprised.

The cicadas on the trees chirped a few times, but the frogs in the pond didn’t show any signs of weakness.

He looked at the slightly widened phoenix eyes and found them even more interesting. He said, “Since there’s nothing to do, why don’t we play a game?”

Before Chu Wanning could refuse, he placed his finger on his lips, “Shh. Let me finish.”

“…”

“Let’s make a bet. When I count to ten, if the frogs in the yard scream, you will lose. You have to bring a pot of sour plum soup for me. If the cicadas on the tree chirp first, then even if I lose, I… I'll take you down the mountain to relax."

Going down the mountain was indeed a huge temptation. At first, Chu Wanning didn't want to bother with him, but as time went by, Taxian-Jun has already clearly grasped his softness, and the conditions he put forward made it impossible for him to refuse.

The handsome man smiled. "Then, shall we begin?"

"One, two, three…"

Both of them listened to the croaking of the frogs or the chirping of the cicadas, but the Emperor's luck was probably poor. He began to count, and the cicadas became increasingly lively, while the frogs lazily stopped, as if they were about to give up.

"Eight, nine…" The more he counted, the more it dragged. It was too obvious that he would be a scoundrel if he dragged things to the end. Chu Wanning turned around and looked at him coldly.

Taxian-Jun was quite shameless. After being stared at like this, he actually stopped at the ninth level and stopped counting. Instead, he asked Chu Wanning, "Do you think this frog is dead?"

"…"

"Otherwise, why didn't it make a sound?"

"…"

"Wait a moment, I'll see if it's still alive. Otherwise, it won't be fair." He picked up a pebble from the ground and threw it at the lively green frog.

“Ten!”

“Croak!”

Shocked, the frog jumped into the pond, causing ripples and the sound of the frog to float away. Taxian-Jun laughed out loud as he wiped off the dirt on his fingers and said to Chu Wanning, “You’ve lost. The first one was the frog.”

Chu Wanning was about to leave when his sleeves were pulled back. Having gotten a bargain, Taxian-Jun was in a good mood. He ignored the anger of the other party and said with a smile, “The sour plum soup requires ice, especially the kind that requires ice.”

“Do you still have any shame?” Chu Wanning said while gritting his teeth.

“That thing can’t relieve the heat, so what’s the use of it?” Then, he poked him on the forehead and said, “Go on, remember to put less sugar in.”

It was probably because his mood that day was really good. Under the scorching sun, he drank a pot of ice-cold plum candy, which was so sweet that even the croaking of the frogs sounded pleasant to the ear.

In the evening, he suddenly said to Chu Wanning, “Soon, it will be three years.”

“What?”

Seeing his reaction, the young Emperor’s face showed slight displeasure. “Since I’m called Emperor. I’m the emperor. It’s been almost three years.”

As he spoke, he tried his best to find even the slightest ripple in Chu Wanning’s eyes. Unfortunately, the result was quite frustrating. He wrinkled his nose, feeling somewhat gloomy and unwilling. After pondering for a moment, he suddenly said, “You have followed me for three years.”

“…”

“Since this pot of Ice Plum Soup tastes pretty good, let me take you for a walk down the mountain. But you can’t go too far. Only the Wuchang town.”

The carriage was ready, the bamboo curtain, cool pillow, the tea cup and folding fan were ready.

Standing in front of the main entrance of the mountain of corpses, which had been rebuilt three times, Taxian-Jun touched the emerald ring on his white horse’s forehead. He turned his face to Chu Wanning and asked, “Does it look familiar? This is the carriage that you liked to sit in when you were travelling in the past. It’s fine to leave it here, it’s not something that can’t be thrown away.”

Chu Wanning didn’t show any joy, but he stepped on the branch like before and pushed aside the bamboo curtain to enter the cabin.

The servant was dumbstruck as he turned his head to look at the Emperor Taxian-Jun under the sunset in fear.

Regardless of the reason, it was normal for him to kill innocents. He really did not know what kind of courage Chu-zongshi had to actually act so disrespectfully and dare to be a step ahead of His Majesty.

However, the servants did not expect that Taxian-Jun didn’t seem to mind. He even squinted his eyes and smiled with interest: “Look, this man thinks he’s still elder Yuheng.”

Just as he was about to follow them into the carriage, he heard a woman's gentle voice coming from behind him.

The woman said softly, "A-Ran."

Ch. 292 [Sisheng Peak] The Heart Is Like the Sea

Taxian-Jun turned his head and saw Song Qiutong dressed in gorgeous clothes, looking very beautiful and charming. She was leading her maid servants towards them.

He stretched out his hand to lift the curtain and stopped. Without batting an eyelid, he closed the bamboo curtain and asked, “What’s wrong?”

“Since I have nothing better to do, I might as well take a walk and eat.” Song Qiutong bowed slightly, her gaze soft as she looked at the carriage. “Is A-Ran going out?”

“Going to the night market of the Wuchang Town.”

She smiled, submissively but affectionately: “It’s such a short way to ride in a carriage. You’re not alone, are you?”

His patience with her was not bad, so he smiled and said, “Not alone.”

Song Qiutong gaze roamed about, her gaze falling upon the yellow rosewood pedals. The girl’s thoughts were meticulous, she only needed a single turn to have the answer. Her expression was stiff at first, but then she revealed a happy look: “Ah, could it be that it’s little sister consort Chu?”

“…”

One could almost imagine the expression on Chu Wanning’s face when he heard the address, “Mmm. It's him.”

The expression on the woman's face became increasingly bright and gorgeous. It was to the extent that even the clouds in the sky seemed to be overshadowed. "This is great. We have stayed in the palace for three years yet we had only seen consort Chu on the day of the wedding, and she was still wearing her veil. What kind of good day is it today, to think that we would meet each other."

She smiled and said, "Do you wish to invite us two sisters to meet?"

Taxian-Jun shook his head: "He has an aloof personality, he doesn't feel comfortable seeing strangers. Still a mute. Don't bother."

Although Song Qiutong had always listened to Mo Ran's words, her heart was itching. What's more, she could be said to have accumulated resentment towards consort Chu for a long time, ever since the day of their marriage she was abandoned by her husband for no reason.

She was humiliated. Afterwards, she heard many gossip from the palace maids, saying that the Emperor's wedding night was left in consort Chu's room until almost dusk the next day before he came out.

"He didn't stop the whole night! That sound really took a person's life."

"I heard from the people on duty that they counted with their fingers at least seven or eight times. His Majesty is too capable."

There were even more court ladies who giggled. "Isn't the one who can do it esteemed Imperial Consort? Seven or eight times in a night. I'm afraid the little prince will be here very soon."

However, what made Song Qiutong most embarrassed were the whispers such as, "The empress is so beautiful, I didn't expect her to lose his favor on their wedding night." "This isn't etiquette at all. His Majesty really doesn't give face to the empress!"

She felt as if Imperial Consort Chu had slapped her face. The burning pain on her face has not abated in the past three years.

In the end, even her servant girl had a grudge in her heart as she gritted her teeth and ruthlessly complained, "I wonder which mountain's fox cultivated its quintessence to the point where His Majesty is confused and disoriented."

She then advised her, "Empress, don't be too sad. Although His Majesty sleeps with her almost every night, she is not pregnant. Her health is probably not too good, and she will not have a child for the rest of her life. His Majesty was just playing with her. Sooner or later, he will get tired of it."

Song Qiutong forced a smile. How could she have the face to say some words?

He had been extremely careful not to allow her to become pregnant in the few pleasures he had had with her. The only time he had vented his anger on her was not long ago. After he got drunk, he had a huge argument with consort Chu and came to visit her in the middle of the night.

She had been fast asleep by then, and when the curtain was suddenly lifted, she was met with a pair of scarlet eyes that had lost all sense of reason. She didn't even have time to react before he rolled her over and ripped her out of her clothes. In the midst of his reckless and crazy torment, her hair was gripped in a tight bun, and she heard him gasp in her ear: “Who are you writing to secretly behind my back? You care so much about him?”

When the rain was heavy, she was so agitated that her entire body went soft. However, she heard him muttering something behind her, “You can’t see anyone… you can’t go anywhere. You can only be my consort Chu… No matter how unwilling you are…”

Song Qiutong recovered from her shameful memories. She arranged her expression and smiled with her beautiful eyes. “Although Your Majesty doesn’t mind the etiquette, she is still a sister. I always wanted to meet her and give her some gifts.”

Taxian-Jun didn’t seem to want to let go of the bamboo curtain. “He has everything. There's nothing lacking.”

Since things had come to this point, Song Qiutong had no other choice. She could only speak warmly to the emperor before watching him board the carriage and walk away with the vixen.

Deep within the bamboo curtain, atop the soft seats, Taxian-Jun had endured the laughter until his lower abdomen hurt. He continued to speak with a serious tone, “As an Emperor, I am too free to be pampered by you. I’m afraid that’s inappropriate.”

“…”

Chu Wanning’s face was gloomy as he looked at the window, not saying a word.

The golden rays of the sun shone through the thin curtains, casting layers of light and shadow across his thin, transparent face. Taxian-Jun stared at it for a moment, then leaned over and laid down on his lap.

Chu Wanning stiffened his spine, not looking at him, but asking, “Aren’t you hot?”

“My beloved concubine’s voice is so cold, it can cool me down in the summer.”

“…” Chu Wanning finally lowered his head and looked at him; his gaze was colder than his voice.

He truly felt angry. No man would be willing to be a concubine to another man. Song Qiutong’s call of “little sister consort Chu” made him feel like he was being choked. Even his eyes were red because of shame.

At the beginning, Taxian-Jun, the reason why he had given him the title, was to let him have a taste of what it was like to be inferior to a woman. Song Qiutong was his wife, and he, the exalted Beidou Immortal, had been reduced to being a concubine by a junior.

“Are you angry?”

“…”

Taxian-Jun wanted to tease this man, but dusk came and the last rays of the setting sun shone through the bamboo curtains, illuminating Chu Wanning’s face. Taxian-Jun realized how cold and distant those eyes were, so he moved his lips but didn’t say anything in the end.

He suddenly felt very bored.

Neither of them spoke again.

He came to the Wuchang Town and bought a lot of things. Sugar painting, flower cake, candied fruits, lanterns, he had bought everything he could buy and loaded himself into a carriage. However, Chu Wanning only looked at the lively scene outside the bamboo curtain, ignoring the dazzling scene behind the curtain.

Chu Wanning was not happy, so he couldn't help but feel a little irritated.

"Forget it, I'm not going back tonight." He suddenly said, "We'll live in the town."

The coachman found an inn and went in with Chu Wanning, who had put on his cloak and hat.

The waiter was yawning, seeing the guest's high spirits, he yawned and asked with a smile, "Guest, do you live here?"

"I would like a good room."

Although Chu Wanning's face was hidden under his hood, the waiter still looked at him curiously as he was obviously a man.

Chu Wanning said, "… Two rooms."

After hearing what he said, Taxian-Jun could not help but feel angry. "What is your relationship with me? Is there a need to open two rooms to deceive people?"

If the waiter's gaze from before was still filled with suspicion, at this moment, he suddenly came to a realization.

Taxian-Jun was quite satisfied with the waiter's gaze. He even felt some viciousness as he consoled him. After opening the door, he dragged Chu Wanning up by the arm. Before he even closed the door, he kissed him, his lips full of urgent and intense words.

Outside the window, the lights were still on, but none of them had anything to do with it. He pressed Chu Wanning onto the bed, and amidst the creaking sounds, he heard a soft sigh.

"Mo Ran, what's the point of doing this?"

"…"

"What's the point of doing this to us?"

The words were so sharp that even after thinking about it for so long, his heart still ached.

Taxian-Jun opened his eyes.

He was still standing in the Red Lotus Pavilion. Those memories were all gone.

But for some reason, there seemed to be an image flashing before his eyes, and he seemed to hear the sound of the pouring rain. He seemed to be a ghost of the dark night, peeking through the vine-striped windows of the inn.

He saw the same house, the same two people, but the rain outside the window was different, it was similar to the atmosphere of love in the bed.

He saw himself and Chu Wanning entwined together on the bed. The room was very dark, but he was sure that he could see Chu Wanning's face — misty desire, slightly closed eyes, entwined with his own, ashamed and passionate.

In this vision, he stared at the man beneath him with deep affection, pleading and determined, “Tonight, I just want to make you feel good.”

He lowered his head and kissed the fragile part of Chu Wanning’s body. As if he had heard the man’s breathing, Chu Wanning’s fingers dug into his black hair, “Ah…”

Taxian-Jun suddenly felt as if his skull was about to split open as he held onto his forehead.

These two memories intertwined and bit each other in an attempt to gain the upper hand. Which segment was real? Which part was a nightmare? He did not know, and did not dare to think further.

With great difficulty, he calmed his heart and then rushed away, leaving the Red Lotus Pavilion.

He arrived at the Sword Discourse Arena and stood in front of the white jade railings, gazing at the distant shadows of the mountains. His chest rose and fell slightly. What was that alluring memory?

Could it be that this was a life that Mo Ran of another world had experienced…

He could not help but think back to Chu Wanning’s moist and gentle eyes. He raised his neck and panted on the couch.

Taxian-Jun suddenly tightened his grip on the fence.

Could it be that Chu Wanning was willing to go to bed with that lecher Mo-zongshi?

He didn’t know why, but even though the two of them were the same person, Taxian-Jun’s anger suddenly flared up, causing his eyes to turn bloodshot.

If this really was another memory of his own, then he suddenly felt incomparably resentful and unwilling.

Why? Why?

After he was resurrected by Hua Binan, he returned to this world as a walking corpse. What was left for him was the Wushan Hall that was riddled with wounds and a disgusting mess.

What did he see when he ran to the Red Lotus Pavilion in a panic? It was a house that had been devoid of any spiritual power, a flower that had fallen to the ground, and an empty house.

And the lotus pond where the deceased no longer existed.

He was dragged out of hell by Hua Binan, but Chu Wanning's body had turned into dust, and there was nothing left to be found.

He remembered walking slowly to the lotus pond, looking down at it expressionlessly for a moment, then bending over it, he dipped his finger into it and scooped up the water. The cold pond was deep and bone-chilling cold.

He shivered involuntarily. Water trickled through his fingers, and he slumped to the ground.

Thus, what was left for him after returning to his world?

Every day he hated living in this world more and more, but he wasn't in control of himself, and he had to obey Hua Binan's orders.

Later on, Hua Binan found a crack in the Gate of Life and Death but refused to tell him who left it there. That guy happily went to another mortal world and left him here to work hard. However, the only thing he was happy about was that in order to let him do things with a plan in his heart, Hua Binan would occasionally find a way to send him some news.

Thus, he found out that he still had a portion of his spirit souls that were reborn in that era. He found out about the news of Shi Mei, Xue Meng, Ye Wangxi, and the others who had died long ago.

He had also received news of Chu Wanning.

The letters Hua Binan sent him were always short, and he treasured words like gold. He also hated Hua Binan's handwriting. The brush tip was sharp like a scorpion's pincer.

However, these letters had become his biggest hope for the living dead, as if they were the breath of someone who had drowned in the depths of the ocean. He kept every letter, and when there was no new one, he reread the words that made him sick to death a few hundred times.

He thought he must be crazy.

At night, when the servants were having dinner, he loved the liveliness. Thus, like always since his rebirth, he ordered everyone to gather in front of the palace. He lolled in the soft seat, watching them eat, and asked them how they felt from time to time.

Taxian-Jun usually didn't like to read books, but in the past few years, he didn't have anyone by his side. There was nowhere for him to spend the night, so he could only flip through the bamboo slips to amuse himself. Reading and reading, thinking of a few words of pleasure.

For example, if he wanted someone to eat a fried guoba, he would say, "Here, have a taste of thunder for this one." He would want someone to chew on a spinach, and he would say, "You try the red-lipped green parrot in the bowl."

It was hard to make an illiterate read a book, and if the illiterate still enjoyed it, there was only one thing to be said: there was no other pleasure in his life.

At the feast, someone came to report, "Your Majesty, senior Sacred Hand has returned as well."

"Alone?"

"He brought the Tianyin Pavilion's master Mu with him. They said that they would first arrange for the sacrifice and then come back to meet with His Majesty."

Taxian-Jun, holding the purple grapes in his hand, said indifferently, "Then let them take their time. This Venerable One is happy."

The person added: "In addition, senior Sacred Hand said he has something to tell His Majesty."

"What?"

"You have to be careful in the near future. The world is chaotic, so 'he' will definitely come."

“…” After a while, he smiled and said, “I understand. I understand.”

Of course he knew he would come.

The two worlds crossed each other, millions of victims fled, Mo-zongshi lost his life, and the Sisheng Peak fell. Chu Wanning was the same as him, he would probably come looking for him with a death wish.

Taxian-Jun didn’t fear him. In fact, he even had some hidden expectations.

It was late in the night, and the palace was lit up by twinkling candles. There were 9,999 lampstands in the Wushan Palace alone, lighting up the darkness and making it an extremely bright day.

Taxian-Jun called Liu-gonggong over and said, “Go teach them to extinguish half of their candles.”

The lights were too bright, so he lowered his guard for fear that Chu Wanning would find too difficult to sneak in.

Liu-gong did as he was told. He stood in his original spot and waited for Liu-gong to come over and tell him, “Your Majesty, half of the fire has gone out.”

He looked at the dim yellow light in the courtyard and was still very dissatisfied. After thinking for a moment, he said, “I might as well extinguish it all.”

Liu-gong: “…”

The candles in the Wushan Palace were extinguished one by one, but the heart of Taxian-Jun began to light up bit by bit. He had a feeling that Chu Wanning was about to arrive. That person was probably dressed in white, with a face full of resentment. His words were filled with the morals of the world, and he probably wanted to avenge Mo-zongshi.

He felt excited just thinking about it. He ran the tip of his tongue over his white teeth and lips. He only left the last bronze lamp in the depths of Wushan Palace, which was the fire he left for the despairing moth, telling him that he was here, waiting for him trush to death.

Late at night, the rain began to fall outside the window.

Taxian-Jun put on the most solemn golden silk robe he had ever seen. He tidied up the bed, made a soft bed and pillow, and then walked around the room. He still felt that there was something missing, and finally ordered someone to bring a jar of aged white pear blossoms.

The man, warm and well-dressed, was standing by the window, watching the rain come down. From the beginning to the end, he had not even summoned Bu'gui.

However, he was deceiving himself as well. While guarding the bed with the wine, he viciously thought to himself, "Hmph, when Chu Wanning comes, I'll let him know that the blade is ruthless!"

Ch. 293 [Sisheng Peak] Emperor's Long Door Resentment

But in the middle of the night, Chu Wanning had yet to arrive.

At first, Taxian-Jun felt a sense of unease, then it turned gloomy, and then it became a worry.

As he paced back and forth, he couldn't help but to think, what was going on with Chu Wanning?

Whether it was to ask for the truth or to try to stop him, he should come to the Wushan Palace to find him after the Gate of Life and Death had been teared open. Based on his personality, even if he was missing an arm or a leg, he would still come and find trouble with him.

Why not?

Sick? — Impossible. That guy will come if he's sick.

He did not know? — Perhaps he did not know before, but when the world changed color after opening up the two realms, how could he not know?

Then…

Suddenly, he stopped. The black shadow looked extremely creepy and eerie under the weak light of the candle. It was extremely terrifying.

Was he dead?

Before he could think about this further, his fingernails had already sunk into his palms. Taxian-Jun clenched his teeth. The muscles all over his body were trembling.

With eight years of company at the Wushan Palace, two years of mutual dependence on the bones. He spent most of his life with Chu Wanning. Later on, when he returned to the world and saw that there was not even a trace of Chu Wanning’s ashes left, he became even more frenzied.

He could accept the fact that Shi Mei had passed away. He could only do his best to revive him.

However, he could not accept Chu Wanning’s death.

The night was even darker, and the only candle he had left was nearly burnt out. The lanterns and flowers were like pools of water, and his shizun had yet to come.

The fear in his heart grew deeper and deeper, like ink stains on a piece of paper that was constantly smeared with blood. He circled back and forth like a vulture, back and forth.

In the end, he sat on the soft couch like a cripple.

But at that moment, he heard a faint, inaudible sound from the roof.

In an instant, the light and heat seemed to have returned to his body. His eyes were shockingly bright, and they were also filled with hatred.

if you have him a mirror at this point he would realize his expression and musical performance were more or less the same as Chen A'Jiao, that sort of waiting for someone who wouldn't come, the fury of a woman scorned.[175]

He gnashed his teeth. Without waiting for the opponent to make a move first, he kicked open the door of the hall and swept up the roof amidst the torrential downpour.

“Chu Wanning!”

Crazy as a madman.

“He’s dead. Why are you so depressed? After he dies, do you not even want to care about the world you think about?”

Before he could see what was happening, he had already hacked down with his saber. Three to four blows rang through the rain, the sound of metal weapons clashing against each other.

“Didn’t you say to put the life of all living beings before yours?! It was only now when it's too late that you came to fight against this Venerable one. What Yuheng Elder and Beidou Immortal. You are just like the rest of us!”

The other party began to speak, his voice muffled by the torrential rain, “What nonsense…”

Taxian-Jun narrowed his eyes.

He immediately recognized that the voice was not Chu Wanning’s, which made his anger clear. When the other party slashed at him again, his eyes turned cold, and his hand shot out like a blade.

He only heard a “Zheng” sound. From start to finish, the opponent’s weapon had never shone with its godly brilliance. Under the brutal offensive, it broke into two pieces and clanged against the roof tiles.

“… Whose bastard is this?” After recognizing the wrong person, Taxian-Jun became even more furious, “You don’t even have a decent weapon, and you still dare to assassinate this Venerable One.”

With a wave of his hand, Bu'gui pointed at the top of that person's head. With a few cold words, he said, "Raise your face."

"…"

The man looked up slowly.

The sudden clap of thunder split the air, lighting up his pale face.

Taxian-Jun wrinkled his nose, his expression extremely dangerous. "It's you again?"

Xue Meng stood up, his hands trembling slightly. Taxian-Jun's gaze followed his gaze and saw the two pieces of Longcheng's broken blade shining brightly on the wet roof. He slowly came to an understanding.

He narrowed his eyes and looked at the young man who was drenched through his eyelashes.

"Looks like I shouldn't say 'again'." Taxian-Jun said in a dense voice, "And it should be said that… It's you, my good brother."

Thunder rumbled, and the eardrums seemed as if they were about to be crushed.

Xue Meng closed his eyes.

"This is the first time you've exchanged blows with me. You are truly a young, naive man, much cuter than you ever were before."

"… Give me back…" Xue Meng's voice was choked with sobs the moment he opened his mouth to speak, but he still said, "Return my parents' lives."

"You have already told this to this Venerable One in your previous life."

He suddenly opened his eyes, furious and pained at the same time. “You have to pay back my brother’s life!”

This time, Taxian-Jun didn’t say anything. After a while, he laughed coldly, “It’s good to be a Grandmaster. Just one or two of them and they’re all thinking about him.”

“…”

“But did he ever tell you that he was my reincarnation? He remembers all the sins and hatreds of his previous life.” His eyes were cold and sharp. “He’s a liar!”

Xue Meng and Taxian-Jun stood facing each other on the roof like two black horned beasts.

The more he spoke, the more indignant he became, so his expression became even more twisted, “That bastard lied to the peace and stability of the world, lied to his brothers and sisters, lied to his friends and family. He lied about Mo-zongshi’s good reputation — he deserves to die. How is he different from this Venerable One?”

Xue Meng gritted his teeth and said, “You’re not the same at all.”

“Ha! Laughable!”

The rain flowed down through the cracks in the tiles and formed a torrent of water beneath their feet. “What’s different? What’s different? How clean do you think he is? Even if you soak in the rain for a hundred years, you still won’t be able to wash off his filth!”

Xue Meng’s long eyelashes were drenched by the rain. “He and you are two different people!”

“Fuck you and your mother.” Taxian-Jun casually said in an incomparably vicious manner, “Just pretend to be blind.”

Madam Wang had just passed away. Hearing these words, it was naturally extremely ear-piercing. Xue Meng angrily shouted as he ignited the flame in his palm, sending a magical curse flying towards the Emperor.

Ten years from now, Xue Meng would not even be a match for Taxian-Jun, let alone this little bastard in front of him.

The Spiritual Flames hadn’t even touched his hair yet. Instead, he had raised his hand and grabbed Xue Meng’s arm that hadn’t been pulled back in time. His pair of black and purple eyes slowly looked down.

“The two people below the corner of the roof, immediately scram out for This Venerable one. If you do not move, this Venerable One will crush the young bird’s claws.”

The two brothers, Mei Hanxue, climbed up to the corner of the roof while one of them carried the guqin and the other held the sword.

Taxian-Jun did not seem surprised as he glanced at the two of them and sneered: “Your lives are truly interesting. No matter which mortal world, they would unconditionally stand together with Xue Meng.”

The big brother didn’t say anything, but his younger brother, Mei Hanxue, smiled. “What else? Does His Majesty think that everyone is like you, to repay kindness with hatred, be resentful and cold-blooded?”

These words somewhat touched Taxian-Jun’s sore spot. Chu Wanning’s face, Xue Zhengyong’s face and Wang Chuqing’s face flashed past him one by one.

To repay kindness with hatred… Cold-blooded love…

He was silent for a moment before he squeezed out a trace of cold ridicule from the heavy rain. “The two of you are really not afraid of death.”

The veins on his arm bulged as he grabbed Xue Meng’s hair and continued, “Xue Meng is at least a junior brother that Immortal Elder Beidou protected with all his might. You two have nothing to do with me, so I won’t be afraid to chop you both into pieces.”

At the mention of Chu Wanning, Xue Meng became even angrier. “You still have the face to talk about Shizun? You beast! Beast!”

“Why don’t I dare to mention him?”

As he spoke, he lifted Xue Meng up with one hand and stared at Xue Meng’s drenched face.

He suddenly thought of the scattered memories that belonged to Mo-zongshi. He thought of the moonlight on Flying Flower Island, the night rain in the Wuchang Town, and even the mist in the Miaoyin Springs… Suddenly, jealousy bloomed like wild grass.

He coldly said, “Tell me, why can’t I mention him?”

“…”

“Who is he to me? Didn’t your honest brother tell you?”

Xue Meng was stunned at first, then his eyes abruptly widened. “What… what nonsense are you talking about…”

“You’ve been feeling it, haven’t you?” Taxian-Jun stared into his eyes, as if he was trying to force his prey into a corner. “From your interactions with them to from the idle chatter of the bystanders.”

At first, Xue Meng was stiff, but soon after, he began to tremble violently.

His trembling caused Taxian-Jun to be extremely excited.

Yes, that’s it. He had dirtied Chu Wanning and tainted Chu Wanning. Wasn’t Mo-zongshi being cautious and respectful when he saw the ghost, afraid that his relationship with Chu Wanning would be made public?

He just couldn’t let that hypocrite have his way.

“What? You still don’t know?”

“No… No, no, no, don’t say it.”

“That means you know?”

Xue Meng was trembling and his scalp went numb. “Don’t say it!”

Taxian-Jun began to laugh loudly, his gaze filled with savagery and madness. “It seems like you know what’s at the back of your mind.”

“Mo Ran —!”

“Chu Wanning belongs to this bed.”

Suddenly, he became absent-minded, as if the sound of the torrential rain had died down.

Therefore, he began to peck at the young man’s heart even more with baring his fangs and brandishing his claws. He said with a cold smile, “In this lifetime, and in the previous life, your Shizun had been lying on the bed and being done by me. The Wind Cliff Inn in the Wuchang Town, the Miaoyin Springs at the Sisheng Peak, and the rooms in the Peach Blossom Villa.

Xue Meng's entire body had turned into ice, and his eyes were filled with black ash.

"Right." Suddenly recalling another detail that belonged to Mo-zongshi, his eyes flashed with a cold and venomous luster. His thin lips parted as he said, "The elder brother that you protected has done so in front of you."

"…"

"Before you went up Mount Jiao, you found him in Chu Wanning's room. At that time, you even reached out your hand and touched Chu Wanning's forehead, asking if he had a fever."

Xue Meng's face became paler and paler.

Taxian-Jun smiled, "Can you imagine why Chu Wanning's face was flushed and his eyes rippled?"

"Stop it!"

Angry shouts would naturally not be useful, but it would only make Taxian-Jun more cruel: "Because in the area between the curtain and you, under the bedding. That good brother of yours is playing with your Shizun right then."

Xue Meng's face was white, red, and blue. He turned his head back and forth several times, and he actually couldn't bear it any longer. He started vomiting in spasms, and goosebumps appeared all over his body.

The human demon was extremely satisfied with his reaction. He laughed out loud as his eyes shone with a fervent light, “What, do you think your brother is different from this one? He did all this unruly stuff, but he just didn’t tell you. How much do you think he —”

“Boom!” A loud explosive sound interrupted his words.

Taxian-Jun suddenly turned around, only to see that in the west, the Heaven-Piercing Tower was ablaze with countless monsters that turned into golden beams of light and flew into the sky, appearing amidst the torrential storm.

“… What’s going on?”

Just as he said that, he heard the clanging of a zither in the distance, like the cries of phoenixes, the music of immortals, together with the zither music, caused all the monsters to transform into their human forms, as if they were moved by the zither music, and pounced towards a certain direction on the ground, the most valiant and fearless wood type monster.

In an instant, his pupils contracted as he muttered, “Jiuge…?”

He did not care about Xue Meng, and did not even have the leisure to look at Xue Meng again.

In front of Heaven-Piercing Tower, there was already a sea of fire. There were countless Zhenlong chess pieces with considerable cultivation that were currently fighting against a group of demons. As for the two halves of the battle, they were separated into two men who were also wearing snow-white robes.

One of them was Hua Binan, who was standing with his hands behind his back.

The other was a murderous look in Chu Wanning's eyes.

Seeing Yuheng flying in the middle of the sea of fire, Taxian-Jun relaxed his heart – Chu Wanning had finally arrived. And then he got angry — because even though Chu Wanning came, he didn't come to find him first. Instead, he went straight to Hua Binan.

It was all in vain for him to wait so long for him!

"What are you doing over there?" Hua Binan's spiritual energy was naturally weak. At this moment, he relied on those Zhenlong chess pieces to fight against Chu Wanning. He squinted his eyes at Taxian-Jun, clenched his teeth and said, "Why aren't you coming to help me?"

Taxian-Jun's head hurt, but he immediately agreed.

He jumped down from the sky and stood in front of Hua Binan. A ghostly light flashed in his hand and he held Bu'gui tightly in his palm.

"You go first. This place will be blocked by me."

Hua Binan was beaten into a sorry state by Chu Wanning, so he had no way to escape. Seeing that Taxian-Jun had made his move, he finally heaved a sigh of relief.

"Be careful. Lock this man up after the fight. Don't let him spoil our business again."

With that, the shadow disappeared into the night.

Taxian-Jun turned his head, “Chu Wanning, I knew that you wouldn’t just stand by and watch. However, I never would have thought that you would know how to find him first and make a move on him.”

“…”

Chu Wanning’s face was pale, and the emotions in his eyes could not be seen. No one could tell what he was thinking.

“Why didn’t you come to this Venerable One first? Hmm?”

Chu Wanning did not reply. In reality, he and Taxian-Jun were more like corpses at that moment. It was as if the soul within the body of the Beidou Immortal had died. Only a layer of instinct was supporting him, making him do the last thing in the world.

Taxian-Jun jumped up and fought with Chu Wanning. He exchanged several moves and his hand movements were extremely fast. He squinted at him through the fire and rain. “Because you think you can’t beat me?”

“…”

The saber light in his hand hacked down, colliding with the zither sound’s spiritual energy. “Because you don’t know how to face Xue Meng?”

“…”

The pain was made him more and more vicious. His blade technique was extremely fast and his momentum was shocking. Because he had absorbed Mo-zongshi’s spirit core, it was even sharper than before. In an instant, he had already closed the distance between him and Chu Wanning.

“Is it because…”

Jealousy was seeping between the molars.

At this moment, the golden light met the jade light. The blade fell, Jiuge cried out, and with a flick of Chu Wanning's finger, an unbreakable protective barrier appeared.

In that instant, the spiritual flow hissed and gushed out, and his saber was pressed against his barrier.

They faced each other across the membrane where the flower petals flowed.

"Is it because…" Suddenly, the light in Taxian-Jun's hand weakened, and when it lit up again, it was no longer the wood element's jade-green, but rather the fire element's red.

It was Mo-zongshi's most commonly used spiritual current color.

Chu Wanning was stunned.

Fire and gold were still glued together, and the splashes of glory were like a torrential downpour. Behind the barrier, the handsome face of Taxian-Jun suddenly turned gentle.

"Or is it because, Shizun…" Under his thick eyelashes, his eyes were filled with deep emotion and sorrow. "Can't bear to see me die a second time?"

With a "Zheng" sound, the wrong string was strummed, and the light of Chu Wanning's enchantment suddenly weakened. At this moment, Bu'gui hacked down with all his might. In an instant, the golden light shattered into pieces, scattering out into the shadows of the haitang blossoms.

The powerful spiritual energy caused his entire body to fall to the ground. Seeing that he was about to fall into the muddy water, a hand wrapped around his waist. Chu Wanning knew that he had fallen into his trap, so he shouted in a low voice, “Mo Weiyu!”

Under the heavy rain, Taxian-Jun laughed out loud due to his crafty scheme. The corners of his mouth curled up as he was finally satisfied and cruel.

He could no longer maintain his gentleness. When he opened his mouth again, his face was already filled with fierce green teeth. “You’re finally willing to talk to me.”

“…”

Taxian-Jun grabbed him by the cheek, his nose was almost touching his nose, and his lips were touching his lips. He said in a gloomy voice, “If you don’t say anything, I’m afraid I’ll think you’re mute.”

Ch. 294 [Sisheng Peak] Entangled Wind and Rain Night

This was not a good place for a conversation. Emperor Taxian-Jun brought Chu Wanning back to the Wushan Palace as a gust of wind and rain. At the corner of the eaves, Xue Meng and the others were no longer around. Thinking about it, Mei Hanxue was such a smart person that he knew what it meant to retreat temporarily.

Putting their feet up to kick at the door, they entered the warm, dry main hall wrapped in the wet rain and wind.

The light that he had left behind to wait for Chu Wanning had already gone out.

Taxian-Jun didn't care, since the moth didn't fight against the fire, he could just reluctantly be a spider hunting, bringing his prey to his lair with his eight dense pincers.

He pushed Chu Wanning onto the bed and looked at the silent man with an ice-cold expression.

He felt that he had a lot of things he wanted to say, but when he moved his lips, the words that came out of his mouth were neither salt nor light.

"What's wrong? Do you really need me to be like him so you can raise your head and take another look at me?"

He pulled off Chu Wanning's face, forcing his dark eyes to meet his own. Beneath the his hands, the face was wet and cold.

"Chu Wanning, you better learn something." He gritted his teeth and said, "There is no longer a Mo-zongshi in this world. No matter how reluctant you are, he will not be able to return."

Chu Wanning seemed to have been stabbed by needles. His numb face actually started to tremble. This kind of reaction caused Taxian-Jun to feel even more jealousy and hatred. Suddenly, his heart burned with anger, and he went over to cover his opponent's ice-cold lips.

He was familiar with everything from kissing to undressing. It was true that the man in front of him was a tough nut to crack, but he had gnawed on it for so many years that he knew exactly how to take a bite and eat it.

The method of resistance was the same as in his previous life. Taxian-Jun easily dispelled his attack and then took the pill from the bed, sending it towards his lips without any explanation.

"It's a reunion after all. This Venerable One doesn't want to see your reluctant expression. Here, eat it."

Seeing Chu Wanning struggle with a frown, his eyes turned cold. The strength in his hands was so strong that it almost made him bleed. He forced the pill into his mouth, then immediately bent over and sucked the thin lips.

He stuck his rough tongue in, pushing the medicine that could disintegrate bones and soft intestines into Chu Wanning's throat.

"Ugh…"

A strong smell of rust wafted from his lips. The soft, moist tongue was pressing the pill against his throat. Chu Wanning was unable to struggle free, he finally swallowed it whole.

Mo Ran let go of him and he immediately arched his body and began to cough violently. He was so disgusted that he started to retch.

“Your throat is so shallow?”

“…”

“Why didn't you seem to vomit when you had him in your mouth?”

Chu Wanning’s complexion suddenly changed. He turned his head back and opened his eyes wide, as if he had seen a ghost in broad daylight. He stared at the pale and mocking face of Taxian-Jun.

“What? Do you think that no one knows about you and him?” As he spoke, he looked proud and angry at the same time, “Actually, the things you did, this Venerable One knows better than anyone.”

He took off his rain-soaked robe and went to bed. The soft fur felt fell in an instant, his broad, well-proportioned shoulders slightly hunched, his arms propped up, looking down at the man lying beneath him.

His wet hair hung down, and raindrops fell on Chu Wanning’s cheeks, falling into Taxian-Jun’s eyes.

Taxian-Jun’s eyes were dark. He bent over, stuck out his tongue, and licked the sparkling water droplets away.

He felt Chu Wanning’s body tense up and he chuckled, “Why are you still so sensitive?”

“…” Chu Wanning would have scolded and told him to scram back then, the current him was more sorrowful than death. He bit his lower lip and did not utter a single word.

Even though it was just the tip of his fingers and his bones, he could not help but tremble slightly. He hated it.

Seeing that he was in pain, Taxian-Jun began to calm down. He looked at the person below him, whose face was gradually turning red from shock and the effects of the medicine, and slowly said: “Speaking of which, he hasn’t gotten behind you, has he?”

Waving his hand downstream, he whispered in his ear:

“Tell me, are you still as tight as before?”

He had a handsome face, but he can say such dirty words. His voice became more and more bewitching, and the caress of his fingers became more and more wanton. The effect of the medicine became more and more distinct as he caressed it.

“If you don’t answer, I’ll go in and see myself… Let me see if you missed me…”

That medicine was very effective and it worked extremely quickly. Chu Wanning’s back was already numb, and he could not exert any strength. He could only allow Taxian-Jun to penetrate his body and rest his legs on his shoulders.

He suddenly closed his eyes, his eyelashes trembling.

This was different from the past, since Taxian-Jun had never bothered to put on a foreplay, so he didn’t have much warmth in him. Chu Wanning could clearly hear him take off his clothes, and the next moment, the scorching heat was pressing down on him, ready to attack.

At this moment, someone knocked on the door. “Your Majesty, senior Sacred Hand invites you to —”

“Get out!”

Along with the explosive shout was the sound of the shattering of a porcelain pot. He grabbed a nearby teacup and smashed it onto the door as soon as the servant, who did not know how to take his time, entered.

The door to the hall immediately closed, and no one dared to enter again.

Taxian-Jun’s rough thumb caressed Chu Wanning’s lips, “Look, there’s only you and me here now. There can only be you and me.”

Outside, wind and rain were mixing with thunder and lightning.

Outside, the wind and rain crossed with thunder and lightning.

Before today, Wushan Hall had been cold and desolate for many years. Taxian-Jun focused on the reactions of Chu Wanning under him, looking at the effect of the drug as his skin flush crimson. He felt that the extinguished fire in his heart has finally come back tonight.

His consort Chu, his Wanning, his resurgence in this world…

At this moment, all the warmth returned as he is back in his arms again.

“No one will ever bother us again, Shizun… this Venerable One’s consort Chu.” Taxian-Jun leaned down to Chu Wanning’s ear and softly said, “They say long separation is even more intense than newlyweds. You have been separated from this Venerable One for so long, you see, this Venerable One is not an irresponsible husband.”

As he said, his hand slipped down and grasped Chu Wanning's hand.

He held Chu Wanning's curled up trembling fingers and with indescribable strength, one by one opened them and leaned to kiss them. Then with strong force he took his hand all the way down to hold his already hard, thick, angry dick.

"Ahh…" Taxian-Jun deliberately moaned. He had made up his mind to let Chu Wanning feel the humiliation of serving a man, let Chu Wanning figure out that the one in front of him was his fearless Taxian-Jun, rather than that Mo-zongshi.

Mo-zongshi…

Thinking about how he had been with Chu Wanning, jealousy and envy burned in him, making his eyes red.

Taxian-Jun, while holding Chu Wanning's hand on his dick, gently rocked into it. He whispered hotly in Chu Wanning's ear low "Do you feel it consort Chu?"

"……"

"This Venerable One owes you so many years of favor, you think about it much?" His Adam's apple is rolling with desire, and the low, hoarse voice was almost pressed into the blood of Chu Wanning, "It doesn't matter. It's a long night… We can do it as long as you want. This Venerable One must feed you until you become insatiable."

He was so thirsty for him, thirsty to the point of death, thirsty to the point of frustration, thirsty to the point of jealousy, so thirsty that he wanted to be able to consume his blood and bones. He made it to say that Chu Wanning wanted it but it was actually accompanied by a selfless dedication to meet each other's desires.

It is true that the emperor, and only the emperor, can raise the wisp of emotion that belongs Chu Wanning. He suddenly opened his wet red phoenix eyes, and stared at him with anger. Taxian-Jun sighed with satisfaction: "It's been a long time since you looked at this Venerable One like that."

"When I see your eyes like this, I know it's you."

When the words fell, he leaned suddenly, and caught Chu Wanning's soft ear. It was originally one of Chu Wanning's most sensitive places. At this time, after taking the drugs, he couldn't control it. The thunderous shock rushed from his back, and Chu Wanning trembled. But his reaction in exchange got Taxian-Jun's more licking and sucking, the earlobe was swallowed in the mouth, and the tongue imitated the rhythm of the genitals thrusting into the ear, licking moist and hot.

During the intense stimulation, Chu Wanning heard Taxian-Jun mutter in a low voice: "There should have been an earring here…"

The voice was like a tyrant suppressing endless anger, and like an abandoned dog burying endless melancholy.

In his previous life, Taxian-Jun had pierced a hole in Chu Wanning's ear and now he kissed it a few times repeatedly, desperately trying to prove that this person had returned to him, his actions suddenly became a little rushed and rough. He clutched Chu Wanning's hand, forcing Chu Wanning to hold his dick. He whispered "Hold it yourself, put this Venerable One in."

Chu Wanning gritted his teeth and wanted to break away from his hand, but the strength was amazing, not to mention that he used all his strength, and the meridians on his strong arms were all protruding.

Just pushing it on the soft hole Taxian-Jun insisted: “Put it in yourself.”

The head of his cock was wet, and it began to open him up slowly. He stayed like that for a while breathing heavily. Taxian-Jun wanted so badly to just thrust into him ruthlessly in one go, and make this man that he thought about endlessly every night, to get wrapped in him.

And Chu Wanning… Chu Wanning’s lips had been bitten to the point of bleeding, his eyes wide open, he gasped, but did not say anything, did not obey. He felt depressed to look at the man in front of him, after a long time, he choked: “Mo Ran……”

Mo Ran, you’re not like that…… You are not like this… in past life…and in this…

I didn’t protect you. Two lifetimes, watching you descent to madness, watching you die.

I am not good, I failed you completely…

“Why are you……” Taxian-Jun was startled, “Are you crying?”

Is he crying?

He did not feel it, the fire in the body was too hot. Taxian-Jun seemed to have made up his mind to let him turn into mud, he had previously fed him a strong love medicine. Until he spoke, Chu Wanning hadn’t realized that his eyes were moist and tears slipped down, flowing to the sides.

Taxian-Jun's look became very strange for a moment, like anger, like jealousy, dazed, like…

Chu Wanning closed his eyes.

He thought he was probably crazy to see a touch of heartache in those black purplish eyes.

It was an illusion, nothing more.

But in this silence, Taxian-Jun suddenly held him up, as if afraid that he would scatter and disappear, he held him tightly in his arms. He did not speak again, did not force him to do anything, he let Chu Wanning sit on his thighs, after a while he deeply kissed him.

"Wanning… Wanning…"

The kiss was wet and impatient, painful and crazy, Taxian-Jun's large hand caressed Chu Wanning's waist, and then suddenly from the depths of the pillow he removed a bottle, already ready, it could even be said that it had been prepared for too long.

As soon as Chu Wanning saw it, his mind went numb.

Thousands of ancient love poison ointment.

The kind of ointment Taxian-Jun had used on him once previously. Even if his heart was chaotic and sad, Chu Wanning still felt a fear deep into his bones — he has seen the efficacy of this ointment, and now he has also been fed the other medicine. Taxian-Jun… this madman, he was still…

Chu Wanning was almost struggling to push him away, but there was no strength in him.

“No… Mo Ran…you don’t want to…”

“Shh.” Taxian-Jun’s eyes were dark, “This Venerable One and he are not the same. You will know that only this Venerable One can serve you. What is good about that hypocrite?”

His fingertips dipped in ointment, and inexplicably inserted into the Chu Wanning’s hole.

Chu Wanning stuffed a moan, the line of his back tight, but the more he was so, the more Taxian-Jun stabbed into his body, stimulating him.

“Your lips are bleeding… Let people see, let them think that this Venerable One bullied you again.” Taxian-Jun said while holding him, staring at him with the pair of dark eyes, “You do not want everyone to know what kind of used goods you are, how the dignified Beidou Immortal, looks high with such pride…… but in bed, by this Venerable One, dry countless times.”

“…” Chu Wanning’s breath was burning but he still could not help but shudder.

“My consort Chu… Ah, this Venerable One over the years often thought… if you were a woman, would our ending be much better than this? I don’t know how many children I want you to have for this Venerable One.” The other hand stroked Chu Wanning quickly, and moved from the waist to his flat stomach, lovingly stroking it.

“In that case, both you and me would have been good.” Taxian-Jun whispered while touching him, “Looking at a child from the two of us, we would have left each other some face. It may not have ended up like today.”

Eyes slid inch by inch, from Chu Wanning's forehead, to the frowning sword eyebrows, to the straight bridge of the nose and to the stubborn thin lips.

Taxian-Jun's eyes cold said: "Unfortunately, it's just a dream."

And he drew his fingers out, using more and more of the paste. How long could he hold on for? He knew the limits of Chu Wanning.

He had trampled those too.

Hot and humid fluids leaked out from him. Taxian-Jun no longer wanted to idle, no one knew his mood at the moment. The food all over the world was tasted by the Emperor but in fact, at the moment his heart flet like he had tasted the Forbidden Fruit. He wanted to immediately devour the person in front of him, completely occupying him. Holding him all night in warm arms as if he would disappear.

He was afraid.

He was so afraid of Chu Wanning leaving.

So he wasted no more time, he held his hard, swollen cock against the already wet hole and the huge head slowly pushed into hot heat.

"Ah……!" Chu Wanning moaned, his body taut. The hot thick cock stabbed in him. He gasped under the body of Taxian-Jun, cold sweat soaked his bare back.

Taxian-Jun closed his eyes as he felt the waves of pleasure flow through him. In that moment, it was almost as if he had never experienced loneliness and death. All these years of loneliness were as if they were written off.

He has his Shizun again, his consort Chu, his Wanning. He's fucking him, he's on him, he's inside him, completely surrounded by him. He felt his hot cock get tightly sucked by Chu Wanning's insides. His body clinging to him, loving him, but also longing for him.

"Shizun, you are still so tight inside."

Chu Wanning closed his eyes, his body trembling all over. His lust was burned up, the skin flushed all over. He felt shameful and sad, but these emotions were washed away by drugs, and the stimulation and comfort of Mo Ran's invasion was spread all over his body like ink stains on paper.

Taxian-Jun raised his head, biting his ears, holding him tighter. Chu Wanning gasped from pain as his huge cock pushed inside deeper and deeper.

"It hurts?" Taxian-Jun waited for his reaction, and then said hoarsely, "Endure it. You open just fine, Shizun. I will make sure you never forget who you are with, how good I make you feel."

Perhaps because the drug messed with his mind, everything was becoming more and more hazy for Chu Wanning. Or perhaps just because Taxian-Jun did not say "this Venerable One " in the forgetfulness, but a pure "I", Chu Wanning's eyes swayed a trace of warmth. That sharp cold look he gave nearly half of his life, but at this moment it was actually soft.

Those eyes stimulated the thirsty Emperor. He sat up on the bed, covered with fur, pillows messy on the bed, he held his waist high and started thrusting fast and deep.

Chu Wanning, biting his lips, refused to make any sound, but the more intense it got, and the more he listened to Taxian-Jun's unrepentant gasps, he gradually lost some control, a broken muffled gasp spilled from his lips. The sound was very light, but Taxian-Jun sensitive to it started thrusting more excitedly.

“Louder.”

“……”

“What are you trying to prove Wanning? It’s not like I didn’t made you scream in my previous life. To the point that you begged this Venerable One to fuck you, to engage you, your legs wrapped so tight around the waist, to cum inside you, to stay inside after…”

Chu Wanning’s blush deepened. Taxian-Jun’s voice in his ear about those about scandalous old accounts was like he was showing off treasures. He punctuated his statement with a particularly rough thrust.

His actions were rough and relentless. Each time he thrusted deeply and pulled almost all the way out slowly and pushed inside again. He suddenly stopped and laid on his back pulling Chu Wanning on top to lie on him, close to his chest. He shoved inside him again while fiercely kissing him.

“Ah……”

The angle suddenly changed against the sensitive spot of Chu Wanning’s body, Taxian-Jun could feel him suddenly go limp, moist and viscous body fluids flowing out of him. He smiled in a low voice: “Is it good? Isn’t your husband the best?”

He did not expect Chu Wanning to answer, and also knew that Chu Wanning would never answer.

The Emperor almost in a sad complacency, said: “I know you like to be fucked here, every time we do this, you start leaking. That’s so shameless.”

That being said, the cock was ruthless against it. He was buried deep in Chu Wanning’s body, for a moment he was not willing to draw out, so he simply stayed inside and shallowly rocked inside him. It was the most sensitive place of Chu Wanning, stimulated by drugs, stimulated by such a crazy and vigorous sex, only to feel the huge head against the place that let him go all numb. This non-stop manipulation, Chu Wanning lost consciousness for a moment. He could not help but whisper out: “Ah… ah…”

Taxian-Jun with great validation, moved his large hands up to hold Chu Wanning’s tight waist and he slammed quick and urgent: “Louder, Shizun……”

Chu Wanning was reluctant, biting his lips tightly did not made any sound. But Taxian-Jun was relentless against that spot and deliberately pressed on it, gushes of fluids leaking out from him. Chu Wanning simply could not stand the stimulation, he seemed to be dying, suddenly he loosened his lips and in almost desperation shouted: “Ah, ah ah……”

“Do you like it? Are you happy with your disciple? You suck this Venerable One so tight, Shizun…… Why are you sucking your disciple like this?”

Chu Wanning at this time was almost incoherent, he couldn’t hear what Taxian-Jun was saying. His red eyes opened slightly. He was powerless to just lie on Taxian-Jun strong chest, and give into the violent manipulation.

The pair of black and purple eyes were filled with lust, full of boundless spring, Taxian-Jun stared at his Shizun in pain, his eyes almost obsessed. He grabbed Chu Wanning's hand, took him to touch his lower abdomen, while gasping low: "I've fucked you so deep. Shizun, do you feel it?"

Chu Wanning was barely conscious by then, barely hanging in, he could only gasp red-faced : "ah…ah ah Mo Ran……"

Mo Ran……

Mo Ran.

Many years flashed before his eyes, from youth to adult, scenes from both lives intertwined together. Chu Wanning's mind felt fragmented like it was torn to pieces. The desire, love and the drowning pleasure, it seemed like an illusion. He didn't know which life was real, which life had gone. Under the collision of extreme pain and extreme joy, everything was broken. His world was shattered into fragments, falling like snow, and every fragment was a Mo Ran's reflection — laughing, crying, good, crazy. He saw the figure of Taxian-Jun and Mo-zongshi mingle together, at the end of the vast snow, holding an oil paper umbrella, quietly looking at him. That pair of purple black eyes at times seemed good, and at times seemed evil. In the end, the snow fell harder, and both Taxian-Jun and Mo-zongshi disappeared.

At the end of, stood the one he first met, the young Mo Ran frail and weak. That youth looked up from beneath the umbrella, and smiled, "Xianjun, I'm going to go now… Please pay attention to me… Please…"

For the last time. Please take care of me.

For the last time.

Please take care of me.

No matter which one of me, after this war, perhaps we will part…

Please pay attention to me. In the beginning of our apprenticeship, I looked up to you for such a long time, and you never acknowledged me. In the end, I only have this broken body to force you to entangle with me. Please don't hate my madness and my ignorance.

Please pay attention to me. Please.

"Mo Ran……" nearly out of it, Chu Wanning's heart suddenly throbbed painfully. When he gained consciousness he had already embraced Taxian-Jun's body. He swallowed harshly, "Mo Ran…"

Taxian-Jun was startled, because even in the most lingering and gentle few times of the previous life, Chu Wanning did not take the initiative to hug him.

He stayed still for a while, and then suddenly with a low growl flipped Chu Wanning on his back and lifted his long legs and began to push into him again.

Chu Wanning frowned his sword-like eyebrows. In his eyes he could see Wushan Palace but it's as if he is in the inn at Wuchang Town. At that time, he and Mo Ran had made love for the first time. It had been just a moment, but it seemed to be separated by a hundred years.

He raised his head and released a muffled: "Ah…" the voice was very emotional, although not loud, but all the blood in Taxian-Jun's veins started boiling. He was almost ruthless in his thrusts, eyes reflecting only him.

"Wanning……Wanning……"

The hot sweat dripped down, as if to glue two naked bodies together. In their previous life they had done this over countless times on this bed.

Taxian-Jun changed the position many times. He seemed to want to make up for these years of absence. For a while he took Chu Wanning lying in bed from behind, for a while he let Chu Wanning ride on top of him, for a while even put Chu Wanning out of bed, against the wall. That's his consort Chu, he wanted to do whatever he wills. He would caress him lovingly, pity him, torture him, and possess him completely.

He wanted Chu Wanning be his in every reincarnation, every lifetime. No one could take him away, no one could rob him. Not even himself.

Finally, he pushed Chu Wanning back on the large bed. His instincts seemed to be telling him something. Even though he clearly knew it was impossible, but he still wanted to make his lover have his child, like a primitive beast. Like this, he held up Chu Wanning's waist, and kissed him fiercely on the lips while aggressively fucking into him.

"Baobei, you are too good." the man gasped, the pleasure gradually increased, the speed of pumping faster and faster, the breathing sound was also erratic. Chu Wanning felt like he was dying, his fingers tight against the sheets, while his body convulsed.

"Ah……ah……slow, slow…"

"Almost there." He bowed his head and kissed Chu Wanning's sweaty forehead, his Adam's Apple rolling, "Baobei, lift your hips higher, let me cum inside"

The pleasure from Chu Wanning's insides clenching around him caused him to furrow his brow, and he nearly moaned. Immediately, he began to ruthlessly thrust into him. Chu Wanning's legs were wrapped tight and even his toes were trembling.

"I want to come, come inside you… Wanning…" Taxian-Jun looked down at Chu Wanning's face, he stared at the flushed face, eyes obsessed and crazy.

With the last dozens of fierce thrusts, it became erratic, losing rhythm and becoming closer to the brutal pounding at Chu Wanning insides. Suddenly he growled and powerful semen suddenly shot out, wave after wave in Chu Wanning's most sensitive place.

The two held each other and almost at the same time shouted: "Ah…"

They came together, except Chu Wanning wasn't like Taxian-Jun. Since they'd started, Chu Wanning had already come twice. This time, he barely had anything left. Taxian-Jun, on the other hand came too much. He lifted Chu Wanning's leg and forced him to accept all of it which made him moan with the intensity.

After a long time, Taxian-Jun put Chu Wanning's leg down, and leaned heavily on his body. He felt that Chu Wanning wanted to move, wanted to pull the pillow out from behind him. But he raised his hand, held Chu Wanning's wrist and stopped him. Staring at Chu Wanning's erotic dazed face after the climax, the black and purple pupils flashed a strange light.

His invincible sworn enemy.

The shizun he couldn't defile.

A clean Beidou Immortal in the eyes of the world.

A man he wanted but couldn't have…

Finally he was fucked until his legs spread wide, filled with his come, tight thighs which couldn't close. The taste of the strong conquest is simply ecstastic. Taxian-Jun had just vent the desire but it again began to stir.

Chu Wanning was his addiction, as long as his eyes stubborn, moist with tears but still fierce, so much as a glance at him, his heart would ignite wildfire, moving all the way to his groin…

So he grabbed Chu Wanning's hand, kissed the back of it, and whispered: "Don't move. Stay still for a while."

"……"

He still hadn't pulled out his cock, he could feel that the inside was hot and wet, the sticky fluid was squeezed out where they were joined tightly. Taxian-Jun swallowed, and captured Chu Wanning's lips with his own. He kissed him insatiably "Feel that? It's all still inside, don't let it out. After a while this Venerable One will continue again."

Taxian-Jun told no false words.

This night, he entangled with Chu Wanning repeatedly several times, till the half a piece of animal skin pelt had slipped down, semen covering most of it obscenely. It was only until the middle of the night that Taxian-Jun came in Chu Wanning's body for the last time. He stroked Chu Wanning's already wet waist and abdomen, and kissed his face.

His Shizun, his consort Chu, who was once pure and untainted, but at the moment passed out from being fucked by him, naked, lustful. Chu Wanning's skin looked as if it had been soaked in finest Pear Blossom wine, flushed beautifully. A pair of phoenix eyes stared, unfocused, his breathing rapid. Redness spread from the ends of his eyes, and his lips were slightly open, trembling unconsciously.

Taxian-Jun stared at the moist quivering lips. He could not help but think of this how he was never willing to show weakness in front him, but had willingly sucked that Mo-zongshi's cock…

His anger burst into flames, even though he has done it so many times. He again pushed into him. Chu Wanning at this time has already had a dry orgasm too many times, he was almost unconscious, so instinctively a hoarse cry came out: "Ah…"

"Why are you crying out. You are still sucking me so tightly" Taxian-Jun smiled low, "This Venerable One is good, right?"

He naturally could not answer, but it didn't not matter, at least Chu Wanning's body was honest. At least Chu Wanning had been completely opened by him, hot and trembling. This powerful body became so sensitive under him, and the aftertaste of the climax made him so sensitive, as long as he moved, Chu Wanning could not help but frown his eyebrows, and his body would spasm.

Only he could do this.

Taxian-Jun thought so, he lifted his hand to touch the other's face, Chu Wanning instinctively shrunk a bit, but still the large hand pinched the jaw, stroked on the cheek. His face was clear but was wet with tears.

After such an fierce and crazed entanglement, Taxian-Jun seemed to have finally confirmed something. He sighed softly, "Wanning. You've finally retuned. Don't leave anymore."

Black purple pupil reflected the strong but fragile face. Dazedly, Taxian-Jun leaned over and kissed Chu Wanning, sighed contentedly.

“Go to sleep.”

He pulled over the messy brocade quilt, covering both of them.

Taxian-Jun slept while holding onto Chu Wanning. Just like that snowy night on Nanping Mountain, the night before Mo Ran died, he was also holding him in his arms, until the light dimmed, until dawn broke on the horizon. These two people were the same.

As the lust was fading, Chu Wanning felt like a puppet who had been manipulated. His body was full of sweat and fluids. He couldn’t say or do anything. He stayed in this state for a long, long time. Slowly, his consciousness began to return. He began to hear the rain outside, he could feel Taxian-Jun’s breathing, his embrace…

After a while, he looked towards Taxian-Jun, who was resting with eyes closed.

“……” For a second, Chu Wanning felt an intense stab of fear. He didn’t know which era this was. The person next to him was so cold. He was afraid this body would be like the one at Nanping Mountain, and gradually lose its life, its heartbeat gradually stopping. His started to tremble with fear — Why? This was just an empty shell, a living corpse. But why was he reacting like before, with the same emotions and behavior? But of course Taxian-Jun wouldn’t answer. Or perhaps Taxian-Jun himself doesn’t know.

The chaotic thoughts and emotions gradually faded, and his gaze became clearer. Chu Wanning forced himself to calm down. He indeed was able to, in such despair and pain… to force himself to calm down. Wushan Palace was filled with the strong scent of desire, right… this was Wushan Palace. Not Nanping Mountain. The one holding him was not Mo-zongshi, it was Taxian-Jun.

This was his long dead lover, disciple, husband… just a living corpse. Chu Wanning endured the sorrow in his throat, and slowly suppressed all of his emotions. He removed them, obliterated them.

At the end of these two lives, the two of them embraced each other in the depths of this desperate situation. Everything slowly came back to ease.

The last lingering fell to the night.

After an unknown period of time, the sound within the room gradually died down.

Under the heavy curtain that had been drawn down, the blanket that had fallen down randomly was revealed. The bright and dim light from the dense flame outside the window made it difficult for anyone to see it. The heavy rain didn't stop. On the contrary, it got heavier and heavier.

Chu Wanning opened his eyes in the dark night, the man beside him had already fallen asleep. Perhaps it was because he had grown accustomed to it after so many years of being together, or perhaps it was because Taxian-Jun thought that it would be very safe to feed him the Flexible Muscle Powder. Half of his well-proportioned body was still pressed down on him, heavy enough to make him breathless.

Chu Wanning turned his head and looked at the man's face.

When the Gates of Life and Death had just opened, he had come into contact with Taxian-Jun. He could still remember the ice-cold feeling and the deathly stillness of his chest.

But the person right next to him right now had a heartbeat.

The unearthed spirit core once again gathered itself into a heart-like object within Taxian-Jun's body.

— Don't think too much about it. Mo Ran is dead. No matter which world it was on, they were all dead.

This was what Chu Wanning told herself amidst this slow and powerful heartbeat.

Mo Ran was dead. This was only a soulless body.

You know what you have to do.

His heart was as hard as iron, and a brilliant light began to gather in his palm. However, the light would sometimes turn bright and sometimes dim, and then finally extinguish.

Chu Wanning silently stared at the man in front of him.

The light was very dim. When Taxian-Jun closed his eyes and lowered his eyelashes, it was even harder to tell if it was from his previous life or his current life.

Chu Wanning suddenly felt that this time was very similar to the rainy night when they first slept together in the Wuchang Town. That night, he had actually woken up as well. He had leaned over and gently kissed Mo Ran's sleeping face.

No. No, no, no.

Mo Ran was already dead. Even if he had a heartbeat, it would still be a corpse. Even if it could speak, it would lose its spirit soul.

Dead.

However, why did he still remember what happened after he reincarnated? Why did the emotions in his eyes look so clear and full? Why…

Chu Wanning was startled, he could not bear to think about it any longer.

Gritting his teeth, the light in his hand rose up and summoned Huaisha, condensing it into a shining golden dagger. The instant he turned around, he closed his eyes and mercilessly stabbed towards Taxian-Jun's chest!

With a "chi" sound, he didn't have a sword hilt!

Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes. There was no trace of him around him. The sharp blade formed from sand pierced through the bed. In the end, the divine weapon, which could cut through metal like mud, was unable to pierce through the living corpse of the emperor.

The rain was too fast. One of the windows in the east had been out of repair for a long time. It had bounced open in the middle of the night. A torrential downpour poured in, creating a chilly wind.

A white lightning bolt tore through the sky and struck the interior of the room, and a cold, snow-white light shone upon the terrifying face lying beside the bed.

"The Venerable one still naively thought that you probably wouldn't attack again."

"…" Chu Wanning slowly turned around.

Taxian-Jun leaned against the bed post. There was a shallow cut on his bare chest. It was a scratch he had left when he dodged. He didn't care and just coldly looked at Chu Wanning, "I didn't think you would still want to kill me."

He rushed forward with astonishing speed and caught hold of Chu Wanning's wrist in an instant. With a crisp 'kacha' sound, he dislocated his arm.

"Isn't it unexpected? I seem to be more powerful than ever before?" Taxian-Jun stared at the pain on Chu Wanning's pale but still silent face, "You must have never seen any of these."

He paused, as if mocking himself, "Actually, there is nothing to be surprised about. If you were left alone. You are not familiar with anyone, and you can never let your guard down. The most interesting thing every day was only cultivation. After seven or eight years like this, you will also have made great progress."

The bright light of Huaisha disappeared and was replaced by a fragmented shadow, merging back into Chu Wanning's bones and blood.

Taxian-Jun "In the past, my moves were all given to me by you. But not now."

"…"

"How long has he been reborn again? I've been suffering in this world for almost that long, and now I've even obtained his spiritual core." As he spoke, he rubbed Chu Wanning's eyebrows with his thickly callused thumbs, "With Shizun's ability, it's impossible to kill me."

After a while, he seemed to have thought of something and said, “Shizun might not know what I’ve been doing in this tattered world all these years.”

His tone was intimate, and he never called himself “this Venerable One” again.

“I’ll bring you over to take a look now.”

The place he wanted to bring Chu Wanning to wasn’t too far away. It was at the peak of the mountain, the weakest place in the world of cultivation.

During the previous battle, his clothes were all soaked, and he even ripped off Chu Wanning’s clothes. However, Taxian-Jun wasn’t worried about this. He used his fingers to carry the orders from the Spirit Butterfly. Moments later, Liu-gonggong brought a pile of laundry into the hall.

From behind the curtain, Chu Wanning saw the old servant that he hadn’t seen for many years. He didn’t know what to feel.

“Your Majesty, the clothes have been delivered.”

“You’re the only one who knows where to put all these old clothes. They’re packed pretty quickly.” Taxian-Jun said calmly, “Let’s leave it here. You can leave.”

Knowing that Chu Wanning was in the tent, the old servant’s hands trembled a little. Although he wanted to take another look at the old master, due to the etiquette, he lowered his head and stumbled out of the hall.

The clothes fit perfectly, they couldn’t possibly not fit, because they were an old item from Chu Wanning’s previous life.

Mo Ran sat on his long legs at the side and silently watched as Chu Wanning put on his clothes. His eyes were a little blurry, no one knew what he was thinking, just like how no one knew why Chu-zongshi had been dead for so many years and the Emperor hated him the most but still did not burn his clothes.

It was something that no one needed anymore.

The rain was still heavy, and the dark clouds in the night sky were churning as strange phenomena appeared everywhere. However, Taxian-Jun lazily opened up a rain barrier, enveloping the both of them within. As they walked through the pavilions, they could only see the dark and gloomy rain. The scenery and the servants' faces were so blurred.

"Your Majesty, Grandmaster."

"Greetings, Your Majesty. Grandmaster."

After walking past the Three Lives Palace, they could already see the ominous red light rising from the back of the mountain on the Bridge of Helplessness. Taxian-Jun was walking in front when he turned around and glanced at Chu Wanning with a smile that was not a smile, "The Sisheng Peak is at the point of the confluence of Yin and Yang, the barrier is the weakest. You used to come often to make up for it, but have you felt any auras other than the ghost aura?"

Chu Wanning did not answer, but clenched his fingers into a fist under his robe.

He already knew what he was going to see — Shi Mingjing had torn open the Gate of Life and Death, controlled the Zhenlong chess game, swept through two worlds, and the last thing he was going to do was definitely not that simple.

"…"

"Since you are in this mortal world, you must have passed by many villages and towns." Taxian-Jun slowed down his pace, and walked beside him. He spoke in a calm tone, "Do you think that the villages and towns are terrifyingly quiet?"

Together they passed the narrow path that led to the back of the mountain and brushed away the lush vines.

After turning another corner, he would reach the cliff at the back of the mountain.

Taxian-Jun suddenly stopped in his tracks and stood at the corner. Behind the cliff, it seemed as though a raging fire was burning, causing the mountain to turn crimson. He turned his face to the side, and that strange red glow extended to his eyes. He grinned at Chu Wanning with a sweet smile.

"This one has achieved many years of success here. Shizun, please."

Ch. 295 [Sisheng Peak] Martyrdom Is Hard

What lay before their eyes was a bridge.

The bridge was built from the edge of the cliff and stretched all the way to the end of the sky. In the far distance…

There was a floating stone gate, and it was impossible to estimate its size with the naked eye. It stood tall amidst the clouds, thunder and lightning mixed with torrential rain could not extinguish the scarlet flames emanating from its surroundings.

“Shizun, do you still remember? In the past, you told us that a long, long time ago, after the devils went to Gouchen the Exalted to help Fuxi wipe off the demons, they drove the demons out to the human world, and hoped that they would stop after that.”

Taxian-Jun placed his hands behind his back and looked towards the grand and majestic stone door, and said: “The Demon Lord was defeated, and he fled with his armor. After returning to the Demon Realm, because of his defeat, he felt even more ashamed. Therefore, he ordered all the doors that are linked to the mortal world to be sealed, since then, it has nothing to do with the secular world.”

He paused for a moment and continued, “But there is no absolute in everything. Just in case, the Demon Lord has left a final opening… This is the one in front of us.”

Bang! A thunderous sound was heard.

“The Door of Martyrdom.”

However, Chu Wanning's gaze was not on the Door of Martyrdom. Ever since he came here, he had been staring at the bridge that connected the land of demons and the mountain behind the Sisheng Peak.

When he saw that bridge, he was first shocked, then his face turned deathly pale. In the end, his entire body seemed to have been shattered, almost like a crazed demon.

He turned his head abruptly, "Mo Weiyu, are you crazy?! This bridge…"

"This bridge is so spectacular." Even though he had seen Chu Wanning's reaction, Taxian-Jun still smiled, raised his eyelids and asked, "What's wrong with you? Don't you like it?"

…… Like it?

In front of him was a five-foot-wide bridge without half a log and half a nail. From the beginning to the end, it was formed from the overlapping of a human body!

The corpses were piled on top of each other, suspended high in the sky, forming a bridge of corpses that could not be seen. The corpses were of both men and women, both young and old. They were densely packed like ants, and they directly led to the grand Devil Realm gate. How many were there? It was simply incalculable.

"Since it is a Door of Martyrdom, there must be a Path of Martyrdom."

Taxian-Jun's expression was indifferent, it was as if these corpses were no different from the stones he picked up on the roadside. The wooden stakes he felled from the forest were no different from what he'd felled from before. Then he blew his whistle, and a bright blue light flashed in the distance, as if something were running toward them from the far end of the bridge.

“Actually, there are some secrets about the demon realm that Shizun isn’t clear about.” Then, he turned around and smiled, “If you don’t mind, this disciple will talk to Shizun for a bit.”

Chu Wanning: “…”

“Shizun only knew that during the great battle between Fuxi and the Demon Lord, Gouchen the Exalted rebelled and built the first ‘sword’ in the world for Fuxi. However, he did not know that the Demon Lord had been harboring hatred in his heart for this, and had deliberately wanted to take revenge on Gouchen the Exalted. Although he could do nothing to the Lord of All Soldiers, he could punish the people of Gouchen’s tribe. He expelled his mother's clan from the demon realm.”

Taxian-Jun hold his sleeve, staring at the faint blue light in the distance and spoke in a low voice.

“Demons have a tyrannical spiritual energy since ancient times. It is because of this powerful bloodline that their physical energy consumption is enormous. Only by continuously eating the flesh of grain and fish that grew in the Demon World can they maintain a normal flow of their spirit cores.”

“After the mother race of Gouchen the Exalted left for the mortal world, due to the lack of suitable food for a long time, their spirit cores gradually shrank and changed. In the end, most of them became useless trash. The only demon characteristics they possess are that their bodies are suitable for cultivation and breeding.”

Taxian-Jun paused for a moment, then turned to look at Chu Wanning, “Shizun should know the origins of Gouchen's mother race, right?”

“…” Even if he did not want to answer, it was a matter of great importance. After a moment of silence, Chu Wanning gritted his teeth and said, “The Butterfly-Boned Beauties?”

“The Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast are also extremely strong demons. In order to pass on its heritage, it has taken a very long time for it to transform into a cultivation cauldron, giving birth to its physique. A body that was originally suitable for dual cultivation with a powerful spirit core could allow their children to continue to grow stronger with each passing generation. But the door to the Demon World is closed, and they can no longer get any more spiritual energy, so the strong spiritual cores are no longer there. All that is left is their spiritual bodies.”

“Of course.” He seemed to have thought of someone, and his black eyes dimmed for a moment. “And also the extraordinary looks that demons are born with.”

He did not need to explain, as Chu Wanning was very clear about this.

In the world of cultivation, there were only two ways of thinking about Butterfly-Boned Beauties: eating flesh, and using them for dual cultivation.

Previously, during the Xuanyuan auction, Song Qiutong had been used as an item for auction, but wasn’t that why she was being auctioned? Even someone as reasonable as Jiang Xi wouldn’t treat the Butterfly-Boned Beauty as a living person, not to mention those cultivators with inferior characters.

“A beautiful face and an alluring body. If they were used on a powerful expert, that would only add to their beauty.” As he spoke, he cast a glance at Chu Wanning.

After a while, he continued, “But if these two things appear on the weak, it will be the feather in the snow, the white fox in the dark. It’s bound to be violated and massacred.”

The line of blue light in the distance was still slowly approaching, approaching…

Taxian-Jun: “At first, the Butterfly-Boned Clan still retained the demon race’s strength and was able to symbiosis with mortals. But slowly, it became weaker and weaker until it was almost completely annihilated. As you and I have seen, in the early days of the primordial era, the strong ate the weak. As for the rest, in order to protect themselves, they have no choice but to conceal their identities.”

“… How can they hide this?”

“Well, this is the first time you’ve asked me anything since we’ve met.” Taxian-Jun rolled his eyes and said flatly, “Actually, it’s very simple. You should remember that when Song Qiutong cried, her tears were golden. This is a characteristic of the demon race. If you want to conceal your identity, you just have to not shed tears.”

Chu Wanning did not utter a word.

It was easy to say to not cry, but it was not easy to do it.

The Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast's beauty was naturally stunning, it was a beauty that was chosen from the crowd, if it aroused suspicion, the cultivators would have ways to force them to shed tears.

"Those Beauties who were not discovered survived, some lived in seclusion in the mountains, while others chose to marry ordinary people… Those who were married to mortals had given birth to children that were sometimes demon-blooded and sometimes ordinary. If one was a demon, it would be difficult for a child to control themselves. Tears of grievance would fall from their eyes, and if others saw that they were golden, then the adults and children would all face disaster. If they were ordinary, then there would be nothing to be happy about, because the demon blood would still exist in their bodies, and who knows what kind of generation will produce a Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast.

Hearing his words, Chu Wanning suddenly thought of a person and said two words with a slight crease of his brows.

"Song Xingyi…"

"Oh, the one called Song Xingyi, lord of Huabi, a few hundred years ago." Taxian-Jun nodded, "That's right, during the process of reproducing, there will occasionally be extremely lucky children. They are just like ordinary people, when they cry they don't shed golden tears, and their bodies won't have any obvious cauldron characteristics. In fact, because their bloodlines are so well mixed, they can quickly produce a spirit core, and their spiritual energy is tyrannical and does not lose to the pure demons. However, the possibility of that happening is extremely small. After a few thousand years have passed, those who have reached the Grandmaster Realm can clearly be counted on one hand."

As he spoke, he stretched out his five slender fingers and waved them in front of his eyes in a somewhat mocking and seemingly interesting manner.

After a while, he continued, “Therefore, in such a precarious situation, many of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Seats want to return to the Demon World. As long as they returned, they would no longer have to live a life where they were on tenterhooks and could not shed tears. They would no longer have to worry about someone selling them for dual cultivation or ravaging them for food. In those years of war and chaos, in which people frantically searched for Butterfly-Boned Beauties to earn a living, they did not need to cut their own face.”

After speaking slowly for so long, he could finally make out a faint blue light in the distance. It seemed that five horses were galloping towards him from the Path of Martyrdom.

Taxian-Jun said, “However, it won’t be that easy to return to the demon realm. The Demon Lord had a blood feud with Gouchen the Exalted. In his eyes, Gouchen the Exalted was a traitor, a traitor to the Demon Realm. Therefore, it would be impossible for them to rise up from the roots of the nine clans for generations to come. Of course he doesn’t want the fallen Beauties to return to their homeland.”

“…”

The rain was still pouring down fast, overflowing the ground.

Taxian-Jun watched as the carriage drew near. Only after a long time did he continue, “It was only when the first Demon Lord was annihilated and the second Demon Lord ascended the throne, that the new Emperor relaxed slightly.”

Chu Wanning's eyes shifted slightly, "He allowed the Butterfly-Boned Beauties to return to the Demonic World?"

"He granted permission." Taxian-Jun smiled, "But, as Shizun saw, he set up a natural barrier that can't be overcome unless someone uses forbidden techniques. If the Beauties want to go home, they have to do it."

Chu Wanning's heart tightened, he finally understood the whole story.

Taxian-Jun pointed at the bridge of the Dead Sea in front of him and said, "Look at the Path of Martyrdom in front of you. It is the only bridge that connects the entrance of the demon realm with the human world. This bridge must be voluntarily sacrificed by the living people in order to be slowly built downwards."

He chuckled, "It's already lucky to find one person who is willing to sacrifice his own life to pave the way for someone else. It's also lucky to find five, but it's really hell to find a hundred. If you are alive and well, who will willingly die for the sake of the descendants of the demon race?"

Chu Wanning looked up, "So, they have to play Zhenlong chess."

Taxian-Jun did not expect him to reply. He was stunned for a moment before baring his teeth, "Correct."

He turned his head and looked at the magnificent Path of Martyrdom, his pupils gradually narrowing, "These people are people who, over the years, I have used my Zhenlong chess game to confuse the mind, making them willingly sacrifice themselves."

"… How many people did you kill?"

Taxian-Jun rolled his eyes. His black and purple pupils stared at Chu Wanning for a long time before he spat out two words, “All of them.”

“…!”

“Almost everyone.”

The bridge before his eyes seemed endless and without boundaries. It was as if everything was very quiet in the torrential rain, and it seemed that there were ghosts screaming and crying, roaring hoarsely and begging for mercy.

Chu Wanning shuddered.

“Do you know how long this bridge is?” Before Chu Wanning could reply, Taxian-Jun said calmly, “I’ve almost killed everyone in this mortal world. I’m afraid not even ten thousand are left alive. However, this bridge has only been more than half filled — the rest, even if we kill the last ten thousand people, will not be able to be filled.”

“… So, you want to open the Gate of Life and Death?”

“You can always think of the worst answer at once. That’s right. I need to open the Gate of Life and Death and acquire enough Zhenlong chess pieces from another mortal world before I can finish paving this path.”

The torrential downpour did not affect their surroundings at all. They looked at each other, their brown eyes staring at the dark purple and black clouds. Finally, they were met with a furious scolding from Chu Wanning.

“You’re crazy!”

Within the purple lightning, Taxian-Jun only formed a sneer, “I knew you would react like that.” As he spoke, he turned his gaze away. The carriages were approaching, and he could gradually make out the details of their appearance.

“Gate of Time, Zhenlong Chess.” He paused. “It’s best to have a rebirth technique. When someone had done all this, the Devil’s Gate would open again. They can all return to their homeland.”

“…” Chu Wanning trembled. His anger and fear rendered him speechless.

“You must want to ask why the Demon Lord allowed them to go home because he had to break these forbidden arts, right?” Taxian-Jun looked at the approaching horse carriage with a rare look of understanding, “It’s actually very simple. The three forbidden arts were created by Gouchen palace, representing the ability of the demon race to travel through heaven and earth. However, in the end, they were viewed as the source of disaster.

He paused for a moment before continuing, “The Clan of beauties were convicted because of Gouchen, so it is only natural that they demonstrate their irreconcilable determination to sever all ties with Gouchen. They have to stand opposite of Gouchen the Exalted and violate Fuxi’s heavenly might in order to obtain the Demon Realm’s forgiveness.”

Suddenly, with a long hiss, the five Heavenly Horses broke through from the flames of the Path of Martyrdom, facing the miserable wind and rain in the world, standing upright in front of the hoof bridge.

Taxian-Jun’s black robe fluttered in the wind. He stepped forward and stroked a Heavenly Horse that had the skull of a skeleton, then said to Chu Wanning, “Breaking the restriction technique disobeys the orders of Gouchen the Exalted, and swore to be Fuxi's enemy. As expected of the descendant of the demon race. All of Hua Binan's plans are for the Butterfly-Boned Beauties, Shizun, do you understand now?"

Ch.296 [Sisheng Peak] Just Like the Time in His Dream

Understand?

What was there to not understand? Shi Mingjing had concealed his true identity from the very beginning. For so many years, he had always avoided talking about his own parents.

Even though he mentioned it occasionally, there were still a few mournful looks in his eyes, making it hard for people to continue questioning him.

There were loopholes in lies, and words tended to lead to mistakes. There was no way Shi Mei wouldn't understand such simple logic.

Thinking about it now, no matter how wronged or wounded Shi Mei had been since he was young, he had never shed a single tear…

"Come up, this Venerable one will bring you to the end of the Path of Martyrdom."

The carriage was made of gold and was embedded with statues of demons. Two statues were carved on the shaft of the carriage, and on the left was a bearded man. His eyes were wide open, and he held an imposing aura in his hands.

The one who carved must have some grievances because the man carved was extremely ugly and looked tiresome. On the right was a plump woman with low eyebrows and closed eyes, ugly, but still within tolerable limits.

The most uncomfortable thing was that in front of the five horses pulling the carriage, there were five things suspended with spiritual energy, limbs and a bloody head. These were fake, they were carved out of wood, but

Chu Wanning had seen the fake Gouchen before at the bottom of the Jincheng Lake, so he could easily recognize that it was actually Gouchen's appearance.

“All the carriages and horses in the demonic world are the same.” Taxian-Jun glanced at the tiny head. “It’s been like this for thousands of years.”

Inside the carriage, Taxian-Jun sat comfortably on the little bell on the Demon Horse’s bridle. “You should have guessed who those two little guys on the shaft are,” he said.

“… It’s Fuxi and Nuwa.”

“That’s right.” He smiled. “The Demon Lord hates the God Realm so much that he would like to see the god help him pull the carriage for the rest of his life.”

“… How can Shennong be spared?”

“I’ve never heard of this from Hua Binan. However, according to the legends, Shennong was a gentle and magnanimous man, and he normally didn’t care too much about fights and killings. He didn’t have a very close relationship with Fuxi and Nuwa either. I imagine that in the past, that old schemer didn’t participate in the Fiendgod battle very much.”

Chu Wanning did not say anything else and turned to look at the red Path of Martyrdom outside the window.

The demonic horse was extremely fast, and after the time it took to make a cup of tea, it had already brought them to the end of this long, bloody bridge.

After he got off the carriage, he saw the edge of the bridge made of bones. In front of him was a boundless sea of clouds, and the Devil Realm Gate was several hundred times larger than it had been when he was at the Sisheng Peak. It was so huge that it seemed to connect the heavens and the earth above as it descended upon the earth, splashing the Infernal Realm in the rain and the night. When a mortal stands before it, it is like a mayfly to a giant tree, or a millet to the sea.

Chu Wanning looked at the colossal door that led to heaven and saw exquisite relief carvings of the five realms. The devil realm was the strongest, followed by demons, ghosts and humans, and the divine realm was the lowest. These relief sculptures were impressive, but they faintly revealed an unfathomable weirdness.

“Do you think it’s strange?” Taxian-Jun walked to his side and stood by his side as he looked at the giant door. “When I first saw it, I felt that something was wrong.”

“…”

However, he did not intend to waste any more time to make Chu Wanning stare at the door for an hour, so he said, “The carvings on the door were not made of the same material, but were forged later. It’s the Immortal’s Bone.”

Chu Wanning suddenly turned around.

“In the prehistoric era, when the gods and devils fought, the Demon Lord skinned and skinned all the captives and immortals, turning them into floating sculptures, and embedded them into the doors to the Demon World."

The strong wind made his clothes flutter.

"From today onwards, all living beings heading towards the Demon World will see just how many gods and devils have been captured by the devils. It also means that the demons behind the gates will never interact with the gods."

After looking at the strange phenomenon for a while, Taxian-Jun said, "It's about time. Now that you know what we're going to do, do you still have so many complaints?"

"… To kill all those who went through two lifetimes, just to pave the way back home." Chu Wanning looked up, even though he knew that Taxian-Jun was just a puppet, he still could not help but say coldly, "Without any complaints, do you want me to say that you've done well?"

Taxian-Jun was about to reply when he suddenly heard a commotion behind him.

They turned around and saw Mu Yanli leading thousands of people from the back of the mountain. She did not expect the two of them to be here. She was stunned for a moment before her gaze landed on Chu Wanning.

"Why did you bring him here?" He stared at Chu Wanning, but her words were directed at Taxian-Jun, "Aren't you afraid of causing trouble?"

Taxian-Jun said coldly, "With just a glance, I know what he will do next. No need for you to worry."

“This place is an important place for the Butterfly-Boned Clan to return to. Did you know —”

He didn’t want to hear her waste any more words, so he interrupted her and said, “Then amongst you trash, who can fight him to a draw?”

Mu Yanli choked.

“By my side, he is even more inescapable than if he were in a cage with ten layers of Forbidden Spells. This reputed one has the kindness to share our worries with you, why are you blabbering so much nonsense?”

“You-!”

“Why? If you are not convinced, I will immediately send him back. From now on, I will not bother to do anything about it. Try to keep an eye on him yourself. Don’t let him get close to his again by accident and easily take his life.”

Mu Yanli was left speechless for a while. After a long time, he changed the subject and angrily said, “… Forget it. I’ve got some pieces. Fill them in. In addition, A-Nan has detained some people from this world, and they are detained at the Sisheng Peak. After you’ve tidied up the matter in front of you, quickly go back and create some new chess pieces.”

After he finished speaking, she flicked her sleeves and left. Taxian-Jun glanced at Chu Wanning, revealing his white teeth as the dimples on his face deepened.

“You’re lucky to have a new batch of materials. Would you like to see how I made the bridge?”

The scene of a living person offering sacrifices to build a pontoon bridge was too horrifying. That day, after he returned, Chu Wanning had a nightmare.

In the dream, Taxian-Jun stood at the end of his Path of Martyrdom, stepping on broken bones. His heart, liver, spleen, stomach, and every piece of minced meat had grown a bright red mouth.

“I don’t want to die…”

“Give me back my life… Give me back my life…”

He saw half of Xue Meng’s face among the corpses. He saw Xue Zhengyong’s eyes, Madam Wang’s body, and the hand with a thin mole on it.

He ran towards them with all his might, shouting, “Xue Meng! A Sect Leader! F —”

His voice was cut off.

He saw that under the blood-red light, Mo Ran slowly turned his head and saw that it was still the same disciple uniform from before. His eyes were gentle and sad as he said, “Shizun, save me…”

“I don’t want to die, I don’t want to die like this… Save me…”

Suddenly, he woke up from his stupor as he gasped for breath. His face and back were covered in cold sweat. He wanted to stand up, but his wrist had been bound by Taxian-Jun Lord’s forbidden spell, leaving him unable to move.

It was quiet in the room, and he was the only one there, the sand in hourglass dripping slowly, like the tears of the dead converging into a river.

“Someone…”

In recent days, he had become slender and thin. He was sitting on the bed now, too thin, and the thick covers were almost completely over him.

Memories from his past life, memories he had missed in this life, piles of corpses, and a hopeless future.

One by one, the pieces fell on his shoulders and grind the bones to ashes.

Chu Wanning’s eyes were empty. He slowly recovered from the nightmare, but reality was no better than the nightmare. His expression was broken.

“Someone…”

Liu-gong hobbled in, he looked much older than Chu Wanning remembered.

After all, this world was too far away from the world he lived in when he died in his previous life.

“Grandmaster, are you having a nightmare?”

The old servant could see through him at a glance, Chu Wanning nodded tiredly.

“I’ll go heat up a pot of ginger tea for you…”

“No need.” Chu Wanning raised his moist eyes and looked at him through the darkness, “Where is Mo Ran? Still on the Path of Martyrdom?”

“…”

“How many people did he kill?”

Elder Liu was silent for a long time before sighing, “Grandmaster, there’s no need to ask.”

The drip flowed on for a long, long time. The rain and wind outside was very bleak.

“This old servant does not know how to cultivate.” However, he also knew that the day that the Gate of Life and Death was opened was the day that nothing could be turned back. “Actually, all of these Grandmaster understand as well.”

After a while, he suddenly closed his eyes and gripped the red magical chain on his wrist. Ever since his attempt to assassinate him, Taxian-Jun had been on guard against him. When he had nothing to do, Taxian-Jun would personally watch over him. When he went out to pave the way for the return of the demons, Chu Wanning would be locked in the Wushan Palace.

“Grandmaster… Forget it. It’s been two lifetimes, you’ve done enough.” Elder Liu’s voice was old, like an autumn leaf about to fall, “The last few days, let’s look at it like everyone else.”

“Have a good life. Stop torturing yourself…”

Liu-gong then brought a bowl of ginger tea and watched Chu Wanning drink it. The old man used to be very cautious, knowing what to say and what not to say. This was also the reason why he was able to stay by Taxian-Jun's side for so long.

But on this rainy night, he looked at the extremely haggard Chu Wanning, whose face was even whiter than a porcelain cup. He looked at the rainy night outside and suddenly had a complicated feeling.

Liu-gong didn't know how to console him, so he could only stutter: "Drink some more, at least you will have to finish this bowl. It is said that nightmares are caused by the cold of the body. After drinking it, you won't have nightmares."

After a while, he mumbled in a daze, "My son used to have nightmares. Give him some to drink, and he'll sleep soundly…"

However, the mumble was too soft that Chu Wanning did not hear it.

When the old servant had served him tea, he went out slowly with a tray and wiped his eyes before he went out of the room. The old man's heart softened, but he could not do anything. Thus, his back became even more hunched.

He disappeared down the corridor.

Actually, Elder Liu was right. To stop Shi Mei, the best time was before the Gate of Life and Death was opened. If missed, it would be almost impossible to reverse the situation.

Chu Wanning sat in the empty Wushan Palace. He knew that he lost to Shi Mei in the end. In his previous life, he discovered the truth too late, and his sacrifice and scheming only delayed this calamity for about ten years.

In the end, everything returned to its original point.

He did his best, but in the end, nothing came of it.

There was more than one book that recorded that when time and space had ruptured and Heaven's punishment was about to arrive. In fact, even if it did not come, these two worlds were already in complete chaos. This was the last period of time. Many people knew this in their hearts, but the divine intent of Taxian-Jun was incomplete, so he didn't feel anxious at all. He was living a very carefree life.

When he returned that day, he brought a pot of Pear Blossom White.

He poured himself a cup of wine as he said to Chu Wanning, "The Path of Martyrdom is more or less paved."

"…"

"When I've done this for him, I'll be free." He took a sip of the pear blossom white that he hadn't tasted for a long time, then smiled. "Oh, it's the same taste."

After finishing his sentence, he looked up at Chu Wanning, "When they return to the Demonic World, do you want to stay with me in this mortal world, or do you want to cross the gates of life and death to let me follow you back to the previous world?"

Chu Wanning looked at him and asked, "Where is Shi Mei?"

"Shi…"

He was stunned for a moment, then his black brows slowly furrowed. His expression was somewhat blank and somewhat painful. He put down his wine cup and raised his hand to rub his forehead.

Chu Wanning watched his every move as he thought to himself, “Hua Binan has indeed confused his thoughts. To Taxian-Jun, the matter of ‘Shi Mei’ doesn’t make sense anymore, so there was no way for him to ponder over it further.”

In the end, Taxian-Jun felt a splitting headache. He suddenly slammed his cup down, and under the candlelight, he stared at the man in front of him with his sleepy and slightly red eyes.

“I don’t know.”

He opened his eyes and pulled Chu Wanning over. He was still sitting at his original spot. After a while, his forehead was pressed against Chu Wanning’s waist. He was sniffing the fragrance of haitang blossoms.

“Don’t ask me.”

In the following days, Taxian-Jun’s manner were almost exactly the same as in his previous life; it even became even more severe.

This body that should not have feelings seemed to be afraid that Chu Wanning would disappear or die again, so he used his strongest technique to trap him. During the day, Taxian-Jun would forge Zhenlong chess pieces and lay down the Path of Martyrdom. When he returned at night, he would be entangled with consort Chu endlessly. It was as if only the most intense sexual love could quell the uneasiness in his heart, as if only going deep into the warmth of Chu Wanning’s body could confirm that this was not a dream.

“Wanning…”

In the dead of night, the man sleeping beside him muttered.

“Please pay attention to me…”

Even though he knew it was impossible, at this moment, he still felt that the person he was entangled with had a soul. The heartbeat under his chest was heavy and powerful, his face the same as the dead youth.

When he spoke in a hoarse voice, there was even something similar to love in his voice.

Ch. 297 [Sisheng Peak] From the Butterfly-Boned Beauty

On the sixth day, the door creaked open.

The rain outside was still pouring down. Someone had put away the wet oil-paper umbrella, and was walking into the hall with his rain-soaked clothes.

“Shizun.”

The person was dressed in a funeral white robe with a headband. His peach blossom eyes were filled with emotion, but there was a tinge of green in them. This was the first time since the battle at Heaven-Piercing Tower that Shi Mei went to the Wushan Palace to look for him.

“Before, I wanted to visit Shizun, but I couldn’t do so. Only until today did I finally have some free time. If you come too late, don’t blame me, Shizun.”

Chu Wanning only glanced at him once before turning his gaze away.

Shi Mei didn’t mind this at all. He sat down in front of Chu Wanning. Perhaps it was because the paving was smooth, but he seemed to be in a good mood, and his eyes were shining brightly.

“Are you still angry?”

“…”

“The Devil Realm’s gate is about to open, does Shizun have nothing else to ask me?”

Chu Wanning still did not answer, he looked out the window at the rain. His weakness and blankness were only shown in front of someone he deeply loved. Shi Mingjing had used up all of his heat, so he became a rock that no amount of persistence could melt away.

Shi Mei sighed, “I came here to have a heart-to-heart talk with you, so at least tell me something.”

Chu Wanning finally threw a word at him, “Scram.”

Unlike before the great battle, the closer one got to success, the calmer one’s attitude became. He was not angered by Chu Wanning’s coldness. Instead, he smiled and said, “You’re right.”

The rain was drumming on the damp windows, the Gate of Life and Death had messed up two worlds, any abnormality was normal, Chu Wanning even felt that the storm would not stop forever, it just continued to fall like this, submerging the two worlds.

Shi Mei didn’t mind. He got up and poured two cups of tea. He then handed one to Chu Wanning and said, “Since you ignored me, I’ll tell you some things myself. I don’t like to explain myself, but I don’t want to have too many misunderstandings with Shizun either.”

While the tea was still warm and hot, he blew away the green leaves and slowly took a sip.

“What should I say? I’ve done many evil things since I was young and I’ve never spoken the truth, but I truly do not like to recklessly kill the innocent.”

Chu Wanning unconsciously clenched his fist, the veins on the back of his pale hand bulged.

“Shizun, you see that Path of Martyrdom, right? I only wanted to add in those people that are inferior to animals in this world. In any case, that kind of person’s death was not worth lamenting. But then I realized that it was so long, so long that I had to take two mortal corpses to fill it up. I don’t feel too good about it either.”

“…”

“I don’t like the taste of blood on my hands, so I’ve hardly ever killed anyone with my own hands. I didn’t lie to you.”

“You didn’t lie to me.” Chu Wanning suddenly said, “I believe you never killed anyone with your own hands.”

Shi Mei raised his eyebrows as if he was surprised.

Chu Wanning turned around, his eyes as cold as ice, “You’re kind, you’re soft-hearted, you don’t want to kill innocent people, you don’t like to have blood on your hands. So you never do these things yourself. You created a Taxian-Jun, you made him slaughter the Rufeng Sect, you made him into a bloodthirsty tyrant — he does all the things you don't want to do yourself. You’re brilliant.”

“Shizun’s words are a bit unfair.” Shi Mei sighed, “I never thought of killing the Rufeng Sect. That is his personal grudge.”

“There is no personal grudge and hatred that would make him commit such a monstrous sin.”

“Without the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred, would he not have committed such heinous crimes?”

Chu Wanning looked into Shi Mei’s eyes, “He wouldn’t.”

Shi Mei only chuckled and waved his hand, indicating that he didn't want to pester any further. He said: "Forget it. There was nothing to argue about. In short, I once told Xu Shuanglin that I hoped that this world would be able to stay alive, with mediocre people and where good and evil would be rewarded accordingly. These are all truths, I am not lying." He paused for a moment and continued, "But for the Butterfly-Boned Beauty clan, giving kindness to others is equivalent to killing themselves. Our way back to the village has to be paved with blood. I have no choice."

Chu Wanning closed his eyes.

As Shi Mei spoke, he refilled his empty tea cup and sighed, "Shizun may not understand why I am able to sacrifice almost everyone's lives in two dimensions for the sake of the Butterfly-Boned Clan's return to the Demon World. Actually, it's not that hard to understand…"

He looked at the rising steam.

The room was very quiet. The only sounds that could be heard were that of Shi Mei and the voice from before.

"Has Shizun ever seen a herd of wild cows under siege?"

"Eyes red from killing, going on a rampage. They could not wait to pierce all the people and beasts in front of them with two horns. This is the instinct of survival."

Chu Wanning knew what he meant. The Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Clan was like a group of beasts that had been forced into a desperate situation. Greedy faces surrounded them, ready to tear them apart.

“As far as the Beauty Feasts are concerned, there are only two options. Either completely exterminated or returned to the demon realm. This is a choice between life and death.” As Shi Mei said this, his eyes dimmed a little. “If the cultivation world hadn’t treated the Beauty Feasts as a business and wantonly humiliated them, if we were still able to survive in this world, no one would have done such a terrifying thing.”

He was silent for a while, his thoughts churning, his gaze gradually changing from gloomy to confused, from chaotic to cold, and finally to crazy again.

It was like the life he had lived up to this day.

“The cattle have no intention of killing. However, once the butcher’s knife fell, his companions would lose their lives one by one… Shizun, how do you want us to forgive this world?”

“The cultivation world will not create a history book for the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast, because these people will only treat us as livestock or as dual cultivation furnaces. However, our clan has always remembered that in the eleventh year of the Human-Demon War, almost all of the pure blood beauties were killed. In the next few thousand years, even though we have to be extremely careful not to reveal our identities, we are still unable to escape the greed of cultivators.”

“Four thousand years ago. Two thousand five hundred years ago. Nine hundred years ago. Seven hundred years ago. The blood of a beauty who had snuck into the midst of mortals was searched out, flesh was eaten, blood was drank, and assaulted under house arrest… They wish to exterminate our entire clan.”

Shi Mei's fingers gripped the teacup as veins began to appear on his wrist.

"Actually, if they really want to kill, then finish it all at once. But how could those cultivators give up on such a good cultivation formula?"

Chu Wanning: "…"

"Shizun has read many books, so you should know what Guyue'ye did as the Sect Leader in order to prevent the Beauty Clan from being completely destroyed." Shi Mei raised his eyes. A scarlet tinge could be seen in his peach blossom eyes.

Chu Wanning was indeed aware of this matter. Every book that introduced Guyue'ye would mention about it, treating it as a glorious achievement.

The Medical Sect's Guyue'ye went to search for twenty young Butterfly-Boned Beauties, and recruited cultivators with strong and robust bodies to had a day and night relationship with them, to get them pregnant. After the pregnancy, the Sect Leader used elixirs to induce labor, and within four months they would be able to give birth to a baby. The woman who had just given birth was once again tainted, and continued to be forced to conceive, to give birth… This repetition allowed the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Clan to continue.

But it goes on like a pig or a sheep to be slaughtered.

No, not like it. They indeed became the pigs and sheep to be slaughtered.

When a child was born, the boy would immediately be divided into pills, or directly sold to a rich person like the Rufeng Sect. Whereas girls were kept in captivity, and after they were of age, they became a new breeding ground.

“For mating.”

Chu Wanning could still remember the shock and disgust he felt the first time he saw this phrase appear in the “Guyue’ye Immortal Pills”.

Shi Mei laughed, and for the first time, his smile became somewhat miserable and green: “They used the method of refining the Gu to train in the beauties’ area. He actually got praises from the cultivators.”

“A living person… All alive. Just because they have mixed some of the blood of the ancient demons, which could bring benefits to their cultivation, they decided to treat the living as livestock.” In order to hide his pain, Shi Mei raised his hand to drink another cup of tea, but his fingers were trembling.

“The elixir that can stimulate the growth of an embryo is extremely damaging to the mother. None of the beauties who were raised such have lived past the age of thirty. However, a short life is a good thing for them. They can quickly end their nightmare of having sex or being able to only reproduce.”

When he said the words “mating” and “breeding,” there was a sharp pain in his face, as if he had been slapped in the face. For a moment, he couldn’t help but want to curse out loud, but in the end, his mouth moved and only two words filled with ridicule came out.

“Good.”

Chu Wanning opened his eyes and his gaze fell on Shi Mei.

This man, who had always been either indifferent or unpredictable, was now like the most ordinary of avengers, his face carved with clear hatred.

Shi Mei was silent for a while, as if he had thought of something and couldn't bear it any longer. He set the teacup down and rubbed his face in his palms. Finally he took a deep breath and looked up, his eyes red.

In Chu Wanning's memory, Shi Mei's emotions had never been so real and concrete.

"Shizun, do you still remember how Guyue'ye stopped raising beauties?"

"…" Chu Wanning did not know what he was feeling at the moment. He said hoarsely, "A murder case had occurred."

In the end, the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast was not a vile creature, and the Soul Devouring Insects would still bite back, let alone living people.

In the generation of Jiang Xi's master, there was a young girl in the Butterfly-Boned Beauties' Feast area who was unwilling to give in and was extremely scheming. Unlike the older sisters, she was neither suicidal nor numb to death.

She used her beauty and sweet words to seduce a high ranking disciple of the Tianyin Pavilion who came to see the goods at Guyue'ye. That disciple was also a lecherous person, so he couldn't help but fall into this beautiful woman's bed that night. The next day, she begged her lover to rescue her from Guyue'ye, making an oath that she would be under his control for her whole life, to help him cultivate.

The Tianyin Pavilion disciple had a lustful look on his face as he agreed to her request. In the end, the girl escaped from his side within a few days, and he didn't know where he found the seed of fire. Xing Ye returned to Linling Island, burning Guyue'ye's side courtyard.

That night, the beauties who had been placed under house arrest all fled one after another with her help. Over a hundred of Guyue'ye's disciples were burned to death by the fire…

The other sects came to watch the crisis, and while they said some words of comfort, they secretly mocked Guyue'ye for not being able to stand up to a woman. Because of this, the face of the Medical Sect plummeted. The Sect Leader was furious, so he ended his support for the Butterfly-Boned Beauties.

"Since you want to laugh, then don't come ask for medicine in the future. In any case, there are so many people fleeing. If the various cultivators are capable, they might as well go hunting for themselves."

Therefore, when Jiang Xi became the Sect Leader, only Song Qiutong remained in Guyue'ye's hand. She had originally said that she would stay behind to serve the Sect Leader. However, Jiang Xi was a person who did not want to get too close to women. He was especially annoyed with women and thought that it was a disaster for them. Even though many of the elders in the sect were dissatisfied, he still decided to auction off this woman.

Seeing that Chu Wanning was able to recall these memories, Shi Mei finally smiled and said: "I want to admit something."

"… Tell me."

"That day at Xuanyuan Pavilion, yes, it was the day Miss Song was sold. I went too."

Chu Wanning was stunned.

Shi Mei said, “I went. I was in the first tier seat. and they were offering a price of thirty-five million.”

Listening to Shi Mei’s words, Chu Wanning had a vague impression of that day. At that time, Mo Ran was also with him. He wanted to save her life when he saw that Song Qiutong was pitiable, but upstairs, there was a box with a screen covering it, and the guest inside had bid thirty-five million. Then he had thought of asking Mo Ran to take the money to suppress this person’s bid…

“It was you?”

“Mm, it was me.” Shi Mei’s expression gradually calmed down. He smiled and said, “I swore a long time ago that I would protect every Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast that I can help. Song Qiutong is a member of my clan, I got the news and wanted to redeem her. Of course, I also wanted to I also wanted to use Bu’gui to incite the killing intent within Mo Ran in this lifetime. In the end, who knew that the half of your soul left in his body would protect him so well that it would even resonate with you… Forget it. All of this is in the past, what’s there to say?”

“Anyways, Shizun knew that it was Ye Wangxi who bought her in the end.”

“Since she’s one of your people, then why did you…”

“Why did I stand aside and allow her to die? There’s nothing I could do about it. I needed to conceal my bloodline. Actually, all the orders to Mount Huang were issued by me at that time. She was just a pretense. Under other circumstances, I might have been able to save her life. But in front of Xu Shuanglin… Shizun also knows that my spiritual energy is weak, and Xu Shuanglin was my source of power at that time. He treats me as his best friend, but I befriended him as Shi Mingjing of Sisheng Peak."

"…"

"If he knew that I am a Butterfly-Boned Beauty, would he still be willing to conspire with me? I've already said this before. In the eyes of most cultivators, we are pigs, dogs, cows, sheep, and Xu Shuanglin is no exception. Just look at his attitude towards Miss Song."

Chu Wanning's mood was heavy, he didn't know what to say for a long time.

On the other hand, Shi Mei wanted to speak more with him, so he continued, "Let's get back to what were discussing before. We were talking about that Butterfly-Boned Beauty who escaped from Guyue'ye."

"…" Chu Wanning lowered his eyes and remained silent. After a while, he looked at Shi Mei's beautiful face. He had actually noticed something in the old narration and the Shizun's manner, and he almost sighed. "That's your mother," he said. "That girl."

Shi Mei stared blankly at first, but then his spine relaxed and his facial features softened.

He smiled wryly at last. "You can always guess correctly. That's right, she was my mother."

Ch. 298 [Sisheng Peak] A Man Is Not as Good as the Heavens

The rain drummed on the eaves. In the silence, Shi Mei took a sip of tea and, as if he had made some sort of decision, said, “Let me show you something.”

He took out a rusted copper mirror from his Qiankun bag. The edge of the mirror was carved with a flying phoenix, a roaming dragon, and the universe was carved with the sun, moon, and universe.

“This mirror is called the Mirror of the Day before. It is a relic of my father. My father’s surname is Mu… Shizun should have guessed it already. Mu Yanli and I are half-siblings.”

As he finished speaking, he bit his finger and dripped blood onto the mirror. The mirror began to foggy, and when the fog dissipated, a hazy image appeared on the mirror. The illusions gradually formed, forming a clear scene and face…

It was the pavilion of the Tianyin Pavilion. In the picture, it was a scorching summer day. Under the pavilion, there were lotus blossoms blooming in the lotus pond, and red dragonflies were flying low.

A noblewoman dressed in luxurious clothing stood next to the rail-board, a cinnabar mark on her finger. She was currently feeding a plate of pastries to the fishes and the pool was filled with light because of that. This woman was very delicate and elegant, but she was also very cold.

When she turned around to speak to the attendant, he could see that she had a pair of phoenix-like eyes. She looked beautiful but had an arrogant fierce face.

Chu Wanning frowned, looked at her, and then looked up at Shi Mei.

“She’s not my mother.” Shi Mei seemed to see through Chu Wanning’s doubts and smiled, “she is Sister Mu’s biological mother, from the Lin family.”

Not long after, a young woman dressed in a silk dress and a Tianyin Pavilion maid entered the picture through the bronze mirror. She was only around seventeen or eighteen years old, with a gentle and virtuous face. Shi Mei gently stroked the mirror and said: “This is my mother… She was the descendant of the Lord of Huabi, Song Xingyi. Guyue’ye had raised her like an animal and hadn’t given her a name. After she escaped, she wanted to give herself a name, but Song is the surname of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast, so she didn’t dare to take it. So she used Huabi’s homonym, and since then called herself Hua Gui.

“To return home means that after my mother found out that the Butterfly-Boned Clan could return to the Demon World, she hoped to bring all of her clan members home.”

She was speaking respectfully and gently to Madam Lin. Chu Wanning noticed that the Lin Family had always been cold on the screen, and the other maids were all in fear. Only Hua Gui had a sweet smile on her face as she gave her utmost sincerity to her mistress.

Chu Wanning looked up, “How did she enter the Tianyin Pavilion?”

“It was that high-level disciple from the Tianyin Pavilion who helped her. Actually, what was written in the book was not the truth. After escaping from Guyue’ye, my mother didn’t leave his side. They were so passionate that my mother begged him to find a way to release her people. That disciple listened to everything she said, and thus stole the Heaven's Note Pavilion's fire tribulation, helping her."

Chu Wanning felt a small crease in his forehead and thought to himself, So that's it.

The records in the history books were not always correct. Some truths would slowly be eroded by the flow of time. When the people of that era were old and no longer fresh, no one would know the true appearance of the past.

"After two years, the cultivation world has gradually forgotten about the incident with Guyue'ye's fire tribulation. It just so happened that Madam Lin of the Tianyin Pavilion gave birth to a daughter, and Madam Lin was eccentric and was not good at taking care of children. Therefore, she needed the help of a few quick-witted young ladies. That disciple took this opportunity to bring my mother into the pavilion. From then on, my mother became the Madam Lin's maid."

Hearing this, Chu Wanning looked back at the bronze mirror. It was unknown when the mirror's surface had changed. Madam Lin was reading by the window, and Hua Gui was standing by her side, holding a baby in her arms and coaxing it wholeheartedly.

At first glance, the scene looked very gentle. The mistress was graceful, the servant girl was loyal, and the child was delicate and innocent.

However, after careful consideration, he felt a surge of emotions.

"… She later took over from Madam Lin."

“… Right. After staying in the Tianyin Pavilion for a long time, my mother has seen through this sect’s transcendent status in the cultivation world. At that time, she was still somewhat naive and came up with a plan that she thought was better than returning to the demon realm.”

“What?”

“Become the Madam of the Tianyin Pavilion. A descendant of the gods, their words are worth a thousand gold. She thinks that as long as the Pavilion master can open his mouth, no one in the cultivation realm will harm her anymore — at least no one will blatantly harm the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast.”

The light and shadows changed, the bronze rust on the mirror retorted darkly. It was still the original viewing platform, but it was already an unknown year of winter.

Below the stage, the lotus flowers were all withered and withered. No dragonflies, no red carp in the pool. Those bright creatures and the cold beauty of the past, Madam Lin, had all disappeared. It was replaced by the flying snow, the faint fragrance of winter plums, and the back of a woman wearing a thick white fox fur coat.

After a while, a man approached, and she looked back at him, her beautiful face caged in the fine, flapping fur of a fox. She smiled at him, the new snow fading.

At this moment, it was unknown what methods Hua Gui used to remove the original owner of the Tianyin Pavilion. Madam Lin died not long after. The disciple who had helped her in the past was also dead.

She finally got what she wanted and became the pavilion Master of the Tianyin Pavilion, the descendant of the gods.

The sky was a leaden gray with heavy snow. Hua Gui walked up to her husband, blessed him, and then, smiling, reached out her hand to stroke the hair of the little girl beside him.

Shi Mei laughed: “Yes.”

“…”

“Shizun, don’t you understand why Elder Sister Mu, as a daughter of the Lin Clan, only cares about my mother and doesn’t care about her own mother?”

Chu Wanning ignored the question and continued to observe the situation in the mirror.

At that time, Mu Yanli was at most four or five years old. She was carried by Hua Gui without the slightest resistance. She was even hugging Hua Gui’s delicate neck and laughing heartily as if she was having fun with his stepmother.

“Madam Lin was naturally depressed, silent, and had no feelings of admiration for children,” Shi Mei replied. “After Mu-jiejie was born, her illness became more and more serious, to the point that she could injure or maim her. Once, when my mother wasn’t watching, she took the scissors and stabbed the back of Mu-jiejie’s hand four or five times, and when my mother came back, she saved Mu-jiejie, who was crying to the point of tears.”

“A mother who would stab her or a mother who would love and take care of her since she was young. Mu-jiejie chose the latter.”

The scene changed. There was a thin layer of frost outside the window, sticking to the blessings of longevity. Should be a year after the Spring Festival, Hua Gui sat at a small rosewood table to write.

Beside her sat two children, a boy and a girl. The girl was tall and cold, while the boy had gentle eyes. They were Hua Binan and Mu Yanli from when they were children.

“Alright.” Hua Gui smiled as she picked up the piece of paper and blew on it, before smiling, “Look at your mother’s drawing of the Medical Sect’s elixir manuals. It’s not bad, isn’t it?”

Mu Yanli still had a childish voice as she said in a high-pitched voice, “Mother, of course it’s nice to watch.”

Shi Mei was even younger, so he didn’t even know how to sound like a child. He could only sit at his original spot and smack his fingers while watching the two of them laughing merrily.

“My father was obsessed with his cultivation, and he was usually neglectful towards me and my sister. The enlightenment that Sister Mu and I had was taught by my mother personally.” Looking at the scene in the mirror, Shi Mei recalled, “She taught us how to read and write, as well as some basic spells.”

“She can use magic?”

“Just a little.” Shi Mei paused for a moment. “A fake move that frightens the common people, I’m afraid that it can’t even beat the weakest cultivator."

"…"

"But she's willing to accompany us, to stay with us day and night." Sighing, Shi Mei's gaze became a little stiff, "No matter how she works and plans, how she treats outsiders. But she treats me and Sister Mu with such kindness."

The scene on the surface of the mirror spun faster and faster, as if time had slipped past the gaps between his fingers like a shuttle of water. In many of these situations, Mu Yanli and Shi Mei gradually grew up.

And in the process, almost every step of the brother and sister was guarded by Hua Gui.

On a stormy night, she coaxed Mu Yanli to sleep.

One afternoon in the middle of summer, she fed Shi Mei with red bean and coconut soup.

All of these things happened bit by bit.

"Later on, when I reached the age of enlightenment, my father personally taught me the techniques of the Tianyin Pavilion. However, my talent was lacking and I was unable to learn them. He was very disappointed. At that time, I also thought that I was a useless person. After all, Sister Mu had successfully reached Foundation Establishment when she was eight years old. And even after I put in all my effort, I didn't even feel the slightest bit of Qi."

The little Shi Mei sat by the pond in a daze, a smaller sword resting on his small knees.

Hua Gui dragged the long robes with a frown on her face as she walked over the wooden bridge. She looked around and found the child who was alone and lost in thought. Her anxious expression finally relaxed.

She walked to his side, bent down, and said a few words to him. Then she carried him in her arms and walked back to the end of the garden.

“Because she had once stayed in Guyue’ye for a long time, she had seen many people with weak spiritual energy who could gain a place in the cultivation world through the Medical Sect. She did not overturn everything in one blow just because of Guyue’ye’s abuse of Beauties. She persuaded father to let me start cultivating the path of medicine.”

Previously, when Shi Mei told him about the intimate relationships between men and women, Chu Wanning knew that Hua Gui had some tricks up her sleeve. However, he did not know how strong she was, so he was unable to say.

And when he heard that, he could suddenly feel the sharpness of this woman…

To her, Guyue’ye was just like a hellish nightmare, devouring the first half of her life. If it were any other person, even if they didn’t hate the Medical Sect to the bone, they would still dislike the Medical Sect. However, she was very clear about what the Medical Sect was, what she needed, and how she was supposed to do it.

She had a pair of extremely calm eyes. Even if her hatred was as deep as the sea, she would not act rashly.

“Her plans have always been methodical. One step at a time, she might have already thought of the next hundred steps. So apart from taking care of me and big sister Mu, she still has the energy to go around gathering the whereabouts of her family members.

However, it was obvious that the status of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty remained unchanged. Moreover, Chu Wanning remembered that this Madam Hua had passed away a long time ago. There must be a hidden meaning behind this.

Chu Wanning had a vague conjecture in mind as to what was going on with the Butterfly-Boned clan and the descendant of the god race. He asked, “Later on, Madam Hua’s identity… It was exposed?”

Shi Mei didn’t immediately reply. His eyes shined with an overly bright light. At first glance, it looked extremely sharp, like a deep hatred. But on closer look, it was like the sadness of the tide.

“It shouldn’t have been exposed.” He said, “Father has no brains at all, and couldn’t tell what’s wrong with Mother at all. But no matter what, he was still a descendant of the gods. Even though the God race’s blood in his body is minuscule, he still had some innate ability to sense it.”

He lowered his eyes and looked at his mirror. The scene had already shifted to the Pavilion Master’s room, where a man with slight spots on his temples was lying in bed.

“When I was nine years old, this man had a very strange illness. Even the best doctors could not find out the cause of the illness.”

Shi Mei sneered: “Actually, after knowing the inside information, you should know very well. He is a descendant of the Divine Queen, and my mother is a descendant of the Infernal Queen. After the war between the gods and devils, the Demon Lord had laid down a curse — from today onwards, for generations to come, gods and devils cannot join hands. Those who break this curse will die for sure."

"Father's strange illness was caused by this ancient curse, but it was unknown to him. As for the God Realm, perhaps it was due to pity, or perhaps it was because it wanted to embarrass the Demon Lord. Anyway, one night, in a dream, a god spoke to my father and told him exactly what had happened. Furthermore… he said that if he wants to survive, he needs to sever all ties with the witch."

Chu Wanning looked at Shi Mei's ferocious face, waiting for him to continue.

He knew that things were definitely not as simple as cutting it in two.

"After he woke up from his dream, my father was furious," said Shi Mei. "The Tianyin Pavilion had always wanted everything to go their way, but his status in the cultivation world was extraordinary. Everyone treated him as a god and respected him. But this woman… This piece of rotten meat that looks like a pig or dog to be butchered, and is a dual cultivation furnace, to think that she would actually scheme against him and deceive him."

"…"

"She even almost killed him. How vicious. So…"

He took in a deep breath. No matter how well he had suppressed his emotions, his voice was still hoarse.

He held the teacup tightly. The tea was already cold, so he did not finish it. With a thought, he exerted too much force and the porcelain cup exploded with a bang.

The tea juice splattered everywhere…

The surface of the mirror had also been splashed with tea. The image was blurred by the amber color of the tea juice. One could vaguely see that the man on the sickbed had summoned Hua Gui.

He walked barefoot out of bed, pretended to have nothing to do with her, and walked to the door with a smile. With his back to Hua Gui, he closed and locked the door.

The man turned to his wife. In the distorted mirror light and water stains, a face that looked like a leopard surfaced.

Shi Mei suddenly trembled. He abruptly reversed the mirror and turned his back on the mirror, no longer looking at the mirror.

The veins on the back of his hand bulged like tree roots of a coiled dragon. Fear and hatred surged through every blood vessel.

After a long moment, he buried his face in his hands. His voice sounded extremely exhausted.

“He…”

He only said one word before stopping.

“This beast…” It was as if there was a monstrous flood of hatred that was about to be vented. It seemed as if there were thousands of words it wanted to spit out. However, once the ten thousand horses and thousand armies reached its throat, it didn’t know which words it should say first.

He should have seen this mirror many times before, but after all this time, even after all these years, he still hated it.

Slowly he stopped shaking. In the end, the hatred turned into a seemingly ordinary sentence.

“On that day, my father, descendant of god, ate my mother alive.”

Ch. 299 [Sisheng Peak] Life Is Hard to Stop

Looking at Chu Wanning's pale face, Shi Mei laughed maniacally and said, "Yes, my father ate my mother alive. Living… I was nearby at the time. Hearing her cry, I ran over. I didn't know what had happened, so I anxiously knocked on the door. I asked mother what had happened… No one answered me. She's been screaming from the other side of the door."

His thin lips parted, and he said, "The door opened."

Dead silence.

It was probably the same as the deathly stillness when the door was opened.

His father's mouth was full of blood. His arms tore at his mangled mother.

He was like a child whose spirit soul had been split apart.

Nine years old.

His father had already gone mad. The flesh and blood of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Clan could nourish a person's cultivation base. Since he was on the verge of death, she should repay him!

Even this evil creature in front of him! A vile creature that would make him suffer a retribution! Evil child!

He held out his sticky hand to the child, who was cold to the point of not being able to say a word. His eyes were wild and twisted.

At that moment, Shi Mei didn't even have the time to react. He stared blankly at the scene in front of him. There was neither grief nor fear in his eyes. It was as if he had been sucked dry, leaving an empty shell poking into the ground.

The man's hand moved closer and closer, and a drop of warm blood fell on his cheek, like a tear mark.

He raised his head and stared blankly at this unfamiliar wraith.

"Father…?"

"Run!" Behind him, Hua Gui's piercing scream pierced through the clouds, "A-Nan, run!"

One of her arms was torn off by the blade, the tendons and bones of her legs were broken, and the woman was crazily squirming on the ground like a maggot.

"Run! Run! Don't look back! Don't come back! AHHH!"

In response, the man suddenly turned around and stomped his foot hard on her face.

Hua Gui tilted her head, a golden tear trickling down from the corner of her eye.

She tried her best to say, "Run…"

Kacha.

Her throat was broken…

Run, she said.

Every day, since then, Shi Mei has been running. Every hour, every day, every night, as he would run crazily out of the Tianyin Pavilion and into the vast mountains. If he didn't run, he would not be able to take it any longer and would collapse.

He collapsed.

No matter where he fled to, no matter how many years had passed, he could hear his mother's shrill, terrible scream: "Run! Run!"

He ran from the depths of the alley into the vast wilderness, through the golden waves of wheat, from the depths of darkness to the arrow of dawn ripping through the universe, the world a soft crimson.

Like blood.

Blood oozing out of his body, slowly dripping from the corner of his mouth.

"Ah… AHHH!"

His shoes had long since fallen off, his feet were worn and rotten, the gravel had sunk in, and the blood was bubbling.

Golden tears finally ran down his cheeks. He ran like a cornered beast through the decaying grass and reeds, cutting his legs and feet.

He didn't dare to stop. He didn't dare to see which way was right. He could only try to run towards the nearest one. He didn't dare to stop. He would die. If you stop, you will die.

He did not stop.

In the blink of an eye, more than ten years had passed.

They will die. The Butterfly-Boned Beauty race will die if they don't go home.

"I was picked up by Sect Leader Xue later on… At that time, the Tianyin Pavilion master was searching for my whereabouts. I didn't dare to speak the truth, nor did I dare to cry. He asked me where I came from, where my parents were, and I lied to him… After that, he brought me back to the Sisheng Peak… A few years later, a Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Clan member who was saved by my mother finally managed to find me. She had always been a disciple of the Tianyin Pavilion, and in order to not be suspected by others, she personally destroyed her own face when she entered the pavilion… She escaped my father's eyes and gave me all my mother's things."

"According to the records that my mother had collected over the years, there is a thick basket of books on the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast's name, buds of Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flowers, and on the method to open the doors to the Demon World that she once researched."

Chu Wanning closed his eyes slowly, "… So you took the path she wanted to take, and did what she was going to do."

"Yes. I would continue cultivating the path of the Medical Sect. In order to not arouse the Sect Leader's suspicions, all those years I ventured out of the mountains using my full name, Hua Binan."

"Hua Binan's reputation was getting higher and higher. It was so high that even Jiang Xi noticed me. He extended his hand towards me — and I did the same thing as my mother all those years ago. Even though this sect once treated Beauties as animals, even though it had been wary of my mother for a long time, in order to have a place in the cultivation world as soon as possible, and to get everything I needed to go back home, I promised myself. From then on, there will be two identities, the disciple at the Sisheng Peak, and Guyue'ye's alchemist." Shi Mei paused for a moment before continuing. "Later on, the Pavilion Master of the Tianyin Pavilion died and Elder Sister Mu took over his position. She had been constantly searching for the culprit who had killed her foster mother… In the beginning, I didn't dare to trust anyone anymore, but after a few attempts, I finally decided to meet her at the Tianyin Pavilion and told her the whole story."

Speaking to this point, Shi Mei smiled, although his eyes were still cold: "As Shizun has seen… I didn't make a mistake, she's on my side."

"…"

"Although she is not a Butterfly-Boned Beauty, she views my mother as her birth mother and her race as her own. She's been helping me all these years."

Helping Hua Binan. Helping Shi Mei.

Helping her half-brother.

When Shi Mei finished, he put the broken pieces away and returned the mirror back to the Qiankun bag.

The rain outside was like the souls of the Butterfly-Boned Beauties who had died in the past tens of thousands of years. There was probably Hua Gui there too, as well as his mother. He was screaming, "Run! Run… run! Don't stop, don't look back."

“There is no way out.” In the end, Shi Mei rubbed his face with exhaustion and said in a hoarse voice, “Shizun, we have no way out. Whether we destroy the humans or us, that is the only choice. I can’t choose the latter.”

It was like the end of the world. It was like a bayonet or lightning splitting through the air.

The sound of rapid rain, the sound of thousands of horses galloping, the glossy leaves soaking in the ground, all in the bright, dazzling light.

Suddenly, the door opened with a bang, and a strong wind wrapped around the rainstorm.

The pale-white lightning illuminated the two people who had turned around in the hall. Mu Yanli was standing in front of the doorstep. She did not hold an umbrella, and her entire body was soaked through. Her eyes appeared extremely messy.

“Nan, we still need the last 30 pieces of Zhenlong Chess before we reach the entrance of the Devil Realm.”

Before she could finish speaking, Shi Mei suddenly stood up, and his fingertips trembled uncontrollably: “Where’s Taxian-Jun? Thirty pieces of Zhenlong Chess is but a split-second to him, almost allowing him to complete them all and then…” At this point, he suddenly stopped.

When Mu Yanli entered the room, Chu Wanning could see that other than joy, there was also terror on her face. “I don’t know what happened to Taxian-Jun, but he suddenly fainted. And his heart is also…”

“What?”

“It’s also extremely unstable. The spiritual core is collapsing, as though it will never wake up again—”

Shi Mei suddenly became angry: “Impossible! That’s his own spirit core. I have concocted it over a thousand times, how could it suddenly collapse?”

He stopped.

Suddenly, as if he had seen a ghost, he turned his head with a pale face, and turned towards Chu Wanning, who was on the bed with his hands and feet tied up.

“Could it be…” His lips trembled, opening and closing. “Could it be… You did it?”

The sound of the storm outside only made the room quieter. It was like a tomb, like a dark abyss. The light and shadow of the candlestick were like the silk of a banner, dancing in a hidden and mysterious manner.

In the dead silence, Chu Wanning closed his eyes and opened them.

“… Right. It was me.”

A boom resounded, the thunder seemed as if it was going to shatter the clouds, causing the earth to shake and the mountains to shake. The rain poured down like a waterfall.

Shi Mei’s heart trembled as he staggered a step forward.

“You… You can still…”

“Now that you’ve told me about you. Then let me tell you something about me too.”

Shi Mei: "…"

"In my previous life, my spirit core was destroyed, and I only had the power of Jiuge left. That's why I was powerless to fight against Taxian-Jun." A golden light suddenly appeared on his wrist, and there was only a crisp metallic sound as the chains broke and the spirit talismans were set ablaze!

Chu Wanning stood up on his bed and raised his beautiful eyes.

"But for the rest of my life, the days when he placed me under house arrest were enough for me to bury the incantation deep in his heart." When he said those words, Chu Wanning's face was expressionless.

Grief, pain, pity, regret. Nothing. A deathly tranquility.

"The spell will continue to erode deeper and deeper, eventually causing his spirit to flow and his heart to stop beating. Your godly weapon will still be destroyed by me."

"…"

"… Sorry, Hua Binan. I can't let you go home."

Shi Mei couldn't have expected this turn of events. His face was whiter than jade and colder than ice. He stared at Chu Wanning in disbelief, his lips trembling.

"It's over." As Chu Wanning spoke, the light in his palms intensified.

"… You're crazy!" Shi Mei looked at that golden light and suddenly went crazy, his eyes filled with a wild beast's look, "You want to kill him?! You actually want to kill him… You have the heart— you have the heart!"

No one could see the emotion that flowed in his dark eyes. “I do,” Chu Wanning replied.

“…”

The golden light grew brighter and brighter, but Chu Wanning’s expression became uglier and uglier – even though he was only a broken branch of the Fire Emperor Wood, he still had a vague impression of many of the Divine Wood’s spells. This included the “Tianwen Ten Thousands Coffins”, which also originated from the vague outline of the skull.

He had thought it was a coincidence, but then he realized it wasn’t.

As a God Wood himself, he had been left with many imprints by the Divine Wood. As long as he tried to recall, he would be able to recall many ancient secret arts, such as the Life and Death Gate. For example, the Corpse Splitting Art that he had used now for the first time.

The Corpse Splitting Art was related to the war between the gods and devils in the prehistoric era. According to legends, after that battle, the human race on the continent suffered a great number of casualties. Those who survived struggled in the sea of corpses soon became infected by an epidemic disease… At that time, Fuxi had wholeheartedly wanted to exterminate all of the bandits, while Nuwa had fallen into a deep slumber due to his injuries. The only person left to save the world was the Divine Wood.

Therefore, Divine Wood inserted a stalk of the Heavenly Flame Emperor Wood into the East Extreme Sea. There were thousands of branches and hundreds of millions of flowers and fruits growing in the depths of the abyss.

“Divine Wood, ten thousand coffins.”

The moment he finished speaking, the roots of the Flame Emperor Divine Wood spread out from the bottom of the East Sea, covering the entire cultivation world in an instant! Those coarse or slender, rough or soft roots must be uprooted and silted.

“Slaughter the corpse and collect the coffins!”

The roots wrapped around the rotting corpses on the ground and turned them into ashes… The rotting corpses in the sky and earth had disappeared. Their ashes had turned into fertile ground, and fresh flowers had bloomed on it. The Flame Emperor Wood had accomplished the first thing it had done in the mortal world. After that, it had retracted hundreds of millions of its roots back to the Eastern Sea.

This was the oldest record of the Flame Emperor’s Divine Wood in the annals of history.

Chu Wanning’s eyes lit up by the bright brilliance in his hands.

This was the Divine Wood’s spell. He would, because he was a part of the Flame Emperor’s Divine Wood. Now that he had activated his technique, that person… Soon there would be nothing left.

Just a corpse.

Chu Wanning was in extreme pain as he thought, what… can't I bear.

“You… Chu Wanning, you…”

Shi Mei stared at him, anger and madness flashing through his eyes. His plans for two lifetimes were all here, and he could no longer remain calm.

“Stop right there!”

Hearing this voice, Chu Wanning raised his head and looked at him quietly, just like the rainy day many years ago when he saw a child standing under the roof of the school on the Sisheng Peak.

At that time, he never would have thought that Shi Mei’s identity was actually the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast’s seating area that he escaped from.

His initial impression of Shi Mei was entirely based on the words of others. He had heard that a new child had appeared at the Sisheng Peak. That child had always been diligent in his studies, but unfortunately, the Core was too weak to cast any spells. Moreover, because his talent was too poor, no elder was willing to accept him as a disciple. Even Xuanji had tactfully refused him after testing his spirit root.

That year, the rain dripped down from the black tile roof. The boy, who was like a lotus, helplessly looked up as he held a stack of thick books in his arms.

Chu Wanning was a little taken aback, “… It’s you?”

He recognized the unsociable child and walked over to him with the oil-paper umbrella in his hand.

“Ah, Elder Yuheng.” The little guy was startled and hurriedly bowed his head in salute, the books stacked to his chin causing him to stagger, “Greetings Elder.”

“I… I had no choice. I needed to look at a lot of things, but I didn’t have the time to finish reading them.”

Chu Wanning lowered his eyes, his gaze landing on the < Legacy of the Medical Sect’s Hundred Herbs Collection >.

Because of this, the child appeared a little embarrassed. “My aptitude is dull, I can only take a look at the content of the Medical Sect… I thought that Guyue’ye was better…”

Chu Wanning was a little confused, he frowned and said, “It’s just a book, what’s there to be nervous about?”

The child lowered his head even further. “I was wrong.”

Hiu slim body kept its position low, making him look pitiful if he didn’t want to attract attention. Chu Wanning could not help but recall the conversation between them.

“That Shi Mei is very obedient, but he doesn’t have much talent. What a pity.”

“In truth, he isn’t suitable for cultivation. Sigh, even the Sect Leaders don’t know what he is thinking. Why bother taking in someone with no intelligence to cultivate with? If you pity him, it would be good for him to go to Mengpo Hall and get a job of washing vegetables and cooking.”

“However, he seems to be interested in the Medical Sect. Tanlang, are you not going to consider accepting him?”

Elder Tanlang said lazily: “He’s too soft, I don’t like him, I won’t accept him.”

A umbrella stretched forward, and raindrops fell like pearls onto the oiled paper.

The jade colored knuckles gripped the handle of the umbrella as the bones were still. Chu Wanning lightly said to the child, “Let’s go, it’s too late. I’ll send you off.”

A small white flower in full bloom was trembling on the eaves. Shi Mei was stunned for a moment. He first bowed, then hid in the shadow of the oil-paper umbrella.

In the slanting wind and drizzling rain, they disappeared into the distance.

Shi Mei’s eyes were bloodshot, his entire body was taut like a broken bowstring, and he shouted angrily: “Chu Wanning! Why did you stop me?! At this point, what use is there for you to stop me?! What should be killed has already been killed, but it is only the last 30 lives! As long as 30 people died, so many of the Butterfly-Boned Clan would be able to live for over a thousand years! They can finally return to the Infernal domain. Why are you doing this? Why are you doing this?”

He was like a blind dragon with a broken claw. That face no longer had the gentle shadow of the past.

“Even if you were to destroy Taxian-Jun, the dead cultivators wouldn’t be able to be revived. There is no hope in this mortal world either. You… You…”

Chu Wanning said, “Before the Heaven's Punishment arrives, it’s impossible to save this mortal world by ending the Gate, but the other one can still be saved.”

“I just want another thirty lives!”

“… Then there should be one less.” Chu Wanning closed his eyes, the light in his palm instantly brightened to the extreme, “Tianwen, ten thousand people coffins!”

It was as if the god had bound the corpse. As he shouted, the sound of the earth could be heard from afar.

His palms suddenly closed!

In the far back of the mountain, the unconscious Taxian-Jun was already tightly bound by willow vines.

Shi Mei’s lips turned white, and his pupils shrunk down to a small dot: “… Why are you… So ruthless…”

“…”

“Not giving us our last chance. To kill your own disciple. I just. I only want thirty lives…”

One was covered in corpses, while the other one was filled with the wind and rain. It was unknown what sort of changes would occur after the Demon Area was opened. Ever since the ancient demons began fighting with bloodlust, they had turned traitor and fought fiercely with Fuxi to expel them from the mortal world.

Chu Wanning was clear that this was not 30 lives…

Even if it was just thirty lives, who would deserve to die? Who should pave the way for the return journey of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty clan, and who should be sacrificed?

The golden light in his palm grew brighter, and it was reflected in Shi Mei's eyes. It seemed like the light was going to dig out his lungs. He was so angry that he wanted to move forward, but a barrier was raised in front of Chu Wanning.

He couldn't get through.

Without Taxian-Jun, Shi Mei was like a butcher who had lost his sharp blade, leaving behind only a pair of paws… Both he and Mu Yanli could not be a match for Chu Wanning.

In his despair, Shi Mei's eyes turned red as if they were about to bleed. What should he do? What should he do?! He…

Suddenly, he remembered something. This caused the butcher, who looked like he was facing a fierce beast, to stagger towards his backpack and pull out his last sharp weapon. He pointed the weapon at the man who was determined to ruin his life.

"Good, good. Shizun, you are ruthless. Let's do it."

"…"

"Make your move."

Chu Wanning didn't know why his attitude suddenly changed, but he suddenly put his hand on his forehead and laughed out loud. He then lowered his head to look at Chu Wanning's face, and bit into every word on his face, "You can do it, Shizun. Just cut him into pieces. In the worst case scenario, neither of us will get any benefits, and both of us will lose miserably!”

When Mu Yanli saw his crazed look, she could not help but feel a dull pain in her eyes. She whispered, “A-Nan…”

At this time, Shi Mei could no longer listen to her words. He held that kind of berserk energy which came from a battle beast on the verge of death, and said while baring his teeth:

“Kill him — kill him.”

“…”

After spitting out the venom and blood, Shi Mei’s dead black eyes were focused on Chu Wanning through his fingers. One word at a time.

“Along with the last wisp of his soul, that is infatuated with you!”

Ch. 300 [Sisheng Peak] The Emperor's Heart Is Like My Heart

The thunder and lightning came in through the open door of the hall, cutting off Shi Mei's face.

In the glaring light, only the eyes were dark.

It seemed that even the God of Fire couldn't light them up again.

Chu Wanning's expression changed, but he did not ask. No matter what Shi Mei said, it was hard to fathom his intentions, but even so, the light on his hands couldn't help but dim down.

This mistake was caught by Shi Mei.

He grasped it like grabbing flowing grass in a hurricane and said to Chu Wanning, "Shizun, you don't really think that Mo Ran is completely dead, do you?"

"Do you really think that…Taxian-Jun is just an empty skeleton?"

Pausing, he continued. "Shizun, you might as well think about it. How could there be a corpse in this world that could think and act so stubbornly… Who could do it? What can be done? Even Zhenlong chess is not up to this."

"…"

"You know what?" Shi Mei stared into Chu Wanning's eyes, and slowly revealed the secret he was hiding, "Inside Taxian-Jun's body, there is still one piece of consciousness that has yet to dissipate."

Before he said that, Chu Wanning's eyes were empty, as if he was a dead body walking. After saying this, Shi Mei could clearly see the waves in his phoenix eyes. He let out a sigh of relief, but he still didn't dare to be careless.

"Shizun also knows that my spirit core is weak. I can't cast any very powerful spells on my own. So I can't control the chess game. However, the Medical Sect has their own methods."

When Shi Mei said this, it was as if he was looking at the corpse of Taxian-Jun after he had committed suicide by taking poison. Lying in the grave of Heaven-Piercing Tower……

At that time, he didn't know what went wrong, but his mind went blank. How could his sharp blade, his Hundred War godly weapon, die?

Mo Ran's conscience should have long been devoured by the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower'! What could torture his heart so much that he could kill himself?

"In the previous life, the top ten sects were attacking Sisheng Peak together. After seeing Mo Ran's corpse, those people were planning to dismember his body into five pieces. However, I tried my best to persuade them in the crowd as a master of the Medical Sect. At last we were able to preserve that body."

Every word he said, he was staring intently at Chu Wanning.

"I couldn't lose his power. So I managed to turn him into a walking dead man. Although his abilities wouldn't be as good as when he was alive, he could at least make do with it for the time being… But you know, maybe it's because he was still missing someone before he died, so there's a little bit of obsession in his heart that's too strong for me to clear his soul clean."

"No matter what method I used to force the soul, that strand of soul will not dissipate. That strand…" His words were clear. "Supported him as he walks towards the soul of Heaven-Piercing Tower."

"— Your soul."

Stopping in his tracks, Shi Mei stood at the center of the hall.

At this moment, he could already see the other's ashen face, tightly pursed lips, and the meridians popping out from the back of his hand.

He saw the pain and hesitation in Chu Wanning's heart, so he was completely relieved. Slowly, he regained his composure, "That wisp of soul did not reincarnate, and it was still lingering around Taxian-Jun's corpse. That's why it was so stubborn towards you after it was revived. As for Mo-zongshi… You should also feel that he wasn't as attentive to you when he was reborn. His feelings for you were born again later."

As Shi Mei narrated the truth of the matter, his expression kept changing.

"Taxian-Jun has the most stubborn love he has for you in his previous life."

He noticed that Chu Wanning's fingertips were trembling, so he licked his lips and took another step forward like a slippery snake.

"Shizun, look. Right now, I only need the last thirty people. 30 people would be enough to exchange for his life. Are you willing?"

Outside, the wind was howling and the demons were dancing wildly.

He waited for Chu Wanning's reply, thinking, what a good deal this is!

The man in front of him looked cold and otherworldly, but in reality, both of his lives had been ruined by the deep love in his heart.

He was sure he would.

After a while, Chu Wanning lowered his eyes. No one could see his expression clearly, "… You said that there is a strand of soul within his body."

"Yes."

"If you're given the last thirty people and let him finish paving your way home, are you just going to let him go?"

"Yes."

"…" Chu Wanning did not answer immediately, but mumbled, "That's why, when I saw him, much of what he said came from his heart."

With a weak point, it was very easy to convince someone, even if it was the Immortal Elder Beidou.

Shi Mei's victory was already in his hands, so he relaxed even more and said: "Yes, it's all from his heart. Although he was not the original complete Mo Ran, at least he still has his soul. At least he still has his consciousness."

"Shizun, please listen to me once." He advised gently, "Don't do it. You, me, and him will all be much better off."

Chu Wanning still did not look up. He sighed, "… Shi Mingjing."

"Hmm?"

“Do you still remember what your last wish was when you entered the Sect?”

He was somewhat at a loss at being asked like this, but after thinking for a bit, he still replied: “I was forward to your pity. I needed a home.”

After he finished speaking, he had an ominous feeling as he added, “However, back then, I really wanted to treat Shizun as my family. I’m not talking about the return of the butterfly demon sect…”

Chu Wanning did not deny it and asked again, “Then do you know what was his wish was when Mo Ran first became my disciple?”

“… What is it?”

Chu Wanning finally raised his head and looked at Shi Mei. His eyes gradually became colder, and the depth of the silence in his eyes was even deeper than before.

“He said he wanted to have a godly weapon like Tianwen. This way, more lives could be saved.”

The man spoke plainly and simply, as if he were speaking from home, explaining the wishes of his lover. Before Shi Mei could even react, he saw a golden light burst out from the hall and a strong wave of spirit energy cut through the air, preventing others from getting close to it!

Shi Mei snapped out of his daze and shouted:

“Chu Wanning!”

A sharp, twisted scream broke through the roof tiles.

“Chu Wanning! Are you crazy?! You’re crazy!”

Shi Mei was both furious and desperate. Under the blinding light, he tried his best to force his way towards the man in white in the middle. Beside him, Mu Yanli was helping him, supporting him, and trying to persuade him.

But what good was that?

‘Crack!’ “Collect… the coffin!”

“Don’t —! Stop! Stop right there!” Hearing the voice of Chu Wanning in the metal wind, Shi Mei became even crazier. His eyes were wide open as he angrily shouted, choked with emotions, and cursed at everything in the world.

However, as the golden light rose and went, its dazzling brilliance pierced the pupils of his eyes, causing mottled specks of light to flicker. It was over.

The strong wind stopped.

Dead silence.

The pale-faced Chu Wanning stood on his knees, the haggard Shi Mingjing was on his knees.

His spiritual energy slowly faded.

After a while, they all heard a dull rumbling sound coming from the direction of the mountain in the distance — that should be the sound of Taxian-Jun’s corpse turning into dust.

Shi Mei stared at Chu Wanning, the intense emotions on his face disappeared after the battle. His hatred and anger were all broken, revealing a trace of fear.

He didn't know what he was afraid of. Fear that he would be able to kill Mo Ran with his own hands? Fear of the future? Terrifying… What was there to fear?

It seemed to be the end of the world.

Shi Mei finally murmured: "… Dead? He… Dead?"

"Chu Wanning, you killed him… He once stood in front of you in the Red Lotus Pavilion, begging me to do something to him, not to you. Yet, you still killed him mercilessly… Yet, you are so heartless…"

Terrifying to the point that it became a wild laughter in the end. Although he didn't have any intention to laugh, he just raised his head and laughed loudly. Mu Yanli, who was beside him, cried, and kept on persuading him, "A-Nan… Enough… That's enough…"

Shi Mei just laughed. Tears fell down his face, and the golden tears fell onto the ground.

"He's dead. Taxian-Jun had died… Good, it's over. Chu Wanning, you can't afford to lose, you're heartless, you can't afford to play."

Chu Wanning stood at his original position with no expression on his face.

He was like a corpse. He was a corpse.

"Shizun, I've underestimated you."

Shi Mei's voice trembled.

"You are much more ruthless than I thought."

Chu Wanning remained motionless, as if he had lost the last of his heat.

He had thought that Mo Ran had already died, but a moment ago, he also knew that there was still a strand of a soul in this world with a body, and there was also a fragment of Mo Weiyu.

But he also crushed the fragment to dust.

Yes, he was heartless, and he could not refute it.

That youth, that youth, that man, that lover who would laugh and be annoyed, or be whole or broken. The only person in this world who didn't fear him, respected him, and tolerated his lover, the one who used his own flesh and blood to protect him from disaster.

The one who had replaced him, the one who had been devoured by the Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower, the one who had replaced him, the one who had become the Lord of Darkness.

At the age of sixteen, he had paid the only price to protect his fool.

He'll never come back.

"When it rains, I want to save more earthworms."

"Shizun, it's Pear Blossom Bai, please drink this."

"The welcome gift I gave you is really ugly… It's ugly, ugly, ugly."

"Wanning. I missed you."

He had once smilingly learned to write, there are tens of thousands of houses, sheltering everybody, the world is full of joy, and the wind and rain are as peaceful as a mountain.

“Do not hold a grudge if you want to repay a debt of gratitude.”

But in the mountains of corpses and the sea of blood, he had been floating for two lifetimes.

Don’t hold a grudge. Don’t hold a grudge.

“I don’t have any ambitions. After learning the spells, I’ll be able to save more people when they run into some problems…”

That was what he had said to Chu Wanning when he was still young and was still conscious.

At that time, he had hoped with all his heart that more people would live.

Before he fell to Taxian-Jun, he had worked so hard and with so much perseverance to love every single one of his beautiful lives. He was even willing to give up his soul to thank and protect everyone who treated him well.

“Although I am very stupid, I will do my best to improve my techniques. If I do my best, Shizun won’t blame me for being stupid, haha.”

In his memory, the youth scratched his head and smiled, showing mercy to Chu Wanning just like that. Back then, his bright dimples seemed to be filled with white pear blossom, and he had been drunk for the rest of his life.

Chu Wanning closed his eyes.

His hand finally began to tremble.

In the midst of the blur and dizziness, there seemed to be a cool breeze blowing across his face, kissing his moist eyelashes. It was as if he had heard Taxian-Jun's voice, which was both slow and gentle. The voice caressed his ears and sighed softly at his temples:

Fame, wish, blood, flesh and blood, heart, soul, corpse, and ashes.

I'm sorry, I only have so much.

I did my best.

Wanning, you have to do it yourself.

He suddenly opened his eyes and raised his head. His phoenix eyes were filled with mist, and in this void, he seemed to have really seen the spirit of Taxian-Jun's soul floating before his eyes. His expression was gentle and handsome, and his smile was filled with happiness and sadness.

"Mo… Ran…"

The soul, which should have been as pure as a cold plum, glowed with radiance. He leaned over and embraced him, kissed him, slipped through his outstretched hand, and finally scattered in his bosom like an epiphyllum flower.

"This is bad!"

Suddenly, the Tianyin Pavilion rushed in as they shouted in panic, "Not good!"

Mu Yanli was the only one in the room who could still be considered calm. She turned her head with tears in her eyes and said in a stern voice, “I know that something happened to Taxian-Jun. Don’t —”

“What?” The disciple was stunned, then stamped his foot and said, “Not Taxian-Jun! It was at the foot of the mountain! All the sects in the world of cultivation have attacked us together!”

Ch. 301 [Sisheng Peak] Reduplication of the Past

Within the torrential rain, a newly formed group of rebel soldiers stood in front of the mountain. There were cultivators from all the different sects.

The time and space of the Gate of Life and Death had opened, and everything was still unknown. In front of them were many dangers; thus, the hearts of these newly formed Allies were all unsteady, they all had different plans.

Almost no one wanted to take the lead. They were all worried that the Zhenlong chess pieces that were hibernating at Sisheng Peak would once again confront the masters of tigers and wolves that Mount Jiao had once encountered.

They looked into the distance, their hearts anxious — Could there be a demon sitting with his eyes closed within the rain-shrouded Wushan Palace, waiting for the group of heroes to use their weapons so that they could tear everyone into pieces?

Someone raised a torch that was ignited by an Incantation, raised his head and looked at the majestic mountain peak, muttering to himself, “Unexpectedly… The Tianyin Pavilion would actually do such a thing… I still feel like I’m dreaming.”

“Stop sighing.” The Bitan Manor’s Zhen Ku patted that person’s shoulder, “Since you have the time to talk so much, why don’t you think about how to attack the mountain and quickly end this nightmare.”

Someone else gloomily said, “I’m afraid it’s not that simple. Mu Yanli had the Divine Blood Body, Hua Binan was a part of the Medical Sect, and that Emperor of Taxian-Jun… It's that Mo Ran, that guy's magic is profound and his personality is insidious. We should still be cautious."

"We must not let our guard down."

This cultivator's words won the approval of many people.

If Xue Meng from his previous life were to stand here, he would definitely feel that his life was going around in circles and would eventually return to its starting point.

The scene before was so similar to the night when the ten great sects had attacked Sisheng Peak and Taxian-Jun had killed himself.

Unfortunately, the person in the crowd right now was not the Xue Meng from his previous life, but the young man who had just lost his parents.

Although he was handsome, his face was haggard. In order to wear filial piety, he did not wear the bright silver armor that was at the Sisheng Peak. He was dressed only in plain blue, and his ponytail was tied up with a white ribbon.

Xue Meng opened his mouth and said, "Let's not even talk about this. If this continues, we will not be able to salvage the situation. What do you mean by being insidious? If you are afraid, you will stay here. There's no need to go up."

Everything was the same as in his previous life. Just like back then, when Xue Meng said this, the surrounding people exploded.

Once again, he became the target of public criticism.

“Young Master Xue, your words are really too excessive. What do you mean afraid of things?” The female cultivator from the Jiangdong Hall had her eyebrows raised high, “You are not afraid. A few days ago, you went to the Wushan Palace to assassinate the emperor Taxian-Jun. And the result?”

“…”

“You were the one who lost, and you even dragged Brother Mei down to clean up the mess with you!”

“You…”

A slender white hand blocked Xue Meng’s path, silver bells jingling on his wrist.

Xue Meng said angrily, “You don’t have to meddle in other people’s business!”

“How can it be called business when it is about the son of my benefactor?” As he spoke, he turned his head to smile at the female cultivator who was blushing at every occasion.

“Besides, the words of such a good-looking lady aren’t pleasant to the ears. Of course, I have to guide her so that she can correct her mistakes.” He said politely, “Helping Xue Meng is helping a friend of mine, and not just to clean up the mess. Heaven and Earth are on my side, my heart is clear. I hope that young lady does not wrongly accuse me.”

In the martial world, who didn’t know of Senior Mei’s charm? The female cultivator was instantly speechless, and her face swelled up like a pig’s liver.

Seeing him like that, the female cultivator’s dao companion felt the top of his head turn green, so he taunted: “Interesting, Young Master Xue is invincible yourself, we are all cowards, why don't you go up the mountain and scout first? In any case, you are the most familiar with the Sisheng Peak, and I heard that the Emperor Taxian-Jun is your cousin Mo Weiyu's past life. No matter what, he won't take your life."

Many people revealed an awkward expression when they heard the words "Taxian-Jun."

Back then, Mo-zongshi had told them the truth. Back then, they had thought that he was plotting something, and that it was full of nonsense. But now, things had come to the surface. Everything was as Mo Ran had said, and many people were beginning to feel uneasy.

Unfortunately, not everyone had the same attitude. An elderly cultivator lightly coughed and said: "Actually, I feel that the identity of that Emperor Taxian-Jun still needs to be verified."

Xue Meng coldly looked at him. "Verified what?"

The old man said, "What I mean is, although that Taxian-Jun is the same as Mo Ran, it doesn't necessarily mean that Mo Ran said it was from his previous life. After all, anything is possible."

"That's right, I still feel that the one Guyue'ye killed was Mo Ran himself, that his previous life was a reason, an excuse!"

Even at this point, there were still some among the crowd who believed that Mo-zongshi was lying and that they had not wrongly accused him.

After all, there were some among them who had once spoken out and humiliated him back in the Tianyin Pavilion. Someone had thrown a stone leaf at him on the third day of the trial and mocked him. Furthermore, admitting that Mo-zongshi was speaking the truth was equivalent to admitting that they have been deceived and slandered a good person. To some people, this was simply too embarrassing.

Sometimes it takes more courage to admit fault than to make a mistake, and cowards clearly lack it. In order to maintain that they did not make a mistake, they were determined not to let Mo Ran make their mistake known. No matter how much grievance, humiliation, and guilt he suffered, he would never be at peace for two lifetimes. They still wanted him to bear this crime.

To these “gentlemen”, the innocence of others compared to their own face was nothing.

When Mei Hanxue heard this, he complimented him with a smile, “Daoist master Sun, you are truly a proud and unyielding character that cannot be broken.”

The old man was stunned. After pondering for a long time, he realized that Mei Hanxue was laughing at him. He couldn’t help but be furious. He rushed forward and wanted to fight him, but was stopped by an old monk.

Great master Xuanjing advised: “Alright, both of you, stop quarreling. Listen to what this old monk has to say first. It doesn’t matter what status Taxian-Jun has. What’s important is how we should deal with him and how we should deploy our forces after we reach the mountain.”

He turned around and asked Xue Meng amiably, “Young Master Xue, you’re the one who fought with Taxian-Jun. From your point of view, how good is this person’s martial prowess?”

Xue Meng gritted his teeth, clenched his fists and said, “Gathering the power of all the Sect Leaders here is not necessarily a win.”

“Ha!” That Daoist master Sun raised his white eyebrows. “What a proud son of heaven. He really does know how to increase his strength and extinguish his own prestige!”

Great master Xuanjing was a little shocked, “In that case, this person should be quite a bit stronger than Chu-zongshi. No wonder Chu-zongshi was kidnapped by him…”

“Capture? Who didn’t know about the dirty affairs between Chu Wanning and Mo Ran? In my opinion, it’s not kidnapping at all, and Taxian-Jun isn’t some kind of a past life. This whole thing was orchestrated by Mo Ran, who was also in the same group as Chu Wanning! If you don’t believe me, let’s go up the mountain and see!”

Xue Meng’s face suddenly paled. If it was before, he would have already angrily roared and pounced towards this old man to smash his mouth, but not long ago, he had just learned the truth behind the matter between Shizun and Mo Ran. He himself was disgusted to the extreme, he was actually just standing in the same place, looking downcast, and unable to say a word.

While he was in a sorry state, a tall, light green figure lightly covered him.

Jiang Xi said coldly, “You are too audacious. If the events after the mountain are not what you said, then I don’t think you need to keep that bewitching tongue of yours.”

The old Daoist’s facial muscles twitched, and his lips seemed to want to say something. However, after muttering to himself for a long time, he was unable to spit in front of Jiang Xi. He finally shut his mouth.

Jiang Xi cast a sidelong glance at Xue Meng and didn't say anything more. He lowered his head and pondered for a while, then said to the others, "Let's not delay this any longer. First, we'll arrange the targets for the decisive battle, then we'll act immediately." His gaze turned towards the other Sect Leaders and Elders, as if he was confirming something, "Excluding the chess piece Zhenlong, who is known to be at Sisheng Peak?"

People around him replied, "We'll definitely meet Mu Yanli."

Jiang Xi asked, "Has anyone fought with her before?"

A female cultivator raised her hand. "I exchanged a few blows with her during the internal strife."

Jiang Xi asked, "How's your movement technique?"

The female cultivator thought for a moment and said, "Sending three elders should be enough to stall her."

"Alright. Which three Elders are willing to lock onto Mu Yanli after the battle starts?"

The people at Sisheng Peak had long regarded Mu Yanli as a thorn in their side. At this time, three Elders immediately came out; Xun Ji, Tanlang, Lu. The three of them were from the same sect, and they all had excellent skills in healing and offense. Jiang Xi agreed without hesitation.

Jiang Xi asked again, "What else?"

"There is also a group of close attendants from the Tianyin Pavilion. This number of people is not very good. However, there are at least six or seven hundred of them and their strength is hard to estimate."

Jiang Xi mused, "The closest martial art to the Tianyin Pavilion is the Wubei Temple…" He raised his eyes to look at Great master Xuanjing. "Grandmaster, are you willing to let the disciples of the temple watch the Tianyin Pavilion's attendants during the war?"

"This…" Great master Xuanjing secretly decided the pros and cons of this move.

The drawbacks were obvious. The number and strength of the disciples within the Tianyin Pavilion were unknown. It was best for them to be weak, but if they were strong, then the Temple's vitality would be greatly damaged. At the very least, they no longer had to face the most frightening of all, Taxian-Jun.

Thus, he nodded his head, "This old monk will naturally share the worries of the world."

"What's left is Hua Binan…" Jiang Xi sighed and closed his eyes, "No need for that. Although Guyue'ye couldn't be said to be familiar with his every move and every move, he at least had the same origin as us. During the great battle, I ask that the elders of my sect keep an eye on this person, and not show any mercy."

After all these arrangements were made, all that was left were the Zhenlong chess pieces and Taxian-Jun.

Jiang Xi's eyes swept across the crowd, but other than a few cultivators, most of them suddenly felt as if they had cervical spondylosis. Their heads were all lowered, and some even reached out to touch their necks, as if they were in great pain.

“Mistress?”

Mingyue Lou nodded. “The Taxue Palace should be able to help.”

Jiang Xi then asked the pavilion master. The Taoist also nodded and said, “It’s our responsibility.”

But apart from this, the other sects were either afraid of trouble or were unsuited for battle. Those in charge were more or less hesitant. There were even some people who muttered, “Since that Taxian-Jun through Space and Time Lord was able to tear open the Gate of Life and Death, the power of those Sect Leaders is definitely not enough.”

“That’s right, isn’t this the same as seeking death?”

Someone then sighed, “If only the Rufeng Sect was still here. The cultivators of the seventy-two cities have so many City Lords, sigh… What a pity.”

“Huh?” Suddenly, a Jiangdong Hall cultivator raised his voice, “What about that Ye Wangxi girl? Wasn’t she very good at fighting? Most likely, their strength would be comparable to ten Nangong Liu. They would definitely have the battle power of a sect head. Where is she?”

Jiang Xi’s face darkened when she was mentioned. He gloomily replied, “Before we left, we settled down a group of refugees in Guyue’ye. At that time, we decided to keep a cultivator in guard to prevent the chess pieces from pressing on their territory — No one automatically submitted. In the end she stayed.”

That cultivator let out an “ah” and revealed an awkward expression.

Jiang Xi said gloomily, “They are true heroes here. Why do you need a little girl everywhere?”

“…”

After a while, there were still few people in the crowd who wanted to take the lead. The young and beautiful new Sect Leader of the Jiangdong Hall stammered: “I think we still have to think about it carefully. After all, this is not a joke. Let’s wait a little while longer.”

Hearing the word “wait,” Xue Meng immediately became so angry that his lips turned blue. He did his best to suppress his anger and asked, “How much longer do we have to wait? How secure can it be if we wait a little longer?”

“But we can’t go up the mountain and die.”

“Success or failure will be decided in one move. Young Master Xue, be careful.”

Great master Xuanjing also advised: “Young Master Xue, be careful of this ship. Now that the world had turned upside down and the Sisheng Peak had disappeared, no one knew what kind of changes would occur in front of them. At present, all of the top cultivators in the cultivation world were gathered here. If all the sticks were to fall into the water, who would be responsible for it?”

“Yes, what should we do if the Sect Leaders and cultivators are killed…”

Xue Meng had been holding back this whole time, but now he could not hold it in any longer. He suddenly raised his head, his eyes blood-red. “Your Sect Leader is not dead yet, and he's already thinking about what to do. Then, what about Sisheng Peak?!"

"…"

When the topic of Sisheng Peak was brought up, everyone could not help but think of the Sect Leader and his wife who had been wrongly accused and had both perished.

"I don't know what to do about Sisheng Peak." Xue Meng's voice was slightly hoarse. "I don't have a cousin, a senior brother, a mother, or a father. Now, even Shizun…"

Xue Meng's eyelashes trembled slightly, and his Adam's apple moved, as if he was doing his utmost to swallow his pain. However, that pain was too deep for him to bear. He closed his eyes and then opened them again, "The Lords are afraid of death, because they still have a legacy. I am not, so I am not afraid of death."

Mei Hanxue who was standing beside them frowned and whispered, "Xue Meng!"

But how could he listen?

No one in this world could stop him anymore.

Xue Meng said, "If you don't go, I'll go by myself."

"Young Lord!" The disciples at Sisheng Peak all stepped forward to advise against it, but Xue Meng had already made up his mind and displayed his murderous intent. He turned around and left everyone behind. The anger and grievance he had been enduring all became tears rolling down his cheeks that no one could see.

Standing amidst the torrential rain, Jiang Xi gazed at his back, “You…”

Hearing his voice, Xue Meng walked even faster. His Longcheng was already shattered. He did not even have a decent sword. However, he still walked towards the majestic Sisheng Peak without looking back.

“Xue Meng!”

After a few moments of hesitation, a hoarse shout finally came out of Jiang Xi’s throat with great difficulty.

Jiang Xi walked up and before his hand could touch Xue Meng’s shoulder, he saw the young man suddenly turn around. A fiery light flashed in his round bird-like eyes as he angrily shouted, “Scram! Don’t touch me!” With that, he flung Jiang Xi’s hand away and left without giving anyone a chance to speak.

On the steps, the moss grew and the bamboo grew.

Xue Meng breathed heavily as he sprinted through the torrential rain. In front of him was a world that was moist like a dream.

Then, Madam Wang had once stood beneath the moon and watched a peony blossom. At that time, Xue Zhengyong was a mighty man who had returned from the battle and raised his spear. As Xue Meng walked through the white stone gate, he saw Shi Mei lowering his head and muttering to himself. He ran past the heroic pillar and saw Mo Ran looking at the moon. He saw the bustling disciples in the wind and rain coming back from class, laughing on the bridge.

He sped up his pace as if he were running for his life, like a tiger in the woods. Out of the corner of his eye, he saw an old peach tree. He saw his young self kowtowing nine times under the tree, he raised his head with a smile and said to Chu Wanning, who was waving his white robe,

“Disciple Xue Meng greets Shizun.”

He suddenly closed his eyes.

Sisheng Peak carried too many memories, floating before his eyes. There used to be so much fire here, but now there’s so much dust.

Xue Meng walked on the road. The wind and rain were blowing, and the memories of past fading away.

“Don’t follow me… Don’t let me see this again…”

He muttered as he shuttled back and forth among the lingering shadows, fleeing from the time of the high-spirited youth. When he stood on the peak of the mountain, he was soaked through under the rain. He was like a phoenix whose feathers had already withered, shivering slightly.

Cold.

His bones were frozen to ice.

He narrowed his thick eyelashes and looked at the distant palace. The candlelight was dim. This was Sisheng Peak in his previous life. The last time he came here to assassinate him, he didn’t pay any attention to it…

Suddenly, he caught a glimpse of three tombs standing in front of the closer Heaven-Piercing Tower.

This was something he had never seen in his own sect. He could not help but walk over to take a closer look. Out of the three tombs, one of them had the “Deep Fried Empress” gouged in it, while the other had been flattened. The stone tablet had fallen to the side.

The last one was very old.

In front of the tomb, there was a faint shadow, standing alone.

The person stood in front of the grave, his robes stained with blood, his wide sleeves reaching the ground. He raised his hand to stroke the words on the tombstone.

Xue Meng was shocked. His skull felt as if it had been pierced by an arrow and all the blood in his body surged. He shouted, “Mo Ran!” He hacked at Longcheng, but his waist was empty.

Only then did he recall that Longcheng had already been destroyed. It shattered during his last confrontation with Taxian-Jun.

The man who had his back to him seemed to be unable to hear anything, only slowly bending over the tombstone as if he was finally reaching the end of an extremely weary journey. Xue Meng saw him gently rub his forehead against the cold stone.

Xue Meng’s palm suddenly ignited with a flame. Orange light scattered in all directions.

He hacked towards the back of Taxian-Jun without a care in the world.

“Bam!”

With a loud bang, the firelight did not hurt anyone, only the stone tablet that had grown old with age had shattered.

He looked left and right, but there was no one around, not even a Immortal Emperor, not a black figure, not a single person.

The rain poured down around him like a torrential downpour. It was as if he was the only one left in the world. However, the tree shadows seemed to be hiding in the dark forest, hiding in the grass, waiting for the next moment.

“Taxian-Jun! Taxian-Jun!”

He shouted and his voice was instantly crushed into dust by the thunder.

Did I see wrongly?

How could it be wrong? It was clearly such a clear view of his back. He had clearly been standing here just now, yet that person had actually reached out his hand to touch the stone tablet, the stone tablet…

Suddenly, he stopped.

Xue Meng bent over, lifted his hand and slowly picked up the stone tablet that had been smashed into pieces. He picked up half of it, and in an instant, he felt as if he had fallen into a cave of ice!

Astonishingly, the words on the monument were:

The Tomb of Chu Wanning

Whose grave? What tomb?

Xue Meng suddenly stood up and staggered backwards. The white light of the lightning shone on his miserable face. Xue Meng shook his head and muttered, “No… No… What was going on… How is that possible?”

He swallowed, trying to calm himself. He squatted there for a while, breathing heavily before finally recovering. Squinting his eyes, he examined the tombstone again.

The monolith's body was already very mottled. It had been at least ten years, and it was not new. The monolith was carved with varying depths, as if it had originally been carved with something. Later on, someone had erased the original handwriting and carved these seven words anew.

Shizun.

Chu Wanning's tomb.

This was the grave of his previous Shizun?

Xue Meng's lips were blue and his entire body was trembling. It was unknown whether it was grief, anger, fear or something else that was rolling in his chest… He buried his face in his hands and wiped away the wet rain.

So, what kind of love and hatred did he have for the future he did not know?

He did not know, just like he did not know what had been carved on this monolith, and for what reason, the inscription had been changed.

I don't know.

Xue Meng rested in place for a while, but when he opened his eyes, he saw that the dark golden shadow had appeared again. This time, the distance was even closer, and the lofty mountains and rivers that were embroidered with golden threads could be clearly seen.

The figure seemed to be something between a soul and a living person. It was neither completely alive nor completely dead. As that person looked at Heaven-Piercing Tower from afar, Xue Meng vaguely heard him whispering to himself. “Shizun, you… Rely on me.”

The voice was ethereal, like a dream.

“I’m going home. I’m going home. I’ll go home,” he said, but there was a hint of confusion in his voice.

“Shizun…”

With a boom, it was as if thunder had smashed the earth apart. The belly of the mountains and rivers faintly trembled, and all of his internal organs went numb.

“But I don’t have a home…”

The black and gold figure suddenly turned around. In this stormy rain, Xue Meng could clearly see his face, the face of Mo Ran.

As if he didn’t see him, Mo Ran continued to mutter to himself, “I don’t have a home anymore… I want to go back. I want to go back!”

He became anxious and desperate, “Let me go back, let me go back! I want to see him. I want to see him!”

Amidst the thunder and lightning, the black shadow rose into the air. Xue Meng was caught off guard by the cold and violent black wind. The shadow passed through him, carrying a bone-piercing chill. It was colder than rain. He was so dazed that he fell to the ground.

“I can’t die… I want to see him!”

Xue Meng could clearly hear Mo Ran's low shout. The black shadow flew like a whirlwind towards the mountain behind Sisheng Peak. When he came back to his senses, he had already lost sight of the rising ghost. At the back of the mountain, a sky-splitting red light was spurting out!

……

What happened? What was that shadow just now?

Ghost?

He turned white and sat stiffly — until someone slapped him in the back.

At this time, Xue Meng's entire body was stretched to the limit, and upon contact, he fiercely jumped up, as if he had gone mad, and said with extreme helplessness: "Who?! Who is it!?"

Mei Hanxue held him down: "Don't be afraid, it's me."

Behind him, in the forest, an extremely ugly person from the Taxue Palace walked out. However, he had a pair of light green eyes that Xue Meng was familiar with. It was Mei Hanxue's big brother with the cold mouth.

His elder brother, Méi Hánxuě,[176] stepped out of the forest, holding two swords in his hand. One was his godly weapon, Shuofeng, while the other was…

"Xuehuang."

Méi Hánxuě walked up to the shivering Xue Meng and handed Jiang Xi's sword to him.

“Sect Leader Jiang wanted me to hand it over to you on his behalf. He said you could use it, and you didn’t have to refuse it for some reason.”

His younger brother was still curious. “May I ask, what’s your relationship with Jiang Xi?”

“Let’s go.” His words were mercilessly cut off by his big brother. “Let’s go to the Wushan Palace to check on Chu-zongshi’s situation.”

As Méi Hánxuě said this, he shot a glance at Xue Meng and used his Shuofeng to knock on his shoulder. Without saying a word, he dove into the depths of the rain.

As for his twin brother, he sighed and patted Xue Meng on the head before following his brother to Wushan Palace, in the wind and rain.

Ch. 302 [Sisheng Peak] Wushang Palace of Broken Soul

The Wushan Palace was the former Loyalty Hall. After Taxian-Jun ascended to the throne, he adjusted the layout and divided it into three areas: the front hall, the middle courtyard, and the back hall.

The two Mei brothers did not go in immediately. They stood at the door and waited for Xue Meng to follow them. His eldest brother then told him, “This palace is not right. There is the Bewitching Miasma inside.”

“What is the Bewitching Miasma?”

Mei Hanxue explained, “It is a kind of fragrant miasma similar to the Chimen Escape Armor. It can be found in the Plum Forest of the Taxue Palace, and will always be there.”

With an ashen face, Xue Meng asked, “What can it be used for?”

“It will make it impossible for the invader to find his way.” Mei Hanxue said, “This kind of miasma has no effect on your people, but for the intruders it can distort the scene and make people unable to find the real entrance. You know what people say about the Wall-Hitting Ghost, It’s probably something like that.”

Xue Meng, “…”

Méi Hánxuě said coldly, “They are trying to stall for time. Most likely, someone is fighting in the rear palace.”

Mei Hanxue asked, “What do we do? Can we get around it?”

Méi Hánxuě shot a glance at him. “You’ve lived in the Taxue Palace for more than twenty years, and you’re asking me?”

“… Cough.” The younger brother was somewhat embarrassed. He turned to Xue Meng and said, “There’s no other way. I can only enter and find the source of the miasma and disperse it.” After glancing at Xue Meng’s expression, he consoled,

“But don’t worry, I’m most adept at this. I often use the Taxue Palace’s Bewitching Miasma at the back of the mountain to avoid the female cultivators who come looking for trouble. Give me an incense stick of time and I should be able to break it.”

At the mention of this, his big brother’s face turned black, and his voice dropped like ice.

“You really have the face to say that.”

At this moment, Xue Meng was not in the mood to listen to their idle chatter. He took two steps forward, and with a creak, he pushed open the front door of the Martial Palace.

Just like a ghost opening its stinky mouth, the carved lacquer door slowly opened, the interior was lit up by candles, it was completely silent. As Xue Meng stepped in, he could indeed feel the faint fragrance of flowers permeating the air.

When he turned around, the Mei brothers were already gone. It seemed that before the miasma dispersed, the three of them would see a different scene, and would not be able to see each other at all.

At this moment, a familiar voice came from the high throne in the great hall.

“Xue Meng…”

A chilly wind blew, and the black gauze curtain fluttered. Shocked, Xue Meng shouted, “Mo Ran?!”

The voice sighed, “It’s you, right? Are you here?”

Xue Meng’s throat moved as he tightened his spine. He lifted his sword and walked towards the dark depths of the hall.

The tip of the sword lifted the curtains, and then he saw it.

Sitting on the high seat, there was a handsome, pale man with his eyes closed. The man was reclining in the Cinnabar chair, wearing the crown of the Nine Bones. His eyebrows were pitch black, and his nose was sharp. Although his nose was high, it had a very fine curve to it. A pair of light colored lips were pursed, but not much of an expression could be seen on his face.

It was Taxian-Jun.

Taxian-Jun’s face was pale, his white corpse had a tinge of green, as if he had been poisoned. In front of him was a plate of fruits. The grapes were dark purple, the apples were thin, and the mountains and rivers were painted on a silver plate, but the man on the throne didn’t even lift his eyelids. He wouldn’t look.

Illusion? Real?

What was divided was not really true. Xue Meng's mind was buzzing. When he came back to his senses, he heard himself say, "Mo Ran, you…"

It seemed as if Taxian-Jun still hadn't woken up from his dream. He still had his eyes closed, but he still replied, "… What?"

Perhaps the man in front of him was too weak, or perhaps in the torrential rain, Xue Meng had already vented out his boundless anger. At this moment, facing the illusion on the seat of honor, exhaustion was greater than anger.

He also did not know if Mo Ran would answer, nor did he know what the meaning of his actions were. He only mumbled numbly, asking those questions that were accumulated in his chest and were about to crush him:

"Why are you doing this. Did you come back from a new life? You. You and Shizun… You all really…"

Of course, Taxian-Jun didn't reply. He merely snorted, then slowly opened his eyes.

In the midst of the bright lights, he glanced at Xue Meng and said, "It seems like you and Shizun have not seen each other since the Taxue Palace two years ago."

Xue Meng froze for a moment. "What?"

Taxian-Jun smiled and continued, "Xue Meng, do you miss him?"

Xue Meng was stunned and asked, "What Kunlun's Taxue Palace? What two years' absence? What kind of nonsense is this?!"

This blurry illusion was actually the last conversation that he had had with Xue Meng when he had taken the poison in his previous life. It was also the last words that Taxian-Jun had left behind in the mortal world.

The illusion came up at random, and coincidentally happened to show the time before the two of them parted ways in their previous life.

But at this moment, Xue Meng didn't know. Blank and angry, anxious and frightened, he stared at the man in the seat and asked, "What nonsense are you talking about?"

Taxian-Jun's eyes were looking at him, but it also seemed as though he wasn't looking at him at all.

It was as if through this real Xue Meng, he was looking at another shadow that did not exist.

He talked to the shadow by himself, "Return it to you? Stupid words. You should think about it, why would I allow Shizun to live in this world with such a deep grudge between us?"

Xue Meng was speechless.

Right… This was all an illusion. Even if he didn't say anything, Taxian-Jun would continue speaking without stopping. He was talking to someone he couldn't see.

What was he talking about?

Because Xue Meng could not understand the words of Taxian-Jun, he did not remember too much. But the eyes of the man on the throne were crazy and cold, stubborn and contradictory. This made Xue Meng's entire body turn cold — this was not his brother. He did not recognize it.

Taxian-Jun was still vicious, “You wanted to remind me that he beat me to a pulp and made me kneel down in front of everyone to plead guilty? Or was it to remind me that he had stood in front of me for your sake, for the sake of someone unrelated to him, repeatedly stopping me from doing good deeds and ruining my great cause?”

Like a blind, clawed dragon, the Emperor retained his final ferocity, exhausted, in the mud.

He could not stop mumbling as if he was crazy or foolish like a demon. He looked very vicious, but he was actually very tired.

He said, “But we were master and disciple once. His corpse is resting at the Red Lotus Pavilion on the southern peak. Lying among the red lotuses, I have preserved it very well, as if he had fallen asleep.”

He added, “His corpse was sustained by my spiritual force, so it will not rot. If you miss him, then stop wasting your breath on me. Hurry up and go before I die.”

Xue Meng took a few steps forward as Xuehuang tightly gripped its hand. It was sweating profusely as it muttered, “What are you talking about…”

In his previous life, who died?

Whose body was resting in the Red Lotus Pavilion?

Whose corpse would have to rely on the spirit energy of Taxian-Jun in order to not rot… Who?

In fact, from Taxian-Jun’s words, from the grave he saw in front of Heaven-Piercing Tower, Xue Meng already had an answer in his heart. However, his mind felt as if it was filled with ice, and his upper and lower lip constantly trembled.

Who died… Who died!

Suddenly, his face distorted, he rushed up to the hall. He reached out to tug at Mo Ran's clothes, but his five fingers directly passed through the illusion.

Taxian-Jun's face in his hands, he said hoarsely: "Go. Go see him. If I die and my spiritual power is cut off, he will turn to dust."

As soon as he finished speaking, the man closed his eyes in disappointment. The poison had already taken effect.

As for Xue Meng, his eyes were wide open as his entire body trembled…

How did all this turn out like this? What kind of nonsense had happened in the mortal world?

"You killed him?"

Xue Meng's voice rustled as if about to destroy everything. "It was you who killed him?"

"…"

"Do you know everything about your rebirth? Do you have all your memories?"

Naturally, no one would answer him, but Xue Meng still asked.

In this world, there were many answers. Knowing them would not make people happy, and would only make them suffer. Yet, despite knowing these answers, they still had to ask.

Cruel truth and tender lies, which is love and which is hate?

“If you knew… Why did you lie to us? Brother… How could you bear it… How can you bear it…”

The other’s face looked as though it was about to spasm. No one would look good when poison was acting up. Fresh blood flowed out from the corner of Taxian-Jun’s mouth. He stood up, staggered and stood up, then walked unsteadily out of the hall.

“Where are you going?”

Xue Meng stretched out his hand towards that illusory image.

“You want to —”

Suddenly, his five fingers fell into a ball of warmth.

Xue Meng quivered, and the fragrance of the flowers disappeared from his nose. At the same time, the black and gold figure of his back that was walking towards the sunset disappeared.

“Mo Ran?”

He was gone.

With the illusion gone, Xue Meng’s eyes and expression were very blank and shattered. Dreams and illusions, his previous and current lives, which one was real, which one was fake? The life and death gate of time and space split open, causing the once red world to be thrown into chaos.

What was the real thing that happened, the Mo Ran that was the true Mo Ran, who was the real self?

His gaunt face had a pitiful, shattered expression, and even his eyes were glazed.

After a long time, his eyes gradually focused.

In the brown pupils, Mei Hanxue's silhouette was reflected.

"Wake up." Mei Hanxue released his hand and flicked his forehead, causing Xue Meng to experience pain.

"It's over."

"…"

Xue Meng froze for a while before he finally regained his senses. He muttered to himself, almost exhausted, "I'm sorry…"

Mei Hanxue pursed his lips, "There is nothing to be sorry for. This type of confusion is very mysterious, and the more you worry about it, the more frightening it will become."

Xue Meng raised his eyes and looked at him with his slightly moist black eyes.

He actually didn't like talking to Mei Hanxue, but the person in front of him right now was like the only real and stable existence in the midst of an illusion. He couldn't help but ask in a hoarse voice, "What about you? What did you see?"

Mei Hanxue did not answer immediately. He paused for a moment and then revealed a smile, “Over ten years, there have been over a thousand girls who have harmed me. Sigh, what a nice scene, I’m really worried about this.”

“…”

At this moment, they suddenly heard an earth-shattering explosion from the rear hall.

Méi Hánxuě’s gaze froze as he drew his sword and said, “Let’s go.”

Xue Meng and Mei Hanxue followed him through the torrential rain of the courtyard. When they arrived at the back hall, they first saw a white-gold figure swimming up to the roof of the corridor. When the figure saw the three people who had barged in, he froze in his steps and lowered his eyes. A thunderclap illuminated her face.

Méi Hánxuě’s brows sank as he coldly asked, “Mu Yanli?”

A shout came from the front, “Sister Mu, don’t bother with them. Run!”

Although she was unwilling, she still quickly left. By the time Xue Meng and the others arrived, the rear hall was in ruins. There were broken pieces of wood and tiles everywhere, and flames were licking the broken beams of the house.

In the ruins, two flashing white shadows were slashing against each other, the strong winds were sent into the air, and sparks of fire were ignited! The two figures were as fast as lightning, colliding and separating in the air at a high speed.

A metallic sound was heard as the golden light flashed by in succession. With a boom, the tiles were lifted up. A thick wooden log lying in the middle of the crushed rocks and sand was pulled up high, as if it had awoken. On the other side, a blue wave formed from spirit energy gushed out of the broken golden bricks, surging violently.

Figures of people could be seen standing on the top of the giant tree and the top of the wave from the left and right.

Xue Meng's face suddenly paled. "Shizun!"

No matter what the truth was, it was Xue Meng's natural instinct to worry about Chu Wanning in the face of danger.

Méi Hánxuě narrowed his eyes as he faced the wisps of mist and muttered, "Shi Mingjing…"

The two people who had been fighting against each other were none other than Shizun and disciple of the previous timeline, Chu Wanning and Shi Mingjing.

However, the strangest thing was that a layer of powerful spiritual energy that clearly belonged to Taxian-Jun covered Shi Mingjing's entire body. Black incantations crawled all over his exposed skin, and his meridian channels were even more terrifying.

Xue Meng rushed forward: "What's going on?! Shi Mei, Shi —"

With a bang, Xue Meng was ejected out of the battle circle. He struggled to get up and saw that a golden Haitang Barrier had been placed in front of him.

Chu Wanning looked pale as he said, "Don't come near me."

Mei Hanxue walked forward a few steps and stood beside Xue Meng. He stared at Shi Mei's unusually strong spirit energy flow and frowned: "… Strange. He used his own water style techniques before, but the power the emanate is completely that of another person now."

It was just that after a short pause, Chu Wanning and Shi Mingjing started to fight again. At this moment, both of them had completely released their spirit energy. The powerful aura forced the other three to the point that they couldn't breathe.

The sword light flashed past, illuminating his eyes which were sharper than the tip of the sword. His body was as light as a swallow, and he suddenly swung his sword towards Shi Mei!

"Chu Wanning!"

Shi Mei's angry shout was almost warped.

"I have never killed you in my two lifetimes — and this is how you treat me?!"

With a loud bang, he raised his hand and formed a seal. A dark blue barrier suddenly appeared in front of Shi Mei, blocking Chu Wanning's attack.

However, upon closer inspection, one could see that the barrier was not formed out of thin air. Instead, it was formed by a sheathless saber — Bu'gui! All that flowed in Shi Mei's body were the ruthless spirit streams of Taxian-Jun. So much so that he even recognized the wrong master and listened to his summons to serve him.

Chu Wanning's eyes darkened, he said, "No, you've already killed me in both lives."

The golden sword was drawn back and a faint crack appeared on the barrier created by Shi Mei. He saw Chu Wanning somersault in the air, his long legs kicking towards the fissure, borrowing the force to leap backwards, and then throwing Huaisha in his hands towards him! He could only hear the sound of thunder erupting as rumbling black clouds rolled across the sky. In the midst of the storm and thunder and lightning of the Nine Prefectures, Huaisha suddenly broke through the barrier of Shi Mei!

Shi Mei raised his hands to block the attack, but he was not Mo Weiyu after all.

He could not bear the power of Huaisha, so he let go of the blade and stabbed it into the ground. Then, the Divine Martial Golden Sword pierced towards Shi Mei's chest!

"Ugh…" Shi Mei barely managed to avoid the fatal blow on his heart. With a 'swoosh' sound, blood splattered in all directions. Huaisha penetrated through Shi Mei's shoulder and returned to Chu Wanning's palm dripping with blood.

Shi Mei fell back to the ground, falling among the broken bricks. He was still trying his best to cover his wounds as he got up.

His eyes flashed with extreme anger and malevolence. "Why did you stop me!? What's the use of stopping me?! Those who died can come back to life? Do you think you'll stop me and your days will be fine again? Will you be able to return to the past?"

Chu Wanning jumped down from the mountain, landing on the ground with his toes, then he stood in the middle of the ruins.

His entire body was drenched in sweat. There were wounds and blood, and his expression was indifferent. He did not look like Chu Wanning at all.

What he had said was true.

The Eight-Sufferings-Long-Hatred Flower had devoured his lover, so he had died in Shi Mingjing's hands for two lifetimes. Two lifetimes.

"No matter what you do, it's too late! Do you know what you could have done to stop all this?!" The rain poured down beside the two of them, but it did not extinguish their hatred, "You should have opened the Gate of Life and Death in your previous life, gone back to the past, killed Mo Ran, and ripped his corpse into pieces and burned it into ashes! You should have killed him!"

"…" Chu Wanning's eyes were ice-cold.

"What do you mean, starting from the beginning, what redemption!? What a joke! It's because you want to save him, and you don't want to kill him, that's why I got his new and powerful spirit core! It is only because of this that I have been able to reforge Emperor Taxian-Jun that the situation has developed so far!" As Shi Mei spoke, he burst into laughter.

His eyes were like the eyes of a snake, like the pincers of a scorpion, like a beehive of venom.

Shi Mei gritted his teeth and said, "Because of you…… because you couldn't do it. Didn't you want to stop me? If you had killed them earlier, then everything would be over. What about me?!"

"You're the one who implicated these two worlds!"

“Don’t think that you are the immortal Yuheng, what did you do? You didn’t do anything! I used the crack in space and time that you left behind to master the mysteries of the First Forbidden Technique and reopen the Gate of Life and Death. Hahaha, hahaha…”

The laughter was as sticky as a spider’s web and as sinister as a vulture’s.

He rolled back and forth, blood trickling from the corners of his mouth. The magic lines on his body were slowly fading away, but he did not care. He did his best to use the most vicious words to insult and curse the people in front of him.

Whether infatuation or love…

They all disappeared in the torrential rain.

He must have underestimated Chu Wanning, or thought too highly of himself. He used to be full of himself, thinking that Chu Wanning could become his plaything. As long as the chain was tight, it would be fine to raise it for fun. His life was unnecessary. But at this moment —

“If I were to start over…” The eyes of the peach blossom flashed with anger and cold light. “I’d definitely kill you.”

The last of the magic prints disappeared.

The strong flow of spirit power in Shi Mei’s body suddenly disappeared.

The one that was lying on the ground had turned back into an ordinary Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast.

Shi Mei gasped for breath as he looked at Chu Wanning through the rain.

He had just used his final killing move – Borrowing the Divine. He had used this move before in front of Mo Ran after his rebirth, on the night of the Linling Yu Inn.

Although it was called a technique, it was actually more like swallowing a spiritual medicine. This pill was refined using the blood of Taxian-Jun. It allowed him to obtain Mo Ran's power within the time it takes to burn an incense stick.

The power was however not the true power of Mo Ran, it was still lacking. It was nevertheless sufficient for him to use in a lot of necessary situations.

This time, his failure to defeat Chu Wanning in a short period of time meant that he was at his wit's end.

He knew very well.

Watching from the side, Xue Meng's scalp went numb, and he was also at a loss as he said hoarsely, "Shizun?… Shizun?"

Although his voice was weak, the place where Shi Mei fell was not far away from Xue Meng. He heard his voice and turned his head. Their gazes met, and Xue Meng's mind grew increasingly blank.

Shi Mei looked at him for a while. Suddenly, his eyes flashed. Then, a trace of a sad smile appeared on his handsome face.

"Young Lord…"

Xue Meng trembled violently.

In a trance, Shi Mei's eyes were still the same as before, and his face was still the same as before. He was in such a sorry state, yet so weak. He didn't say anything, and only extended his hand towards Xue Meng.

Xue Meng stood at the edge of the barrier. As long as he couldn't help but take a step forward — No, half a step would be enough, then…

However, right at this moment, an intense flash of light suddenly burst forth from Bu'gui, which was impaled on the side! Everyone was stunned. Their gazes all landed on the Hundred Fighting Fierce Blade. Without any warning, it started to shine with a fierce light. The light alternated between scarlet, green, and blue for more than ten times before it suddenly erupted into a strong current!

Mei Hanxue said, "Be careful!" He pulled Xue Meng, who had almost stepped out of the barrier, back.

Soon after, they saw an indomitable spirit rise up into the storm. It was like a bright shooting star, shooting straight towards the forbidden area at the back of the mountain!

This scene was witnessed by all of the cultivators who were attacking the mountain and fighting against the pawns that filled the mountain. Everyone was shocked, "What is that?"

"What's going on?"

Shi Mei narrowed his eyes and looked at the red light that suddenly suffused the mountain behind him. The red light penetrated into his pupils and he pinched the tip of his finger. He then closed his eyes to sense the light. After a while, Shi Mei suddenly understood what had happened. He opened his eyes with a look of ecstasy on his face.

"Taxian-Jun!"

Suddenly, Chu Wanning turned around, his face was pale.

Shi Mei laughed out loud, and then said with a fierce look in his eyes: “He’s not dead… Hahaha… He actually did not die!” With strength that came from nowhere, he crawled up from the ground, and before anyone could react, he pressed several acupuncture points on his body to stop the bleeding. With the spread of his bloody robe, he instantly landed on the roof tiles, jumped a few steps, and dove into the garden.

“Shizun…”

Chu Wanning could not stay. He turned and looked at Xue Meng, then said to Mei Hanxue, “Please take care of him.” He flew up to the ground and followed closely behind Shi Mei.

Shi Mei’s movement technique was light, and he was not inferior to his Shizun in terms of movement. The two of them stood in front of each other, but Shi Mei could not get rid of Chu Wanning, and Chu Wanning could not catch him for the time being. In the blink of an eye, the two of them had arrived at the back of the mountain.

Ch. 303 [Sisheng Peak] Xue Meng from His Previous Life

There was an unfathomable chasm in front of the Path of Martyrdom. This chasm was the result of Chu Wanning's previous use of the Corpse Splitting Technique. The rain poured down into the ravine like a waterfall.

Above the chasm, a man in a black gold robe stood with his back to them, a blade held in one hand, his aura soaring.

Hearing the commotion, the man's fingers moved slightly and he slowly turned his head around.

It was Mo Ran!

His heart felt like it had been cut by a stone in the wind, Chu Wanning stared at the person in front of him in disbelief. What was going on?

"Rumble ~ ~ ~ ~"

White-white lightning flashed, followed by thunderous roars.

The pale light illuminated the blood-stained face of Taxian-Jun. That face was truly terrifying, and Shi Mei couldn't help but take a step back.

However, Chu Wanning involuntarily took two steps forward.

Blood traces.

His face was covered in bloody wounds. Apart from his face, every inch of skin that was exposed was crisscrossed, flesh and blood turning upside down. He was like a dismembered corpse that had failed because the blade was not sharp enough. His entire body was covered with cracks.

He could still see the handsome face of the past.

“…”

Chu Wanning’s lips turned white as he stood in the heavy rain, staring at the dead body that had been slashed into a thousand pieces.

The living dead also stared at him, a pair of black and white pupils filled with blood and tears.

His mind was blurry as memories and memories fought. His spirit soul and spirit soul were fighting. Perhaps it was because it hurt too much, but he couldn’t help but use his free hand to hold onto the side of his face.

Dark red blood dripped from his fingers along with the rain.

His thick eyelashes trembled, there was the fury of Taxian-Jun, and there was also Mo-zongshi’s bewilderment, “… Why did you do this to me?”

Chu Wanning: “…”

“Why did you kill me?” The man was startled, his eyes reflecting Chu Wanning’s reflection. Slowly, his expression became helpless and gentle. He muttered, “Shizun, is there something I didn’t do well?”

“No…”

“Did I make you unhappy again?”

Hearing his voice, Chu Wanning’s mind was in a mess. He thought, was that Taxian-Jun in the rain? No… No, that’s Mo Ran.

Regardless of whether it was Taxian-Jun or Mo-zongshi, both were Mo Ran.

Mo Ran, bathed in blood, staggered toward him. Beneath the blood was a corpse's white face, its open eyes unfocused, filled with grief.

"What have I done to disappoint you? For you to do this to me."

The rain was so cold that it seeped into his bones. He just watched as Mo Ran walked step by step towards him. Mo Ran was crying, and his eyes were filled with blood.

"Stop hitting me with the whip… I'll hurt too… No matter how stupid, how slow… You hit me… I'm in pain too… Shizun…"

From a slight tremble to a violent one, Chu Wanning could not stand still anymore. He was on the verge of breaking down.

He fell to his knees, curled up in the rain, his stomach torn and crushed by claws. He looked more dead man than Mo Ran did in front of him.

"I'm sorry…" Chu Wanning lamented in a hoarse voice, "… I'm sorry…"

Your scar is as long as my pain.

All your blood and hate ended up in my body.

He knelt in front of Mo Ran, hunched and wincing. He used all the courage he had left to raise his head, but when he looked at the body that he had failed in, he sobbed, "I'm the one who let you down…"

He didn't know where he had made a mistake, but it was probably because the living dead people with souls still inside couldn't be considered as real corpses, so the Corpse Splitting Spell didn't fully take effect.

Mo Ran did not die, but he was getting crazy. The memories of his life, whether he was in pain or madness, or confusion or sadness, rushed up one after another.

He was Mo Weiyu, Mo-zongshi, Taxian-Jun, and Ran'er.

Countless fragments had formed into this utterly broken man in front of him.

"Mo Ran…"

Upon hearing his voice, Mo Ran's eyes slightly shifted. The rain was red at his feet and there was blood all over the place.

After pausing for a while, this man whose spiritual sense had been split suddenly became irritable, as if another consciousness had invaded him. He began to pace back and forth, his sinister expression appearing all the more terrifying on his distorted face.

"Chu Wanning! You hate this Venerable One so much that you want to take his life at all costs, don't you?"

"I hate you too! I wish I could tear your corpse into a thousand pieces and eat your intestines! I wish I could let you be sacrificed for thousands of generations! You can't blame me, you're the one who killed me —!"

His sleeves fluttered as his eyes widened in anger.

He was so furious that he seemed like he was about to burst forth and strangle Chu Wanning by the throat and shatter him into pieces.

However, it was like a bow breaking before it was full or a sword breaking before it was drawn.

With an explosive sound, a blue light shot into Taxian-Jun's chest. Taxian-Jun's eyes dimmed and then, suddenly, he fell silent. After a few short pauses, he slowly straightened up and stood very coldly by the side of the road.

Chu Wanning turned around to see Shi Mei holding onto the boulder, shaking it, still throwing the incantation. His pair of peach blossom eyes were fierce and fierce, gleaming with an intense light.

"I think I'm done reminiscing about the past." Shi Mei clenched his teeth and formed a seal with his two fingers. He stared at the bloody Taxian-Jun and said, "Do you know what's the most important thing for you? Since you aren't dead yet, hurry up and help me collect the last thirty pieces!"

"Be quick." He said, panting.

Under the flame of the talisman, the previously chaotic face of Taxian-Jun, which was intertwined with good and evil, became as calm as still water, as cold as snow.

The madness in his eyes, the resentment, all the emotion vanished.

Taxian-Jun gave a brief nod of his head, and the blade in his hand lit up. He answered almost numbly, "Yes. Master."

After he finished speaking, he raised his hand and cast a protection incantation to protect Shi Mei. Then, like an eagle, his black robe swept up ready to fly towards the front hall. However, as he rose into the air, a figure appeared in front of him.

Chu Wanning stopped him.

His entire body was drenched, and his heart was already crushed. He wished that he could just turn into mud and dust and die in the storm.

But he still had to stop it.

“If only there were more people comfortable and well off, that would be great…”

That was what Mo Ran had told him when he was awake, so no matter how painful or exhausted he was, he had to hold on until the very end.

Chu Wanning said hoarsely, “Huaisha, summon here.”

Taxian-Jun gazed at the familiar golden light that appeared on his palm. A frown could be seen on his forehead.

Huaisha.

Heavy rain.

The world collapsed. Boundless Blood Sea.

They had had a similar day many years ago. On that day, both of them had offered up all of their hot blood to each other. They had spent all of their strength and strength to fight, causing the sky and earth to change color, and the golden crows to sink into the earth.

Who would have thought that the battle between Shizun and disciple in his previous life would once again descend into the human world, despite the passage of time.

A person’s life was destined to come to an end. It was just like how Nangong Si was destined to die in his prime. Ye Wangxi was destined to become a confident, and the Sisheng Peak's doom was impossible to escape from. Taxian-Jun and Chu Wanning were fated to fight face to face.

Whether it was hate or love.

They couldn't escape.

"Bu'gui. Summon here."

An incandescent voice slowly sounded out, and a ghostly green light shone into the eyes of Taxian-Jun. Now that he was under Shi Mei's full control, there were no emotions in his eyes. He was like a mirror from hell, reflecting the lonely figure of Chu Wanning in the rain.

Sword Qi Breaking Clouds, Horizontal Blade Reversing the Rain!

In the strong wind, a black and white figure were fighting each other, their spirits colliding!

They swiftly disassembled their attacks from the storm. In an instant, sand leveled off the ground, gales raged as water splashed in all directions around the two of them. They were like a snowy sea that was frothing, yet it also seemed like a cloud of dust had risen. None of them slacked. They fought with all their might, fighting from the back of the mountain all the way to the front of Heaven-Piercing Tower.

The momentum of this battle shook the clouds and shook the earth. At this moment, the people on the mountain top and bottom were all alarmed and raised their heads to look at each other —

"It's Chu Wanning?"

“H-how did he get into a fight with Mo Ran? Aren’t the two of them in the same group?”

The raindrops fell like thousands of horses trampling on the ground. On the peak of Sisheng Peak, the golden light in Chu Wanning’s hand pierced through the sun, aiming for the chest of Taxian-Jun. However, before the light could reach them, there was the sound of an explosion. The brilliant sun burst forth from the palm of Taxian-Jun with the force of lava, as if a volcano torrent had swallowed up all of the golden energy!

“Bam!”

In an instant, broken tiles and broken bricks flew everywhere, and the surrounding trees were uprooted.

At this moment, Jiang Xi was facing off against the chess pieces in front of the entrance. His reaction was very fast as he shouted, “Everyone be careful!” As soon as he finished speaking, he suddenly conjured a barrier to protect the people around him. The flying stones and flying rocks, the towering trees, all smashed into his barrier.

It was extremely difficult for Jiang Xi to hold on. He vomited a mouthful of blood as he fell to one knee, his lips red.

“Open the barrier! I can’t block it a second time!”

At this time, many cultivators panicked as they frantically took out their barrier umbrellas. They looked up towards the direction of Heaven-Piercing Tower and could not help but be stunned. Mo Weiyu and Chu Wanning, what kind of strength was this……

In front of the pagoda, the Shizun and disciple duo were engaged in an increasingly intense battle. In this world, other than him, there was probably no other person who could withstand so many attacks from Taxian-Jun.

Only Chu Wanning could.

The man in front of him, with his sharp blade and his feet moving around, looked exactly the same as before. Chu Wanning had personally taught him this.

It was at this Sisheng Peak, and there were even a few times when he was in front of Heaven-Piercing Tower, that he adjusted the movements of Mo Ran and repeatedly told him the mantra and the mental cultivation method. From the ignorant youngster to the moment when the weapons clashed.

This was the second time that Chu Wanning, the Beidou Immortal, had gone up against the Emperor Mo Weiyu, his disciple.

In that battle, Chu Wanning had come with a sword in his arms. There was still hope in his heart. He thought he could save a misguided disciple, and so he gave it his all.

However, this time, Chu Wanning knew that there was no turning back. Regardless of victory or defeat, the person he wanted to redeem the most was not going to come back.

“Those who stand in my way shall die.”

In front of his eyes, it was as if the scene of a teenager Mo Ran using his sword practice flashed past. The young child’s forehead was covered in sweat, and under the rising morning light, he stepped on his bamboo leaves and soared into the air, dragging out three sword flowers before lightly landing on the ground.

He turned around and grinned at Chu Wanning, “Shizun, do you think I’ve learned well?”

Flames burst out from his palm as he struck his chest.

Chu Wanning dodged to the side, and Taxian-Jun’s bloody palm brushed against his clothes.

But when Mo Ran had sparred with him in the Red Lotus Pavilion, it was clearly this move as well. At that time, the young man’s palm was still perfectly trimmed and had no scars whatsoever.

The young man’s face was very gentle as he looked at him. Then he smiled and held his hand, saying, “I won’t beat you up anymore. If you keep hitting me, there’s no end to it.”

The saber howled and the sword cried.

Chu Wanning suddenly thought of the village, Yuliang. Mo Ran had dragged him with him to watch the social scene by the lake, and now, the sound of the drums rang out.

The performer by his ear sang loudly, “Overbearing! Fully spirited!”

The colorful oil paint on the stage was painted all over his face as Mo Ran watched attentively from below. Chu Wanning raised his head, and Mo Ran immediately pulled himself away from the eternal sorrow and raised his eyes from his childhood wish.

He smiled and asked, “Does it look good?”

His eyes were dark and very warm.

Chu Wanning had once thought that the scenes were very long and melodious. A single word could be broken down into three words to sing. He did not know what was so nice about it… But at this moment, he really wanted to return to the stage in front of the theater in the village.

Pine oil blew up a raging fire, and Wu Sheng’s encouragement was directed towards the river. The martial arts world was brilliant. If only he could sing that scene for the rest of his life.

“Clang!”

All of a sudden, Huaisha was shot down.

It was the same back then as well. When the divine sword fell behind, he immediately retreated and summoned Tianwen as a temporary shield. However, this time, Taxian-Jun was a level stronger. Thus, before Chu Wanning could retreat, the sheathless black blade was already pointed at his chest.

Taxian-Jun narrowed his eyes.

His vision turned gray, and he could not tell who he was pointing at. He only knew that the opponent’s spirit had run out. He was like a man who had run on the night of Mount Liang, listening to the reeds all night long and singing from all directions.

All that remained was the stubborn resistance on the road.

The thin lips parted and a saber slashed down!

In this moment of life or death, a profound gold fan flew in from the side, straight towards Taxian-Jun! The incoming fan attack was extremely fierce and powerful. Taxian-Jun immediately retreated but he was unable to parry his blade. However, he was still forced to take a step back by the golden fan attack.

Soon after, three interweaving red and blue light formations descended from the sky with the might of thunder, trapping Taxian-Jun within!

“Who?!” Taxian-Jun, In that moment, was unable to move. He could not help but grind his teeth and angrily shouted, “Get out here!”

Three blurry figures stood at the top of the Heaven-Piercing Tower. They jumped down from the torrential downpour and landed steadily in front of the long stairs. At this time, they could finally see their faces clearly. The three of them…

A fox fur hat was on his forehead, and his eyes were flighty.

One of them had blond hair tied up and a cold look in his eyes.

The person standing at the front looked to be in his thirties or forties, dressed in a suit of blue armor, with a pair of sharp eyes and a calm expression, a knife scar running diagonally across his left forehead. There was not a single trace of arrogance on his face, only calmness and a thickness of something similar to Xue Zhengyong.

The man raised his hand and caught the profound gold fan that had come spinning back. He raised his eyes that could no longer hold his youth.

It was the Mei brothers from his previous life… And…

A clap of thunder split the air.

Chu Wanning looked at that man.

The other mortal world’s Xue Meng!

Ch. 304 [Sisheng Peak] Their Previous Life

Xue Meng of the previous life stood there amidst the strong wind and rain, his voice hoarse and fierce. He opened his mouth, closed it again and again, and his Adam's apple rolled several times. When he opened his mouth, he said, "Disciple Xue Meng greets Shizun."

Simple words, no one could complain for more than ten years.

After saying this sentence, Xue Meng felt all sorts of emotions surge through his throat. It was so painful that he could not speak, and he could no longer say a second sentence.

Behind him, Mei Hanxue said, "Ziming, focus."

The appearances of the two brothers from the Mei Family from the previous life didn't change. However, each of them had a trace of steadiness in their brows and their Spiritual Energy had far surpassed that of the previous time.

"I know that your emotions are in turmoil, but you can't let your spiritual flow be in turmoil with you. I just saw the youth you who has come into this world. If you lose this fight again, you will lose all your face in front of yourself. Hurry and come back to reality."

"…"

Xue Meng was no longer that reckless and ignorant youth from before. He knew Mei Hanxue was right, so even though he was reluctant to part with him, he took a deep breath and shifted his gaze away from Chu Wanning and back to Taxian-Jun.

“Who are you people?” Taxian-Jun, who was standing in the middle of the nexus, narrowed his eyes dangerously. “You want to court death?”

Mei Hanxue was startled. “What’s going on? He doesn’t seem to recognize us.”

Chu Wanning took a deep breath and said, “He has completely lost consciousness. He will recognize no one now.”

Xue Meng, “…”

If it was said that he had just seen Chu Wanning, he was already agitated. Then, at this moment, he heard that familiar voice again, the voice that could only be heard in his dreams later on. Xue Meng could no longer hold back his tears, and they slowly filled his eyes.

How many years had passed?

He didn’t dare look back at those years. He was afraid that if he tried to remember, tears would fall down his face.

In fact, time passed by very quickly for him. He still remembered the first year of Chu Wanning’s captivity, when he was at the pinnacle of his lifespan. At that time, he was running all over the place by himself to beg for help. However, perhaps it was because he was too arrogant in the past, but no one paid any attention to him.

Later on, he had finally gathered his troops. He wanted to rescue the people in the Devil’s Lair as soon as possible, but they felt that he was too impulsive and selfish, so they mocked and ridiculed him. At that time, Mei Hanxue was deployed and was not at the front line. He was on his own and could only go up the mountain on his own.

But what was waiting for him on the mountain? It was the place where things changed when they died. It was the dying Emperor Taxian-Jun. And there was also the corpse of Chu Wanning, who had been gradually annihilated along with the death of Taxian-Jun, by the side of the cold pond in the Red Lotus Pavilion.

Almost ten years.

The man he had waited ten years for became a corpse. The body crumbled to ashes in front of him.

The pillar supporting him had disappeared, and all he could do was cry like a helpless child on his knees amidst the swirling ashes.

He was too late, he didn't even touch the corner of his Shizun's sleeve.

He could no longer hear Chu Wanning call out to him, "Xue Meng."

After that, things became even more frightening.

Taxian-Jun had returned from the dead, and Shi Mingjing had revealed his green fangs. They had started a massacre, and the human world had been reduced to a ghost realm. To Xue Meng, the deaths of his old friends had transformed him. When he was young, he had buried a jug of Du Kang wine under the laurel tree, but when he dug it up again, who would drink with him?

Therefore, Xue Meng didn't know how much effort he had put in to take away the first glance from Chu Wanning ten years later.

"This time, I didn't come too late. Shizun, I'll come help you."

At this time, Xue Meng from the mortal world also arrived together with the other two Mei brothers. Although they knew that they might meet some unimaginable people after the Life and Death Door was torn apart, they were still more or less surprised when they saw themselves more than ten years later.

Young Xue Meng said, “You… You…?!”

The previous life Xue Meng had only glanced at him, his eyes containing both envy and sadness. Then he gave a low laugh and said, “I almost forgot. So, it turns out that I was like this more than ten years ago.”

“…”

“So stupid.”

The young Xue Meng had no idea that he had been covered with a fool’s poke. Before he couldn’t even react, Taxian-Jun’s fireball had already shot down on his back —

Xue Meng moved to the side. He originally did not want to use Xuehuang, but at this moment, he reflexively pulled out this godly weapon, barely blocked the attack, and then staggered a few steps back. He finally managed to stabilize himself after a long time, and angrily shouted as he rushed towards Taxian-Jun. However, he was stopped by a sword flowing with a blue light.

Méi Hánxuě from the previous life stood in front of him with narrowed eyes. “Since we’re here, there’s no need for you to do anything.”

Mei Hanxue also smiled and said to himself from ten years ago, “This mortal world is naturally the one to make up for the troubles caused by this mortal world. There's no need for you to ride on. Mei-xianjun is in his prime, so it would be bad if he were to be surrounded by bitter enemies and spend the rest of his life in the same boring position as me."

Young Mei Hanxue: "……"

At this time, the formation that the three of them used to lock onto Taxian-Jun began to tremble violently. Mei Hanxue stopped playing with his former self and immediately turned around with a stern expression and said, "Not good! His strength is much stronger than before!"

"There's a new core in his body," Chu Wanning said.

"AHHH!"

Xue Meng used all his strength to cast the spell. The meridians in his hand were protruding. He gritted his teeth and said, "I'm afraid we can't hold on for much longer than we expected. Shizun, you have to go back as soon as possible and kill Hua Binan!"

Before Chu Wanning could reply, the young man Xue Meng asked, "Kill Hua Binan? Why kill Hua Binan, not this… This…"

For a moment, he didn't know if he should call Taxian-Jun Mo Ran or something else.

Xue Meng glanced at himself. "He is a puppet made from the body of a corpse. He can't be killed. But if the man manipulating him died, he too would soon be destroyed. Also —" He paused for a moment, reluctantly raising his hands. A fire-red formation immediately lit up beneath Xue Meng's feet.

“No! I don’t want to! Why are you — hey!”

Even though the young man, Xue Meng, was struggling with all his might, he, like the Mei brothers, was quickly enveloped by the butterfly tide of spiritual energy released by the light array.

Just as he sent the three kids away, he heard a crisp “crack!”. Mei Hanxue’s expression changed, “The formation is about to break, Ziming!”

Xue Meng suddenly released all the spiritual energy in his body in the direction of Taxian-Jun. His entire body was trembling as if he was doing his best to hold back a ferocious beast that was eager to break through the sky.

“Shizun, let’s go!”

Without needing Xue Meng to say anything, Chu Wanning jumped into the air. His sword-like eyebrows knitted together as he looked at Xue Meng, “I will be back very soon. Don’t get hurt.”

“I should be the one saying this to Shizun.” Xue Meng gritted his teeth and said, “Don’t worry. Your disciple is no longer the same as before. I can endure it.”

He could withstand it.

He had lived in this world for so many years that it had become a habit to support himself, a habit to keep him going. He had endured so much without seeing the light of day, and now that he saw his master, there was no reason for him to not be able to hold on.

Chu Wanning sighed, “I’m sorry for leaving you alone all these years…”

His voice was still ringing in his ears as he left.

However, Xue Meng’s tears had finally begun to flow.

The man who was near to death in years did not look good when he cried. Even though the torrential rain covered him, it could not cover up the slight trembling of his shoulders and the redness in his eyes.

Taxian-Jun was going berserk in the formation. The light was like a crack in the ice of a heavenly lake, revealing its fragmented traces of danger! Just as he was about to break out of the encirclement, a red light shot towards him, locking him in place. Taxian-Jun became even more furious, he raised his blood-red eyes and stared in the direction of the red light.

Xue Meng looked into Taxian-Jun’s eyes. “Give up. I won’t let him disappear in front of me a second time.”

As he spoke, he used up all of his spirit energy. The veins on his neck throbbed and his eyes were as hard as steel.

“Shidi, in the past, you always surpassed me. Today, Shizun is by my side. I don’t want to disappoint him, so… Don’t even think about winning against me!”

Méi Hánxuě reacted quickly and was shocked. He frowned and shouted, “Ziming! What are you doing!?”

With a bang, red light from the raging flames lit up behind Xue Meng. With a loud shout, he pushed out his palms, and the flames followed the spell formation as they flew towards Taxian-Jun. In an instant, it was as if ten thousand arrows had pierced through his heart, and the shackles were all over Taxian-Jun!

“Urghhh!”

Taxian-Jun’s eyes were bloodshot. He raised his head and gave a muffled groan as the surrounding spiritual energy instantly weakened by more than half. His black eyes slowly turned over and stared at Xue Meng like a resentful ghost. Black blood dripped from the corner of his mouth.

On the left side of his chest, near his heart, there was a scar.

It was a place that had once been pierced by Xue Meng’s Longcheng sword.

Now, over a hundred of the forbidden spells that Xue Meng had condensed had pierced into his body. The sharpest one had once again pierced through his chest.

Empty bloody holes…

Mei Hanxue was both shocked and anxious. “Stop, this is already the power of your Spirit Core. If this goes on, your Spirit Core…”

“You talk too much!” Xue Meng sternly interrupted him.

He stared at Taxian-Jun. The shixiong stared at his shidi, while the assassin stared at a tyrant.

This pair of brothers from the past stared at each other. Many years of life and death had been written off in one stroke. Although Xue Meng’s expression was terrible, his eyes lit up with the blazing brilliance of the phoenix from back then.

“Everything I, Xue Meng, have learned in my life, I will fight with today.”

Mei Hanxue: “…”

As these words fell, in an instant, all that could be seen was the blazing flames that shot into the sky!

In the raging flames, it was as if he had seen a young man with silver and blue light armor and blond ponytail. He yelled noisily and grimaced in pain:

“I want to take first place in the Spiritual Mountain Competition!”

“Humph! I will have a godly weapon sooner or later! What’s so rare about that!”

“Fifty years from now, no! As long as it is thirty years, I will definitely be able to make Sisheng Peak shine in my hands, with power that can shake all of the Nine Prefectures!”

That young man had no scruples, did not fear the heavens nor did he fear fate, and declared his ambition.

The firelight almost illuminated half the sky above Sisheng Peak. Many had been burnt to ashes yesterday, turning into ashes…

Everything had settled down, leaving only the current Xue Ziming.

His eyes were steady and steady as he said, “I don’t seek success or fame, but I want others as they were before.”

Ch. 305 [Sisheng Peak] Sacrifice of the Body of God

At the same time…

Sisheng Peak had already begun the battle on all four sides. The allied army who had charged up the mountain, the vanguard who had fought against the chess pieces, the guards responsible for opening the border, the medics who were in the midst of a chaotic battle… Thousands of magic spells interweaved, lighting up this mountain range that resembled a gigantic black beast.

But even so, Xue Meng's attack still triggered a strong flood of energy. That flame was like a hot knife through butter, piercing through the heavens! Chu Wanning turned around to look at the wind, his heart was filled with grief. He knew that Xue Meng had already started to burn his Spiritual Core.

Xue Meng would most likely follow in the footsteps of Nangong Si.

"Ascending Dragon — Summon!"

His two fingers were holding the Ascending Dragon Talisman, and blood was dripping from it. But when he heard the dragon's cry, the paper dragon's roar pierced through the rain and soared into the sky, its voice as loud as a bell.

"Chu Wanning, what do you want from me?"

Chu Wanning lowered his sharp eyebrows and said sharply, "To the end of the Path of Martyrdom, you have to be fast."

The candle paper dragon swept its eyes over the chaos all over the war-ravaged land. It didn't ask any further questions and only said, "Come up." A man and a dragon pierced through the wind and rain in an instant. It was as if they were riding the wind and breaking the waves…

They flew straight toward the Path of Martyrdom laid out by the dead. Chu Wanning looked down from the nine heavens above. The road that connected the two worlds was flowing with a scarlet radiance, like blood gushing out of arteries, rushing towards an unknown domain.

Because the back of the mountain was extremely close to the door to the Demon World and under the influence of the demon aura, the sky was covered with scarlet and pale purple flaming clouds, which were not affected by the torrential rain.

The Candle Dragon swooped down, instantly transforming into a golden light as it returned to the incantation. Chu Wanning stood firmly on the Path of Martyrdom, he heaved a sigh of relief and raised his eyes.

"You're here?"

An empty voice came from behind him. Shi Mei was standing at the end of the road, and behind him was the Devil Sect's raging flames. Since Xue Meng and the Mei brothers had temporarily taken control of Taxian-Jun, the protective barrier around him had already disappeared. Upon hearing the commotion, Shi Mei turned his head to the side, looking at Chu Wanning with his beautiful eyes.

"You sure are capable."

The wind blew his hair, and Shi Mei's gaze once again fell upon the distorted shadows of the Devil Realm's Gate.

“The Gates of Life and Death are wide open. You don’t want to make up for it in time, but you want to stop my clan from returning…”

Chu Wanning did not fall for the trap, “The three forbidden arts were created by Gouchen, and the devil aura will expand his cultivation by a hundred percent. It’s not that I don’t want the Butterfly Boned Clan to return to its homeland, but that once the Demon Area is opened and the demon aura enters, the Gate of Life and Death will be torn apart even more.”

“…” Shi Mei was silent for a moment, and then sneered, “I can’t fool you after all.”

Chu Wanning didn’t want to waste any more time with him. A golden light appeared in his palm. Just as Tianwen was about to hit Shi Mei, a shadow flashed past. It was actually Mu Yanli, who was holding a sword, blocking the attack!

“I won’t let you touch him.” Mu Yanli raised her sword to illuminate her eyes and growled, “He has suffered enough.”

Shi Mei: “… Elder sister Mu…”

He didn’t know how Mu Yanli had managed to do it, but behind her was actually expanse of Zhenlong chess pieces used to pave the Path of Martyrdom. Chu Wanning saw the danger and wanted to stop the pawn army. However, Mu Yanli was fast and quickly blocked his path.

“Get out of the way!”

Mu Yanli sneered: “On what basis should I get out of the way? The cultivation world has never cared about the life and death of beauties, so why should the return of beauties care about your life?” As she spoke, she raised the tip of her sword and slashed forward.

At the same time, a terrifyingly bright golden sun burst out from her surroundings — it was a desperate gamble. Mu Yanli, in order to obtain the strongest power, had also lost her own spirit core!

She originally had the Divine Blood Body, so no matter how thin the bloodline was, after self-detonating, she would still be able to move mountains and fill the seas.

“What Zongshi realm expert, what illustrious righteous path… For the past few thousand years, you guys have been drinking human blood and eating human flesh. You guys could do anything for the ascension of your Dao!”

Her sword qi was so sharp that Chu Wanning had no choice but to fight with everything he had. Although the woman in front of him didn’t have a single drop of the blood of a beauty, and could even be considered a distant heir of a god, she was willing to risk her life to help the demons return to their homeland.

For a moment, Chu Wanning’s white robe fluttered in the wind, and Mu Yanli’s golden sleeves fluttered in the air. The two of them were as light as kites in the air, yet their killing intent was so strong that it split the air.

Clang! Their weapons clashed and they looked at each other in the midst of the sparks.

“People got in our way!”

Chu Wanning gritted his teeth and said, “In this world… Not everyone is as you say.”

Even though he was covered in frost after walking through the long night, he could still remember Madam Rong's kindness, sharing a meal with him. He could also remember that before Luo Xianxian had gone crazy, she had also thought of never harming anyone. He could also remember that the disciples of Sisheng Peak did not ask for money to help them, or that Chu Xun's heart guided the people on their journey home.

He could still remember the bright smiles of the villagers in the Yuliang village. He remembered the righteousness of the Flying Flower Island's mistress, remembered the sacrifice of Nangong Si in Dragon Lake Demon pool, and remembered how Li Wuxin wielded his sword to carry the universe.

He could still remember Nangong Changying smiling as he faded into specks of golden light. With a gentle expression, he said, "The human world is so good. It's enough as long as there are flowers. Why do you need blood?"

Almost all of these figures were either sick or dead, displaced or in the midst of this calamity…

There was even Ye Wangxi.

That year in Xuanyuan Pavilion, it was she who had spared no expense to save a lone Butterfly-Boned Beauty, giving her a lifetime worth of freedom and a future.

"So what? Do I have to forgive this mortal sin because of some people?!"

The more she recounted her grievances, the more her sword attacks became fiercer.

“My mother was so kind, but just because she was a Butterfly Boned Beauty, she was actually eaten alive by my animal father… Is her life not hers?”

“…”

“Ever since she was young, she was the only one who doted on me and treated me like her own daughter. Other than her, from my father to the elders of the sect, and also all of you cultivators, who would treat me like a living person? I have the blood of the God in me, so everyone will treat me as a scale of fairness, allowing me to extinguish the desires of others, letting me cultivate my ultimate mental cultivation method… On what basis?”

The power of her spirit core had been expanded to the extreme, and Mu Yanli’s entire body was covered in the god-like platinum brilliance. Her spirit core self-detonation was different from an ordinary cultivator’s; her pupils and hair had even started to turn a pale gold color.

“As long as you are a descendant of demons, you deserve to be eaten. It has been like this for thousands of years…” As the sword’s body passed by, the sharp humming sound produced by the clash of godly weapons almost tore one’s eardrums.

However, there is nothing more sharp than Mu Yanli’s gaze. Mu Yanli enunciated each word slowly, “Chu-zongshi. You haven’t turned over the case history of the Butterfly-Boned Beauties’ family, have you?”

“…”

“It’s a man-eating book… In the past, cultivators used to fly up using Butterfly-Boned Beauties to refine medicine for cultivation, but today, the Butterfly-Boned Beauties is using all of you to pave the way for us to return home!”

With a loud bang, Mu Yanli used up all of her life’s energy and swung her sword towards Chu Wanning.

Suddenly, Chu Wanning shouted, “Jiuge!”

The sound of the zither clanged, and a blinding golden light pierced through the heavens, illuminating the entire Sisheng Peak! In front of Chu Wanning was a large barrier that was filled with haitang petals. He was floating in the air, his wide sleeves fluttering. In front of him was Mu Yanli’s face, which was full of hatred.

She didn’t hate him. She hated the injustice of the world. She hated her mother’s miserable death. She hated that she couldn’t live a life without freedom. She hated that she was never imprisoned.

“Let them go back.”

Even though her attack was unbreakable, her spiritual power had been pushed to its limits, yet she still could not destroy the barrier. Instead, blood dripped from the corner of her mouth.

Her voice was hoarse, and the hand holding the sword was trembling.

Her spirit core was about to shatter…

Suddenly, Mu Yanli looked up at Chu Wanning and said softly, “Please…”

Chu Wanning saw his reflection in her golden pupils.

Whose shadow was that?

The face was confused, hollow, twisted, and lost.

Cruelty. Benevolence.

“Let them go home Chu Xianzun……”

The reflection in the golden light suddenly disappeared.

Because his mind was in such a mess, it took him a while to realize that her spirit core had been shattered and she was back to her normal appearance, with only a pair of black eyes. Looking at him.

The armor had been removed, leaving no path for her ahead.

She could no longer be the descendant of that cold and arrogant God, and her eyes were like those of an ordinary woman.

She begged for her younger brother and for the descendants of the devil race that were incompatible with her own race.

“Let them go…”

As she spoke, the sword ray in her hand suddenly disappeared. Because it could not withstand the intense battle from before, it shattered into dust the moment the spiritual energy was extinguished.

“Please.”

Mu Yanli fell from the sky, and the golden-white robe fluttered like a lotus behind her.

Her waist was still embroidered with the magic scale totem of the Tianyin Pavilion, the emblem of justice and light shining in the dark night.

The heavenly music was mighty, it could not be hidden.

The heir of the Tianyin Pavilion must not be sentimental.

The heavenly music was weak and could not be disrespectful to the gods.

The heaven's voice had pity on it, as a form of respect towards all living beings.

She had been reciting this chant ever since she was young. Even when she closed her eyes and opened them, they were still imprisoning her like shackles.

Ever since she was born, the first sentence she had learned was neither from her father nor from her mother but these verses.

Recitation a thousand times a day, kneeling in front of the icons of the gods repeatedly praying.

Not private… Don't be sentimental… Do not disrespect the gods… Respect all beings.

On her first memorable birthday, her unfeeling father had given her a box of delicate clay figures, painted and covered with gold sand, and when the box was opened, he smiled at her.

"Wow — what a sight!"

"Do you like it?"

"I like it!" Mu Yanli raised her head in joy. It was as if tens of thousands of fireworks were blossoming in her heart. "Thank you, Abba!"

The man she called Abba simply raised his hand and caressed her head before taking the embroidered box from her.

Then, it smashed into the ground right in front of her.

“Clang!” The sound of clay falling to the ground.

The clay figurine could not speak, but its eyebrows were curved as it looked at her with a smile. However, its smile was cracked and its face was shattered. Mu Yanli was dazed for a moment before crying out in fear, wanting to pounce on it and steal her clay doll.

A white shoe with a scale totem embroidered on it fell.

Creak creak.

It was like the top of a doll’s head had been shattered.

The father removed his foot, and the girl was greeted by a mess of dust.

They had clearly lined up neatly and were smiling sincerely at her before… Why? Why was this happening? Isn’t that the birthday present for her? Where did she not do the right thing? How did she make his father angry? So the little creatures that brought these clay statues to their deaths innocently.

“Daughter of Tianyin, do not be sentimental.” The man was extremely cold and detached in front of the crying girl, “If you like it, you will lose your composure. If you like it, you will be disgraced. You are the descendant of the God of Heaven, the ruler of all righteousness… Your father’s real gift to you is to teach you that you should never say the word ‘like’ to anything.”

Not private… Don’t be sentimental…

No, no, no… As the incense burner produced, a solemn eulogy arose — Tianyin – Mighty –

For many long nights she clutched his head in a sort of frenzy, and screamed soundlessly in the tent.

No way out was found.

No answer could be found…

What was a father? What was a mother?

She had wanted to hug her mother, Madam Lin, but Madam Lin was a madwoman, and she had stabbed her with scissors, so that her hands were full of holes, and she had even stuck the scissors in her own throat.

Not private.

No privacy!

In the dead of night, she knelt in front of the statue and recited a spell that could not be used to defy the gods. However, she cursed in her heart that she could not shatter the statue into powder!

Just like that, she transformed from a girl into a young girl, and from a young girl into a young woman.

Behind her, over a thousand people knelt as they recited the familiar chant that was carved into her heart and bone. “The heavenly music is vast and mighty, it cannot be hidden from others…”

Sometimes, she would act like a crazed demon, her back trembling and almost standing up. With a wave of her sword, she would chop everyone from the Tianyin Pavilion into mincemeat before dying.

However, at this time, a gentle and beautiful voice sounded next to her ear. It was very sweet, and very young. The voice sang softly to her, “Reeds are tall, reeds are long, and they look at each other across the mountains and across the water. One side of the reeds is home, and the other side of the reeds is the ocean.”

She opened his eyes. The sunlight shone down from behind the statue, shining mottled light on the ground.

At that time, she was already the pavilion master of the Tianyin Pavilion. She stared at the mottled shadows on the ground, as if she could see the Reed Wormwood in the midst of the song, its flowers fluttering in the wind.

A woman stood in the middle of the reeds and held out her hand with a slight smile.

“This side of the reeds is our homeland… On the other side of the reeds is a vast ocean…”

“Mama…” she murmured.

He addressed Madam Lin as her mother and paid he respects. But only to one person did she call Mama.

She was her stepmother, and also the mama who had brought her up. Perhaps other people wouldn’t understand why she didn’t hate this woman for occupying the lair. But those people would never understand…

In her life, black and white as a grid, there had only been those few short years when Lady Hua Gui was there. She had laughed, she had been gentle, she had been warm, she had been sweet.

No one would believe her.

The reed song that Hua Gui had coaxed her to sleep was the only song she had ever heard in her life besides the mighty heavenly music.

Only this one song suppressed the demons in her heart throughout her entire life, and also became the demons in her heart throughout her life.

“Sister Mu!”

She seemed to hear her brother Hua Binan screaming. She had never heard him lose his composure like this before.

However, she couldn’t care less. She used the last of his spiritual qi to reduce the momentum of her landing. However, this was not for the sake of survival.

Gritting her teeth, she followed the Path of Martyrdom, moving one step at a time until she reached the very edge like a maggot.

And then —

Before anyone could react, she used what little strength she had left to suddenly throw herself at the edge of the bridge!

“Mu Yanli has voluntarily sacrificed her life for the Path. I hope that you can fulfill your long-cherished wish and return to your homeland.”

When Shi Mei saw this, he was on the verge of going crazy. He rushed over, but it was already too late.

This woman had always been cold and indifferent, her expressions were not many. Even her skin emitted a frosty, cold air.

However, at this moment, she turned towards her younger brother, and her smile was sweet.

She fell on his back, her face curved into a scowl.

“Sister!”

Mu Yanli smiled and looked up at the sky. This woman, who had not moved at all, faced the vast sky where she had kowtowed countless times and said, “Don't be sentimental, don’t let it hold you back.”

Another red light appeared on the bridge, and the scarlet flames of the Path of Martyrdom engulfed her entire body. Before she was engulfed by the flames, she looked in the direction of the Infernal domain’s gate with all her might.

She seemed to hear a voice coming from behind the huge door. It was gentle, and it was Mama waving a small fan for her by the cool summer bed. She was singing lazily.

“The reeds are tall and long, looking at each other across the mountain.”

On this side of the reeds is home,

On the other side of the reeds was a vast ocean.

“Pavilion master Mu!”

“Miss Mu!”

All of a sudden, the “pawns” on the Path of Martyrdom all went out of control. One by one, they rushed over and knelt down in front of the woman who had used the divine blood to pave the path for the demons. However, that woman had already turned into the thirtieth step of the path of sacrifice.

Chu Wanning landed back on the ground, his fingertips were icy cold, and a human figure was swaying in front of him.

He had originally thought that these people were chess pieces brought by Mu Yanli, but now he realized that they weren’t.

Most of these people wore the robes of a personal disciple from the Tianyin Pavilion. Their faces were very pretty, and the tears they shed were all golden…

They were the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Clan!

Under Mu Yanli’s command, the Tianyin Pavilion gathered so many survivors of the Butterfly-Boned Clan in the name of taking in disciples. At this moment, these people were crying and crying as they staggered and knelt on the ground.

She had just brought them out of the group of cultivators and prepared to pave the Path of Martyrdom so that they could return home anytime they wanted…

“Murderer!” Suddenly, someone turned around and shouted at Chu Wanning, “You murderer!” His face was twisted by hatred.

“Why do you have to be our enemy? Why did you force pavilion master Mu onto this path?!”

They were all extremely beautiful, and their gazes were filled with deep hatred.

Many of the Butterfly-Boned Beauties rushed towards him, as if they had lost all sense of reason or knew what was important, and pounced on him like moths to a flame.

Chu Wanning stood still. His eyes were dim, it was too easy for him to block these low-level Butterfly-Boned Beauties. He didn't even need to lift his hand, just the force from his fingertips was enough to keep them from going through.

The murderer…

Sinner.

Grandmaster.

Savior.

Chu Wanning closed his eyes. What was he doing? What else could he do?

Mo Ran was dead, time and space were falling apart, and punishment was approaching. Mu Yanli would use her divine body to offer up her demonic path, and Xue Meng would use his Spiritual Core to suppress Taxian-Jun.

He suddenly felt as if he was standing before a wall made from sharp knives. The hilt was facing the cold light, and he had to pass through it.

Just as not everyone in the world is evil, not all of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Clan are guilty.

But he wanted to block their way home.

Even if there were only twenty-nine steps left, twenty-nine corpses.

He could not let them go and let the Devil's Gate open. As long as the devil gate was opened, Heaven's punishment would quickly descend and the two worlds would be destroyed. The people of the Nine Regions would not even have the chance to catch their breath and resist. What kind of ruthlessness did he have to be able to sit back and watch this happen?

He couldn't.

He could no longer hesitate.

At this moment, Xue Meng was still using his life to buy time for him, not to mention the people who had once died in vain, this bloody road in front of him.

"Murderer!"

"You killed us! You caused our deaths!"

"Heartless Cold Blood! You will have your retribution!"

His soul was like fire, but his heart was as hard as iron.

Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes — he had to become the murderer.

He had no choice.

"Shi Mingjing."

"…" Shi Mei looked at him through the crowd of people. That beautiful face that could topple cities still had traces of tears on it, and his eyes seemed to be filled with madness, yet also emptiness.

The wind was blowing, and his clothes were fluttering in the wind. He seemed to have resigned himself to the fact that Chu Wanning would come kill him. Chu Wanning's palm also started to glow with a golden light, and Huaisha appeared once again. With a bang, he sent his sword aura flying in front of the beauties, attempting to block them.

With a tap of his feet, his gaze became as sharp as a night blade as his sword pierced towards Shi Mei!

It was at this moment that the Path of Martyrdom beneath their feet began to shake violently. A red pillar of light shot out from the ground, and several of the pillars of light suddenly blocked Chu Wanning's path.

Someone shouted, "Look! Look ahead!"

"It's the Demon Gate! What's going on?"

"The bridge is growing, the bridge is going to be built!"

In the end, it was almost a scream: "The door's about to open!"

Shi Mei was shocked. He turned his head to look and saw a white golden radiance scattering from the location of Mu Yanli's death. It extended from the last step and headed towards the Devil Realm's Gate with astonishing momentum!

Chu Wanning's expression suddenly changed, and after the initial shock, Shi Mei's face was filled with ecstasy.

The Path of Martyrdom was about to be traversed — the bridge to the world of humans and devils was finally about to be traversed!

A tired and old voice came from behind the devil gate and echoed between heaven and earth. That voice seemed to have praise in it as he lazily said, “There is a sacrifice from the god race on the Path of Martyrdom.”

The sound was too loud, and everyone within a hundred miles of the summit of the mountain could clearly hear it. All the people who were battling raised their heads and looked towards the back of the mountain.

Jiang Xi’s face turned pale white. Of course, it wasn’t just him. Everyone knew that the door of the Infernal domain was about to open…

Sure enough, the old voice continued:

“Heaven’s punishment is coming soon. When His Majesty the Demon Lord saw that you had done a great service in killing one of the descendant of gods, he was merciful and lenient and spared the last twenty-nine steps of the bridge. The demon gate immediately opened and has allowed you to return home!”

“What?!”

The mountain path on the mountain peak instantly turned into a mess.

The Palace Master Ma of the Peach Blossom Villa even sat down on the ground and started crying, “Oh my god! What should we do!?”

There were even some whose faces were ashen as they fought with each other, “Is Heaven’s punishment coming soon? What punishment… What’s Heaven’s punishment!?”

The three, Xue Meng and the brothers who were fighting with Taxian-Jun were also shocked. Xue Meng’s mind shook as Taxian-Jun took the opportunity to break out of the trap and fly up into the air. However, Xue Meng was reprimanded by the force and felt a stifling sensation in his chest as he suddenly spat out a large mouthful of blood!

When Taxian-Jun heard the commotion, he glanced sideways with his scarlet eyes and stared at Xue Meng for a moment. His expression was very chaotic, as if the memories in his mind were messing up again, and the soul in his body was also starting to torture and kill each other. “Xue Meng…?”

Méi Hánxuě immediately brandished his sword Shuofeng, protecting his brother and Xue Meng behind him as he warned in a low voice, “Be careful!”

However, Taxian-Jun didn’t have any intention of continuing to attack. Instead, he suddenly frowned, and his heart surged with pain.

“No… What was going on… What’s going on!?”

He was at a loss, but he was also extremely angry. He let out a roar, lost control, and quickly charged into the dense forest behind the mountain. Only then did Méi Hánxuě heave a sigh of relief. Turning around, he returned to the other two and asked Xue Meng, “How are you?”

“Don’t worry about me, go to Shizun’s side! Tell him all the preparations we made!”

Mei Hanxue put his hand on his wrist and shook his head, “Your spirit core is on the verge of breaking. You need to heal first.”

Xue Meng said angrily, “Quickly go!”

“How about I go over first, none of you move.” Mei Hanxue knew that the situation was urgent, so he pointed at Xue Meng and said to his brother,

“Brother, help him recuperate. I’ll go find Chu-zongshi.”

In front of the Path of Martyrdom, as the final step was completed, the path between the demonic world and the human world was finally finished. A dreamy look appeared on the faces of the beauties. Almost all of them were trembling, and no one dared to take a step forward. Even Shi Mei didn’t move an inch.

After a while, it was unknown how much time had passed. Perhaps it was just an instant, or perhaps it was so long that it was suffocating.

The door to the Infernal domain suddenly rumbled and shook. In an instant, clouds flew everywhere, the winds in all directions blew, and the organs in the world seemed to be gasping for breath as they produced muffled booms.

The extravagant carvings of devils parted to the left and right, and a crimson radiance shot out from the gaps!

Chu Wanning only felt a terrifying aura of war and evil gushing out from the gap. It was the aura of the Demon race that boosted the strength of the three forbidden arts.

The Infernal domain had opened!

Ch. 306 [Sisheng Peak] Have Pity on My Different Race

The heaven and earth instantly changed color. The devil's breath was like a sharp arrow piercing through the clouds, directly shooting towards the distant Space-Time Life and Death Gate.

The continuous torrential rain that lasted for more than ten days suddenly stopped.

Just a moment ago, it was overflowing, but in the blink of an eye, not a single drop was left.

Some people's lips trembled, and they were hoping to get lucky as they shakily asked, "This is… What's going on?"

No one answered him. Everyone's eyes were fixed on the direction of the Portal, but the black hole that had occupied most of the space remained undisturbed for a while.

The people waited nervously.

Their hearts were pounding…

There were no abnormalities.

Nothing unusual happened.

"The rain has stopped… Did nothing happen?"

"It should be a false alarm. Everything should be fine now…"

One by one, people let out a sigh of relief, and their tight cheeks relaxed. However, just at this moment, the ground under their feet began to shake all of a sudden.

“What’s wrong?!”

Looking up, they saw the black hole of the Gate of Life and Death started to expand at an alarming speed, engulfing the remaining cumulus clouds in the sky. Following that, a sharp whistle broke through the sky, causing them all to be dumbstruck!

After cutting across the dome, the Phoenix Bird flapped its wings, blocking out the sun. It was as large as a heavenly lake, and its claws were as large as mountains. Just a single feather was over a hundred meters long. With a flap of its wings, godly winds billowed, and countless plants were uprooted.

As for Mount Kunlun, which was the closest to it, the snow had melted and the icicles had shattered.

Chirp chirp —!

In the blink of an eye, the divine bird had settled down on top of Mount Kun. It began to cry, and the sound it produced was exactly the kind of whistle that would appear whenever the Gate of Life and Death opened and closed.

“This is…”

One of the cultivators cried out miserably, “It’s the First Phoenix!”

“It’s the Ancestral Phoenix!”

This was an ancient mythical beast that did not even have a painting scroll. Later on, it went to Gouchen Palace. The First Phoenix could move mountains and fill the sea. When it flapped its huge wings in the nine heavens, its speed was faster than lightning, far faster than the light of dawn.

Chu Wanning mumbled, “So… Was the guardian of the Gate of Life and Death always him?”

Of the Three Forbidden Techniques created by Gouchen, the Gate of Life and Death in Time and Space actually opened the void cage which imprisoned the First Phoenix. The instant somebody stepped into the rift, the First Phoenix crowed and asked questions. It rushed through time, carrying those who entered, returning to the past or running into the future. Its body was too large, its speed was too fast, so the people who opened the Gate of Life and Death were often unable to see it at all and only had time to hear its cries before they were taken to the time they wanted to go to.

The phoenix stood on Mount Kunlun, looking down at the earth with its red and gold eyes. It suddenly spoke in human language, sounding out a warning bell, “The heavens shall punish anyone who goes against the order of the mortal world.”

After speaking, it rose into the air and opened its nine golden wings one by one, dragging them along the ground. With a flap of its wings, the human world shook, and the hills crumbled! If it wasn’t the apocalypse, the scene would have been magnificent.

Chu Wanning snapped, “Retreat!”

At the same time, almost every sect’s Elder and Sect Leader reacted in the same way.

Retreat.

To survive was their instinct, so they did not need to remind them anymore. The cultivators who were like ants and mustard seeds in front of Shi Huang immediately flew up on their swords, fleeing in the opposite direction of Shi Huang.

Mei Hanxue rushed to Chu Wanning's side, brushing away the messy hair on his forehead and said, "Grandmaster, please ask them to retreat to the boundary of the Portal."

Before Chu Wanning could say anything, he added, "This mortal world has long passed on. For the past eight years, Xue Meng and I have been thinking of a way to minimize disaster when this day arrives. So, on the day that the two worlds were cleared, we used the Black Tortoise Armor to set up a formation around the Gate of Life and Death."

The Heavy Black Tortoise Armor was a slough left behind from the Black Tortoise that was at the same time as the first Phoenix. With it as its foundation, the protective barrier cast down by the armor would be thousands of times stronger.

However, according to the rumors, this kind of slough was in the Eastern Sea, a place where there was a nine out of ten chance of death.

Just what kind of difficulties and dangers had the Mei brothers and Xue Meng gone through in the mortal world to be able to bring it back…

Mei Hanxue said, "Grandmaster, please have everyone retreat over there and return to their own world."

"…"

“This is the calamity that is born from the world. It should end here.”

The Phoenix in the distance had flapped it's wings and soared high. Then, it transformed into a streak of red light between heaven and earth. Its speed was so fast that no one could see it, but in the blink of an eye, the Yellow River had been emptied, the Yangtze River ran in reverse, and the vast waters of the ocean were stirred up to hundreds of thousands of feet high, as if a vast ocean was being lifted up from the seabed, rushing towards the mainland!

The waters of the Great Sea came from the heavens, and the Nine Prefectures became desolate in the blink of an eye.

Chu Wanning wanted to retreat, but he discovered that the power of the flood was even faster than the speed of people escaping on their flying swords. In a blink of an eye, they were already closing in on where they were. He was afraid that in a flash it would catch up with the majority of the retreating people.

He made a prompt decision and said to Mei Hanxue, “You and Xue Meng lead them away first. I will stay here and delay some time.”

As he spoke, he summoned the Ascending Dragon Talisman again and soared into the sky.

Chu Wanning said sternly, “Tianwen! Ten thousand people’s coffins!”

The willow vine rose up from the ground. He bit his finger and dripped some blood on it. He shouted, “Build a wall!”

The vines pressed down on the rattan, and the willow branches coiled around the willow branches. They overlapped and overlapped, forming layers upon layers of lush green. In an instant, it became a towering wall that stretched out to the horizon.

“Jiuge, come here!”

Jiuge was lying on his knees, radiating light from his palms. Chu Wanning strummed the zither, and amidst the flowing sound, golden rays of light wrapped around the wicker-like array wall, making it even more impenetrable. By the time he finished doing all of this, the surging torrent had already reached him.

“Hua —!”

A splash hit the wall and turned the sky upside down.

Chu Wanning turned his face to the side and said to Mei Hanxue, “Go!”

Mei Hanxue had not expected such a situation. Although his heart ached, he had no other choice but to bow to Chu Wanning and disappear into the hazel forest.

For a moment, the cultivator army retreated. Chu Wanning tried his best to defend.

The torrential flood roared, trying to tear down the dam made by Tianwen and Jiuge.

On the Path of Martyrdom, the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast slowly opened the door to the Demon World. The demonic world’s crimson and dark purple clouds blended with the world’s despair.

The door was completely opened.

Standing at the very front was Shi Mei, the first person to be enveloped by the pure devil aura. That kind of aura made his whole body tremble. His whole body felt comfortable, and he couldn't help but inhale the demonic aura greedily. The withered spirit core in his chest had finally recovered after coming into contact with the magical aura.

A surge of power belonging to the demons finally surged through his body.

So this was the feeling of having a strong spiritual energy?

He finally felt it… He finally felt it!

The ecstasy caused his eyes to light up, and a beast-like glint appeared on his handsome face. Just like him, there were also all the people of the Butterfly-Boned Clan behind him.

Those beauties who had lost their spirit cores due to the lack of demon auras and were powerless finally obtained great strength that belonged to them at this moment.

An old man with a stooped body and a spotless beard slowly appeared at the entrance of the Infernal domain. His crimson eyes swept across the crowd, and then, his chicken skin puckered up as he grinned: "Aiyo, I've been waiting here for over four thousand years. Even the gatekeepers above have been annihilated, but I haven't seen any beauties capable of doing this."

He leaned on his walking stick and said with satisfaction, "Alright, alright, you have done a lot to oppose the God Realm. Not bad, not bad."

As he finished speaking, he glanced at the collapsing world and smiled, revealing his black and yellow teeth.

The old demon turned around and made way for the Butterfly-Boned Beauties. With a trembling voice, he said, “This old one greets you all on your return to your homeland.”

Behind them, the waters surged, but that was already a mortal matter. What did that have to do with the devil?

Shi Mei turned around and looked at Chu Wanning, who was trying his best to fight against Sky Disaster.

Was this bravery or foolishness?

However, it was probably only because of Chu Wanning’s stupidity that caused him to be unable to calm down. As he was about to leave, Shi Mei couldn’t help but recall that year when Elder Yuheng had brought him home under an umbrella. At that time, they saw an earthworm crawling on the side of the Bridge of Helplessness.

Chu Wanning gave it a casual glance and waved his sleeve. The earthworm was wrapped in a golden light and returned back into the vegetation.

“Elder, what are you doing?”

Chu Wanning was expressionless, “He’s blocking the way.”

This reason was naturally lousy. Shi Mei laughed: “Elder, you truly are kind. But when it rains, the ground is stuffy, so even if you put it back in the ground, after a while, it will come out again and crawl outside, and then it will be blocking the elder’s way again.”

Chu Wanning paused for a moment. There seemed to be a slight crease between his eyebrows.

“… I never knew that.” He then lowered his eyes and looked at Shi Mei, “You know quite a lot.”

Shi Mei smiled shyly and said, “Earthworms are Earth Dragons, they are usually used for medicine. I know a little about their habits. I only know these things that aren’t very useful.”

The two continued to walk forward, and as a result, Shi Mei discovered that even though Chu Wanning understood, he still “cleaned up” the little things that were in his way. In the end, he didn’t know whether to laugh or cry, so he decided to help.

Chu Wanning looked at him with a stack of books in his arms, but still managed to bend down and said, “Why?”

“They’re blocking the elder’s way.” In the clear rain, Shi Mei looked back at him and said gently, “Disciple will teach them to be a little more obedient.”

Chu Wanning shook his head and walked over. Once again, he put the azure bone paper umbrella over Shi Mei, “Don’t run around, it’s all wet.”

The way back was neither long nor short. As the two walked side by side, it was always awkward not to talk about anything.

Shi Mei asked gently, “Elder, are you always so good?”

“…”

His brown eyes rolled down and his phoenix-like eyes became majestic.

Chu Wanning’s face was expressionless, “What are you saying?”

At this moment, he could see that Elder Yuheng wasn't as heartless as the rumors had said. He laughed: "Elder clearly knows that some things are useless, but you still want to do it…"

Chu Wanning did not answer and just walked on silently.

Just when Shi Mei thought that he wouldn't pay any more attention to him, Chu Wanning said, "When I meet a beggar on the road, I know that a little money doesn't necessarily mean that they will be able to get out of their predicament, so I shouldn't give them alms?"

"…"

"When encountering a spirit beast on the way, knowing that it will be rescued and then released into the forest, it may enter the snare or not, so I just leave it alone?"

Shi Mei gently said, "I understand what you mean now, elder. Thank you for your teachings."

"…" He was so gentle, yet Chu Wanning was actually a little embarrassed. He coughed lightly and said, "However, it's about earthworms. They are really just blocking the way."

Shi Mei was stunned and raised his head to look at the side of his face. It was obviously cold, but his ears were red.

Suddenly, he felt it was so cute.

Thus, Shi Mei pursed his lips, and spoke with a voice as calm as water: "Great Elder you are very kind. I must have pity for the other living beings."

"…"

He paused for a moment before suddenly asking, “Oh right, I’ve read something in the book today that I don’t understand, but I have no Shizun to ask. Can the elders clear up this disciple’s confusion?”

At least they no longer had to embarrassingly talk about saving lives. Chu Wanning seemed relieved of a great burden and nodded, “Go ahead.”

“Guyue’ye’s Medicine Sutra encompasses everything, and there are many cultivation methods that cause disciples to be flabbergasted. Among them, the most puzzling is a type of sacred medicine that rapidly injects the essence into the spirit core. After ingesting it, it can cause —”

Chu Wanning’s face darkened for some reason, he interrupted, “You want this medicine?”

“Elder, do you know which kind it is?”

“In the early days of the cultivation world, this medicine was highly respected. All large and small sects would go to the Medical Sect to ask for it to be sold.” Chu Wanning narrowed his eyes, “How could I not know?”

Observing his expression, Shi Mei then said: “This disciple is not interested in that medicine, but seeing the ingredients needed for the pill, as well as the Flesh and Blood of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast, I am somewhat puzzled. I wonder if this Butterfly-Boned Beauty… Is counted as human or as beast?”

Chu Wanning didn’t hesitate at all. He frowned and answered his disciple’s question with a solemn expression.

He did not even say “count as a person”, but said “It’s a human” without a doubt.

“…”

Before Shi Mei could reply, Chu Wanning glanced at the book about Guyue’ye’s Medical Sect written on his chest, before putting it on his palm.

“Elder?”

“Guyue’ye’s Medical Sect’s contents are hard to distinguish between right and wrong, it is unsuitable for you to take part in the first part of the study. Tomorrow, you can go to the Compendium Pavilion and borrow Elder Tanlang’s writings, maybe it’s more appropriate.”

Shi Mei lowered his head and said, “As for the books in the Compendium Pavilion, I can only borrow them from the other districts. All of them require the permission of their direct Shizuns…”

Chu Wanning was stunned for a moment. He thought about how this child had been in the school for quite some time, but because of his low talent, he didn’t even want to taken in by the most tolerant Xuanji.

In the gentle breeze and drizzling rain, he untied the lily-white jade on his waist. “Take it.”

“…!”

“If the people from the Compendium Pavilion ask, just show them my token.” Chu Wanning warned again, “You should choose your reading method. Don’t go down the wrong path just because you read the wrong book.”

Shi Mei wanted to receive the jade pendant with both hands, but there were too many scriptures in his hands. A single hand was tantamount to treading on the wrong path. He was at a loss of what to do and flushed red to his ears. Chu Wanning half-knelt down, and in an instant, was only slightly taller than an immature child. He lowered his long eyelashes and tied the jade pendant around Shi Mei's waist.

Chu Wanning was expressionless as he was doing all of this, as if he was trying to take care of an earthworm blocking the way with his hand.

If it were any other elder, they would definitely not lend their library token to any disciple they were unfamiliar with. This was the rule.

However, Chu Wanning was not a person who lived by the rules.

"Alright." After attaching the jade pendant to Shi Mei, he stood up once more and lowered his hand that had been callused as a result of his year-round mecha repair. "Let's go."

"…" The young child took a deep breath.

He didn't know why he had to take that deep breath, but if he didn't, there was something in his chest that might make him cry.

In truth, he felt wronged.

Whether it was as a Butterfly-Boned Beauty or as a disciple lacking in spiritual energy, he had never been treated fairly. In the past, he didn't think much of it. In any case, he was already used to it. In his eyes, these people were nothing more than extremely ugly butchers.

However, there was really someone who stopped and told him "They are humans". Someone really did stop and just gave him the command tablet that even direct disciples might not be able to obtain. For some reason, that heart of his that had been tempered with countless thousands of thousands of times suddenly felt an excruciating pain.

Only then did he finally feel wronged. All along, he had endured too much.

Shi Mei knew that although he looked gentle and polite, that was just a mask he made for himself after seeing through the danger.

He hid behind this mask, defending himself with gentleness, avoiding it with gentleness. He seemed kind to everyone, but in reality, no one was able to immerse themselves in his heart. His heart was already filled with hatred for the sake of the clan of the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast, so he would no longer feel any warmth.

However, when he went back that day to write a disciple invitation, he sketched it out with some rare sincerity.

When the letter was finished, he put down the broken bamboo pen and looked at the lamp that had turned into a pool.

He felt that in his life, besides revenge and return, there was also an unexpected pleasant surprise. This surprise might be dangerous for him. However, at that time, he felt that a little tenderness might be harmless, and it wouldn't change the biggest repayment in his heart.

At this moment, Shi Mei turned his head back to look at his former "tenderness". He didn't know what to feel in his heart.

Anger? Sadness?

It was not as simple as that.

The path was different. In the end, one could not scheme against others.

Shi Mei paused for a moment, but still said with a hint of ridicule: “Shizun, look. No matter who it was, in front of Heaven’s Mandate, they couldn’t help themselves from competing. You, me, man, and demon, are all the same.”

These words were spoken very softly. Chu Wanning stood high up in the air, so it was impossible for him to hear them. However, as soon as Shi Mei said it, he felt relieved in his heart.

Afterwards, he led the thousand over Butterfly-Boned Beauties to the majestic and vast Demon Area’s Gate.

Home.

The old devil guarding the gate was naturally the leader of this group. He was very polite and respectful to Shi Mei as he greeted him after he entered the gate.

“Young Master, please wait.”

“Why?”

“The devil world is divided into different grades according to the bloodline of the family. Since Young Master is returning to his hometown, first, he has to test his origin and return to the sect to reunite with his ancestors.”

Shi Mei said expressionlessly: “Aren’t the Butterfly-Boned Beauties the descendants of Gouchen's mother race? What else is there to test?”

The old demon gatekeeper said, “Gouchen's mother clan has long been taken off the demon registry. After Young Master and the rest of you return to the demon realm, you will have to arrange registrations according to the mixed blood of the remaining families in their lineage."

Shi Mei frowned. Even though he found this troublesome, he did not know how long he could last until he saw that Chu Wanning was on the thin side. And behind him, there were still thousands of people waiting to enter the Infernal domain. They nodded, "Then let's hurry up."

The Old Demon gatekeeper waved his hand, and a scepter with the head of a beast appeared in his hand. He chanted an incantation, and a hundred red ribbons of light floated out of the beast's mouth, like a brocade, wrapping around Shi Mei.

"Bai, Cheng, Xie, Zhou…"

Each light band shimmered with a single word.

"What is this?"

The old demon said, "Clan tree, which family has the most powerful bloodline, and which family's belt of light will be linked to the young lord's wrist?"

Shi Mei stopped talking and looked down at the colorful ribbons.

"Qin, Fei, Ouyang, Shangguan, Zhong Li, Luo, Ye, Duan, Chu…"

The old demon chanted nonstop, but after a long time, there was still no ribbon falling. His forehead couldn't help but wrinkle, and he lifted his eyes to look at Shi Mei's face.

Shi Mei also calmly looked at him.

Looking at him, the Old Demon smiled in embarrassment and continued to speed up his incantation. As he chanted, a red ribbon wrapped around his arm, and he raised it thoughtfully to examine it: “Is it this one? What’s your surname?”

He looked left and right, but before he could take a good look at the words on the ribbon, the ribbon rapidly withered and turned black, turning into fine powder in an instant.

Shi Mei: “…”

The old gatekeeper was also silent for a moment, frozen in place, looking at him in disbelief.

Shi Mei slowly raised his gaze a few inches. In his heart, he already had an answer, but he still asked with a smile: “What’s wrong?”

The old demon’s face changed, his nose wrinkled, and he shouted: “Divine descendant!?!”

“…” Shi Mei Ning paused for a moment, sneered, and carelessly brushed away the black dust on his wrist, then said indifferently, “My father is indeed a descendant of the gods, but so what? I have never done half an inch of the god race’s business in my life, and I have always taken the home of the demons as my responsibility. It’s not like I have that much dirty blood on me. You’ll have to put on a god-like hat for me. That’s too…”

Before he could say anything, he saw the Old Devil, who was guarding the door, wrapped himself in a black gust of wind, forcing Shi Mei to take a step back.

The wind dispersed, and the hunchbacked old demon disappeared.

What appeared at the entrance of the demon realm was a skeleton monster with intersecting fangs holding a giant axe. The monster suddenly hacked the axe in its hand onto the ground, blocking the path of the people from the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Clan, and shouted angrily towards the sky with a hoarse voice.

“Since ancient times, gods and devils have never been allowed to collude with each other. The Path of Martyrdom cannot be completed, so quickly get the evil beings like you out of the demon territory — Close the devil doors!”

With its shout, the devil gates on the left and right were alarmed and closed towards the center. The originally built bridge of martyrdom also collapsed with the terrifying sound of an avalanche from the distant Sisheng Peak.

Ch. 307 [Sisheng Peak] The Dusk of Bats

“What’s going on?”

The Butterfly-Boned Beauties in the back couldn’t see the changes in front, and they even stretched out their necks to look around anxiously.

Although Chu Wanning’s tall walls were sturdy, they were nothing more than a mound in front of the vast ocean of the Nine Prefectures. Seeing that the Jiuge Formation had begun to shatter and water was flowing out of the vines, the beauties’ hands and feet couldn’t help but fall into disorder.

Forward shouted: “What happened? Why don’t you let us in?”

Some people looked back and their expressions changed drastically: “The Path of Martyrdom has collapsed!”

“What?!”

As a result, the Butterfly-Boned clan was trapped internally, the demonic gate in front was closed, and the demonic bridge behind them collapsed. And beneath their feet was an endless abyss. Where could they flee to?

In that instant, the entire scene turned into a mess. Shi Mei shouted in a stern voice, “Everyone, come to the front, don’t panic!”

“Grandmaster Hua…”

The loudspeaker brought his voice to the end, “I said that. I will bring you home.”

This was something that he had been seeking for two lifetimes, and it was also his mother's long-cherished wish before she died. At this point, he would no longer have the slightest intention of backing down.

"But Grandmaster, how can we possibly have the ability to fight against the Demon Envoys?"

Shi Mei turned his eyes, his hazel pupils reflecting the doomsday scene.

"Not before. But now?"

As he said that, the panicking beauties suddenly remembered something. Because of the aura flowing out from the opening of the Infernal domain, they had more or less recovered some of their demon spiritual energy.

Shi Mei said: "All of you retreat behind me and gather together to slow down the annihilation of the Path of Martyrdom."

"What about you, Grandmaster?"

Shi Mei looked at the skeleton waving the axe and said: "I'll go defeat him."

With that, the demonic skeleton roared and pounced forward.

"Be careful, Grandmaster!"

Shi Mei didn't mind at all. He had never received such a violent flow of spirit energy before. This demonic aura roamed about within his body, making him unable to advance forward.

In fact, the Butterfly-Boned Clan should be such a powerful clan. Because of a single person's betrayal, they would have to suffer such injustice for thousands of years…

With hatred in his eyes, he set his palm on fire and threw it towards the skeleton without a word.

The skeleton flashed, and the fireball crashed into the magic door, leaving a charred mark.

“How dare you, traitor!”

Shi Mei said angrily: “What blood is flowing in my body, is it my fault?! Because the blood of the Chen Mother race was exiled from the world, making it difficult for them to form their spirit cores. Because the blood of a descendant of the gods was rejected and could not be returned to the family — What did I do? What did the Butterfly-Boned Beauty do? Why is it a treason?”

The skeleton only repeated in a solemn and stubborn manner, “A traitor, you dare to act rashly…”

It was like a Buddhist prayer from a monk.

It looked like a golden body made of yellow clay.

It was obviously such an ethereal thing, but it was so natural.

In the sky, Chu Wanning was doing his best to resist the torrential currents. In the distance, the cultivators had mostly retreated to the intersection of the two mortal worlds, where they set up the Black Tortoise Formation.

In front of him, Shi Mei was in a life or death battle with the demonic skeleton.

Everyone had their own missions and choices. Perhaps they had crossed swords before, but at this moment, none of them had the strength to fight to the death with the other.

When the Heaven's punishment finally arrived, people’s faces were all similar -

Humble but unwilling to surrender.

“Grandmaster! The Path of Martyrdom is about to collapse!”

“We can’t hold on any longer…”

Some of the young beauties couldn’t help but cry in despair.

They were crying, their wails filling the strong winds and squeezing into the ears of their teachers…

It was as though that year, his small and frail body had slammed savagely into the ice-cold stone door of the Tianyin Pavilion.

When the door opened, he saw his father with blood dripping from the corner of his mouth and his mother with his bones and flesh separated. He heard his mother screaming as his bloody body rubbed against the ground.

“Run! — run!”

Run, get out of here.

Run, to a place where we can eventually live.

Together with all the bullied clansmen. That was his mother’s lifelong wish to sell his soul, his body, and finally his life.

Run.

“So, in the end, what part of me has let the demons down?”

This was his last question, and he did not intend to wait for an answer.

Shi Mei jumped up, dodging the Demon Skull's axe attack, following that, he moved agilely like a kite, with his knees sinking down, he knelt on the skeleton's shoulder, and grabbed onto the skull that was moving left and right.

The road shook more and more under their feet, and the bridge that was built from the pieces of Jinlong quickly collapsed, and the corpses fell into the endless abyss. They couldn't even hear the echo of the falling pieces.

Shi Mei looked up and saw his clansmen huddled together, trying to force out the demonic energy they had just gathered, trying their best to slow down the progress of Shang's demise.

They were pure blooded beauties, birds that returned to their nests together — and what about him?

There was the sound of bats flapping their wings in the abyss.

A cold light flashed on Shi Mei's palm, a thorny thorn suddenly appeared, quenching the demon aura. He raised it high up and aimed at the skull –

It suddenly stabbed down!

……

What exactly is a bat?

A bird soaring in the sky? Or a beast crouching in the darkness?

Maybe neither side would recognize him. His blood was dirty. No matter where he went, he would only be a traitor.

A few moments of deathly silence. The skull crashed to the ground! In an instant, it transformed into ten thousand black dots, disappearing without a trace. But at this time, the closing of the Devil Sect had reached a dangerous point. Shi Mei jumped up and flew high into the air, using his flesh and blood to support the closing of the embossed stone door.

He turned his head and looked down in bewilderment at the beautiful people who were still in tears. He snapped, “What are you waiting for? Run!”

Run…

“Run!” Hua Gui’s last scream was like a ray of light piercing through the clouds. Even after twenty years, his heart had still been torn to shreds. “A-Nan, run!”

When he closed his eyes, he could clearly see that her arms had been torn open, the bones of her legs broken, and she was writhing in a pool of blood, fighting a battle to the death. She threw herself forward and grabbed her husband’s legs, just to give her child a chance to live.

“Run! Run! Don’t look back! Don’t come back!”

The man stomped down and her face was smashed.

At the last moment, she did her best to say, “Run…”

Kacha.

Her throat was broken…

Shi Mei clenched his teeth and poured his demonic aura into his body. His bones creaked, but he still tried his best to support himself between the door and the Infernal domain, preventing it from closing.

He looked down. Sweat was seeping out of his forehead, and his lips were bitten and bleeding. His entire body was trembling, his muscles and bones were about to be crushed — although the closing of the Demon Gate had slowed down, its strength had not relaxed in the slightest.

One inch, two inches… One chi… Two feet…

Veins popped out and his face turned red.

However, he still looked at the flustered crowd and said hoarsely, “Run…”

Faster, faster.

I said we’d go home. Even though his hands were covered in blood, tens of thousands of people still cursed me for betraying their masters and exterminating their loved ones. I have done all the wrong things, and I have done everything for this cause.

But I’m not a traitor.

It was as if his bones were about to be dislocated and grind to pieces, yet he was still holding onto that enormous door – truly laughable. Ants could support the heavens, mayflies could shake trees.

At this moment, he suddenly heard a loud bang not too far away!

Shi Mei lifted his sweaty face and peered through the tears in his eyelashes. He saw Chu Wanning being hit by the Heaven-Devouring Waves. The wall built by Tianwen and Jiuge was broken into pieces. After his Shizun fell from the sky, the dam he was struggling to maintain collapsed.

He saw Chu Wanning being thrown into the water by a huge wave with his own eyes.

“Shizun…”

The wall collapsed and the flood was no longer stopped. With the force of a bamboo breaking, it swept towards the intersection of the two worlds, leveling the mountains and buildings as it filled the ravines and empty valleys. In the blink of an eye, everything had sunk into chaos.

The human world was not the same as yesterday.

The blue sea had already turned into mulberry fields.

Just at this moment, the pressure of the Devil Sect increased by several times. Shi Mei felt that his bones had been broken and tendons had separated from his body. His spirit power was overdrawn and he suddenly coughed out a mouthful of blood.

He lowered his head and looked down. There were still a dozen or so people who had yet to arrive.

He did not know where he got the strength from, but he let out an angry shout. His eyes were about to crack, and the meridians in his neck were popping out. He used all his strength to block the door that was about to close.

“Grandmaster Hua!”

The beauties who had passed the world were all gathered below, watching him. However, at this time, Shi Mei couldn’t see their faces clearly. His vision was blurry, and everything was blurry.

The last eight… Five… Three…

His face twisted with pain, a smile of revenge blossomed with joy and love, blood trickled from his mouth, and his teeth were bright red.

“What is the destiny of the world, the people, the devil, the gods and ghosts, what hinders my return journey, and the previous efforts are useless—”

Isn’t it… He couldn’t win…

His heart was as hard as iron.

This was an unshakable stubbornness.

In the end… One…

“Run…”

Not to mention mayflies can’t shake trees, as long as the heart is firm, ants can also break the dike.

Hadn’t he managed to do it in the end?

‘Bang!’ a loud sound was heard.

The Infernal domain’s gate suddenly closed. Instantly, darkness and red intertwined before his eyes. What was red was blood, while what was dark was the sky. The last sound the bat in the crevice heard was a crisp “kacha”.

His hair stood on end.

Was it the shattering of the top of his head?

It was the echo of his mother's broken neck when he was still a child…

"Grandmaster Hua! Grandmaster!" Along with the loud closing of the devil gate, the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast Clan's mournful wails were cut off from the rest of the world.

The Demon Area's gate was dripping with blood. Between the cracks, Hua Binan's broken limbs were falling down… However, right after that, a huge wave came and washed away the hundreds of millions of corpses on the Path of Martyrdom.

After the wave passed, the devil gate disappeared.

Only Sisheng Peak remained, sinking into the waves of the vast sea. The Heaven-Piercing Tower collapsed, the Red Lotus Pavilion was annihilated, and the tiles and tiles of Loyalty Hall were instantly swallowed up.

Chu Wanning coughed a few times. Several times he wanted to call out to Huaisha, but his spiritual power had already cleared up, making him unable to do so.

Another sky-turning wave came by. The water pressure hit Chu Wanning's chest, bringing with it a piece of broken driftwood. He sank deep into the sea, wincing in pain and unable to breathe… He wouldn't be able to hold on to anything to save his own life…

His white robe fluttered in the water and his hair was scattered. He was sinking in the water. The halo before his eyes slowly faded and he was unable to breathe. Gradually, he felt his soul leaving his body.

Xue Meng and the others… they should have already retreated to the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation.

Would they make a mistake in the future?

And Mo Ran…

Mo Ran…

He slowly opened his eyes. In the cold water, the light of the sky was far away, and a few wisps of air bubbles appeared on his lips. He was lying on his back in a daze, probably choking to death, when he began to hallucinate.

He saw a dark figure coming at him like a mermaid, so close that he could see the familiar features, the dark purple pupils, and even the small, disjointed scars on his face.

It was a trace left behind after his corpse had been dismembered.

Chu Wanning suddenly closed his eyes. He must have been being too ruthless. So in the end, even the illusion before his death tormented him.

He said in a hoarse voice, “I’m sorry…”

He opened and closed his lips, but there were only tiny bubbles.

Suddenly, a hand tugged at him. Before he could even react, he fell into a firm and wide embrace. His chest was extremely cold and didn’t have the slightest bit of warmth, but even the sea water seemed to be evaporated by the wild aura on his body.

“Chu Wanning.”

He heard someone calling to him.

“Wanning!”

In his scattered consciousness, there was a person holding his lips. His lips were slightly cold, and a strand of spirit energy flowed into them.

“Bu’gui, come!”

In a split-second, a ghostly jade-green brilliance rushed out from the seawater. The man grabbed it and brought it with him towards the surface of the water. In the blink of an eye, they broke out of the water with a “Hua La” sound. Chu Wanning was drenched from head to toe. He was naturally cold and shivering in the cold water. His lips were green and white without a single trace of blood.

After panting for a while, he suddenly realized what had happened just now.

He suddenly raised his head and met the pair of deep, moist eyes. They were no longer confused and lost, but rather cold and clear.

Mo Ran was also panting slightly. His sexy lips were slightly opened, and were somewhat moist. His black clothes were also soaked through, sticking close to his tightly muscled chest. He just stared at Chu Wanning, not saying a word.

Who is this?

Was it a puppet or a living person?

Taxian-Jun, or Mo-zongshi?

Chu Wanning’s Adam’s apple bobbed up and down. He was about to speak when a drop of salty water slid down his forehead and into his eye socket.

He closed his eyes. They were red.

The moment he closed his eyes, the man embraced him in the water, his slightly cold lips touching his forehead.

“I am late.”

“…”

“Now that the shackles of Hua Bian have been removed, no one can control me anymore.” He kissed his forehead and his eyelashes. Because he had just swam too fast to save him, he was still panting.

Taxian-Jun looked at the eyes that slowly opened. He raised his hand and ruffled Chu Wanning’s hair, then looked at the world that was flooded with a torrential flood.

His voice was low and deep.

“Let’s go. I’ll send you back to your world.”

Ch. 308 [Sisheng Peak] Cooperation with the Flood

In front of the life and death gate, the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation had been opened. This was the last line of defense. Once the ocean broke through here, another world would follow.

“The order of the mortal world, if the order were to collapse, Heaven’s punishment would arrive, and all of it would belong to Hongmeng.”

— According to the ancient records, once the Gate of Life and Death was torn to an irrevocable state, the flood would submerge these two worlds and make everything fall into place.

All of this was too sudden for the cultivators present. They were completely caught off guard and many of them, other than crying, didn’t know what else to do.

It was no wonder. In such a sudden situation, how many people were able to remain calm?

However, for the Mei brothers who had already experienced the era of Taxian-Jun, and for Xue Meng who was no longer young, they were already prepared.

Mei Hanxue said, “Those who focus on attacking and healing, return to the other side of the Gate of Life and Death. All of the cultivators experienced in guarding, come out and follow me to the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation.”

Someone asked, “What for?”

“Defend of course.”

Everyone looked at the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation that connected the sky and the ground. Then, they looked at the surging torrent of destructive energy in the distance. They couldn't help but feel scared.

A female cultivator trembled as she asked, "This… Can you stop it?"

Mei Hanxue turned his head and saw the beauty of the girl. He narrowed his eyes and smiled. He really did see through life and death in the game, even though his life was hanging by a thread, he was still in the mood to tease, "Oh, I can't say I can stop it.

"But if you don't stop it, you'll definitely die. Is this young lady afraid?"

"…"

With a cold face, Méi Hánxuě walked over. "Why are you still chatting at this time?"

"We're only going to chat because of this. Otherwise, if I become a ghost, I'll go to the Underworld to find the Ghost Lady?"

This was the first time the Mei brothers appeared in front of a crowd – but seeing the two, the elder brother was as cold as frost, the younger brother was gentle and bright, the female cultivator could not help but be shocked, and was unable to recover her senses. "You are?"

Mei Hanxue smiled and winked at her. "How is it? Am I better looking?"

The female cultivator could not even close her mouth and could only stand there in a daze, "You guys…"

Just as she was about to observe the two of them again, the man who looked like a cold cave had already turned his back to them.

“Attack, retreat, defend, advance! Please hurry.”

Someone asked, “Even if we are to temporarily stop the flood with the Black Tortoise World Spirit Formation, that is still a plan to slow down our fighting. We can’t possibly continue to block the flood like this, right?”

“Yeah, what if the flood never retreated?”

Méi Hánxuě shook his head and said, “Half of you come and block the flood while the other half close the Gate of Life and Death.”

“…” There were thousands of people gathered here, but they were all instantly silenced.

Close the Gate of Life and Death?

Right now, the entire dome had almost been torn open. The space within looked like a vast ocean with no end in sight. The two spacetime had completely fused into one. How could they be separated?

Seemingly seeing through everyone’s doubts, Méi Hánxuě said, “Ten Thousand Waves Reversal.”

Xue Meng, who was standing in the middle of the crowd, was stunned for a moment. He thought that this incantation sounded familiar, but as he was thinking about it, he suddenly heard Elder Xun Ji say: “was this not created by Yuheng… Reverse the curse?”

With this mention, the people from the Bitan Manor also reacted.

In the past when Butterfly Town’s Suppressing Heavenly Rift, Li Wuxin brought a group of disciples to Sisheng Peak to demand an explanation. After a series of misunderstandings, Chu Wanning told everyone with a cold face that the creator of the “Ten Thousand Waves Reversal” was himself.

Méi Hánxuě said, “The Wave Reversal Technique can reverse the spell that has already been cast.”

Someone said in surprise, “Such a big one is fine too?”

“Of course it won’t work with only one person power.” Méi Hánxuě said, “That’s why we have to work hard together.”

Everyone looked at each other. After exchanging glances, many people hesitated before retreating behind the Gate of Life and Death.

“My Spiritual Energy is insufficient, I am unable to withstand the flood.”

“Me too. I am most unskilled in defensive formations.”

No one was an idiot. They all knew the Wave Reversal spell and closing the Gate wasn't easy. Even though there were people from the Taxue Palace and a few youths from other sects who volunteered themselves, there were still quite a few cultivators who cowered and squeezed their way to the back of the cracks.

Méi Hánxuě stared at the cowering turtles as his originally unfriendly face turned even gloomier. “They all want to hide behind us and be safe. Who is in front to block them?”

This was often the case. For example, in a battle between two armies, a battle to the death was often the case. Even though one knew that they could not survive the fall of the striker, they still desired to be assigned to the back.

While they were in a stalemate, Jiang Xi suddenly said, “Let me do it.”

Seeing the Sect Leader walk over, a large group of people followed after Guyue’ye. The Medical Sect was the weakest with regards to the spiritual energy. When they went out, it was like giving a slap to those afraid of death experts.

“… I know a bit about guarding, too.”

After Zhen Congming from Bitan Manor said this, he walked to the front and silently stood by the side with his sword crossed.

The number of people increased by quite a bit one after another. Although it was still far from enough, they had no time to wait as the first wave of people approached.

“Faster! Ziming, go to the back, Shi Wanlang, and cast the Wave Reversal Curse. The others, follow me to the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation and prepare to defend.” After Mei Hanxue finished speaking, he leapt up and arrived in front of Pang Shuo’s transparent barrier. Then, he placed his palm onto it.

“Open the formation!”

He was not the only one who did so. Soon, palms came to the final barrier of the mortal world. The blue flow of spiritual energy, the jade flow of spiritual energy, the red flow of spiritual energy… Countless rays of light converged towards the barrier that separated the heaven and earth.

Slowly, a snake-body tortoise shell totem lit up in the night sky. It had its tail in the ground and its head in the nine heavens. That was the Black Tortoise Curse Seal that was ignited by the combined forces of everyone present.

It was at this moment that the great waves that were stirred up by the first phoenix rushed over from the front. Its momentum was much greater than ten thousand horses galloping, and the Yellow River sank into the sea.

Everyone tensed to the limit, staring at the approaching muddy yellow water line.

“Get ready, it’s coming —”

As soon as his voice fell, a thousand feet tall wave that seemed like it could swallow the heavens came crashing down towards them! Instantly, water splashed in all directions!

“Hold on!”

This torrent of anger was like a Taotie beast. Even though it had the Black Tortoise Barrier as a defense, there were still streams of water that could shatter the weak spots of the spirit energy, fiercely spraying in like an arrowhead. There were also many cultivators with weaker strengths that could not withstand this wave of force. With just the first wave of their heads, dozens of people fell to their knees, coughing up blood.

Jiang Xi turned back and shouted, “Come on, more people!”

However, seeing this situation, there were less and less people who dared to step forward.

At this time, Xue Meng had already finished drawing the runes of the Ten Thousand Waves Reversal. He launched an attack into the air, and tens of thousands of lightning bolts shined behind the runes, scattering in all directions towards the Gate of Life and Death.

Just like how the vanguard blocked the flood, the cultivators behind also began casting their spells, trying their best to close the rift that had split the two spaces. However, these cracks were truly too large. For a moment, it was impossible to tell whether or not the edges of the cracks were shrinking back. Many people were actually extremely nervous.

The rear progress was slow, but the front was already stretched out.

Another wave came. More cultivators fell to the ground, unable to hold on. The crack on the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation also became bigger and bigger. Water rapidly gushed out and splashed everywhere. Jiang Xi and the others' clothes were quickly drenched.

"We can't continue like this." Méi Hánxuě said, "Before the Gate of Life and Death closes, the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation should be broken."

"…"

At that moment, they suddenly heard the sound of horses' hooves coming from behind them. He turned his head and saw a group of wandering cultivators and civilians walking toward him. Cultivators rode on their swords, while commoners rode their horses. The two people leading the pack were both dressed in black robes and looked extremely pretty. They were none other than Ye Wangxi.

There was also a middle-aged lady named Lady Xu. Her sword was crooked and her body was covered with red silk. Her hairpin was decorated with dazzling golden ornaments. She was the Island Owner of Flying Flower Island, Third Madam Sun.

Smoke and dust billowed behind the two of them. Who knew how many people they had brought with them? Perhaps they had even brought along women and children who had taken refuge.

Ye Wangxi jumped down from her sword and said with a frown, “I heard all about it on the way here.”

Her gaze moved past the crowd and landed on the threatened Black Tortoise Spirit Formation. Then, she swept a glance at those cultivators who clearly had high spiritual energy but were unwilling to take the risk.

In this world, if there was a weak warrior, there would be a strong coward. The human body and the heart were not necessarily compatible.

Ye Wangxi was disappointed, “… If you have the ability, then your heart is no better than a commoner’s!” She threw down those words and with a flick of her fingers, arrived beside Jiang Xi, covering his hand with her own.

Other than her, regardless of whether they were rogue cultivators or commoners, regardless of how weak their abilities were, they all rushed forward. Seeing this situation, no matter how thick-skinned they were, they could not help but blush.

“I… I’ll go too.”

“Forget it, isn’t it death anyway? I’ll go too!”

“Me too! Me too!”

More and more people gathered in front of the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation. The Turtle Snake Formation, which had been dimmed down earlier, once again became transparent and bright.

The third wave… The fourth wave……

Man fights against the heavens, man fights against life.

Suddenly a girl shouted crisply, “Look! Is that the edge of the Gate of Life and Death?!”

The sound was like a thunderclap. Everyone quivered as they looked in the direction he pointed – sure enough, at the far edge of the sky, they could faintly see a black line shrinking back. Although it was extremely slow, it was definitely shrinking.

Immediately, someone was so moved that they started crying. “Quick! Faster! It was really possible! It really can close!”

Seeing this vivid life force, almost every pair of eyes blazed with the light of survival. All of them clasped their hands together and continuously gathered their power into the center of the Ten Thousand Waves Reversal, in exchange for the Space-Time Door’s inch-by-inch seal being slowly restored.

However, the power of the world was still vast. Even though there were tens of thousands of people who were facing the same enemy and had poured all of their spirit energy into the barrier, they were still unable to contend against the divine force.

A human was like a tiny ant, too insignificant…

Following another wave of snowstorm crashing down, a crisp “kacha” sound rang out and a lightning-like crack appeared in the center of the Black Tortoise World Spirit Formation. The tear ran from the top of the sky all the way down to the ground, with drops of water seeping in from behind.

All the human faces turned pale. They all knew that if this scar was split open, it would be…

“Boom!”

Before he could finish his thought, the earth split and the sky collapsed!

A hole had been opened, and the rivers were pouring in from behind. The angry sound of the waves drowned out the screams of the people. Quite a few people were knocked down by the waves.

“AHHHHHHHHHH!”

“Help!”

The water that flooded in was like a torrential downpour. Xue Meng stood in front of the Gate of Life and Death. He turned his head to look at the scene in front of the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation, clenched his teeth, and said to everyone, “Faster!”

As he was speaking, he saw a person rushing towards him, holding a silver sword in his hand. It was none other than the him of his youth.

He grabbed the young man’s shoulder, and his long brows stood up in anger. “Go back! You don’t even know how to use a defensive array.”

The young man, Xue Meng, gritted his teeth and said, “I want to return the sword to that person.”

“Who?”

The young man, Xue Meng, raised his hand and pointed at Jiang Xi, who was still doing his best despite lacking the assistance of his godly weapon.

“… Jiang Yechen? Why do you have his sword?”

The young man, Xue Meng, was stunned. “You don’t know?”

Xue Meng shook his head. “I don’t understand him. He died a long time ago in our time.”

When he said this, his eyes were somewhat hazy. He had been wandering for so long. He could not remember clearly the time when everyone was still alive and the war had started.

However, after thinking for a moment, Xue Meng continued to look at Jiang Xi’s back and said, “Back then, Taxian-Jun asked him to hand over the secret scroll of Guyue’ye. It’s indeed powerful, but very evil. For example, how to use the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Feast to refine medicine, or the Yin and Yang Dual Cultivation Techniques.”

“…” Noticing that young man Xue Meng’s expression had become extremely unsightly when he heard the two techniques, he couldn’t help but ask, “What happened to you?”

The young man replied: “Nothing. And then?”

“Jiang Xi not willing. He said that the Medical Sect’s secret scripture was a demon's work. Since the day he took over the Sect Leader, he has already burned it.”

“…”

“Taxian-Jun was infuriated and ordered him to copy a book. Naturally, he did not agree to it. In the end, he was still killed.” Xue Meng closed his eyes, “Jiang Yechen is a hero. I am glad to see that he is still alive in another world.”

Seeing that he didn’t say anything, Xue Meng lowered his eyes and said, “You still haven’t answered me. How did you get his sword?”

The young man’s lips trembled, and he didn’t know what to say for a moment. After a long time, he opened his mouth and said, “I…” Another loud noise came from behind, making his bones tingle and his hair stand on end.

They turned around abruptly, only to see that the lightning crack had reached its peak. Ye Wangxi and Mei Hanxue were still kneeling on the ground. Jiang Xi was still struggling with his strength, but suddenly coughed out a mouthful of blood.

The young man, Xue Meng, cried out involuntarily, “Jiang Xi…”

What?

Still calling him Jiang Xi?

Or was it Sect Leader Jiang?

He then ran over and handed Xuehuang to Jiang Xi.

“… Get lost!” Jiang Xi lifted his eyes and saw that it was him. With a pale complexion, he frowned and pushed his martial spirit along with Xue Meng. “Go back to the rift, don’t cause any more trouble!”

After saying that, he coughed up another mouthful of blood.

“Jiang Yechen!”

Hearing him calling his own courtesy name, Jiang Xi coughed a few times, gasping for breath as he looked back, his eyes full of fierceness and complexity. “Who allowed you to call me that?”

“…”

“My given name, my courtesy name, they are not what you should call me.” Jiang Xi’s lips turned red as his meridians bulged. In the pouring rain, he did his best to maintain the spirit formation.

But he didn’t forget to scold him as he had initially seen him.

“How unruly!”

A loud sound pierced the ears, followed by a terrifying crackling sound. Xue Meng did not even have the time to speak, nor did he have the time to react when he was suddenly dragged toward the back by Xuehuang — immediately following that, he saw the lightning like crack instantly crack. This time, it was no longer a small crack, but the entire area had crumbled.

The river was instantly flooded!

The people standing behind the gate of life and death instantly felt their scalps go numb.

It’s over.

Apocalypse… Apocalypse… They all belonged to the prehistoric era…

Some of them even stopped contributing to the Ten Thousand Waves Reversal. They knelt down, kowtowing and wailing like the most primitive slaves in front of the Heaven's punishment, then knelt on the ground and begged the God for mercy.

Some people raised their heads to the sky and yelled out that this was unfair. Their tears and sobs flowed all over the ground.

It was over.

However, at this time! Suddenly, a jade-green ray of light chopped down amidst the gushing torrent!

"What's going on?"

"What the hell!"

Even the slightest movement of the wind and grass could cause the hearts of those in dire straits to shudder, let alone such a shocking movement. They looked up and saw a man in black gold armor flying over. As he got closer, they could see that he was covered with wounds. It seemed that he had been cut by thousands of sharp knives. But even so, people could still see the shadow of his former handsome appearance.

"… It was… Mo… Mo Ran?"

"It's the devil!"

"Motherfucker, what devil is this? It's obviously Mo-zongshi!" Ma Yun of the Peach Blossom Villa immediately became excited, because even a fool could tell that Mo Ran was here to save them and not to add fuel to the fire.

And the person who came with him was the long-disappeared Immortal Beidou, Chu Wanning.

“Chu-zongshi!”

The creator of the Ten Thousand Waves Reversal, a Grandmaster of the number one enchantment in the world.

Just like their sect Shizun, the cultivators of the Peach Blossom Villa were most afraid of death, and upon seeing this, they became extremely excited. They took the initiative to be ecstatic, and started dancing in joy: “There’s hope! We can be saved!”

Mo Ran was controlled by the wind. His robes fluttered in the wind and he was covered in a set of cultivation leather armor. He flew straight to the front of the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation and jumped down, firmly landing in the waves.

“Jiangui, ten thousand people’s coffins!”

Following his shout, countless vines shot up from the ground, covering Ye Wangxi, Third Madam Sun, Jiang Xi, and the others who had been knocked down and immersed in the waves. He wrapped all of these heavily injured people in vines and leaves and sent them to the back. Then, he turned around and commanded sternly:

“Someone else, get up here! Where are the uninjured guards?!” He glanced at Jiang Xi, even more enraged than before. “Why did even a healing Grandmaster come here to do such a thing?! Do you want to die?!”

The guards behind who were still alive had their faces covered with dirt and dirt from the scolding, and their faces were drenched in blood.

He gritted his teeth and said: “Who the hell wants to hide anymore? After I finish taking care of this drizzle, I will crush all of your heads one by one!”

“…” Everyone looked at each other.

“Get out here!”

It was unknown how terrifying this person’s deterrence was. Perhaps he had already experienced a moment of near death despair. Many people who were afraid of life and death had thought of leaving before the end of the world. Even the once most wretched remnants of the Jiangdong Hall had crossed the boundary of the Gate of Life and Death. The group of cultivators came up to the back of Taxian-Jun and placed their hands on the barrier.

The barrier that was teetering on the verge of collapse instantly recovered its spirit. Because of everyone’s concerted efforts and the infusion of the number one combat strength in Mortal Realm, it became indestructible and emitted an extremely vigorous aura.

“Whooosh.”

Seeing a tide that was ten thousand meters tall rushing over like a tsunami, some people were naturally timid. Seeing this situation, they couldn’t help but gulp and stand.

Taxian-Jun said in a gloomy voice:

“Don’t leave a single one. If you dare to retreat, you can give it a try.”

“…”

“Whoever escapes from this battle… This Venerable One will make it so that you will not see the sun after tonight.”

Ch. 309 [Sisheng Peak] Mo Ran Is Not Far Away

He was not joking around, nor was he threatening. He was stating a fact, a condition that he had thrown away.

For a time, no one dared to retreat. They could only bite the bullet and close their eyes in fear.

A thousand meters… a hundred meters…

Closer…

BOOOOOOM!

Waves crashed down, eardrums vibrated, and the heavens and earth shook. It was like hundreds of millions of people were throwing hammers, and even the sun and moon were shattered by these waves. The veins on Taxian-Jun's arm bulged and his teeth snapped.

Behind him, Chu Wanning came to the intersection of the Space-Time Door of Life and Death. He patted Xue Meng who was struggling to survive.

Xue Meng turned his head, revealing a very calm face.

Although there were some wrinkles at the corner of his eyes, his expression was the same as when he was young.

"Shizun."

Chu Wanning looked at him, "I'm here."

A bright green light shone, and the Jiuge appeared in this world. Chu Wanning stood like the wind, the zither strings twanging. The edges of the Gate of Life and Death began to close at a speed visible to the naked eye.

“Retreat.” While playing the zither, he said to the crowd, “All of you, come behind me.”

Of course, he didn’t need to repeat escaping a second time. However, this time, most of the people, including some who were afraid of death, were no longer scrambling.

None of them competed for the upper hand. Some supported their wounded companions, while others carried some wounded soldiers whom they had never seen before, and slowly walked towards the back.

The edge of the spatial gate of life and death was near Mount Kunlun. When they reached the Kunlun road, many people stopped retreating.

They stood there, looking at the figure of Chu Wanning standing in front of the snowy plains. Their wide sleeves fluttered as the zither music rang out…

Who said that cultivation meant one needed to have an immortal body that would last for ten thousand years, possessing the power to destroy the heavens and the earth?

Some people could live for 10,000 years, but they were nothing more than a rock. Some people even hurriedly walk through the human world, but leave a trail of bright flowers.

For example, at this moment in time, in front of the Door of Life and Death, there was an Immortal who was using his flesh and blood, ten fingers of chanting, to transcend the mortal world, proving his own Immortal Dao.

Snow began to fall from the sky, falling onto his shoulders.

Someone noticed something and was surprised, “Eh? This is not snow…”

It was the Flame Emperor Divine Wood of the Extreme East Sea that was being perceived. The ancient Chinese flower that prided itself on the primordial era blossomed, and it was different from the other flowers as it emitted an extremely fragrant aroma. The snow-like crystalline petals floated from the ends of the sky and floated all over the world.

The petals rose up, the clouds cleared up. The bright hair was like a stream of stars, rushing to the edge of the Gate of Life and Death, helping to heal the mortal world…

Within the dancing petals, many cultivators were reminded of a legend: Last time, when the heavens and earth were about to fall, Shennong had planted the Flame Emperor’s Divine Wood, saving the world from falling into the ground. Time flowed on. Fuxi had passed away, Nuwa had fallen into a deep slumber, and the Flame Emperor had disappeared. However, Shennong was still there.

His body was like a dying tree, covering the sky of the Nine Prefectures.

Seeing that the crack in space was getting smaller and smaller, Taxian-Jun turned around to look at the person beside him and said: “Retreat. Take advantage of the fact that the gates of life and death have yet to close, and get lost.”

Surprisingly, not everyone immediately retreated as quickly as they could. Some expressed that they could still support him, while others indicated that they wanted to fight until the very last moment.

Who doesn’t have a little bit of the Blood of the Hero in their bones?

Even if one was buried deep within the heart by time and life, there would still come a day when one would feel the heat and the excitement.

On the other hand, Taxian-Jun laughed angrily: “Are you guys leaving or not? If you can’t leave, you’re just trying to make this Venerable One feel angry, aren’t you? Get lost!”

Those people started to leave one after another.

Suddenly, he heard a trembling voice as he said, “Emperor… What about you…”

Taxian-Jun was stunned for a moment before he slowly turned his head. He saw an old man stooping far away in the rain, looking at him.

“… Liu-gong?”

Perhaps he was seeing things, but he actually felt that the old man was looking at him with a gaze of indescribable pity and pain. It was like a father looking at his child.

Ridiculous.

Borrowing the old servant’s ten thousand guts, this old man shouldn’t have dared to treat the savage and fiendish Taxian-Jun as his own child. However, right at this moment, Taxian-Jun vaguely remembered that the old fellow had just lost his son in the war when he entered the imperial palace to serve him.

If the kid was still alive, he should be about his age.

Taxian-Jun closed his eyes and said, “With my abilities, this Venerable One will naturally be the last to leave. You needn't worry.”

“Emperor…”

“Go.” Taxian-Jun turned his gaze away from the old man. “To another world.”

“…”

“Maybe your son is still alive in that world.” He suddenly grinned, showing his sharp canine teeth and deep dimples, “Scram, Old Liu. Accompany him well.”

The Gate of Time and Space and Life and Death was shrinking, and the people in front of the Black Tortoise Barrier were retreating. Every time a guard was removed, the force that Taxian-Jun exerted on the Black Tortoise Barrier would increase, until finally, there were only a hundred people left.

Taxian-Jun narrowed his eyes, after considering the situation, he said with a stern voice, “Everyone, stop. We have passed through the Gate of Life and Death.”

At this time, the Heavenly Rift had already shrunk to the height and width of an ordinary gate. Seeing that a new wave was approaching, the remaining cultivators finally stopped and passed through the rift one by one, returning to another world and to the snowy plains of Mount Kunlun.

However, the speed of the huge wave was too fast. Most people didn’t even get the chance to cross the boundary before the wave fiercely slammed into the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation.

Right now, the barrier was only supported by Taxian-Jun. No matter how talented he was, he was under a lot of pressure. He couldn’t help but let out a groan as pain showed on his face.

The great waves were like a gale, and the whales broke the waves. In the depths of the vast ocean, there seemed to be a dragon-girl dance, causing the earth to shake and the mountains to shake.

Someone was hesitating at the intersection of the Gate of Life and Death. “Mo-zongshi…”

When Taxian-Jun heard this, he suddenly got angry and cursed, “Mo-zongshi your ass! Will you scram? Scram!”

He didn’t know where he had touched his sore spot, but he didn’t dare to make another sound. He lowered his head and stepped over the threshold of life and death. The remaining cultivators also followed one by one as they crossed the boundary. The Gate of Life and Death also became smaller and smaller. However, the Xuanwu enchantment was already on the verge of breaking. When Taxian-Jun looked back, he saw that there were more than ten cultivators who had yet to enter. He couldn’t help but curse in his heart. His scarred hands continued to cover the barrier as the veins and muscles on the back of his hands became visible.

But he couldn’t hold on.

Although he was the number one powerhouse of the Mortal Realm, in the end he was still only a tiny existence. How could he fight against the Hongmeng world?

The crisp sound of the clanging could be heard.

“The barrier is about to break!”

Taxian-Jun In front of the monstrous flood, he didn’t even turn his head back as he shouted out to the people behind him who had yet to leave.

“Get lost!”

Black blood seeped out from his lips, and his long eyelashes drooped down. Taxian-Jun looked at his left foot — it was slowly being corroded, turning into dust…

He sneered, but he was not afraid.

He was the living corpse that had been revived by Shi Mei. As long as he died, his body wouldn’t be able to hold on for long and would turn into ashes very soon.

He felt that it was enough to have a fight with fate before he turned into ashes.

However…

Turning around, he saw Chu Wanning’s blurry figure behind the Gate of Life and Death. The crack was still shrinking, leaving only four or five people inside. In addition, there was also the current era’s Xue Meng and the Mei brothers who had yet to cross the border.

The people at the peak of the mountain could not help but step forward, and anxiously said, “Young Master!”

Xue Meng coughed and pointed at himself. “Your Young Master is that person, not me.”

Young Xue Meng: “…”

“One mountain does not allow two tigers. How could there be two Xue Meng in a world? Wouldn’t that be a mess?” Xue Meng laughed, and a frown appeared at the corner of his eyes. “I don’t belong to this mortal world of yours. Now that I was able to do my last bit for these two lives, my wish was fulfilled. Furthermore, I've been tired for too long, I've been wanting to rest for a long time now."

He turned around and walked in the direction of the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation. At this time, the enchantment had already cracked to the point of being mostly broken, and there were chapped holes everywhere.

He walked to the side of Taxian-Jun and gave a complicated look to that man. Then, he opened his mouth as if he wanted to say something.

But in the end, he still couldn't say it out loud.

"Young Lord!"

"Young Master Xue!"

Behind him was Sisheng Peak, calling out to him, but so what? Even in this era, his father and mother were no longer present.

Furthermore, his life had nothing to do with the mortal world. If he were to forcefully stay, he would not know where to start.

Xue Meng let out a sigh. He raised his hand and rubbed the back of his neck, which was pulsing with blood vessels. Suddenly, he grinned.

This was what it was like when you were old. Sometimes, you would suddenly feel dizzy and absent-minded. For example, when he was in a daze, the sky and earth were not dark. Many times, he would be able to see Xue Zhengyong's figure and Madam Wang's smile.

Many times, he would see three little fellows from his youth shouting around a white-robed cultivator, "Esteemed Shizun, esteemed Shizun!"

These were all things that belonged to him, and no one could take them away.

Visiting old friends but most are ghosts, can enjoy each other's company only in a glass of wine. Before anyone could even react, he had already passed through the Black Tortoise Formation and was thrown into the surging tides.

He belonged to this world of mortals. Even if he was torn to pieces and the world drifted away, he still felt that he should return to this place.

He didn’t feel much pain, but it was like falling asleep in a drunken stupor.

I am willing to give my remaining years just to remain blissfully dreaming.

If only return to share wine with you.

Delightful. He, Xue Ziming, had endured for more than ten years.

Everyone fell into a deathly silence. A moment later, all the disciples at the Sisheng Peak knelt down and did not utter a single word. The people of the Taxue Palace seemed to have suddenly realized something. Many of their expressions changed as they looked towards the Mei brothers.

“Eldest Brother! Come here, don’t stay there…”

“Come back quickly… Come back here…”

“Aiyo, I’m not coming back, I’m not coming back.” Mei Hanxue smiled and waved at them from behind the barrier. “A single Mei Hanxue can bring disaster upon half of the beautiful women in the cultivation world. If there were two of me in this world, wouldn’t it be a mess? In order to pity the girls who were half-way up the mountain, I'm leaving, brothers. Farewell to the martial arts world."

Méi Hánxuě stood beside his younger brother and gazed at the snow-capped Mount Kunlun, the lofty and sacred mountain. He gave a proper bow to the Sect master who had long passed away in his generation, "Disciple Méi Hánxuě greets the Sect Leader today."

The two of them seemed to be speaking very easily, but everyone knew that their thoughts were unshakable.

Mingyue Lou closed its eyes and sighed into the wind.

The younger brother smiled brightly, and his older brother nodded. The heavy responsibility that the two of them shouldered had been accomplished, and he would live up to his kindness, his best friend, and his world. Facing the torrential torrent of water, they actually felt as if a heavy burden had been lifted from their shoulders. Their eyes were closed as they plunged into the vast ocean — their figures disappeared without a trace like the petals of a falling plum in water after a single wave had passed.

At this point, everyone had either retreated behind the Time of Life and Death or returned to the vast and boundless Great Sea.

At this moment, the sound of the zither disappeared.

Chu Wanning raised his eyes, and Jiuge turned into a ray of golden light, returning to his blood and bones. In the snowy plains of Kunlun, his white robes fluttered as he stood with his back facing the crowd.

For a moment no one knew what he was going to do.

“There’s still one last crack.” He turned his head to the side, and the wind began to blow. It gently caressed his clothes and his tattered pitch-black hair.

“After I leave, all the cultivators close them. They can ensure the peace of this world.”

“…”

After a few moments of silence, someone suddenly reacted and shouted, “Grandmaster!”

“Chu-zongshi!”

Xue Meng’s hair stood on end as he staggered and rushed over from the snow at Kunlun, “Shizun! Shizun!” But the snowy road was too slippery, and he was running fast. Suddenly, he fell to the ground, his pair of black beast-like eyes looking at Chu Wanning in despair.

“Shizun…”

Hearing his voice, Chu Wanning turned around.

His dark eyes gazed at him from afar, and finally, Chu Wanning said, “…I’m sorry.”

Sorry for what?

Xue Meng’s pupils shrank in fear. It was as if the top of his head had been drilled open. Someone was pouring a thick layer of snow and ice into his skull.

Sorry for what?! Sorry about his relationship with Mo Ran? Sorry for the deception? Or was it because…

He gulped and swallowed.

Or was it because…

“No! Don’t go!” Xue Meng finally collapsed. He knelt on the snowy plains and wailed, “Don’t leave! Why are you all like this. Why do you have to leave me all alone… Why am I the only one left?!”

Tears kept streaming down his bloodied face, leaving streaks of white marks.

The heart-wrenching wail seemed to have been dug out from his throat along with the fresh blood. It was as if his liver and gall were shattered, and his flesh was a mess of blood and gore.

“Don’t leave me… Come back! Come back!”

He howled like a beast, kneeling on his knees in the snow, the snow falling silently around him, as if he were a man crushed by the falling snow.

He couldn’t get up again.

“Please… Come back…”

What do I have?

Father. Mother. Brother. Friend.

Even the Longcheng was destroyed.

Come back.

Don’t take my last spine.

Shizun… Please…

However, Xue Meng did not know that Chu Wanning was already dead.

A person was placed on a altar. Because he was too powerful, he had to carry a heavy burden that made it hard for him to breathe.

He watched his lover close his eyes in his arms.

He personally dismembered his lover.

He had to confront an old friend with a sword.

Just one thing was enough to empty his heart, not to mention that he had experienced all of these. He could never look back.

— I did my best to keep you alive.

So now, can you let me be selfish and die with him?

Chu Wanning finally set foot into the Time of Life and Death sect. He returned to the turbulent Broken World, leaving the Snow Region of Kunlun behind.

Over there, the sky and the earth lost their color, and mountains, rivers, lakes, and seas all turned into a vast ocean.

The sun and moon were unknown, and only one person remained in the land of the Nine Prefectures.

Chu Wanning came up to the man and embraced him from behind. Then, he raised his slender fingers to cover the wound on Taxian-Jun’s palm.

Taxian-Jun was shocked. He suddenly turned his head and asked, “What did you —?!”

Chu Wanning smiled. Under his long eyelashes was a pair of soft black phoenix eyes.

“I did.”

“…”

“Hell is too cold. I’m here to die with you.”

His warm body embraced his cold body. The body of Taxian-Jun had been destroyed to such an extent that his left leg had almost completely disintegrated, becoming nothing but ashes.

The expression on his face was extremely complex. He pursed his lips and finally turned his face away.

“… The most annoying person is you, there’s no need for you to accompany me.”

However, it was as if his heart had exploded, and all that flowed out of it was gentleness. He knew that he was only a corpse, but at this moment, he suddenly felt that it was extremely hot.

After a moment of silence, Taxian-Jun turned around and said, “That’s right. Actually, there was one thing. I should tell you.”

“What is it?”

He raised his head and suppressed the stifling sensation in his heart. Then, he looked at Chu Wanning resolutely, “Before I tell you the truth, can you tell me the truth first?”

“…”

“Do you really hate me like this? The one you are unwilling to part with is the Mo-zongshi that died in your arms.”

After he said these words, his eyes actually turned red from humiliation.

If it were not for the collapse of heaven and earth and the separation between life and death, he probably would never have used such a despicable tone to seek the answer to this question. He asked, feeling humiliated. His fingers could not help but clench into a fist – but he suddenly realized that even the fingertips of his left hand had started to turn into sand. Slowly, they had turned into ashes…

He waited for a long time, but there was no reply. His burning heart gradually cooled down.

It was as if the beating organs in his chest had been crushed, turning into plaster.

“Forget it.” Taxian-Jun turned his head, “This Venerable one knows the answer. It doesn’t matter, since this reputed one has…”

Before he could finish, a pair of warm hands held his face.

Chu Wanning looked at his handsome face that had been cut into pieces, but his eyes were more sincere and full of passion than ever before.

“Are you stupid?”

“…”

“It’s all you.” Chu Wanning hugged him. The Black Tortoise Spirit Formation flashed and darkened, and it was finally extinguished.

There was only darkness left in the world. The last wave of the river came crashing in with pride and victory. The sounds of running footsteps seemed to mock the weak and insignificant strength of humans. How could they dare to fight with their lives?

“I’ve told him that too.”

Chu Wanning embraced his disappearing lover. Before the torrential flood, when the end of the world was approaching, his expression was calm but his gaze was solemn.

“It doesn’t matter if it’s Mo-zongshi or Taxian-Jun. It's all you.”

The sand had already spread to his arms, gradually spreading to his chest.

The black eyes stared at him.

“I’ve always been yours,” Chu Wanning said.

“No regrets.”

Taxian-Jun stiffened for a moment, then abruptly closed his eyes. Tears could be seen beneath his long and slender eyelashes.

He finally took off his cold mask, and his expression slowly relaxed. He used his remaining hand to hug his back tightly, pressing his lover against his chest. He lowered his head to kiss his hair, his cheek gently rubbing against his forehead.

“You’re right.” He sighed. “I was too stupid…”

Taxian-Jun Whisperer, “Wanning, I’m sorry.”

How many years of love and hatred entangled, most of the life grudges, in this sigh dust settled.

After a while, Chu Wanning heard him press his head against his ear. His voice was low and deep. It was the peace which was a rare moment in the life of an Taxian-Jun, “Well, there’s not much time left… It’s time I told you the secret.”

“What secret?”

Taxian-Jun lowered his eyes. “It has something to do with Mo-zongshi.”

“Actually, ever since I merged with his heart, I could feel it.” He paused, “Mo-zongshi merged his soul into my body.”

“…” Chu Wanning was stunned. Then, he suddenly raised his head and looked at the smiling face of Taxian-Jun in disbelief.

“The fragments of the soul. Always inside me. However, my heart is like a rock. I feel that even if I am crippled, a wisp of my soul will have its own determination. That is why I am unwilling to merge with the three spirits and the five spirits.”

“However, when it comes down to it, if I am the only one capable of confessing to you, then it would be too unfair.”

“…”

“Wanning…”

Taxian-Jun closed his eyes, and the faint smile on his face gradually faded.

“Don’t be sad, he’s always here.”

Under Chu Wanning’s astonished gaze, Taxian-Jun instantly opened his eyes. They were clearly the same eyes, yet they didn’t have the same shade of black to the point of turning purple. Instead, they were pure and gentle.

“… Mo Ran?!”

With a bang, the huge wave crashed down, and the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation was finally completely destroyed. In the torrential waves of the whale, Mo Ran didn’t say anything first and just hugged him tightly. They sank into the vast ocean with him, disappearing deep into the ocean.

Water and crystal bubbles swirled around him, and in the blue sea, Mo Ran opened his eyes.

The water was deep, like love in those dark eyes.

Amidst the waves, Mo Ran’s lips moved as he silently said something to Chu Wanning.

Shizun, don’t worry, it’s me.

I was there all the time.

I will be in the future.

Thus… Go back. Don’t stay here.

Believe me, I’ll be fine. I’ll try my best to see you, to be with you.

I’ll wait for you in another world.

He closed his mouth, and finally called Jiangui out of him. Jiangui covered Chu Wanning’s entire body, sending him to the final inch of the Gate of Life and Death.

“Mo Ran… Mo Ran! What do you mean? You bastard! What do you mean!”

Mo Ran floated smilingly in the water. His broken body had already turned into sand and dust, and that crazy, sweet, innocent, evil face had turned into mottled dust at this moment.

They gradually distanced themselves from each other.

Go back. Wanning.

You have to believe me.

I’ll be fine. I’ll always be by your side.

Forever.

Ch. 310 [Sisheng Peak] The Last Card

There was light.

When Mo Ran opened his eyes, he found himself lying in a purplish-red sky. He blinked his eyes slowly and turned his neck slowly. Then, he stood up – he realized that this was not the sky. Instead, it was a palace made of amethyst.

Because the palace was so large, a single brick was comparable to a carriage, so he mistook it for a cloud.

A tall man stood in the distance, leaning against the window as he looked out.

The man was wearing a robe of indistinct texture and was barefoot. He held a luminous glass in his hand and absent-mindedly rotated the amber liquid within. Outside the window, there was a tree of bright red flowers, with bits of silver falling from their hearts.

There is no such dress, no such flower.

Mo Ran was certain that there was no such palace in the human world.

“Where am I?” he asked.

The man’s fingertip stopped moving and turned his face slightly to the side. However, because it was reflected by the light, Mo Ran could not see his face clearly.

“You are quite calm, Hero.”

“…”

The man drank all the wine in his cup in one gulp. He casually placed the cup on the windowsill and walked towards him.

Soon, Mo Ran could see it clearly. This man had a face slightly similar to Gouchen the Exalted, the first blood-red spider mole under the corner of his eye. His lips were very thin, and he didn't seem to have a very good temper.

"I am the second generation Sect Leader of the Demon World." The man spoke slowly, his eyes fixed on Mo Ran's reaction. "You're in the Devil's Palace now."

Mo Ran was silent for a moment, then said, "… If you don't say anything, I will treat you as the Emperor Yanluo."

The man chuckled. "Do you really believe that you're dead?"

"No." Mo Ran looked into his eyes. "I don't think so. But I don't think I'm still alive."

The Demon Lord's smile became even more obvious. "You're right."

He stretched out his hand and the black dragon scale gloves easily pierced through Mo Ran's chest. However, Mo Ran did not feel any pain.

"You are not a living person. You are just a soul that has been gathered."

Mo Ran did not make a sound.

The Demon Lord said lazily, "My ancestor set a rule that unless one is hostile to the God of Heaven and can destroy Fuxi's forbidden technique, one cannot return to the Infernal Realm… You did it for them, my hero."

Mo Ran said gloomily, “That’s not what I wanted to do. That’s Hua Binan…”

“He is a bastard of gods and demons. He once swore that he would never harm his own kind. But he did not.”

“… Are you saying that he harmed Song Qiutong?”

“No.” He raised his hand and caressed the face of Mo Ran Soul. “You know who I’m talking about.”

“…”

“You have already sensed it from the moment the Infernal domain’s gate opened.” The Demon Lord’s gaze was as sharp as a knife. “Otherwise, you wouldn't have promised that little immortal that way in the end, you actually know it all in your heart.”

Mo Ran did not utter a word, his two eyelashes drooping.

The Demon Lord slowly straightened his body, his tall stature casting a dark shadow on the ground. He said, “Mo Weiyu, you should know that in this world there is an extremely special kind of Butterfly-Boned Beauty. They would not shed golden tears, nor would they have any demonic aura. If they did not recognize their ancestors, then even the Mount Huang Evil Spirit who was with the beauty would not be able to detect them. As a result, even in death, some people would not discover their true identities…”

Mo Ran said dryly, “So what?”

The Demon Lord laughed, “So what? You should be well aware that the overbearing spirit energy that this kind of person can inherit from the ancient demon is the same as the lord of Huabi, Song Xingyi, many years ago."

As he said that, his fingertip suddenly lit up with a purple black brilliance. He pointed his finger towards Mo Ran and the light immediately floated into Mo Ran's soul. At the same time, Mo Ran felt a vigorous energy surging through his three souls and six souls, which was then completely absorbed by itself.

The Demon Lord looked at the scene before him and said with a smile, "Look, you really can absorb my race's energy."

"…"

"I'm talking about you." Demon Lord said, "You are another special Butterfly-Boned Beauties after Song Xingyi. It's just that you never noticed it yourself. Hua Binan didn't notice at all."

Mo Ran lifted his eyes.

The Demon Elder held his hands behind his back and looked outside the window at the floating flowers once again. "Pitiful, he once promised that he would never hurt his tribe and said that he would protect every Butterfly-Boned Beauty that could be guarded. But he hurt you for a lifetime."

Mo Ran stood up from the ground. He was not in the mood to listen to such nonsense. Whether it was being killed or being used, it was all in the past.

Right now, he was only concerned about one thing: "Can I still go back?"

“Go where?” The Demon Lord turned his head to glance at him. “The human world?”

“The human world.”

“What’s so good about humans? A bunch of ants? You have power and courage, and you are from my race.” The Demon Lord said indifferently, “It is precisely because you are a demon. I am able to summon your soul and summon you back to the Demon Palace. If you stay here, you will have a lifespan of ten thousand years.”

Mo Ran smiled. “I’m sorry, I am only allowed to be served by others. I have never served anyone.”

The Demon Lord stared at him with his red eyes. He did not say a word, but only scrutinized him and criticized him a little.

“… Fine.” Mo Ran said, “There is only one exception. I am willing to serve him.”

“You serve a piece of wood?”

“He’s not a piece of wood.”

The Demon Lord rolled his eyes. “I’m being polite when I call him that, Little Immortal. He’s not even a god, he’s just a rotten seedling planted by an old man in Shennong.” Seeing that Mo Ran was getting more and more angry, the Demon Lord stopped talking. He turned his body and leaned against the window with his slim waist. “Are you stupid?”

“You have to know something. If you really plan on going back, you will still not get the supplies from the demon race. You can only live for a few decades, or a hundred years at the most.”

Mo Ran had been tense the entire time, but when he heard this, he actually smiled. “That long?”

“…”

“In the human world, it’s truly a long life.”

The demons seemed to be somewhat perplexed, but also a bit annoyed. “Humans are but ants, what can they do in a few decades? What could they do for hundreds of years? You have torn apart the Time and Life Gates and have grasped a Zhenlong chess match, and I am afraid that even Fuxi’s elder would be angered half to death by you in the sky. You possess such talent, yet you are willing to be a stalled bastard.” The more he said, the more unhappy he became. In the end, he bluntly said, “Idiot.”

At first, the demons thought that he was angry, but after a while, upon closer inspection, they realized that he was trying to hold back his laughter.

Demon Lord, “……”

Mo Ran looked up and smiled brightly. “How do you know?”

“…”

“In the mortal world, many people call me stupid.”

The Demon Lord rubbed his brow. He looked as if he had a headache. He almost moaned, “How can there be such a humiliating demon…”

“I never felt like a demon. I only vaguely sensed it the moment the Devil’s Gate opened.”

The Venerable One glared at him.

Mo Ran laughed for a while and stopped laughing. He looked at the Demon Lord and said, “No matter what, I still have to thank you for protecting my soul.”

“I appreciate your talent.”

Mo Ran shook his head. He did not plan on continuing this conversation with the Demon Lord.

He only used those eyes that had once moved the hearts of countless people to sincerely and earnestly look at the man in front of him, and then said, “But I’m sorry. I want to return to the human world.”

“…”

No one said anything.

“The reason.” Finally, the Demon Lord said stiffly, “Give me a reason.”

“Because I promised someone.”

Mo Ran said.

“I promised. I will return to him.”

The Taxue Palace.

At this moment, the snowfall on the Tianshan Mountains had stopped, and the Heavenly Rifts had finally closed. The torrent of events from his past life was like an absurd dream.

The first multicolored light gradually penetrated, filling the heaven and earth with a vast and tranquil scene.

“Chu-zongshi!”

“Grandmaster! Grandmaster!”

Someone was calling to him in his ear, and his consciousness slowly returned to the cage.

Chu Wanning opened his eyes, his gaze was devoid of emotion. It was as if two lifetimes worth of dust had settled in his eyes. For a moment he thought he was on Sisheng Peak, awakened one winter afternoon by the noise of his apprentices. It was similar to the dark and cold Wushan Palace, where Liu-gonggong sighed beside the couch and called him back to the human world.

After a long time, his eyes gradually became clear. His brown eyes turned as he looked at the cultivators that surrounded him. It was snowing, and the night was already dark, with faint red clouds appearing in the depths of the clouds.

He slowly closed his eyes and said hoarsely, “Mo Ran…”

It was as if a dead youth was responding to his yearning, or was it because his obsession was too deep, causing him to hallucinate — He suddenly saw several streaks of gold-red flowing out from the cracks of the life and death gate, sliding past the rouge colored sky, and flying into the distance…

What was that?!

Chu Wanning suddenly opened his eyes, but it was not because of the shouts from the crowd. It was because of the streaks of golden red.

…… What was that?

His extinguished hope was ignited by those wonderful lights. He struggled to his feet, but no one held him, and he said nothing more. Chu Wanning staggered along with the golden light, followed by the anxious voices of the crowd.

“Chu-zongshi…”

At this moment, the sand had finally been completely washed away. Everyone knew that Mo Weiyu was not a sinner, but the price was too great. It was unknown just how much meaning this sort of innocence had behind it.

But just as Mo Ran did not care about the opinions of others, he knew himself, he was muddle-headed, he was arrogant, he was addicted to himself. Chu Wanning was the same. Both of them were asking for the same thing, but they had no regrets.

“Shizun!”

Xue Meng wanted to chase after him, but before he had even taken a few steps, he heard a commotion from within the crowd.

A disciple from Guyue’ye’s side shouted in panic, “Sect Leader! Sect Leader, what happened to you?!”

Xue Meng was stunned. He suddenly turned his head to push away the crowd, but Jiang Xi had already collapsed into the snow. Beneath his were large puddles of blood.

“What’s going on?!” Guyue’ye’s elder shouted in anger, “Wasn’t it fine just now?! How could this be?!”

Some disciples pointed at the scar on Jiang Xi's waist timidly.

"Yes… Did he get hit by a sharp weapon in the torrent earlier? The Sect Leader was afraid that the situation would get more chaotic, so he didn't say anything…"

The air was filled with the smell of blood. Before dawn, Jiang Xi lay in the settled world with his eyes closed.

"Hurry up and treat your injuries!"

"What are you waiting for! Save him!"

Xue Meng's state of mind was greatly shaken. His mind was in a mess. In his hands, he was still holding Xuehuang that Jiang Xi had given him. He turned his head, wanting to chase after him, but he only moved half an inch before he knelt on the ground and started crying loudly.

He did not know how remote the mountains and rivers were. Where was the place where love and hate no longer existed? Lifting his head, the mortal world no longer had the company of the old. Those arrogant and proud youngsters who fought on the path of the sword had already ridden on the mortal world and would never return.

On the boundless Qiushan Snow Road, Chu Wanning looked at the golden red light flying towards the horizon towards the distant mountains…

"Believe me, I will do my best to see you."

"I'll wait for you in another world."

A shiver ran down his spine, but Chu Wanning didn't dare to think too much about it. Before he saw the truth with his own eyes, he didn't dare to dream too much.

At this time, the rising sun had already pierced through the darkness of the great abyss, pulling itself up from the ground from the cold and dreary night before. The golden light shined on the mountain road that had suddenly turned completely upside down. The first rays of the sun rose, illuminating the vast sea of people, celebrating the survival of the world with golden splendor.

Chu Wanning stared at the rising sun, his fingertips twirling talismans as a golden light flashed.

“Ascending Dragon — Summon!”

A long howl. His candlestick dragon broke through the wind in the snow, its huge body coiling in a sound like a great bell.

The little dragon raised his eyes and saw that the world of mortals was still alright. Joy filled his heart, and he couldn’t help but joke with his Master again, “Is everything calm now?”

“Yes.”

“Finished?”

“Yes.”

The paper dragon was even happier now. It flew a full circle in the air before landing again. Then, just like every time it saw him before, it teased, “Oh right, Chu Wanning, why are you always alone?”

Chu Wanning stood quietly in the wind, the snow seeds rustling against his long eyelashes. He could not help but think back to what Mo Ran had told him before he left, and he felt his heart beating like a drum. After a long silence, he raised his head and said to the paper dragon, “Take me to a place.”

“Where?”

Chu Wanning got on the dragon’s back as it stood up, facing the wind and snow, looking down at the silver dress on the ground. The sun shone brightly and became brighter and brighter. Finally, in the morning light, he said to the colossal dragon, “Let’s go to the Nanping Mountains. I’m going to see him.”

The Azure Dragon at the moment wanted to make up some nonsense, but in the end, the horned beard raised, and no longer said anything.

Actually, it also knew where its master wanted to go and who he wanted to find. It let out a deep, sonorous roar, and before it could reach the ninth heaven, Chu Wanning glanced back at the magnificent sight of the mountains and rivers.

The sky was clear, the clouds were floating. He traveled through the snowy and misty Kunlun Road, chasing after the golden light. Finally, he sped towards the distant river lake where the light rain had just fallen.

Mo Ran had promised him that he would come back.

Thus, he believed in him. He wanted to go to the place where they had last parted and meet up with him.

“Say… Is that golden light coming from his soul?”

Candle Dragon was churning in the sea of clouds, “If you ask me, who should I ask?”

“Do you think the souls will return to his body?”

Candle Dragon barely managed to say: “Probably…”

Soon, they arrived at Nanping Mountain. Without any hesitation or doubt, Chu Wanning seemed to be certain where those streaks of golden red light would go. He rode the Wind Carnage Dragon and landed outside of the bamboo forest in the depths of Nanping Mountain.

“The person you’re looking for is here?”

Chu Wanning did not reply. He got off the dragon’s body and felt as if there was a heavy weight on his chest, making him unable to breathe.

“I saved Mo Ran’s body here earlier.” His fingers were trembling uncontrollably. “So if his soul can return, then…”

He originally wanted to say that it would definitely be here, but the words were already on the tip of his tongue, so he didn’t continue speaking.

What if it wasn’t here?

He still wanted to give himself a chance. He didn’t want to die from his words.

Candle Dragon, surrounded by plants and vegetation, shook his head: “Then what if he doesn’t return?”

“…”

“What if those golden lights scatter before they reach this point?”

“…”

“What if —”

Chu Wanning suddenly turned around, his eyes fierce and bloodshot. “Then I’ll burn you and bury you with him.”

“Aiya, I’m so scared.”

Candle Dragon turned into a ray of golden light, his huge body turned into a small snake, resting on Chu Wanning’s shoulder. It hit its owner on the cheek with its head.

It knew Chu Wanning’s personality, so it didn’t take it seriously. It sighed, “Looking at your expression, why do I feel like you want to get buried with him more?”

As he spoke, he scratched the back of Chu Wanning’s head with the tip of his tail.

“For what?”

“I’m afraid if I don’t scratch you, you’ll faint.” The little dragon sighed and slapped his tail, “Your face is so ugly.”

“…”

“It’s just like those gamblers who have a lifetime worth of savings and walk into the casino for their final bet.”

Chu Wanning, for once, did not refute it. Instead, he closed his eyes.

The little Candle Dragon said it was his life savings, but it was wrong.

That was his disciple from two lifetimes, his lover from two lifetimes, and the kind of fool who would use his flesh and blood to fall into a quagmire even if he had to live two lifetimes.

The rest of his life.

The mountain path was long and snowy.

In the distance, there was a thatched cottage that was in a state of disrepair. Chu Wanning stood in front of the thatched cottage, his fingertips trembling. In front of his was an old and dilapidated wooden door, but it seemed even heavier than the door to the Infernal domain. His Adam's apple moved, and his blood flowed.

He was as stiff as a block of wood. He raised his hand several times, but it always fell off the moment he touched the door.

The little candle dragon: "Aiya, if you don't push the door, then I'll do it, I-"

The door opened.

It was not Chu Wanning who pushed it away, nor was it the candle dragon who knocked it away.

The door was originally ajar. Most likely, the breeze had pity on him, and could not bear to see his sad state. The wind then blew open the thin door of wood with a creak.

Chu Wanning stood outside the house.

He could see the open space in the hut. The trees had not budded yet, but the branches were covered with a thin layer of snow. When the wind blew, the snow scattered into the golden dawn.

Then, it covered a man's shoulders.

Hearing the commotion, that person's figure paused for a moment before slowly turning around.

The light and shadows moved, and in an instant, it was as if the earth had been rejuvenated and the summer sun had risen.

All the sounds of the wind, snow, and leaves that Chu Wanning could not hear before had returned to his ears at this moment. Everything in the world surged back into his heart.

He stood on the spot and wanted to run forward, but his limbs and bones seemed as if they were filled with lead. He couldn't move a single step. At this time, it was as if Chu Wanning heard the cicadas chirping at the foot of Heaven-Piercing Tower many years ago.

That was the best time of his life.

The handsome youth walked towards Elder Yuheng, who was leaning against a tree. He walked towards the beginning of everything, the beginning of the two's tangled fates.

"Chu Wanning…"

The dragon poked him in the waist.

Only then did Chu Wanning manage to regain his composure. However, his throat was still tied up and he was unable to say a single word.

He walked slowly to the man standing under the dead wood, to the end of everything, to the end of the pain of two lifetimes, to the end of the world.

The wind blew through the leaves of the forest, causing them to shiver. Chu Wanning seemed to have stepped over countless times, finally arriving in front of that man.

It was just like how, many years ago, a young Mo Weiyu had stood firmly in front of Chu Wanning.

He looked up and grinned.

“Xianjun Xianjun.”

The voice of the past is still in the ears, and when they met again, two lifetimes have passed.

“I’ve been looking at you for a long time, but you’ve ignored me.”

The empty valley was quiet and serene, and the multicolored light was pure and clear. It was as if only the two of them were left between the heaven and earth, and there was nothing else. Mo Ran was wearing a robe. His face was still pale from the initial recovery.

He watched as Chu Wanning walked out of the morning glow and came before him. His pitch-black eyes gradually revealed an expression of extreme gentleness.

“Shizun…”

The wind had stopped. Between the clouds, the morning light of a tree scattered across the bloodstained world.

“I saw a devil. And then I had an interesting experience, and I wanted to tell you…”

The turmoil of the apocalypse had passed.

After many years, at the place where the blood was falling…

Maybe some new plum blossoms would bloom.

Ch. 311 The Big End

One month later.

Wuchang Town.

“Let’s take a look.”

The loud ramblings of the peddler flowed in the sunlight. He shook the flower drum in his hand and walked through the streets carrying a bamboo pole.

“Holy Night Guardian, Holy Night Guardian – only thirty coins per piece. Back then, Elder Yuheng had personally created a mechanical armor to ward off evil and suppress disasters. No lies. You are not deceived. Come, come, come, don’t miss the passing by.”

Broken straw sandals trampled across the flagstones, and the shadow of the peddler was dragged long. Children ran past, laughing and holding either candied fruits or kites.

Suddenly, a girl with a ponytail tugged at the corner of the hawker’s clothes. “Uncle, I want to buy a Holy Night Guardian.”

The peddler put down his burden and picked one that was painted with peach red wood. “Hey, is this one good to look at?”

The girl nodded her head, “Yes! This is it!” Fearing that someone else might snatch it away, she hurriedly grabbed the mechanical armour that was as tall as her and fished out a copper coin from her pocket with great difficulty.

She was missing three copper coins.

The girl became a little anxious, “Aiya, I ran too fast, did it fall out on the way?”

She turned it over again, her patched bottom turned up. Still only twenty-seven cents. The little girl panicked, her eyes red, “Big brother, I’ve lost it. There are only so many of them. Can you just sell them to me like this?”

He rubbed his dirty hands together, “Girl, I already spent twenty-five coins on this Holy Night Guardian. If I were to give it to you, wouldn’t I only earn two coins? After a day of walking, it’s not even enough to pay for a meal.”

“Then what should we do?” The girl began to wipe away her tears, “When I go home, dad is going to scold me again, wuuuuuu…”

Just as she was crying loudly, someone suddenly walked over and blocked the sunlight behind the girl.

“Young man, keep these silver pieces well.”

A gentle and refined voice rang out, causing the girl to blankly raise her head. First, she saw a hand wearing a snow silk bracelet, then her eyes moved up and met the pair of jade-like eyes.

Mei Hanxue gently smiled and said, “This little girl is so beautiful. How can she shed tears for three pieces of money?”

“Ahh…” The girl was stunned.

Mei Hanxue crouched down and tried his best to be on the same level as her. Then, he handed over the peach red Night Guardian that had just been taken away by the hawker into her arms, his eyebrows furrowed as he said,

“It’s hard to buy a beauty’s tears with a thousand gold coins. Girls’ tears are the most valuable thing in the world. Next time, don’t cry over such a small matter, hmm?”

Next to him walked another man with a similar face and a straw hat. His eyes were very pretty, emerald in color, but they were as cold as jade. At first glance, they didn’t seem warm at all.

The man frowned and said, “You’re almost done. She looks five or six years old.”

Mei Hanxue laughed and stood up, “Brother, you are so boring. Beautiful women don’t care about their age. Old women up to the age of eighty, children up to the age of five, fat and thin, each have their own good looks, you have to learn to praise them. Only this way would… Hey, why did you run away?”

His elder brother, Méi Hánxuě, did not even want to bother with him and turned to leave.

This time, the Mei brothers went to the capital under the orders of the Palace master of the Taxue Palace, Mingyue Lou, to congratulate the people of Shu on the restoration of Sisheng Peak. It was fortunate that Madam Wang had protected the people of the sect back then. Now that the calamity had subsided, the elders and disciples were all fine, their strength was still preserved.

As a result, in the cultivation world that had been reshuffled, Sisheng Peak was actually ranked in the top three, and did no longer have the reputation of being poor ad ridiculed by others.

At this time of morning cultivation, the majority of disciples were practicing in the drill grounds. The sword dance floor was empty and quiet, and only a man dressed in luxurious clothing stood in front of a white jade fence with his hands clasped behind his back, looking down at the misty red clouds that surrounded the mountain peak.

Mei Hanxue and his brother walked over. Their feet made a rustling sound as they stepped on the newly built grass.

Hearing the commotion, the man did not turn around but sighed, “You’re here?”

“Here I am.”

“I’ve been waiting a long time for you.”

Mei Hanxue couldn’t help but laugh out loud. “Ziming, why are you saying such things?”

He was still handsome to the point where he had an almost extravagant appearance, and his face still had the immaturity of youth. As he looked at the Mei brothers, the tension between his brows collapsed slightly, and his eyes revealed a trace of the blankness and naivety of the past.

“Ai, you guys don’t know, I’ve been really tired these past few days.”

When Xue Meng saw that there was no one around and the Mei brothers did not bring anyone with them, they immediately relaxed and let out a long sigh.

“Elder Xuanji has reminded me of the rules and etiquette seventeen or eighteen times a day. I’ve never learned this before. At this time, I don’t even know how to speak. I can only open my mouth and say two words. Elder Xun Ji told me that this is called being concise…”

Mei Hanxue could not help but cover his mouth with his hand. “Pfft… Cough, cough.”

Xue Meng glanced at him and said somewhat impatiently, “If you want to laugh, then laugh. Stop pretending to cough.”

The elegant Young Master, Mei Hanxue, replied, “No, no. How can you make fun of Sect Leader Xue?”

“Don’t you dare call me that. I’ve had enough.”

Still as calm as ever, Méi Hánxuě said, “Bear with it. From today onward, you’ll have to endure for the rest of your life.”

“…” Xue Meng simply turned his head to look at the clouds at the peak of the mountain. “You’ve really succeeded. These are the most dejected words I’ve heard since the succession.”

Méi Hánxuě: “…”

Xue Meng added, “There is no one.”

“Hahaha.” This time, Mei Hanxue really did clap his hands and laugh. After a moment of laughter, he said to Xue Meng, “Actually, there aren’t that many rules for one to need to be the Sect Leader, right? Look at Guyue’ye’s Jiang Xi — he lives a lot more comfortably.”

It was a good thing that this was not mentioned. As soon as it was mentioned, Xue Meng's originally relaxed back tensed up again.

In a place that others couldn't see, under the luxurious sleeves embroidered with golden threads, his ten fingers couldn't help but tighten, and his heart was extremely unsatisfied.

Actually, he had just gone to Guyue'ye a few days ago.

Jiang Xi had been severely injured in the war, but it was fortunate that there were many miraculous pills and medicines in his sect. Furthermore, his disciples were all people who were well versed in medicine, so it wasn't that easy for his to retrieve his life. However, although his life was saved, his health was no longer the same as before. What was even more worrisome was that Jiang Xi's body had undergone some changes after being affected by the demonic energy.

"What will happen?" At that time, Xue Meng was standing outside of Jiang Xi's room and asking Guyue'ye's medicine serving elder.

The medicine elder replied, "I don't know. The demon gate has not been opened for thousands of years, so there are no records of cultivators infected with demon energy. For now, it seems like the Sect Leader is fine, but I'm not sure what kind of effect it will have on him in the future…"

Xue Meng's gaze was gloomy as he glanced inside the room once more.

The jade colored curtains were layered over and over again, covering the entrance. Not to mention Jiang Xi's current appearance, even the layout of the bedroom of Sect Leader Guyue'ye was unclear from the outside.

"Can you cure it?"

The elder shook his head: “I’m afraid it will be very difficult.”

“…”

The anxiety in his heart grew more distinct. Closing his eyes, he said, “If you need anything, you can come find me at the Sisheng Peak’s door at any time.”

Although the Elder didn’t know why Xue Meng and Jiang Xi were having such a thing, he vaguely felt that the relationship between the two was quite close. Thus, he politely bowed and said, “If that’s the case, then I will thank Sect Leader Xue first.”

Xue Meng waved his hand and once again cast his gaze towards that deep curtain.

Actually, he really wanted to go in and take a look at Jiang Xi, but the place where a sect leader would sleep in was even more mysterious than a woman's boudoir. What’s more, Jiang Xi was still unconscious, so the rest of Guyue’ye’s men could not allow him in. Xue Meng did not know what else to say, and said with a frown: “Sect Leader Jiang’s Xue Feng, I have already sent it back to your sect’s Elder Feng Jian. Remember to tell him.”

“Yes.” After a pause, he saw that Xue Meng was hesitating to speak, so he asked, “May I ask if Sect Leader Xue has any other orders?”

“… Forget it, it’s fine. I’m leaving.”

The elder was very polite. “Many thanks to Sect Leader Xue for coming here personally.”

Although Xue Meng had been at loggerheads with Jiang Xi, that was when he was the Young Lord. Now that he was the Sect Leader, Guyue’ye’s people naturally wouldn't neglect him.

Several elders and doctors accompanied him as he walked down the large hall. Guyue'ye had spiritual energy circulating all year round, so there were a hundred flowers blooming. Xue Meng looked over and saw that although there was a light snow falling on Rinling Island, there was still a field of luscious embroidery and flowers blooming in the clear and cold air. He didn't know what he was feeling in his heart.

He walked slowly down the porch, the boards creaking beneath his feet.

Suddenly, the beast's head at the corner of the roof rang a bell. Xue Meng raised his head and saw a young man around the corner, who looked similar to his age, walking towards him with two rows of sabers in hand. The youth had a handsome face and broad shoulders. In the morning light, his face exuded an indescribable sense of gentleness.

Even though Xue Meng's eyes were high at the top, he still couldn't help but look at him more than a few times.

"Sect Leader Xue."

Meeting on a narrow path, the young man stopped first and bowed. He was upright and not humble.

"…" Xue Meng stopped his footsteps. "This is…"

"Oh, this is a close attendant of the Lord Sect Leader. All these years, he has been assisting the Sect Leader in managing the internal affairs of Guyue'ye, and although he hasn't been showing his face very often, the Sect Leader still places a lot of importance on him." The elder smiled. It was obvious that he was afraid of this young man.

Xue Meng indifferently answered with an “En.”

The youth saluted. Seeing that the other person was still staring at him, he raised his head and smiled.

At this distance, the moment he raised his head, Xue Meng could clearly see him. Although Xue Meng never paid too much attention to the appearances of others, he still noticed the youth’s outstanding appearance. Especially his pair of eyes, which were bright and gentle, as if they were lit up by countless stars.

What a memorable face.

Xue Meng narrowed his eyes and began to size up the other party’s appearance even more harshly. He even tried to find some flaws to compare him to. However, after looking back and forth a few times, he was still unable to find anything.

He was astonishingly handsome. He was young, reserved, gentle in appearance, tall in stature, and his skin was very delicate. He even seemed to be emitting a faint glow.

Such a young man should be listed on the cultivation world’s young elites list, instead of being squeezed, working as a laborer in the depths of Guyue’ye’s heart.

Xue Meng thought dryly.

A bright pearl covered in dust, Jiang Yechen was truly not a good person.

Being stared at by Xue Meng without blinking, the young man felt somewhat uncomfortable. However, he still asked politely and gently, “Sect Leader Xue, is something the matter?”

Xue Meng came back to his senses, "… "No, it's nothing."

But he continued to stare at him unabashedly.

Being close to the first tier, although highly regarded, it didn't have any status.

If Xue Meng didn't ask, the other party wouldn't tell him his name and would humiliate the ears.

The medicine elder was rather nimble, seeing that Xue Meng was curious about this young man, he introduced him with a smile: "Don't look at Sect Leader Xue's age, he is actually very young. In fact, Linling Island is extremely small, and his management is very outstanding, sometimes it makes us elders very ashamed."

The youth bit his lips as his face slightly blushed. He was a bit embarrassed as he replied: "Elder is too kind."

Xue Meng sized him up and became increasingly curious about this person. Suddenly, he caught a glimpse of his follower carrying a lacquered wooden tray. After a moment of thought, he asked, "Are you going to Jiang Xi's place?"

"Yes." The youth was slightly startled as he did not expect Xue Meng to address his Sect Master directly by his name, but he quickly nodded his head with a smile.

This was a good opportunity. If he expressed his desire to accompany them, the other party should not reject it. This way, he could openly enter Jiang Xi's bedroom and take a look at how that idiot was sick.

Xue Meng cleared his throat and was about to say something when he heard the young man's gentle voice.

"I'm going to deliver the medicine to my foster father."

Xue Meng was stunned at first, then his face darkened slightly. "… What?"

The medicine concocting elder hurriedly said, "I'm sorry, I almost forgot to mention that he is the adopted son of Sect Leader Jiang."

Xue Meng, "……"

Several tens of times later, they saw several elders following behind the ashen-faced Xue Meng on the flying corridor of the Alkaid Hall. Unsure of what had happened, they nervously said,

"Eh? Sect Leader Xue?"

"Sect Leader Xue, what happened to you?"

"Is there something wrong?"

The newly appointed Sect Leader at the Sisheng Peak had a gloomy and infernal expression on his face. His soles embedded in the soles of his iron boots began to pace up and down the stairs with a loud clanging sound. He gritted his teeth with a face as ashen as mud – Of course, he didn't care whether Jiang Xi raised any little kittens or not. What did that have to do with him? He was just annoyed that Jiang Xi, who clearly had a capable son in the sect, still had the hypocrisy of a loner in front of outsiders, which made people feel sorry for him.

Shameless! How disgusting!

Mei Hanxue saw the abnormality in his face and asked: “What happened to you?”

“Nothing. I just suddenly thought of a completely unrelated person.”

He didn’t want to talk about Jiang Xi any longer, so he changed the topic and chatted for a while. Then, together with the Mei brothers, he went to the ancestral hall at the summit of the grave, giving a sweet fragrance to the heroes of the sect who had passed away.

As they entered the ancestral hall, Mei Hanxue discovered that there was a unique spirit tablet at the side of the altar. It was covered by a red handkerchief, and the words could not be seen.

“This is Mo Ran’s place.”

“…”

Xue Meng’s expression was indifferent, making it difficult to guess his thoughts. “Other people say that he is dead, but I don’t think so. After the big battle that day, I saw Shizun descending Mount Kunlun… It’s clear that he went somewhere, but he doesn’t want to bring anyone else with him.”

As he spoke, he pursed his lips, his eyelashes drooping. “In short, I don’t believe that he just turned into ashes like that.”

“Xue Meng…”

Xue Meng turned his head away and looked at the daylight outside the door. “That dog Mo Ran has always been doing things his own way since he was young. He doesn’t follow common sense.”

“…”

“I know it’s the same this time.”

Mei Hanxue couldn’t help but sigh when he heard his words, but he didn’t intend to refute him.

The Mei brothers kowtowed to the benefactor and his wife, while Xue Meng stood to the side with his eyes closed. He did not say anything.

When the ceremony was over, Mei Hanxue stood up and patted his shoulder.

“Ziming, you will be a good Sect Leader.”

Xue Meng opened his eyes and glanced at the black and white words on the spirit tablet. The incense burned and the dust drifted in the air. In the light green smoke, Xue Meng looked at his father’s memorial tablet and calmly said, “It won’t be any better than him.”

“Let’s go.”

Xue Meng waved his hand, turned around, and left.

In the solemn ancestral hall, the small piece of lacquer wood did not have the name of a dead person written on it according to the rules. The Mei brothers looked at each other, sighed, and followed Xue Meng’s footsteps.

A pinch of incense ash fell.

The youngsters had already gone far away, but the dark altar still burned the three incense sticks they had left behind. Behind the faint light, the wooden tablet cut down Xue Meng’s handwriting:

The grace of the father is irreplaceable,

Loyalty is beyond reach.

And at the bottom of the tablet, there was another inscription carved with four words that made it hard to laugh. However, the Mei brothers knew and Xue Meng also knew that if Xue Zhengyong's spirit in heaven saw these four words, he would laugh heartily.

The lamp flickered, illuminating the elegant cursive script, which was formed by Xue Zhengyong's calligraphy. Each stroke was an unintentional flow.

Xue Lang was very beautiful.

That night, Sisheng Peak was hosting a banquet to entertain the Taxue Palace's envoys.

Due to the close friendship between the two sects, this was considered a private banquet and was not something that could be viewed by outsiders. But even so, there were still rumors circulating around.

It was rumored that the newly appointed Sect Leader Xue had gotten a bit drunk after drinking three cups and two cups of light wine. Sect Leader Xue liked to mutter to himself when he was drunk. That day, he had mumbled a bit too much. Sometimes he would cry for his parents, sometimes he would hate his brother, sometimes he would moan and mumble about his Shizun. Sometimes he would call some attendant 'Shi Mei'.

That day, his mouth was full of their names.

But none of them came, except for Mei Hanxue.

Deep in drunkenness, in the lanterns, he rested his head on his arm and looked out from the crook of his arm at Mengpo Hall.

For a time, he saw a lively and joyous clamor.

Xue Zhengyong and Madam Wang were toasting each other, while Shi Mei and Mo Ran were wrapping dumplings around them. When the crowd quieted down and everyone turned around, they saw Elder Yuheng wearing a bright red cloak. He was shaking off the snow on his oil-paper umbrella as he walked towards them.

“Sect Leader, you’re drunk.”

In his ears, there was a vague sound of someone calling him, but Xue Meng did not answer.

Afterwards, someone sighed and covered him with a layer of cold clothing. He didn’t know who that person was, whether it was Elder Xun Ji, Elder Tanlang, or someone else.

Afterwards, that person touched his head and said, “Young Lord, you’re drunk.”

He made a vague sound, but the tears began to flow, and he curled his head into his arms. It was already late in the night, the cups and plates were in a mess, and his spirits were in disarray. Xue Meng did not speak anymore, nor did he pull anyone else to cry and make noise — he was trying his best to quickly grow into a leader.

Perhaps in another year he would not be so easily drunk. After a few more years, even if he was drunk, he wouldn’t speak nonsense again. In the end, no one would be able to easily see the tears of Xue Ziming, Sisheng Peak.

Gradually, he would become a tree that supported the entire cultivation world. The years when he cried and drank to his heart's content would become the memories of the future when Sect Leader Xue and his juniors chatted and laughed.

Every generation passed like this, and when Xue Meng passed away, the past of his generation would be brought up again, but no one would be familiar with it anymore.

Those young and beautiful years might eventually casually disappear into the distance, eventually turning into a sentence on Xue Meng's folding fan, "Xue Lang is very beautiful."

After the Mei brothers returned to the Taxue Palace, a few days later, the cultivation world announced an important matter.

"After New Year's Eve, the Taxue Palace of Kunlun will form an alliance with Sisheng Peak. The two sects are of the same mind, and there is no distinction between the upper and the lower cultivation world, but please a new dawn in a peaceful world. Sect Leader Mingyue Lou and Sect Leader Xue Ziming have come together to see the world and prove their sincerity."

The moment the announcement was made, waves rolled across the thousand layers.

Some praised, some did not understand, and some were silent — they could see that this new contract might shake the world in the next ten, twenty, or even faster years. The so-called upper cultivation world and lower cultivation world would slowly begin to blur their boundaries.

“Is this a good thing?” someone asked curiously after the tea break.

His companion took a sip of the cold snow fragrance in the bowl and shook his head. He said: “Who will know about the future? In the past, Nangong Changying had gathered the nine great sects to form the upper echelons of the cultivation world, and he wanted to make the places controlled by these sects become a paradise. Everyone is not paying tribute, but the result is not satisfactory. It seems that a decision is wise and correct, but it still has to be given time to prove…”

“Sigh, that’s true.”

“However, at least for the time being, there won’t be another incident involving Guyue’ye. He shouldn’t be able to beat the combined forces of Taxue Palace and Sisheng Peak.”

“I can’t say for sure. Judging from Jiang Xi’s personality, he doesn’t want to be subservient to others…”

“Forget it, forget it. Why do you care so much? Let’s take it one step at a time, we have to live our own lives.”

“Hmm, this snake gall is pretty good at stir-frying melon seeds.” The customer raised his voice and shouted towards the outside, “Lady Boss, give me another jin!”

During the winter and spring months, most of the wounds in the prefecture slowly healed. The villages and towns that had been destroyed in the war were rebuilt with the help of the various large sects.

There had been people who had lost faith in the darkness, but fortunately, the human heart was not immutable.

Perhaps one day, the silence would erupt into a roar, and the abyss would burst into sparks. Those who applaud blindly will stop, those who cringe will open their mouths, those who are gentle will be tough when the threat comes, and those who contradict will stand out in front of lies.

Everything was changing. A new city was being built on the ruins. However, right and wrong could not be distinguished so clearly.

However, this was nothing. A person might never be able to truly understand anything, even themselves.

One of the simplest examples —

You have eyes, but have you really seen your own face?

“Good! Let’s do another part!”

Linyi’s old land, under the old locust tree, a review was completed.

“Chu Xianzun is truly a good person…” The old woman wiped away her tears as he listened. “I wonder where he has gone to now…”

“Mo Xianzun is the one who is truly wronged… Sigh…”

Another half a year old little girl smashed the candied fruits in her hands. Her eyes were sparkling black, and her face was full of tears when she heard this. As she was sobbing, she suddenly turned her head towards her companion beside her and said, “Wuu wuu, I don’t like the story of Big Brother Nangong and Big Sister Ye.”

His companion was stunned. “Why?”

The girl said while wiping away his tears, “They’re all dead.”

The boy muttered, “It’s not like Ye Wangxi is dead…”

The girl cried even more miserably. “You don’t understand. All of you boys are stupid. She must be feeling worse than death. Wuuuuuuu…”

The boy was at a loss for what to do as she continued crying. He scratched his head for a long time before saying, “Ai, don’t cry anymore. How about this, have we come here to play? I’ll be Nangong Si, you can be Ye Wangxi, and we’ll make up our own stories… Aiya, don’t cry, don’t cry.”

In order to please his friends, the boy picked a palm-sized leaf to cover half of the little girl’s face.

“Then, take your head. We’re here to get married ~”

The little girl blinked her eyes and then burst out laughing.

It turned out that pain and suffering could be rewritten in the eyes of a child. Everything would gradually become relaxed. Their love and hate would slowly become a legend of the Jianghu. Under the locust tree, they would be slowly told stories by storytellers one after another.

With you and I a lifetime of ups and downs, life and death, honor and disgrace, the guests two or three tears, the whole hall cheers.

The little girl and the little child were shading their leaves as they paid respects to each other. They were childhood friends, and they were looking at each other with sweet expressions on their faces as they shouted:

“First bow to the heavens and earth…”

“Second bow —”

Under the old locust tree walked a black-clothed Taoist priest with a pretty face. At her waist was an old faded quiver with no arrows in it.

After the war ended, the world was peaceful.

Inside the quiver embroidered with flowers, there was a little milk dog curled up with the tip of its golden claws, looking at the outside world with a wuuuu sound.

The black-clothed Taoist stood under the tree and watched the two kids playing house with a lazy smile. Suddenly, she thought of something and walked over, handing the little girl a red handkerchief.

“Huh?” The girl was stunned, “What is this? Who are you?”

The black-clothed Taoist did not answer, but only smiled and said: “Why is the wife with a leaf on her head? Come here, this is for you.”

The handkerchief was old, soft, and of good texture.

On the corner of the wall was embroidered the word “Si”. How many years ago was it? It was slightly damaged, and this was when she was crying in fear in the illusion world. Nangong Si had taken it out to wipe her tears.

The little girl took the handkerchief and looked at it. Suddenly, a smile blossomed on her face.

She raised her head and said, “Thank you elder sister.”

“…”

The black-clothed Daoist was startled, and then her eyes began to shine with stars and light.

After so many years, there weren't many people who could recognize that she was a girl. Furthermore, there was the Sound Changing Spell that she would never be able to dispel.

This little fellow's eyes were truly bright.

She smiled and shook her head. She straightened her body and patted Naobaijin plush head in the quiver. "Let's go. What are you looking at?"

Naobaijin: "Awoo woo woo!"

The wind began to blow and the leaves of the locust tree rustled.

The storyteller was talking about the battle at Mount Jiao. At that moment, all of them were crying.

She did not cry anymore. She straightened her back and walked alone towards the distant mountains. The sweet voices of a little girl and a little boy sounded behind her.

"Husband and wife bow to each other!"

She just so happened to walk out of the shade of the locust tree at this time. The piercing sunlight brushed against her face, and for some reason, she smiled until her eyes curved. Her heart was filled with joy and sweetness.

It had been such a wonderful time as a child, she thought. It had been so easy for the Alliances to kneel down and kowtow nine times.

After walking a distance, she suddenly heard loud footsteps. "Big sister! Your handkerchief!"

She didn’t look back, but gave a relieved wave of her hand, looking like a hero.

Naobaijin eyes were open, and she looked at her blankly, as if to ask her: “It is something left by A-Si, do you not want it?”

She laughed, her eyes gentle. “No.”

As she said this, he looked towards the hazel and unruly grassland, where a myriad of things were born in the spring. Unsurprisingly, she saw the figure of Nangong Si standing beside her, still with his wild and unruly expression.

He was a bit arrogant, but also a bit calm.

He said, “I know you’re here.”

Nangong Si’s phantom frowned, as if to reprimand her.

She said gently, “Don’t be angry. They are here to pay respects, and lack a cover.”

“…”

“So I gave them your handkerchief.”

Nangong Si still did not seem happy.

“A handkerchief in exchange for a good marriage, just smile.”

The sun was shining brightly. Nangong Si forced a smile, but it was even uglier than a grimace.

He laughed along with her, his eyelashes drooping. When she raised his eyes again, the shadow of Nangong Si had already disappeared. But she knew he would come back.

It wasn't a ghost or an illusion.

He was in her heart, so she could always see him.

— He was always the most handsome when he was in high spirits.

In the blink of an eye, it was New Year's Eve of the year. According to the rules of the cultivation world, the mourning of parents could be removed. Thus, on the eve of New Year's Eve, Xue Meng was finally crowned as the Sect Leader of Sisheng Peak.

On that silver night sky, Xue Meng was talking about ceremonies. He was wearing a jade crown, a Sect Leader's ring, silk and silk yarn. He was wearing nine layers of clothes on both the inside and the outside.

He stood in the majestic Regal Pill Heart Palace with a jade-like face and a handsome yet mature appearance.

If one were to look closely, he would more or less be able to discern the shadow of Jiang Xi in that pair of eyes. However, his surname would never be Jiang, and he would never want to be like Jiang Xi.

"Congratulations, Sect Leader Immortal."

The Xuanji Elder led his disciples to bow first.

The disciples who were at the peak of the mountain knelt down in succession, and the guests who had come to congratulate them also lowered their heads in salute.

His voice rumbled like thunder, resounding through the mountain peak that was shrouded in clouds of smoke.

“Congratulations, Sect Leader Immortal.”

The flowers bloomed brightly in the night sky, as if announcing the beginning of the golden age that belonged to Sisheng Peak, and the darkness of last night, warm and warm, would never come back.

Xue Meng smiled. His black eyes were very deep and very calm, but they were not very bright.

He raised his glass and drank with the others.

He would never act the way he used to. He would never make those ridiculous and ridiculous mistakes again.

Mei Hanxue sighed from his seat and closed his eyes, “This kid… he is finally going to become Nangong Liu.”

“Be careful.”

Mei Hanxue glanced at his brother. “I’m not saying that there’s something wrong with him. I’m talking about his position today.”

“That’s not something you should talk about.” The elder brother said coldly, “Also, since the beginning of the banquet, twenty-six girls have come looking for me. Take off your mask, I’ve had enough.”

Mei Hanxue immediately scrunched his face into a frown.

After the banquet had ended, because there were too many guests, it was difficult for the people at Sisheng Peak to take care of them. Thus, they could only arrange for disciples to be divided into groups to receive the corresponding Sect Leader, Elders, and disciples.

Everyone went back drunk, each having their own thoughts.

Xue Meng returned to his room.

He was not drunk today, Elder Tanlang's Awakened Wine Soup was more effective than anything else.

He sat down and somewhat tiredly rubbed his brow, wanting to take off the heavy ornaments on his body. However, after looking at himself in the bronze mirror for a while, he felt that his entire body was covered with pendant and did not know where to pick it.

Xun Ji knocked on the door and came in.

"Sect Leader."

Xue Meng looked dispirited. "Hm?"

"This is a gift form from each sect. I forgot to bring it to you." Xuanji passed a thick stack of golden red booklets to him, "Remember to read it carefully. Think carefully about the compensation."

Xue Meng felt more and more tired. "Got it."

"Also, Sect Leader Jiang said that he wants to meet you alone."

"… I won't see him."

He had always been at the Sisheng Peak and was the last one to observe the expressions of all the Elders. He sighed and said, "Then I'll reject him in a while."

“Anything else?”

Xuanji said, “No more.”

Xue Meng actually hoped that he would say that he had something else to say, so it would be best for him to tell him directly, ‘Two mysterious guests have suddenly come from outside and want to see you.’ However, he did not do so.

In that huge room, Xue Ziming stood alone. He stood there for a long time, then he finally walked to the table, lit up the lamp, and looked at those thick gift slips.

The list of gifts was arranged according to the order of gifts. The wealthy Guyue’ye was naturally in first place, and the list was filled with extravagant treasures such as “Flamedoor” or “Spirit Whale Bead”.

However, Xue Meng was not in the mood to read too many of these treasures. He quickly flipped through the booklet in an attempt to find the names of Chu Wanning and Mo Ran — many rogue cultivators would send gifts even if they didn’t come. This was an extremely important day in Xue Meng’s life. If Mo Ran did not die, if Chu Wanning was still in the martial arts world, then they would have received news of his ascension to the throne.

Taxue Palace, Fire Phoenix Pavilion, Wubei Temple…

Page after page.

The itinerant cultivator turned the pages of his personal gift several times over.

But no.

In the end, Xue Meng leaned back against the cushioned mahogany carved chair, wearily rubbing his brow.

No.

His Shizun, his… It was as if his cousin had completely disappeared from the martial world after the great battle that day.

Outside was a jubilant jubilation, the sound of fireworks, and the Sect Leader at the summit of death locking himself up in his room, his eyelashes slowly becoming moist.

He really could not accept the deceit that Chu Wanning and Mo Ran had placed on him. He could not get along with them without any grudges, but no matter what, he still cared about them from the bottom of his heart.

When they were building the sacrificial temple, everyone told him that Mo Ran was already dead, but he was stubborn. He said that if he wanted to see someone who died, he wanted to see their corpse.

He tried his best to understand them, but he still couldn't get over it. When he thought of the things they had hidden from him, he felt so stifled that he couldn't even breathe.

He also knew that because of this reason, Chu Wanning and Mo Ran might never return to the Sisheng Peak – there was no taboo between Shizun and disciple that could truly be accepted.

But at least send him a letter…

At least tell him he was safe.

Xue Meng took a deep breath and raised his hand to cover his trembling eyelids.

Suddenly, a faint sigh came from outside the window. Xue Meng froze for a moment, then abruptly stood up and rushed over.

Dazzling fireworks rose and fell on his face. He looked left and right, but no one was there. However, there was a long and narrow brocade box hanging from a peach tree outside the window.

Xue Meng trembled as he reached out his hand. His entire body tensed up as he opened the embroidered box.

At this moment, a firework rose into the air, shattering thousands of stars in the middle of the night.

In the sparkling and translucent flowing brilliance, Xue Meng saw a narrow curved blade, which was newly forged. It had a long body and a silver handle. The crystal looked at and sparkled brilliantly…

It was a reforged Longcheng!

Xue Meng seemed to be in a daze as he held the embroidered box in his arms. He then directly jumped out of the window and rushed to the back garden while shouting, “Shizun!”

In the empty and lonely backyard of the Sect Leader, what responded was the whistling of the wind.

He called out frantically, “Shizun! Mo Ran!”

“Come out!”

The night breeze was cool and damp and cold on his cheeks, and he ran blindly among the flowers, his robes and arms scratched by the branches of the trees.

“Come out!”

In the end, his voice started to whimper.

No one could be found anywhere. Xue Meng stopped his footsteps, slowly lowered his body, and curled up on the ground as he muttered, “Come back…”

The faint sound of leaves blowing could be heard. Xue Meng shivered as he looked in the direction of the melody —

Then he saw them, but those two people had already gone too far and had stopped at the eaves of the Heaven-Piercing Tower. Behind the solemn corner of the flying beast, two figures that could not have been more familiar in the past leaned against each other. The sleeves of his robe fluttered as he sat on his knees with the godly weapon Jiuge. He was cultivating while leaning against the night clothes. At his fingertips, he held a bamboo leaf and played a song.

“Under the bright moon I visit my old friends, both our faces reflecting red in the lanterns.

Once the phoenix sings, the spring dawns, endless rivers and mountains are peaceful.

Burying the brewed drink having no one to drink with

After years separation, returning to meet brother again.

Why do people need to accompany one another so often in life, when the east wind can carry love?”

The melodious zither whistle echoed in the moonlight, drifting towards the vast sky.

After the celebratory ending of the song, there was a flash of golden light and Chu Wanning’s Candle Dragon was summoned. The two of them jumped onto the back of the dragon and flew away on the wind.

Later on, Xue Meng found two letters with similar characters in the brocade box. One was from Chu Wanning, and the other belonged to Mo Weiyu.

Mo Weiyu’s letter was very long, telling the various stories that followed, telling him many of his previous secrets, and also explaining that because they still did not know what the people thought of them, they were not willing to rashly appear and drag down Sisheng Peak. As for this new Longcheng scimitar, it was something that he and Chu Wanning had managed to obtain in the past few months. Perhaps they could use it.

On the other hand, Chu Wanning’s letter was much shorter, and there were a few lines of script on it.

Sect Leader, Yuheng felt guilt in his heart, thus he had no face to meet his disciple. The road ahead will be long so cherish it. The saber hilt of Longcheng was embedded with a Night Flower, it could accompany a Sect Leader for a lifetime. In the future, if Sect Leader wanted to take the thin and weak power of Yuheng, they could write to him as they pleased.

That night, Xue Meng stared at the two words “Sect Leader” for a very long time.

He did not come back to his senses until late at night, when the wine was all over the place and the silence was complete. Thinking that from now on, he might never hear his Shizun call out his name again, and he could only hear the Sect Leader being called, he felt that he had never been so tired of the many rules and regulations of this world.

But at least Chu Wanning was still there, as was Mo Ran. Perhaps they would be separated by a thousand li in the future, or perhaps they might not even see each other for several years. However, in the end, they were still able to share a portion of the world's moonlight.

At the foot of the mountain, the town of Wuchang.

Two men in hooded cloaks came out of the night and walked to the bustling night market. They found a lantern stand and sat down.

One of them, a tall and slender man, said, "Boss, I want a clear soup, thin slices of beef, thin slices of mutton, tripe shutters, crispy meat, fried meat, crystal fish slices, hibiscus prawns…"

The other person said flatly, "That's more or less enough. We can't afford to eat it."

"Then, how about another pine nut mandarin fish and two jars of soy milk?"

"…" That person pursed his lips, "Don't order anymore."

These two fellows were no other than the two who had just given gifts to Xue Meng, Chu Wanning and Mo Weiyu.

"Then, let's have another serving of the sweet root of the osmanthus flower." After Mo Ran finished speaking, he smiled, "Do you know how to do it?”

The waiter was very eager: “It would never have happened, this is a dish from the Jianghuai region. However, Mengpo Hall at Sisheng Peak often does it, so we at the foot of the mountain also learned a little. Oh yeah, we have a great hero menu here. Would the two of you like to take a look?”

Chu Wanning frowned, “… What menu?”

“Great Hero recipe! Don’t you two know?” The waiter proudly introduced, “A few days ago, there was a huge disaster. The two cultivators that took care of this disaster were at the Sisheng Peak. Heh, everyone in the restaurant right now can cook special dishes, which is exactly based on the taste of those two cultivators!”

As he said this, he took out two bamboo chops from his waist and enthusiastically handed them over to Chu Wanning and Mo Ran.

“What about this? It’s the menu for Chu Xianzun.” Afraid that they wouldn’t understand, the waiter continued to explain with excitement, “It’s rumored that Chu Xianzun likes to cook slightly burnt things, so we have some scorched pills, fried potions, and boiled vegetables with burnt tofu. Oh, right, this squirrel fish would also cook quite a bit of it.”

Chu Wanning: “…”

To suppress his laughter, Mo Ran poured himself a cup of tea and drank it.

However, as he flipped through another ‘Mo Ran-Xianzun Cuisine’, the tea in his mouth nearly burst out.

“Cough, cough, cough!”

The waiter was a little panicked, “Aiya, esteemed guest, what happened to you? Are you alright?”

“I’m fine, I’m fine. Cough cough…” Mo Ran pointed at the bamboo sign and asked, “What are you guys doing? Why would Mo Xianzun have something like the haitang sweets on his menu? I’ve never even heard of it.”

“According to legend, Mo Xianzun likes sweet things.”

Mo Ran: “…”

“He also likes haitang blossoms.” The waiter was like the All Knowing Scholar of the Jianghu as he explained, “So our Lady Boss created this Haitang Sweetheart Soup by herself. The sugar on the table here is 30% more than what you would normally get for dessert, so it’s bound to be so sweet that your tongue will go numb!”

“… Can you still eat that?”

The waiter smiled and said, “Why can’t I eat? I sold it very well.” Would it be better for the two guests to have a serving of Mo Xianzun and Chu Xianzun? The two cultivators both liked to eat. Let’s taste if you don’t lose out, and let’s taste if you don’t fall for the trap.”

Chu Wanning felt a headache coming on, “No. I don’t like it, thank you.”

Mo Ran smiled and said, “Actually, I don’t like eating sweet foods that much.”

“Sigh, what a pity.” The waiter scratched his head regretfully. He seemed to really admire the new dishes in the restaurant. He could even hear the mutterings from afar, “They are the favorite dishes of the world’s heroes… It’s not good for me to have a taste…”

Chu Wanning: “…”

Mo Ran: “Pfft.”

“What are you laughing for?” Chu Wanning glanced at him, “Is it that funny?”

“No. I’m just happy. If I’m happy, I can smile even for a small matter.”

He turned his head to look at the bustling crowd on the street. After the storm had subsided, the world seemed to be alive again, the women picking up pinkie jewelry and buying New Year’s Eve red paper wares, the men drinking and chatting in front of the bright night stands, the lantern light shining on their leisurely faces, the atmosphere warm, even the grease on their cheeks not so irritating.

A group of children ran over, screaming and laughing. No one knew what kind of game they were playing, one child wearing a mask, the other group running like rabbits in front of them, constantly shouting, “Don’t let him catch you! Hahaha, don’t let him catch you!”

Mo Ran held his chin in his hand, a gesture he had always been very handsome with even a hint of loveliness in it.

He suddenly sighed with satisfaction. “That’s great.”

As he spoke, he raised his head to look at the bright lights on Sisheng Peak, and then he repeated, “This is great.”

Chu Wanning said, “… Not too good. What you just heard, Xue Meng was calling us.”

“…” As expected, Mo Ran was silent for a moment, but he still smiled, “But if we really do stay, he will be troubled again.”

“I know,” Chu Wanning replied.

As the dishes were served, Mo Ran continued to eat while muttering, “In the end, Xue Meng is still somewhat childish. Actually, it’s for the best right now. If we go back to Sisheng Peak, trouble will follow. Furthermore, he might tolerate me for one or two days. In another month or two months, why don’t we try?”

Chu Wanning bit off a piece of peanut, making Mo Ran feel wronged.

“He’ll throw me out.”

Chu Wanning suppressed his laughter as he knocked on his head with the chopsticks on his back, “You are the one who is childish.”

“Really. When the time comes for him to chase me away, I wouldn’t be able to avoid him. The sect leader’s order, ah… I’m scared to death.”

Chu Wanning couldn’t hold it in anymore, he laughed lightly, “Don’t mess around. Why would he chase you away? It’s clear that we don’t want to stay, so don’t leave this to him.”

“Fine.” Mo Ran scratched his head and grinned, dimples flashing. He then deeply said, “Shenmu-Jun, whatever you say is correct.”

Chu Wanning said, “Let’s eat. We’ll go home after dinner.”

They were now hiding in the depths of the Nanping Mountains. The two had lived there ever since Mo Ran had returned to their bodies. He was not deliberately hiding from the world. He merely felt that the world had walked halfway through, and that it just so happened that he would pass by this place. Thus, he decided to rest in that paradise.

Everything was just right.

After picking up a piece of meat, Mo Ran's eyes curved into a smile as he said, "Actually, I was in the wrong."

"Hmm?"

"I really don't want to go back."

"You're afraid he'll blame you?"

"No." Mo Ran smiled and rubbed his nose. "I'm afraid that he will call me Mistress."

Chu Wanning: "…"

Mo Ran's eyes were very gentle, pitch-black and slightly purple as their luster flowed, but the purple seemed very good-natured now. He sighed and said, "A generation has passed."

"Eat!"

Mo Ran obediently lowered his head to eat. He behaved as if two fluffy dog ears had emerged from his head and hung down in a soft and tame manner.

However, Chu Wanning was clear that it was not that he did not want to return to the Sisheng Peak. Actually, he, himself, Xue Meng, and the others all wanted to reunite, but time was killing everyone. Sometimes, those ignorant, frivolous years would pass, but no one could force themselves to come back.

All of them understood this logic. It was only because Mo Ran feared that he would suffer, that he would take full responsibility and make him laugh.

“Speaking of which, I’ve never asked you about it properly. On the day of the war… How did you know you’ll be back?”

After thinking for a while, he said, “… Would you blame me if I told you the truth?”

Chu Wanning looked at him with his bright eyes, “What do you think?”

Mo Ran rubbed the back of his neck and laughed with his head lowered, “Actually, after the Devil Realm’s Gate opened, I also felt a kind of spiritual energy flowing through my body… However, back then, I was still the will of Taxian-Jun. I felt dizzy and I didn’t think too much about it.”

“Yes.”

“At the last moment, when it was about to disappear, I suddenly remembered something.”

“…”

“At that time, I was betting on something. Maybe I’m the same as Song Xingyi, who’s from the Butterfly-Boned Beauty Clan.” Mo Ran said, “According to the history books, as long as the demon’s body isn’t broken, their soul is complete. Is it that easy to be reborn? So I thought. If I am, then as long as I insist on returning to my body, I should be able to come back to life.”

Chu Wanning slightly frowned, “Before this, I had always felt that the Demon’s soul being able to return to its own body was a legend.” He paused and then asked, “Then why didn’t Song Qiutong come back to life in the past?”

Mo Ran said helplessly, “Even if a demon wants to revive, the desire to survive must be very strong.”

“…”

“That feeling… Well, it’s like falling off a cliff and giving me a lifeline. The rope was covered with oil, and if he wasn’t careful, he would fall into the abyss. I have to hold on tight to the rope and climb up, not letting go for a moment, before I can return to my body.”

“Wanning, I’ve been thinking about coming to find you.” Mo Ran raised his eyes and looked at him, “That’s why I came back.”

The lantern above his head swayed, Chu Wanning looked into his pitch-black eyes, and felt as if his chest was extremely soft. He still wasn’t used to this feeling of weakness, so he quickly turned his face away.

“Actually, there is another very important reason.”

“Hmm?”

“The Butterfly-Boned Beauty is a half demon. This method of rebirth will not work on us before the devil gate is opened.” Mo Ran said, “It is because we have absorbed the demonic energy and gained the strength — or else we would still be human beings. Furthermore, the heart of my body has already been destroyed. After obtaining the devil aura, I felt that the power contained in it was much stronger than that of a Spirit Core. That's why I thought that I might be able to use it to reverse the situation."

"That's why when you let me go, you were not sure if you could be reborn…"

Mo Ran looked at the other party's slightly narrowed eyes and realized that he had said the wrong thing. He could not help but panic as he lightly coughed to change the topic. "Ai, this fish is not bad."

Chu Wanning would never fall for his trick and stared at him, "If you don't come back in the end. When I got to the Nanping Mountain, what would have seen would have been an ice-cold corpse."

"…" Mo Ran couldn't take it anymore. He lowered his head, bit his lips, and was silent for a moment. Then, he raised his head and said, "That's right."

"…"

"I can't bear to see you die. Whether I am alive or not."

Seeing that Chu Wanning's eyes were slightly red, it seemed as if he was in pain but also wanted to get angry, Mo Ran stretched out his five fingers and held his hand on the table, rubbing it in his palm.

In the limelight, he said in a slightly hoarse voice, "I know that I might have lied to you, but even if you hate me and blame me for it, I can't just sit by and watch you die."

As he spoke, he suddenly closed his eyes, his eyelashes trembling.

"I've seen it for two lifetimes."

Chu Wanning's tensed back gradually eased, and his clenched knuckles gradually lost their strength. However, his eyes were still red and moist.

Steam rose from the pot, and tiny bubbles of soup bubbled in the oven. In this hard-to-come-by world of fireworks, Mo Ran was holding Chu Wanning's hand, interlacing his fingers.

He said, "I thought, if I really guessed wrong, I can wait for you. Ten years, or even tens of years. If you become immortal, then even hundreds, or even thousands, of years would suffice."

"…"

"The world if the livings is still very good, Wanning, I don't want you to die with me."

Suddenly, a boiling bubble burst within the pot. Some boiling water splashed onto Chu Wanning's wrist. Of course, these sparks of hot water didn't hurt, but he reflexively retracted his hand and lowered his head.

After bowing his head, he felt that he should be more at ease. Thus, he mustered up the courage to raise his head and glared at that renegade disciple who did not know what was good for him.

Mo Ran was amused by his actions. "What's wrong? Sometimes staring at me, sometimes staring at the table."

Chu Wanning wanted to say something, but at this time, Heaven-Piercing Tower's clock chimed. It floated down from the mountain peak and echoed throughout the bustling night market.

"Crap."

After counting the hour, Chu Wanning's face changed slightly. The time for change had arrived…

He suddenly stared at the man sitting in front of him. Seeing that the man who had been smiling earlier had suddenly closed his eyes, he became anxious —

Ever since Mo Ran had been revived, it would only appear once every three days. It was only until the night of the next day that Taxian-Jun's consciousness would be able to take over his body.

The reason for this was probably because the soul of Taxian-Jun had been separated from the other souls for a long time. It was difficult for the consciousness to merge with the soul, so even if the soul had already fused, it could still change its personality.

Sure enough, a moment later, when Mo Ran opened his eyes again, the radiance in those eyes had already changed.

The Emperor Taxian-Jun slowly raised his handsome face. It was obvious that he was the same person, the same body, but there was still a bit less righteousness in his expression.

Taxian-Jun's mouth opened and closed. He laughed arrogantly: "Um… After not seeing me for three days, did you miss me?"

"…"

He lowered his head and looked at the dishes in front of him, as well as the pot that was half-eaten. Finally, the picky gaze of the previous Emperor of the world fell upon the dilapidated wooden chairs on the street and the oily dining table, which was obviously very cramped.

— Those items that were common to Mo-zongshi.

To him…

“Waiter! Get the hell over here!”

“Mo Ran, take a seat!”

All of a sudden, it alarmed the surrounding customers. They all turned around, and someone exclaimed, “Ah! Is that Chu-zongshi?”

“Eh? It seemed as though Mo Xianzun and Chu Xianzun were here as well? Wasn’t he dead? Who can rub my eyes? I’m not blind, right?…”

“You’re not blind, I saw it too.”

A little girl screamed, “Ah! It’s really Mo Xianzun!”

The commotion attracted the attention of passers-by. More and more gazes fell on them. Some of them even recognized them. Chu Wanning pulled over the table with a dark face, still shouting, “The table is so shabby, how can we eat? Are you sure you’re not mistaken!” While there were still no more people rushing over, Taxian-Jun called out his Imperial Sword and fled in panic.

Only when he was high up in the sky did he finally heave a sigh of relief.

The moon was bright and clear, and he had survived a disaster.

Everything was going well – if it weren’t for the fact that Taxian-Jun was still behind him grumbling angrily, he would have asked unhappily, “What’s so good about Mo Xianzun?”

“…”

“A bunch of troublesome commoners! Why do they only remember Mo Xianzun?”

“…”

“The one repairing the Black Tortoise Spirit Formation was me!”

“…”

“I’m the one who saved their lives!”

“…”

“I was the one who stopped the flood!”

Chu Wanning glanced at the man who was gritting his teeth in anger. Suddenly, he felt that he was really petty, even to the point of being jealous of himself.

“What are you looking at?” When he suddenly saw Chu Wanning’s smiling gaze, he was stunned for a moment. Then, he narrowed his eyes in annoyance and pretended not to care, “Even you? You are also mine!”

Chu Wanning was caught off guard and he shouted angrily, “Don’t move!” Indeed, the sword beneath his feet swayed slightly, but he was quickly stabilized by Taxian-Jun’s Devil Aura with just a casual wave of his finger.

Taxian-Jun covered him up in his black gold cloak and snorted unhappily, “What are you afraid of? If I am here, how could you fall to your death?”

As he spoke, he activated the Imperial Sword Technique. In the moonlight, the sword shadow was like a black whirlwind, flying towards the Nanping Mountain…

Deep in the night, they were just like an ordinary couple.

They went home.

Later on, people would occasionally see the figures of Mo-zongshi and Chu-zongshi in the cultivation world, on the rivers and lakes, but they came and went without traces, like a glimpse.

Later on, there was another rumor spreading through the cultivation world. Legend has it that there was a blind doctor that traveled through the northern part of the Jiangnan Desert. He always wore a bamboo hat and a veil. No one had ever seen his true appearance. The only thing he knew was that the blind man had extraordinary medical skills. He had trekked to the ends of the earth, helping to rule over tens of thousands of people without taking a single cent from them.

The most famous story about the doctor was this: There was once a group of teenagers in the town who were kidnapped by cultivators when they were young. They were scalded to the point that they turned into human-shaped bears, which are still difficult to cure. The doctor who was practicing medicine came to this place and heard about this. He actually used the skin on his wrist as a medicinal guide to cut off the flesh in exchange for the healthy young men. The people in the town were filled with gratitude as they asked for his name.

The doctor had said that he was only a sinner.

After many years, the great battle that year had become a series of old and yellowed books and rumors, to the point where the children of the past had all been drawn. The young people of the past were mostly married, and the heroes of the past had already grown white hair.

Another year passed.

At Sisheng Peak, the Sect Leader, Xue Ziming, took in a rogue child as his direct disciple and treated him as his own. This little fellow was naturally familiar with everyone, and he was completely unafraid in front of the infamous Sect Leader Xue. He kept pestering Xue Meng with questions all day. One day, the little guy came over and asked him out of curiosity, “Shizun, I heard a lot about the past when everyone was talking about Shizu[177] and Shishu.[178] Are they still in contact with Shizun?”

At that time, the Holy Man, Xue Ziming, stood by the window and looked out at the blossoming peach blossoms. He said calmly, “Occasionally.”

The little guy was quite eager. “Then why didn’t you invite them back?”

“…”

“The rooms of the Red Lotus Pavilion and Shishu’s are both empty. No one else has ever stayed there.” The young disciple pulled on Xue Ziming’s wide sleeve. “Honored Shizun, call them back. I’ve heard the evaluation a few times already. It’s said that Shizu and Shishu are great heroes that are hard to come by…”

Xue Meng turned his light brown eyes and looked at the little guy in the spring sunshine with a little smile. “Do you also want to be a hero in the future?”

“Of course!” The little disciple puffed up his cheeks, looking full of ambition. “Shizun, how can you have a useless disciple? I want to do a big job!”

“A promising future doesn’t necessarily mean you have to accomplish great things.” Xue Meng said, “If you can live a proper life, you won’t bully the weak, won’t bow to the strong, won’t honor yourself in circumstances, and won’t be discouraged in adversity… Also, be careful and reserved to judge a person or a matter, and be compassionate. When you reach the age of eighteen, you will be a great hero who will stand at the top of the world if you say that you have a clear conscience.”

“…”

“What’s wrong?”

The little guy was still young, after all. When Xue Meng turned around, he found that the little guy was already yawning.

Seeing his Shizun staring at him, he forced himself to stop yawning. The corner of his eyes were wet with tears, but he still tried to straighten his back, as if deep in thought, and nodded his head.

He looked just like a young phoenix when he was young.

Xue Meng held back his laughter and pretended to be serious as he asked, “Did you remember?”

He quickly said, “I’ll remember.”

Xue Meng asked again, “Do you understand?”

“Listen… I don’t understand…”

After a while, he said in an aggrieved tone, “Shizun, you’re talking too much…”

Xue Meng did not reprimand him. After thinking for a while, he lifted his hand and patted Gouchen's head. "Forget it. It's really too much."

"Heh heh."

"If you want to be a hero, then remember one thing."

The little disciple hurriedly straightened his back and listened attentively. He probably thought that Xue Meng wanted to tell him some particularly powerful technique or meaning. His clearly defined black and white eyes were wide open.

The sunlight flowed onto Xue Meng's face. As the shadows of the flowers flowed, Xue Meng smiled.

"Don't make wild guesses at others. This is the highest dignity a man can bestow upon himself."

Then he bent down and picked up the confused little fellow and led him out of the house and to the end of the garden. From here, The peak of the mountain towered, and the Red Lotus Pavilion was hidden in the clouds. Through the floating clouds on the ground, one could see from afar the flourishing towns and rivers at the foot of the mountain.

With the wind blowing, the young disciple's fatigue completely disappeared, and he stopped yawning.

After all, he was still so young and childish. A flower and a bird could easily win him over.

Xue Meng stood next to him by the carving fence. They gazed at the scenery for a while before asking, “What do you see?”

The little guy did not understand. “The house. Water… And fog…”

Xue Meng smiled as he listened. His personality was getting more and more amiable, easily angering him seemed to be a distant matter.

What the children saw were houses, and what he saw was the rise and fall of the Wuchang town. From the once shabby town to the now crowded town, it was much more lively than in the former cultivation world.

What the child saw was water, he saw rolling Forgotten Stream. Sometimes, he even thought that a monk was standing by the river with a Soul Lamp in his hand. He solemnly said, “Benefactor Xue, let’s go to the Underworld…”

What the child saw was mist, and what he saw was the scattered souls of life, floating around on Sisheng Peak all year round.

His father and mother were among them, and later he would always see them, on the Sword Discourse, in the back garden, in Mengpo Hall, on the Bridge of Helplessness, even when he closed his eyes. In fact, other than the three souls and seven souls, there was probably another kind of soul. That kind of soul was only born in the hearts of loved ones — when you thought about them, they would come to your side.

Xue Meng held his little disciple in his arms, staring at the distant Frosty Heaven Palace in the mountain. Many of his family and friends had once stayed in this place.

Speaking of which, last year, the Discipline Elder had grown older and died in a snowstorm in early spring. Elder Xuanji had also left two years ago. Everyone said that he had done too many good deeds. If Yanluo had called him out earlier, then he might have been able to decompose his corpse and become an immortal. Xue Meng, one after the other, saw the deaths of these elders from their initial hysteria to their later peace — or perhaps helplessness.

When Xue Meng was able to leisurely sort out Elder Xun Ji's funeral, he would also reminisce about his past self. But this was only a memory of his past; he would no longer be addicted to the past and would never be able to extricate himself.

He was the leader of a faction and also a disciple of Yuheng. He had to keep a close eye on the situation.

"Shizun?" A small tender hand was shaking in front of him, bringing Xue Meng's consciousness back. "What is Shizun thinking?"

Xue Meng smiled and said, "I was just thinking about the past."

At the mention of the past, the little fellow became a little excited and tried to continue on with the previous topic, "Shizu and Shishu…"

"Actually, they come back every New Year's Eve. This year, you will be able to see them."

The little guy curled his lips, a little unsatisfied. "But why is it New Year's Eve? Why didn't they stay? I heard that Shishu is extremely formidable, so when he slashed out —"

Xue Meng lifted his hand and poked his head. "Your head would fall off."

The little disciple stuck out his tongue, but he wasn't afraid.

Xue Meng seemed very serious. "Really. Your Shishu is a bit… After all… split."

"Eh? Split?"

Xue Meng nodded. "I'll bring you to see him this New Year's Eve. However, you will only be able to stay until the time is right. After the time is over, you must leave."

"Why?" The child's eyes widened in curiosity.

Xue Meng said, "… Unless you want to call him His Majesty."

"Ah…" Even more confused, the little disciple who had just been introduced blinked his eyes. He wanted to ask again. Xue Meng was like thinking about something that he couldn't recall. He simply put him down and rubbed his eyebrows empty-handed. He had a terrible headache.

I haven't seen shizun's distress since the beginning of my training. The little fellow can't help but be more interested in the legendary Shishu who was "split" and pursued Xue Meng to ask directly:

"Shizun, Shizun, Shishu, He-"

"Don't ask."

"Shizu, he…"

"Don't ask."

"Shizu and Shishu…"

“Go back and copy books!”

“Wow, Shizun, you are so fierce…”

In the clear sky of Shu, the pure sunshine falls on the two shizun and apprentice through the branches. The wind blows through Xue Meng’s clothes, over the young apprentice’s young cheeks, over the magnificent Sisheng Peak, over the green grass in front of the hero’s grave.

The wind blows across the Wanli River and Mountains one day and one night. It brushes the blind who can help the world by hanging pots, the brothers who appreciate plums on the snow plains, the girls who drink by the dragon soul pool of Mount Jiao, and the relatives who return to seclusion in Nanping Valley. Wherever we go, the rivers and mountains are still there, and the Haiyan River is clear.

The fate of countless people is intertwined with each other. Although we can’t stop at a dinner party where we have a good dream and never wake up, there will always be fragments left by relatives, close friends and loved ones in a person, whether they are alive or dead, whether they have left or not, and these fragments will always follow us like a shadow. Come home with you.

With a clear wind, the haitang trees in front of Heaven-Piercing Tower are blooming brilliantly, which is no different from yesterday. The long night has passed, the horizon has its own destiny, and now everything is peaceful.

Xue Meng looked up at the same majestic floating Tu, the pagoda is solemn.

He seemed to recall something, laughed and took his apprentice's hand and went to the Loyalty Hall, the largest school in the world.

At this moment, it seemed as if he had heard the melody of both master and apprentice singing leisurely on the Heaven-Piercing Tower when they took office many years ago. The melody went through the long river of years, and now it blows away like snow behind the door of Sect Leader Xue.——

Under the bright moon I visit my old friends, both our faces reflecting red in the lanterns.

Once the phoenix sings, the spring dawns, endless rivers and mountains are peaceful.

Burying the brewed drink having no one to drink with

After years separation, returning to meet brother again.

Why do people need to accompany one another so often in life, when the east wind can carry love?

Ch. 312 Tranquil Life

— The story line took place two years after the End of the war –

The small room was filled with the fragrance of rice porridge.

A little boy with pointy ears and pumpkin leaves on his head gathered in front of the stove and added new wood to the fire. Beside him sat a red-haired girl, eating honey and watching the fire.

"I think we can make it bigger."

"I don't think so. If it was any bigger, I would die."

"I don't think so."

"Pfft, what do you know? You only know how to eat sugar."

Chu Wanning pushed open the door with the hare he had hunted. Behind him were a group of chattering grass spirits, flower demons, and even mosses the size of a fingernail.

The brothers and sisters who were sitting next to the stove immediately stood up. They hurriedly bowed towards him. "Shenmu Xianjun."

Shenmu Xianjun was what these wood spirits called Chu Wanning.

Actually, when looking back, one would have already known many things. In his previous life, he never knew why he was born with the Nine Song Divine Martial Arts, nor did he know why he had such powerful control over plants and vegetation.

Previously, he didn't even understand why the wine gourds that came out of the Golden Drum Tower would be so respectful to him.

Now he understood.

He was the Yandi Shenmu, and the Yandi Shenmu was the source of all the vegetation in the world.

After the battle at the Gate of Life and Death, Chu Wanning and Mo Ran hid in the southern mountain valley. Although they could not use their tyrannical techniques, their days passed by in a dull and uneventful manner.

Chu Wanning had already figured out a method to summon the wood spirits and gathered all the little demons in the valley under his command.

"It being the king of the mountain had its meaning." Mo Ran laughed and commented. "Just a tiger skin blanket on the floor."

However, Chu Wanning, who ruled over the mountain, was very anxious these days because a few days ago, Xue Meng had sent a message to them, awkwardly indicating that he would come to the South Mountain during the Mid-Autumn Festival and meet up with them.

After two years, the relationship between Shizun and disciple was no longer as awkward as it had been in the past. Naturally, Chu Wanning was willing to see his former beloved disciple again. Thus, a month before the Mid-Autumn Festival, he began to seriously think about which dishes he should prepare to entertain Xue Ziming.

"What is Shizun writing?"

The candles flickered in the night as Mo Ran approached and hugged Chu Wanning from behind. He rested his chin on Chu Wanning's shoulder and looked at the ink and paper spread out on the table with inky black eyes

His main intention was to coax his EnGong gege into bed. He was not really interested in what Chu Wanning was writing.

What else could this fellow be doing? He would then send the blueprints to the master of the Ma family in the Peach Blossom Villa, so that he could create them and sell them for a cheap price. At the end, he would even sincerely write, "The surplus does not need to be mine, it will all be at the peak of my life".

As a result, the building price was much higher than the selling price, so Villa Owner Ma made a profit and chased after Xue Ziming with the bill.

"Hmm? You're not drawing any blueprints today? "

Chu Wanning answered absentmindedly, "How can there be inspiration every day?"

Mo Ran rubbed his face and kissed his ear. "Shizun …"

"What's wrong?"

"..."

Mo Ran straightened up and touched his nose.

He couldn't help but suspect that Chu Wanning was sick of seclusion. Otherwise, why would he be so intimate with him and only get a "What's wrong?" that was as hard as steel without any fluctuations in his tone?

He felt like he saw a ghost.

It was only at this time that Mo Ran finally started to read what Chu Wanning had written on the table. It was good that he didn't read it, but with this look, he was so shocked that he took a big step back.

"What are you writing?!"

It was just a question, but this time, it was a sigh filled with fear.

Chu Wanning was displeased by his tone. He finally put down his brush and raised his invasive phoenix eyes. Even if his eyelashes were as soft as cotton, it wouldn't be enough to hide the sharpness in his eyes.

However, no matter how fierce his eyes were, they were no match for the fearsome words that Chu Wanning had just said.

"Mid-Autumn's menu."

Mo Ran: "..."

That's right, for the sake of the first reunion dinner after the great battle, the Northern Dipper Immortal decided to do it himself.

Mo Ran stared at the stern and stubborn face of Chu Wanning in the candlestick and the light, and could not help but tremble in his heart.

Is he serious...?

However, it was a pity that Chu Wanning was an upright person and never made unnecessary jokes.

He spent the next few days frowning and studying the menu, deleting a few dishes from time to time — and whenever that happened, Mo Ran would let out a sigh of relief. Or add a few more dishes – each time Mo Ran looked, he would feel a faint spasm in his stomach.

Finally, when Chu Wanning finally showed him the prepared list, Mo Ran pretended to be calm as he glanced at the ten cold dishes and the twenty hot dishes, then he closed the bamboo block.

"... What's wrong? Are there fewer varieties? "

"No." Mo Ran felt that unless he wanted to see the new Sect Leader die suddenly on Mid-Autumn Night, he would have to do something to stop him.

He thought for a moment, raised his eyes, and smiled at Chu Wanning, "I just feel that if the reunion banquet was prepared by only my Shizun, it wouldn't be sincere enough."

Chu Wanning frowned, "Is that so?"

"We already said that we would meet him." Mo Ran patiently and softly continued, "Then of course, it will be more lively if we prepare it together."

Seeing that the other party was silent and seemed to be hesitating, a thought flashed through his mind. He then continued, "Honored Shizun, why don't we prepare five cold dishes and five hot dishes each? But we won't tell the other what it is. When Xue Meng comes, we would take these twenty dishes and serve them together. Finally, we will ask him what was good about the cooking and what he didn't like. How is it?"

Chu Wanning did not immediately say anything, but his eyes lit up.

These small thoughts and emotions were all captured in the observant Mo Ran's Eyes. Mo Ran restrained himself from laughing and locked his hands together. In a gentle voice, he asked, "How is it?"

Chu Wanning looked up at him, "Is this a cooking contest?"

Mo Ran touched his nose and laughed. "Just let it be."

After a few moments of silence, Chu Wanning suddenly stood up and pulled away the bamboo block that Mo Ran was holding with his other hand. Mo Ran was a little puzzled. "What's wrong?"

"I won't let you know what I'm doing." Chu Wanning looked very serious, "What's written on it doesn't count. I'll rewrite it."

Mo Ran: "…"

Chu Wanning narrowed his eyes, "Actually, my cooking isn't much worse than yours."

"Yes, yes, yes." Mo Ran couldn't hold back his laughter any longer. "Shizun, whatever you say is correct. Then I will wait for the Mid-Autumn Festival to be a feast for all of my life." As he spoke, he took Chu Wanning's hand, stroking his finger, which was callused from years of mecha work, and lowered his head to kiss it.

In the candlelight, he looked at Chu Wanning's slightly widened eyes that were unaffected by the mockery, at his slowly relaxing body under the kiss.

His eyes curved gently.

"Whatever EnGong gege does, it's the best."

He was becoming increasingly intelligent and quick-witted to be able to solve the crisis so easily. Mo Ran drank the wine in his heart and then stood up with a smile under the gaze of Chu Wanning. He went to clean up the dishes that had not been washed.

It was night. When Mo Ran finished washing up and returned to his room, Chu Wanning was sitting by the window, looking at the menu that he had studied countless times.

Hearing the sound of the door opening, he subconsciously closed the book, and it seemed that he really did view Mo Ran as a competitor. But Mo Ran only thought that this guy was quite funny. There were only a few casual books on his bookshelf, and only two were related to food. One was Bashu Food Book, and the other was Lin An Diet Note.

However, Chu Wanning felt that it was necessary to hide his abilities, so he turned off the lamp by the window and looked up at the young man, "Are you done washing?"

Mo Ran smiled and nodded.

Chu Wanning briefly nodded his head in agreement, and casually put the book back on the shelf, then said, "Okay, I'll go wash then."

Mo Ran's smile became even more obvious. "Shizun."

"Hmm?" Chu Wanning turned around.

Mo Ran was uncertain if he should say this, but he scratched his head in the end. He reminded him with some embarrassment, "You had already washed them before me … Have you forgotten? "

"..."

When people tried to cover up something, they would always be absent-minded. Even the famous Immortal Elder Beidou was no exception.

Amidst this awkwardness, Mo Ran looked at him with both amusement and indulgence, and then leaned over. The window was very narrow, with a chair and a row of bamboo bookshelves. There was no extra space. With one hand on the window frame, Chu Wanning had no way out.

Chu Wanning did not plan to retreat either. He was much better than he was a few years ago, but he was still not used to being intimate in a place like this – especially when he had interacted with that unreasonable paranoid character a few days ago.

When he thought of those scenes, his cheeks began to burn, and he became even more determined.

Chu Wanning said, "No. Go to bed."

The response from Mo Ran was to move closer and cover his slightly cold lips.

It had to be said that the things that Taxian-Jun and Grandmaster Mo liked were actually very similar. It was just that Taxian-Jun was tactful with his words and Grandmaster Mo was tactful with his actions.

But the results were all the same.

Before he had the chance to resist, Mo Ran had already seduced him and pushed him onto the chair, just like Taxian-Jun. Grandmaster Mo moved his finger and used a demonic aura to activate Godly Martial Arts! JianGui, he tied Chu Wanning's hands and legs to the chair.

"Can't you just choose a more normal place?" Chu Wanning gritted his teeth.

Mo Ran's long eyelashes rustled innocently. He lowered his body and touched Chu Wanning's face with a gentle voice, "I'm afraid you'll get tired of it."

"..."

He was clearly doing something that was worse than an animal, but it sounded like he had become a girl who was afraid of being abandoned.

Mo Ran's eyes were very serious. "Shizun, we've only lived together for two years. We still have a long life ahead of us. If we behave ourselves every night, you might eventually find me boring."

"You're very interesting." Chu Wanning glared at him, "Now, let me go."

Mo Ran was also half-kneeling before him, staring at him.

"Let go." Chu Wanning insisted.

It was probably because his eyes were too firm that he hurt the young man's weak heart that had already suffered so many cuts and cuts. Mo Ran suddenly lowered his long eyelashes and didn't say anything. He looked a little sad, but obediently muttered, "JianGui, come back."

The willow vine obediently withdrew.

Mo Ran lowered his head and added, "I'm sorry."

"..."

When the young man was half kneeling in front of him, he was much shorter than him. When the tall and straight body was in front of him, he couldn't recognize that he was a junior who was ten years younger than him.

He rubbed his wrist, which was tied up so painfully by the willow vine, and suddenly felt that his tone just now had been too harsh.

Chu Wanning coughed lightly, and just as he was about to say something, Mo Ran lowered his head and muttered to himself, "Although I don't really remember what I did when I became Taxian-Jun, I … I still have a bit of an impression of him."

Chu Wanning stopped rubbing the red marks on his wrist.

Looking down from the top of his head, Mo Ran's eyelashes appeared thicker and more slender than other angles, similar to some loyal animal. Chu Wanning even felt that at some point, this young man's hair would have two fluffy ears, which would then droop in frustration.

It was accompanied by a non-existent fluffy tail.

"I thought you'd like that. But I seem to have made a mistake."

"..." You did make a mistake.

Chu Wanning thought in his heart.

However, he still reached out his hand and stroked the young man's head.

This comforting caress caused Mo Ran to raise his face. His handsome face was filled with the pale yellow light of a candle. The light of the lamp was reflected in his dark eyes, and the flickering light looked like two twinkling stars. These eyes were very beautiful, but because of the grievance, there was a little bit of red at the end of the eyes.

"I'm sorry, Shizun. I wanted to make you happy. "

"..."

"It's not like I did the right thing. I made you angry."

Suddenly, Chu Wanning could not bear it anymore.

He sighed as the strength in his hands slightly increased. However, the youth was not at ease with his emotions. He straightened his neck and stood rooted to the spot like a rock.

Chu Wanning tried to break him up a few more times, but nothing happened and he could not help but say, "Come here."

The young man was stunned for a moment before he knelt down and obediently leaned over. Chu Wanning wrapped his arms around the back of his head and pulled him close to his waist. He stroked his soft black hair and sighed, "Idiot."

The lanterns were still in the quiet room. Chu Wanning removed the silk ribbon from his hair. His long hair was scattered, but he didn't mind. Instead, he used the white ribbon to cover his eyes. There were some things that might not be as shameful if they were not seen.

Sometimes, Mo Ran was really stupid. He was stunned for a moment before he asked, "Shizun, what are you doing?"

"..."

Even though the candle flame was dim and yellow, one could clearly see the color of blood under Chu Wanning's snow-white skin. He bit his lower lip and realized there was always a way to make him soften and harden his heart in an instant.

Smoke was rising from the top of Chu Wanning's head. If it were not for the silk that covered his eyes, he would have been humiliated. Otherwise, he would have been able to push Mo Ran out of the house.

He was silent for a moment: "If you want to do it then do it! If you don't then scram!"

Grandmaster Mo is an honest man.

He was surprised by the passing of time.

For the rest of the good times, he devoutly used the Twisting Tempest technique.

His clothes were quickly taken off and his skin was exposed to the cool night air. Chu Wanning covered his eyes and subconsciously raised his chin as he could not see what was happening.

Under the white silk of the lotus root, there was a straight bridge of the nose. The soft lines extended downwards, drawing people's gazes to his lips.

Normally, because Chu Wanning's eyes were too bright and too cold, everyone who was looking at him would pay attention to those two pools of snow and ice.

But now his eyes were obscured, and he had lost his sense of majesty. Thus, Mo Ran naturally discovered that the lower half of his face was actually very soft. It had a fine line to it, and very soft and pale pink lips.

Because he had lost his sight, his lips were parted unconsciously. This posture was like he was asking for a kiss. Although Mo Ran was absolutely sure that his Shizun did not intend to do this, he still gave him a gentle kiss.

His lips intertwined wet, his hands did not stop moving. He stroked Chu Wanning with his calloused hands, and after the kiss ended, both of their breathing hastened.

Mo Ran was placed against his forehead, and his voice was slightly hoarse. "Can I?"

The blindfolded man panted heavily, the color of his lips becoming more and more alluring, like a budding crabapple, extremely tender and light red.

Chu Wanning asked, "What?"

"Right here, okay?"

"..."

Sometimes, Chu Wanning felt that even though Grandmaster Mo was a man of honor, always acting for his sake and never forcing him to do anything he didn't like, in some cases, this kind of 'asking' was even more humiliating than the absurd things that Taxian-Jun did.

"Can you ask such a thing after taking off my clothes?"

"Ugh …" At a place where Chu Wanning could not see it, Mo Ran's face turned red.

He probably knew that he had asked a superfluous question, so he pursed his lips in embarrassment. He leaned over to kiss the side of his Shizun's face and said in a low voice, "Sorry."

In response to his cold harrumph.

Mo Ran no longer embarrassed him. His eyelashes fluttered like a butterfly, and that kiss continued on all the way down, from cheek to neck, to clavicle, to chest...

He could feel Chu Wanning's tight muscles and his arms were still holding the edge of his chair unconsciously. He knew that Chu Wanning did not like to be excessively played with on his chest. Although the scar would not hurt, it was always his fragile wound.

So he just kissed at the nipples, bent down and buried himself between Chu Wanning's legs.

He looked up at Chu Wanning's tense and stiff appearance, and leaned over, breathing fiercely in his already raised tip.

Chu Wanning's throat swayed, even under the cover of his eyes, and he turned his face in embarrassment.

"Ah..."

Suddenly his cock was engulfed by Mo Ran, and the warm and moist mouth wrapped him. In the darkness, the stimulation of the touch of the other person was particularly strong. It seemed that all his senses were pouring into his lower body, and his spine seemed to be ran up with sparks and electricity, numb all the way to the tip of his toes.

Chu Wanning leaned back slightly, biting his sudden breath.

But even if he tried to repress it, his erection honestly reflected in the young man bent between his eyes. Mo Ran took him deeper and deeper, sucking him. The tip of his tongue circled flexibly around his bell mouth and stem. When he pulled it away, the moist saliva of his mouth wetted the angry pillar.

"En Gong Gege..."

Chu Wanning's face suddenly turned red. His voice was low and angry when he said, "Don't call me that."

Mo Ran smiled gently. His lips were very close to Chu Wanning’s cock. He could feel the air flow clearly when he spoke.

"Good. I will listen to Shizun," said Mo Ran.

"..."

He didn’t know whether it was better to be ashamed of the title of Shizun, or to be embarrassed by the title of Engong Gege.

But Chu Wanning did not have much time to think. Mo Ran’s wet kisses and licking came again. He could not see anything in front of him. He could only breathe with his mouth slightly open under the silk belt. However, he could almost imagine Mo Ran’s posture and how the tip of his tongue licked him.

Eventually, in a deep throat, he could not help reaching out, fingertips deep into Mo Ran’s hair, he slightly warmed up and said, "Enough, enough."

Mo Ran did not intend to listen to him this time.

Chu Wanning was a very strong person, even in bed. So if he said "Enough", in fact, it is far from enough.

When they returned to seclusion for the first few times, Mo Ran believed in his evil. As a result, Chu Wanning tore himself apart badly. Afterwards, Mo Ran stared at the bloodstained sheets for a long time.

Since then, he has learned to regard Chu Wanning's "enough" as a byword.

Instead of paying attention to him, Mo Ran reached out and clasped Chu Wanning's other hand, trying to stop him, held it with him, and then ran his tongue all the way up, licking in the place of his desire, and then went down.

He paused, his black eyes moistened with lust: "Shizun, you have to sit forward a little more... It's hard for me to take care of you…”

He said it very euphemistically, but Chu Wanning still felt that his head was fuming.

Seeing that he was not moving, but there was no resistance, Mo Ran loosened his hand, held him to the edge of the chair, and knelt down to further open Chu Wanning's legs.

"... Ah!"

He licked past his hole. This stimulation was actually larger than the front, Chu Wanning could not help crying out, spine arching, neck thrown back, head resting on the back of the chair.

He could clearly feel Mo Ran on him licking, moistening and intruding.

It was not something that he could take comfortably, but there was a warm gush in his chest. The warmth of being accepted, loved and pitied through every inch made him feel as if he were soaked in the warmest spring in the world.

When embraced by Mo Ran, Chu Wanning felt his legs were sore and numb because of excessive stimulation. They swapped places and Mo Ran sat in his chair. His cock was now fully erect and his angry stem was big in size.

Mo Ran held Chu Wanning's waist in one hand while his other hand kept opening his entrance. When Chu Wanning frowned and said "enough" for the ninth time that night, he could not help laughing and kissing WanNing’s temple.

"Good..."

Even if the lubrication was more than abundant, it still hurt to be pushed into by such a large and hard sex organ.

Chu Wanning frowned and his back trembled slightly. He could clearly feel the burning desire buried in his body inch by inch.

"... Ah..."

When they fit perfectly, they both murmured.

"Shizun, does it hurt?"

"... Would you like to try it instead?

Mo Ran did not speak anymore, and he began to move gently. No matter how uncontrollable his excitement may be, this young man was totally different from Taxian-Jun at the beginning of his love. He was very patient, but his handsome face was more and more affected by the restraint of his desire.

His cock pulsated slightly in the soft and hot body of Chu Wanning as he was sucked and wrapped in the tight walls. This feeling made him crazy. He had to exert his utmost efforts to restrain himself from immediately pushing the person in his arms up to the top and making merry wild.

His chest was waving, his black eyes were like rubbed gemstones with brilliant luster, his lust and enthusiasm burned him, sweat flowed down his naked skin, and the room was full of lust.

He gasped, breathing more and more quickly.

That little scratch was almost a scratch across his boots, although every time he entered it, he reached the sensitive point of his familiar Chu Wanning, and the head of his cock was constantly crowding.

"Ah... Ah..."

Chu Wanning tried hard to suppress his sounds, but the gasps overflowed low, with a very slight voice, but hoarse and sexy.

Mo Ran was fascinated to find his lips, the wet lips were in touch with the hunger and thirst to invade and suck, while the frequency of thrusting under the side was becoming more and more urgent.

Chu Wanning sat on his lap and was almost crushed by his shallow thrusts. Mo Ran was very gentle, but this gentleness was like a cruel torment to him. Mo Ran knew him too well. He was constantly pushing against the most crisp position. It was turbulent but not violent. It seemed that there was an itchy place where his fingers kept skimming around and making circles like feathers, but it just kept the itchy climbing up without pleasure.

He suffered terribly. In such a tormenting situation, he gave a vague low sound and moan in his throat, almost like a kind of begging.

He could feel the heat behind him and the humidity of the junction, which made him blush more and more. He wrapped him wetly and sucked him in the back.

Chu Wanning preferred not to think further.

Fortunately, Mo Ran did not want to be like Taxian-Jun. He always liked to listen to his moans but didn’t lose control in bed, or he did, but not so subtly.

Mo Ran apparently also felt Chu Wanning's gradual adaptation. His pulling strength slowly became fierce. His hot cock was poking from bottom to top. His hands were coiled and wiped around Chu's buttocks. He gazed at his lover in his chair and his eyes looked wet and moist.

"Shizun, does it feel good?

"..."

Naturally, the answer didn’t come, but Mo Ran could feel Chu Wanning's state from his reaction, his small groans and gasps.

As he became more and more excited and vigorous, their love gradually became out of control and delirious, from the initial tender and lingering, gradually evolved into sweaty and intense sexual intercourse.

The chair creaked unsteadily beneath him, and the wet and sticky sound of the water when it collided at the junction. In the increasingly fierce manipulation, Chu Wanning could not bear it. His waist and limbs were soft, his body was close to Mo Ran’s chest, his head shook slightly, his hair hung over his ribbon, and he gasped: "Slow, slow..."

But at this time, the young man was addicted to it, and could no longer be as obedient.

This fierce thrusting lasted for a long time, until Chu Wanning was so directly manipulated by his fanatical and infatuated actions that he released spasmodically, and the semen was all in his burning stomach.

At that time, Mo Ran looked up at the man sitting on his legs. The silk ribbon had skewed in the fierce intercourse, revealing a moist Phoenix with a tiny closed eye.

Mo Ran seemed to be turned on by this, and suddenly, although he was still immersed in the afterglow of the orgasm, he held him to stand up. Because of the change of posture, his cock suddenly poked into the depths of the hole, which overly stimulated Chu Wanning, to moan out: "Ah..."

"Shizun, WanNing... Baobei..." He hugged him, kissed him, and they fell down together on the bed. In the process, Mo Ran’s dick slipped out of Chu Wanning's moist and lustful entrance.

Chu Wanning's eyes were almost empty. The man's perception of stimulation was greater when he release. He could feel himself shrinking and longing shamelessly behind him. Because of the sudden slip of the sexual organ, he gasped heavily, raised his trembling hand and pulled away the half-loose silk belt.

Those slightly picky and red eyes, were too wet to see Mo Ran’s look.

Mo Ran cursed lowly. He raised the man's legs on the bed to press his hot and hard sex against Chu Wanning’s entrance, just pushed forward, entered a front end, and heard the pain and pleasure of the person under him moaning.

As he could no longer bear it, he whispered "I'm sorry" and supported Chu Wanning waist. The whole length was fiercely and enthusiastically thrusted inside.

The next mating was almost wild.

In the depth of infatuation, there was no difference between Taxian-Jun and Grandmaster Mo. They were not very sensible. They were addicted to the twitching of the hot tightness. They were eager to hear more of Chu Wanning’s vague and broken groans and gasps. Two solid and symmetrical bodies on the bed were entangled in the blazing heat. Mo Ran separated Chu Wanning’s legs very wide, his ass was still, and his cock went deep instantly. The ground turned upside down.

"Ah... Ah..."

Everything wa chaotic, the dense thrust, the storm-like intercourse. It made Chu Wanning feel like a soul floating in the river, which can not be grasped, and could not be controlled.

The only real thing was the face of the young man in front of him who was obsessed with love.

Before Mo Ran came, he was extraordinarily fierce and almost crazy pumping inside, and the last few ruthless and hot thrusts, almost to squeeze the hole to its limits, followed by a large powerful stream of semen in Chu Wanning's body without ending.

His toes trembled and his eyes almost lost focus.

"How are you?"

It was a long time before Mo Ran recovered from his excitement. He kissed Chu Wanning's sweaty face, lips, and nose.

"Did it hurt?"

"..."

"Did you like it?"

He looked at the sincere and gentle face of the young man, the man he had once lost, the man who had fallen into hell for him, the man who had been so cold at his side.

Now he was so vividly entwined in his pillow.

In front of his eyes.

Beside him.

Within his body.

He abruptly closed his eyes, and for some reason, a sour taste appeared in his throat, but the sweetness in his heart instead broke through the soil. The sweetness and the sour taste merged together, causing his throat to sound somewhat hoarse.

Chu Wanning was not a good talker, but he was also a very thin-skinned person.

Don't expect him to answer any questions honestly on the bed, so Mo Ran obviously won't get an answer to his stupid questions this time either.

But he would get something else.

Better.

Chu Wanning raised his head slightly. There was still a strand of sweaty black hair scattered on his forehead, and his beautiful eyes were fixed on the young man's face. Then he leaned over and kissed the young man's well-shaped lips.

He placed his hand on Mo Ran's chest, where there was still a scar.

They both had a scar on their hearts.

But it was all over.

The scar was still there, but it would no longer hurt.

"... I love you."

Chu Wanning said in a low voice. Then, as if to prevent Mo Ran from seeing his embarrassment and blush, he pulled him down and kissed him again.

This night, as before, they did it more than once. Mo Ran’s strength that had been impregnated by the power of the devil seemed better than before, although he was already somewhat unreasonably good in the past.

The bed creaked as they entangled passionately in the Valley of NanPing. Chu Wanning turned over and knelt on the bed. Mo Ran sat behind him and covered his mouth. Then pushed him back like a beast matting. In their fierce rhythm, the semen left in Chu Wanning's body was foamed and slipped slightly between his legs.

"WanNing..." During the feverish sexual intercourse, the almost absent minded Chu Wanning laid on the bed. He had strands of black hair in front of his eyes, and he could vaguely hear Mo Ran behind him calling out to him, full of love, desire, infatuation, and dependence.

He wanted to reply, but his voice was a little hoarse from the many times he had cried out during the night. He could not make too many sounds.

Just like that, Chu Wanning was pressed down on the bed. After a while, he saw Mo Ran's hand reach over and cover the back of his own hand.

He could Mo Ran’s breathes, and the most sexy and beautiful voice in the world, right next to his ear. He frowned, and clearly perceived that his lover was groaning and gasping, and that the semen was once again shot into his body, like an electric fire.

He heard Mo Ran press himself to his ear, solemnly, as the young man had so often said in the past two years, as if he were about to say it for the rest of his life.

No, not as if.

It's for sure.

Mo Ran said, "WanNing, I love you."

I love you.

From dawn to dusk.

Every day.

All his life.

For a Lifetime.

As for the Mid-Autumn Festival...

Although Chu Wanning's culinary skills were not good, his taste sense was not bad.

After studying for a long time and not being able to cook for a long time and seeing how Mo Ran was already used to marinate the fish meat without any problems, three days before the Mid-Autumn Festival, Chu Wanning finally gave up on the idea.

Thus, the first scene appeared.

Tens of monsters cultivated from plants and vegetation surrounded Chu Wanning. Some of them were in charge of chopping firewood, lighting fires, chopping vegetables, and scooping up food from the wok.

Chu Wanning looked at the bubbling broth in the pot. Its color, luster and fragrance were both very alluring. He could not help but say to the two little demons who were cooking, "Thank you for your help."

"No need to thank me. We volunteered. Immortal Deity, Deity Wood, has summoned us to help out. We can't be happier yet."

Chu Wanning looked outside and saw Mo Ran sitting quietly at the end of the yard, chopping a pile of firewood. He did not have anyone to help him, sweat was dripping down his face, his clothes could not cover his tight chest and slim waist.

Very good, a beauty.

It was a pity that Chu Wanning did not care for the fairer sex.

Although it was indeed unfair for him to secretly ask the demons to help him cook the dishes, he had no choice but for Mo Ran every night to torment them endlessly …

As he thought of this, he closed the kitchen door tightly and cast a barrier to prevent Mo Ran from burning in. After doing all of this, he turned around and returned to the place where he had once been absorbed by the plants. He then picked up the recipe that he had written down on the counter —

"Next, we need a squirrel mandarin fish."

The voice of the Immortal Elder of the Beitang Clan came out from the kitchen. Occasionally, one could hear the strange mumbling of some lesser demons.

"Who catches fish?"

The smoke from the smoke rose in the air. It was sunset and dusk. The fragrance of tea, rice, oil and salt filled the air.

In this sort of serenity and warmth, that year's cold rain and snow in the deep winter of South Peak Mountain would eventually fade from his memories. Perhaps one day, the pain he had experienced would become a faint shadow, just like the ink stains on his clothes. Once or twice, it might not be clean, but as time passed, the shadow would eventually become a gentle and shallow mark.

Every year in the future, regardless of whether it was spring, summer, autumn or winter, they would be in the best world.

Ch. 313 Only Possibility 1

— — This was a modern eg.

I thought I was playing a love game with multiple characters to play, but this game can only play one ending.

— — From One Failed Task Report by Xue Meng

Xue Meng was eating the penultimate coconut milk red bean cake on his plate.

He had to be careful. He used a plastic spoon to cut along the edge of the red bean cake. He wanted to preserve the integrity of the cake as much as possible,

Unfortunately, half of it had been tainted by Mango Mousse, who was sitting in the same plate.

He hated Mango as much as he hated his job with the Cultivation Protection Department.

Unfortunately, he had no choice but to do it. This was the twenty-first century, and the Taoist father's foolish son had to come out to work to support himself.

"Mission report, Mr. Xue." A dry, mechanical female voice came from the headset.

Xue Meng rolled his eyes. Ever since the Bureau of Temporal Protection called in a new bureau chief with the surname 'Jiang', reporting on the mission had become something that he had to do every day.

"Cough, I arrived at the office at 8: 20 today. I was not late, so I packed a plate of raw fried meat for Shizun Li this morning.

I suggest that you all have a taste when you're free. The key is that the old grandpa who is selling fried food looks kind and praises people, and the aunt who is 60 years old should not call him a coquettish little girl. After eating the raw fried food, I started to seal the -- "

This was the reason why Xue Meng hated his job.

Yes, seal.

This was a long story, and the blame lay with his father. Xue Meng's father, Xue Zhengyong, was the Director of the International Cultivation Bureau. As the Director's only son, Xue Meng had lived his entire life and no one dared to offend him.

The food they ate was specially prepared by the Cultivation Bureau. Even the urine was made from the deep-sea mackerel, ensuring that it would be slippery and not give rise to a prickly heat. Those Bong Baoshi and Hua King's diapers were nothing to the eyes of their parents.

For such a Young Master of the cultivation world, his days were naturally smooth sailing. After graduation, he directly entered the Cultivation World's Protection Bureau to work. On the first day of work, he was personally received by the Director.

At that time, the bureau chief's name was Nangong Liu. He was a chubby middle-aged man who could sweat cold sweat when climbing two floors up.

Nangong Liu cordially held Comrade Little Xue's hand and shook his pork cheeks as he greeted, "Aiya, Xue Meng, right? "He really looks like your father. It's clear from one look that she's a real son. She's pretty!"

Xue Meng said, "Uncle, thank you for your praise."

Nangong Liu chuckled. "Your father and I are old acquaintances, so let's not talk about other things. Come, let Uncle explain the work that you need to do first."

Student Xue Meng, who had just graduated, was still full of ambition. He was determined to help build a harmonious new cultivation world by contributing his own strength. Thus, he straightforwardly said, "Just say it, I will complete the task you gave me."

Look, he didn't even have a second generation cultivation. What a good child!

Bureau Chief Nan Gong looked at him deeply before retracting his smile and said solemnly, "Little Xue, the organization has considered that you are from a cultivator family and have outstanding conditions. So, even though you're Director Xue's favorite, we've decided to give you the most difficult and difficult job. "

Hearing this, Xue Meng immediately became spirited. "Ever since I was young, I have liked all sorts of adventurous things. "In the past, everyone had always obstructed my dad's face, but I was not allowed to do this, nor was I allowed to touch that." His eyes were shining. "I'm finally out of it."

Bureau Chief Nangong patted his shoulder and gave him a thumbs up, "Ambitious."

Xue Meng asked, "Then what do I want to do?"

"Cough, cough." Nangong Liu cleared his throat, "Overall, this is a high difficulty job that no one on the board is qualified to do. It requires superior patience, accurate judgment, and decisiveness on the part of the person in charge. Because every decision you make will control hundreds of thousands of lives — there will be a large number of lives that will be saved because of you, but there will also be many lives that will bleed because of you. "

His expression was solemn and his eyes were blazing, as if a holy light was slowly rising behind him.

"It's a hard job on the front lines. When you first came to work in the Bureau of Space and Time, your father urged me to find you a comfortable and safe position, but after looking at your resume, I felt that you were a good and ambitious kid. I couldn't let down the hot-blooded young people, so after careful consideration, I gave you this job. "

As he spoke, the bureau chief extended a hand and poked Xue Meng's chest.

"You have to live up to those ten million lives."

Xue Meng's eyes filled with tears, filled with reverence. "Bureau Chief, thank you for ignoring my father's hindrance and giving me such a heavy responsibility! I will work hard and not disappoint you! "

Bureau chief Nangong Liu gave him a look of praise and encouraged, "Do your job well!" After he left, he hid his skills and reputation.

That day, when Little Xue returned home, he was unable to control his excitement. He hid it from his parents and secretly ordered a batch of goods from the Peach Blossom Network's Night Cat Cultivator Merchant Shop. They were as follows:

Violent DPS Broken Skin Fried Chicken (manufactured by Frigid Scale Pharmacy): Eating it will give you ten times the mana required for an hour. You cannot use it in battle.

Ergou Life Continuing Pill (manufactured by Yuheng Pharmaceutical Factory): If you die, it will be useless to eat more.

Liao Tou Wan (No Sorrowful Monastery): Can let your head shine, in the dark to guide your companions.

Infinite Baiyuan Pill (produced by Taxian-Jun Pharmaceutical Factory): To remove the chaotic state.

Ancestral thousand year jujube pill (Greed Pharmaceutical Factory): Only for enemy use.

Just like that, little friend Xue Meng made perfect preparations. He even dreamt of teleporting into the Second World Cultivation War, bravely sacrificing his life in order to resist the black magic that came sweeping in from the European battlefield. With a sharp "Avadaso's life!", he fell into a streak of mysterious green light...

But the next day, when Xue Meng hesitantly arrived at the office, he was stupefied.

"This is … My job?! "

The sweet long-legged big-chested secretary's sister poured him a cup of fragrant tea and said gently, "Yes, Mr. Xue. This is your job."

Xue Meng went to his desk in disbelief. Looking at the mountain of reports on the cultivation world's projects, his mouth gradually formed an "O" shape.

Trembling, he reached for the uppermost stack of papers and roughly looked at it. A row of bright red headlines entered his eyes, the title was very convoluted and ordinary people could not understand it: "The method to deal with the illegal use of the Lanyi Mortal Pig Farm's Ling-Yi Pig Feed: Lonely Moon Night Pig Feed".

What could he do?

Xue Meng couldn't help but feel dizzy.

But he gritted his teeth and continued to look.

Recently, the medical supervision team received a report that a cultivator had illegally sold Gu Yue Ye's expired pig feed through an illegal channel to a mortal merchant, resulting in more than 8000 bags of expired feed to the market. Currently, there are already three pig farms with pigs that have consumed this feed.

Xue Meng, "..."

He turned another page.

The Livestock and Drug Administration Committee of the Cultivation World dealt with the matter by sending people to buy back all the contaminated pork and destroy it.

The Mortal Board of Cultivators handled the matter by supporting the decision and conducting an arrest and interrogation of the cultivators involved.

The Cultivators' Advocacy Committee's Disposition: I second the opinion and invite the program team of "News Simulcast" to carry out the follow-up public relations work.

Chairman's opinion on the Comprehensive Case Committee of the Cultivation Community Protection Bureau: (empty)

Confused, Xue Meng raised his head. He poked at the "empty" character with one hand and asked the smiling little sister beside him, "Why is there no one writing an opinion on this?"

The little sister smiled and patiently explained, "I was waiting for you to seal it."

"But I'm not …" He looked down at the report and read, "Chairman of the Comprehensive Case Committee of the Cultivation Protection Bureau.

But when he raised his head again and looked at the affectionate eyes of the big sister secretary, he could not help but hesitate and become confused. Am I? "

Little Sister magically took out a small brooch card from behind her. On it was impressively printed "Chairman of the Comprehensive Case Committee, Xue Meng." There was even a photo with a head that Xue Meng was most dissatisfied with.

He put it on for Xue Meng and smiled. "Now you are the honorable Chairman. Congratulations!"

He even handed over two seals. One of the seals was imprinted with a circle, while the other was imprinted with a cross.

"Agreed to close the case and deny it." The little sister smiled and said, "Please start working."

Xue Meng's mouth opened and closed again and again. He had a lot of things he wanted to say and a lot of curses he wanted to spit out, but in the end he swallowed his saliva and with difficulty asked, "Can I not choose?"

The elder sister smiled and said, "Of course you can. Then both of you cover them up."

"..." Xue Meng felt his anger dissipating. "If I don't choose either one of them, how will I deal with them in the end?"

"I'll leave it to the secretary of the bureau chief."

Xue Meng became even weaker. "Then what do I have to do?"

Little Sis kindly said, "Therefore, I personally recommend that you only seal it once."

Xue Meng, "… … … …"

And just like that, as the days went by, Xue Meng truly comprehended the art of speaking back then. This damned, damned job had made him live like a pile driver, looping or forking on different reports. This inded requires inhuman patience.

Of course, this patience is not just about facing boring work without having a reverse mentality. His greater patience was that he had to restrain himself every day in order to convince himself not to rush into Nangong Liu's office and strangle the Director's reproductive organs!

Although Bureau Chief Nangong had not lied to him, he had decided to leave thousands of lives behind.

Just look at these reports —

"Report on the Construction of the Exclusive Chicken Farm for Violent Dps Crispy Chicken"

"Report on the Formation of Huluwa Essence after the Establishment of the Republic of China". (http ://www.wuxiaworld.com/pwang.com/pwang.com/pwang.com/pwangwuxiang.com/pwangwuxiang.com/pwangwuxiang.com/pwangwuxiangwu)

"Report on the Acceptance of the Black Cat Chief Officer after the Establishment of the Country"

"Gu Yue Ye, Retired Sect Leader's application: I really want to live another 500 years"

"The Sphenoid Maid Research Group: An Advocate to Call Cultivators Carrying the Genes of the Maid to Donate Genetically Modified Human Beings"

Isn't it a matter of hundreds of millions of lives.

With a face full of anger, Xue Meng raised his small fork and slapped it over the《 Donation of Essences》. He felt a sense of righteousness that had saved countless lives, and he noted coldly: "No one wants to be shot in a cup and frozen. "Denied."

He admitted that he was venting his resentment, but he hoped that the Director would not tolerate such nonsense. It would be best if he could get him to go to the mortal world to kill demons and exorcise devils.

It was a pity that the director was as steady as a rock and didn't scold Chairman Xue. On the contrary, during a gathering, Xue Meng heard that Miss Ye Wangxi, the secretary of the bureau chief, had to work hard until the early hours of the morning because of these pranks.

"If you let your daughter-in-law work overtime, I'll resign tomorrow!"

Half a corridor away, the director's son, Nangong, could be heard thumping the table and stomping his feet.

With a guilty conscience, Xue Meng shrunk his neck back. After he sent himself into a daze, he decided that he would still have to seriously face these reports.

Just like this, several months passed. As his seal was being sealed faster and faster, he almost forgot about his original ambitions when he graduated. Nangong Liu had been suspended from his position and had lost his iron bowl of rice because he had accepted a bribe from a demon.

The new director was here.

Director Jiang Xi was swift and decisive as he took over any stand very quickly. Only for Xue Meng, it took him an hour to understand what it was used for.

Bureau Chief Jiang could not be blamed for this. It was because the package Nangong Liu had given Xue Meng was too frightening. He had taken apart the wrapping paper for a long time, layer after layer, before he finally realized what was inside.

In short, Xue Meng's position was practically useless. Even Little Li, who had been slacking off in the cafeteria while washing vegetables, had done more meaningful work than him.

Director Jiang could not tolerate such a position, so he decided to abolish the position of "Integrated Commissioner" and find some other work for Xue Meng.

He spent a week or so observing his ideas, and finally made a decision. The first scene appeared — —

"Mission report, Mr. Xue."

"Cough, I arrived at the office today at 8: 20, I wasn't late, so I packed a serving of raw fried food for Shizun Li in the morning." Cough, I arrived at the office today at 8: 20, I wasn't late, and I packed a serving of raw fried food for Shizun Li in the morning. After eating the raw fried food, I started to seal the seal... "

There was a sudden hiss of electricity from the headset.

Following that, Jiang Xi's channel was switched on and the cold voice disappeared. In its place was Director Jiang's voice, which was even more heartless than the voice.

"From today onwards, you do not need to seal it. "Rest early today and come to my office tomorrow. I have an important job for you." Jiang Xi paused for a moment before replying without any emotion, "Remember to bring me a serving of Shizun Li's fried meat and add vinegar."

Xue Meng, "… … … … …"

Ch. 314 Only Possibility 2

The next day, Xue Meng went to Bureau Chief Jiang's office. After listening to the details of the task, he came to realize something — he had been assigned a job similar to that of a pimp!

Xue Meng was very angry. "Why am I not sealing the report on the donation, but looking for a way out for the birth of a new life? You should either hand this over to Jiayuan or the Lilium Net, what are you looking for me for?! "

Director Jiang was eating raw fried buns one by one at an astonishing speed and with a beautiful appearance.

"I told you this for the third time, you are not trying to play a pimp, you are trying to light up the genetic engineering research team."

He finished the last bun, slowly wiped his lips with a handkerchief, and then raised his eyes. "Listen carefully, the abnormal movements of the demons in the past few hundred years have become more and more obvious. It hasn't been two centuries."

There would probably be another fierce battle between Humans and Devils. We need the most powerful combat power. "

"... To put it bluntly, you all are descendants that need special beauties to reproduce. " Xue Meng rolled his eyes.

Jiang Xi didn't mind. "Yes, that's right."

"But it's been a long time since the Unique Beauty Seat appeared. The only person with any leads was a guy called Mo Ran."

"That's right."

"You need that guy to give you a baby."

"Exactly."

The disdain on Xue Meng's face could be clearly seen. "But that guy is a gay."

Jiang Xi lightly added, "A purebred gay."

Xue Meng gnashed his teeth and said, "That's why you guys spent more than ten years developing a virtual game called Fate Jump — —"

"Jumper." Jiang Xi corrected him expressionlessly, "And strictly speaking, it cannot be called a game."

"I don't care if it's a jumping machine or a jumping machine!" Xue Meng finally couldn't help but roar. "In short, you want me to use that machine to simulate fate and find an opportunity to correct a gay man's sexual orientation in the life of Mo Ran.

Just like those characters who can file and read files, introduce him to girls who have long breasts and long thighs and let them have children — "

Jiang Xi interrupted him again. Mr. Director waved his finger and said, "It doesn't need to be as long as one's chest and thighs. It only needs to be the size of one's buttocks."

"..."

Xue Meng's earth-shattering roar came from the bureau chief's office, "Isn't this f * cking Grandma Wang's job?!"

"Calm down. The Destiny Jumper is only a simulation of various possibilities. To put it bluntly, it's a test version. " Jiang Xi took a sip of his tea. "The bureau will collect your test results and formulate a real practical plan."

"I refuse."

"Relax, young man." Bureau Chief Jiang ignored his rejection, "Just treat yourself as a test taker to develop a game."

"I said I refuse! Do you need to go to the otolaryngology department and test your hearing, sir? "

Unfortunately, Director was very stubborn, so in the end, Xue Meng still had to accept this task. Of course, Bureau Chief Jiang was not so unreasonable. He kindly arranged a game assistant for Xue Meng, a talking little paper dragon.

"Assistants, staff officers, guides, toys, summoned beasts, Kobolds." Jiang Xi leisurely said as he held the tea cup, "Call me whatever you want." It's yours now. We'll enter the simulation game together and give you advice. "

With that, he waved his hand, ignoring Xue Meng's ruckus, "Let's begin, new graduates."

"What did you call me?"

Bureau chief Jiang no longer planned to care about him.

With a wave of the director's hand, the new graduates were forced into the operation room to put on a series of equipment and begin his mission.

After a moment of spinning, Xue Meng arrived at the first world.

… …. He had seen people who didn't allow young people to play games, but he had never seen anyone who forced young people to play games.

However, since Jiang Xi had said that this was a mission, he might as well finish it as soon as possible.

Xue Meng turned his head around with a darkened face. He discovered that the little paper dragon was lying on his shoulder, its short dragon claws clutching a quest guide. As it read, it exclaimed, "Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh ~"

"Shut up." "Are you a goose?"

"Of course I'm not! I'm the dragon of the candle that split the world and knows everything!" As the little paper dragon said this, it swung its tail at Xue Meng's face. "This way."

Xue Meng looked in the direction it was pointing. It was a small, dilapidated, dark alley with all kinds of advertisements of psoriasis pasted on the outside. On the ground, there was an unknown fluid, like a mixture of leaking garbage bags and spilled spittoons.

Xue Meng firmly lifted his foot and walked in the opposite direction.

"Hey hey, where are you going?"

"Let's go on a cleaner path."

The little paper dragon was angry. "Do you think I want to choose this path?" As it spoke, it smacked the mission book against Xue Meng's nose, "Look for yourself! It says, "Walk two hundred meters into this alley and find a noodle shop. Then you will see Mo Ran, who is currently in primary school!"

Xue Meng took the mission guide and looked at it doubtfully. It seemed to be true.

With an ashen face, he returned the guide to Xiao Long, gritted his teeth, and stepped into the darkness.

Although he felt like he was going crazy, he followed the directions and walked out of the alley. He turned left, and the road gradually became spacious and clean.

"Yes!" Right in front! That 'again at the noodle shop'. " Xiao Long was excitedly dancing and waving his hands. Xue Meng could not help but feel glad that due to the magic, the people in this virtual world could not see them. Otherwise, it would be very embarrassing.

Soon they found Mo Ran among the diners. He had a tattered school bag on his back, and he was wearing a pair of shoddy sneakers. His dark, greasy hair looked unwashed for days, and his head hung limply in front of his eyes.

Although Xue Meng was still quite far away from him, he was almost certain that Mo Ran had a very rancid smell. This was because there were no customers willing to sit in the seats around him.

"What a well-nourished little dirty dog." Xue Meng stroked his chin as he commented.

"He'll be very handsome when he grows up." The dragon reminded him.

"Then why are we looking for Mo Ran, who is currently in primary school?" Xue Meng said, "Just find the adult handsome him and stuff a 'Yin-Yang Fusion Powder' into his mouth. Then catch a girl and throw it into the dark room, wouldn't that be enough?"

The small paper dragon looked at him with disdain, "Big brother, we are from the Cultivation Bureau, not the Yi-Hong Courtyard."

"..."

"Besides, the Cultivation Bureau has ordered to prohibit this kind of illegal drug use. You must make Mo Ran willingly fall in love with a girl and marry his and have children. "Then cultivating relationships since young must be the best."

While saying this, Xiaolong tried to look for supporting evidence in the quest guide, but what was even worse was that he actually found it.

"Haha, I told you that I, myself, am the dragon of candles who can do anything in the world! Look, there really is a recommended target! "

"... Is the one that Jiang Xi stuffed in front of you really not a cheating machine? "

Even though he said this, Xue Meng still drew the guide back with a look of disgust. He smoothed the crumpled paper out of the little dragon's hand and squinted under the dim light of the street lamp.

Hell, it really did list a dozen female targets for the current Mo Ran.

"Target 1: Wang Xiaomi. How to make friends: Please cast a spell to let the noodle restaurant in the sudden rabies, to bite the noodle burning. Wang Xiaomi is the daughter of the owner of the car. He is one year younger than Mo Fen, and will be in the third grade of primary school. They will meet on the car and become childhood friends. "

Xue Meng had a face full of anger, "This is f * cking okay?" He continued to look at the next guide.

"Target 2: Li Da Mi.

"This won't do." Xue Meng, who had been sealing the chicken farm for a long time, actually had some pity for animals. His conscience made him use the veto, but his curiosity still drove him to read on, "After Wangcai dies, the shop owner's daughter will come out to caress his corpse and cry. His crying will attract his little friend, Li Daimi, and Mo Ran will meet the two girls tonight."

"Then why can't you directly take over the daughter of the noodle store's owner?"

Hearing Xue Meng's mutterings, the little paper dragon shook his face with its tail, then pointed it forward with the tip of its tail. He saw the daughter of the noodle store owner was at least three times as big as Mo Ran, and his eyes were narrowed into slits.

Xue Meng, "... "I understand."

If it was the daughter of the noodle store owner, he would probably push Mo Ran into the abyss of a dead gay man even more thoroughly.

Alright, although work is not pleasing to the eye, but since I have taken on this job, I have to settle the matter properly. This is the good leader of the people, the good cultivator of the country.

Therefore, Little Xue constantly complained, but still earnestly looked through the ten female targets that could be triggered.

The book editor was probably an idiot who was bored to death. He wrote down the hobbies and interests of the ladies on the book, and even included a two-inch headshot of each of them.

With his straight male aesthetic, Xue Meng fell in love with a little girl called "Zhao Wu Mi".

"... "Oh, this name sounds like it has a slim chance of winning." The little paper dragon sighed.

"What do you know? She's cute, she'll definitely be a beauty in the future." "If I choose her, I definitely won't be able to bend the knee."

"That's what you said."

As a result, a person and a dragon began to carefully follow the guide.

"In order to trigger the 'Zhao Wumi's Meeting Event', you have to wait until Mo Ran finished his noodles, and then walk two blocks forward before starting the rain." "This way, Mo Ran will run under the nearest roof to shelter from the rain without an umbrella. At this time, he will hear the cries of a little girl coming from the back street."

"It sounds like a ghost story."

"Nonsense, this is clearly a story of a hero saving a beauty." "Look, the book said that Mo Fen would go over to check on the situation after hearing the crying sound. He found out that little friend Zhao Wuyi was being bullied by a group of domineering girls. Mo Fen helped out on the way, and they got to know each other."

Xue Meng went to make sure that Zhao Wumian's little friend was surrounded by a group of hooligans, and everything went smoothly. The senior girl who looked the most boisterous in the female group of "Beauty Milk" picked up a brick and smashed it into Mo Ran's head.

The heroic youth lit up the ink and threw himself onto the street.

Xue Meng, "..."

Little Candle Dragon: "..."

Xue Meng said, "What about the special beauties' seats? Just this combat strength? tease me?! "

Little Candle Dragon: "Probably too young to be activated..."

Amidst the sounds of thunder and lightning, the ink was burning as it fell into the rain, and blood was flowing out of his forehead. When the female overlord of the campus saw this, aiya, my mother, it caused someone's death! He hurriedly led his lackeys to scatter, but the most extreme one was still Student Zhao Wuxi. He trembled as he got up from the ground, and upon seeing the torrential rain of ink-burnt corpses, he was scared out of his wits. He actually left his savior with a scream and left in the dust.

Its running speed was so fast that it left people stupefied. Xue Meng couldn't figure out how the "big" girl group had caught up to her. Even a rabbit wouldn't be able to reach this speed.

Xue Meng and Xiao Long squatted beside the unconscious Mo Ran and looked at each other.

"What do we do now? Save him? "

"But we can't do it directly to the people in this world …"

Xue Meng said in shock, "Then won't he bleed to death like this?"

"Aiya, it's a game simulator anyways. It's not like it's a real space-time travel. If I die, I die." Xiao Long spoke in a muffled voice, "Victory and defeat are commonplace in war. Young Hero, please start over again."

Although what he said was correct, Xue Meng was still very angry. He raised the manual, and his anger was evident on every single one of his eyelashes, along with the light blue veins. "This book is a swindler, right? We all did it according to the book, how could there be any mistakes? "

Xiao Long hesitated for a moment, but still pointed his sharp dragon claw at a small line of words behind the cover of the guide:

The guidance provided in this book is derived from the Big Stick Fate Calculating Algorithm, which is unstable and responsible in the event of an accident.

Xue Meng paused for a few seconds before roaring at the sky, "Jiang Xi, f * ck you!"

Master Jiang Xi was one of the agents. Since the Fate Jumper was a full simulation of reality, they also needed to collect data on all sorts of unexpected situations.

The most important thing at the moment was to protect the Mo Ran, bleeding little brain.

Xue Meng and Xiaolong thought of many ways to get the kind-hearted people to notice that in this dark corner, there was a little friend who needed warm care.

They overturned garbage cans to block the pedestrians' path, and cast spells for the wildcats to hold the pedestrians' pants in their jaws. But the only things that came to mind were the curses of passers-by about garbage cans and mental cats. It was late at night, and people were hurrying home, and no one would pay attention to the unremarkable trails.

"Ning, wait here."

Suddenly, a mother and son came around the corner. The mother was young and beautiful, wrapped in a long coat of camel-colored cashmere, and the son had come only to his knees, carrying a white umbrella with a picture of a big-headed cat on it. The wind had picked up, and the child seemed to be a bit scared. He shrunk his fair and delicate face into his cashmere scarf, revealing only a small half of his face.

"Mom is going to take care of some work on the other side. You just stand here and don't run around. I'll be right back. "

The child nodded quietly and obediently, and the fur cap that covered his head slid down over half his eyes.

"Good, good, good! This little brat! Then, cast another spell to get the wild cat to go out and peck at his pants leg! " The little dragon was extremely excited.

Xue Meng did not need to say it a second time. This time, it went even more smoothly than before. The child quickly noticed this place and was led over by the wild cat.

When he looked down in shock at Mo Ran on the ground, he walked forward and called out: "... "Hey, are you okay?" At the same time, the nearby Xue Meng and Xiao Long (of course, no one else could see them) couldn't help but let out a long sigh.

"Thank God for salvation."

"There is true love in this world."

The two of them wiped the sweat off their foreheads. While Xue Meng watched the boy anxiously run across the street to find his mother, he took out his shitty little guidebook and said, "I'd like to see how the follow-up to Zhao Wu Mi's incident goes."

The guide automatically flipped through several pages, as if it understood his words. Finally, it stopped at one of the pages at the back.

The pages glowed with a golden light, and the scene around them twisted and changed. By the time it was all over, twenty years had passed.

Beside him, little Candle Dragon was yelling at him, "Aoooooo

The little Candle Dragon furiously puffed up his cheeks for a long time, and finally sighed: "You're right, this should be the change we made in this simulation. "Let's go and see the outcome."

As they walked forward, they discovered that the old road from twenty years ago was still the same. Apart from the surrounding buildings being even more dilapidated, there were no major changes.

However, along the way, every store was painted with a large "Remove" character in red. There was not many people along the way, making the place seem very desolate.

"We're going to flatten it out here next month." Suddenly, Xue Meng heard a slow and gentle male voice coming from the narrow alley to his left. With a smile, he said, "I'm a bit reluctant."

"Me too." The other man's voice was clear and light. "After all, this is a place that we used to come from."

"Haha, more importantly, I met you here."

That light voice laughed. "At that time, your entire body was covered with mud, and you still have the nerve to say it."

The following sounds gradually died down, and in the end, only the wet, lingering sound of kissing and the heavy breathing of the men could be heard from the corner of the room.

"..." Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon stared dumbfoundedly at the two handsome and tall men that were embracing and kissing on the small path. Even after twenty years, their childish faces could still be vaguely seen.

"So …" The dragon trembled.

"Mo Ran Or..." Xue Meng swallowed his saliva and answered with difficulty.

"Becoming a damn gay!" A man and a dragon said at the same time. They then turned their heads to look at each other and cried out miserably.

"It was all thanks to us!"

The little Candle Dragon was unwilling, and shouted: "The main blame is on you! Who told you to cast a spell for a wild cat to guide the way for this' Wan Ning '! "

Xue Meng did not expect it to shirk its responsibilities and immediately became angry, "Blame me?! It was you who created the torrential rain, causing Inky Flames' eyes to be glued to his head while he was fighting, and only his head was hit by a brick! "

"Blame you! It was you who picked Zhao Wumeng's guide line. Look, what a wise choice you made! "

"Blame you! It was you who did not point out the small words on the back of this guide to me. You are just a selfish, selfish little dragon! "

"Blame you! You are blind! "

"Blame you! "You're too annoying!"

"Blame you! Blame you! Blame you! "

The two staff members of the Bureau of Space and Time were quarreling. Mo Ran and Chu Wanning had walked out from the shadows, their fingers interlocked as they recalled the past twenty years they had known each other and walked through this old street that was about to be demolished …

Looking at their backs, Xue Meng pressed down on Xiao Long's head and hysterically roared, "It's all your fault!"

However, no matter how noisy it was, the mission had to continue.

Since one guide wasn't enough, then he would think of another. There were many girls in the world, and there was always a girl who could introduce Mo Ran to marriage and give birth to a child.

Come on! How could there be only one ending to raising a game!?

The two staff members were filled with rage and ambition. After encouraging themselves, they changed the route of the Destiny Jumper and arrived at another branch of the game.

"It's not that damnable path this time …"

After Xue Meng steadied himself in this world, he looked around.

"We seem to have been sent to the gymnasium of a school …"

Ch. 315 Only Possibility 3

The setting sun spread a caramel glow on the brightly lit windows of the stadium, and the red light outside was like a brocade.

Xue Meng and Xiao Long walked in a circle around the huge building. At this time, there were not many people in the stadium. The training had already ended. Only the incandescent light in the equipment room was still lit.

The man and the dragon looked at each other and walked towards the equipment room.

They saw Mo Ran from junior high school. It was probably because of the fact that he was in the first year of high school, and the poor family didn't provide him with enough nutrition. So naturally, the child was still not as tall as he was. He didn't differ much from the image he saw in the noodle shop,

Inky's small body was wrapped in a sack of school uniform, his dirty black hair hanging down to his cheeks, and his ghostly, unremarkable little head.

The little ghost head, Mo Ran, had his back to them as he sat cross-legged on the ground, tidying up the badminton balls that his classmates had used up.

"Why is he alone?" "The others won't help?"

Xiao Long flipped through the guide, and frowned: "Well, they just played a badminton match with the class this afternoon, and they lost miserably …" The other team members all felt that Inkfire had dragged them down.

"That's why we left him here to organize everyone …"

After he finished reciting, he couldn't help but be speechless. "Wow, this is too tragic, isn't it?"

As a favored son of heaven, Xue Meng had never experienced this kind of feeling as a backer, so he was first at a loss. After a long time, he slowly opened his eyes and finally reacted.

"Holy sh * t!" He said angrily, "What nonsense! You lost the match and you're looking for trouble with a single person? Are these people's heads caught by the door?! "

"I admire your grandeur, Little Xue Meng." "But our current task seems to be to open the main line of the female lead's encounter with the Wookiee Mo Ran?"

"I admire your ruthlessness, quadrupeds." Xue Meng rolled his eyes. He still went closer to Xiaolong to study the strategy for this battle.

On this game node, there were a total of three female characters who could choose to be activated.

"One is Yao Lan, a female senior who is two years older than Mo Ran."

"Then it's almost graduation." The little Candle Dragon shook his head, "No, there's too much instability."

"You're right." Xue Meng narrowed his eyes and looked at the next person, "The second is called Rong Yan, this … F * ck? This is the head of the Education Bureau? "

The little Candle Dragon was stunned. "Mo Ran can actually attack the head of the Education Bureau?"

"She's 36! He was only 13 years old! This isn't f * * king sister-in-law relationship, this is aunt's nephew love! "

Amidst their shouts, a large red cross suddenly appeared on the guide, followed by a row of small, awkward, and shy words:

"Sorry, I made a mistake. This can't be used as a guide."

Little Candle Dragon: "…"

Xue Meng: "So this guide really isn't artificial intelligence, but artificial intelligence?"

The guide shyly and hurriedly wiped away all the words related to Rong Yan. Because he wiped them too quickly, he even accidentally wiped off half of Yao Lan's photo.

"There's only one left." Xue Meng turned the page. "This, Luo Jian."

According to the guide, Luo Jian was the flower that ignited their class. He was favored by the boys, and he had a gentle personality and high moral character. He was never beautiful, but he had a kind heart.

"Alright, alright, alright. Then this is it." "If you keep praising me, I'll be tempted. Perfect wife."

"That's for you." "There are some men with unique tastes who like perverted and hot ladies. They can't even reach 10 cm tall and 1 cm short. Fiery Flames, red lips, small leather whips, sunglasses, and military cap, they don't even slap each other when they're angry, they only slap each other on the left or right."

Xue Meng evaluated, "You're probably talking about the S (ke) M Club's advanced VIP member."

They didn't know if Mo Ran was such a VIP.

But they happily reached a consensus on the idea that Luo was more likely to win than Yao Lan.

The guide began.

"Try to keep Mo Ran in the equipment room until six o'clock in the evening, when the self-study begins." "And ensure that Mo Ran's image at that time was very miserable."

"What else?"

Xue Meng carefully read the guide three or four times. "No more."

"That's it?" Xiao Long asked in surprise.

"That's it." Xue Meng closed the book.

The dragon looked at the clock on the wall. "It's almost five o'clock. We'll only drag him out for an hour."

The two of them rolled up their sleeves and did as they were told. Stopping them would not be easy. They watched Mo Ran, cast a spell as it finally settled the racquet on the rack, which began to shake and then toppled with an irrational anti-human movement.

The noise was mixed and the ping-pong volleyball fell to the floor.

Mo Ran: "..."

Looking at the little fellow's black eyes that involuntarily widened, the look in them when the dogs were injured. Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon couldn't help but feel a strong sense of guilt.

However, they still firmly believed that what they did wasn't wrong.

Mo Ran began to hastily rearrange the sports equipment on the floor — his hands and feet were very agile, and it didn't take long for him to almost put all of those items back into their original positions, even though he was tired to the point of perspiration, his moist lips were slightly opened and closed, and he was even panting a little.

But he had to admit that he truly had talent in organizing things.

Xue Meng was stupefied as he watched Liu Ming use his speed to return the last ball back into the ball cup and stuffed it into the corner. The cleaning process only took fifteen minutes.

"..." Xue Meng swallowed his saliva and nudged Xiao Long with his arm. "Come again."

As a result, Mo Ran helplessly watched as the frame seemed to have been hit by evil and fell down a second time.

"..."

Next was the third time, the fourth time …

They watched as Ink Flare's tired, weak figure chased the ball across the field, sweating, his eyes blank and helpless, but still carefully arranged the ball again and again, checking to see if the four feet of the rack were secure, and carefully putting the equipment back in place.

However, the ball rack still collapsed at the last moment.

In the end, Mo Ran stood blankly in front of the shelf. His eyes were a bit wet and wronged — he probably thought of this as a high class joke set up for him by some classmate to tease him.

He was carrying a basketball, and his small, lonely figure looked miserable and helpless.

Xue Meng's conscience had already been destroyed to the extreme. He could not take it anymore. "We look like villains."

The little Candle Dragon covered his green eyes with his fat dragon claws and shouted, "No! "Only you are a bad guy, I am just a bad dragon." "… … … …

After about ten seconds, he was finally relieved. With heavy steps, he turned around and was about to leave the equipment room.

However, at a place where he couldn't see, Xue Meng and Xiaolong were already quarreling.

"You do it!"

"NO!" "It was me just now!"

"I've pushed my limits far more than you have!"

"I don't want it! My conscience can't bear it! I feel like I'm bullying my little classmate! "

"Then can I make it?!"

Three minutes to six. Seeing that Mo Ran was about to leave and the mission was about to fail, and that Xue Meng was still able to get out, he clenched his teeth and hardened his heart. He raised his hand and hit the apparatus shelf.

"Rumble ~ ~ ~ ~"

The shelves were full of things, and even the shelves themselves crashed to the ground, raising a cloud of dust under the lights. It was more thorough than ever before.

Whether it was the transparent Xue Meng and Xiao Long, or Little Mo Ran, who shrank back in fear at the entrance, it was good as well.

Everyone was dumbfounded.

"... But it's finally over six o'clock, isn't it? "

Afterwards, Xiaolong spent a long time comforting Xue Meng's broken heart as the shelf collapsed.

"Aiya, that wasn't your intention. Look, the heavens are about to descend upon us …"

Xue Meng was still covering his face with his hands as he squatted beside Mo Ran, who was chewing on his lips and silently adjusting his tools. "Shut up."

The dragon shut up.

However, not long after, Xue Meng heard its noisy voice. "Hey! "Hey, look __"

Xue Meng, "Shut up!"

Xiao Long: "Luo Jiexi is here!"

Xue Meng suddenly raised his head, only to see that under the yellow light of the stadium, Luo Feng's plump and graceful figure appeared in front of the slightly open door. He pushed open the door, revealing a pair of slender white legs beneath the pleated skirt of his school uniform.

Holy. Light. Descend. Rumble!

These were the only four words that came to Xue Meng's mind.

His eyes filled with tears. Great! He no longer had to cover his conscience and push the equipment rack around! Even for this reason, he still wanted to give Luo Jian ten points!

"Mo Ran?" When he spoke, his voice was sweet and gentle, like a summer orange flower.

Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon looked at each other and wept. They both felt that Mo Ran's gay career was finally saved.

Class Blossom Luo quickly followed the lights to the equipment room. He leaned his head in carefully, and when he saw that Mo Ran was still busy, he couldn't help but open his beautiful eyes.

"Sigh... Why is it so chaotic? "

Mo Ran turned his head and saw that it was her. He sighed and said, "It's all over."

"Teacher told me to call you back for your evening self-study." Luo Lian walked into the equipment room and looked around, "..." Let me help you. We should hurry up and go back together after we're done. "

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment before beads of sweat dripped from his eyelashes into his eyes.

"Thank you," he muttered gratefully.

"What a start." Little Candle Dragon was very touched.

"It's gratifying." Xue Meng sighed with emotion.

The two teenage boys and girls busied themselves helping each other in the dimly lit small room. The pleated skirts fluttered with their footsteps as the boys carried volleyball after volleyball, handing it to the beautiful girl who was standing on the scaffolding and tidying up his equipment.

"Wuwuwu." The little Candle Dragon's eyes filled with tears. "Human love is so cute."

Xue Meng rarely agreed, probably because he had single-handedly facilitated it. "Indeed, you are pure and naive, causing me to be moved."

The two classmates climbed up and down, but Xue Meng was too ruthless in the end. He cleaned up the messy room slower than ever before. Qian Jin had cleaned up the whole room for over an hour, but he still wasn't done.

Thus, it was time for the gymnasium to close.

When the footsteps of the patrolling student on duty, Inspector Zhou, came through the door, Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon were still immersed in their joy, unable to extricate themselves.

It was only when they turned around that they saw a handsome senior with Zhou Zhang on his back walking in. He was holding a recording board.

Xue Meng, "..."

Little Candle Dragon: "…"

They found their smiles frozen like sunburned dog droppings, and their mouths opened in an O of their own accord.

"This is that …" Xue Meng's throat was dry.

Little Candle Dragon shouted, "It's that Chu Wanning!"

Chu Wanning walked into the workshop that was filled with smoke and miasma. Luckily, he was already so calm at such a young age. When he saw the house after the tsunami, he could only frown, "What happened?"

Mo Ran turned his head. His eyes were bright and moist from excessive exercise.

Tidying things up with Luo Jian made him feel relaxed and happy, so naturally he smiled brightly at the senior he had never met before, the dimples on his cheeks melting.

"Things have been dumped all over the floor and are being taken care of. Senior, if you want to close the door, you'll have to wait a bit longer. "

Chu Wanning let out a sigh. Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon shook their heads in unison as they put down the recording board and walked into the small room that originally had only one man and one woman.

Although the senior had a poker face, he was very kind. "Let me help you."

Luo Jian smiled and said, "That would be great. "Thank you senior."

Xiao Long and Xue Meng roared in unison, "Thanks to his head!"

Because Xue Meng's last elbow hit the shelf too hard, the butterfly flapped its wings and its fate was once again changed.

When they had followed the Destiny Jumper to twenty years later and looked at the results, they had tragically discovered that Mo Ran, who had become the president of the university's investment department, was chatting with the current dean of teaching (which was why the guidebook had miscalculated; it had confused Director Rong with Director Chu) in the stadium grandstand.

It was still around six o'clock. The clouds were like the evening in the sea of red maples.

There was no one in the empty gymnasium. They sat in the stands, with only two students of the week mopping the floor. The stadium had long since been expanded and renovated, several times the size of when they were in school. They were on one side and the cleaning student on the other, too far away to be anything but two faceless shadows.

"Where's Luo Jian?" Little Candle Dragon didn't give up and asked while holding onto a strand of hope.

Xue Meng chose to remain silent.

This was because he saw Mr. Mo holding Shizun Chu's hand in an unremarkable manner

Later on, when no one was looking, Mo Ran went over and kissed Chu Wanning's cheek.

Damn.

… …. Again!

This father doesn't believe that there's no hope!

Once again, they used the Jumper to reach a turning point in the game.

"Where is it this time?"

the little Candle Dragon asked impatiently, still unable to stand.

Xue Meng was just as angry and unwilling as it was. He quickly looked around and made an accurate judgement, "It seems to be a bit early, I think this node has just entered kindergarten. I'm afraid that even the gender awareness hasn't been clearly divided. This is a good opportunity to change the outcome of the game."

"... So where are we? "

Xue Meng raised his hand and pointed to the left three o'clock direction. He accurately read the young, round words on the entrance door. "I'm teasing you to play in the children's theme park."

Little Candle Dragon rubbed his hands together, his entire body seemed to be enveloped in a golden light, his eyes blazing with fire: "Good! The amusement park is where the sweet little girls gather. This time, we must give Mo Ran a perfect guide, and definitely cannot fail! "

However, Xue Meng was not as impulsive as before. In the first two failures, he had managed to gain some experience, so before the construction began, he narrowed his eyes and pondered for a long time before raising his head.

"I'm thinking, should we switch to a different strategy this time?"

"Huh?" The little Candle Dragon's beard rose, "What do you mean?"

Xue Meng said, "Previously, we had all failed on Chu Wanning's appearance. I have a bad feeling. Even though we still triggered the female lead line this time, the branch line of Chu Wanning will still be triggered at some point in time. He seems to have a special affinity with Mo Ran, just like the bug in this game. "

Xiao Long waved his tail unhappily. "How is this fate? It's just like buying a one-off shampoo in a supermarket."

"That's right." Xue Meng said, "Imagine, if we were to painstakingly follow the strategy and attract a pretty girl, but because of certain reasons, Chu Wanning 'coincidentally' passed by once again..."

Xiao Long only thought about it for a second before letting out a heart-wrenching shriek, "Then it's all f * cking over!"

Xue Meng slapped his thigh. "That's right! It's all fuckin 'over! "

"So what do we do?"

As a bookworm who had the courage to discard books and create new games, Xue Meng spoke hesitantly, "So I think, this time we must not only trigger the female lead, but also prevent the descent of this NPC, Chu Wanning!"

The little dragon immediately began to clap his hands in a very polite manner. After a while, it discovered that it was still somewhat confused, so it stretched out its little claws and tried to scratch its head. It was a pity that its claws were too short to scratch its head.

Xue Meng glanced at it and extended his hand in a benevolent manner to help scratch its head.

The soothed little Candle Dragon snorted happily and asked, "Your plan is not bad, but there's a problem. We're not programmers, so we don't know if or when Chu Wanning will appear."

"I've thought about that for a long time." Xue Meng grinned, "This time, we will do nothing and let Mo Ran move freely. We will see under what circumstances he will meet Chu Wanning, if not, it's best if we can't meet him. If there's any possibility of them meeting each other, we will have to be extremely careful, and try our best to avoid this kind of situation."

The little dragon was probably very comfortable under Xue Meng's massage, or perhaps it was really enjoying this idea, or perhaps it was both.

In the end, it smacked its lips and sincerely praised, "You're right, you're too outstanding."

Thus, the two young friends happily came to a consensus.

They decided to wait and see how they met in the amusement park.

Ch. 316 Only Possibility 4

"Selling ice cream, chocolate ice cream, vanilla flavored ice cream, and various flavors of sand ice, come and take a look ~ ~"

The slightly plump young girl wore the ears of a rabbit in the theme park. He held up the signboard written on the small wooden board, smiling as he went about his business.

He was supposed to be a student who worked during the summer vacation, with a lively aura of green onions dancing between his eyebrows, his face flushed from the sun, and his lips moist and full like the syrupy cherries on a cheesecake, even though there were one or two acne spots on his forehead.

He was still very pretty and cute.

A group of primary school students wearing yellow kindergarten hats surrounded her, chirping like little sparrows.

"Auntie!" A strawberry-flavored ice cream! "

"I came first! I want three! "

"Sister, can I touch your rabbit ears?"

The rabbit girl maintained a bright smile on everyone, but Xue Meng noticed that he gave each of his older sister's children a spoonful of creamy ice cream and gave it to them first. And those who called his Auntie waited for a long time,

The ice cream ball was obviously smaller.

Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon watched from not far away. Little Candle Dragon subconsciously licked his noble dragon lips, "I also want some ice cream. I want two balls, a cup of tea, and a chocolate bar."

"Don't even think about it, I won't buy it for you." "And this is a game. They can't see us, and we can't eat the ice cream here, understand?"

Xiao Long rolled his eyes, trying his best to maintain the dragon's might in front of the ice cream. "I was just saying it."

Xue Meng ignored it. While searching and observing in the crowd, he said, "Looks like it's a spring vacation organized by a kindergarten. Find out where the ink is burning. "

They found it quickly.

Mo Ran's family was not in a good situation, and he didn't care about his looks when he was young, so he didn't have any good companions. Of course he wouldn't be crowding around the ice cream truck like the other children in the kindergarten, spending enough money for a week's worth of cheap breakfast to buy the clump of frozen cream that would soon melt.

Sitting alone in the shade of a tree, he stared unblinkingly at his classmates. He subconsciously licked his lips in anticipation and bit down on them.

His movements were exactly the same as the little Candle Dragon who wanted to eat ice cream.

"... "Pfft." Xue Meng couldn't help but laugh.

The little Candle Dragon felt his face turn red, and he said angrily: "What are you laughing at? You are not allowed to laugh! "

Mo Ran had no ice cream, no friends, and very few snacks in his bag.

He sat alone under the big tree, and at noon he ate a piece of dry bread, and then he dumped the crumbs on the ground by the roots and watched the ants line up and share his pitiful food.

"Don't be hasty, don't be hasty. Everyone has a share." He murmured under his breath and held his knees as he looked intently at the ants. He must have been so bored that he even gave them names.

"Liang Zhaowei, if you move this piece too far, you won't be able to move it. Would you like a smaller one? "

"Guo Degang, you should be modest. That piece of bread was obviously chosen by Lin Zhiying first. You can't bully the weak with your strength …"
"Oh, that's not right. Actually, the two of you are the same age …"

The excitement around him didn't have much to do with him. Xue Meng and Xiao Long, the two transparent fellows, were sitting on his left and right sides. However, they gave off the feeling that there were not just two invisible creatures under the tree, but three.

Whether it was the other children, or the teachers, it was as if he did not exist. But what was rare was that Mo Ran did not feel depressed or gloomy because of this. Instead, he and his ant friend had a good time together.

When Mo Ran went to kindergarten, he was obviously addicted to the "Still Pig Geiger", a melodramatic love court drama about how you're crazy and stupid. He muttered:

"Little Swallow, you don't have to fight with your sisters for food. I have bread. "

"Sigh, Ziwei, you've taken the wrong path … The Ant Hole is here... "

It was probably because his attentive look had aroused the curiosity of others that the fattiest little fatty in the kindergarten walked towards him aggressively while shaking the two lumps of soft flesh on his cheek.

Hearing that Mo Ran was instructing the "Purple Wei" on how to walk, the little fatty widened his eyes. "What are you doing?" Who are you talking to? "

Mo Ran hurriedly stopped him. "Don't go any further. You're about to step onto my Forbidden City."

Little Fatso: "?"

Mo Ran pointed at the ants and introduced them to the little fatty with a smile, "Look, this is Liang Zhaowei, this is Guo Degang, this is Lin Zhiying, this is Su You Bo, and that one with the bulging nostrils, that's Er Kang …"

Little Fatso said worriedly, "... Have you got a fever? Ants have no nostrils. "

"No, I'm fine." Mo Ran said patiently, "The ants have nostrils, you can see them just by looking at them. Also, look at that red one, it's only Lin Xingru. "

Little Fatso said in a trembling voice, "... "Then who are you?"

Mo Ran seriously thought for a moment, then firmly said, "I am Huang Ama."

Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon were laughing hard at the side. Xue Meng hooked his transparent arm around the little guy, so happy that tears were almost flowing out of his eyes, "I'm really going to fall in love with this treasure. After I finish my work, I will definitely go to the real world to find Mo Ran and kowtow to him! Hahahaha!"

Little Candle Dragon was also laughing so hard that he started to stutter. "Then you're the prince! You're the emperor's sworn brother! Hahahaha!"

Unfortunately, the little fatty could not feel the interest in Ink Flames at all. He treated Ink Flames like a lunatic, and after glancing at him in horror, he turned around and ran away, like a beefy tank that weighed less than one meter but weighed almost eighty pounds. As he ran, he tripped over a stone.

After a while, Mo Ran suddenly had the idea of building a park for the ants.

Xue Meng sat to the side and watched the little guy use the branches as a bridge and the leaves as a parasol. He even used the rocks to build a small defensive fence. However, he still felt that he was lacking in beauty. He dug a small hole that was neither too deep nor too shallow, then patted his gray hands together before turning around and walking towards the stream in the depths of the forest.

"What's he going to do?" the little Candle Dragon asked as he studied the Ant Park that was being built by Mo Ran.

Xue Meng stared at the hole. "I think he might be trying to create an artificial lake for the ants."

"... Didn't he know that water would seep into the ground?

This time, it was Xue Meng's turn to roll his eyes. "Big Brother, he's only in kindergarten. He can't have more than six years old."

As the dragon and the human muttered, Xue Meng suddenly caught a glimpse of a child walking on a small stone path nearby. He was startled at first, but then his face turned pale with fright. He used his elbow and hit the little Candle Dragon frantically: "Quick! Look at the time! "What time and how many seconds is it now?"

The little Candle Dragon was knocked down, baring his teeth in anger: "What are you doing?! If you have something to say, then say it, don't touch them! "

"Quick, quick, quick!" But Xue Meng's expression was the same as if he had run into a ghost, "Hurry and time it!" The boss is here! "

"Bo …" "What do you mean 'bo' …" Before the little Candle Dragon could say "ss", he suddenly choked when he followed Xue Meng's line of sight, "Ah!" "Oh my god!"

They frantically began to search themselves for watches or other timekeeping tools.

The little Candle Dragon cried out, "Chu Wanning is really in this park?!"

"Didn't you say they were buying one-one-one-one shampoo? What's so strange about that! " Unable to find his watch or cell phone, Xue Meng was in a frenzy.

"I take it back!" Little Candle Dragon shouted: "They are not buying a one-to-one shampoo. That thing can still be taken apart when we get home! They are Oreo's sandwich and biscuit slices!"

No matter what they were, when Chu Wanning passed by the trees, he was attracted by the tree branches, rocks, dead leaves, and the unfinished pit.

He stared blankly for a moment, then slowly walked to the empty tree. The shadow of the tree gently fell on his fair skin. He lowered his head and silently looked at the "Ant Park", then raised his head and looked left and right.

There was no one around. It seemed like a deserted project.

Chu Wanning hesitated for a moment, then in a delicate white shirt and light blue suspenders, he stepped into the dirty pit with soft Italian leather shoes, under the silent protest of Xue Meng and the little Candle Dragon, he started to play with the "architectural ruins" left behind by Mo Ran.

"... "We're finished." Xue Meng said.

"It's all f * cking over." said the little Candle Dragon.

"Chu Wanning's main line is about to be triggered again." The two of them spoke in unison.

Sure enough, when Mo Ran returned with a bottle of stream water in a plastic bottle, he was surprised to find that an unexpected guest had appeared next to his "park."

"Don't move!"

Chu Wanning was startled when he was a child. He stood up and stared with his feline eyes at the dirty child running towards her.

"... "I'm not..." Chu Wanning was holding onto a branch with one hand. He felt a little awkward. He looked down at the park, then looked up at the child, "I just..."

The dirty child anxiously and nervously stood in front of his Ant Park. "This is not a violation of the rules …"

Chu Wanning: "..."

The dirty child then said, "I can't tear it apart."

Chu Wanning: "... I don't intend to tear it apart either. "

"?"

"I think it's pretty good." Chu Wanning asked tentatively, "Can I play with you?"

Thus, the two children somehow ended up playing together.

Both of them thought it was a good idea to rebuild the wall made of stone by Mo Ran. Thus, they looked for suitable branches in the pile of fallen leaves, and Mo Ran was responsible for cutting them into the soft soil at the same distance.

Together they rebuilt the walls, placed plastic bags in the dug holes, and poured water into the streams to create artificial lakes.

Chu Wanning picked up a few pieces of Begonia petals from somewhere and sprinkled them on the surface of the "lake". They even placed two ants on the petals to let them experience the faint fragrance of the boat.

When Mo Ran was being used, it was quite powerful. The mud that was brought out splashed on Chu Wanning's expensive clothes. Chu Wanning did not mind at all. He shared a common interest and beauty with this dirty child they had just met. They were having fun, ignoring the clothes, the mud on his hands and the sweat on his face.

There were only two pairs of eyes as bright as stars. There were also two pairs of small hands making a dreamlike Ant Paradise.

The sun was setting.

The children in the kindergarten had to return to their own teams, but Chu Wanning and his father had come together, so there was still plenty of time.

"Help me finish the tower." Mo Ran reluctantly told his little friend before he got on the bus.

Chu Wanning's expressionless face broke into a smile, "Okay." When I finish, I'll ask my dad to come over and take pictures. "

"Next time, show it to me when you have the chance."

"Hmm, I'll show it to you next time I get a chance."

Mo Ran was stunned for a moment. Then, as if he had suddenly thought of something, he turned pale and said, "Ah! We've been playing for so long, but I still haven't asked you for your name! "

Chu Wanning was also stunned for a moment, and then his face brightened up, his expression became even brighter, "It's really … "I forgot about it too..."

Mo Ran laughed heartily. "I keep having the feeling that we've known each other for a long time."

Chu Wanning pursed his lips but did not say anything. However, his eyes were full of smiles.

"My name is Inkfish. I work in the Drunken Fish kindergarten." Mo Ran thought for a moment and imitated the TV show. He stretched out his muddy hands like a small adult, but quickly retracted them and wiped them on his clothes. Then, he passed his hands to Chu Wanning, "It's a pleasure to meet you."

Chu Wanning didn't turn his back or hesitate. He held onto his partner's muddy paws, which could not be wiped clean even if he used them. His black hair fluttered in the wind, "It's a pleasure to meet you. "My name is Chu Wanning."

"... "I suddenly felt it." At the side, little Candle Dragon silently ridiculed, "... They're doing fine. "

"... "Don't say it." Xue Meng's head was aching. "I think I've been moved …"

The little Candle Dragon anxiously shouted, "We can't be moved, we can't be brainwashed! We have to contribute to genetic engineering! "

"You're right!" Xue Meng looked like he just woke up from a dream and said sternly, "I've recorded the approximate time and route of Chu Wanning's appearance. Please reopen this round's strategy. If we are prepared, we will definitely be able to prevent him from triggering his main line!"

Ch. 317 Only Possibility 5

The plan this time was a success.

Xue Meng used facts to prove that there was no such thing as an indestructible Cp. There were only players who didn't try hard to break it. In this game called "Mo Ran Is Not gay," which he had secretly dubbed himself, Player Xue Meng fully displayed his intelligence and successfully separated the two men.

He and Xiaolong looked through the guide, chose the female lead, made plans, and split up. One man and one dragon moved separately, one person kept a close eye on Little Mo Ran in the northern part of the park, and one dragon kept a close eye on Little Chu in the southern part of the park.

When Mo Ran got on the school bus and left, he did not even see Chu Wanning's sleeves.

It was exciting.

"We did it!"

"We let Mo Ran establish a friendship with a girl!"

"They will soon be best friends!"

"When puberty comes, they will secretly be together behind their parents' backs!"

"After school, I'm wearing my school uniform and secretly dating!"

"They would hide a box of sweet and greasy chocolates in each other's school bag!"

"He would carry his on his back in the torrential downpour so that his pink leather shoes wouldn't get wet!"

Xue Meng raised his head and laughed loudly. "Pink leather shoes are a bit exaggerated." He paused for a moment, then continued with sparkling eyes, "But it's a good idea to carry your girlfriend home in the torrential rain …" Mo Ran from high school was around a meter or so long? "

The little Candle Dragon flipped through the guide, "From 1.86 to 1.89, look at his luck. In short, he'll be at this range."

"Tsk, that really is …" Xue Meng revealed a subtle expression, as if he was somewhat envious, but at the same time trying his best to keep it taut. This caused his expression to become as painful as if he was suffering from a toothache. He pursed his lips, not intending to continue this unpleasant topic.

He did not want the little Candle Dragon to notice that he was still wearing the inner garment.

"Anyway, their love affair will go smoothly." Xue Meng concluded, even somewhat paranoid, "It must go smoothly. "Otherwise, I won't be able to compare myself to Jiang Xi."

In order to ensure that Mo Ran and the girl's emotions were stable and undisturbed, Xue Meng and the others prepared to continue observing for a while — of course, in this game, the speed of time could be adjusted. They only needed to state the date in the guide.

"We want to see the first date between Mo Ran and the girl." Little Candle Dragon said.

Xue Meng also added, "Alone, there aren't any third parties. Although their age can't be called dating, with your intelligence, you should be able to understand what we mean."

It was as if he had forgotten who had called this guide an "artificial mental retardation."

"Just playing together, doing homework together, doing other things together, playing house, etc." He thought about it, then added, "Anything like that."

For the sake of what was known as the shame of artificial mental retardation, the guide accurately set aside the time for a week and three days.

It was one night, they were downstairs in a neighborhood, and from the warm yellow light coming from the windows of many homes, the housewives in the kitchens, the shouts of small children and the faint voice of the anchorman in the newsreel, they could tell it was about seven o'clock.

Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon waited for a while, but Mo Ran appeared.

Just as he had expected, he was carrying a small bag on his back and carrying a lunch box with the words' pirated cartoon of Vi Nibear 'on it. Vi Nii's nose was frayed, which made the originally unsightly pirated bear look even more hideous and ridiculous.

However, all the malevolence and ridicule could be covered by the girl beside him who was happily chattering away.

"My family lives on the second floor. My father went on a business trip, but my mother is home. Don't be afraid, she's a good person." "Yesterday I told his that you were coming to play, and he told me that tonight he will have fried egg yolks and chicken wings, as well as the cheesecake cake with cheese that is sold in the pastry shop at the entrance. Do you like cheesecake? "

"I …" As Mo Ran mumbled, Xue Meng noticed that his old tennis shoes had already taken off their glue. "I've never eaten this kind of thing before."

The girl didn't laugh at him. He was just stunned for a moment before he laughed heartily, "You will like it. If you don't like it, then give it all to me. But don't tell my mom. She's worried that I'll become a fatty if I eat it like this."

Under the street lamp, Mo Ran lowered his head and kicked at the small stones and dirt by the roadside with his degummed sneakers. He was truly courting death by doing so. His originally pitiful looking sneakers became even more unsightly.

"You can't eat fat." After a while, Little Ink finally let out a muffled grunt.

"What did you say?" The girl didn't hear clearly.

"... I said you can't eat fat. " Even though the light was dim, Xue Meng still noticed that the little guy's face seemed to be a little red. "If you like it, I'll give you the cake in secret."

He bit his lip and turned his face away awkwardly, so that even the dull little candlestick noticed that his ears were red. "I won't tell your mother."

The little Candle Dragon jumped up and down around the two of them, screaming, "Ah! I love this little girl so much! "

"I love his too." Xue Meng laughed, "Like I said, there are so many sweet and good girls in this world, how can there be a gay man made of steel. "Look, at this rate, we should be able to complete the mission very soon."

"I can't wait to go to their wedding — no, to see their children." The little Candle Dragon looked like his blood was boiling. Sometimes, it was as if he would fly into the sky and sometimes sink into the earth.

"What does it matter if I'm single or not?" "As long as my CPS can get married, what does it matter if I'm single for a hundred years?"

They followed Mo Ran and the little girl upstairs.

They watched the two kids eat dinner together, share a piece of after-dinner cream cake, watch TV together, and do their homework together.

Ah, what a pleasant Bamboo Horse friendship.

I can't f * cking fall in love, my girlfriend has to be nurtured from the era of the red scarf, otherwise when I graduate from university and don't even have a girl to chat with in my contact list, will I have to go to gay?

At eight-thirty, a man and a dragon bid farewell to the girl and the girl's mother with satisfaction, and Little Inky walked briskly to catch the last bus. The two of them followed, beaming with joy.

After that, he came to the girl's house a few more times, but too often, for fear of leaving a bad impression on his parents, so on those occasions he went around to the back of the building and used a few of the less pointed pebbles to knock lightly on the window of the girl's bedroom.

"The restless youth has been brought forward." Xue Meng crossed his arms and commented, but his expression was very excited.

"I feel like this guide is foolproof."

However, a little Candle Dragon shouldn't be called a little Candle Dragon. The Black Crow's beak was probably a more suitable name for it.

Just as it said the word "absolutely", the force in Mo Ran's hand shifted. The stone did not hit the girl's window, but slammed the glass door of the neighboring room.

The two staff members of the Cultivation Bureau who had not realized that their fate was about to change were still feeling complacent. "Mo Ran is really an active and enthusiastic child."

"And romantic."

"In the future, they will become boyfriend and girlfriend. This is a very good memory."

Suddenly, the sound of a fan opening and closing came from the window next door. Then, a voice that clearly carried impatience and sleepiness rang out, as if nitrogen had instantly frozen the water, and with a splash, it splashed onto Xue Meng's little Candle Dragon.

"Don't you think it's too late for a prank?"

It was even a familiar formula … No, it was a familiar voice. It was still a familiar tone.

Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon looked as if they had met a ghost. They swallowed their saliva and then shakily turned their heads to look …

"AHHH

"I think so too. Let's at least look at the situation for a year before deciding."

Once again, they came to a consensus. Using the guide, they arrived at a certain night a year later.

It was still this district, and it was still night time.

Even the position where Mo Ran was standing did not change. He was still standing under the street lamp, which was not very bright and was occasionally flickering due to the unstable voltage.

Even Mo Ran was using small pebbles to lightly smash against the window that had a glassy sheen in the moonlight.

… …. However, he did not smash the window of the girl, but the window of the bedroom next to Chu Wanning's.

"... Tell me it's a coincidence. " "Tell me that his hands were only trembling, and that he did not manage to land steadily, and that he missed again."

Xue Meng was still rather rational. He did not say anything, and his face was ashen.

One smash was an accident, ten smash errors was true love.

No one would make a mistake ten times in a row, so Mo Ran knocked on Chu Wanning's window. The person he wanted to meet was his little brother, Chu Wanning.

What a f * cking ghost!

The window opened and the summer night breeze carried the fragrance of the magnolia orchids into the room. Chu Wanning was wearing a white child's fur pajamas, but despite his impatience and sleepiness, he still moved a stool over and stood on tiptoe to look down.

"Why are you here again?" Chu Wanning leaned against the window and yawned. His voice was not soft, as he lazily said to Mo Ran, "Didn't we just finish playing together this afternoon?"

Ink Flames remained silent under the street lamp, smiling and waving at him. He folded up several paper planes and flew towards him. Finally, one of them flew into his room.

Chu Wanning opened the paper airplane. There was a crayon drawing on top of it, with a white cat and a little dog on top. There was also a line of words written in milky yellow color.

I forgot to say good night.

I wish you a good dream. We'll go to the swimming pool tomorrow and play.

Call our good friend Ling'er, if he means "you" (I haven't learned how to write that word).

ink combustion

"So." The little Candle Dragon almost twitched, "In the end, he and Chu Wanning became 'us', and that cute girl next door became 'us' friends."

Xue Meng was silent for a moment.

He actually wanted to find some polite and reserved sentences in the corners of his brain to express his disappointment. Even Tang Shi Song's lyrics and song, the opera from Europe, was enough to give him goosebumps.

But no.

He finally managed to squeeze out the curse that had been burning his blood.

"Damned motherf * cker, fuck you, second uncle."

"... "You should change your words one last time."

"Never mind my words! "I'm so angry right now!"

"No." "I just wanted to remind you that if you're going to fuck his two lords, then you're a gay too."

"..."

"Grandfather-grandson relationship."

Ch. 318 Only Possibility 6

After trying to change many different branches of fate, Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon finally realized one thing:

Even though Mo Ran might not be gay, but in his long life, he would definitely meet a person called Chu Wanning and fall in love with him.

"So, rather than wasting our time to introduce his to Mo Fen, it would be better to just kill Chu Wanning." The little Candle Dragon gave a satisfactory summary of the mission.

"Or we could just change Chu Wanning's personality." Xue Meng added.

"Or Mo Ran."

"No matter how much this game is played or how many female characters you can choose, Mo Ran will still end up with Chu Wanning in the end."

Facing the chorus of these two cultivators, Chief Jiang Xi's face was somewhat gloomy. He had one hand on the side of his face,

He flipped through the thick stack of task reports in front of him. It listed all the female lead's strategy, and without exception, all of them ended up married to Chu Wanning.

"I used to think it was a romantic game." Xue Meng's expression was not any better than Jiang Xi's, "I didn't expect this to be an early and boring RPG single-outcome game. Bureau Chief Jiang, have you ever played the Immortal Sword Sect's Legend? Year 98 … or in the year 01, I don't remember,

In short, even that computer game of the last century will have Lin Yueru's hidden ending. "

As he spoke, he bit his lower lip in frustration, "I feel that the life of Mo Ran is inferior to the life of Immortal Sword 1 from 98 years ago. He didn't even have a hidden ending. "

The young man crossed his arms in front of Bureau Chief Jiang's desk, complaining nonstop. Bureau Chief Jiang, on the other hand, didn't say anything.

"Actually, it doesn't have to be limited to the life of Mo Ran." Finally, Jiang Xi raised his thin eyelids. "Have you tried his other reincarnation threads?"

"Why haven't I tried it?" "The line of the Republic. Future lines … He tried everything that he could. Turn a few pages back. "

As expected, the latter half of the report still had the main strategy attached to the other paths of Samsara.

"The Republic Line is the most despairing." "We imitated a time back in the Republic of China. Mo Ran was the Young Master of a big family, so when he was young, his father had arranged for him to marry a young lady from the same village. He was only waiting for his to marry him once he was old enough."

Jiang Xi said, "Oh?" Isn't that good? "

Little Candle Dragon didn't know whether to laugh or cry: "What's good? Before the girl could grow up, Mo Ran ran away from home to join the National People's Party and announced that he wanted to be free and not arrange a marriage. "

"... "And then?"

"And then there was the war, the war against the pirates and the civil war. During the Civil War he was sent as a spy against his family. " Xue Meng let out a sigh. After finishing his sentence, he helped Jiang Xi turn the thick task book to the front page of the Republic of China line. "Look here, look at this photo. This brat dressed in a sheepskin cloth, looking very decent. He did not even reveal a little bit of the warlord's tail. Right? So everything was fine. "

Jiang Xi had almost known what would happen in the future. He was not the least bit surprised and asked lightly, "So, how did Chu Wanning appear this time?"

"Don't mention it." Xue Meng waved his hand in annoyance, "He is the company commander of the company that Mo Ran is working undercover. Once, in an ambush, Mo Ran had been shot, and he was bleeding profusely. It was Company Leader Chu who carried this National Party spy back to the safety of the trenches from the mountains of corpses and the seas of blood. "

"..."

The little Candle Dragon continued, "In order to save this guy, Chu Wanning almost lost his life."

Jiang Xi sighed, "After Mo Ran woke up, he betrayed the National Committee and became a spy. He was now on Chu Wanning's side."

He did not even use any words of doubt. It was as if he had clearly seen the transformation of the burning ink through the years and the smoke, the skin and the brain.

"Right." Xue Meng rolled his eyes. "They fell in love again. They turned down the good women who had been so enthusiastic about the organization. They had fought side by side, lying in a trench and looking at the stars with guns. After liberation, they lived in a compound and became two 'bachelors' who had bewitched thousands of young girls. These two 'bachelors' would pack dumplings together, ride the Phoenix bike together on excursions, go to the Shadow Tower together to take colourful photos, and go to a department store together to say that a bag of malt candy was in a brown envelope for eating. "

One after another, the sweet and trivial old stories were narrated in rapid succession by Xue Meng. Even though he spoke so quickly and the past flashed past his eyes like a meteor, Jiang Xi was still easily able to imagine those scenes.

Pale green smoke, dirty and damaged military uniform.

In the trenches of blood and mud, two young men lay together for the night. Their black eyes were winged lashes, which shone with the starlight of the wilderness. Far away, soldiers were playing harmonica, which drifted around them and died in the mist of the twilight.

Tonight, there was no war, only a little smoke in the fog telling of the turmoil of time.

There were also two youths with dark green stubble on their jaws that had not been shaved off in time.

"Later on, they were seventy or eighty." Xue Meng said dryly. After the sour smell of their relationship, his speech slowed down, "Later on, even the calamity that began in six or six years was unable to separate the two stubborn old fellows."

He finished.

The sour smell of love permeates to the dead, in fact, death can not turn it over.

Jiang Xi didn't speak for a long time. Finally, he stopped reading the report. He closed the report and felt a headache coming on. He raised his hand and pressed his sunspot.

It was said that couples were like birds in the forest, each flying in their own direction in the face of a great calamity.

Jiang Xi didn't know how much of a possibility it would be if he forced Mo Ran to give up the job as a girl.

Or maybe Inkburn wasn't a gay?

Perhaps it was only in his life and in his fate, he could never miss a person called Chu Wanning. That was all.

After work, the people from the Cultivation Bureau left the office building one after another on the background music of "Home", which was played by the former Chief of the Nangong family.

Some of them lived in the cultivation world for a long time, so they could ride their swords home without worry. Others were used to blending in with the mortal world and living together with the people who no longer believed in ghosts and immortals. These people had to hide their extraordinary abilities.

"I don't think there's any end to this." Jiang Xi stood in front of the French windows with his back to Xue Meng and Little Candle Dragon, watching the traffic below.

Finally he said, "Never mind."

Xue Meng couldn't comprehend it for a while, so he asked, "Hm?" He made a sound.

Jiang Xi crossed his arms and turned his head to look at him. "I mean, your mission is over."

No matter how he looked at it, there was only one conclusion to the game.

Before the cultivation world had developed a new method, there was no need to test it again and again.

"Let's go home."

This was Xue Meng's first mission failure.

Although he knew that it wasn't his fault, he still felt somewhat uneasy upon hearing Jiang Xi's words.

He subconsciously ground the carpet with the toe of his shoe. After a moment's hesitation, he said, "I still have a problem."

At this moment, Jiang Xi had already turned around. He leaned against the spotless window and raised his eyelashes slightly. "Go ahead."

Xue Meng took a deep breath. "When I saw him in the simulator, I thought he should be around my age."

"So?"

"... So why don't we just find him and ask him if he's willing to cooperate? "

Jiang Xi went silent for a moment, and then sneered, "Gene experiments are very dangerous." In this world, do you think that it is the same as the world you studied in history, the still chaotic and ignorant world of cultivators? We're not going to do this sort of thing with any free man. "

"..."

"Even if that person is the Sphenoid Beauty Seat." Jiang Xi said, "Child, wake up. The era of cannibalism is long gone. "

Under the cold and white light of the bureau chief's office, Xue Meng's face seemed somewhat red.

He muttered, ". I didn't mean that... I just. "I just don't know …"

Jiang Xi started to pack up the documents. During the process, the new director looked up at him again, "I know you don't mean that. But I have to remind you, no matter who your dad is — kid, no matter how good you've been at school, no matter how many scholarships you've taken, no matter if you have a baby trophy that your mom wiped shiny in the bookcase for display. "

Xue Meng's face became redder and redder. Previously, he was embarrassed, but now he was angry.

"I don't care how well you did with Chief Nangong, how many seals you sealed, and how many works you reviewed."

Jiang Xi ignored his anger. He locked the file in a drawer, lifted his slender fingers, and adjusted his dark green silk tie. "You still have a lot to learn from me," he concluded.

After the domineering bureau chief finished speaking, he moved his long legs and lightly brushed past Xue Meng.

Xue Meng trembled with anger and finally couldn't hold back and exploded, "Jiang Xi!"

Jiang Xi only stopped in front of the office door for a moment before he turned around and pursed his lips at the young man. "Remember to turn off the lights."

"..."

It was now around 7 PM.

The last light in the Bureau of Cultivation building went out.

There was no war and no huge project to be worked on. No one would work overtime. People have their own place to go back to.

To meet a friend, to date a lover. His wife and husband were curled up on the sofa, eating popcorn and watching the flickering blue light on the TV screen. The tall young man wrapped his apron around himself and helped his parents prepare dinner.

They all had places to go.

Although Jiang Xi was a bastard, he was right. Although no world was perfect and no era was spotlessly clean, but they were living in a world where everything was much better than before. It had been far, far too long since the turbulent years of order being overturned and rebuilt.

Many stories and names had faded and disappeared in the long river. It was so long that countless souls emerged in the air, experiencing the cycle of life and death over and over again.

Long enough that you were no longer the you of the past, and I was no longer the me of the past.

But we were still together.

Fanghua will grow old, flesh and bone will rot, life will lose to time. However, those who entangle themselves with their souls will always be given new flesh and blood by time. Those persistence that have not been diluted by the cycle of reincarnation, will always in the endless floating life, get the hug of the lover again and again.

Life after life.

Xue Meng bid farewell to Little Candle Dragon and walked out of the building.

The sky was gray with thick leaden clouds. He saw tiny snowflakes drifting down from the night sky, scattering onto this golden and dazzling world

Without his umbrella, he turned up his collar and hurried to the nearest station, the white mist drifting with his breath by his nose and mouth.

Beside him, in this city shrouded in the sky, in this world, there were countless fates intertwined — —

The old man from Shizun Li's raw frying shop was calculating the income of the day, this old man was doing good business, and getting more and more attention. He smiled as he counted the money, intending to buy the book he had liked for a long time from the bookstore on the day of rest.

His daughter was only a few hours away from his twenty-sixth birthday, having just graduated from the University of Agricultural and Forestry, and was taking a taxi downtown to spend his twenty-sixth birthday in a nightclub — he didn't know that at the party his best friend was giving her, he would meet his big brother, whom he had known for so many years, and he didn't know that he was going to have the love he was meant to have.

The casino was brightly lit. Lady Sun, who wore bright colored fingernails, giggled as he watched the guests spend a fortune on her. It was really good to have money.

The girl surnamed Ye and his fiancé were sitting in the wedding shop. They had been seriously arguing for half an hour about the position of a pearl on the dress, as if the most deadly thing in the world was this pearl. As long as this pearl was completed, all the headache-inducing problems would be easily solved. What a wretched couple, the pearl on the wedding dress was their only worry.

Shouldn't they be looking at the other two people three blocks away?

They were not an illusion from the simulator, a game, or Xue Meng's quest.

But it was obvious, and without any suspense, that they would still be together for the rest of their lives.

But at this very moment, they were quarrelling over some trivial matter. The cause of the incident was that Mo Ran wanted to go to the cinema to see a romantic movie starring Xun Feng as a popular movie star, but Chu would rather choose an action movie starring Zhen Zhenming.

"Can't you watch some hot-blooded male movies?" At that time, Chu Wanning had narrowed his eyes and stared dangerously at his handsome boyfriend who was half a head taller than her, but his momentum hadn't lost out at all.

If it weren't for his long eyelashes that looked like the stamen of a flower under the street lamp, he would look even more ferocious.

"Every time you enter a movie, you either choose a funny movie or a love movie. Listen to this name." Chu Wanning gritted his teeth and said, "Erha and his Shizun White Cat — are you a retard? This is an animated cartoon right? Could the poster also have printed 'This film is suitable for preschoolers'? "

Mo Ran looked pitifully at his angry lover. He wanted to defend the similarly pitiful < Erha and his Shizun White Cat > several times, but he could only helplessly swallow his anger back down.

"I can't stand your theatrical aesthetic any longer."

"..."

"I told you the last time, 'Baby Tianyun's Battling Voldemort' and 'Captain America's Battling Parabala's Little Demoness' have already crossed my bottom line. I'll never, never, never accompany you to a movie theater to see that kind of crap again. " Chu Wanning seemed to have held it in for a long time, his thin lips opened and closed in anger, "I'm a police officer, I'm burning ink." His words were illogical. I can't lose my IQ with you, even if I'm out of uniform and still a cop. What are you looking at me like that for? "

"..."

"Do you think that if you look at me like this, I will accompany you to watch < Erha and his Shizun White Cat >? Please, you're in your twenties, go to the counter and tell the waitress, "Please give me two tickets to < Erha and his Shizun White Cat >, don't you think it's embarrassing?"

Inky's black eyes looked at him and suddenly felt wronged.

"My colleague told me that this isn't an animated movie. Although I'm not sure if it's good or not, I can guarantee that this is really a serious love movie …"

Chu Wanning finally exploded in anger, "No proper movie would give such a silly name!"

"..."

After saying that, Chu Wanning walked forward angrily. After taking two steps, he saw that Mo Ran was not following him and was still glaring at him. He choked on his anger and repeated, "No!"

Mo Ran bit his lip, still staring at him without saying a word.

And so, the conflict between the two happened. If this scene was witnessed by the cultivation director, Jiang Xi, he would definitely sigh with emotion. How stupid and hopeless are these idiots trapped in love. Why do you have to watch a movie with two people? You'll each buy your own tickets and go to a different screening hall. Are you girls who need to go to the toilet hand in hand during class break?

Jiang Xi would definitely think so. After all, he was a great, cold, witty and intelligent Commissioner.

At this moment, Chu Wanning was walking along the road in a cool manner, both his hands in the pockets of his black fur coat. No matter how many times his boyfriend tried to hold his hand, he just ignored him.

"Later in the night..."

"..."

"Alright, don't leave so quickly. Let's continue discussing …"

"..."

"I promise you, it won't be any worse than 'The Celestial Baby Battles Voldemort'." "And I don't think that 'The Telltale Baby Battles Voldemort' is as ugly as you make it out to be. "Next year, I'll still want to watch the same series of 'Beautiful Girl Haig'..."

Unfortunately, the last sentence was heard by Chu Wanning. He was shocked to the point of turning his head to look at him in panic, "What did you say? Say it again. "Forget it." He shook his head and tried to wave away the nightmarish title he had just heard, his Adam's apple bobbing in his throat. "Don't repeat it, I pretended not to hear it."

"... "Oh." Mo Ran continued to feel wronged.

Chu Wanning continued to walk forward with large strides, his trench coat swayed in the wind. He couldn't speak, really. Every time he thought he had a deep understanding of Mo Ran's terrible opera aesthetics, Mo Ran would refresh his bottom line with an even worse piece.

Mo Ran had been following behind him the entire time, walking at a distance of one step.

They walked on for a while, and finally, Mo Ran mustered up his courage to try persuading Chu Wanning, "Why don't we... Why don't we decide what to look at? You can draw lots. Or shake the dice... "

His voice became softer and softer as he stopped in his tracks. He seemed to have noticed something from the corner of his eyes.

An idea came to him.

"..."

"Hey, Chu Wanning!"

Finally, Chu Wanning's tall and handsome boyfriend stopped by the side of the road. Under the dim light of the street lamp, he raised his hand and pointed to the right side where there was a stall selling sweet potatoes.

"Hello, Chu Wanning." he repeated.

"..." Chu Wanning ignored him.

"Officer Chu." He bit his lip, a smile in his eyes.

He understood Chu Wanning, and he knew what Chu Wanning liked to eat, and what he would like to hear from others.

They had known each other for too long.

Chu Wanning turned around, but he didn't turn around. Instead, he turned his face to the side and kept his hands in the pockets of his coat. He raised his chin slightly, his long, thick eyelashes narrowing as he stared at the man under the streetlight.

The man met his gaze. As expected, he lowered his head and laughed. Then, he was at a loss. He considered his words, and in the end, only managed to think of the simplest four words.

He took off his hat and scratched his head. "Do you want to eat?"

"..."

"Baked sweet potatoes in winter." He smiled. "Your true love."

"..."

"And I see this one has a white core, you like a white core, that's hard to find. So eat one. Don't be angry. "

Chu Wanning's expression was no longer as hard as a block of ice that had been frozen overnight in the winter in the north. He stood for a moment, then turned with his cheeks slightly puffed out. He walked towards Mo Ran and said calmly, "No, I want to eat four." It was as if he did not care at all, as if he was not tempted at all.

"Good, good, good." His handsome boyfriend looked at him with both helplessness and amusement. Really, he used to be like a wild and unruly leopard, but after all these years he had become more and more soft, and now and then he would even become like a little white cat baring its teeth. He truly had this illusion.

Mo Ran smiled, "Alright, so be it. But can you still eat dinner like this …"

"Don't underestimate my stomach. This is just an appetizer."

"Alright, then eat your snacks first. After that, we'll go eat and then go watch Zhen Ku Ming's movie …"

Chu Wanning took the steaming sweet potato and took a bite. Resisting the faint smile on his lips that was about to betray him, he shook his head indifferently, "It's fine if you watch Erha and his Shizun White Cat."

Mo Ran's eyes immediately lit up. "Really?!"

"Yes." I'll be dumb with you one more time. "

The voice of Mo Ran instantly became so bright and bright. Joy and sweetness were like a bubble drop that fell into water. Honey bubbled and bubbled, turning a pool of water sweet.

He was about to die of sweetness.

"How kind of you!"

"..."

"Then the next 'Beautiful Girl Hagrid' …"

"Don't even think about it …"

On the snow-covered street, two pairs of footprints slowly moved forward, next to each other, very close to each other.

At a crossroads, Xue Meng, who had already boarded the bus, was wearing earphones. He unconsciously looked out of the window at the passing crowd and the flashy lights.

He was relaxed, his forehead pressed against the slightly cool glass of the window, the colorful neon shattered in his dark eyes. He yawned and did not notice a pair of young men carrying roasted sweet potatoes walking by on the sidewalk, and the two young men were quarreling over "The Beautiful Girl Hagrid."

The green light came on and the car started.

As they passed each other, Xue Meng hummed the song in his earpiece. He was deaf, but who would stop him from humming happily because he was deaf?

He had just received word from his mother that his father had returned from a business trip, and that tonight he had his favorite fish and spicy chicken.

No one could stop him from singing anymore. The earth's destruction and flooding could not be stopped. He had to finish the Boiled Fish.

Just like this, their lives were filled with countless possibilities. Different jobs, different places of origin, different paths of growth, different kinds of love and hate. Perhaps even for such reasons, their appearances would be slightly different. However, reincarnation could not change Xue Meng's good impression of Boiled Fish. It was just like how it could not change the sweetness of Chu Wanning, it could not change the fact that Mo Ran loved that bowl of roasted red oil.

In the end, their story would only end up with one ending.

It was a compromise of the will of the heavens to the small life, to the mayfly that shook the tree, to the boasting of a day.

After all the suffering.

They will end up with the people they love.

They will eventually reunite with the people they love.

Ch. 319 Who Touched Xue Mengmeg's Desserts? 1

[First Forum of Cultivators] [Residential Area] [Water Tile]

Title: [Highlight]: Has anyone obtained a box of oddly shaped dessert recently?

Content: This is so infuriating! Someone took my dessert!

Author: Phoenix First Cry

… …. So? Isn't it just a box of snacks?

1: Zhongshan Lang is not greedy

Just a box of snacks and you want the light? How poor are you, OP?

2: Our Sect Leader is rich

Poverty limits my imagination.

3: Our manor lord has suddenly become rich

Haha, being so poor, you must be from the lower realms, right?

4: Very smart.

I am the OP. Can you all wait for me to finish before replying?

The fact is, I recently lost a box of strangely shaped desserts, dark brown, hard, bitter to eat, with a bit of wine coming out of it. It's not food from the Central Plains,

It's very rare in the upper and lower realms, and as far as I know no more than ten people have it.

I don't like sweet foods that much myself, so it doesn't matter if I lost them. But the problem is that eating them all up would be dangerous for ordinary people, so I hope my friends can tell me whether they stole them or not.

Still accidentally took the wrong, please do not eat, as soon as possible private message contact me, otherwise bear the consequences.

5th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

Black, very hard. There was even wine inside … It was truly unheard-of. You are an expert in this, what do you think?

6: Recruitment of disciples without discrimination

But why was the dessert bitter? Are you sure this is food?

7th floor: I don't know Mulan is a girl

Surprisingly, there was still food in the world that I had never eaten before.

8th floor: Accept only Brain Platinum

… …. My whole life? Ye Zichen felt like the expression was weird. Could it be that the person upstairs is a ghost …

9th: I'm afraid of ghosts

Don't be afraid upstairs, the ninth floor means he was born to this day. However, wasn't there anyone who was curious about the strange reaction that would occur after eating this box of dessert?

10: Cockhorse

… …. I know who LZ is. I've seen this box of pastries. How could you lose something so important? When was it lost? Was there any trace left around the place where the snacks were stored?

11: Zhongshan Lang is not greedy

Wow, it seems like the one upstairs is really strong

12: The Little Disciple at SiSheng Peak

The Middle Mountain Wolf Is Not Greed

It's you? You never told me that your vests in the First Forum were this …

I don't know exactly when it was lost, but at least ten days ago it was safely in the storage box in my room, and when I needed to take it yesterday it was gone. There were no obvious marks around the storage box, and the rest of my room probably hadn't been moved. But I was in a hurry to get out, and I didn't look at it. I'll go back tonight and look at it again.

13th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

It seems that it really isn't just a box of ordinary snacks. The matter seems to be a little serious … Apologize to Lz. You shouldn't say you're poor.

14th: Our Sect Leader is rich

Yes. He was not poor.

15th: Things that cannot be solved without money

Can Lz specify the reaction after taking a snack? It's been so long, and I'm afraid the person who got the box of pastries has already eaten it.

16: Don't know Mulan is a girl

I forgot to tell you about the suit. I didn't mean to hide it.

I've already asked someone to look into the matter at our door.

In addition, it was best not to place such an important item around in the future.

17th poster: Zhongshan Lang is not greedy

Wait, what did you know upstairs? Who's Lz?

18: Receive disciples without discrimination

The teaching of the religion, the acceptance of the disciples

Read the private message.

19th floor: Zhongshan Lang is not greedy

Eh, the 15th floor seemed to know the inside story as well, so how did the 15th floor know LZ wasn't poor?

20: The Little Disciple at SiSheng Peak

Previously, I wasn't sure if the effects of the box of snacks could be revealed to everyone, so I went to ask the person who gave me the snacks.

That box of dim sum was actually a transformed snack, not exactly considered food, but more like a type of medicine. After eating it, it would transform into a beast form, which would allow it to easily complete some missions.

However, the most frightening thing was that after transforming into a beast, the consumer would not be able to transform back into their original form. They would have to eat another type of white hard candy to recover.

The problem was that all the white hard candy in my room was still there. Not a single one was missing.

I'm afraid that some people will never be able to go back to their original forms once they become animals.

21st floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

Damn it...

22nd floor: Our manor lord suddenly became rich

I'm not smart enough. IQ limits my imagination. Apologize to LZ.

23: Really smart

AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH! It felt like a very interesting dessert! Hurry up and take a look. Will you be able to develop it and sell it before the 21st?

24th floor: Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach, Cockroach

Received. Dad, we're going to work overtime right now.

25th floor: Night Cat Products Development Department

… …. So Lz was …

Alas, Lz never remembered to put his things away properly.

26: Receive disciples without discrimination

He came over here to surf the internet when he had nothing better to do, but he actually saw this kind of post. The first cry of the phoenix truly did not make one feel at ease.

27: No one is more handsome than me

Even though children had their own children, it was useless to worry about them. No one is more handsome than I am.

28th floor: Duroy flowers

Since the consequences are so serious, we should hurry up and let the Sect Leaders inform the cultivators and mortals under their jurisdiction. @ The First Forum's super manager, please take note.

29: Don't know Mulan is a girl

It was impossible for the Night Cat Merchant Shop to produce a formula, so he had better give up earlier.

30th: Things that cannot be solved without money

Please take note of this post and deal with it in a timely manner.

31: 1st forum super manager

Received.

31: Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye Chen

… …. I've already dealt with it, okay? No need to @ me anymore, I'm worried about the safety of my disciples, I'm very annoyed!

32: SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming

Benefactor Xue need not be anxious. This old monk has a word for you: others are in a hurry, I am in a hurry to come out of illness, no one can do it for me, why think back on it, if I want to die in a hurry, who can do it.

If you calm down, everything will be fine.

33rd floor: Shizun Mirror of the Temple of No Sorrows

Oh? I seem to have a very similar thing, a green semi-liquid substance. Licking it a little would cause me to choke. It's not some sweet stuff, but the effect is the same. It was given to me by Gu Yue Ye. Hmm... But shouldn't they say so much?

34th floor: East River with Hua Ruowei

Don't be a Sect Leader if you're a fool.

35th floor: Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye sank

… …. I seem to have some kind of kind, but it's not the same. What I received was a box of stinky tofu with a rich smell. It was also a gift from Gu Yue Ye. At that time, the little disciple who delivered the goods told me if I wanted to eat it or not, I had to endure it for the sake of magic … So there was another taste?

36: Li Xuehe, Jidan Manor

… ….

37: Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye Chen

"AHHH

44: Snow Treading Palace, Bright Moon Tower

It felt like things had gotten serious.

45: I'm just a passerby

Yes, a little. For the past few days, everyone has to pay attention to the unknown food. Don't touch it, I have to tell my parents.

46th floor: I'm just a passerby.

phoenix first cry

Lz, could you please tell us what kind of animal it would be if you mistook that box of dessert? This would at least minimize accidental injuries. If someone was unlucky enough to turn into an animal … We can also think of a way to keep an eye on it.

47: Don't know Mulan is a girl

Upstairs, it was really kind.

48: Received only brain platinum

I am still extremely afraid of this expression of 'life'. Upstairs, are you a human or a ghost? Otherwise, I would have nightmares tonight!

49: I'm afraid of ghosts

If you don't do something shameful during the day, you don't have to worry about knocking on the door at night. What's so scary about it?

50: Receive the gift and only accept Brain Platinum

Hello everyone, I'm coming. Thank you. I didn't know Mulan was the girl who reminded me. The animals that would turn into peacocks after taking that box of snacks.

51st floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

That's called the peacock. You can do that because you're a man. If a woman ate it, he would turn into a female peacock, and wouldn't open his mouth.

52: Zhongshan Lang is not greedy

Oh, oh, oh! Fortunately, it was this animal! He heaved a sigh of relief! If it was a peacock, it wouldn't be easy for it to be injured by accident. Fortunately, it didn't turn into a pig or a chicken or duck, so it wouldn't be able to cry even after being eaten.

Haha, suddenly I'm a bit curious about what it feels like to become a peacock.

54: The Little Disciple at SiSheng Peak

QAQ My Shizun is gone, in these two days … I just saw this post and I'm completely dumbfounded …

55: Ergou

F * ck!

56 - The Top Disciple of Death

The sky was shaking. Could it be that he had turned into a peacock and flew away?

57th: I'm just a passer-by

Could it be that your Shizun ate that box of dessert …

58: Our manor lord has suddenly become rich

I don't know! I've searched the entire mountaintop, but I still haven't seen any sign of him! There was no note on the table, and the clothes in the closet were still there. It didn't seem like they were going to travel far! "AHHH

62 poster: Received only brain platinum

One did not need to observe the peacock race; they could become a peacock. Others might not.

63: Things that cannot be solved without money

What do you mean …

64th floor: Cockhorse

On the 63rd floor, you're responsible for the speech. What do you know? Do you really know how to do it? Or do you know more than I do?

Also, Ergouzi lives in Shu.

65th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

It meant that even pigs, dogs, cows, sheep, cats, horses, rabbits, monkeys were possible. After eating, he would see what was changed.

Besides, the one upstairs, I do know more about this box of sweets than you do.

66th floor: Things that cannot be solved without money

Heh, what a big tone you have. Do you know who I am?

67th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

Smelling the smell of fire (cough) medicine, I came to remind you that it is prohibited to fight in our district for three days under the title of personal attack.

68th floor: 1st forum living area manager # 3

Not only do I know who you are, I also know who your biological father is.

69: Things that cannot be solved without money

AHHH

74: Things that cannot be solved without money

MLGB: Is it fun for you to wear a vest?!

75th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

Hey, can you please ignore me!? Can you not be so cold-blooded! There is nothing that can't be solved without money

Friend, what personal grudge do you have with LZ before you settle it? "I'm really worried to death right here. What should my Shizun do? QAQ!"

76: Ergou

Note the wording. No cultivation.

77: Something that can't be solved without money

I was wrong about QAQ

This immortal elder, please pay attention to my message. My Shizun is in danger right now, so I hope you can show me some mercy and give me some directions.

Thank you!

78th floor: Ergou

Pfft, it is such a tragic thing, but I don't know why I feel like laughing when I look at the top of the stairs.

79: Really smart

Hahahaha 1

80: The Little Disciple at SiSheng Peak

Don't laugh, it's really important. Second Gou Zi, I can understand your feelings, but unfortunately, I don't know anything about pharmacology. I'm really sorry that I can't help you.

81: Don't know Mulan is a girl

You've done well. Don't scold yourself.

82nd poster: Received only brain platinum

The friend upstairs, I've seen you a few times, you are …?

83: Don't know Mulan is a girl

You don't need to know who I am.

84th floor: Received only brain platinum

Wow... Was this a confession?

85th floor: East of the Yangtze River

Watching the confession from the front row …

86: I'm just a passer-by

Can you not confess!? QAQ, I'm dying of anxiety! I feel like I'm going to go crazy if this goes on, I'm going to go crazy, I don't know what I'm going to look like …

87: Ergou

I'm sorry, I didn't mean to offend you, but I already have someone I like.

And can we keep an eye on Ergou-tzu? I think his business is now the most important.

88: Don't know Mulan is a girl

Okay, okay, listen to the girl.

89: I'm just a passer-by

If I were to put in a word, I would say that Mr. Qian is not lacking. He's the one on the 77th floor. When he said "pay attention to your words, you're not cultured", it was not for Ergou. It was for Lz, the Little Phoenix.

90th floor: I'm just a passerby.

Ah? I looked back over my shoulder, too, and that seemed to be the case. Because Ergou was in a bit of a hurry and didn't say a single dirty word.

However, Mr. Qian had replied with a "mlgb" …

91 Floor: Jade Cold Village Flower

Hahahaha, he solved the case. Ergou is really dumb, he apologized for nothing.

92: I'm just a passerby

Don't know Mulan is a girl

I know you have someone you like. He likes you, too.

I've used up all my time online this month, so I'll come back to see you later.

Good morning.

93rd poster: Received only brain platinum

… …. For some reason, he felt that the little brother on the 93rd floor was a bit pitiful.

94th floor: Jade Cold Village Flower

Do you have no money to pay for the internet? Why don't I transfer you a little? This little money is nothing. Do something for the young.

95th floor: Cockhorse

It's not about the money, it's about the time we have to climb over the wall.

96th floor: Received only Brain Platinum

Climb over the wall... Is Big Brother Brain Platinum a foreigner? If it's a foreigner, @ Mehmet's official number

Can brother Mehane help him think of a way?

97: Jade Cold Village Flower

Can you guys stop talking about this nonsense? QAQ to look at me... I think. I can't help myself.

98: Ergou

He looked at Ergou and pleaded.

Help me out if you can. Chat can be done after you solve the problem.

99: Don't know Mulan is a girl

The matter regarding Ergou would have to wait until he had nothing that could not be solved with silver. Since his ID was so domineering, it must be very reliable. However, why did this Mr. Qian suddenly stop talking?

Because it was a bluff, if he couldn't continue bragging, he would run away.

… …. This old man could probably guess that the little friend with the platinum brain probably didn't want to go over the wall because of something, and he shouldn't be overseas either.

@ Receive only Brain Platinum

Little brother, take a look at your private message. This old man has been busy with business lately and doesn't have much time to surf the internet. There is still quite a bit of time left this month, so I can give it to you.

104: Selling candied fruits in the Underworld

… ….

Thank you, Taoist Li!

And about my father … I'm really sorry.

105: Received Brain Platinum only

No need to thank me.

The past was just the past. There was nothing to be worried about.

Go play, good child. This old man will be logging off to do business.

106: Selling candied fruits in the Underworld

When I came across this post, I knew a little about this drug and had been involved in the development of this drug before. Second Gou Zi, don't worry. I'll organize the documents and send you a private message.

107th floor: Blind people rely on technology to access the Internet

The netizen on the 101st floor, I looked at your Eddie, you had better also pay attention to the wording. No one ran, no one boasted.

I went to drink some medicine, Ergou.

The box of pastries would be judged based on the user's personality, appearance, and preferences. You can try to imagine what your Shizun would have become if he had been an animal. If you know him well enough, you think of him as he will change after taking the medicine.

108: Something that cannot be solved without money

Oh, does the upper floor really know? He couldn't be making it up for the sake of face, right?

109: Our Sect Leader is rich

… ….

110: Things that cannot be solved without money

Our Sect Leader has the money … Hello, may I trouble you to go to Gu Yue Ye's punishment platform. The Sect Leader has invited you.

111th: Whatever godfather says is right

Oh, okay, three grams of oil.

112 - Our Sect Leader is rich

No need to thank me

113: Whatever godfather says is right

… …. I don't know why, but I feel like I won't be able to get back on the 112th floor.

114th floor: Prophet

Haha, perhaps the impression that Sect Shizun Gu Yue Ye gave was just too oppressive. But then again, it had been so long, why hadn't Ergou spoken up yet? What kind of animal does your Shizun look like? Tell us, we'll keep an eye out for you.

115: Jade Cold Village Flower

A mere village flower dares to circle around this reputed one. However, seeing that your heart and eyes aren't too bad, I'll let you off this time.

As for what kind of animal this person will become, I will take care not to meddle in other people's business.

116: Ergou

Eh?

117: I'm a passer-by.

What was going on?

118: I'm a Passerby B

Why did Ergou's mood change all of a sudden? Stolen account?

119: Cockhorse

This account was originally mine, a group of fools!

120 - Ergou

Wait! This familiar tone … This tone … This account name …

Could it be the person I was thinking of …

121st floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

So what?

122nd floor: Ergou

Ergouzi

Sigh! You don't have to be so fierce. Then I want to help you too.

123: Jade Cold Village Flower

I think LZ recognized a lot of familiar vests on this floor, haha, the world is really small.

124th floor: Receive disciples without discrimination

Don't laugh, I know who Ergou is. This is going to be troublesome.

125th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

Urgent! Attention, cultivators! For some reason, SiSheng Peak will be filled with all kinds of white cats from today onwards. Cultivators, please bring all ownerless white cats to our sect. We will reward each one with 5000 gold!

126th floor: SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming

127: I'm a passer-by.

Ah! So cute! My real name is Xue Meng X White Cat!

128th floor: Huayuwei, Jiangdong

Interesting. Jiang Dong Tang wants his clan to be exterminated?

129: Ergou

Who is that guy from the Jiangdong Hall? Don't f * cking speak nonsense! Is there something wrong with you!?

130th floor: SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming

Why did he suddenly gather white cats? Our sect already has an orange cat, so we can't raise any more.

131th floor: SiSheng Peak: Elder xuanji

Please read the private message for me, Elder.

132nd floor: SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming.

135th floor: Huayuwei, Jiangdong

Miss Hua, I can't help but give you a word of advice.

136 poster: Cherish the Jade Snow Region Plum

Haha, what I'm more curious about is, a cat is 500 gold, and a white cat is such a common animal, won't SiSheng Peak go bankrupt?

137th floor: I'm a passerby.

Meow Meow QAQ

138th floor: Vegetable Packs

Look, even the vegetable buns are crying … How can you have a white cat that doesn't care about the feeling of the oranges? Was the tangerine no longer a group pet at SiSheng Peak?

139: Jade Cold Village Flower

We have a sponsor.

@ Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye

Give me money.

140th floor: SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming

… ….

141: Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye Chen

What was this expansion? Why would Sect Leader Jiang sponsor SiSheng Peak to do such a foolish thing? Is there a business opportunity that I don't know about? Could the white cat be used to refine medicine?

142nd floor: Receiving horses

You can't use cats to refine medicine!

Myrtle Mountain wanted their sect to be exterminated?!

143rd poster: Ergou

… …. Ergou's style of painting had really changed a lot … It felt like it had been refined... Threatening to annihilate someone's sect at any time, as though he was a skilled exterminator...

How much?

145: Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye Chen

F * ck! Really!?

146: Really smart

Did Gu Yue Ye have a lot of money? How could he invest in something like this that was obviously a loss? What sponsor? It was the father of the financial backer who gave away money without paying it for himself!

Sect Leader Jiang, on principle, we cannot accept money from our customers, and we are the super VIP users in Floor 151. On principle, we cannot ban the sect leader's account.

156: Forum 1 Super Administrator

Hello Administrator, my foster father is already old and his ability to express himself isn't very good, so his words aren't very clear. He means that if you ban 148-151, we will count the total floors of this post to the total floor before the problem is solved, at one hundred thousand gold per floor. For example, before the problem had been solved, this thread had been sent back to a total of 200 floors. Then, Gu Yue Ye would give your forum 200x10 = 2000 gold. If it was only at 2000 floors that the problem was solved, then it would be 2000 x10 = 20,000 gold.

But I have to say, @ Gu Yue Ye Jiang Ye, my foster father, you are wasting money like this, and people will make mistakes sometimes. It is always necessary to give others a chance to start anew.

Think about it again?

The first forum was used by the various sects to communicate with each other. However, the administrator had sealed the account number of a Sect Leader without any explanation and even banned it for life. In the future, whoever provoked Jiang Xi would have their account sealed? You were talking about principles just now, what about now? Is principle a waste of paper?

In addition, your title was given as a "violation of the rules." I would like to ask what kind of rules they violated. I have also been the moderator of this forum, so the rules are not as clear as you. I hope you can give me a reasonable explanation.

I'm coming!

I just got home, it's not convenient to type on my cell phone.

Please pay attention to the speeches on the 125th and 126th floors.

Don't laugh, I know who Ergou is. This is going to be troublesome.

125th floor: Beginning cry of the phoenix

Urgent! Attention, cultivators! For some reason, SiSheng Peak will be filled with all kinds of white cats from today onwards. Cultivators, please bring all ownerless white cats to our sect. We will reward each one with 5000 gold!

126th floor: SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming

The difference in recovery time between these two floors was not more than a minute. Combined with what had just happened, the "Phoenix's First Cry" discovered that it had lost its snack. This snack would turn into an animal after eating it. And then Ergou-tzu came to report it,

After saying that his Shizun had disappeared, Phoenix's initial reaction was neither too calm nor too polite. The others also did not have much of a reaction. However, from this floor onwards, Phoenix's initial cry suddenly said, "Things have gotten complicated."

Everyone could guess that he said that things were troublesome because he had guessed Ergou's identity. In other words, once he found out Ergou's identity, he had also realized who Ergou's Shizun was — this proved that Ergou's Shizun had a very close relationship with "Phoenix's First Cry". Phoenix's First Cry was very likely to be worried for Ergou's Shizun's safety.

Let's look again. After the "Phoenix First Scream" panicked, in less than a minute, "SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming" came online and for some reason began to collect all kinds of white cats at high prices. My friends, this is too much of a coincidence! Who would believe that it was a chance factor!

Therefore, I made a bold guess that the "Phoenix First Cry" was the nickname for "SiSheng Peak, Xue Ziming", and Xue Ziming had always been a little unconcerned towards others. To make him act this way and to transform into a beast into a cat, there was only one person that I could think of.

I don't know if what appeared before everyone's eyes was the same figure that I was thinking of.

It was always very anxious as it circled around me meowing, unable to chase me away no matter how hard it tried. However, an hour ago, I had already ordered some people to bring it with me to pacify it. I had also invited the animal experts of the Fire Phoenix Pavilion to decipher the language of the dishes and was now waiting for someone to come over.

Hello everyone, the alarm has been lifted. There are no humans mistaking my snacks, but rather entering the belly of the vegetable bag … When my family's vegetable bag was strolling around at night, I was curious, so I ate it secretly. After eating this snack, the animal's IQ will be greatly improved. The vegetable bag always wanted to tell me that it ate the food, so it also became clever. Just now, the Fire Phoenix Pavilion member had deciphered its miaow, and only now did we understand what it had been talking about all along.

It was a false alarm, but thank you for your help.

Besides, it doesn't matter if I don't get rid of my horse. I've never done anything I shouldn't have done with a trumpet, but I'm afraid you'll all be able to speculate about a lot of irrelevant underlings after a thorough investigation. To prevent malice, I've already informed the administrator to delete the post in three minutes.

The Body of the Forum "Who Moved Xue Mengmeng's Dessert"

Ch. 322 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Mystery Matron 1

Manor Head Ma of Taobao Manor[179] has recently developed a popular tool for cultivation--the relief scroll.

There are eight shining golden words on the user guide:

With this holy tool, marriage is no concern.

Xue Meng was practicing his sword on SiSheng Peak’s practice field when he first heard of this scroll. He wiped Longcheng clean with a white handkerchief, then turned his head irritably towards the disciple of Taobao Manor who recommended it to him, "What is this bullshit? Why did the Manor Head recommend this kind of junk to me?"[180]

"Well, this... our Manor Head Ma said that Sect Leader Xue, who works hard day and night, must not have any leisure time to go out and meet female cultivators. These past two years he has received a lot of advice from your Shizun Chu-zongshi, and our crafting has gotten better and better. He wants to thank SiSheng Peak with a gift...so this relief scroll was made for Sect Leader Xue.

Xue Meng was furious, and with a flash of light from Longcheng, he split the white handkerchief in two: "Made for me? How ridiculous. Do I really seem to lack women?

Taobao Manor's disciple very very carefully looked at Sect Leader Xue, who was in the prime of his life and had such a dignified bearing, sized him up, swallowed, and cautiously said, "If you’re lacking men, we could also find you a man, as long as there’s fate..."

Lack...lacking men?

Xue Meng was so angry that his face turned blue. He sheathed his sword and stood in the cool breeze of the practice field, and called angrily, "Men!"

"Sect Leader, here!"

Xue Meng's handsome brows stood upright, and he snapped, "Send our guest out!"

"Yes sir!"

Xue Meng wasn't wrong to send this guest away. Manor Head Ma is a great businessman, of course he can't just be out to set couples up. It's true that Manor Head Ma developed this "relief scroll" and that it can match up cultivator couples. But to say that Manor Head Ma developed this especially for Sect Leader Xue, that would be a huge lie.

He pulled in Xue Meng for a very simple, single reason——

To attract female cultivators.

After the Heavenly Rift, the structure of the cultivation world had completely overturned, and SiSheng Peak became one of the leading factions in the country. The rankings in the "Unintelligible List" had likewise been reshuffled, and Xue Meng unsurprisingly rose greatly in the ranks, becoming many girls' dream lover.

As a businessman involved in a wide range of fields, Manor Head Ma is bound to pay close attention to the best-selling "Unintelligible List". So, on a dark, windy night, Manor Head Ma happily picked at his feet while eating melon, and turned through the latest rankings, clicking his tongue.

“Hero ranking number one, Chu Wanning . Current status: living in seclusion."

"Hero ranking number two, Mo Weiyu. Current status: ditto.”

Spitting out a stream of watermelon seeds, Manor Head Ma and his trusted underling sobbed, "Ahh, if only these two people were single, then we could drag them in too. Who knows how many young lady cultivators we could attract to go mad over the ‘relief scroll’ then, such a pity."

After that, he showed the portrait of Chu Wanning painted in the pamphlet to his underling: "Take a look, I didn't think so before, but the more I look, the more I can appreciate him. This Chu-zongshi, such an immortal spirit, and so handsome and elegant. Alas..." The more he thought about it, the more dissatisfied he was. Finally, he bluntly said, "Why don’t we we discuss it with Mo-zongshi, flatter him a bit, and ask him to get his Shizun to help us procure some girls?"

"Sect Leader," said his subordinate coyly, "Asking Chu-zongshi to procure for us, shouldn’t we be scared of Mo-zongshi’s split persona?

"....." The cute Manor Head Ma rubbed his neck and felt a little cold. "You're right. Let's move on.”

After pondering over a cup of gongfu tea, Manor Head Ma has a new target: "What do you think about dragging Mei Hanxue in?"

The subordinate once again said coyly, "Sect Leader, our scroll is selling a lifelong match, but if Immortal Mei comes in, it’ll become a single night of romance. We shouldn’t do it, we are decent, upstanding businessmen.”

"What are you saying! I'm talking about the older one."

"Aren't you afraid of the younger one pretending to be the older one? He's done that plenty of times before."

"... That's right."

He pondered another cup of gongfu tea.

"Then why not Jiang Xi? He's good-looking, he can bring in lots of resources, and he's quite shrewd.

"But he's a shady dealer," continued his subordinate. "Sect Leader, you are decent and kind. You'd better not do business with people like him. Be careful not to lose everything. And with his temper, if he found out that you wanted to use him as bait to attract female cultivators to buy relief scrolls, I'm afraid he'll turn you into a human pig and throw you into Gu Yue Ye's pigsty so female pigs could spend their youthful days with you.

Manor Head Ma laughed and stroked his subordinate's head: "Little brother, I like your honest and outspoken manner."

Turning back and forth several times, Manor Head Ma finally said, "I suppose... we should still get Xue Meng. Although he has no position on the rich list, and also no position on the tall list, at least he's pretty high on the looks list. Furthermore, he's a new sect leader, and he's about the age when he should be considering marriage...let's give it a try? Send someone to talk to him.

Hence, Taobao Manor's disciple would say the nonsense phrase, "Quietly ask the Sect Leader if we lack men".

Xue Meng, Sect Leader Xue, was furious.

His lungs were going to explode - does he look like he lacks men? It's more like men lack him - ptui! No, that’s also wrong to say that men lack him! He was so mad he became confused!

Since Xue Meng succeeded as sect leader, his temper had become somewhat restrained, and it was rare for SiSheng Peak's people to see him so angry. So Elder Xuanji asked with great concern, "Lord, what's wrong? Is something worrying you?"

Xue Meng gritted his teeth and said, "I don't understand. There are so many people in this world who lack cultivation partners. Why did that one named Ma think of me?"

Elder Xuanji was exceptionally clever, and immediately understood that he was afraid of having his sensitive points hurt, so said in a rush, "The Lord is Sect Leader. After all, you’re someone the people will focus on, it’s only normal that you’d be the center of attention. Don't take it to heart."

Xue Meng said angrily, "Then why doesn't he pay attention to Jiang Xi?"

"... Sect Leader Jiang’s face is as before, but after all, his age is up there. Actually, when he was young, there also weren’t just a few people who thought of him.

Xue Meng listened, and for some reason became even more depressed. He thought of his mother, and his heart ached. He also couldn’t help but think of a young Jiang Yechen--fickle, untrusting, cold-blooded, and arrogant--and thought: how much did he cause his mother to grieve?

But he didn’t want to make the secret between him and Jiang Xi clear to others, so he just cursed a few times and changed the subject: "Why doesn’t the one named Ma care about Mei Hanxue then?"

Elder Xuanji smiled with unspoken meaning: "Lord, you know how Mei-xianzhang[181] is. If he wants to settle down, I'm afraid he could cause another rain of blood in the upper and lower cultivation world.

“……”

“Then then then, then--”

He “then”-d for a while, but couldn't think of a third person who could be pushed forward. Previously when Xue Zhenyong urged him to start a family, he could use Chu Wanning and Mo Ran as shields. But if they were to be mentioned now, it would only make him feel more desolate and gloomy, as if he was all alone in the world.

Xue Meng's breath sat in his chest like a big stone, and he could hardly move it.

He was so angry he began to have a headache, and finally he simply said:

"That's not true! Whether this Sect Leader marries, and when it might happen, what concern is it of others? There’s nothing to worry about! I'm leaving!"

Having learned from his Shizun how to stop a conversation, he haughtily brushed his sleeves and left.

Xue Meng sincerely hopes that Manor Head Ma’s creation will make him go bankrupt.

However, contrary to his wishes, and despite the lack of his help, within a few months the "relief scroll" became popular throughout the land.

Xue Meng was indignant: "What is this world coming to? Are people nowadays so idle?"

"You can't say that." Elder Xuanji is very fair. "The previous two months were leading up to New Year's. Lord, you know that during this festival, the elders in the family will use every possible method to encourage their heirs to marry. Manor Head Ma's relief scroll has resolved many Jianghu youth's desperate situations, it isn't strange that it's sold out."

"……"

"Also, I've heard that the scroll is very intricately made, so that even if you weren't looking for a partner, you can simply treat it as a fascinating novelty.

"For example?"

"I can't say." Xuanji gently said, "But Elder Tanlang was bored and bought one to amuse himself. He said he thought it was boring, but ten times I went to his room to find him, and nine times he was pondering that scroll.

Xue Meng was amazed: "Doesn't Elder Tanlang have no interest in remarrying?"

"En. He has no intention of remarrying." Xuanji smiled faintly. "He just has the temper of a child and likes to play with new things, so he spends his leisure time with that scroll."

"……"

Tanlang is like a child?

Xue Meng was silent. Xuanji and Tanlang became elders of SiSheng Peak at approximately the same time. Typically, Tanlang always speaks eccentrically, isn’t very close to other people, and is completely incompatible with Chu Wanning. Xuanji is the only one who can not only talk to Chu Wanning, but also amuse Tanlang to the point of laughter.

Xuanji is probably the only one who can compare the sneering Tanlang to a child with such calmness and composure.

Elder Xuanji laughed and said, "Lord, if you are curious, why don't you buy one and try it?"

"... Cough." Xue Meng cleared his throat and said arrogantly, "I'm the leader of a great sect, why would I be curious about such a lousy thing? I won't try it!"

However, the next night.

SiSheng Peak's Danxin Hall is ablaze with lights, but both sandalwood gates are closed.

Sect Leader Xue said that tonight he would seal off his cultivation, and sent all the high-ranking disciples in charge of serving him to guard the gate. The only exception would be if Elder Yuheng visited from Nanping Mountain; otherwise, he was not to be disturbed even if the sky collapsed.

The disciples all highly admired the hard working Sect Leader Xue. Moved by Sect Leader Xue's diligent efforts to govern, they each expressed their dedication to protecting him with all their heart, and that they would definitely make no mistakes.

None of them knew that Sect Leader Xue was at that moment sitting on the renovated high seat of Danxin Hall, looking at the jade scroll he holds in his hand with the utmost earnesty. There are two impressively large words on the scroll:

Relief Scroll.

Yes, that's right. It's Manor Head Ma's best seller.

It just arrived today.

And for the sake of protecting the Lord’s face, Xue Meng had obtained it using the name of Elder Xuanji.

The young Sect Leader Xue held the relief scroll and scanned it curiously. This tool was made from a particular jade that had been filled with abundant spiritual energy, and can autonomously manifest a faint golden script. In terms of appearance alone, it’s very well done.

Xue Meng began to follow the instructions on the case and silently read the spell of unsealing, and tried to use this mystic tool that was so popular throughout the land——

"The extinguished upstairs light accompanies dawn frost, the single sleeping person awakes in a joyous bed. Thinking of the night’s passions, the ends of the earth aren’t so far.

After this dismal and wretched line of poetry, a few new lines appeared on the Jade Slip:

"Spring returns to the earth, even swallows are paired, Xianzhang, are you still alone in the empty room?"

Xue Meng：“……”

Jade Slip: "Please give Taobao Manor your trust, but also give yourself a chance. Put aside the embarrassment of meeting the matchmaker, close the distance between the upper and lower cultivation worlds. This relief scroll will allow you to no longer envy the courtship of others, and allow you to find true love in the vast seas of people.

Xue Meng again: "....."

Jade Slip: "Xianzhang, before using the scroll, please name yourself."

What?

He needs to name himself?

Xue Meng was an honest man, so he picked it up and answered earnestly, "My surname is Xue, I’m called Xue Meng."

The Jade Slip did not respond.

Xue Meng went on to add earnestly, "You can also call me Xue Ziming."

The Jade Slip reacted this time, and a line of golden words appeared on it.
——

Manor Head Ma would like to gently remind you, when using the scroll, please employ a nickname. Such as "Jieke Ma" and "Dongqiang Liu". This instrument is refined by Taobao Manor of the West Lake. We must regretfully decline any names such as "Gu Yue Ye ";[182] we hope you understand.

Xue Meng looked at this, wrinkled his brows, and frowned, muttering, "That Jiang Xi, is he stealing that one named Ma's business again?"

Whispers aside, any animosity with Gu Yue Ye doesn't have much to do with him. Xue Meng saw the orange cat left behind by his mother spread out on the carpet, licking its paws. He suddenly thought up a name for himself and said to the Jade Slip, "My name is Veggie Bun then." After that, he patted the head of the big orange cat and said, "Sorry, I'm borrowing your name for a bit."

The orange cat turned his face indifferently and continued to lick his back hair.

Xue Meng vaguely felt that the beast's eyes were full of contempt, and seemed to imply something about him. After careful consideration, he had a sudden realization - his mother's cat was called Veggie Bun, something all of SiSheng Peak knew. If he used this name, wouldn't it be easy to be recognized by someone he knew? It really wasn't appropriate.

Xue Meng sighed and stroked the big orange cat: "Smart Veggie Bun, truly you've thought this through."

"Meow..."

So Sect Leader Xue thought about it again. Finally, he gazed upon the potted plants planted by his mother in the hall before her death, and at the scrolls of waterways that his father had hanged on the walls. Finally, he gave himself a name that wasn't in the least original——

"My name is Wang Xiaoxue."[183]

The inability for anyone from SiSheng Peak to name things, as it turns out, had been inherited, from Xue Zhenyong's nickname for Shi Mei "Xue Ya",[184] to the two peaks "Aaaaahhhh" and "Waaaahhhh", then to Mo Ran's spiritual weapon "Jiangui", and finally to Xue Meng's present nickname "Wang Xiaoxue".

No one has the right to laugh at anyone else.

Originally, the nickname Wang Xiaoxue was unpleasant enough, but then the Jade Slip had a wonderful misunderstanding. After receiving Xue Meng's nickname, a few new lines of gold characters appeared.

Ok, Wang Xiaoxue-xianjun.[185]

Xue Meng：“……”

Xue Meng：“？？？”

Xue Meng: "That's a woman's name! I said my name is Wang Xiaoxue! My mother's surname Wang, my dad Xue Zhenyong's Xue!"

The Jade Slip continued to display golden words: "The rename spell is being adjusted; great apologies to Wang Xiaoxue-xianjun, but name changes are temporarily unavailable."

Xue Meng was getting a little angry: "It's clear that you misheard, why can't you change it?"

Jade Slip: "Xianjun, please don't be angry. if you have to change your name, I can pass on a message to Manor Head Ma, and ask him to modify it for you.

... There's no way he wants to contact Manor Head Ma!!

He could just imagine Manor Head Ma snickering and coming over to tease him --- Is Sect Leader Xue not so shut off anymore?[186] Has Sect Leader Xue accepted reality? Is Sect Leader Xue short of men or short of women today?

... what a nightmare.

Xue Meng had to say, "Okay, okay, you say Wang Xiaoxue, then we'll go with Wang Xiaoxue. You really are lousy, it's like you're hearing impaired."

The Jade Slip isn't angry, and said mildly, same as before: "Good Wang Xiaoxue-xianjun, in order to have a better understanding of your character, please cooperate with the relief scroll's instructions, and answer the following questions. After this, the scroll will present to you the talented, intelligent, beautiful person best matched to you. We wish you luck and success on a quick connection, and a successful match.

Xue Meng isn't very interested in quickly finding an opportune match, but he is rather curious about the greater cultivation world, and who in that world the relief scroll thinks could catch his eye.

Thereupon he said swiftly: "Ask away."

"First question: have you ever been hurt by love?"

Xue Meng touched his chin and answered, "No."

"Second question: have you ever been in love with someone?"

"No."

"Third question: have you ever secretly admired someone?"

"No."

"Fourth question: have you ever been confessed to?"

"No."

The Jade Slip did not ask any more questions. It hesitated for a moment, but then a new line of words appeared: "Xianzhang, please don't use the same incantation repeatedly to take liberties with this scroll."

"Who's repeating incantations?!" Xue Meng was immediately upset. "If I said no i just meant no, are you telling me I have to make something out of nothing now?"

The Jade Slip quickly said, "Sorry, I was wrong. Fifth question: what is your age this year?

Xue Meng was reluctant to report his age. He muttered vaguely, "twenty-something."

"All right. Twenty-something year old Wang Xiaoxue-xianzhang, in the past two decades of your life, you have never been in a romantic relationship, never secretly admired anyone, never been confessed to, and never been hurt by love.

"Yes."

Jade Slip: "Good Wang Xiaoxue-xianzhang. I want to ask you a sixth question, but before I do, I want to know whether you prefer a straightforward person, or someone who beats around the bush.

Xue Meng raised his eyebrows and said, "Nonsense, of course I like straight people. Who likes to beat around the bush?"

"All right." The Jade Slip then asked very frankly, "Sixth question: are you ugly?"

Xue Meng：“……”

After the long silence, the high-ranking disciples outside Danxin Hall heard the sound of the Sect Leader smashing things angrily and the big orange cat’s horrified meowing.

It has to be said that Taobao Manor's refinement techniques have progressed greatly over the years. The relief scroll stood strong and undamaged under Xue Meng's smashing, and it tenaciously produced glittering golden words trying to persuade Sect Leader Xue to answer the remaining questions. Finally, the scroll manifested twenty mystical playing cards, and one by one they floated into Xue Meng's hands.

No, they’re not really playing cards, they just look like them. They don't have any pips; rather, in a very illusory and hazy manner, they depicted twenty cultivators.

"Wang Xiaoxue-xianjun, who is not ugly but has been single for 20 years, congratulations! According to my divination, the soul who matches you best in the world is hidden in these twenty cards, waiting for your discovery."

Honestly, Xue Meng does not believe in this nefarious business.

He felt that during that time with the gourd he only saw his own face, so there must be no one in the world who could catch his eye. But he couldn't help his deepest curiosity, so he still couldn't wait to see the twenty cards.

Sect Leader Xue named himself "Wang Xiaoxue-xianjun", and naturally no one else on the cards would boldly use their real name. The first card Xue Meng saw was for a cultivator named Ruo Ying.

The relief scroll described them as follows:

Ruo Ying-xianzhang, dresses in misty silks, shines like a pearl, has a quiet fragrance, is still and relaxed.

This person is of sublime social position, is from a wealthy family, is good at handling bad accounts, is an expert at housekeeping, is clean-living and honest, but lives simply. Although there are often people who flatter them, Ruo Ying-xianzhang's heart is aloof, and will ignore all temptations as if they were nothing. This person is a high mountain flower that everyone desires, but cannot pluck.

Hobbies: Cultivating flowers and plants, caring for the sick.

Without looking at anything else, just seeing this shocked Xue Meng.

This person appears to be a cold beauty capable of causing the downfall of cities, but also someone who doesn't get contaminated by any surrounding filth, is self-sufficient, doesn't depend on a man, is a sensible housekeeper, kind-hearted... and their most important hobby is like his mother Madame Wang!

How rare this is!

As a good son well-versed in the Twenty-Four Filial Exemplars, who worshipped his mother like a god, Xue Meng believed from an early age that if a girl had a temperament like Madame Wang, she would never err after marrying into a family. Just look at his mother and see how well she cared for her husband and son.

It has to be said that Xue Meng feels his heart quicken just a bit.

But he still had some doubts. First, he doubted that if there was such a rare creature in the cultivation world, then how could he never have heard of them?

Second, is a bit of somewhat eccentric intuition.

He pinched the card filled with golden text and read it again. Ah, how strange, why is it that when reading it more, he feels like he seems to have met someone similar somewhere?

...Who is it?

Ch. 323 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Mystery Matron 2

Xue Meng originally just wanted to learn a bit more about this popular relief scroll, and didn’t intend to use it in depth. He had even less intention of following the scroll’s recommendation and actually meet a cultivator it suggested on those cards.

There were probably quite a few people with this same mindset. Manor Head Ma felt this was no good; spiritual tools should be used after all, and if they were just played with, not used, they’d soon be thrown into a corner to gather dust.

So a few days later, the Jade Slip burst out with a huge announcement:

"For the next three months, all those who actively seek cultivation partners through the relief Jade Slip will be added to the Taobao Manor VIP list. After three months, no matter whether you find a partner or not, Manor Head Ma will choose a name from this list, and offer to them Taobao Manor’s most incomparably grand gift box. We sincerely look forward to your participation.”

The day the Jade Slip made this announcement, the upper and lower cultivation worlds exploded.

Almost everyone was talking about this matter.

"Taobao Manor’s most incomparably grand gift box! Have you seen its contents?”

Passerby A was a money-grubbing miser: "I saw! One hundred and eighty high-grade magic documents, one thousand pieces of high-grade refining stones, one hundred Taobao Manor discount iron vouchers, ten top-grade magic smelting drawings of Taobao Manor. Great! Truly an exemplary model of a righteous businessmen, the greatest merchant of the cultivation world!"

Passerby C is neither a miser nor a lapdog; his thoughts are the most pure: "Ah, you're all a bunch of commonors, take a look at me... I've got no interest in these in jewels, techniques, or diagrams. But I did hear that in the box there are 500 pieces of original and rare erotic art and stories...Heh heh heh, I hear these have never been publicly distributed, so if I get my hands on them, I'll be set for the rest of my life! "

The crowd all glared at him: "What a good-for-nothing!"

But one must admit, Manor Head Ma's treasure chest accurately jabs at the weaknesses of almost all the cultivators in the world, whether wealth, sex, or knowledge... these are all points of extreme temptation.

And Manor Head Ma said that it wasn't necessary to successfully find a partner; as long someone actively used the relief scroll, even if they were still single after three months, they could also participate in the drawing, same as everyone else.

Since then, due to the reduction in restrictions and increase in enticements, countless cultivators who used to just play around casually out of curiosity all planned to genuinely and vigorously use their scrolls, all for this gift box.

Among the most pitiful of these is the poor and low-ambitioned leader of Sisheng Peak, the arrogant Xue Meng, Xue Ziming.

Xue Meng rummaged through the twenty playing cards again.

He had already read through the introductions of the recommended cultivators once, and thought that they were all decent, but the first one, "Ruo Ying" made a strong first impression, so he thought that she was the best.

The relief scroll's so-called "active use," is to meet the other party in person.

And the way to meet in person is very particular. Manor Head Ma wants to let people look for their "soul companion", so he thought physical appearance should matter least. So how to prevent people judging each other by their looks?

The solution was quite natural.

When two people meet, they need to wear a special Taobao Manor sachet, which will make the wearer's voice and appearance change in the other person's senses. Thus, when they meet, both will know that the other's appearance is false, and they will take more care to understand their counterpart's inner self.

It is not until the sachet is removed that the illusion will disappear and the real appearance of the other person will be seen.

It has to be said that Manor Head Ma truly loves money, and really has taken a lot of trouble.

In order to find soul companions for the lone wolves of the upper and lower cultivation worlds, how much did he rack his brains and leave no stone unturned!

Xue Meng made an appointment to meet with Ruo Ying-xianzi.

His motivations weren’t pure, he didn’t hold any hope of actually finding a lifelong partner, and he went for the sake of Taobao Manor's gift box, but Sect Leader Xue is still Sect Leader Xue after all. When he was young, he could casually trade insults with girls out in the open streets, but when he became a Sect Leader, he had to show some elegance and appropriate bearing.

In Xuan Ji's often repeated advice, "Sect Leader, your words and deportment not only represent yourself, but also represent SiSheng Peak."

So in order to not lose face for SiSheng Peak, Xue Meng diligently prepared for his date.

To tell the truth, it was the first time in his life that he had a date with a female cultivator all alone, and it would be lying to say that he wasn’t nervous. Sect Leader Xue seems very indifferent and calm, when in fact, there are still some weaknesses in his heart. The day before his appointment, he laid in bed, holding Ruo Ying-xianzi’s card, flipping it over and looking over it countless times, muddling over the phrase "of noble status, with a home filled with magnificent jewels".

This is a rich woman.

But that didn’t matter. Xue Meng secretly gave himself a pep talk; even though he didn’t rank on the list of the wealthy on the "unintelligible list", he was still a man who owned several mountain peaks, so how could some nobody little girl be wealthier than him? How high could her position be, higher than his?

He couldn’t make a decision.

Wait, yes, that's it. When they meet tomorrow, he must take her to the most luxurious venue, eat the most sumptuous meal, and get her envy, really let her know who’s the hottest guy in the lower cultivation world!

Sect Leader Xue embraced this wrongheaded dream of being wealthier than his date, and imagined that Ruo Ying-guniang[187] would cast envious eyes on him, and say to him with incomparable awe, " Wang Xiaoxue-gege, how rich you are!" He couldn’t help but reveal a sweet, contented, smile, hugged his Longcheng, and fell asleep in his big bed in a daze..

The next day, Xue Meng got up early. As agreed, he wore Taobao Manor's special sachet and went to Yangzhou City to meet this female cultivator.

Before leaving, he specifically asked Xuanji what was the best tea house in Yangzhou, and also in passing asked how expensive it was. Although it was very painful for him, he felt he could bear it to save face for SiSheng Peak. In short, he couldn’t make a fool of himself in front of this rich lady!

When he used the relief scroll to transmit the words “Xihua Pavilion” to his date, Xue Meng had a very smug expression on his face.

The most luxurious teahouse in Yangzhou City! Just see if you can handle it!

Xue Meng could almost imagine her waking up in her chambers and, seeing the meeting spot appear on the scroll, lightly parting her vermilion lips, her bright eyes widening in astonishment, and murmuring softly, "Ah, he truly is a noble and generous young master..."

While his imagination was flying, the relief scroll in his hand lit up.

Ruo Ying: OK.

... OK?

That...that’s it?

Xue Meng was so angry he almost fell head-first off Longcheng. No! if you don't express any joy and surprise, that’s fine, but why didn’t you at least say say thank you? What family are you from, this is absolutely improper!!

Seething with rage, he sat on his sword and flew over the Yangtze River. The relief scroll lit up again. This Ruo Ying girl once again sent a message: Xihua Pavilion is very busy today. If you don't mind, why don’t we go somewhere else. I’ll treat.

Xue Meng's displeasure eased slightly.

... Alright, so this girl is pretty polite. First date with a man, she’d prefer to take the lead. The single "OK" was probably because she wasn’t good at expressing herself, just like his Shizun.

Thinking of Chu Wanning, Xue Meng sat up a bit straighter and thought, yes, a gentleman should be more generous. Besides, the other party was a girl. Even if she wasn’t very polite, he should be more patient.

So he replied on the relief scroll, "I said it was my invitation, no need to change that."

After five minutes, she replied again with one word.

"OK."

Xue Meng：“……”

The first time he threw a tantrum, the second time he remained calm. Xue Meng wasn’t so angry this time. He sat on Longcheng, swaying his legs, breaking through the clouds, and flew all the way from the misty clouds to the waterways south of the Yangtze River.

He will arrive at Yangzhou City soon.

Before it was time for his meeting with Ruo Ying, Xue Meng walked through the bustling and noisy streets, and looked around leisurely. Yangzhou City was under the jurisdiction of Gu Yue Ye. The people flowed through like water, the flowers were like brocade, and it all seemed like a great show of happiness and prosperity. This was coupled with old men giving pedicures on the sides of the road and flower-selling aunties lazily hawking their wares with accents like his mother’s. Hearing this made him feel quite pleasant, and his bearing relaxed.

He bought a sweet candy from the candy stall, and ate as he strolled. When it was almost time, he went straight to Xihua Pavilion on the edge of West Lake.

At first glance, there are a lot of people.

Almost every guest was equipped with Taobao Manor's sachet. It seemed that there were quite a few cultivators actively participating in Manor Head Ma's grand event, and everyone wanted to show off beyond their means by crowding into the most expensive place in the city.

Xue Meng, quite speechless, looked around the lively lobby, and said to the waiter approaching him, "I have a reservation for a second floor room. My surname is Xue... cough Wang. The surname is Wang."

After a pause, he added a line with some embarrassment: "Wang Xiaoxue."

The waiter at this time was probably numb to this flock of matchmaking cultivators. He didn't even blink about such a foolish name. Wang Xiaoxue didn’t even compare; names like Zhao Dagen,[188] Du Jiyan,[189] and so on, he’s heard them all. So he calmly and indifferently led Xue Meng upstairs.

"The Wind Room. As you requested, it's got a window view."

Xue Meng looked at it. Good man! Southern people really are elegant; this was supposed to be a private room, but was actually just divided by a thin bamboo curtain. The bamboo curtain was fine, with exquisite workmanship. Beyond it you could see impressions of potted plants on the other side. Elegant, definitely, but also misleading. If you raised your voice a bit everyone around you could hear.

But he’s here, so what can he do?

Xue Meng sat down, and it just so happened that Ruo Ying-xianzi had messaged him through the relief scroll:

"Just now sent off a business client. I just left, so I’ll be a bit late."

“……”

Xue Meng stared at these lines multiple times and thought he had met a master.

This is too much. The woman's showing off her wealth even before she’s appeared! Instead of showing off jewels or jewelry, she’s showing off having important business clients to see her early in the morning, so you knew that for her time is money.

What a busy woman boss! What a stark contrast to himself, who spent the morning idling around and eating tanghulu.

Xue Meng bitterly a cup of tea brewed the waiter brewed for him.

This is a ferocious woman, Xue Meng thought, I'll let this round go. When she comes, he must give her a show of strength, and let her know.——

He, Xue Ziming, was inexhaustible!

Ch. 324 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Mystery Matron 3

Xue Meng waited until he almost couldn’t stand it anymore, and finally heard the waiter from outside the room: "For the Wind Room, please come this way."

At long last, the woman was here.

Xue Meng shook off his annoyance and sat up straight. Learning from his father, he adopted a steady attitude, and lifted his eyes to gaze outside.

He only heard a set of unhurried footsteps that, neither too fast nor too slow, walked towards him. An indistinct figure passed through the bamboo curtains, which were partly rolled aside. The first thing that came into sight was a silver water pipe engraved with a one-legged dragon pattern.[190] Attached to the pipe was a blue silk sack embroidered with pollia flowers.[191] The hand lighting the pipe was exceedingly elegant and slender, with a sensuous wrist that had upon it a delicate cinnabar-colored mole.

Xue Meng vaguely felt as if he had seen such a hand somewhere, but with his blurred vision, he couldn’t properly recall. As he was puzzling this over, the other person entered the room.

On the relief scroll, it was declared: when wearing the blind date sachet, the sachet will wrap an illusion around your body. The way you look in the eyes of others will be a mix of your own original appearance, plus the likes and fancies of those others.

To clarify, Ruo Ying definitely didn’t actually look like this. Since Xue Meng felt that she should look a certain way, her face when she appeared would lean towards that appearance. However, there would remain some shadow of her true self.

Therefore, since Xue Meng thought that Ruo Ying should look something like his mother, the person who came out from behind the bamboo curtain really did look somewhat like Madame Wang.

Her skin was very white; she looked very dignified and gentle, and between her knit eyebrows she exuded a slight aura of sickliness.

Xue Meng suddenly stood up as if he had been smashed by a boulder. It was no wonder he was so moved; anyone who has someone resembling their beloved deceased mother appear before him, even if he knew the appearance was false, couldn't help but have mixed feelings.

He opened his mouth, and the word "mother" almost came out. Fortunately, the waiter just then followed Ruo Ying into the room, which suddenly snapped Xue Meng's mind back to the present. Xue Meng's tongue rolled up, and he carelessly changed "mother" into "you".[192]

"You……"

"You are Wang Xiaoxue?" Ruo Ying spoke; her voice was like cold clear water. Although this voice was also distorted by illusion, it wasn't the least bit like Madame Wang's.

"Y-yes."

Ruo Ying sized him up with her glass-colored apricot eyes.

For a split second, Xue Meng had a very strange feeling. He felt that this Ruo Ying's gaze held an innate fussiness and coldness, even a tiny bit of impatience.

"I don't have a very good memory, and I forget names easily." Ruo Ying said. "Let’s make this simple. Can I call you Wang-xianzhang?"

Even though she said it like a question, there was no uncertainty in her tone at all.

There was even some arbitrariness there.

Xue Meng began to whisper to himself, how could he feel that this kind of person was like his mother?

But whispers aside, Sect Leader Xue was still a sect leader. Under the careful guidance of Xuanji, Xue Ziming's current ability to deal with people couldn’t be compared to his past. So he brought forth the demeanor of a sect leader, cleared his throat and said, "That’s fine. It’s nice to meet you, Ruo—"

He wanted to call her Ruo-guniang, but Manor Head Ma was quite an ingenious man. In order to help people find their soul companions without interference, he added various spells to the sachets. Aside from creating an illusory appearance, for the other party, the sachets also forbid the wearer from asking their date’s age, height, weight... even gender.

So before the word "guniang" even left Xue Meng’s mouth, he was stopped by the sachet’s silencing spell.

Old Manor Head Ma seemed to be waving his arms and shouting—age, height, weight, looks—and gender, none of these are the key to finding love!

Will all cultivators please pay more attention to the soul beneath the skin!

Xue Meng, however, was at this time not aware of Manor Head Ma's painstaking design. He thought Taobao Manor’s product had probably once again malfunctioned, so he knit his brows and corrected himself: "Ruo-xianzhang".

"En." Ruo Ying accepted it with ease, and with the attitude of some big shot sat opposite Xue Meng.

Xue Meng：“……”

No way, this sister, shouldn’t you be making some proper salutations and give some kind of thanks?

Matron Ruo glanced at him indifferently and nodded. "You can sit, no need to stand up."

Xue Meng: "...???"

What kind of tone is this?

If this had happened before, Xue Meng probably would have already jumped up and started loudly arguing, but now Xue Meng resisted.

He was already the most attractive youth in the lower cultivation world, a master possessing several mountain peaks, and a mature man who glorified SiSheng Peak on behalf of his father.

That’s right, he shouldn’t get mad at girls.

So Xue Meng sat down in front of Ruo Ying. He straightened his posture, extended his fingers, and pushed Xihua Pavilion’s refreshments menu towards the other person: "What would you like to drink?"

Ruo Ying didn’t seem interested in any tea or pastries, and said, "Get what you’d like."

After that, he leaned back in the one-legged dragon patterned sandalwood chair, and added some dried grasses into the water pipe.

Xue Meng: "... Do you smoke hemp? Tobacco?

"A special recipe." Ruo Ying’s eyelids were lowered, and not inclined to look up. "It won't affect you."

"Hold on, you're so young—"

"Who told you I was young?"

Xue Meng stared. "How old are you?"

Ruo Ying leaned against the window, ignited a flame at her fingertips, lit the water pipe, took an indifferent puff, and slowly said the following:

"What’s that got to do with you?"

“……”

"Also." Ruo Ying lifted her refined chin and pointed at the brocade sack hanging around Xue Meng’s waist. "That Ma set up a pile of restrictions. I can't answer your question until I get rid of this sachet."

"Why don’t we just relax? I’m just here to see you, not to actually find some kind of cultivation partner."

Xue Meng was shocked. Fuck, how did this woman steal his lines?!

If neither of the people having a blind date have any genuine intention of continuing, it's especially important to seize the first opportunity to say this, since the one that lags behind would then be the one to lose face.

Xue Meng currently felt like he very much had no face.

He not only felt that he has no face, but also feels that the other party must have some exceptional level of experience with blind dates — otherwise how could she know so soon to strike first and gain the upper hand?!

She must have been dragged off to meet a thousand potential matches by a matchmaker, and been rejected a thousand and one times for being too ferocious.

This must be so!

Xue Meng's handsome face was slightly green, and he ground his teeth: "You thought I was here for a blind date? I... I'll tell you the truth! My family circumstances are very good, and if I just wave my hands the line of people knocking at my doorway would stretch from Yangzhou to Sichuan!

Ruo Ying looked at him indifferently.

When Xue Meng spoke he felt like an emperor.

After he spoke, the eyes of the other party barely paid him any mind.

Suddenly, he felt like an idiot.

And the gentle, mild tone of Ruo Ying's following statement increasingly reinforced his feelings of being an idiot.

Ruo Ying took another puff of her water pipe, slightly tilted her head, and said to the waiter, whose face said he'd seen this all before, "Bring the Jade Terrace Plum Blossom set. For this Xianzhang.

Xue Meng's eyes bugged out. "Didn't you say I can order?!"

"I'm a regular customer here," Matron Ruo Ying said with great presence. "The Jade Terrace Plum Blossom set is quite sweet. It's most suitable for you unsophisticated young folk."

Xue Meng got even more angry.

He was so mad that when the tea arrived, he didn't want to move at all. The tea was clear and cold, the pastries were sparkling. They looked exceptionally attractive, but he wasn't tempted one bit.

Ruo Ying: You're not eating?

Xue Meng, in a rage: "I like to waste my money, what's it to you!"

When Ruo Ying heard him speak like this, she squinted her apricot eyes and sketched some faint lines in the pipe smoke. "Is Wang-xianzhang from West Lake Taobao Manor?"

"No."

"A wealthy merchant from Linyi?"

"Also no."

"A disciple of Yangzhou Gu Yue Ye?"

"Gu Yue Ye? What's so great about them," Xue Meng said lightly, "Forget their disciples, hehe, even if their sect leader Jiang Xi were to lose money to present a gift to me, I wouldn’t take it!”

For an unknown reason, Ruo Ying, after hearing this, slightly raised her eyebrows.

Xue Meng：”What’s with that expression? Don’t believe me?”

Ruo Ying sneered and did not reply, but continued to smoke her water pipe. After a while, she suddenly said, "Since you’re so wonderful, why don’t you order some more? I haven't had breakfast yet."

Although Xue Meng currently found her very unpleasant, he has no intention to refuse, since she said she wanted to eat. He picked up the menu and asked, "What do you want?"

"Eighteen exquisite delights. I order this every time I come.”

Xue Meng said indifferently, "Okay, just order - cough cough!"

Glancing at the price listed on the menu, his eyes almost popped out!

"Every time you come—this is what you get?!"

Ruo Ying said apathetically, "And add a pot of top-grade Jincheng Chunlu tea."

Xue Meng felt blood coagulating in this chest. At this moment, even a gentle pat from a kitten would lead to him violently coughing blood.

If it weren't for the fact that he arranged this date himself, he would have wondered if Ruo Ying wasn’t just some tea-selling little sister from Xihua Pavilion in disguise! She just wanted to play Xian Ren Tiao with him!!![193]

After the meal, Sect Leader Xue’s heart dripped blood and his purse was half empty. When the two exited Xihua Pavilion, Xue Meng's footsteps were drifting.

"Are you unwell?"

Faced with Ruo Ying's slightly concerned inquiry, the face-saving Sect leader Xue forced his spirits up: "Unwell? No no no, I'm not unwell, I’m very well."

"If one is sick, one should not treat it as taboo and avoid the doctor."

Xue Meng stared. "You’re the one who’s sick!" I'm perfectly fine!"

"Really?" Ruo Ying's voice seemed to have been soaked in Chinese herbal medicine, and her words were suffused with a clean, medicinal fragrance. He said quietly, "Your lower disk is hollow, your waist and knees are limp and aching, and you have heat in the five centers."[194] Her almond eyes swept across Xue Meng's whole body, giving Xue Meng the illusion that he had been cut open from skin to bone, "Your distinguished self has a kidney deficiency."[195]

Xue Meng was so angry that he shouted, "Shut up you quack!!!”

The quack added detachedly, "Also, your liver fire is blazing."[196]

Xue Meng：“……”

It seemed that his previous fancies were totally wrong. Women who followed the path of medicine were not necessarily like his mother, who made those around her feel enveloped in a spring breeze.[197] There are also these disgraces who make people feel like they’re sitting on pins and needles!

But the thing that caused Xue Meng to crumble is one of the Jade Slip's rules: according to its requirements, when two people meet, they must stay together at least six hours, or the date will not count towards his active use.

Well alright, he's here now, and the money has been spent. If this still doesn't count, then he's really lost out.

For the sake of not having a total loss, Xue Meng decided to endure. He must endure!

Also, this woman had apparently been indifferent towards him since the very beginning, which greatly gnawed at Xue Meng's ego. Thus, Xue Meng made a secret decision in his heart:

Not only do I have to endure, but within the next five hours I'll also establish my persona as some mysterious big shot! Yeah, like someone who can treat pearls and gold like nothing, that kind of guy!

He must make this wealthy matron, who looks down upon him with dog eyes, regret endlessly. At the very least, he must leave impress upon her a strong sense of failure.

But he's already brought her to Yangzhou's most lavish Xihua Pavilion, and she didn't have any super emotional reaction, so where else could he go that might intimidate her?

When he thought about it, he suddenly remembered an exquisite place—

Sect Leader Xue, whose morale was boosted by his current sense of injustice, raised his head like a millionaire and said profoundly, "We strangers came together by chance, sp I will not allow Ruo-xianzhang to disturb herself over my health. In any case, we still have quite a bit of time left in the day, so we shouldn’t just stand around foolishly. Why don't I take you to a nice place and broaden your horizons?

Ruo Ying was silent for a moment, then asked, "Where are you taking me?"

Xue Meng eventually led her to Changye Market.

This was a structure with deep eaves, and numerous roof ridges that kissed along its three wooden stories. It stood near Yangzhou Port and was well-known by all the residents of Yangzhou as a market for stolen goods. It was rumored that most of the things that could not be seen in public in the cultivation world all eventually flowed into this sumptuous building, and the reason the guild behind this black market could arrogantly defy the Jianghu was in large part due to the support of Gu Yue Ye.[198]

When Xue Meng was young, he once wanted to go south for some fun. Madame Wang deliberately called him over, took his hand, and warned and implored him a thousand times. She first went through a pile of trivial nonsense, but at last gave a final warning, "Meng-er, the Changye Market in Yangzhou City isn’t a good place. To say nothing of prices, the things they sell are...there are some..."

She seemed to be too embarrassed to speak, and her white cheeks reddened slightly. At last she coughed softly and said, "Anyway, you don't have much money. If you go in, you'll come out completely broke. So when you see Changye Market, you have to avoid it, understand?

Xue Meng was a good son who obeyed his mother, and he was of such incomparable pureness that he couldn’t hear the implications behind his mother’s words. He could only ask curiously, "Is the Changye Market a place where only idiots with too much money go?"

Xue Zhengyong, who was nearby, laughed heartily and said to his already weak son, "Aiyah, not exactly. Your mother always treats you as a baby and is too embarrassed to tell you things. But as your father, I’m different, some things ahh—" Before he could finish, Madame Wang elbowed him.

"Cough cough!" Xue Zhengyong covered his struck chest and hastily changed the subject. "There are some things you really shouldn't know!"

Xue Meng looked at them confused, but his parents only smiled at him, embarrassed. This foolish boy, couldn’t make heads or tails of what was going on; fortunately just then Shi Mei asked him to go with him to the other side of the mountain to collect medicine for Shizun. So he just left, bewildered.

But from that day on, Xue Meng remembered. When he saw “Changye Market” he should avoid it, because it was expensive, and he’d just burn his money away, and the only people who’d hang around there were stupidly wealthy.

Today, in order to retrieve his dignity, but also because he felt that as a Sect Leader he should broaden Ruo Ying’s horizons, he led her to this vast, imposing gold and red building. Along the way, Ruo Ying repeatedly asked him if he really only wanted to go to Changye Market. In order not to show his ignorance, Xue Meng just waved his hand and haughtily raised his chin, just like a peacock spreading its tail.

"You are a frequent client of Xihua Pavilion, and I’m a VIP at Changye Market. So, I'll take you there."

Ruo Ying's expression was rather inscrutable.

Just then, Xue Meng found himself in front of a senior manager of Changye Market, and, looking as if he'd been struck by five bolts of lightning, he was red from his ankles to his hair—

"Wha- what VIP pendant? My mother didn't say anything about that, she said I could go in whenever!"

The old manager looked at him through the seam of his eyelids. "Has it been over ten years since your mother has come to Yangzhou? Changye Market's rules have changed; only the masters and mistresses with jade VIP pendants are welcome to do business here. If you don't have one, then please go back.

"I, I, I —" Xue Meng wanted to find a piece of tofu he could use to clobber himself to death. He already boasted that he had free entry; wasn't he just punching his own face here?

After knocking around for a while, he stubbornly proclaimed, "Ah! I have a bad memory! I just remembered! Here's what happened!"

The old manager tucked his hands in his sleeves. This old turtle had reviewed innumerable people, and Xue Meng was too pure and naive. He chuckled and waited for what shoddy explanation Xue Meng would give.

"I, I, I left in such a hurry today that I forgot the pendant at home!"

"Aiyoh, that's truly unfortunate. Then I'll ask you two to please leave for today."

Xue Meng looked at the old turtle, who looked down on him with dog eyes, and once again felt embarrassed and wronged and at his wits' end, so he overlooked the hand coming out out from beside him.

A slender wrist like the finest porcelain, around which was wrapped a jade and gold-beaded pendant. The warm glow of white jade against that arm made the delicate cinnabar mole particularly stand out.

"I brought mine."

When the old manager saw the pendant, he suddenly shook. The wrinkles on his old face almost disappeared from his astonishment, terror, and need to flatter: "A hea-heavenly VIP pendent?!"

"Why haven't you opened the door yet," Ruo Ying said coldly.

"Y-yes, yes of course!"

The thick, heavy sandalwood-carved doors immediately opened, and the old manager first bowed then made his obeisance, kowtow-ing almost as if he were making amends to a great-aunt. Ruo Ying brushed her wide silver and blue sleeves, and looked back at Xue Meng, who was as dumb as a wooden chicken.

Then, with a touch of mockery, she said, "Wang-xianzhang's experience is so great. Won't you lead the way?"

Xue Meng：“……”

Ch. 325 Xue Meng's Blind Date: Mystery Matron 4

>>idk how to warn for this properly but there are spirit dildos in this chapter so please proceed accordingly.

Before entering the main gates of Changye Market, Xue Meng braced himself: "You want me to lead the way, I'll lead the way!"

When he got in, he became a bit overwhelmed.

What sort of trashy place is this Changye Market!? Isn't this kind of thing harmful to society? Look at those maidservants! What are they wearing! Why are some of them dressed up as Nine-Tailed Fox demons? Legs, chest, waist, they're just letting everything hang out, how could he bear to look at them!!!! The elder in charge of Yangzhou is Jiang Yechen, right? That fraud! How could he allow this kind of immoral venue to arrogantly operate in the middle of the city!!!

Ruo Ying seemed to notice his embarrassment, and smiled faintly. "If Wang-xianchang is not used to this environment, then we can go somewhere else. Don't force yourself."

"Who, who said I was forcing myself? Ha-haven't you heard of the 'Unintelligible List'?"

"I have some idea."

Xue Meng's dead duck mouth said: "W-well, I, I rank No. 1 on their list of most accomplished cultivators!"

"...Isn't that Mei Hanxue."

"That's me keeping a low profile for other people's sake, I asked someone to remove my name from the list!"

"You can do that?" Ruo Ying sneered, "How much did it cost?"

"What's that go to do with you?"

Xue Meng rolled his eyes and walked forward with a swagger, even though his ears were red.

Changye Market had three stories altogether, but Xue Meng found that he could sum up the entire place in one condensed sentence: weirdly-dressed shitheads selling weird shit.

No need to discuss those pretty women shopkeepers who might as well have their butts hanging out; he could turn off his senses, so as long as he didn't pay too much attention to them they weren't that provocative. More importantly, he couldn't make heads or tails of anything these stalls were selling. He couldn't even understand the cries of these black market vendors hawking their wares.

Xue Meng could understand the individual words, but together—

"The Haitang Essence Collected Edition! Nine dragons one phoenix, double dragon penetration! Now in full lush detail, don't miss this opportunity, these volumes are signed by the authors Han Mei and Di Sheng Kuang Cao!"

"Dagen-jun, Dagen-jun, luobo cultivated into jing![199] The Dagen-jun of our shop have condensed a unique solitary magic, allowing them to transform into the size of any cultivator on the "Size List of the Great Heroes of the Cultivation World". Do you want to feel the same stimulation as Master Chu? Do you want to experience the twins of Kunlun taking you on a shared flight? You only need one Dagen-jun, it's an extraordinary experience, sure to be eternally memorable!"

Just listen to that! What is this bullshit?

But in spite of the chaos in his heart, his face was still perfectly calm. It was especially calm as Xue Meng stole a glance at Ruo Ying, and found that she was smirking at the sight of him. Xue Meng got even angrier, and marched to the stall with the unscrupulous air of a frequent customer.

"Give me ten of those luobojing ."

Shopkeeper: “……”

Ruo Ying ： “……”

"Xue Meng stared with his apricot eyes and said, "What? Why are you looking at me?" He rubbed his nose. "Is there something on my face?"

The shopkeeper choked for a long time before he cordially said: "Honored guest, our family's Dagen-jun are all refined in accordance with the "Great Heroes List". Once the seal is released, the effect is quite vigorous, and very similar to the original heroes. If you are not like a wolf at thirty and like a tiger at forty, I suggest you buy only one.[200]

Xue Meng had no idea what he just said. He looked down at the seemingly white, tender and plump radishes nestled in brocade boxes. He had no clue what the Dagen-jun would become after they were unsealed, and less than no clue what the hell the "Size List of the Great Heroes of the Cultivation World" or "like a wolf at thirty and like a tiger at forty" meant.

"It would have been a sign of good character to humbly ask for clarification at this point.

Unfortunately, Xue Meng didn't.

Xue Meng thought that men who thought independently were the most capable. So he thought independently for a while, and had a small epiphany—these Dagen-jun are probably like thousand-year-old ginseng—once unsealed, they'll have a vigorous effect on a person, exactly like ancient ginseng would. And cultivators in their thirties and forties often encounter roadblocks to their cultivation, which are like tigers and wolves, and these will require ginseng tonics to treat. But these Dagen-jun are highly potent, so an ordinary person would only need to eat one of them to unblock their meridians.

Everything made sense now!

Xue Meng applauded himself loudly in his heart and said haughtily to the shopkeeper: "How could one be enough for my consumption?"

"Shopkeeper: "... Two's not impossible, but you really don't need more than three. I'm a black market merchant, not a profiteer, and I want to make things clear for you."

Xue Meng said impatiently: "You really...! I meant what I said!"

"S-sir, you're asking for too many." The shopkeeper wiped the sweat off his forehead. "Your body wouldn't be able to handle it."

"Hmph." Xue Meng said, "You act as if I haven't had these before. Forget two, twenty are only enough to last me two or three days."

This time the shopkeeper was completely silent.

He looked at Xue Meng's pale lips with awe, then his eyes moved down all the way down to Xue Meng's...

"What are you looking at?" Xue Meng was alert, glaring at him angrily. "Business is business, don't look where you shouldn't!"

The shopkeeper quickly removed his eyes from Xue Meng's lower body and coughed: "This honored guest has been endowed with great gifts, thi- this one pays his respects. Then, I'll pack you ten luobojing—do you want ones the size of Mo-zongshi?

What does he mean by the size of Mo-zongshi?

What does that dog Mo Ran have to do with anything?

Xue Meng pondered for a while, then figured it out with his extraordinary understanding.

Does he mean that the scale of spiritual endurance is the same as that of Mo Ran? That he can't accept; if you're talking about the spiritual endurance of current great heroes, then he's not much worse than Mo Ran.

"No," he said at once, calmly. I want the size of Sect Leader Xue.

The shopkeeper was stunned: "Honored guest, you're joking. Where's Sect Leader Xue on the top ten list?"

"Xue Meng was even more stunned than he was, and even more angry than he was stunned—

"No Xue Ziming?!"

"The shop owner was utterly baffled: "??? Why Xue Ziming??"

"Xue Meng's veins started popping out: "Why not Xue Ziming!!!!"

The two yelled past each other like a chicken talking to a duck for a very long time until they were both hoarse. Neither noticed that Ruo Ying, who had been standing by and watching them, suddenly frowned, and kept frowning more deeply as they went on.

Her glasslike eyes looked back and forth at Xue Meng several times. Suddenly she came forward and grabbed Xue Meng's arm.

Xue Meng turned his head: "What are you grabbing my arm for, you know there shouldn't be direct contact between men and women!"

"... Do you know what these luobojing are used for?"

"No shit! It's like ginseng, you use them restore spiritual energy!"

Ruo Ying ："……"

Shopkeeper ："……"

"Ruo Ying turned around and said to the shopkeeper: "I'm unsealing one of your monsters; you can bill two taels of silver to the account of Gu Yue Ye." As she spoke, she raised her hand and pointed to the sky. The sealing talisman on a brocade box was released with a bang.

What appeared to be an ordinary luobojing suddenly sent out a brilliant light, and before the eyes of the staring crowds, turned into a length of... vivid and lifelike... clearly detailed... delicate and exquisite... incredibly humongous...

Jade. Penis.

Oh look, it could even move by itself.

Xue Meng stiffened and his face instantly turned green.

"He pointed at the shopkeeper angrily and almost bit his tongue: "You, you, you, you scumbag!"

The shopkeeper was shocked and aggrieved: "You were the one who wanted to buy it! And you said one wasn't enough for you..."

"AAAAHHH!" Xue Meng could no longer recall what he had said. His green face suddenly turned red again, then flashed between red and green a few times. Covering his face, he suddenly wanted to run away, but then he hit a solid body.

He had run into Ruo Ying, who was blocking his path.

But why did it feel...not like a woman at all???

Ruo Ying looked at him coldly. "Xue Meng?"

Xue Meng was shocked: "How did you know? Who are you?!"

Ruo Ying said nothing else, grabbed his collar and dragged him out of Changye Market. Xue Meng yelled and tried to resist, but it was like pushing back against a mountain.

When they got outside, and she had found an isolated pavilion by the river, only then did Ruo Ying let go of him, brushed her sleeves, and turned to face him.

Xue Meng felt like he'd almost been strangled to death. He held his neck and repeatedly coughed: "You dog! You, you, cough - who the hell are you?!"

Ruo Ying raised her hand, and her fingertips flashed blue. Before Xue Meng could see clearly, the Taobao Manor illusion sachets around their waists were neatly shredded to pieces.

Xue Meng looked up in shock and almost hit his head on the pavilion pillar.

"It's you?!!"

After the illusion disappeared, the man standing in front of him was tall and handsome. He wore magnificent silver-blue robes that fell to the floor, with luxurious peacock silk thread embroidery that delicately trace out Gu Yue Ye's phoenix totem. But no matter how sumptuous and grand his clothes, they couldn't compare to this man's own presence. He had a refined eyebrow and a straight nose, an elegant mouth, and a pair of apricot eyes that seemed to be filled with an unceasing misty rain. This man had been born with a sense of arrogant pride.

"Jiang Yechen?!!!!"

Who else could this Ruo Ying-xianjun be, but the sect leader of Gu Yue Ye, the richest man in the cultivation world, Jiang Xi?

Matron Jiang... no, Jiang Yechen, stopped Xue Meng's words in one sentence: "You are such a disappointment."

"???"

If Xue Meng hadn't been choked until he was light-headed, he really would have killed him with one blow. This person's face was so delicate, how could he say such shameless things without even blinking?

"Wow, what a great sect leader you are, thoughtlessly wandering about, idling in this kind of place, who knows what you'll do next?"

At this point, he shook himself back to full awareness. Xue Meng coughed some more, put down the hand that was rubbing his neck, and stared at Jiang Xi. "And why are you scolding me? What gives you the right to do that?"

Jiang Yechen said angrily: "You're still young, shouldn't you be meeting female cultivators from good families in decent proper settings? But no, here you are listening to that shark Ma Fangzhi's poisonous words, and you actually bought that promiscuous relief scroll! You're a disgrace!"

Xue Meng replied, also angrily: "Why don't you say anything about yourself? Look how old you are, and you even...with my mother...Why aren't you managing your Gu Yue Ye like you're supposed to, and running out to mess with the younger generation with that pretty face of yours! Didn't you think that your date might be younger than your son? Not that I'm saying I'm your son, I'm just saying, you're the real disgrace!"

Jiang Xi got even angrier. He whipped his sleeves around and fumed between gritted teeth: "I wasn't doing this to go on a date."

"Then why did you do it? Oh, I see, researching the tools of your rival Manor Head Ma, right? You said he was a shark, well, why don't you look at your own Gu Yue Ye? Absolutely shameless!"

"I'm shameless but you're not?" A big strong man, nicknaming himself Xiaoxue like a girl, haven't you lost face?"

"I can't lose any more face than you have!"

"You impudent-"

"You bullshitter!"

"Xue Ziming!”

"Jiang Ruoying!"

An old couple driving an ox cart slowly passed by them. The wife asked, "Husband, what's the young couple in that pavilion arguing about?"

"Wife, your eyes are going bad, those two are brothers."

"Eh? Isn't that one in the silver and blue robes a girl?"

"No, it's a man, his face is delicate, but you can see he's a lot taller than his brother."

Xue Meng：“……”

Jiang Xi：“……”

Xue Meng stamped his feet: "Look how old you are! And you're still out all day and night trying to take advantage of other people!"

Jiang Xi said indifferently: "Our medical sect has always been like this. If you don't like it, you can join Gu Yue Ye yourself."

Xue Meng was so angry he screamed: "Aagh! I don't want to see you anymore! That old woman said you were a woman and she was right! I named myself Wang Xiaoxue because the relief scroll made a mistake, you naming yourself Ruo Ying was you pretending to be a woman!"

"I picked Ruo Ying because—"

"Because what?"

Because when the pollia flowers flourish, I'm happy.[201]

But knowing that Wang Chuqing's favorite flower is this flower, Jiang Xi was afraid that saying anything would just increase the misunderstandings, so he kept his lips shut.[202]

"Ahah! So you were just pretending, admit it already!"

Jiang Xi suddenly raised his hand towards Xue Meng's face, as if to teach him a proper lesson on how he should talk to his elders. But as his hand came near Xue Meng's mouth, he suddenly felt that arguing with this idiot by the river was truly beneath him, so he aggressively put his hand down.

At this time, the unwell feeling deep in his chest rose up again. Jiang Xi turned his head, covered his mouth with his sleeve, and coughed repeatedly.

Xue Meng thought at first that he was choking and felt some happiness at Jiang Xi's pain, but when he saw that the coughing grew more and more serious, such that even Jiang Xi's apricot eyes began to dim and tear up, he became nervous: "Hey, hey... what's wrong with you?"

Jiang Xi coughed violently; his eyes had turned red. He raised his water pipe with his fingertips, trembling slightly, and took a few puffs.

Xue Meng was startled: "Why are you smoking when you're coughing like that?"

Jiang Xi ignored him. After a few more drags, the symptoms lessened. He gasped for a bit, and slowly straightened up. Walking outside the pavilion, he looked out silently at the running water and said after a long while, "Get lost. Go back to SiSheng Peak."

"Your wounds from the war..."

"There's no illness in the world that I, Jiang Yechen, can't treat. I have no use for your concern."

The small thread of softness that Xue Meng had with great difficulty developed towards Jiang Xi had been forcefully cut. He stood there for a while, neither hard nor soft, desperately trying to control his face from revealing too much.

Jiang Xi took a few drags on his water pipe, looked up, and exhaled gradually: "Anyway, you're not a child anymore, it's time you find a decent person and start a family. But don't put your energies into this vulgar dating nonsense. Find a wife you know inside out. Her character, family, skills, and looks; you should know all those clearly." He paused, then frowned again. "This isn't the kind of thing that Ma Fangzhi's relief scroll can do for you."

"Xue Meng stared: "Jiang Yechen, what are you saying? What's with this love talk nonsense? I can understand other people pushing me to get married, but you...did you take some wrong medicine?

Jiang Yechen cooly turned to half face Xue Meng. "It's true that love talk is nonsense, but it's nonsense for me."

“……”

"It's not the same for you. For you, not carrying on your family line is nonsense. You should get married."

Xue Meng was very glad that his father is Xue Zhengyong, not Jiang Yechen. He has never met anyone more hypocritical than Jiang Yechen; he dares to excuse himself from one rule after another, but when it comes to Xue Meng, suddenly he'll force him down to get married?

Jiang Yechen is truly a dog!

When Xue Meng returned to SiSheng Peak, he furiously stuck a giant fork through the card with the words "Ruo Ying" on it, and tore it to pieces.

If Jiang Xi doesn't let him play, then he'll definitely play!

There's no way he'll let the gift box of good businessman Manor Head Ma fall into the hands of bad businessman Jiang Xi!

"With this in mind, Xue Meng's felt flames rise in his heart, and once again spread out the cards and began to look at the remaining mysterious people.

This time he knew better, and understood that the relief scroll might recommend a man to him. He resolved to carefully do his own screening. This time, at the very least, he'll pick a woman close to his own age!

He, Xue Ziming, will never admit defeat!

After careful study, Xue Ziming, who refused to admit defeat, turned over a second card, which was for someone nicknamed "Leng Gong".[203]

Although the relief scroll mixed men and women, surely someone who'd entered the cold palace can't be a man? This must be a sad lonely girl.

The card described this Leng Gong-guniang as follows:

Leng Gong. Peevish temperament, direct with people, not well versed in common sense, a hidden gem.

Because she had long ago been abandoned in the cold night, and spent over ten years alone guarding an empty bed, Leng Gong-xianzhang holds a level of mistrust and paranoia regarding love distinct from the rest of the world. This was to the point that she suffered from some level of madness, which made it easy for her to fall into negativity and self-doubt. Perhaps only the most tolerant and gentle cultivation partner can heal the scars in her heart and ignite her inner blazing love.[204]

Likes: Intense things.

One can't help but say that Xue Meng is actually a very kind-hearted child. Normal people should run far away from this kind of date, but Xue Meng chose her.

The reason for this is that Xue Meng, besides believing that she was a woman, felt that when he read between the lines on the card, there was someone pitiful there.

Guarding an empty bed, mistrust and paranoia, madness, and scars on her heart.

Look, what a miserable girl!! How shameful and cold-blooded is that fickle lover who once abandoned her! It's like a second Jiang Xi! A scum of the cultivation world!

Xue Meng thought in any case that this wouldn't be a real date. The girl's condition was so bad that no one would choose her, and then her heart would be hurt even more and she would get entangled even more in paranoia and denial. What a sad story this would be.

This girl also liked "intense things" and seemed very aggressive towards others. He wondered if she would hurt herself if she reached a point of severe emotional pain.

The more Xue Meng thought about it, the more he felt he could not stand aside. A lesson Xue Zhengyong taught him many years ago seemed to ring in his ears once again:

"Pity mankind, with all its suffering. If you have enough strength, use all that strength to help."[205]

So Xue Meng, who had the same sense of justice and compassion as his father, made a grand decision - OK, he's going to gift this Leng Gong-guniang a warm flame!

His mind made up, Xue Meng immediately messaged Leng Gong-guniang through the relief scroll, requesting a meeting in three days time wearing illusion sachets in Wuchang Town in Sichuan.

Ch. 326 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Wayward Young Lady 1

The day for the meeting with Leng Gong-xianzi soon came.

This time Xue Meng went to the appointment with warm-hearted zeal, aiming to make a new friend and steer this wayward young lady straight, so he didn't go in with a competitive spirit.[206] Thus, the way he arranged this date, naturally, was also in contrast to Ruo.... Bah! This was completely different from meeting with that cheating lying son of a bitch Jiang Xi.

Wuchang Town was within Xue Meng's own territory, so he had a very clear idea of where to get the tastiest dishes, the best wine, and the nicest snacks.

Xue Meng chose a family-run restaurant that he himself often frequented. This shop's small dishes and hotpot were excellent, but it was a bit out of the way, and not easy to find. He was about to send another message to Lenggong to tell her the exact location, when he heard a slightly raspy, alluring female voice coming in from the street: "Hello? Shopkeeper, I'm looking for Wang Xiaoxue."

"Wang Xiaoxue?"

"Yes, a customer," the female voice said impatiently.

Before the shopkeeper could answer again, Xue Meng opened the half-rolled curtain and looked out.——

Standing beside a beech cabinet was a tall female cultivator around 27 or 28 year old, with long inky hair, eyes so black they flashed purple, fine eyelashes so long they curled up like smoke, and extremely beautiful features. She wore black and gold cultivation robes with a cinched waist that truly showed how slender her waist was and how long her legs were. She had a profuse aura that exuded an abundance of wildness and tension.

This appearance was the illusion sachet's interpretation of Leng Gong's original appearance and original sound, so her voice and appearance have both been readjusted. But one could tell that her original appearance was quite tall, and that she was an outstanding beauty.

Xue Meng beckoned to her. Leng Gong glanced at him. She boldly swaggered over, and looked at him through her eyelashes. "Are you the one who asked me out?"

"Yeah, it was me."

"Excellent. You have a good eye."

She sat down opposite Xue Meng with great force, crossed her legs, clasped her hands, and assumed a posture that could only be described as domineering.

Xue Meng thought that she would be plaintive and mournful, and come to this date holding a deep grudge. To see someone so firm and resolute; that was unexpected. But in all honesty, Xue Meng wasn't very good at dealing with crying women, so seeing that Leng Gong still held her head high even through her emotional pain increased Xue Meng's positive feelings and admiration towards her a bit more.

But Xue Meng was also someone who was bad at giving compliments. From birth to now, the number of people he'd complimented could be counted on three fingers: his father, his mother, and his shizun. So he stifled his words for quite a long time before he stiffly choked out a sentence: "You...you're really hard huh."

"....." As soon as Leng Gong sat down, she had crossed her arms and looked out the window. When she heard this her purple and black pupils whirled around peacefully, staring at Xue Meng like an eagle staring at a rabbit.

After a while, she said: "So, even you can tell?"

Xue Meng thought to himself: You've been thrown to the side, and yet you still walk with such majesty and authority. Only fools could overlook such a resolute spirit.

So he nodded.

Leng Gong tapped her tall nose, and smiled with a bit of arrogance and coldness: "Of course. You're all like this, you're here either for this , or you're here for status and money."

As she said this, she leaned back in her chair, stretched her arms back, and lifted her chin slightly.

"Why don't you order."

Her words carried with them the feeling that she was looking disdainfully down at the breadth of the world from the heavens. Those simple words came from the tip of her tongue, but when she spat them out it felt like an imperial decree. Xue Meng felt a great sense of oppression as well as discomfort.

He stared at her.

"Why are you looking at me?" Leng Gong's gaze was cold, but also held a degree of enticement. She spread her legs, raised a cold white finger and impatiently pulled at her tight lapel. "Looking for a fuck?"

Xue Meng was shocked!

"Wh-, whaaaat?"

This wayward young lady Leng Gong, without skipping a beat or a flicker of change in her expression, made a second mental attack on the properly-raised Xue Meng: "I asked why you were looking at me like that. You wanna fuck?"

Xue Meng suffocated just a little bit.

His face turned white, then red, then red, then white again, then he suddenly raised his head: "You you you—you're absolutely shameless!——you you, you—give me some respect here!"

Leng Gong raised an eyebrow slightly, pursed her thin moist lips, and smiled slightly while faint dimples appeared on her cheeks. Her fingers casually drummed on the table: "Isn't that what you came to me for? Relief scroll: sleep with a lord, relieve a thousand sorrows."

"You're speaking nonsense!" Xue Meng was almost about to jump up. Under normal circumstances, if someone had talked to Sect Leader Xue like this, he would have already taken out Longcheng and started dueling them to the death. But Xue Meng knew that Leng Gong had suffered tragic emotional wounds and that her mind was quite fragile. With a heart resolved to save this wayward young lady, Xue Meng didn't draw his sword.

But he was still so angry that his nose almost went askew. "How can you talk like that? I, I had no such thoughts when I chose you!"

"Oh? Really?"

Leng Gong seemed a little more interested than she had been before. She finally put down her long legs and sat up straight. "Excellent. Great minds think alike. To tell you the truth, I've actually recently stopped washing my coins in a golden basin, so even if you wanted me to fuck you, I wouldn't do it."[207]

Xue Meng covered his ears, and didn't even realize that Leng Gong's newly invented phrase got around the Relief Scroll's restrictions such that she could talk freely while actually exposing her gender: "Aahhhhh!! Can you stop saying such gross things!?"

"Wow, that bewildered innocent confused look of yours really looks like someone I know." Leng Gong continued: "Okay. Since you do have good taste, if you don't want me to keep talking, that's fine. But you have to do me a favor."

Xue Meng raised his head. Because the woman was so scary, he couldn't help but be a little nervous: "What favor?"

Leng Gong said: "Be my lover."

"....." Xue Meng almost flipped the table. "Didn't you come here for a blind date?!"

Why are you in such a rush? I didn't even finish yet." Leng Gong rolled her eyes. "Pretend. I want you to pretend to be my lover."

"... Why?"

Leng Gong's eyes suddenly held an ominous gleam. She slammed her hands on the table, leaned forward and whispered: "Because I want to piss someone off."

"Who?"

"My real lover."

Xue Meng: "....."

Oh. So it turned out that this person had been abandoned and left alone to guard an empty bed for so many years, and had become so mentally twisted and negative and depressed and prejudiced and insane that—she actually still wanted to remain hopelessly entangled with that cultivation world Chen Shimei?[208]

So she hadn't kicked that fickle man to the curb, but instead continued to rant about him and is trying to drag him back, and even took great pains to find someone to disguise as his rival to anger him. This Leng Gong-guniang really isn't mentally well, is she?

"No good?"

"....."

"To tell you the truth, I've met quite a few people these days. Either they won't go along with my plans, and they actually want this pretend thing to be real, or they just refuse to help me, and run away after they hear me out."

"....."

"If you won't do it, then forget it. No need to talk any more, I'll try something else."

What something else? Would she turn to self harm?

Xue Meng had a headache.

He kneaded his temples, waved his hand, and opened the menu: "Okay okay, like my father said, saving a life is better than building a seven-level pagoda.[209] I'll help you, is that enough?"

Leng Gong's eyes lit up: "You're serious?"

"A gentleman can't go back on his word. If I deceive you, then I'm a dog. If you're happy, and don't take things too hard, then that's good." Xue Meng sighed. "Why don't we talk more over food? You should take a look first. What would you like?"

Leng Gong raised her hand: "No need to order."

Just as Xue Meng was wondering if she planned to go hungry, he saw that she raised her hand and snapped her fingers with a clear "pa" sound.

"Shopkeeper, bring all the most expensive dishes you have to this ven—cough , to me!"

This time not only Xue Meng's nose was askew, but his entire face was askew.

Where did this bandit come from? What an uncivilized ill-mannered bumpkin!

Xue Meng cried out: "You! Don't you know how shameful it is to waste food?"

"That's exactly what my sweetie always says." Leng Gong squinted. "But I'm not happy, so I want to be wasteful today, and you can't say anything. Otherwise, I'll buy everything in this whole place, I'll wipe them out."

Xue Meng was terrified by this cold rich woman: "... Are you from Taobao Manor?

"No."

"... A rich merchant from Linyi?"

"Also no."

"... Ya-, Yangzhou Gu Yue Ye?”

Leng Gong sneered: What's Gu Yue Ye worth?" They're not worthy enough to carry my shoes."

Xue Meng: "....." Why are these words so familiar?

The hot dishes and hotpot didn't come quickly, but the side dishes didn't take so long. Xue Meng took a look at the white porcelain dish of shredded cold tripe with peppers, and suddenly realized: "You're from the Lin'an area, so you don't eat spicy food right?"

"Who says I don't eat it?" Leng Gong said, "I love spicy food."

After saying that she grabbed her chopsticks and, without changing her expression, stuffed food into her mouth.

"So good! It's been a long time since I've had something so good."

"If you like it, why don't you eat more?" asked Xue Meng.

Leng Gong said simply: "Because my lover can't handle it."

"Ah? So if he can't handle it, then he won't let you enjoy it either?"

"That's not it." Leng Gong rubbed her chin, and for some reason her eyes got misty. "Actually, sometimes the more he can't handle it, the happier I am. I really like the way he gets when he can't take it anymore, especially since he's normally so aloof and self restrained, but I always get him to lose it in the end. And when he loses his mind, he'll start moaning and wrapping himself around me with want, and then I..."

Xue Meng didn't understand. But Leng Gong's face looked very happy.

During her speech Leng Gong suddenly realized how distracted she was, and snapped back from her gentle reveries. Clearing her throat, she said, "Anyway, it really was because of him that I haven't touched spicy food for a while."

This sentence he could understand.

Spice enthusiast Xue Meng became very indignant: "Outrageous! Bring us a Mandarin duck pot!"[210]

"No, it's not that he wouldn't let me eat, it's that I wouldn't let me eat."

Xue Meng stared: "Why wouldn't you let yourself eat?"

Leng Gong wanted to explain, but she seemed to feel that she couldn't explain it succinctly, so she pursed her mouth in embarrassment and said unhappily: "Because I'm sick. I'm unreasonable."

So here was the negative thinking and self-doubt the relief scroll mentioned.

"Forget it. I don't want to talk about it." Leng Gong said, "Let's talk about how you can pretend to be my fake lover, so I can piss off my real one."

"I could do it..." Xue Meng said, "But what's your goal in getting him mad?"

Leng Gong snorted, her face tyrannical, and said while grinding her teeth: "Because he lost the brocade bag I gave him!"

Xue Meng thought to himself, hasn't he been snubbing you for many years now? Shouldn't you be used to things like him losing your brocade bag...

But before he could say anything, Leng Gong added, "It was a present I gave him for the Qixi festival!"

You know, compared to leaving you in an empty bed, that's not actually that serious...

Leng Gong kept talking, and her complexion got more and more off, and her tone became more and more fierce: "When have I ever given something like that to someone else? He wasn't happy with gold and gems, and there wasn't any novelty giving him arms manuals, so I went to the trouble of hand making a brocade bag for him. Who knew that he'd be so careless, he didn't treasure it one little bit!"

Wow... That did seem a bit unreasonable.

When Leng Gong said this, she pursed her lips, looking angry and embarrassed, as well as some other difficult to explain emotion. After a while, just when Xue Meng thought she had finished complaining, Leng Gong suddenly slapped the table angrily and said, "I can forgive him for losing what I gave him, but fucking wearing the one someone else gave him on his person? What the fuck does that mean, is he deliberately trying to piss me off?!"

Xue Meng was stunned for a moment, and then immediately stared: "He accepted someone else's brocade bag? Did, did he fall in love with someone else?"

Leng Gong was furious: "Why do you think I'm so mad at him? I need to remind him how many people admire this ven... cough , admire me in this world. If he doesn't cherish me, there are other people who will. I don't care about him at all. If he won't come asking for me back, then I'll completely disappear from this world, and let him get on with that sanctimonious slut!"[211]

Ch. 327 Xue Meng's Blind Date: Wayward Young Lady 2

>> Leng Gong takes a very cavalier attitude towards the issue of consent when discussing "her" previous sex life

Xue Meng: "!!!"

"Hearing these words, Xue Meng, who held the same sense of justice as his Shizun, felt an immediate intense sense of shock and anger. A spring of poetry surged in his mind like a flood: beginning with chaos and ending with abandonment, throwing away one's family; a red apricot tree leaning over a garden wall, saying three in the morning and four in the evening, eating in the East and sleeping in the West, on and on..."This is an absolute disgrace!" he said furiously.[212]

Then he mulled over what Leng Gong had just said in rage, that she would "completely disappear from this world." His heart pounded, and he realized that this girl indeed had a fierce tendency towards self-harm.

"He must stop her from hurting herself! With righteous indignation, Xue Meng said: ""Please rest assured, what I can't stand the most are those who serve Qin in the morning and Chu in the evening, who change like water and bend like willows. Leave it to me, I'll support you and make him so angry he'll spit up three liters of blood, that'll make him regret what he did!" After a pause, he said seriously, still furious: "However, if you know yourself and know your enemy, you'll come out unscathed through a hundred battles. You should clarify your story to me, and let me get a measure of what happened."[213]

Leng Gong wrinkled her brows: "Our story is too hard to explain. It'll take me a long time to make everything clear."

"... Oh. Then why don't I ask questions, and you can answer." Faced with such a pitiful woman, Xue Meng experienced a rare bit of consideration: "If there's something you can't say, we can skip it. How does that sound?"

Leng Gong thought about it and nodded, "Yes. That should work."

At this moment, their hotpot and stir-fries came one after the other.

As they ate and talked, Xue Meng said: "Why don't you talk about that cultivation partner of yours first. How long have you known each other? How did you meet?"

Leng Gong used her chopsticks to pick up a tender, crisp piece of sauteed garlic shoot, ate a few bites, put down her chopsticks, then lifted her gaze towards Xue Meng.

"The things that happened between us are honestly rather shocking, so I'll first ask you if you're afraid to hear it."

Xue Meng said: "Nothing could be more shocking than what I've experienced in my own life. You can go ahead."

He didn't think that Leng Gong would turn out to be a gossip; she suddenly leaned towards him with great interest and said, "Oh? Really? What happened to you?"

Xue Meng: "... Do you want me to help you get him mad or not?"

Leng Gong retracted her curiosity and coughed: "Okay, let's just talk about me then."

Then she opened her mouth.

Her first sentence is indeed appalling.

My lover, he used to be my Shizun.

"....." Xue Meng suddenly remembered a certain unpleasant experience. He raised his teacup and silently took a sip, trying to suppress his alarm.

The second sentence is even more appalling.

"We bowed to heaven and earth and got married a very long time ago."

The hand that Xue Meng used to hold his teacup was shaking, but he could still hold his ground.

Until the third sentence comes out——

"We had sex every day, and started even before we got married. Then after we were married we became even more excessively wanton, and freely did it day and night."

Xue Meng spat out his tea: " Cough cough !"

The relief scroll said that Leng Gong-xianzi was "direct", but Xue Meng didn't think that a girl could be this direct!

Nevertheless, Leng Gong kept going as if she couldn't stop until she shocked people:[214] "He's not very good in bed, so I'm the only one who doesn't avoid him. And since I'm very good in bed, he's gradually getting a taste for bodily pleasure. So even though his mouth says no, he still does it with me fiercely three or four times a night, sometimes even seven or eight times. On the bed, in the courtyard, in the reception pavilion, in the hot spring, we've done it in all those..."

"Stop!" Xue Meng finally recovered from his cough, his ears smoking. Cleaning off the water he'd coughed up while blushing, he said: "You don't have to describe those details so clearly. All I really needed to know was that your marital life was harmonious."

"Right. Our marital life was very harmonious, and every night we did it three or four, sometimes even seven or eight times. A normal person couldn't manage it, but I could, and we did it on the bed, in the courtyard, in the reception pavilion, in the hot spring, we've done it in all those..."

Xue Meng: "....."

"Fuck!" Leng Gong suddenly got angry and slammed the table, rattling the cups. "If we hadn't been able to get pregnant, we'd probably already be having kids, so why did he still go for that fucker?"

Xue Meng was startled. So it turned out that this cold girl couldn't have a baby, and so her place got taken up by some hag.

Speaking of which, his mother also couldn't have a second child, but Xue Zhengyong didn't neglect her even a little bit, and they supported each other through a lifetime. There were too few men like his father in the world, which was why so many sect leaders bred resentments, and a lifetime of miscommunication.

Xue Meng became angry and couldn't bear it any longer, so he asked: "Did you try to nurse your body and seek medical advice? Gu Yue Ye's Jiang Yechen isn't worth much as a person, but his medical skills are decent. You could—"

"Hmph, don't you think I asked him about it? Other people thought it was impossible, but my fate is up to me, and not the heavens, and especially not other people. I wanted a baby with him, whether he could have one or not. So I went to Jiang Yechen to discuss how we could do it, but that little beauty Jiang was horribly stubborn and said that it was bad for the body and refused to give it to me, like he knows right from wrong!"

Xue Meng: "....."

Jiang Xi not knowing right from wrong is true, but since when was he beautiful??? How did you connect the words "little beauty Jiang" to him??

But aside from this beauty talk, why did this story sound so familiar…

Xue Meng thought about it and couldn't remember, so he stopped thinking about it and urged, "Jiang Yechen, the dog thief, has always been fickle and indecent. He doesn't care about human suffering, he's just a black merchant. Don't try to bargain with him. What happened later? What about the person who came between you and your Shizun? Your Shizun and you... well. Since your thing was harmonious, then he should have loved you, so how could he fall in love with someone else?

Leng Gong had been okay until he mentioned this, but once it had been mentioned, she gnashed her teeth in anger: "That's because that person took advantage of my absence, seized the opportunity, and freely stole into my empty spot!"

Xue Meng cried out, eyes wide: "So when you were guarding your empty bed, they started living together?"

Leng Gong ground her teeth: "That's right."

How miserable! All he can see is the smile of the new love, while the old love weeps unheard![215]

Xue Meng was so angry that he slammed the table and leapt up: "He isn't even second to Jiang Yechen, he's entirely on par with him!"

Leng Gong was curious again; she tilted her head and drummed her long fingers unconsciously on the table: "How come you seem to understand Jiang Yechen so well? How do you know him?"

"....." Xue Meng sat down with a dry mouth and poured himself a cup of tea. "I'm his father."

Leng Gong: "???"

Xue Meng: "Aiyah, I just said that because I was angry. I don't actually have any relationship with Jiang Yechen, I was just using him as an example. Everyone knows he's the scum of the cultivation world and a scourge to female cultivators." After that, he let out a vicious "bah".

Leng Gong opened her purple and black eyes widely: "Really? How come I've heard that he detests male-female relationships? If a line of women go to him to deliver love letters, then a line of women will return with prescriptions for all kinds of conditions. And they'll be written very honestly too, telling them directly they suffer from things like 'adult acne' or 'obese limbs'. Is this the kind of man to play around with women?"

Xue Meng opened his mouth and found that he was left speechless, so he could only close his mouth: "... No. I'm just saying that he's a profiteer and morally unscrupulous."

"You're not wrong there."

Xue Meng felt that he couldn't continue on with this topic any more; his anger towards Jiang Xi was always difficult to quell once he started. If he went on, he might inadvertently reveal something. So he said: "Let's talk about your Shizun then. Since you can't bear to part with him, why didn't you chase after him?"

"I can't bear to part with him?" Leng Gong sniffed. "What a joke, I don't cherish him at all."

"……"

After a while, looking sideways at Xue Meng, she reluctantly asked: "Sigh. How could you tell that I couldn't bear to let him go?"

"... It's because I know someone." Xue Meng's expression was vague, seeming to show embarrassment and irritation and helplessness, all tangled together at length. With a parched throat, he continued: "His symptoms, to be honest, are quite similar to yours."

"Oh really? What's the matter with him?"

"When he was weak, he avoided his Shizun every day. He hated how cold he was, and hated how he would deliberately make things difficult for him. He also said that he didn't cherish him, didn't care about him, and didn't like him even one bit."

Leng Gong listened with relish, and began munching on peanuts: "Then what? What happened after that?"

Xue Meng crossed his arms in front of his chest and rolled his eyes: "What else could have happened? He ended up regretting it."

"……"

"He screamed and cried and rolled around begging for his return, going through hell and high water, flattering and fawning and committing all kinds of crimes." Xue Meng said, "So I advise you, always behave around people as if you'll meet again in the future, and don't say such definitive things."

Leng Gong didn't care. She leaned back, raised her chin and sneered, "I'm not the type to cry and beg for someone to come back. If I didn't want him to go, there were plenty of other ways to keep him."

Xue Meng saw that she didn't understand, so even though he knew she wouldn't be able to handle it, he stabbed her where it hurt: "So did you keep him?"

Leng Gong's smug smile froze.

Another stab: "Didn't you still get dumped?"

Leng Gong's frozen smile slowly disappeared.

Yet another stab: "After he dumped you, didn't he take advantage of your absence to get together with someone else?"

Leng Gong's disappeared smile gradually turned to anger.

Xue Meng said: "Look, if you sat down and talked it out with him earlier, and weren't too stubborn to humble yourself, he might not have left."

Leng Gong seemed to have been touched, and her rage immediately fizzled out. Despite how tense she was, a thread of hidden pain flashed in her eyes.

After a while, she said, "...When he left, it was because I forced him to."

"....."

"But I didn't really want him to go. I've always... I've always..."

She paused so she wouldn't overdo it; her eyes were a little red.

Xue Meng suddenly felt a little nervous. Aya, was she going to cry? He was already so old, but he never knew how to comfort women!

He was still worried, but found that they were just groundless fears. After this bout of red eyes, Leng Gong started being fierce again, and said roughly: "If he wants to go, fine. What's so great about him? Does he think I can't live without him?"

Xue Meng: "....."

"I don't want to talk about this anymore, it just makes me upset." Leng Gong poured a cup of tea for herself, drank it dry in one gulp, and then said: "Come! Let's talk more about that sanctimonious slut."

"Fuck." On mentioning this person, Leng Gong seemed like she was collecting more than ten years of resentment. She became so angry she slapped her hand down, pointed her finger like she wanted to say something, but seemed to lack the bitter poetry that could be used to properly vent her anger. So she breathed out ferociously: "...I just don't understand, on what level are they better than me?"

Xue Meng: "...In what ways does your Shizun think this person's better than you?”

Leng Gong said angrily, "Him? If he dares to think that slut's better than me, I'll make him really suffer in bed!

Xue Meng felt a little tired, and he kneaded his temples: "Then explain. If it was an outsider, like me, where would I think this person was better than you?"

Leng Gong reluctantly began to think about it.

After thinking for a long time, she said gloomily: "They're worse than me in every way."

"....."

Neither of us were born well. But that person didn't strive for progress and spent their days idly, while I stood on my own feet to create the world I wanted. After sleeping with Shizun for the night, I could coax him to happiness by giving him ten tons of gold to smash as he pleased. That person and Shizun do it seven times a night, and when they're done, they'd only take Shizun to a fifty-coins-a-table roadside stand. Damn it! It's infuriating. Tell me, how can their face be so thick-skinned?

"....." But for this young lady to say this kind of thing, your face isn't thin either.

Leng Gong didn't notice Xue Meng's embarrassment at all. She confidently said: "I have good prospects, I'm rich, I can support him. When I was with Shizun, he lived in a magnificent home and wore magnificent clothes. I spared no expense for food or clothes and I always gave him the best of everything."

Xue Meng hesitated and said with some difficulty, "So your Shizun was living off a woman?"

"Don't make it sound so shameful." Leng Gong said, annoyed. "I'd be happy to buy things that couldn't be bought with a thousand gold, as long he liked it. But ever since he's been with that person, he's lived in a shabby hut, dressed in ordinary clothes, had to grow his own food, had to make everything himself—it's enough to raise your hair on end. Tell me, in what way could that person compare with me?"

Xue Meng has seen many people who wouldn't leave each other through life or death, through good times and bad. Listening to her, he simply said, "Ah... that's not necessarily the case. Maybe your Shizun didn't want to be supported by you. Let me give you an example: let's say you have a father who's a really good person, and has raised you for many years and has been very good to you, but he isn't the richest. Would you like him?"

"Yes," Leng Gong said without thinking.

"Then let's say you have another father..."

"Why are you always talking about fathers?" Leng Gong couldn't make heads or tails about Xue Meng's lack of other examples. "Are there problems with you and your father?"

Xue Meng's eyes bugged out, "I, I I was just using it as an easy example!" Regardless, he continued: "You have another father, and he's not as good of a person as your original father, and he didn't even know that you existed, plus he neglected your mother. But, he's incredibly rich. Would you like him?"

Leng Gong was enraged: "No, I'd boil him alive!"

Xue Meng: "......That's...not necessary. I'm just saying. You think money can make him happy, when maybe all he wants is for the two of you to read together, or something..."

Leng Gong thought about it. The more she thought about it, the uglier her expression got. Although she was as imposing as before, in her eyes was a sense of grievance.

At long last she said, stiffly: "... I don't really know how to read, and I'm uncultured. I single-mindedly studied for ten years, but I still couldn't compare to someone who just read while wandering around for five. All I have is money and physical strength. If he doesn't like it, what can I do?"

Xue Meng suddenly felt she was very much like a wolf dog who had been abandoned by her master and left in the rain, who felt so aggrieved that she wanted to die, but still needed to sit straight and upright and pretend that he didn't care.

Xue Meng sighed: "Let's move on. Why don't you talk about something else?"

Leng Gong said, obstinately: "There are other ways that I'm better than that person."

"... For example?"

"They're not as pale as me."

Towards Xue Meng's suspicious eyes, Leng Gong said moodily: "What? I meant before. I'm not as pale now as I used to be. The reasons are very complicated, I won't explain them to you."

"Ah." Xue Meng said, "I don't want to hear them either. What else?"

"They're not as good looking as I am. They have ugly taste in clothes."

"They're not as straightforward as I am. They've got a lot of twisty schemes."

They're not as high up as I am."

Xue Meng didn't know why, but when Leng Gong said the last sentence it seemed like she accidentally revealed something she meant to hide.

There was no point in continuing with this topic; probably the ultimate result would only be to figure out how many sentences Leng Gong could think of beginning with "they're not as". Also, Xue Meng has realized this Leng Gong was lacking when it came to self-reflection—if you asked about others' merits, she couldn't answer, and if you asked about her own shortcomings, she couldn't answer either.

So he had to use a different approach.

Xue Meng suddenly had a bright idea and said to Leng Gong: "You know, the way you're talking makes things a bit unclear. Why don't we play a game?"

"Oh? What game?"

From now on, pretend I'm your Shizun, and I'm asking you for something. Why don't you take your reaction, compare it to how that person who's stolen your place would react, and explain them to me?"

Leng Gong: "... You look pretty young, and yet you know how to play this kind of game."

After considering for a moment, she said: "Okay, but I need to make one thing clear. Don't get jealous of how my great talent emerged quickly, and develop some weird romantic feelings, and use this chance to pretend to be my Shizun to take advantage of me. I won't sleep with you."

Xue Meng was startled, and exploded: "I'm fucking helping you here! What stupid fantasy is that! Who wants to take advantage of you?! Take back those vulgar words! From now on I forbid you from saying anything about sleeping!!"

Leng Gong raised one eyebrow and crossed her arms. "....Ah."

Xue Meng was pulling his hair out: "Also, it's ‘great talent emerges slowly,’ not ‘quickly’! Don't randomly use messed-up idioms![216]

"Huh?" Leng Gong's expression was stubborn. "Really? This kind of thing... if you don't get settled when you're young, can you even become great when it's later?"

Xue Meng: "??? I understood not a single word of what you just said. Forget it. I know you're not well read, that's fine. Let's not talk about this anymore and get started."

He cleared his throat. "I'll start asking questions now."

Leng Gong's interest piqued, and she sat up straight.

"Bring it on."

Ch. 328 Xue Meng's Blind Date: Wayward Young Lady 3

Translator's note: So in Chinese, the words 他, referring to someone male in the third person, and 她, referring to someone female in the third person, are pronounced exactly the same. This leads to a misunderstanding in this chapter that works in Chinese, but not really in English. So I've chosen to have Taxian-jun refer to his other self as "they," and have Xue Meng misunderstand it as "she," because he still thinks TXJ is a woman referring to her love rival.

And so they began.

The two immediately got into the proper positions and pulled themselves apart.

Xue Meng said: "Listen well. Right now I am your Shizun. You are still you. In front of us there are only spicy stir fries and spicy hot pots. We can't order anything else. What will you do?"

Leng Gong said concisely: "Smash this place."

"...."

"I'll smash things until they're willing to make us some non-spicy dishes."

"...."

Having decided to begin roleplaying, she glanced at Xue Meng and said: "You're pretending to be Shizun right now, aren't you?"

Xue Meng: "... Yes."

"Good. What would you like to eat?"

The person who didn't like spicy food who Xue Meng knew best was Chu Wanning, so he casually chose some dishes that were to Chu Wanning's taste: "I want lion's head meatballs with crabmeat, sweet and sour fish, green vegetables with tofu, and lotus pastries."

Leng Gong stared when she heard this: "Why is your taste..."

Xue Meng: "What's wrong?"

"... Nothing much." Leng Gong said, "You sit here. I'll go down."

Xue Meng said in a rush: "No smashing the shop!"

"You never change do you, always begging for me to be lenient." Leng Gong narrowed her eyes theatrically. "Fine, I won't smash anything, I'll just go find the cook."

"What are you going to do with the cook?"

"I'll give him two choices," Leng Gong said solemnly: "Make the dish I want with no peppers in it..."

"And what's the alternative?"

"He'll put peppers in, I'll cut his head off."

Xue Meng's mouth twitched: "....."

This person is quite the poet.

The poet Leng Gong said efficiently: "I'm going."

When Xue Meng saw that she was really going down, he got so mad he felt dizzy: "This is just a play! What are you doing? Ok, ok, stop acting as yourself. What about your homewrecker; if it were her, what would she do?" After he finished, he hastily raised his hand and added, "And if she'd also smash the restaurant or take someone's head, you don't have to act that out!"

"What restaurant could they smash?" Leng Gong rolled her eyes. "They treasure their good reputation like a bird treasures its feathers. Wait a second, I'll show you."

In the blink of an eye, Leng Gong changed her face. If she didn't perform in the Pear Garden, it would have been a great loss to ticket-holders.[217]

In a split second, even her aura changed. Her outward wildness and swagger was held back in her bones; although she was still the same person, she now seemed extremely calm, reserved, tolerant and considerate.

She looked at Xue Meng softly. When she opened her mouth, her low, gently husky voice raised goose bumps along Xue Meng's back: "Shizun..."

"...." Xue Meng was caught off guard by such style. He stiffened, then quickly shouted, "Stop! Stop, stop! Let me warm up first, I, I...I need to get used to it!"

Leng Gong laughed, dimples appearing on her cheeks, and crooned, "Isn't it sickening? I told you they weren't direct. They were clearly thinking about eating meat, but first they have to make all these excuses for it, nowhere near as straightforward as I am. You should take your sweet time warming up, it's going to get worse soon enough."

Xue Meng: "..."

Slowly, Xue Meng suddenly had a question: "Wait a minute, that sanctimonious gold-digger, how come she calls your lover Shizun too?"

"Shouldn't they?"

"Is she also a disciple of your Shizun?

"Yes."

Xue Meng went blank for a moment, suddenly bowed his head and began to count on his fingers. He mumbled as he counted: "One, two, three, no, this can't be counted as two people..."

Leng Gong looked at him, baffled. After a while, she couldn't help asking: "What are you doing?"

Xue Meng shook his head. "It's difficult for me to say but, I was wondering if I want to accept any disciples in the future. It feels a bit dangerous, especially when I'm so good looking..."

After that, he sighed again: "Well, I mean, your competition, the way she fawned over your Shizun was really too much. If someone talked like that towards me, I'd probably lose my appetite."

Leng Gong clapped for him: "Well said!"

Xue Meng asked curiously, "What do you usually call him? Do you also call him Shizun? Because when you say 'Shizun' you don't have that simpering tone."

Leng Gong waved her hand: "We normally don't call him the same thing."

"Then what do you call him?"

"I use his name directly."

"So you're doing things more normally."

"Or I call him Baobei."

"... I take back what I just said." Xue Meng had a headache and supported his head on his hands: "Okay okay, let's go on, you keep acting. I, your Shizun, have a headache now."

Leng Gong blinked and fell into character very quickly. Looking at him supporting his head, she immediately asked tenderly: "Are you tired?"

Xue Meng: "..."

"How did you get sick so quickly? Maybe you caught a chill..."

Xue Meng: "... No I'm angry."

"Ah." Leng Gong widened her eyes slightly, her voice as softly yielding as before: "Did I do something wrong to make you unhappy?"

Xue Meng's face turned green, but soon enough he couldn't hold it in any longer. "Ah!," he shouted, "No! No good! Stop stop stop!"

The star of Pear Garden, Miss Leng Gong, seemed to have become addicted to this act and couldn't break character. Adoringly, she said: "I'm sorry I'm so stupid. Even when I want to please Shizun, in the end I always make him unhappy. Shizun... please look at me, don't turn away."

Xue Meng's eyes rolled to the back of his head, and he looked like he was going to die from disgust.

At this moment, he suddenly felt a sense of respect for Mei Hanxue. Thinking about it, he was currently only dealing with one young lady, and he had exhausted all his patience, having to use eighteen types of martial arts to deal with her. Right now he even had to see if he had any theatrical skills—was it because Mei Hanxue had such talents, that he could play around carelessly with all those flowers for so many years?

If they switched places, he'd have gray hair in a month's time!

The young lady stubbornly kept up her passionate performance: "Is Shizun unhappy because he can't get used to the food here? It's ok. If that's the reason, then I'll go downstairs and find the cook now."

Xue Meng was like a dying carp that had been beaten into life. He grabbed her and said, "Hey, hey, hey! Didn't you agree not to smash the store? I'm telling you now, I won't allow you to do evil deeds in Wuchang Town!"

"Oh?" Leng Gong minutely widened her beautiful eyes, and smiled: "What are you talking about? The head cook here just isn't good at making non-spicy food. How could I embarrass him? I've brought some silver, and I'm going down to give the cook a few ingots and ask him to lend me the kitchen. I'll personally make the dishes you want for you."

Her voice was agreeable, and then it slowed down, as soft as the rippling water: "I remembered. Shizun wants xiaolongbao with crabmeat, sweet and sour fish, green vegetables with tofu, and lotus pastries."[218]

"The crabmeat needs to be broken down with roe, the sweet and sour fish needs Zhenjiang vinegar to be fragrant, the green vegetables with tofu need the most tender seasonal vegetables, and the lotus pastries should have rose-flavored red bean paste to be exquisite. But maybe the restaurant doesn't have these ingredients, so I might go to the market later to check. It might take a little more time."

As Leng Gong said this, she raised her hand to gently stroke Xue Meng's head—although she only stroked air, and didn't actually make contact: "Don't get mad, why don't I also make Shizun a bowl of lotus paste tangyuan?[219] Wait for me, I'll be back as soon as possible."

Xue Meng was getting goosebumps and hadn't yet opened his mouth to answer her, when suddenly, the room's bamboo lattice door was flung open with a crash.

He turned his head, and couldn't yet see the face of the newcomer, when a vine whip flowing with oppressive golden light rushed forward like electricity. It crossed his head in an instant and directly whipped Leng Gong's hand!

With a "pa!" sound, sparks exploded!

Leng Gong muffled her cry of pain; she prepared to retaliate, but then saw that willow vine and was startled: "You—?"

Xue Meng also turned pale with fright, and cried out involuntarily: "How could it be... Tian, Tian Wen?!"

The next moment, a cold-faced man walked into the room. He had sword-like brows and phoenix eyes, a straight nose and thin lips, black hair tied in a ponytail, and was draped in clothes of raw white silk, flowing with silver light. He floated like an immortal, but his manner was as fierce as thunder. Who could it be but Tian Wen's master, Chu Wanning?

Because Xue Meng wore Manor Head Ma's phantom sachet, Chu Wanning didn't recognize him, but only scanned him worriedly before turning his eyes back to "Leng Gong". At that moment, the Beidou Immortal's features were icy cold, and his elegant face was filled with impatience. Upon opening his mouth, even more sparks flew in all directions.

"Mo Weiyu, how long are you planning on making trouble?"

Xue Meng turned his head and gaped: "Mo- mo- mo-.....you're Mo-mo-..."

Taxian-jun impatiently interrupted him: "Mo mo mo yourself; do you have a stutter?" I'm not Mo-zongshi. Don't fucking scream at me."

What's the difference??!!

Xue Meng felt like the sky was covered in black clouds, roiling with wind and thunder. And when he recalled the conversation he had with "Leng Gong" before, he felt like a thunderbolt had struck down from the sky, splitting him into bewildered pieces, from the top of his head to his scorched insides...

God! What did they say to each other!!

He said that Chu Wanning had a human face but a beastly heart, and that he was the Chen Shimei of the cultivation world! He said that Chu Wanning was a heartless fickle comtemptible shamess person like Jiang Xi!!

He, he he even compassionately listened to Mo Weiyu like a caring big brother, heard him describe in great detail all those things he didn't want to know about his activities on Wushan, something bed reception pavilion hotspring he'd done it everywhere aaaahhhhhhhhh someone please save him and give him a memory-wiping pill! Even if Jiang Xi was the one to give it to him he'd swallow it without blinking!!

Taxian-jun had been struck by Tian Wen, but Chu Wanning's intent was only to interrupt him carelessly fooling around with a "young maiden"; he controlled his strength and the strike wasn't heavy, only scraping a bit of skin—

However, the audacity of shameless people has no end. The barely-injured Taxian-jun stiffly sqeezed out some blood from his wound, and deliberately show the spot where he bled to Chu Wanning. And with unending depths of eroticism, he exaggeratedly lifted his hand up close to his lips, extended the tip of his tongue, and licked it with menacing implications: "Very good, Chu Wanning. You truly are presumptuous to ignore the proper order of this world."

Chu Wanning: "..."

"Today, you made this venerable one bleed, something this venerable one will remember deep in his heart. You'll suffer for this, you'll..."

Chu Wanning held Tian Wen in his palm, and once again it hissed as sparks flew everywhere. He narrowed his eyes: "Are you finished yet? Do I need to do this a second time?"

Taxianjun raged, agitated: "Chu Wanning! Don't rely on this venerable one to indulge you anymore, I've spoiled you rotten! If you dare to use Tian Wen a second time, this venerable one will— will—"

His phoenix eyes narrowing dangerously, Chu Wanning let out an "oh" sound, and said portentiously: "You'll do what?"

Ta Xianjun slapped the table: "This venerable one will give you two to hold in three years!"[220]

"....."

This dreadful dialogue made Xue Meng helplessly wish that he could just die already.

Why is it that long ago when his cousin was always talking about how he wanted to torment his Shizun, Xuemeng was a bystander, and now after so long, when his cousin is still spouting similar nonsense, he's still a bystander? God! He just doesn't want to listen to this kind of talk, is that too much?

Chu Wanning had overestimated Taxian-jun's integrity and the thickness of his face after all. His face suddenly turned green, and he glanced over at Xue Meng, at a loss. Then he angrily said in a low voice: "... You are absolutely shameless beyond belief! Return with me immediately!"

"Return? Hmm. Why should this venerable one return? Taxian-jun said frostily: "Everything under the sky belongs to this venerable one, so what's inappropriate about coming out in disguise to visit some lucky beauty?"[221]

As he spoke, he hauled Xue Meng over, patted him on the shoulder, and said to Chu Wanning, "Come. I'd like to introduce you to my new flame, they're known as...cough...known as, um..."

He wanted to make up some title like "Linjiang-xianzi" or "Yu Mian Jiao Niang ".[222] This was something he was actually capable of, if he just referenced the books that he had gnawed through in boredom during his years spent alone. The problem was, ever since he went to Nanping Mountain to live in seclusion, Taxian-jun's days had become rather lively.

He no longer needed to live alone, cold and distressed, in Wushan Palace, nor did he need to pass the lonely hours through solitary reading and martial arts practice. His mindset was good, and he could do many things. This directly influenced Taxian-jun's approach regarding his education, which fell from profound but unpopular works to the common and popular.[223] When he was guarding Wushan Palace he read The Book of Changes and The Book of Songs;[224] he never wanted to see those again. After all, Chu Wanning had returned. If he wanted to see that person write, "Is my heart not stone, that it can't be turned" with his own hands again and again, he could do that.[225] It was no longer necessary to use those thick books to fish for the fragmented reflections of the beloved deceased, nor was it necessary to hunt down particular phrases that Chu Wanning had himself spoken in the past, in order to feel a momentary fierce joy and sorrow.

This contented Taxian-jun was willing to fall from grace again. This year, aside from the "Unintelligible List", the only book he read was the "Haitang Romance: Stories of Love" ten volume collected edition.

So he racked his brains and searched his guts. Finally he slapped the table, seized Xue Meng, and majestically spread out his harms to introduce him: "This person is the peerless rascal - Long Ao Tian."[226]

Chu Wanning: "....."

Xue Meng's face turned green for a moment, even brighter than his Shizun's. He said angrily, "Bah! Peerless your grandpa! You, you're a hooligan whose dog mouth can't produce ivory! I, I I'm not...". He was so furious with his verbal attacks that he couldn't get them out clearly; so if he couldn't use his words, he might as well take direct action. He wanted to release the phantom sachet directly.

Who would imagine that when he left that morning, he'd come out short-handed, and end up tying himself into a dead knot!

Taxian-jun still didn't know who he really was, and believed he was still willing to help him piss Chu Wanning off. So he stepped on Xue Meng's foot and whispered in his ear, trying to bribe him with money: "Let's coordinate a bit; that fickle man who lost my embroidered bag. After we're through with him, I'll send you a big red envelope, it'll have at least a hundred gold leaves in it."

Xue Meng was so mad he screamed, and directly cast a curse to break apart that phantom sachet.

Back in his original form, he pulled out Longcheng, kicked over a chair, brandished his sword and rushed toward Taxianjun, bellowing angrily:

Mo Weiyu! You're not a person! You are a dog!!! Who are you calling some peerless something rascal? Who are you calling Long Ao Tian?!! You dare to anger Shizun!! Don't you dare hide!! Today I, I, I'll take your dog life!!!!"

Ch. 329 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Wayward Young Lady 4

It has been said by some esteemed members of the Jianghu that the most miserable profession in the world is not a funeral director, nor a beggar, but an innkeeper.

Throughout the ages, masters of all kinds seem to have a special love for inns. They carry on clandestine love affairs in inns, fight and brawl in inns, confront their love rivals in inns... and then there are people like Taxian-jun and Sect Leader Xue, who are clearly dealing with private family issues and could go two steps to have their battles at SiSheng Peak. But they have their particular stubbornness, and refused to do so, and thus, unable to wait, they had their bird-pecks-dog dog-bites-bird fight in the inn.

The innkeeper, an old lady, was quite cross about this.

She leaned on a cane, tottering towards them, and for some reason unnecessarily announced herself like so: "I, Shi Longxia, am an old lady."

The three people couldn't understand this pronouncement, and looked at each other in dismay.

Finally, Taxian-jun waved his hand, and said pompously: "I, Mo Weiyu, am Emperor."

He pointed to Chu Wanning: "He, Chu Wanning, is a Xianzun."

He then pointed to Xue Meng: "He... forget it, he's not important."

Xue Meng: "???"

Taxianjun said: "I ask, are you afraid?"

The elderly Shi Longxian wasn't afraid of violence, and was bold enough to fight against dark, evil forces. She held her cane and scanned the mess, and threw resonant words to the floor: "None of you have any sense of morals!!!"

Xue Meng's face turned red.

Chu Wanning's face also turned an ugly color.

Taxian-jun crossed his arms, disapprovingly, not willing to accept this: "Hey, old lady, can't you be more tactful? Don't you know the heroic deeds of this venerable one? Of everything that lies under the heavens, if this venerable one had not exerted his godly might to stop the flood that would have extinguished this world, your pathetic little inn would have been dashed into splinters and fragments of brick. What's smashing a few tables and rooms compared to that?"

Chu Wanning said sternly: "Mo Weiyu!"

Taxian-jun coughed: "If, if worst comes to worst, this venerable one will compensate you for the damages, just say how much you want! One or two hundred taels of silver should be enough, correct?"

Innkeeper Shi Longxia was not motivated by money, and continued to rub her cheek and glare at them, spitting mad. She forcefully repeated her previous words: "None of you have any sense of morals!!!"

"Hey, you—"

Xue Meng pushed Taxian-jun aside and walked forward a few steps, embarrassed. He said to the innkeeper, "Elderly one, I'm truly sorry. My temper is too awful, I temporarily lost control and destroyed so many of your chairs and tables and rooms, and I also stabbed several holes in your roof. I sincerely apologize, and will compensate you for the damages appropriately. Do you think this is satisfactory?"

After this, he looked back at Chu Wanning: "Shizun, do you think this is satisfactory?"

Chu Wanning had not spoken yet. The little old lady thumped the floor with her cane again and once again said furiously: "Morals—"

"We have no sense of morals." Taxian-jun interrupted, rolled his eyes and said impatiently: " Sigh , come on, old lady, what exactly do you want? We're providing compensation and we've apologized, and you're still going 'no morals no morals'. Besides, if you wouldn't give face to a monk, wouldn't you at least give face to the Buddha? You say that this venerable one has no morals, this venerable one won't complain, you say that Xue Meng also has no morals, this venerable one won't argue. But will you go so far as to not know who he is?"

As he said this, he dragged Chu Wanning over.

"Are you blind?"

Chu Wanning brushed his sleeves, wanting to free himself from Taxian-jun's grasp. He scowled with his sword-like eyebrows and said angrily, "Get lost."

"This venerable one won't get lost." Not only did Taxian-jun not release his hand, but also crooned lowly, forcibly pulling him in until they were stuck together. He reached out and pinched Chu Wanning's chin, licked his lips, and said in a low voice: "You're acting like a spoiled child."

Xue Meng: "..."

Chu Wanning: "... Do you want to die?!"

The old lady didn't seem to buy the story of this savior Xianjun, and continued to thump the floor with her cane, muttering: "Truly no sense of morals!"

Everyone looked at each other. This time, even Chu Wanning didn't know how they should talk to her.

As these three brilliant famed cultivators were stuck in a dark corner of the second floor of an inn, trapped with no way to escape by the words of a white-haired wrinkly old lady too weak to truss a chicken, there suddenly came the creaking sound of footsteps coming in from the stairs. A half-grown little girl ran upstairs, hugged the arm of the innkeeper, turned her head and stated clearly: "I'm sorry I'm sorry! My grandma can't hear or see clearly, so she doesn't really know what's going on around her. She doesn't recognize you or know who you are."

Xue Meng let out an "ahh," and said: "No wonder, so that's why..."

Taxian-jun was also shocked. He coughed uncomfortably and said in a low voice: "Then why didn't she tell us earlier..."

"Huh?" The little girl blinked, confused. "No, every time grandma talks to someone, she'll tell them from the beginning."

"What'll she tell them?"

"I am a deaf and blind old lady."

Chu Wanning: "..."

Xue Meng: "..."

Taxian-jun: "Who thought she was called Shi Longxia just now?"[227]

Xue Meng said angrily: "Wasn't it you, you dog?"

Since they had smashed the old lady's shop, and couldn't find a carpenter to come repair it, and it was getting dusky outside and looked like it might rain at any moment, the three of them decided to stay for the innkeeper's sake and make the necessary emergency repairs to the building before it started to storm.

Of the three, one is a master of machine armor, one has been used to hard living since childhood, and one Xue Meng used to frequently help Xue Zhengyong. Together they busied themselves, easily fixing the chairs, tables, roof, and anything else.

When the last broken beam was repaired, torrential rain began to pour down with a crashing sound, and all of Wuchang Town was enclosed in a misty haze. The old woman's little granddaughter saw that the rain was too heavy, so she told them they might as well stay for a bit, and wait until the next day when the rain has stopped to return.

In actuality, as far as Chu Wanning's party went, it wouldn't have been difficult to open a portal to return to the mountains. But in the end it was still a bit of a hassle, and it had been a very long time since the three of them could set aside their normal duties to spend some time together.

Rain cannot trap people, only the heart can trap people.

Chu Wanning looked at Xue Meng looking anxiously back at him, sighed, and said to the little shopkeeper: "We'll just have to trouble you then."

"It's no trouble at all!" The little girl knew exactly who was in front of her. She blushed with joy, and went off hopping and skipping to prepare dinner and their rooms.

The atmosphere of this meal was very delicate.

What Mo Ran had said before was right. Nowadays the three of them, master and disciples, aren't fit to stay under one roof at all. Although Xue Meng desperately missed them, and desperately wanted them to go back to the days when they were as inseparable as light and shadow, a broken window screen can't be whole again, and gluing it back together would only be an act of self deception. It's impossible for them to pretend that nothing has happened, and relate to each other as before.

Can Xue Meng pretend not to know what their relationship is? Of course he can't.

Therefore, although he has been trying to chat with Chu Wanning, he felt something strange. It was like when he had been informed that when they were all at Taobao Manor and Chu Wanning had faced him directly, that behind a curtain he was actually being possessed by Mo Ran. Although this matter is long past, and that strong sense of his world falling apart had also passed, when he sits next to them, when he's sitting right next to them, he can't help but think back on this incident, and then he can't help but imagine...

Chu Wanning and Mo Ran...

His Shizun and his cousin...

!!!!

He truly wanted to know if back then Chu Wanning had been bullied too badly to resist. After all, Mo Ran was too unreasonable. But he dared not ask, and he dared not speak, so he only glanced at Chu Wanning, wanting but unable to say something—

"Shizun..."

"Yes?"

"...Please have some more meat."

"Shizun..."

"Yes?"

"...Please have some more meat."

"Shizun..."

"....."

"...Please have even more meat."

"It is said that the fighting spirit aroused by the first roll of drums becomes depleted by the second and exhausted by the third. Xue Meng felt a bit tired.

But when Taxian-jun saw Sect Leader Xue cozying up to the Beidou Immortal, he uncharacteristically didn't stop them. Instead, as if he didn't care, he gnawed at a bone and smiled grimly."

The three of them ate at one table in silence, until Chu Wanning couldn't bear the strange atmosphere any longer, got up and said: "I'm going back to my room."

Taxian-jun: "Okay, I won't see you off."

Chu Wanning's face was gloomy, and he walked off brushing away his sleeves.

Seeing this, Xue Meng couldn't hold it in any longer, and threw down his chopsticks with a "pa" sound: "Mo Ran!"

Taxianjun gnawed his bone and said lazily: "What is it, still looking for a fuck?"

"You—" He gritted his teeth: "You have no idea what's good for you!!"

"How'd this venerable one offend you again? Peerless Daozhang?"

"... Wha-?"

"Peerless Rascal Daozhang."

Xue Meng almost jumped up and strangled Taxian-jun. Like a flying bird and a jumping dog they fought until they were both out of breath. They stared at each other, separated by a table. Xue Meng slammed the table: "Tell me! Why did you betray Shizun!"

"Hey, come on. Xue Meng, you can't actually be that serious with your bootlicker act. Before the appearance spell was broken, you said he was unfair to this venerable one, that he was the Chen Shimei of the cultivation world, on par with Jiang Xi. You said all that yourself."

"That's because you took everything out of context!" Xue Meng argued angrily: "What was all that about leaving you alone at home, when clearly at that point he had already...already...."

He had already transformed into floating ash and smoke on the wind, for their sake and for the sake of the mortal world.

Even if their misunderstandings was corrected, and the entire story and all its details became known, this part of their past is, for Xue Meng and Taxian-jun, a most delicate wound that neither of them could dare to touch.

Taxian-jun stared at him: "Don't say it."

"I wasn't going to."

After mutually staring at each other for a bit, Xue Meng said: "Anyway, I'll never believe that Shizun would treat people unfaithfully. The person you're talking about who dug into your corner must have been someone you made up!"

"This venerable one didn't make that up!"

"Then who is it?"

"It's that hypocrite Mo-zongshi!"

"You... "Xue Meng's voice suddenly seized up, and he lost his ability to think. After freezing for a long time, he finally came to his senses. He slammed both hands on the table, stood up, and shouted furiously: "You're insane!"

"We've been fighting all this time, and I wasted so much time helping you, and it turns out I've been listening to you beat yourself up this entire time! You've been eating your own vinegar, you sicko! You you you...you deserve to go to Gu Yue Ye for treatment!! Should I make an appointment with Jiang Xi for you? I can save you money by giving my name!!!"

"Oh?" Taxianjun was a man who was particularly keen when it came to certain matters. He shrewishly lifted his head and, detouring past all obstacles to strike directly at that blind spot, said: ""Hold on. Why can I save money by giving your name?""

"I—"

Taxianjun narrowed his eyes. "Since when did you have such a good relationship with Jiang Yechen?"

"I, I..."

Xue Meng "I"'d for a while, but couldn't "I" up an answer.

If we were to say that there are things Taxian-jun, who has lived for two lifetimes, still didn't know, the only thing was probably the secret of Xue Meng's birth. The fact that Jiang Xi was Xue Meng's father had been Madame Wang's well-kept secret. After the deaths of Madame Wang and Xue Zhengyong, only this father and son pair knew; without exception, no outsiders had any clue.

Taxian-jun naturally couldn't figure out the real relationship between Xue Meng and Jiang Xi. He watched Xue Meng's little face turn from white to red, from red to green, until finally he looked like he was suffering greatly from trying to restrain himself from speaking. Suddenly, a flash of light went off in his mind, and he instantly gained holy wisdom of what was going on.

—— Ah! Could it be....

So it's like that!!

Taxian-jun himself liked an older, frigid man like Chu Wanning, and had pushed himself onto him, so he felt that other men must also have smilar tastes. So instantly his thoughts turned crooked, and he looked at Xue Meng with an entirely new level of respect. While he looked he felt deeply moved; who could have known...

"No need to speak." Taxian-jun suddenly lost all his anger. He got up and filled up a cup of wine in the manner of a hero facing a fellow hero. Admiringly, he raised the cup and drained it in one gulp. Then he turned over the empty cup and praised: "Xue Meng ah, a scholar who has been away three days that, um... cough , I have an entirely new level of respect for you! You really did it! This venerable one congratulates you!"[228]

Xue Meng: "???"

It has to be said that Xue Meng hadn't interacted much with Mo Ran's Taxian-jun personality. He's used to dealing with his upright cousin Mo-zongshi, and so he didn't realize a very important point: when speaking to Taxian-jun, the phrase "did it" oftentimes won't have the connotation that normal people would think of.

Xue Meng had in a haze been poured one cup of wine after another, and hadn't realized what Taxian-jun's "Brother, you really did it," was actually praising, nor what his "Congratulations!" was congratulating.

He could only vaguely hear Taxian-jun cozying up to him and asking: "Hey, what did you think of it? Was it good? Could you handle it?"

Xue Meng thought he was talking about wine and muttered: "How could I, it was way too much... I can't really take..."

He was dizzy and growing more and more nauseous; Mo Ran that dog actually poured Shao Daozi down his throat.[229]

This won't do, he's going to complain to Shizun...

He staggered towards Chu Wanning's room, but was stopped by Taxian-jun. Xue Meng's eyes stared blankly, wondering why Taxian-jun was suddenly so animated. He said vaguely: "Wha-, what are you doing?"

Taxian-jun grabbed Xue Meng and raised his eyebrows: "One gets to know the self through wine, and a thousand cups is too few; it's so hard for us to get a chance to chat, so what are you embarrassed about? You know, with your personality, this venerable one has long thought that no girl would be able to stand you. For you to finally understand this isn't an easy thing; listen to gege—"

Xue Meng could hardly stand up, and his face turned green: "Let go, I....I want..."

Taxian-jun didn't care at all what he wanted.

He only felt that it was a rare thing for Xue Meng to understand things like this. This didi was finally learning from him, and realizing that bedding a more senior cultivator was this world's greatest pleasure.[230]

First gege will pamper Yuheng of the Night Sky Chu-xianzun.

Then didi will seize the Night-Fragrant Pollia Jiang Yechen.

How wonderful!

After he returned home, he wanted to hang the grand records of their brotherly heroic exploits around the necks of booksellers, and demand that they print ten million copies to distribute throughout the cultivation world.

With this, he could become rich again!

So Taxian-jun joyously said: "This venerable one has done quite a lot of study in this field. Since you are this venerable one's didi, it's possible to lend you a hand with the difficult points..."

"Let go...I wanna...."

"This venerable one knows you want to, but your physical strength is not as good as this venerable one's, so you can't take on too much The key point is in your skills. Naturally, the skills of this venerable one are exceptionally —"

"Huurkk-!!!" A violent sound of retching interrupted Taxian-jun's incessant self-promotion.

Xue Meng, Xue Ziming, after having vomited on the face of the beautiful dashixiong Mei Hanxue, had now vomited on the handsome face of the butterfly boned beauty banquet emperor of the world, and did so wildly with no reservations.

"....."

Taxian-jun's face suddenly turned black.

"Xue Meng! How dare you throw up on this venerable one's clothes! This venerable one had to go down the mountain and help chop firewood for an entire day to earn enough spending money to buy this. Fuck!"

In response, Xue Meng's eyes rolled up, and once again making a spectacular mess: "Bluurgrghhhhh一!"

Ch. 330 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Wayward Young Lady 5

Taxian-jun felt that he had never been so wronged before in his life. Not even going down the mountain to help people plant crops and chop firewood and slaughter pigs and babysit could compare.

After all, the work he did off the mountain to earn his secret pocket money was in disguise, and besides, he only did it under the alias of "Gou-zongshi".[231]

It was unclear whether using this nickname made him happy or anxious. In actuality, the villagers all had good things to say about his "Gou-zongshi" role; they praised "Gou-zongshi" as strong and valiant: if you paid him he'd work, and when he's done he'd leave without complaints. He was quite an excellent day laborer.

The only thing was, this person liked to brag, and would frequently spout things like, "this reminds me of when I possessed a thousand servants," or "this reminds me of when I had countless treasures," and so on.

And when his temper got fired up, he would always threaten to chop off people's heads, and when comforting a child would also threaten to cut off that child's head. As a result, when his boss said that his wages would be deducted, he could only force an unnatural smile and bounce the child that he had scared into tears.

Between gritted teeth, he would comfort the child, saying: "Rocking, rocking, rocking down to Naihe bridge, Granny Meng will call me a good baby.[232]

When the child burst into laughter and the boss turned away, no longer paying attention, he ground his teeth and whispered: "Just you wait! When Chu Wanning isn't looking, this venerable one will take off with all the property you fiendish villagers own! Bah!"

But this time was different. This time he had no disguise, nor did he have an alias.

Xue Meng had vomited all over the robes of the Magnificent Emperor Taxian-jun; he could only throw them away. Now, wearing a plain unadorned inner robe, he looked like a destitute, dejected laborer.

Even worse, he still had to mop up the floors. Who let everyone else fall asleep, and leave him the only one still awake?

Taxian-jun, with a disgusted face, carried Xue Meng back to his guest room, threw him on the bed, then carelessly threw a quilt over him.

"You damn drunkard!"

He raised his hand and with a "pa!" sound slapped Xue Meng. In response, he got Xue Meng's groans and whines. Taxian-jun stood for a moment, felt this all to be exceptionally pointless, then went out.

But instead of returning to his room, he asked the shopkeeper to buy a few pots of wine, and went to the stairway of the inn, where he sat by himself to drown his sorrows.

While he drank, he looked furtively at Chu Wanning's room.

He deliberately made a lot of noise, exaggerating all his movements and sounds, in hopes that Chu Wanning would give some sort of response.

Unfortunately they'd been busy working most of the day, and the one who finally responded to him was a random inn guest, who poked his head out to shout: "Are you crazy?!"

Taxian-jun viciously looked up: "Do you want to die?"

The random inn guest never would have thought that the one outside was Emperor Taxian-jun. He startled, and with an "eep!" sound crawled back into his room.

Taxian-jun rolled his eyes and muttered, "If this venerable one hadn't been in a good temper, you'd already be missing your head! You fiend!"

He continued to drink, and the more he drank, the more wronged he felt.

When he finished drinking, he glanced hatefully at the guest room at the end of the hall—the lights had already gone out, and Chu Wanning hadn't come to comfort him, or even seem to care whether he returned or not. He actually went straight to bed!

Taxian-jun ground his teeth. If he were Mo-zongshi, Chu Wanning would long have since come to keep him company and support him with kind, sweet, comforting words.

He was so angry that he gulped down yet another pot.

Xue Meng said that he was no different from Mo-zongshi, Chu Wanning said that he was the same person as Mo-zongshi, and Mo-zongshi himself said that they were no different, just different stages of one person.

They're all wrong!

Taxian-jun's paranoia and his petty twisted ways of thinking were different! Just look at Chu Wanning's attitude towards him! Why did he lose the brocade bag he gifted him, and only keep the rag made by that hypocrite?

They tricked him into being uncivilized! They tricked him into studying less! Everyone in the world has betrayed him!

Even Chu Wanning didn't care about him at all! Yes, he came to Wuchang Town to look for him, but he didn't have a single kind word for him, and didn't even apologize for losing his Qixi gift. Taxian-jun had searched through multiple books to find his favorite phrases to embroider on that brocade bag, no one else could have gotten such a gift, even if they wanted it!

Chu Wanning has no idea what's good for him!

Drinking even more, he became a bit confused, hugging the wooden railings of the stairwell to steady himself, the words "this venerable one is not happy" written all over his face.

In his daze, he seemed to hear a door opening somewhere, then approaching footsteps that stopped where his body was.

Taxian-jun raised his head, and in the misty candlelight, he saw that pure, beautiful face that he had wrongly hated for half a lifetime, foolishly pined after for ten years, and had thirsted after across two worlds.

He stared for a bit, then muttered "Chu Wanning..." to the new arrival.

Just saying this name out loud made the pit of his stomach feel moist. Whether controlled by the Eight Sufferings Everlasting Hatred Flower or not, his heart from beginning to end has always had the strongest, most desperate desires for Chu Wanning. His heart seems to be steeped in longing, but aside from longing, there was an excess of grievance, warmth, hurt, and fondness. Did he not love him? From the bottom of his heart, his feelings towards Chu Wanning had never been less than those of his other self.

But what could he do? He has been a puppet for the last ten years of his previous life, and then a walking corpse. The Eight Sufferings Everlasting Hatred Flower had carved a hole in his flesh. He was like a wicked dragon who has been trapped in darkness for too long. and had gotten used to loneliness as a companion, tyranny as his footsoldiers. When the sunlight of the mortal world once again unreservedly embraced him, he was terrified.

The dragon that he was could only howl like a demon and display his claws, riddled with scars yet still sharp. In this way this venerable one could show off his disdain at associating with you.

In actuality, he knew inside how much he envied the "him" that could relive his life in another world.

Even if you arranged the facts in front of him one by one, even if everyone told him, " Mo-zongshi is you, you two are the same being," he wouldn't be able to acknowledge it. He'd cover his head and refuse the entire world.

He'd say: no, this venerable one is different from that person.

In actuality, he knew that he was lying. After all, how many times had he dreamt of it when he was at Wushan Palace: dreamt that he had gone back to the beginning, that the world was ablaze, that he was beside him. But every time he woke up, all that vanished.

He laid in his too-large bed, curtains flying around him. He hated having to wake up, hated Duke Zhou for not returning those nice dreams to him, and hated Zhuang Sheng for not allowing his butterfly to become his reality.[233]

So every time he shouted, "this venerable one is not Mo-zongshi!" he wondered who might come to comfort him. He wanted to grab a few thousand palace maids, and have them yell out 810 times a day, "You are Mo-zongshi, you and him are one and the same." Then he would be at peace.

"Why did you drink so much?"

Chu Wanning entered his field of vision, brows knitted, and tried to help him up, but was himself pulled down by an outstretched hand.

"Mo Ran, what's gotten into.... Oh..."

He embraced Chu Wanning with enormous strength, and caring for nothing else, enveloped him in a fierce, deep kiss. But when that kiss became more and more fervent, he seemed to have thought of something and, as if deliberately imitating someone, suddenly gentled.

"This venerable one can do it too..." While Chu Wanning was entwined in the fragrance of wine and his melancholy kiss, Taxian-jun murmured vaguely: "It's not hard."

Chu Wanning didn't know what he was talking about, but stiffened. The hallway was too open; there was no cover to speak of, and he was afraid that someone would come out and chance upon this scene. He tried to struggle free, but Taxian-jun pressed him against the wooden railings and kissed him even deeper. Based on Taxian-jun's typical way of doing things, it wasn't out of the question for them to start unabashedly doing thigs right there on the stairwell.

But as Chu Wanning resisted more and more, Taxian-jun suddenly uncharacteristically ended the kiss. His black and purple eyes drooped slightly, fixated on Chu Wanning's moist lips. He moved closer, wanting to continue. After a while, like a loyal dog begging to be fed by his master, he kissed him again.

Chu Wanning: "..."

Taxian-jun kissed him three more times, then stopped. Although his eyes were moist, he restrained himself, and held Chu Wanning in his close embrace.

He sighed heavily: "Tell me, is this venerable one dreaming again..."

This man was always uncontrollably agressive, and rarely sniffled like this into Chu Wanning's shoulder. Chu Wanning was startled, but then gained some understanding.

In this world, no matter which one of Mo Ran's soul threads it was, no matter which fragment, he would always know him best.

Chu Wanning raised his hand, caressed his back, and petted him as he had done when he was a teenager. He said: "It's not a dream. Let's go back to our room."

Taxian-jun was drowsy and stubborn, muttering, "I'm not sleeping. I'm not going back."

Chu Wanning said helplessly: "... What are you fussing about now?"

Taxian-jun wasn't happy, so Taxian-jun made a fuss, groaning and whining, as if he still felt terribly wronged: "You already put out the lights, and you still didn't come find this venerable one, you're trying to make this venerable one mad on purpose...

This person was the emperor of the previous world, but when he was drunk and rubbing against his neck, Chu Wanning had an sudden thought, that Taxian-jun was like a beautiful concubine, jealous and clamoring for his favor.

Chu Wanning felt silent at this momentary image; finally, he said: "Didn't I learn this from you? It's you who said you had to put out the lights, so that those who wouldn't dare to come in could take advantage of the darkness and sneak in. I was saving face for you."

"...? Nonsense. Who wanted you to save face for me?" Half asleep and half awake and still mad, he continued: "this venerable one has destroyed the heavens and extinguished the earth, what things could this venerable one dare not..."

The voice slowly faded.

"Chu Wanning..."

"Yes?"

"Wanning..."

"....."

In the end, the voice became gentle, not much different from when he was young and naive: "Shizun..."

Chu Wanning was silent for a moment. He raised his hand and stroked his hair.

"Yes."

"When I wake up tomorrow, will you still be here?"

Chu Wanning closes his eyes, and repeated a phrase he had often repeated in these two years of seclusion: "Go to sleep, I'll be here the entire time."

With this, Taxian-jun felt content. After a while, there was a sound of even breathing. The drunk emperor was finally at peace, and finally slept soundly. Chu Wanning supported him carefully and returned to their room. Lying in bed, that man's face was upright, with no hint of wicked tendencies. He looked no different from the youth he took as a student all those years ago, who would raise his umbrella to save earthworms.

The parasitic flower had withered, and the nightmare would never come again.

Just -

"Then why did you lose this venerable one's brocade bag?" In his sleep, Taxian-jun suddenly kicked the quilt and shouted.

"This venerable one will go on a blind date! this venerable one wants to win... win... Taobao Manor's Gift Box... 500 volumes...." of rare erotic art.

Fortunately, the second half of the sentence was in vague mutterings, and Chu Wanning didn't hear.

But even though Chu Wanning didn't know that the ultimate goal of his blind date was to get erotic storybooks, when he was faced with this man who was asleep and yet could make petty complaints in his dreams, he still had to facepalm, and endure endless headaches.

Even if you beat him to death, he wouldn't tell Xue Meng that he had lost Mo Ran's brocade bag because Taxian-jun had shamelessly embroidered on it a selection from some erotic story's "Eighteen Caresses".

Compared with Mo-zongshi's dignified embroidery of verses wishing for peace and contentment, who would prefer to wear eighteen caresses...

He would also never tell Mo Ran, not even if you beat him to death, tha he had not actually lost that brocade bag that exemplified Taxian-jun's temperament so well. It was actually locked in a wooden box that only he could open.

It was there with everything else that he had ever gifted to him.

The next day, Xue Meng got up early.

Being under the same roof as Chu Wanning was a rare thing, so he decided to go out and buy some of his Shizun's favorite breakfast items as a sign of his respect. But when he went downstairs, he found that a table near the inn's window was already covered with a sumptuous breakfast, and that Mo Ran was laying out bowls and chopsticks.

As soon as he looked up and saw him come down, Mo Ran laughed: "Up so early?"

"....."

Although he had long since known that Mo Ran changed consciousness every three days, it was still strange to experience it directly. Xue Meng remained still for a while. He stood there for a long time before he grunted an affirmative.

"I made a fool of myself yesterday. Sometimes I'm just like that."

Xue Meng scratched his head, and said uncomfortably: "Forget it, it's not like it's the first time I've had reason to laugh at you." He went to look over the table, and couldn't help but ask: "Did you borrow the kitchen from the shopkeeper?"

"Yes." Mo-zongshi looked at him with a laugh and put a plate of golden, crispy pan-fried pork buns in front of him. "There's still congee boiling on the stove. It's almost ready. Would you do me a favor and help me make three bowls?"

"Ah." Xue Meng answered, and went into the small kitchen with Mo Ran.

When he lifted the pot lid, the steam from the congee emitted a strong fragrance, and the congee itself was full of shrimp and sliced fish. Mo Ran nimbly filled three bowls, and Xue Meng helped to find condiments.

He placed halved soft-boiled eggs right on the steaming congee, then sprinkled on white sesame seeds, chopped tender scallions, golden crisp fritters, and a few drops of sesame oil, until the final result was fragrant and beautiful.

Xue Meng was curious, and couldn't help asking: "Ta...ah, the you from yesterday. Can he make this too?"

"Yes, and no worse than I can now." Mo Ran said: "It's just that he likes to get angry and throw tantrums. Actually a lot of these recipes are ones he thought up when he was in control, but he neve made them, and just left them for me to prepare."

Xue Meng said "ah," made a few muttering sounds, then asked: "Why did Shizun lose his brocade bag and keep yours?"

The hand that Mo Ran was using to slice eggs stilled; he turned to Xue Meng with a smile and said: "We're one person, and this is an embarassing matter. So I can't tell you."

Xue Meng stared at him: "Haven't you embarrassed yourself plenty of times in front of me? So you're all discreet now; why didn't you feel embarrassed when you called me that Peerless something yesterday? Speaking of which, our accounts aren't settled yet—"

Mo-zongshi truly was a man who did what he pleased. He immediately changed his tune and said: "Ah, then we should count as two people. You can settle with Taxian-jun when he comes back, be good now."

Xue Meng: "???"

"That's right." When the last bowl of seafood congee was ready, Mo Ran seemed to suddenly think of something and said to Xue Meng with great seriousness, "I still have something else to tell you."

Xue Meng was shocked by his sudden solemnity and felt inexplicable pressure : "S-, say it then."

Mo Ran said: "Actually, I don't know what you were thinking, or what happened between you two, that suddenly... well, in any case, it's your private business, and I'm not in a position to ask. But I thought about it, and as your gege, since I now know about this matter, I should give you some advice.

Xue Meng: "Ah?"

"Xue Meng, you're still young, and you're free to experiment with your feelings, but his age, experience and status are all higher than yours, so it'll be hard for you two to get along. You have a strong temper, so remember to be more restrained, and to be tolerant. I'll keep your secret, and if you have anything you're confused about, you can come to Nanping Mountain to see me while Shizun is away."

Mo Ran patted him on the shoulder: "Never learn from me and go on a blind date to piss him off."

"...Do you have no shame saying that?" Xue Meng, paused, then repeatedly shook his head: "No, hold on, what are you talking about?"

Mo Ran warmly and indulgently looked towards him in the manner of an older brother: "It's alright, gege has experience and understands your difficulties. In fact, whether it's Shizun or Jiang-zunzhu, they're both highly positioned, isolated people who value their dignity. You're still young, so when you argue, you should admit your mistakes first. A harmonious, talented family leads to prosperity.

Xue Meng immediately turned deathly white: "How, how did you know that? How did you find out? Me and him... we're...we're not!"

Mo Ran said: "I could tell from yesterday, that's why I'm congratulating you now."

Xue Meng was shocked: "Is it that obvious?"

Mo Ran laughed and patted him again: "It's...not that bad. But you could stand to be little more restrained."

Xue Meng collapsed.

Xue Meng thought he had restrained himself well enough. How could Mo Ran see so quickly that he and Jiang Xi were father and son??!

Fortunately, as he swiftly flew out of the kitchen, he didn't hear Mo Ran shaking his head and sighing: "Strange. What happened these past two years? How could Xue Meng and Jiang Ye start to have feelings for wach other... Didn't he used to always like girls? Sigh, I could break my head and still never understand..."

Even as Xue Meng bid his farewells to to Mo Ran and Chu Wanning, he didn't know that in Mo Ran's eyes he had undergone a tremendous change, and that Mo Ran now thought that they were of the same type.

When they parted, Xue Mong grabbed on to Mo Ran, and warned him anxiously: "You can't tell anyone about Jiang Yechen and me!"

You can't tell anyone that I'm the son of that dog thief!

Mo Ran sincerely raised his hand and swore: "I will keep your secret."

I'm not going to tell anybody that you've picked up Sect Leader Jiang.

The two brothers reached a tacit understanding, and under Chu Wanning's perplexed gaze, they bumped fists. Then gege took Chu Wanning back to Nanping Mountain, while didi stepped out into the puddled streets, suffused with the clear rays of the morning sun, and returned to the misty, cloud-covered Sisheng Peak.

Ch. 331 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Tea-Selling Little Sister 1

>>casual jokes made towards a hypothetical abortion

After that incident, Xue Meng saw another seven, eight people in succession, but every time, either the other party's revealed true appearance turned out to be uglier than he could have imagined, or the two of them, even before undoing their sachets, had already started fighting to the point they teetered between life and death, aiming desperately to throttle the other into oblivion.

After that, Xue Meng gradually became suspicious of this cultivation tool from Manor Head Ma, and that suspicion grew deeper and deeper.

Finally, he came to the eleventh cultivator. When she cutely said to him: "This one likes Taxian-jun very much. This one would like to be his empress, and if that's not possible, a concubine would be fine too. I heard that Taxian-jun likes children very much, and I also like children very much. I think we must be a match made in heaven. If he wishes to mary me, this one could give him a new baby every year until he's satisfied~" Xue Meng finally collapsed.

He not only collapsed, but also exploded in rage.

"What kind of woman are you! Don't, don't you know what the relationship between Mo Ran and Chu-zongshi is?!”

"I know!" The woman, pleased, covered her face bashfully. "But this one is virtuous and kind, and won't be jealous of Chu-zongshi, and is willing to have babies for Chu-zongshi too, heehee ."

Xue Meng in his rage shook the table: "Don't be so pleased with yourself, you shameless hussy!"

The woman stared, wide-eyed. "How could you yell at me like that?"

"I'm not just going to yell at you, if you ever say that you lust after Chu-zongshi again, I can smack you too!"

"You dare!"

"I do dare! Also, is there something wrong with your brain? If you like Taxian-jun, then what are you doing playing around with the relief scroll and wasting other people's time? You could just go intercept him on Nanping Mountain!"

The woman became so indignant that she rolled up her sleeves and cast off her previous charming manner. "Fuck! You think I haven't tried?" she said fiercely, "I'll have you know I waited seven days and seven nights trying to ambush him! "

"...You're fucking sick!"

"You're the one who's sick! You're the one who doesn't understand the power of love!" As she yelled, her eyes began to tear up. "Ah, you don't even know; that evening, when I finally met him, he came out from behind a fence, and looked at me—when our four eyes met, I heard a bang in my head, like fireworks exploded. Now I've even figured out which sect our child should study under in the future!"

The girl recounted her adventure passionately, as if she were trapped and couldn't free herself from those honeyed memories: "And then, I rushed over in excitement, and told him—"

"Don't tell me you just directly told him that you liked him?" Xue Meng said incredibly.

"That's what you think? Wow, with an imagination that terrible, no wonder you've had to go on these blind dates." The girl rolled her eyes at Xue Meng. "You've gotta be shocking, you've gotta be provocative, you need to use overpowering rhetoric! With one phrase you need to capture his attention and interest! Got it? So anyway, I told him—"

She took a deep breath, and with practiced enunciation she loudly vomited out two words: "I'm pregnant."

Xue Meng: "...???"

"What the hell does that have to do with Mo Ran???"

"It has everything to do with him. It was his eyes, his gaze made me pregnant," she considrately explained to her audience.

"....." Xue Meng sat frozen for a very long time, shocked by her mad energy. He didn't know what to say. Finally, he asked in horror: "Did Mo Ran actually pay any attention to you?"

"Of course, I succeeded in using these words to attract the Emperor's attention. He was so warm, not at all cold like I heard he was. He was even willing to take responsibility on his own initiative!"

Xue Meng was once again shocked: "Wh-, what? He, he... What did he say?"

The girl covered her face shyly and said: "He asked me if I wanted an abortion? One tael for a kick in the stomach, don't tell Chu Wanning."

"...."

Xue Meng's mouth twitched, and finally he couldn't help it anymore: "HAHAHAHAHA!!"

"What are you laughing at? He was willing to kick me! It's fate! As long as I'm sincere enough, I won't believe that I can't be with Taxian-jun!"

Still laughing, Xue Meng stood up to stretch out his muscles. "Alright, c'mere, I can give you a kick in place of Taxian-jun right now!"

"Ahh—"

Xue Meng finally couldn't stand this bleak, depressing blind date process anymore. With the pen name of "Taobao Manor Destroyed My Youth", he successively left a hundred bad reviews for the relief scroll on the "Ranking of Cultivation Instruments". Each bad review came with nearly a thousand words of personal accounts, denouncing this tool that Manor Head Ma had refined.

However, what Xue Meng couldn't expect was that his writing was too full of his sincere emotions, too full of his surging passions, which led to many in the cultivation world to fall over themselves to read and spread his writings—

Of course, this was done in the spirit of mockery.

There was even a black-market businessman who copied his bad reviews and compiled them into a book. Since it was officially published and sold on August 18, the black market bookseller titled the book "818".[234]

The table of contents for the book are as follows:

"818's My Delicious Daddy"

"818's My Savage Cousin"

……

And so on and so forth.

Other people's trivial misfortunes will always arouse the interest of everyday people, so 818 for a short while became the most popular black-market book on the streets. Many people even called for the hero "Taobao Manor Destroyed My Youth" to go on even more dates, to bring more happiness to everyone.

It was fortunate then that the book was soon banned by Jiang Xi.

Jiang Xi stared at the words "Delicious Daddy", and his eyes shone with sinister light: "What sort of nonsense is all this. Burn it all."

"Yes, Sect Leader!"

A crowd of Gu Yue Ye's lackey disciples immediately bought all the 818s on the market, dug a pit in the outskirts of Yangzhou, and set it all aflame.

818 burned, but the relief scroll kept selling out. Xue Meng was unbearably furious, until finally, he secretly sent a letter signed with his real name to Manor Head Ma, angrily cursing out our sincere, adorable, kind and innocent Manor Head Ma for ten thousand words straight.

But in fact, the letter only had one core meaning .—

Jieke Ma! You dog thief! What kind of cultivation instrument is this? Aren't you just spreading human suffering? I'll tell you now, if I don't like your response to this letter, I'll end any relationship between your Taobao Manor and my Sisheng Peak! Don't you even think about getting my Shizun's machine armor diagrams!! Aagghhh!!!

When the sincere, adorable, kind and innocent Manor Head Ma received this letter, he was happily counting money, and when he read its contents, he almost passed out in surprise.

How could this be!?

Breaking off their relationship is a trivial matter. That the one sending the letter was Xue Meng was also a trivial matter. The non-trivial matter was that there was a customer dissatisfied with his masterpiece!

Oh goodness, is that "818" not some fabrication that Gu Yue Ye made up to wickedly compete with him? There really was someone in the world who hated him that much!

Manor Head Ma felt sad, and hiccuped through his sobs.

He also felt a bit depressed.

He would never allow any customer in the world to not be satisfied with his lovingly made relief scroll. Never!!!

So Manor Head Ma pulled out his secret weapon—Shou Hou.

Shou Hou is the collective name for a group of disciples cultivating at Taobao Manor. Typically, they're female disciples with soft voices, pretty faces, and good temperaments. The objective of their cultivation that Manor Head Ma established for them was this: "To be able to grant a customer long life (shou) after one conversation, and to be able to form a profound friendship (hou) after one smile."

In short, Shou Hou.

Considering how angry Xue Meng was, the honorable and serious Manor Head Ma attached great importance to this matter, and dared not neglect him. So he immediately sent the elder Shou Hou Bu Shenqi to go in person to Sisheng Peak and Sect Leader Xue, so she can serve his tea, pour his water, and massage his back and legs.[235] All in all, the point was this:

Every effort must be made to restore Xue Meng's favor and provide customer satisfaction!

Nevertheless, the elder Shou Hou Bu Shengqi who had been appointed for this task didn't have such a deep understanding of the situation as Manor Head Ma. She was a young, pampered, timid,and pretty female cultivator who liked to play the coquette, and has great fear of Xue Meng, who once ranked second on the cultivation world's rankings for arrogance. She was terribly frightened of being hit by Sect Leader Xue...

Bu-guniang spent some time mired in her sadness. Soon afterwards, she told the story to a cultivator she had recently met through the relief scroll.

It's no wonder that Bu-guniang confessed everything; this cultivator going by "Wang Mei Zhi Ke" gave off an aura of extreme reliability.[236] He was gentle and steady; he didn't lack wit, but he wasn't frivolous. The intimacy teasing in his words was right on point: a bit more would have been sleazy, a bit less would have been insipid. He was just like a perfectly brewed cup of tea; everything just right.

And moreover, he was exceptionally considerate, and eager to help.

Once "Wang Mei Zhi Ke" heard of Bu-guniang's plight, he thought for a moment, and sent her this message:

"Worry not. Let me settle this matter for you."

Bu Shengqi was enormously shocked and moved: "Really?"

Wang Mei-xianzhang's tone on the jade slip was as gentle and considerate as ever: "Of course, a gentleman is a man of his word. Relax and leave Sect Leader Xue to me. I'll definitely make him happy."

On that day, Xue Meng was cleaning off the dust that had accumulated at Red Lotus Pavilion. Suddenly, a disciple came to report some news—

"Reporting! Sect Leader! Someone from Taobao Manor is requesting an audience!"

Recently Xue Meng had a headache whenever he heard the words "Taobao Manor". He wiped off a file left behind by Chu Wanning and threw it into a bamboo canister. He said angrily, "Tell him to get lost!"

"It, it's a woman!"

"So what if it's a woman?" His period of dating had led Xue Meng to once again recognize a cardinal truth, that whether men or women, awful people were all the same. "You can tell her to get lost too! I won't accept any more tools recommended by Taobao Manor. Tell them all to give up already!"

Saying this, he began to wipe off Chu Wanning's qin stand.

"And you can tell her to report to Ma Yun, that even if I'm stuck only doing business with Jiang Yechen in the future, that I still won't have any contact with his sect! Look at the disreputable things they're doing! What a nuisance!"

The little disciple pitifully suffered the wrath of his sect leader, and at last he plaintively said: "But she said she was one of Taobao Manor's Shou Hou disciples."

"Shou Hou disciple?" Xue Meng frowned, "What the hell is that?"

The little disciple: "I heard she's here to apologize..." He swallowed, and then recited, "Whether rolled round or kneaded flat, her dimples are like flowers, here for your errands or your anger, until you are satisfied, only then will she leave."

"....."

Xue Meng thought, so she's like a wooden board you break in martial arts practice?

Despite his heartfelt dissatisfaction, since she came to make amends, Xue Meng reluctantly went out to meet her. Before leaving, he also told the disciple who was watching over the Red Lotus Pavilion: "Hey, don't touch the qin stand I was cleaning. I'll go back to working on it when I return."

After the guardian disciple assured him for the hundredth time that he wouldn't dare to move even a speck of dust from Red Lotus Pavilion, Xue Meng finally felt reassured, put aside his cleaning rag, and left.

When he arrived at Danxin Hall, he saw an unfamiliar female cultivator at the center of the hall. She was dressed in silvery robes, with long pale brown hair that naturally curled at the ends, held up with a white jade hairpin. Her skin was whiter than snow. Even indoors, she seemed to emit a soft light.

She was at that moment crouching to tease Veggie Bun the orange cat. The fat cat, who normally only looked at people with disdain, uncharacteristically liked her very much. He not only graciously turned over his white belly for her approval, but also squinted his eyes and let out a a satisfied purr.

Hearing someone approaching, Shou Hou-guniang turned her head. When she saw Xue Meng, she immediately got up and, with both great warmth and shyness, smiled at him.

"Ah, Sect Leader Xue. It's an honor to finally meet you."

Xue Meng: "..."

Huh? Why did this person feel so familiar?

Xue Meng sized her up to make sure that she wasn't wearing an illusion sachet. If it wasn't an illusion that caused him to get that sense, it was probably just a coincidence.

Her complexion was white, her eyes and hair were both rather pale, she had her facial features gave off a profound sense of mystery, breathtaking and cold. But she has a pair of loving eyes brimming with emotion that looked everywhere with great interest, and she posessed an air of romantic yet unmalicious charm.

Xue Meng was a very picky person. From birth to now, the only woman who in his eyes he'd call "beautiful" was his mother, Madame Wang.

But this Shou Hou...Even though Xue Meng felt she wasn't as good looking as his own self, he had to say she wasn't too bad either.

The two looked at each other for a while, and when Shou Hou-guniang was just about to open her mouth to introduce herself, Xue Meng suddenly raised his hand and said: "Wait a minute."

Then he went aside and said to the little disciple, "You, come here."

As soon as the little disciple approached, Xue Meng lowered his voice and asked: "You're sure this Shou Hou is actually here to offer apologies?"

The little disciple didn't understand: "Y-, yes."

Xue Meng said gravely: "Isn't there a chance that Ma Yun is just deploying a beauty strategically, so that by underhanded means he gets me to give up fighting for the victims of the relief scroll?"

"....."

The disciple thought to himself, aren't you the only victim of the relief scroll? Everyone else has been having a good time with it except you.

Also, "818" was really funny!

...

On second thought, he valued his life.

So the little disciple pumped his fist and cheered Xue Meng on: "Sect Leader, justice may come late, but it will always come. Manor Head Ma using a beauty as strategy is nothing; even if someone used all 36

Stratagems against you, you're still the upright and forthright Sect Leader Xue! Believe in yourself, you can do it!"

Xue Meng was greatly inspired and moved when he heard this. He patted the young disciple on the shoulder and said, "Well said! True gold isn't afraid of fire, true men aren't afraid of female entanglements. Even if I let her grind me down, it'll never change my heart! I'll alienate her, be cold to her, embarrass her, so that she'll make a tactical retreat and leave Sisheng Peak as soon as possible!"

After he finished, he turned around and said aggressively to Shou Hou:

"What are you called?"

"Oh, me?" Shou Hou-guniang gently smiled, and said: "My lowly name isn't worth your ears. It is enough for Sect Leader Xue to call me Shou Hou."

"...Ok!" Xue Meng waved his hand vigilantly and impatiently. "It's impossible for me to change my view of the relief scroll. If that's your purpose for coming here, just go away so we don't waste each other's time."

Shou Hou smiled indulgently and said: "Apologies are just one of many reasons I'm here. There are so many Shou Hou disciples like me at Taobao Manor, I had to ask to come to Sisheng Peak on my own initiative, not only for the relief scroll, but also because..."

She stared at Xue Meng with her pale eyes, and suddenly he felt that inexplicable familiarity again. It felt like he was a rat being stared at by a cat. Goosebumps raised along his back, and had a sudden dangerous sense that shortly he would become a toy for her amusement.

He was on guard and ready to drive her away from the mountain as soon as any excuse for it arose, but suddenly, he saw Shou Hou's face widened with a smile full of boundless charms.

She warmly said: "Because Sect Leader Xue is the cultivation world's most remarkable, most righteous, most generous, most spicy..."

"Wha-?"

" Cough , most striking cultivator." She seamlessly corrected herself without even blinking, then continued smiling: "This one has admired you for a very long time, and has freely come with the desire to keep you company."

Ch. 332 Xue Meng's Blind Date: Tea-Selling Little Sister 2

Translator's note: Going forward, I'll be denoting the older Mei Hanxue as "Mei HanXue" so readers have a clearer idea of which one is which.

Also, I've made some translation choices in this chapter that aren't quite appropriate to the setting and are likely to age very poorly. But also, they're funny and it's my doc so ¯_(ツ)_/¯

On one hand, Xue Meng felt like he in no way needed female companionship.

On the other hand, Xue Meng felt that every word Shou Hou said was correct, and had no aversion to such an honest woman.

It's said that "a raised hand can't strike a smiling face", and besides, she had been so well-behaved and sincere that Xue Meng was momentarily too embarrassed to chase her away. So he could only let her stay for a bit at Sisheng Peak, and let her "practice what I preach, and represent Manor Head Ma in expressing our most sincere apologies to Sect Leader Xue."

A few days passed, and Shou Hou remained extraordinarily discreet. Without Xue Meng's express permission, she never in any way fooled around, and actually deftly and peacefully helped support Sisheng Peak.

Sisheng Peak was in fact quite busy. After the great war, even though the sect's standing rose triumphantly, it still, as before, liked to take on errands like "Granny Wang's cat climbed up a tree again and can't get down."

When Xue Meng was young, these tasks were usually handled by Shi Mei. Sometimes when Mo Ran was bored he'd also take them. But after he took over the sect, he hoped that every disciple could go out into the countryside and understand the concept that that good deeds, no matter big or small, were all significant. So he asked the twenty elders of Sisheng Peak to line up their disciples to undertake such piecemeal errands in turn.

It's Tanlang's turn this month.

Besides Chu Wanning, Tanlang has the fewest disciples. They were all chosen through his own particular methods, so all those under him were also rather particular and rather odd.

These disciples would absolutely refuse to do things like leave the mountain to help Granny Wang get her cat down. But they couldn't refuse direct requests from the sect leader, so they normally just found some easy to bully junior disciple from Xuanji's group, and bribed them, or threatened them with a beating, and bully Elder Xuanji's disciple into crying and doing these trivial tasks for them.

For this reason, even though Xuanji was quite gentle, he'd had to go to Tanlang multiple times to settle the score.

But with Shou Hou, everything was different.

Somehow, with just a few words, she managed to charm Tanlang's disciples into going down the mountain to help, and even got them to leave with great cheer.

Besides resolving arguments, she helped Mengpo Hall's auntie make food, wiped down the stone lions of Naihe Bridge, and catalogued the books in the library pavilion. She was willing to do any errand, and did them well.

From all the elders on high, down to Mengpo Hall's dog and Madame Wang's cat, all those who had breath in them had only one thing to say about her:

"Mee OW !" said the cat.

"Bow-WOW!" said the dog.

"Wooooow..." said the people.

It was clear that Shou Hou has the wisdom and serenity befitting someone coming from a cohort of da-shijie.

By the third day, Xue Meng couldn't sit still any longer.

He felt that this woman was quite skillful, so he could ask her for her advice. But he also felt he had to save face, and he couldn't get himself to go to a young lady from another sect to discuss such matters.

As he was deliberating, he heard from a nearby corridor the sound of some young disciples whispering among themselves.

Disciple A: "Shou Hou-guniang is sooo beautiful. Sigh , but I don't know how long she can stay in Sisheng Peak. If she could stay for three, five months, I have to pursue her!"

Disciple B rolled his eyes: "The toad wants to eat swan meat! Can't you see that Shou-guniang clearly secretly admires our sect leader?"

Xue Meng was shocked! And just then, they walked around the corner. Xue Meng quickly raised the sword manual in his hand to cover his face, meanwhile straining to listen in on their conversation.

"Eh? Really?"

"Are you stupid? Look at when she talks to other people, she can't go three sentences before she turns the subject to Sect Leader Xue. I think that besides helping out the sect, she's here for two things."

"What two things?"

Disciple B lifted his finger: "First, to praise Sect Leader Xue. Second, to ask around about Sect Leader Xue. See how blindly she's praising him? She says that our sect leader is handsomer than Mo-zongshi, smarter than Manor Head Ma, richer than Jiang Yechen, and has a heart kinder than Chu-zongshi...and worst of all, she said that his stature and height are both excellent. You tell me if she seems blind or not!"

"???" Xue Meng was angry.

Everything she said was all undoubtedly true, you two are the blind ones!

"She's asking about everything, from his favorite foods to his recent mood. Yesterday I even saw her asking Sect Leader about what he thinks about Mei Hanxue."

"Eh? Why does she want to to know our sect leader's feelings towards Mei Hanxue?"

"Obviously it's because Sect Leader and Mei da-shixiong are childhood friends. If you want to get the measure of a man, you need to get the measure of the men around him. I think Shou-guniang is set on him, so you better give up competing with the sect leader, because you have no chance."

As they murmured, they walked away.

They left Xue Meng standing where he was, slowly lowering the sword manual covering his face.

Although he thought Shou Hou wasn't as good-looking as he was, she was still quite a remarkable girl, and now, now that that she was already praising him to death...

He should ask her to dinner, maybe ask her how she manages sect things... that wouldn't be shameful, right?

This was certainly an idea he had.

With such an idea in mind, Xue Meng asked around for Shou-guniang's whereabouts. He heard that she was in the library, so he tidied his clothes, cleared his throat, and walked in her direction.

At this time, in the library:

Taobao Manor Shou Hou-guniang, Bu Shenqi's hero, master of the Yi Rong Technique, the one nicknamed "Wang Mei Zhi Ke" — the one whose true identity is Kunlun Taxue Palace's da-shixiong, the cultivation world's number one dandy—Mei Hanxue-xianjun, was just then dedicating his focus to an antique book titled "Registry of Ancient Barriers".

This book was originally in Chu Wanning's Red Lotus Pavilion. After Chu Wanning's retirement to Nanping, Xue Meng was asked to move all his books to the library for the disciples to study. Along with "Registry of Ancient Barriers," the collection included numerous books such as "Plantlife Records", "Journey to Shu", "Linyi Rufeng Sect Qin Scores" and so on.

As a music-focused cultivator, Mei Hanxue's interest in barrier techniques wasn't very high. Reasonably speaking, he should have been looking through "Linyi Rufeng Sect Qin Scores, but he didn't. Instead, he was perusing this cryptic, complex book on barriers with keen interest, and from time to time, he would rub his chin and chuckle to himself, as if he deeply engaged with the material.

And how could he not be?

Because in this volume of "Registry of Ancient Barriers" that Chu Wanning had left behind, there was a pile of erotic art!

Mei Hanxue was keen, and naturally knew that these wouldn't be related to Chu Wanning. With a little thought, he could make a general guess as to how they got there. Presumably, these ink treasures must have been sneaked in by a naughty Mo Ran. The scene must have been brilliant, and the idea of it made him gasp in admiration.

He had to say that Mo Ran was quite an ingenious young man. Mei Hanxue had spent so many years making his way through the lovely flowers that normal beauty didn't even catch his eyes anymore, yet he was deeply moved by Master Mo Weiyu's early authentic works.

What impressed him more was that this man dared to put such a lewd picture in Chu Wanning's book, and lived to tell the tale. Truly an extraordinary man.

Mei Hanxue kept looking, and couldn't help but let out a breath of laughter.

Mo Ran truly was quite interesting. And Xue Ziming had been with him for so many years, yet he hadn't been sullied by Mo Ran's filth - even more interesting.

"Being interesting" was one of the most important requirements for Mei Hanxue to have any regard for a person. And ever since he met Xue Meng, he hadn't yet found anymore more interesting to play with than him. In the eyes of Mei Hanxue, Xue Meng was too impulsive, too impatient, too simple and forgetful. He was like a pufferfish; if someone sitting on land would poke him, he'd immediately puff up in anger, but it wouldn't take too long for him to stupidly forget what he was mad about, and go right back to strutting his fins in the water.

Mei Hanxue couldn't help but be like an addicted cat. He'd casually poke at him, and swat at him, and the more angry Xue Meng became, the more he'd purr.

In the past, Xue Meng had asked him about this when he couldn't take it anymore: "Mei Hanxue, are there any bad feelings between us?"

Mei Hanxue thought, you are my son of my benefactor, of course there aren't any bad feelings. But there is indeed an old debt that you seem to have forgotten.

Yes. Xue Meng couldn't remember that when they first met as children, he had done something so evil that Mei Hanxue still fumed—

He made Mei Hanxue wear women's clothes.

At that time, Mei Hanxue was a chubby-cheeked child with stubby, round limbs. He had come with his Shizun and a group of people from Mingyue Tower to Sisheng Peak. It was winter, and he wore a fluffy white fur cap and heavy robes. The cap was slightly too big, and always slid sideways, covering his pale golden hair and his blue eyes, so that Xue Meng didn't even notice the little disciple with the foreign face.

It was the first time Mei Hanxue left Taxue Palace to go to another sect. At that time, he was young and a newcomer to this land, and because his words always came out in a broken accent and he didn't want to be laughed at, he simply didn't say anything. Standing in the corner with his pale golden eyelashes drooped, it was the complete opposite from his honeypot future self.

So how did the feud between him and Xue Meng start?

Everything else was fine, but it was all the fault of the heavy mist at Miaoyin Pool.

There were many hot springs near Kunlun Taxue Palace, and the disciples were used to bathing in them. Mei Hanxue was the same.

That evening, he wanted to take Mei HanXue to take a bath in Miaoyin Pool. But after waiting and waiting, Mei HanXue still hadn't returned to their room, so he had to go to the baths by himself.

After taking off his outer robe, leaving him only in thin white undergarments, Mei Hanxue realized that he didn't know where to put his clothes. So he simply piled them on top of his golden hair and walked onto the flower-strewn cobbled path. When he came to the springs, he suddenly heard a childish and wildly energetic voice.

"Shi Mei, you should get more sunshine. You've already been at Sisheng Peak so long, but you're still this tiny! Look at how swole I am! Sigh , I'm worried about what you'll look like when you grow up... what if you end up like Wuchang Town's shaobing seller Uncle Wu, who's even shorter than his wife?"[237]

Then there was a soft, gentle voice: Shaozhu is naturally the best looking, how could I compare with you?"

Mei Hanxue wasn't very good at Mandarin at that time. He didn't understand that Shaozhu meant "young master"; If he could understand it, he would know that this was the son of his benefactor. Unfortunately, because he didn't know the meaning, he thought that "Shao Zhu" was this person's name.

Having just been complimented, Xue Meng felt quite happy and satisfied, so he encouraged Shi Mei: "I like your honest enthusiasm, but you need to get taller! Just learn from me. Every day I get lots of sun, so you should do it too, and when I drink milk, you should drink with me! Never give up!"

"But I'm afraid—"

"Ehh, what are you afraid of? Believe in me who believes in you! If in the future you really do end up short like Uncle Wu, then I'll have to cover you. When we see a bad guy you can hide behind me, how about that?"

Shi Mei laughed at his teasing: "Then I'll have to thank Shaozhu in advance."

"Look at how you're talking! We're all disciples, stop being so polite."

Mei Hanxue listened in as he approached. Just then he could see clearly that there were two children just about his age in the small hot spring pool, covered in wild flowers. One was slim and breathtakingly lovely, with red lips and white teeth and skin the color of pear blossoms. The other one's back was towards him, and he couldn't see his face. But what Mei Hanxue thought was absolutely ridiculous was that this boy, even when bathing, bound his hair with one of Sisheng Peak's shining silvery guan.[238]

Did he forget to take it off or did he keep wearing it on purpose?

Are people in Shu really so strange?

Before he finished his thought, Shi Mei in the pool noticed him. When he saw that it was a stranger, he immediately gave an alert: "Shaozhu, look behind you..."

"Look at what?" The child with his back to him followed Shi Mei's gaze and turned his head.

— That was the first time in his life that Mei Hanxue saw Xue Meng.

But this meeting was truly doomed by fate. At the moment Xue Meng turned around, the mists of Miaoyin Pool settled over them. Mei Hanxue could see Xue Meng's face clearly, but Xue Meng didn't have time to do the same. He only saw that this person's skin was very white, his eyes were very big, and his facial features were very deep.

He felt this was probably a girl.

As luck would have it, Chu Wanning had just been peeked at by his female disciples while bathing in the Red Lotus Pavilion, and Xue Meng immediately thought of this incident. With a screech, he yelled: "Help! Someone come quick!! It's happening again! Quick, someone catch this dirty peeper!!!"

"Ah, friend, I am not dirty, I just...just..." Mei Hanxue's Mandarin at that time wasn't fluent, and when he was nervous, it went all over the place.

He wanted to say that he had gotten hot during sword practice, and he was covered in sweat, and looking to cool down.

But when he couldn't remember how to say all this, he lowered his head and tried to think, "Look...look....looking...."

Xue Meng was scandalized: "You admit it! You're sneaking into other people's baths to look at them?!"

Mei Hanxue bowed his head and kept trying: "Hot....hot....hot...."

"Thot?!" Xue Meng rolled his tongue and imitated him, and sounded like he wanted to vomit. He grew even more shocked, and on top of that, furious.

"How dare you call me a thot?! I know I'm good looking, but how dare you!! Shi Mei, back me up!"

Shi Mei hurriedly coaxed him with his soft voice: "Y-, yes..."

Actually, Xue Meng wasn't quite comfortable showing this "girl peeper" the muscles that he hadn't actually developed yet: "Look at my arms, my legs... I'm as swole as my dad! Take a look at how beautiful Xue men are!"

Mei Hanxue didn't understand, and he was still thinking seriously about how to say that he felt hot enough to be boiling and was covered in sweat, and just wanted a bath: "But..."

His Mandarin was truly not great.

Xue Meng stopped his flexing mid-motion: "...You want to see my butt?"

Mei Hanxue finally got it. He clapped his hands and said happily, "But! But here for bath!"

"....." Xue Meng stood there dumbly for a very long time. his face turned green, his mouth opened and closed, but he couldn't get a word out. At last, he suddenly launched a chunk of soap at Mei Hanxue, and exploded like a volcano: "Guards!! Why aren't you here yet!! Get this dog thief!!!!"

"Yes!"

Mei Hanxue was still a little confused when he was dragged down to the ground.

…..?

He was hot and just wanted to take a bath. Why was he a dirty peeper?

Thinking about it, the child next to Shao Zhu was called Shimei. The meaning of Shimei in Mandarin was that she was a younger girl disciple.

Mei Hanxue had a realization—

Ah... at Kunlun, boys couldn't bathe with girls. Could it be that in Shu, boys couldn't take baths with other boys?

>>attempted assault

On the day they met for the first time at Miaoyin Pool, due to the confusion of the scene, there were some details that Mei Hanxue couldn't recall clearly. But in short, because of how inarticulate, laborious, and stuttering his speech was, he was unable to defend himself, and finally he was thrown by the righteous shixiong of Sisheng Peak into Yanluo Hall to repent.

Between their pushes and shoves, Mei Hanxue's own robes were also lost in Miaoyin Pool.

His clothes were flimsy, his long pale golden hair hung loose, and he stared with his jasper eyes. Helplessly standing in the hall, beneath the words "Reflect On Your Loyalty, Unchanging In Life Or Death," he felt terribly wronged.

"Let me out..."

Everyone treated the young scoundrel harshly, and nobody let him out. But after a while, a shixiong of Sisheng Peak came to give him clothes, saying that "Shaozhu gave these for you," and additionally handed him a book.

Mei Hanxue unfolded the clothes, and saw they were a female disciple's robes.

Then he looked at the book, and saw that it was a volume of "Female Virtues".

"....."

To tell you the truth, Mei Hanxue had always been a very tolerant person, and not easy to anger, but this time his throat knotted up so tightly he choked on it.

He knew that Suiye City had its own Suiye City customs, Taxue Palace had it own Taxue Palace regulations, and that Shu had its own Shu practices. For example, he hated eating pork, but before they left, their Shizun at Mingyue Tower warned them that the human world had a hundred different types of people, that they were all different, and that perhaps something he hated was something that someone else loved. Thus, Mei Hanxue has always respected others—for example, he would never jump around and yell "gross!" in front of someone from the Central Plains who was happily eating roast pig's foot.

Although he would feel disgusted inside, he would still courteously pass salt and pepper over to the person.

And then he would go home and wash his hands a hundred times.

But this "Shao Zhu" didn't know how to respect differences at all; not only was he not aware that "to have friends come from afar, isn't that a delight?", but he even sent women's clothes and "Female Virtues" to humiliate him—

Didn't he just go into the wrong bathhouse? Couldn't they have talked it out? Why did they need to fix things so roughly?

Mei Hanxue, a foreigner venturing into the outside world for the first time, couldn't understand it, and didn't want to think about it anymore, so he just stuffed his anger back in his heart.

It was nighttime, and terribly cold, and he only had on a thin inner robe that was stained with mud. Despite his humiliation, a good man knew better than to fight against insurmountable odds, and eventually he put on the clothes that "Shao Zhu" gave him.

As for the book of "Female Virtues", he didn't hesitate in throwing it into the fire. The moment the fire lit up, Mei Hanxue thought darkly: he will remember today's disgrace, and if that "Shao Zhu" ever lands in his hands, he'd kill him himself!

However, the next morning was even more embarrassing.

According to the rules set down for the two brothers by Mingyue Tower for this time, he would show his face one day, and the next day would be his brother Mei HanXue's turn.

Mei HanXue came to Yanluo Hall to look for him. When he went to exchange identities, he saw him wearing blue and silver female disciple's robes from Sisheng Peak, his blond hair loosely tied, sitting in a small dark corner.

Mei HanXue: "... What are you wearing?"

Mei Hanxue answered: "Ge, this is what you should be wearing today."

"..."

"Come on, I've enjoyed them all night. These clothes actually smell pretty nice. Let's change quickly."

"Mei Hanxue!" The older brother angrily said, "What trouble did you get into again when I wasn't around?"

Mei Hanxue sometimes felt that his brother's life was really too tragic. Maybe it was just bad luck, but every time he fell into a bad situation, the one who always ended up cleaning up the mess was his brother.

The same is true this time.

The rage he felt at being forced into women's clothes to stew in Yanluo Hall for an entire night was justified, but the persecution his brother would suffer at the hands of "Shao Zhu" made it even more severe, because according to the arrangements of Yanluo Hall's guards, today his brother had to go out to the library to wipe down the books.

When Mei HanXue was forced into that blue and silver female disciple's uniform, Mei Hanxue thought he might go crazy.

At that time, the younger brother truly felt that "if that Shao Zhu ever lands in his hands, he'd kill him himself."

When the older brother heard the whole story, he made a small deletion for his younger brother, and removed the "if".

Mei HanXue said frostily: "You wait here. After I finish wiping down the books, I'll kill him."

Then he stepped to the library on his short little legs.

At that time, Kunlun Taxue Palace had several arrogant, bullying shixiong who came along with Minyue Tower to visit Sisheng Peak. Because the Sect Leader favored Mei Hanxue, they had a very unfavorable view towards him. One of them was especially awful; as soon as he heard that Mei-shidi had been disciplined by Sisheng Peak, he sprang towards the library to rubberneck.

Seeing that Mei-shidi actually wore a girl disciple's clothes, and stood on a small wooden ladder wiping books with a face that looked like it was made of the most bitter frost, he couldn't help but scream with laughter. And then, he called over his posse of scoundrel friends to join in humiliating him.

"Isn't this Mei-shidi....ah, no, it should be Mei-shimei! You look quite lovely, hahahaha!"

"How did you provoke the people of Sisheng Peak to make them bully you like this?"

"Tell Shige who this person is, Buahahaha, Shige will present flowers to that man!"

Mei HanXue was cold-natured and not fond of nonsense. Having been provoked, he immediately tried to hit back. However, he was still too small, and hadn't learned too many techniques. With one of him facing a group of them, this group of intractable thugs managed to press him into the ground.

These people didn't know that Mei Hanxue was actually a pair of twin brothers, so they yelled:

"What's wrong with you? How come one day you're nice and polite and the next you're screaming about killing people? Do you need your Shixiong to come fix up that brain of yours?"

"Strip him. He's from our Taxue Palace, so why should he wear clothes from Sisheng Peak?"

During the struggle, he suddenly heard the hum of a passing blade. A long scimitar, shining like snow, had been suddenly thrown deep into the wooden floors!

"What do you think you're doing!"

The group of scum from Kunlun Taxue Palace were shocked, and suddenly dispersed, turning their heads—

"Xue, Xue Meng?!"

On hearing this name, Mei HanXue shook aside the messy blond hair covering his pale eyes, and lifted his gaze.

He saw a half-grown boy standing in the library's doorway, his arms crossed. His face was elegant, his aura domineering. He wore a full set of Sisheng Peak silver-blue armor, his hair in a ponytail, and a black finger guard, which was impatiently tapping his crossed arms.

Xue Meng said, ill-tempered: "Bullying people in my Sisheng Peak, did you get permission from my father? Have you asked my Shizun? Have you asked me??"

The disciples of Kunlun Taxue Palace obsequiously laughed: "Aiya... this, this is just us teaching a disobedient shidi a lesson..hehe....hehehe..."

"You call this a lesson?" Xue Meng stared, and he pointed at Mei HanXue. "Shouldn't this be called group of strong young men ganging up on a single weak person?"

"Ye-yes....you're right..."

Xue Meng said angrily: "What are you doing still poking around here? Scram!"

This group was all made of bullies, and, Xue Meng, after all, was the son of the Sect Leader. How could they dare provoke him? They immediately bowed and bent, and scattered, flapping away like birds.

Xue Meng had a serious look on his face, and placed his steel-reinforced boots into the wooden floors until they creaked. Then he raised his hand and grasped Longcheng. He wanted to pull it out in a cool manner, but when he pulled with one hand, it didn't budge.

Xue Meng had to cough lightly in embarrassment, use both his hands with great force, and breathe from his core. Only then could he pull the sword, which was just about as tall as he was, out of the ground.

He staggered back two steps.

Xue Meng: "..."

Mei HanXue: "..."

Xue Meng coughed awkwardly again and turned to look at Mei HanXue.

He didn't recognize that this was yesterday's "dirty peeper" from Miaoyin Pool. Mei HanXue naturally didn't recognize him either. They looked at each other for a moment. Xue Meng saw that his golden hair was messy, the corner of his mouth was bloodied, and his clothes were torn into unrecognizable shreds. Only a thin robe of raw silk specially made by Kunlun Taxue Palace remained on his body. Xue Meng couldn't help wrinkling his brows.

"Despicable."

Saying this, he took off his own outer robe, and draped it over Mei HanXue's shoulders.

"Put this on."

Mei HanXue, draped in Xue Meng's robes, raised his head and looked carefully at this child's face. He didn't think he looked at all like his benefactor Xue Zhengyong. His face was small and delicate, his nose pointed, the black and white of his apricot eyes were clear and distinct, and he carried himself with a certain natural brilliance and pride.

He said hesitantly: "So you're...Xue Meng?"

"I am." Xue Meng said, pleased with himself. "What do you think of my skills? Do you think my reputation's well deserved?"

Then he is indeed the son of his benefactor.

Mei HanXue wanted to thank him, but then he heard Xue Meng laugh, and say his next sentence: "Ever since this Shaozhu has gone out into the world, no one has managed to best me!"

"....."

"You're Shao Zhu?"

Xue Meng: "? Obviously?"

"Isn't Shao Zhu a person's name?" That night, after Mei HanXue returned to his room, Mei Hanxue asked him, astonished: "How did he become our benefactor's son?"

As the older brother was steadier than his younger brother, he silently pulled from their luggage a book titled "Suiye Kunlun and Mandarin Translation Guide". The two brothers sat together and read the book under the light of a lamp.

"Shaozhu." Mei Hanxue pointed his finger and read word for word, "Refers to a young master. It can also refer to when there is an adult master; the one that he designates as his heir is the Shaozhu."

Mei Hanxue: "..."

Mei HanXue: "..."

They fell into a long silence. After a long time, Mei Hanxue asked:

"So does that mean we can't kill him?"

The elder brother pondered this for a bit. He looked down at the outer robe he was wearing, lowered his long pale golden eyelashes, and said coldly: "What do you think?"

Mei Hanxue sighed, his blue eyes like those of an exotic cat: "Okay okay, I see."

"....."

"But bullying him a bit should be okay right?"

"No."

"Ge, look, you saw how he bullied me yesterday."

"No."

"He also made you wear a female disciple's clothes!"

Mei HanXue was silent for a bit, and finally gave his brother five words: "... Fine. Don't go too far."

Later on during that time, Mei Hanxue would often take the initiative to find Xue Meng. Slowly, the two children became playmates.

But to Mei Hanxue, Xue Meng was far too dumb. One day it was his brother, one day it was him, yet Xue Meng never felt that something was off, only that he was temperamental. On the contrary, that little shidi called Shi Mei, nicknamed Xue Ya, always looked like he felt something was off, and would look at him thoughtfully.

Mei Hanxue didn't like people who were as coldly intelligent as Shi Mei. Someone like Xue Meng who walked sideways like a crab, but whose head wasn't too bright, that kind of person was the type he liked to befriend, and who was fun to tease.

The only problem was—

"You're not allowed to sleep with me today!"

"Ah?" Mei Hanxue held a bamboo pillow, dressed in his silk sleeping robes, with his soft blond hair hanging down, and stared widely with his sea-like eyes: "Why?"

Xue Meng was furious: "Because you kicked me out of bed in the middle of the night last night! Did you forget?"

Mei Hanxue: "..."

Didn't his brother say he wouldn't bully Xue Meng? Why would he kick someone out of bed in the middle of the night?

Mei Hanxue smiled. Although he had yet to grow up, and hadn't yet developed his later stunning looks, there was already a trace of Mei-gongzi in this smile.

"I won't do it tonight. I'll sleep on the outside, and if you still don't trust me, I can stick to you while you sleep."

Mei Hanxue's intentions were good. He wanted to sleep with Xue Meng. If Xue Meng fell out, then he would fall out too; close brothers should share all trials and tribulations.

But the problem was that Mei Hanxue's Mandarin still wasn't good, so although he wanted to say "stick to," what Xue Meng heard was—

If you still don't trust me, I can lick you while you sleep.

Li-...licking?

Xue Meng was stunned, and after picturing that image, he couldn't help throwing a tiger pillow at him: [239]"Aaahh! Why are you Kunlun people so perverted? Get out of here!!!"

It was because the young Mei Hanxue had suffered so many times from Xue Meng not understanding his stuttering words that he, from a very early point, understood what a splendid subject speech was. And so, every time he had the chance, he would take the initiative to talk to girls from the Central Plains. These girls were generally more patient than men, and were willing to teach him, but they would occasionally cry to him:

"I don't think you like me at all! You're with me just to learn Mandarin!"

But that was all in the past.

Thinking about those past incidences, Mei Hanxue laughed. As he curled his hands around his mouth to hide his laughter, he heard the door creak. He turned his head in search of the sound. Backlit by the sun, Xue Meng seemed to be full of arrogance, yet he also seemed somewhat at a loss as he walked towards him.

" Cough ...um, hello."

With no anger at all, Mei Hanxue smiled, lowered his legs that had been resting on the shelf, sat up straight, and smiled: "Ah, the Sect Leader has come to visit."

Xue Meng coughed: "Yes."

"Does the Sect Leader have something he wishes to discuss with me?"

"...uhhh...."

"Yes?"

Xue Meng didn't speak, and just stalled, and looked at him, and slowly, his face turned red.

"..." Mei Hanxue's smile froze, and he began to have some hesitance.
"....?"

He has read countless people, both men and women. Multitudes of these cultivators would have cheeks that bloomed with rosy clouds upon seeing him—he had a very clear idea of what the meaning of this was.

But he never thought that Xue Meng would cast this kind of look upon the crossdressed him.

The Xue Ziming he was familiar with wasn't this kind of person.

Xue Ziming was arrogant and honest, brimming with honor and lacking in brains. He had never known how to do well with girls, and the thing he liked to do most daily, besides practicing martial arts, was probably admiring himself in the mirror.

To blush at a female cultivator; did he take the wrong medicine?

Even if this particular "female cultivator" was one he created himself, Mei Hanxue still felt strange. It reminded him of a snow-white Persian cat that he had once raised at Taxue Palace. He had cared for it from when it was a tiny kitten until it was grown, and always thought it was stupid and cute, and so he believed that it would always remain stupid and cute.

Until one day, he saw his Persian cat mating with a wild cat. No, not just one, there were two piled on top, and a third cat watching them do this incredible feat from the side.

Mei Hanxue was shocked. He couldn't comprehend what he was seeing. What happened? Where did the innocent, adorable, silly little kitten he raised go?

Faced with the scarlet-cheeked Xue Meng, Mei Hanxue felt that his mood now seemed to delicately coincide with his mood back then.

Seeing Xue Meng's face getting more embarrassed and awkward, repeatedly biting his lips only to release them, as if he wanted to speak but kept stopping himself, Mei Hanxue began to think about how he should gently let him down if Xue Meng really opened his mouth to confess to "Shou Hou".

Should he tell him that "she" actually liked women, or that "she" has a terminal illness and would probably suddenly die in the next several months?

— These were the kind of words that he would use when he needed to dump a woman. He'd said these things so many times that he could make the words rain from his mouth like a deluge of heavenly flowers, but this time, for some reason, he felt a little faint.

As he struggled with his tangled thoughts, he heard Sect Leader Xue say, blushing: " Cough ... that..."

"...."

"That is, you've been at Sisheng Peak for a while now, and I have something that I wanted to ask you."

“...Sect Leader, please.” Mei Hanxue's face was very calm and gentle, but his brain was buzzing.

What should I do? How to answer? Do I like women, or am I terminally ill? Am I terminally ill, or do I like women?

Xue Meng awkwardly started speaking: "I, I just wanted to ask..."

"Yes?"

"Ahem." Xue Meng gritted his teeth and stamped his feet. Filled with determination, he sacrificed his need to save face, clenched his fists, and shouted out in one breath: "Excuse me! How did you manage to rub Veggie Bun's belly without getting scratched???"

>>do not trust random danmei characters to give good cat care advice! Do not use their bad cat care advice to harass the innocent!

Mei Hanxue: "..."

Xue Meng was a red as the clouds over a sunset.

Mei Hanxue couldn't help but raise his brows: "... Is that all? "

"Ah..." Xue Meng pondered for a moment, and remembered problem. "Oh yeah, how did you keep Tanlang and Xuanji's disciples from fighting?"

Mei Hanxue: "....."

Forgive him, he had thought too highly of Xue Meng.

Even though he had read thousands of people, he had definitely never seen a man as exquisitely focused as Xue Meng.

Sect Leader Xue's life really did revolve completely around physical strength.

But in spite of this, Mei Hanxue was patient, telling him how he mediated between Tanlang and Xuanji's disciples, and began to share his knowledge of animal training with Xue Meng.

"Cats are animals that have to be disciplined. The more you indulge them, the less they take you seriously."

Mei Hanxue smiled lightly, and wore a gentle face and spoke in a kind tone, but he also gave off a vague sense that he treated all living beings with indifference: "Sect Leader, just because you think it's cute, doesn't mean you can freely spoil it. You need to control it between the palms of your hands, bully it, let it know that it can't get the better of you. Only in this way will this fluffy little one naturally become obedient."

"... But won't it run away?"

Mei Hanxue laughed and said: "Can't you chase it?"

"Can't it hide?"

"Can't you find it?"

"Can't it bite?"

"Can't you hit it?"

During this back-and-forth Xue Meng saw that her face was smiling, yet for some reason he developed goosebumps. He swallowed the knot in his throat and then said: "... You haven't hit Veggie Bun, have you?"

"Hah!" Mei Hanxue clasped her hands, held them to her mouth, and smiled even more brilliantly: "Sect Leader Xue is truly an honorable man. I was joking. I've always encouraged people to take the bait willingly. I would never forced anyone to do anything."

With this, Xue Meng relaxed a bit. Otherwise, he would have really felt that Shou Hou was terrifying.

After Mei Hanxue stopped laughing, he raised his pale eyelashes, and with an air of puzzlement in his shadowed eyes, he began to speak, as if guiding Xue Meng down a new path: "But Sect Leader, now that you mention it...Taobao Manor has a unique technique for disciplining cats. Do you have any interest in learning about it?"

As a martial arts enthusiast, Xue Meng was exceptionally curious about anything that was labeled a "unique technique". Mo Ran once had a suspicion that if he ever wanted to drag the incomparably pure Xue Ziming into reading porn, as long as he titled them things like "Unique Techniques For Amorous Feelings" and "Unique Techniques For Romantic Encounters," said person would argumentatively and obstinately take the bait.

Mei Hanxue smiled and said: "Well, would you like to learn?"

"....."

"It's quite a difficult technique to come by. If it weren't for the fact that I admire you so much, I would never so lightly reveal it to outsiders."

Xue Meng couldn't resist the temptation of both the cat's fluffy white belly and the two words "unique technique". Finally, he became tangled up in Mei Hanxue's dubious trap, hardened his face, and coughing, said: " Cough , well, since you asked me so sincerely...then...I guess I could try it out."

Thus, Mei Hanxue began his lecture.

"First of all, all cats have a certain natural instinct." Mei Hanxue gazed at Xue Meng and said with profound meaning: "As the saying goes, 'curiosity kills the cat'. Every cat's soft spot is related to that overly inquisitive nature and that and heart that is unwary of danger."

Xue Meng stared, hungry for knowledge: "Really?"

"Yes." Mei Hanxue raised one slender, graceful finger. "You see, if people just stretch out a finger in front of them, nine out of ten of these little ones can't help coming closer to take a sniff. Then you just quickly grab them, press them to the ground, lift open their legs, and then they'll go weak and start yowling..."

Mei Hanxue had intended to make a disastrous statement to provoke Xue Meng into screaming and flailing.

Unfortunately, even wise men make mistakes. The exceptionally pure Xue Meng didn't understand that the exceptionally dirty Mei Hanxue was teasing him. He listened attentively and asked, "Wouldn't it be unhappy then?"

"....." Mei Hanxue wasn't successful in his teasing, but he wasn't discouraged, and smiled. "Yes."

"So what then?"

"Coax it."

Xue Meng waved his hand: "It's no use. It can't understand human speech."

Mei Hanxue said: "Speech is empty. Once you start moving, the kitty will start to find it pleasurable and stop resisting. Instead, it'll find that it's no longer enough, adjust its body to better fit yours, and start to vocalize how nice it feels... have you tried this before?"

Xue Meng held his chin and pondered: "So they'll start to make a snoring sound?"

Mei Hanxue, looking at his ignorant appearance, found that his itch to tease him was growing ever stronger. He couldn't help laughing and said: "Yes, that's what cats sound like."

"But every time I touch its stomach, it resists. At most, I can touch its chin."

"That's because your technique wasn't correct, and you didn't pamper it properly. Mei Hanxue's soft eyelashes twitched. After a while, he said gently: "If the Sect Leader doesn't mind, may I take the liberty of teaching you hands on?"

"Uh...."

Although propriety stated there shouldn't be direct contact between men and women, exceptions could be made in order to provide practical instruction and to clarify any confusion. And Xue Meng saw that Shou Hou-guniang, so gentle and refined, so dignified yet warm, was an honorable person. He hesitated for a moment, but then nodded.

Nevertheless, when Mei Hanxue started to raise his hand, Xue Meng still shouted in a rush: "Wait! Wait, hold on a second!"

"What's wrong?"

"I, I want to be straight with you, I'm just here to learn how to pet a cat, and I have no intention of taking advantage of you!"

"..." Mei Hanxue laughed: "Alright."

And I definitely, absolutely have no intention of doing anything physically immoral!

Mei Hanxue laughed so hard his ribs almost broke, and his eyes were brimming with tears when he finally got out: "Why are you so nervous? If nothing else, I'm still a disciple of Taobao Manor, which is a decent, honorable sect. I don't plan on playing immortal jump, let alone make you take responsibility for my honor after just a few touches. Sect Leader, is there any need to be so fierce?"

Xue Meng cleared his throat with embarrassment: " Cough , okay then... I guess we can get started."

Mei Hanxue shifted to the side, made a space for Xue Meng, and said: "Sect Leader, please come closer first."

When Xue Meng approached, Mei Hanxue raised his hand and said seriously: "Look, when you see a cat, you should first approach it slowly, and let it freely sniff your fingertip out of curiosity." Saying this, his fingertip brushed Xue Meng's nose, paused for a moment, then slid down to fall on Xue Meng's chin, "and then, you can gently scritch it a little."

Mei Hanxue knew Xue Meng's temperament, so he didn't make too much contact, only giving him the slightest touch. He snickered in his heart: Aiyah, so Xue Meng didn't slap his hand away.

Not only didn't he strike out, but probably because Mei Hanxue's "Shou Hou" performance was too honest, Xue Meng didn't even think to be suspicious, and even copied him in touching his own chin a few times.

"Like this?"

"Use a bit more force."

"How about this?"

"You can't always use the same strength. There's one very good technique, called Nine Shallow One Deep.[240] Once you learn it, you'll find it impossible to give up.

"...What kind of technique is this? How come I've never heard of it before?"

Mei Hanxue held back a laugh: "This is a highly advanced skill, ordinary technique guides wouldn't have it."

Xue Meng was annoyed: "You're kidding me. I'm the Sect Leader of the majestic Sisheng Peak, do you really think there are advanced skills out there I haven't seen?"

"...I guarantee that you haven't seen this one before."

Xue Meng refused to accept this and raised his black eyebrows: "How do you know I haven't? Show me! Let's duke it out!"

Mei Hanxue: "I am indeed quite proficient in this particular skill, but I'm afraid it would be disrespectful if I were to recklessly use it on the Sect Leader."

After a pause, he saw that Xue Meng still stubbornly looked like he wanted to fight. If they continued down this road, he was afraid he might let something slip; thus, Mei Hanxue giggled and said: "Sect Leader, there's no need for you to concern yourself so much with this skill. Nine Shallow One Deep is a bit of a cheat, and not something that can be learned by everyone. It just doesn't suit some people physically. I personally think that although your Shizun, Chu-zongshi, has experienced a masterful version of this many times, his nature might prevent him from being able to practice it himself.

When he said this, Xue Meng reluctantly gave up, but he still grumbled: "Since my Shizun didn't learn it, it can't be anything that amazing."

Mei Hanxue laughed and said: "Chu-zongshi doesn't know it, but Mo-zongshi is almost certainly quite skilled at it."

"?" Xue Meng's eyes grew wider. "Mo Ran? How come I've never heard of him knowing something like this?"

Mei Hanxue, motivated by a desire to watch the world burn, smiled, eyes crinkling, and said: "He who has treasure won't show it easily. Next time you see him, why don't you ask him if the sensation of using this technique isn't something especially wonderful."

Xue Meng was suspicious, but he kept this matter in mind, and decided to ask Mo Ran when he had the opportunity next time he saw him. What on earth is this Nine Shallow One Deep skill? So mysterious.

The two of them spent some time practicing the proper technique for petting a cat. Xue Meng scritched himself a few times, more-or-less grasping the appropriate strength to use, and asked happily: "Not bad! I got it. Now what?"

"Then," Mei Hanxue's white jade fingertip slowly slid down and finally landed on Xue Meng's stomach, hovering over the silver lion's-head armor at his waist. "Then, you've made the cat feel good, and so it'll lie down and show you its white belly, which means that it's starting to trust you."

"So now I can touch it?"

"Not yet." Mei Hanxue smiled: "Be patient. You have to do like I'm doing, and stop just around its belly without actually making contact."

As he spoke, his hand gently, languidly wandered around the area of Xue Meng's stomach. As time went by, Xue Meng began to feel a little tense, and stared at the hand, not knowing when exactly it would actually touch him. But even after quite a long while, "Shou Hou"-guniang still kept her distance, and so he slowly let down his guard.

"Just like this."

Xue Meng nodded: "...Oh..."

Unexpectedly, at this very moment, Mei Hanxue suddenly took hold of his waist, pulled him close, and laughed: "Then, you just surprise it, and take __"

Mei Hanxue didn't have time to finish saying how he would be taken.

Because Xue Meng, gobsmacked at having been suddenly grabbed by the waist, wasn't able to adequately defend against this trick. He was pulled foward, and was thrown against Mei Hanxue, sending them both tumbling.

"Fuck!"

"....." Mei Hanxue felt a weight pressing directly on him. Accustomed to acting protectively towards the fairer sex, he instinctively embraced Xue Meng, and held him on top. Unsteady, the two of them fell to the ground.

There was a loud, muffled thump.

The thin layer of dust covering every surface of the library puffed up in a cloud, choking Xue Meng and making him cough uncontrollably, his eyes tearing up. The library's ancient wooden floorboards creaked and groaned under their weight. Like a perplexed cat, Xue Meng sat in a daze,a blank look of confusion on his face, and it was only after quite some time that he realized that he was pressing Mei Hanxue into the floor.

Mei Hanxue: "..."

Xue Meng: " Cough cough, hack !! I, I'm so sorry!"

He waved his hands back and forth to fan away the dust cloud, and only then saw that Mei Hanxue's clothes were in disorder, and that his hair was coming loose. A pair of pale eyes looked at him with a somewhat strange expression out from under long curling eyelashes, as if there was something that needed to be said, but couldn't be.

Xue Meng was stunned. He suddenly realized how inappropriate the situation was, and stood up in a rush.

However, the more nervous a person was, the more likely he was to make a mistake. Flustered in his rush to stand up, his feet fell unsteadily during his first few attempts, and he found himself rubbing against Mei Hanxue.

Mei Hanxue's eyebrows raised just the tiniest bit, and his expression grew just a bit stranger.

After getting up, Xue Meng's face was fully flushed with embarrasment. He stuttered: "W-, well, um, da-, dajie, I'm uh, truly, s- s- sorry."[241]

"....."

Because of his temperament, even from a young age, Xue Meng never had good fortune with women, and the girls of his generation didn't like to deal with him. Instead, he invited the fondness of older girls and aunties. Therefore, he habitually only addressed women in two ways: one is "yi" and the other is "jie".[242] And so when nervous, he inadvertently called Mei Hanxue's beautiful young lady "dajie".

Mei Hanxue looked at him with an air of profound mystery, and sighed in his heart. It serves this person right that even to the present day he hasn't even held a girl's hand!

What kind of stupid address is dajie?

When greeting girls, those ninety years or older should be called xiangu, thouse five years or younger should be called mitang, those in between, whether fat or skinny, should all collectively be known as meiren.[243] How could Xue Meng not understand such a simple lesson after having been alive almost thirty years now?

Xue Meng was still stuttering. "Dajie, I didn't hurt you, did I? I, I don't think I'm that heavy, and you look pretty sturdy..."

"....." Mei Hanxue felt that if the person in front of Xue Meng at this moment wasn't himself, but a real girl, Xue Meng might have already received multiple slaps to the face.

Fortunately, Xue Meng seemed to finally realize how inappropriate it was to refer to a young lady as "sturdy", and awkwardly corrected himself: "I, no, I didn't mean that, I just felt like you probably wouldn't break with one tap, because you have some muscle on you, um, ugh...I should probably stop talking. Anyway, are you alright?"

Mei Hanxue remained flat on the ground for a while, then sat up with a complicated expression: "... I'm all right. I just didn't think that your reaction would be so extreme."

After another awkward silence, Mei Hanxue asked: "Did I frighten you?"

"No, no way." Xue Meng still blushed violently, and didn't know what to say. He stalled for a long time, then changed the subject. " Cough ... so, that's how you tamed Veggie Bun?"

"Yes," Mei Hanxue said with a faint smile, "Of the animals I've trained, there isn't one who isn't obedient."

"Oh..."

"The technique we went over just now, does the Sect Leader understand it?"

Xue Meng: "Pretty much, yeah..."

Mei Hanxue said: "That's good. As long as the Sect Leader is happy, then falling down was worth it."

Xue Meng was flabbergasted. To have these words gently come from the mouth of a beautiful girl...any normal man would feel a great sense of relief come over his body.

So Xue Meng's heart began to shudder. Although he didn't think so highly of Ma Yun, who stupidly cobbled together the relief scroll, this Shou Hou disciple of his wasn't too bad. She was alm, even-tempered, unpretentious, and was moreover honorable, steady in her work, and was wholeheartedly devoted to the needs of her clients.

Xue Meng used to think that these pretty, delicate little girls were like people made of glass. They were weak and easy to hurt, and would cry and scream over any little thing. If a man ever dumped them, they would grind their teeth and stamp their feet, or start wailing pitifully, or scream hysterically, "This is harassment! You scoundrel!"

But this Shou Hou-guniang, in order to change his negative opinion of the "relief scroll", didn't even respond to being taken advantage of —of course, he didn't intentionally take advantage of her, but the kind-hearted Xue Meng couldn't help but develop a threat of deep, sincere pity for this poor girl, who had to eke out a living through submission and docility.

So he hesitated for a moment and finally said, "... Well, you know, it's almost time for dinner. Why don't I...take you out for a meal?

Mei Hanxue smiled: "You just bumped into me me. There's no need to feel so guilty."

"No, thank you for teaching me your unique cat skills." Xue Meng still blushed, embarrassed. "As for me changing my reviews of the relief scroll, well, we can talk about it...anyway, we should eat first."

And so he extended his hand towards the person he saw as the pitiable tea-selling little sister Shou Hou-guniang, with the intent of helping her up.

Yet Mei Hanxue didn't move; his eyes moved from Xue Meng's palm up to his face. Finally, he said: "Sect Leader, you go first. I can sit for a bit longer."

Seeing this reaction, Xue Meng couldn't help feeling a bit lost: "... Did I actually hurt you badly just now?"

Mei Hanxue raised his eyebrows silently, but then finally smiled: "It's not bad, there's just a bit of swelling, but it should be fine. As long as you don't run into me again, it should go down soon."

When the kind Xue Meng heard that he had actually hurt this delicate maiden, he couldn't help but feel even guiltier.

"So it's like that..." Xue Meng bit his lip in embarassment. "Then how about I find Elder Tanlang to take a look at you?"

"....There's no need. I'm not used to disturbing others due to things like this."

Xue Meng's impression of how forlorn yet prudent she was grew even stronger.

"Then, can you tell me where it's swollen? I have some medicine on me, maybe I could put some on you?"

"Or actually, I could also massage it a little, if you'd be okay with that?"

Mei Hanxue, looking at his serious appearance, wondered more and more how this person could be this cute. He used his full energy just to resist laughing and simply kept silent, fearing that once he opened his mouth, he wouldn't be able to resist slapping his leg and bursting into full-throated howls of laughter.

Thus, in Xue Meng's eyes, Mei Hanxue became a girl with quivering lips and eyes brimming with tears, unable to speak the words she wanted to get out.

This girl stared at at him, and the tighter she pursed her lips, the more inexplicable her expression became.

Finally she bowed her head said with a light cough: "If you rub it, it might just swell up more."

Xue Meng: "?? Huh? Is my hand poisonous?"

"...no."

"Then it should be fine then."

Originally, Mei Hanxue had been looking at Mo Ran's erotic drawings, and added to that the typical reaction he'd get from someone rubbing against him, there was no further explanation needed for what was happeneing. But when he looked at Xue Meng's pure, innocent appearance, the itch to tease him grew worse and worse, to where he wanted to see him run away with terror or to have him screaming and cursing with rage.

Thinking of such things, his eyes grew a bright, captivating luster, and seemed to emit some form of vital energy. Pursing his lips in a smile, he said: "Then...if you really wish to help me, it's not out of the question, but I must make something clear to you..."

Just then, someone knocked resolutely on the library's door.

Mei Hanxue raised his brows, and closed his mouth.

Xue Meng turned his head, and saw Elder Xuanji in blue, standing at the doorway, fingers knocking at the door frame.

"Sect Leader." As Xuanji spoke, he saw Mei Hanxue behind Xue Meng, and smiled: "Oh, Shou Hou-guniang is here too."

Mei Hanxue smiled and nodded.

"Yes, I had some things to discuss with her." Xue Meng, unaware of how dangerous his situation was just then, said pompously: "What's the matter?"

Elder Xuanji reported: "This is the situation. Mei HanXue of Kunlun Taxue Palace has paid us a sudden visit. He said there was an urgent matter involving you, and he is now waiting in Danxin Hall."

Mei Hanxue's smile froze.

Ch. 335 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Tea-Selling Little Sister 5

Xue Meng and Mei HanXue hadn't seen each other for a while.

Mei HanXue could be classified as someone who would never make visits with any kind of ulterior motive. During the dimensional annihilation wars, the matter of him and his younger brother's use of the same identity was revealed to the world. Now the entire cultivation world knew that there were two Mei-xianzhang in the mortal realms, and those female cultivators who had their hearts broken by the younger brother suddenly zeroed in on the elder.

They think Mei HanXue is handsome and steady, and moreover not promiscuous, with no romantic history; a perfect substitute for Mei Hanxue. One after another, they expressed no desire for men from other families in this lifetime, only to sleep with Mei-shige.

Mei HanXue was so furiously hounded that for these past two years he barely appeared in the mundane world.

The last time he and Xue Meng met, he had been sent by Mingyue Tower to give Xue Meng a box of top grade Tianshan snow lotus. Coincidentally when he arrived, he came upon Jiangdong Hall's new female sect leader, who was there before him to pay her respects to Xue Meng.

Jiangdong Hall's new head, Hua Ruowei.

Although a sect leader, she couldn't compare to the heroic Ye Wangxi, the loving and virtuous Madame Wang, or the awe-inspiring Madame Rong. She was a curiosity who managed to sleep her way through all the sect elders and was thus elected to her current position after the death of the old sect leader Huang Xiaoyue.

The most incredible thing about this person was simply that she slept her way through Jiangdong Hall's twelve elders, a feat known throughout the streets and book stalls. Moreover, each one of these twelve ancient turtles had their heads firmly in their shells, with not a single one of them knowing the full truth of the situation. Even if rumors were to float past their ears, as soon as Hua Ruowei would start wailing, those twelve elders would rise with indignant fury and say with outrage: "Weiwei is pure! She's nothing like those flirty sluts outside! None of you are allowed to spread rumours about her! "

Mei HanXue thought that this woman was truly strange. She should duke it out with his brother over who was more degenerate.

Unfortunately, although he had a clear idea of what sort of person Hua Ruowei was, Xue Meng didn't.

Xue Meng didn't like to listen to rumors. There had been a time where he was willing to humor them, but after hearing eighteen different accounts of Chu Wanning and Mo Weiyu's exploits during their seclusion in a row, Xue Meng fell apart, and stated that Sisheng Peak was no longer allowed to spread such common gossip. Thus, he hadn't heard a word of Hua Ruowei's coquettish ways and her habit of using men.

So when Mei Hanxue came to gift the snow lotus herb, he coldly stared at Hua Ruowei doing her utmost to provoke Sect Leader Xue

"Ziming-gege, this one just adores you!"

"Ziming-gege, can I touch your armor? It's so shiny!"

"Ziming-gege, Weiwei thinks you're super incredible. You're so young and you're already in charge of the entire lower cultivation world, you must work super hard!"

Although Xue Meng thought this was all incredibly corny, flattery could get through the toughest armor, and he was a man who loved to hear others sing his praises. Having been praised by Hua Ruowei in such a syrupy sweet manner, he still felt a bit floaty despite himself, and started to giggle like a fool.

"....." Mei HanXue couldn't stand to look at it anymore. He wondered if Xue Meng didn't have a hole in his head. So he slammed the wooden box containing the snow lotus onto a table, making Hua Ruowei jump with surprise at the noise.

The first thing the little beauty did after she regained her senses was to pat her plump bosom and throw a flirty look at Mei HanXue with her limpid, glimmering eyes: "HanXue-gege's hand strength is truly great, how strong you are!"

Mei Hanxue looked at her with cold indifference: "I don't have a younger sister."

Hua Ruowei, not expecting that anyone would react so indifferently to her overtures, stuttered with embarrassment: "I, I was just joking around."

"Yes. I can see you're a joke."

Hua Ruowei: "..."

Xue Meng couldn't take this anymore. "Okay, enough already. Sect Leader Hua is still a guest. And she just told me that after the dimensional annihilation wars, she had a revelation, and realized that what her Jiangdong Hall did before wasn't right. So this time, she came here especially to mend relations with Sisheng Peak. Isn't that right, Sect Leader Hua?"

Hua Ruowei had been handling Xue Meng with ease, but under Mei HanXue's stare, she felt a weakness, as if he saw straight through to her calculating little heart. Shrinking her neck into her shoulders, she smiled stiffly and said, vaguely: "Yeah, that's right. Sect Leader Xue is the one I admire most. I really adore him, hahahaha. "

Mei Hanxue sneered: "But when you were last at Gu Yue Ye, it seems like you said the same thing about Jiang Xi."

Hua Ruowei's face suddenly changed: "That...that's nonsense! "

"After you said it, you rubbed yourself against Jiang Yechen's leg."

Xue Meng was startled: "What?!"

Hua Ruowei: "..."

Mei HanXue said expressionlessly: "Last month, this Sect Leader Hua went to Gu Yue Ye and tried to use these same words to seduce Sect Leader Jiang, and incidentally sought death by rubbing herself again his thighs. Jiang Yechen, in a rage, dragged her by the arm and threw her bodily out of Gu Yue Ye. Afterwards, he sent someone to gift her a set of gynecological Prescriptions Worth A Thousand Gold, to express his feelings.[244]

Xue Meng: "..."

"This news has already spread throughout Yangzhou City. I had some business these past two days and happened to stay in Yangzhou, where it found its way to me."

Hua Ruowei never expected that of these two people both called "Mei Hanxue," the older brother would be so much harsher than the younger, and that he wouldn't leave a woman any face at all! She blushed, but still held only a desperate hope to turn the tides. Pitifully, she said: "HanXue-gege, those are all rumors, look at my eyes, so I look like I'm lying to you..."

Mei HanXue really did turn to look. Hua Ruowei felt a spark of happiness, and wildly cast her flirty, teary-eyed gaze onto him.

"Stop batting your eyelashes," Mei HanXue said apathetically. "I'm frigid, especially towards you."

"....."

Mei HanXue has no sense of romance! He's not worth carrying his brother's shoes!!!

Hua Ruowei never wanted to fight against him again. She was so angry that her pretty face look like a slab of pig's liver, and after saying her goodbyes in a rush, she wiped away her tears and ran away, wailing.

She had run off, but Mei HanXue still felt upset towards Xue Meng, who was stunned and rooted in his original spot. He pointed at the wooden box and gave Xue Meng six words: "These are for you. Eat up."

Xue Meng was still in a stupor. In his heart, he wondered secretly how Jiang Yechen, at his age, could still unceasingly provoke these swarms of girls. He glanced at the snow lotus box absently and said: "Thanks."

"No need for thanks." Mei Hanxue's jasper-glazed eyes held a sense of irony. His pale lips opened: "This is to repair your brain."

Xue Meng: "???"

After a while, he suddenly processed what he heart, but Mei HanXue had already left, and he was left shouting at Mei HanXue's back: "Mei HanXue! You're looking for death! You dare more me! "

In reality, Mei HanXue is a much more reliable man than his brother. Ever since Xue Meng inherited his current role, he has always followed the proper etiquette and propriety. But that day, Xue Meng didn't know what kind of bitter medicine he took that led him to taunt him as before. And after taunting him, he didn't even turn his head back and just left. The two parted unhappily. After they parted, Xue Meng secretly cursed Mei HanXue's shamelessness! He even wondered if in his past life he had also been seeded by some kind of poisonous flower that made his mother become inseparable from these two exotic flowers of the Mei family.

Could normal people stand to be with them for long? Not even for a day!

Afterwards, Mei Hanxue never returned to Sisheng Peak. Xue Meng thought his intent was to never see him again for the rest of their lives. Yet, today Mei HanXue suddenly has something urgent he needs to talk about. Xue Meng couldn't help but have some questions.

"Why's he here? Come to repair my brain again?"

Xuanji was stunned: "What?"

Xuanji's blank eyes called back some of Xue Meng's rationality.

Xue Meng coughed softly, and told himself internally to forget it. He's a sect leader, and Mei HanXue is just a dashixiong. He didn't inherit the mantle of Mingyue Tower, so his own position is a level higher, and he shouldn't argue with him.

Humph!

He cleared his throat and said with dignity: "Well, what's his emergency?"

"It seems like...there's a large upheaval going on at Taobao Manor," Xuanji said.

"Ah?" Xue Meng's eyes widened in astonishment, and then he looked at Taobao Manor's "Shou Hou"-guniang beside him, frowned, and asked: "Tell me clearly. What the hell is happening?"

Xuanji shook his head: "Mei-xianzhang didn't talk about the particulars of the situation, but according to him, his brother is the cause of the problem."

Mei Hanxue, standing on the side, raised his brows in confusion: "....."

Xuanji didn't sense that "she" was behaving oddly, and with some hesitancy, said to Xue Meng: "You too, Sect Leader."

Xue Meng: "???"

The Mei Hanxue brothers weren't outsiders, and didn't need to wait in the outer hall of Danxin Hall, but was rather invited to rest in the garden veranda of the back hall. When Xue Meng arrived, Mei Hanxue was leaning against a pillar, looking up at a newly grown Haitang flower.

He wore the snow-colored, flowing-sleeved silk robes specially made by Kunlun Taxue Palace. Its pattern was simple yet elegant, the edges of his sleeves and hemline trimmed with pale blue. Perhaps it was because his crown of brilliant, gently waving golden hair was too dazzling, but his clothes didn't make him seem dull or lifeless at all. Instead, he gave off the impression of a glacier-topped mountain in hibernation: cold and lofty, but with heat buried just under the snow, filled with deadly lava silently roiling and waiting to explode.

It's unknown when he'll erupt, when his heat will boil over, when he'll burn those who've gotten too close.

Xue Meng coughed, and Mei HanXue turned his head.

"You..."

They hadn't seen each other in such a long time; truly awkward. Xue Meng didn't want to waste any trivial words with him, so instead he coughed to express his true feelings.

His first cough was to get Mei HanXue to turn around.

His second cough was to express his greetings.

His third cough meant that bygones were bygones.

His fourth cough...

Mei HanXue's jasper eyes looked askance at him, and he asked coldly: "Are you learning to crow like a rooster?"

Xue Meng: "..."

"It's an unusual technique you're using."

Xue Meng didn't think he understood the deep meaning behind his four coughs at all, and even ridiculed him! He couldn't help but glar: "Mei HanXue! You —! "

"Let's not talk about us for now." Mei HanXue stands with his hands at his back, the water drop jewel on his forehead shining with a bright lustre. "Xue Ziming, you're in big trouble, did you know that?"

"Huh?"

As a good child who cared to please his mother and his shizun ever since youth, Xue Meng was naturally wary of the three words "in big trouble". He never thought that he would ever cause any trouble; The master of causing trouble at Sisheng Peak was always Mo Ran, Mo Weiyu. So he immediately asked nervously, "What did I do?"

"Did you or did you not use the pseudonym 'Taobao Manor Destroyed My Youth' to leave more than a hundred negative comments on the relief scroll?"

"... So what?" Xue Meng was so angry that he crossed his hands at his hips. "Are you saying that Ma Fangzhi got so mad that he couldn't bear to live anymore and killed himself by jumping into West Lake?"

Mei Hanxue glared at him.

Xue Meng, faced with this glare, couldn't help but feel guilty. Feeling a bit of shock, he hesitantly said: "No way? Did he actually jump in the lake?"

"What jump." Mei HanXue's eyes fell unabashedly onto Xue Meng's hip. With a gaze that could make one feel like they were sitting on pins and needles, he stared at Xue Meng's crossed hands, and said, rudely: "Also, you're the master of a cultivation sect. Be conscious of your bearing and appearance. Don't copy the manner of shrewish women."

"???" Xue Meng's rage spot had been hit: "Hold on, Mei HanXue. No matter what, I'm still a sect leader. How can you talk to me like that?"

Mei HanXue's eyes swept over him: "I'm only being straightforward with you now that we're alone. If you don't want to take my advice, then fine, please continue crossing your arms. Keep them there while you eat, and remember to find a disciple who can hand feed you."

"You, you —"

Xue Meng was so furious that he almost fainted.

He really didn't know who was more hateful, Mei HanXue or Mei Hanxue. Mei Hanxue incessantly teased him, and maintained his romantic, carefree demeanor no matter who was around, which sometimes made Xue Meng felt like he just lost an exceptional amount of face.

Mei HanXue was different. Mei HanXue let him save face when they were in front of others, but when those people were gone, or when he was in a bad mood, he would say things more infuriating than his brother.

And because Mei HanXue normally put on airs and had very few relationships with the outside world, the cultivation world's impression of him was very superficial, and he maintained a good reputation. So no matter how much Xue Meng would stamp his feet in rage and condemn Mei HanXue's poisonous tongue, everyone would look with pity at Sect Leader Xue, and advise him: "Aiyah, Sect Leader, when you're free please remember to drink some white fungus and lotus seed soup to decrease your heart fire, there's no need to fret so much."

Just like that!

No matter how Mei HanXue bullied him in front of him, he used to say that his facial puffing was unique, and that he won first place for foolishness. Later, he said that he needed to fix his brain, that he needed to be fed by others. And when Xue Meng would tell this to other people, no one would believe him!

Xue Meng felt like a mute man made to eat goldthread; forced to suffer in silence![245]

He was so angry that he couldn't figure out what to do, when he heard Mei HanXue say, "Let me get to the matter at hand. The problem lies in the over one hundred negative comments you left." After a pause, he wrinkled his pale golden brows. "Of course, there was my brother's contribution as well."

"What the hell is going on?"

"The mother vessel for the relief scroll has cultivated into a higher state."

Xue Meng was gobsmacked: "What?!"

Mei Hanxue went on: "Thanks to what you and my brother have bestowed upon it."

Xue Meng's mouth repeatedly opened and closed. Finally he said, stunned: "Then, then what did it become?"

"Human."

"It gained human form?!"

"Yes."

Xue Meng nervously smacked his lips. His rushed nature meant that he couldn't bear Mei HanXue wearing him down bit by bit like this, so he said anxiously: "Keep going, what's the situation?"

"Simply stated—"

"Don't state it simply!" Xue Meng felt he was being worn down to tears. Anxious, he jumped up. "You're complicated, so explain its complications!!"

Mei Hanxue glanced at him indifferently and said lazily, "OK. Complicated. When Ma Fangzhi was refining the relief scroll, he put a rare wisdom spirit stone into its mother vessel in order to give it a more human-like intelligence. That wisdom spirit stone can imitate the actions and manner of a living person. However, it's still a dumb stone after all; if you only interact with it once or twice, it won't learn anything. But one day, Hanxue also bought a scroll. "

"... And then what."

He created a hundred identities on the relief scroll and talked to five hundred girls at the same time. He did this over a hundred times, which allowed the relief scroll's mother vessel to gain some extraordinarily thorough knowledge of him.

"..... Alright, this sounds very much like Mei Hanxue."

Mei HanXue looked at Xue Meng with an expressionless gaze, lifting his eyebrows the tiniest amount: "Don't you dare think this problem was caused by him alone. If it were just Hanxue, things would be fine. It's because right at that time you happened to leave more than a hundred negative comments for the relief scroll. With those harsh, cutting words, you gravely injured the spirit's newly-emerged sense of pride, causing it to rage and flee."

Xue Meng was astonished: "This kind of thing is possible?!"

"There's more," Mei Hanxue said unsympathetically. "In its wrath, the mother vessel of the relief scroll began to absorb all of the spiritual energies of its users, and also began to imitate you and Hanxue. Not long ago, it broke through Ma Fangzhi's seals, and with the help of heavenly lightning, cultivated into a human form, becoming a monster. This monster has high spiritual power, and suffers from two incurable diseases. "

"What diseases?"

"One, extreme playfulness."

"Sounds like he got that from Mei Hanxue." Xue Meng continued: "And the second?"

Mei HanXue paused, lowered his pale golden eyelashes, and looked down at Xue Meng. His pale, thin lips opened and closed on a profound statement: "Two. Abnormal narcissism. "

Xue Meng nodded with no self-awareness, and said solemnly: "Mei Hanxue is indeed narcissistic."

Mei HanXue: "..."

The completely non self-aware Xue Meng continued: "it seems like even though I left bad reviews a hundred times, it didn't learn any of my habits." He breathed a sigh of relief. "So what's the situation? Can Manor Head Ma not catch this monster by himself?"

Mei Hanxue had no words for a moment, and was about to open his mouth, when suddenly, he heard the sound of plants rustling behind a rock garden, and immediately shouted: "Who's there?!"

The flowers trembled, and after a bit, the clever and lovely Shou Hou-guniang came out from behind the rocks, with a dead leaf stuck in her pale hair. She didn't dare to look at Mei HanXue, but smiled and waved to Xue Meng: "Sect Leader, I was just passing by, I'll be leaving just..."

Before she could tiptoe away two steps, Mei HanXue called out to her darkly: "Stop right there."

Xue Meng frowned and said, "This is a guest of our sect, Taobao Manor's disciple Shou Hou. She's really nice, you don't need to be so rude to all girls you know."

Mei Hanxue squinted. "Girl?"

"Yeah."

"Taobao Manor?"

"Right."

"Shou Hou?"

That's right.

Mei HanXue, face like the coldest frost, walked down the steps until he reached Shou Hou-guniang's side: "Mei Hanxue."

Xue Meng: "???"

"Are you playing with him again?"

Ch. 336 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Tea-Selling Little Sister 6

How miserable.

That night, Mei Hanxue sat in front of the bronze mirror, and sighed at the injury to his face.

Even he didn't know how he managed to escape from under Xue Meng's killing intent earlier today.

The way Xue Meng was acting, he seemed like he wanted to tear off all Mei Hanxue's clothes, and then execute him with a hot pillar![246] Fortunately, Veggie Bun was loyal; seeing the person who had fed it so many dried fish these past few days, it bravely jumped out and started yowling, stopping Xue Ziming from eating him alive.

Truly too miserable.

"Did he have to use so much force?" Mei Hanxue touched the bruise at the corner of his mouth, hissed, and frowned. "I just crossdressed and teased him a bit, there was no reason for him to go for my life."

In the guest room, Mei HanXue said coldly: "You deserved it. That'll teach you to bully him so much."

Mei Hanxue stared at his brother through the bronze mirror: "You talk as if you don't also bully him. Who's the one who takes advantage of every opportunity to insult him to death? Also, I don't always tease him, I've helped him out too!"

"What help?" Mei HanXue said indifferently, "He was clearly going mad with rage, couldn't you tell?"

"I could tell." Mei Hanxue paused, then suddenly smiled. "But you know, he gets so interesting when he's mad, so even though I really did mean to just give him a bit of happiness, in the end I couldn't resist how much he was provoking me."

As he spoke, he stood up, and swaying, leaned up against the wooden table, and bumped against Mei HanXue. "I was only playing. It was just a bit of fun. I'll still do my best to look after him."

"....."

"Look, he'd been happy the entire time I've been here at Sisheng Peak, and he only got mad this one time today. I think I did a pretty darn good job being Shou Hou for three days straight." Mei Hanxue batted his cat-like jade eyes and pouted: "So you shouldn't be upset."

Mei HanXue had an odd expression on his face: "Next time you're not allowed to trick him like this again."

"Hah, alright, next time I'll come up with a different scheme."

"You—!"

"I'll bring you along too."

"....."

"This is all your fault," Mei HanXue said angrily. "I suggest you start thinking about how you're going to explain the situation to Manor Head Ma tomorrow. I'm going to sleep."

"Weren't we going to go out and have another round of teasing Xue Meng?"

"Don't you think your face has gotten cut up enough for one day?"

Mei Hanxue silently opened and closed his mouth, and listlessly laid his head down on his brother's bed: and sighed: "Alas, what meaning is there in a life where you can't mess with people?"

Mei HanXue's face blackened: "Who said you could lie on my bed with your shoes on?!"

Due to what Xue Meng and Mei Hanxue unleashed through their meddling, Taobao Manor was already being beaten black and blue, and overwhelmed with complaints. As the original source of the problem, it didn't matter whether they meant to cause them or not, they were tasked with settling the mob for Manor Head Ma.

So on the morning of the following day, even though Xue Meng was still brooding with all manner of unhappiness, he had to go out with the two Mei brothers. The three of them rode their swords, and rushed to West Lake.

When their swords landed, and they arrived at the giant night cat totem at the entrance to Taobao Manor, Xue Meng was stupefied.

Outside the magnificent manor, he saw a crowd of commonly-dressed civilians, their hands holding red-lacquered wooden cards, aggressively shouting something. Because there were so many different roars, even though the sound was loud, he couldn't make out the contents of the complaints. While Xue Meng was stunned, he saw a line of women coming from around the stret corner, wearing red skirts and green sleeves and thickly-applied makeup. These were the madames of all the pleasure houses in Lin'an.

These old brothel keepers, who normally lunged to tear each other to pieces at the sight of each other, were suddenly working with a common purpose. Together, with one voice, they shouted: "Return my No. 1!"

"Return my top flower!"

"Return my daughters!"

"Return my tea-serving little sister!"

Xue Meng has never seen such troops like this. He was afraid of nothing under the heavens or on earth, but today he discovered that had a sense of foreboding towards these women. Mei Hanxue saw that he was flustered, smiled, and patted him on the shoulder: "It's alright, girls are very soft creatures, they won't eat you."

As soon as he finished speaking, a madame suddenly pounded her huge bosom with the force one would use to break a stone on their chest, striking it with such magnificent ferocity that Xue Meng's eyes bugged out.

The madame shouted angrily: "Taobao Manor must cease its bewitchments!"

"That's right!" Some common people in the crowd shouted, "return my daughters' self-esteem!"

"He called my wife a cake! My wife is crying!"[247]

"...What's all this mess? What's going on?" Xue Meng muttered.

Mei HanXue tapped him on the shoulder with his Shuo Feng sword and said to him: "Follow me through the back door."

Xue Meng was still angry and didn't want to talk to the brothers, but when he saw that the front gate was impenetrably besieged, and the disciples of Taobao Manor were pitifully selling themselves at the door, he had to turn his eyes and just follow the Mei brothers to the back of the manor.

"Sisheng Peak Sect Leader Xue Meng and Kunlun Taxue Palace disciples the Mei Hanxue brothers, here to see Manor Head Ma."

"Ah!"

The eyes of the disciple guarding the back door brimmed with unshed tears of excitement.

"Sect Leader Xue! Mei-xianzhang! You're all finally here!"

Xue Meng said, "Where's your Manor Head Ma? There's so much noise outside, he should at least go outside to try and appease the crowd. How can he shut himself inside now?"

The disciple had been alright up to now, but once this issue was brought up, the the guard disciple immediately began to cry and snivel, and started to rub himself against Xue Meng: "Ma-, Manor Head he, he....."

Xue Meng always looked down on Jieke Ma's mentality, and believed that Manor Head Ma was a man who loved returning to nature, so he once again said nervously: "He didn't jump into West Lake, did he?"

The guard disciple sobbed: "No, no! It was last night, last night....Manor Head Ma became a flutterfly and flew away!"

Xue Meng jumped to alertness: "This flutterfly...what exactly is it?"

"A flutterfly! You know, the thing that flies, and everyone likes!" The guard disciple anxiously gesticulated with his hands: "Fat flutterflies!"

Xue Meng still didn't understand. Mei Hanxue suddenly asked, "Are you Fujianese?"[248]

"En en en!!" The gatekeeper nodded repeatedly.

Mei Hanxue turned his head indifferently to translate to Xue Meng: "He's talking about butterflies."

Xue Meng: "..."

However, when they went into Taobao Manor's reception pavilion and saw the pitiful and inspiring Manor Head Ma, Xue Meng asked a question that originated from deep within his soul: "Fuck, you call this a butterfly?"

A little bee was buzzing and flying left and right, up and down.

It flew so fast that Xue Meng couldn't help but want to lift his hand and smash it flat. An elder of Taobao Manor immediately stopped him: "You mustn’t! If you hit him, our Manor Head will die! "

Jieke Ma, who had been turned into a diligent little bee, looped around once and then rested in the middle of a red sandalwood table. A pair of bee eyes stared at Xue Meng, seeming to be silently crying to Sect Leader Xue about his plight.

"....." Xue Meng thought this was entirely ridiculous. He pointed to the bee: "No. This thing is really Jieke Ma? Are you sure he didn't make up a story to fool you in order to avoid the people outside yelling at him?"

"It's absolutely true, we guarantee a replacement if it's not authentic." The elder said miserably: "Last night I saw the Manor Head become a flutterfly with my own eyes!"

Xue Meng: "Are you from Fujian, too? "

"I'm from Funan!"[249]

"....." Xue Meng had a headache. "Fine, go on."

"After our Manor Head became a flutterfly, he circled Taobao Manor, pollinating flowers, doing what his strength allowed him to do."

Xue Meng clenched his teeth: "This is a bee. "

"No need for suspicions, Sect Leader Xue. Have you ever seen such a careful, cheerful and exceedingly canny and clever flutterfly?

Xue Meng choked: "I'll say it one more time! This is a fucking bee!"

"The Manor Head has turned into a flutterfly and is starting his flutter dance, so today I am afraid he cannot personally receive our guests. Therefore, it must fall to me. This insignificant one, Chen Xuyuan, Elder Chen, will serve as the temporary Manor representative." Saying this, Elder Chen rose halfway out of his chair. "Please, this way."

Xue Meng: "..."

From what he can see, this Elder Chen might not understand human speech.

The disciples of Taobao Manor quickly brought them tea and cakes. The three of them and Elder Chen ate as they talked, and the little bee that was formerly Manor Head Ma squatted cutely on the teapot lid.

It turned out that the relief scroll had absorbed the emotions of the cultivation world's foolish men and desperate women, and had begun to develop within itself a thirst, a desire to find the partner of its dreams. So after it gained human form, it began to plot.

Originally, this wouldn't have been a big deal; if you could find some other small spirit that also desired companionship, the two of them could match up and the problem would have been solved. But problems emerged due to how its activities came from imitating Xue Meng and Mei Hanxue. Because of this, the scroll spirit became exceedingly picky. Whether it was a well-bred young lady from a major family or the jade of a minor family, whether it was the top flower of a pleasure house or a tofu Xi Shi, none were worthy of itself.[250]

It called the most beautiful bride in Lin'an "too fat."

It said the most charming maiden was "too bawdy."

It said the top flower of the pleasure houses "had hairy legs."

It said that the tofu Xi Shi "had big stinky feet."

Normally, such a poisonous mouth should have long ago caused ladies to trample it into the ground and hammer it into a meat patty. Most unfortunately, it had refined Mei Hanxue's charm into a spiritual power, so that no matter how cruelly it mocked a girl, she would inevitably become lovesick for it. And if it teased a girl who already had a lover, it could take on that person's appearance, and profit from the girl's pearly tears.

When Xue Meng heard this, he was filled with righteous indignation and said: "This is too outrageous!"

As he spoke, he turned towards Mei Hanxue: "Look at yourself, look what a disaster you've caused!"

"....." Mei Hanxue was speechless.

Xue Meng asked "But Elder Chen, why did Manor Head Ma become a bee?"

Chen Xuyuan sighed: "It's like this. The scroll spirit had provoked too many of the common people of Lin'an. From the streets to the brothel, and even to Guan-xiaojie's house; it's provoked them all. It seems to have a special impact on women; all the girls who have been provoked by it have experienced complete personality changes. For example, the top flower at Chuncha Lou was originally a clever social maven who could coax happiness out of any guest. But ever since she encountered the scroll spirit, it's like her character has completely collapsed, and she's become a well-behaved, honest, and blunt-spoken elmwood knot.[251]

"What do you mean?"

"In the past, when she greeted guests, she would say things like, 'Guanye, how lovely your complexion is, I see the redness must be a sign of coming good fortune and wealth," or "Guanye, how hale and hearty you are at your age, I bet you could manage a household of eighteen, no eighty concubines!"[252]

Mei Hanxue: "I feel some of this praise may be overly excessive."

"Well, the guests like to hear this kind of thing," Chen Xuyuan said. "But now it's different. For the same guest, she'll say things like, "You dog, your yintang is black, there's a leak coming from your face.[253] You shouldn't come out too often, I'm afraid I'll be contaminated by your bad luck." Or, "Old man, other people can do it seven times a night, you on the other hand can come seven drops at a time. Look how your wrinkles flap around like a turtle; aren't you ashamed to still be coming to pleasure houses at your age?"

Xue Meng: "..."

Mei HanXue：“……”

Only Mei Hanxue laughed as he heard this, and grinning, he asked: "Did that pleasure house continue to stay open?"

"It was destroyed. Why do you think they've come to complain at Taobao Manor?"

Chen Xuyuan sighed and said: "Our Manor Head went to investigate and found that all the girls were the same, all of them experienced total personality changes. Those who were too shy to even leave the house are now out running wild in the streets. Those who were pampered and charming and loved beauty now like to take a writing brush and look in the mirror to draw chest hair on themselves. Those who would say 'rabbits are so cute, why would we ever eat rabbits?' now can eat five rabbit heads, five duck heads, and five chicken heads in one bite."[254]

The more Chen Xuyuan said, the more he crumbled. He covered his face and said, "We couldn't go on like this, so our Manor Head Ma took charge, and he—"

"He went to take down the spirit?"

"No, this scroll spirit can't be subdued violently. One, it's not really a bad spirit, it's just wrong in the head. At the end of the day, it hasn't physically hurt anyone. Two, our Manor Head found that should the scroll spirit be defeated through violence, it would explode, and spread all the information that anyone has ever mentioned to the relief scroll across the cultivation world. This would be a leak of private client information, and our Taobao Manor is a serious business. If something like this were to happen, the manor's glorious name would be destroyed."

Mei Hanxue shook his head: "Not only that, I'm afraid it could cause a toxic atmosphere among the populace. What if any married men or women revealed shameful things behind their spouse's back?"

Xue Meng had a headache: "So then what did Jieke Ma do?"

"The Manor Head personally arranged to meet the scroll spirit, and then disguised himself as a woman. He said he would seduce it, make it feel an emotional connection, and then persuade it to return home with no hard feelings."

"...Jieke Ma wanted to use himself as a honey trap?" The corner of Xue Meng's mouth twitched. "Does Taobao Manor lack a mirror? Sisheng Peak can lend you one, no worries."

When the little bee heard this, it flew up in fury, and began to circle Xue Meng's head back and forth, buzzing his condemnations.

Chen Xuyuan glanced at the bee and said awkwardly: "This...ahem, even though our Manor Head Ma is a magnificent and heroic specimen, he knew that the scroll spirit had very demanding, precise requirements. So obviously, he did more than just dress up in women's clothes. He also bought some bewitching incense from Jiang Yechen. This incense is very strange; as long as the other party voluntarily stays in the same room for the length of time it takes to drink a cup of tea, you can dazzle them, and make them think that a sow looks like a fairy."

When he got to the last part, he quickly added: "Of course, I'm not saying that you, Manor Head, are a sow!"

The little bee: "BZZZZZZ!!!"

Xue Meng asked: "And then what happened? Did the bewitching incense fail? Did that bastard Jiang Xi sell fake goods again?"

"No.Chen Xuyuan became even more embarrassed, and kowtowed: "It...when the scroll spirit caught sight of Manor Head Ma dressed as a woman, it let out a gagging noise, and then rushed away...so, so it didn't stay in the room long enough for tea..."

What a miserable story.

Xue Meng wanted to laugh, and was making a great effort to hold himself back, when he heart Mei Hanxue let out a chuckle. Xue Meng looked back at him and said: "Don't laugh, this is serious!"

"Women who have been rejected by the scroll spirit will have their temperaments changed, but men who have been rejected by the scroll spirit will directly turn into animals." Chen Xuyuan looked devastatedly at the bee Manor Head Ma. "The elders of the sect have spent an entire night, trying all sorts of techniques, but they can't release the spell. We have no choice, so we've already sent someone to ask for help."

"Ask for help?" Xue Meng was stunned for a moment, and he had a bad premonition, "from who?"

As soon as he finished speaking, he heard a loud announcement from a disciple outside the reception hall: "The head of Gu Yue Ye Medicine Sect—Sect Leader Jiang has arrived!"

Ch. 337 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Go Balls to the Wall, Jiang Xi!

Jiang Xi, leading a retinue consisting of two rows of disciples all dressed in pale green, entered the chamber.

Today, as usual, he carried himself with an arrogance that seemed to say, "the entire world is made of sick people, and I alone am sane." He wore a silver-trimmed robe, colored pale green towards the bottom, that was long enough to trail on the ground. The silver pattern was made of silver silk thread; the green fabric was made from an extract obtained from the feathers of jade-spirit birds. As his outer layer, he was draped in a light golden cloud muslin cloak; it glowed like the dawn, and was resplendent to behold.

His attire would forever make people feel like he was saying: "I'm filthy rich, you're welcome to rob me," yet no one had ever been able to rob him.

His striking face seemed to have written on it: "Don't you want to sleep with me? I know you do," but no one has ever been able to get him into bed.

The only thing anyone could do towards him was to face him, bow, and make their obedient, respectful obeisances: "Our greetings to Sect Leader Jiang!"

The Mei Hanxue brothers also spoke: "Greetings to Sect Leader Jiang."

Xue Meng was the only exception. He crossed his arms, turned his head, and snorted, completely ignoring Jiang Xi.

Everyone blanched with fright — it was obvious to all how terrible Jiang Xi's temper was; had Xue Meng eaten the heart of a bear and the gall of a leopard?[255] As a junior, how dare he arrogantly repudiate his senior!

For a time, everyone sweated stressfully for Sect Leader Xue. No one knew whether Sect Leader Jiang would bestow him with "ten feet of red," or simply with “crane-head red".[256]

But who would have thought that Jiang Xi's eyes would only glance over Xue Meng for a moment, and without saying anything, silently move away.

"???"

Others were shocked, but Xue Meng didn't notice anything at all. He'd long gotten used to arguing with Jiang Xi, and it had become instinctual for him to provoke him. This time he'd been disregarded; he couldn't stop himself from glaring, repeatedly clearing his throat, readjusting his stance, and letting out a snort once he'd achieved a more belligerent pose.

Jiang Xi paid no attention, and had no words for him. His eyes wandered around the hall, and finally fell on Elder Chen. He asked: "Where is Ma Fangzhi?"

Before Elder Chen answered, Xue Meng snorted angrily again.

Elder Chen: "..."

This time, Jiang Xi finally turned his eyes and looked at him coldly: "do you have a sinus infection?"

Xue Meng choked and said: "I, I....."

"If you do have a sinus infection, let me hear you snort again. I have medicine."

Xue Meng: "Y-you, you..."

Jiang Xi calmly said: "I also have treatments for stuttering. We will medicate until your illness is cured; our house offers fair treatment to all."

The disciples of Taobao Manor were shocked!

How could someone who'd snorted thrice towards Jiang Xi not only not get beaten to death with a cane, but even receive Sect Leader Jiang's meticulous attention? Receive the blessing of having the sect leader ask about his health? His genuine and sincere care??

Even Mei Hanxue looked back and forth thoughtfully between Xue Meng and Jiang Xi. His pale golden eyebrows were at first lightly knit, but grew more and more furrowed.

Outside the reception hall, a group of female Shou Hou disciples who were there to peek in on the commotion were madly whispering among themselves. They couldn't help twittering excitedly; Shou Hou A: "Aahhhhh! Look at Sect Leader Jiang spoiling him! That story 'The Tyrannical Immortal's Pampered Bride' is true!"

Shou Hou B: "Nonsense! This is clearly from "The Years I Spent Sleeping with My Elder Immortal"!

Shou Hou C: "You're all blind! Don't you see Mei-xianzhang's expression! Look how unhappy he is! With all sincerity, I recommend you all read Dongshi Tea and Mushroom Book Shop's "Dual Meis Trick the Pig"!

Shou Hou A and B raged simultaneously: "How dare you call Sect Leader Xue a pig!"

The individuals in question heard nothing of this chatter. Xue Meng, enraged by Jiang Xi, was on the brink of attacking, but was blocked by Mei Hanxue.

Xue Meng stared bug-eyed in shock: "What are you doing? How can you be helping him?"

Mei Hanxue held Xue Meng's face in his hands and smiled: "Your face has turned green. Why don't you sit down and have some tea, calm down a bit..."

"Let go of me!"

Jiang Xi looked over at the two of them indifferently.

In the eyes of outsiders, Jiang Yechen was the top-ranked elder of the cultivation world, powerful and authoritative. And Xue Meng, no matter how brilliant a rising star, could be defeated by a single finger from Gu Yue Ye. Everyone could see that the discerning mediator in this fight, surname Mei, was there helping Xue Ziming, stopping him from pointlessly gaining the enmity of Gu Yue Ye.

However, Xue Meng was blind to this fact, and was unable to see Mei Hanxue's earnest efforts. Jiang Xi mentally shook his head, and turned his eyes away these two noisy members of the younger generation.

With a calm face, he asked Chen Xuyuan, displeased: "I've been here for quite a while now. Why hasn't Ma Fangzhi come out to greet his guests?"

Elder Chen was stunned under Jiang Xi's eyes, and suddenly he felt a pressure like he was about to be crushed by five hundred billion gold pieces. He explained hurriedly, "No, no, no, it's not like that! Our Manor Head isn't deliberately snubbing you! He is really very ill... "

Jiang Xi was still displeased, and shook out his sleeves: "Oh? How grave is this illness. Is he unable to come out?"

"N-no, that's not it....our sect leader has been bewitched, he....he turned into a flutterfly and flew away!"

"....."

Jiang Xi and the disciples from Gu Yue Ye all fell silent.

After some time, Jiang Xi's anger almost gained physical form. He narrowed his eyes, his thin lips holding back his fury. Sneering, he said: "Elder Chen. Have you perhaps read 'The Legend of the Fragrant Concubine' too many times?[257]

Chen Xuyuan became so frightened by Jiang Xi's attention that his head almost shrank into his neck. He felt that Sect Leader Jiang might, in his fury, throw him into an alchemical cauldron and grind him into medicinal powder. Thus, his brain spun rapidly in search of something to say to close the distance between them, and possibly cause Sect Leader Jiang to grant him enough mercy to spare his life.

Thus he cried out in nervous dread, surrounded with a ring of divine light: "Don't kill me, Sect Leader Jiang! For the sake of us both being fans of 'The Legend of the Fragrant Concubine', spare my life, please!"

"....." The whole hall fell into silence. Since the law couldn't be enforced when everyone was an offender,[258] those cultivators who didn't find the blind spot in Jiang Xi's words before also showed their sudden realization without fear of death.

That's right. If Jiang Xi hadn't read this book, how could he know that the plot featured someone turning into a butterfly and flying away?

At this point some of the onlookers came to visualize Sect Leader Jiang, in his leisure time, earnestly perusing a book with the giant words "Legend of the Fragrant Concubine" written on the cover.

....no one could bear to look straight at him.

Some people even started whispering: "So it turns out that Sect Leader Jiang's literary tastes run this way..."

"I would never have thought, I guess it's true you can't judge a book by its cover..."

Jiang Xi's complexion had turned quite ugly. He held Chen Xuyuan's collar and briefly stared intently at the man. Suddenly, he unexpectedly pushed Elder Chen away, and a few chilling words came out of his thin lips: "Pull out his tongue. Immediately."

Gu Yue Ye lackey: "Yes my lord!"

"AAHHHH!" Chen Xuyuan screamed, "Manor Head! Help! Help! Save me! "

Just in the nick of time, the little bee that had been resting on a teapot heroically flew out, buzzing around Jiang Yechen, spiraling around him in circles, trying to thwart this merciless act.

Jiang Xi frowned impatiently: "Kill this fly for me, too."

Gu Yue Ye lackey: "Yes, my lord!"

Xue Meng couldn't stand the brazen actions of his supposed father any longer. Pushing aside Mei Hanxue, who had been blocking him, he shouted at Jiang Xi: "Jiang Yechen! Stop screaming about maiming and killing people!"

Pointing to the little bee, he said: "This is the Jieke Ma you've been looking for!! If you don't believe it, ask him to dance for you!"

Jiang Xi brushed his sleeves, the silver and green fabric billowing in glimmering waves. Suppressing his anger, he said to Xue Meng: "What nonsense is this?"

"Who's talking nonsense?" Xue Meng turned to Jieke Ma, "hurry up, start dancing. If you don't dance, you're dead. "

"bzzz...." In order to survive, the little bee miserably landed on the table, and began to flap its wings to the left, flap its wings to the right, then flying up in a spiral.

Jiang Xi ： “……”

"Now do you believe me?" Xue Meng said irritably. "You were invited here to help, but here you are ordering people killed. Why don't you think of an actual plan!"

Jiang Xi stared at the bee for a moment and then turned to look at Chen Xuyuan: "You said that this is a butterfly?"

Chen Xuyuan covers his newly-released throat, coughed, and trembled: "Y-yes."

"...Come. We need to treat your eyes."

Chen Xuyuan: "Ah?"

Jiang Xi threw back his sleeves with a whoosh and said to his retinue, black-faced: "Then, we'll examine Manor Head Ma."

Gu Yue Ye lackey: "Yes, my lord!"

After some commotion, Gu Yue Ye's disciples diagnosed Manor Head Ma: He truly was under the influence of the scroll demon's peculiar abilities, and was thus turned into a diligent and daring little bee. However, the spell wouldn't last for long. After five days, he would recover his own human form, and be able to play with his favorite abacus again.

"Ah..." After hearing this, Elder Chen Xuyuan clasped his own eye medicine and asked nervously: "Do we have to wait five days? Can't we directly give medication to the Manor Head now? "

"I could prescribe medicine. But it would be pointless."

"Why?"

Jiang Xi: "It would take six days to refine the medicine."

“……”

With no way out, Manor Head Ma could only begrudgingly spend five days as a bee. After providing medical treatment, Jiang Xi's business was done, yet he had no intention of leaving just yet.

He said to Xue Meng: "I already told you not to get involved with Ma Fangzhi's spiritual instrument, but you wouldn't listen. Now look at this disaster."

Xue Meng crossed his arms and glared: "Why don't you mind your own business?"

Jiang Xi said coldly: "This already is my business."

"You!" Xue Meng said angrily: "Jiang Yechen! Are you looking for a fight?! I said I didn't need you to worry about my business, and that's final! Hurry up, shoo shoo shoo, don't disturb this Sect Leader's plans! "

Jiang Xi lowered his eyelashes sneeringly and glanced at him: "Who wants to care about your business? I need to be involved, because the scroll spirit is chasing after beauties all across Lin'an. Yesterday, it broke through the barrier to my Gu Yue Ye. It was disturbing my peace. Did you think I would come here otherwise?"

The lackeys beside Jiang Xi added in support of their sect leader: "Yes, exactly! This matter requires Sect Leader Jiang's help. You don't even know...last night, it impersonated Sect Leader Jiang's appearance. It blew through Yangzhou City's pleasure district and slept with seven, eight famed courtesans in a row, and promised to make them Gu Yue Ye Sect Leader's first wife, second wife, third wife...all the way down to the eighth wife!"

Xue Meng: "..."

Lackey: "When our sect leader went out this morning, he unexpectedly met this group of women face to face. They surrounded him, whining at him, calling him husband in front of all the people of Yangzhou. Oof, Sect Leader Xue, you couldn't imagine it, Sect Leader Jiang got so mad, his face even—"

"Are you quite done yet?" Jiang Xi loomed, cutting him off.

With this scolding, the lackey was scared into shrinking his head into his neck.

Mei Hanxue couldn't help but lower his eyelashes and giggle. Jiang Xi noticed, and his gaze sharpened like two knives, yet he only turned his eerie gaze back towards Xue Meng: "In any case. This matter is for me to settle. You don't need to concern yourself with it anymore."

Chen Xuyuan listened to Jiang Xi's plan to eliminate the spirit all by himself. He couldn't help blanching from fright: "Se-sect Leader Jiang! You absolutely can't subdue it by force! If you do, it'll leak out the intimate secrets of everyone in the cultivation world!"

According to Jiang Xi's original plan, he really was going to send out an invitation to the scroll spirit tonight, and then when it came, finish the matter by weakening it with medicinal powder then smashing it into pieces.

But when he heard Elder Chen, Jiang Xi couldn't help furrowing his brows: "What intimate secrets? Aren't they only some conversation records?"

"How could that be it?" Chen Xuyuan said: "The first time every cultivator used the scroll, they had to answer a series of questions. Once the scroll breaks, all these answers will be made known to the entire world." After a pause, he carefully reminded Jiang Xi: "Sect Leader Jiang, if you've ever used the relief scroll, then you should have also answered these questions."

Noble people often forget things. Jiang Xi lightly tilted his head and tried to think for a while, until he finally remembered the incident in question.

At that time, the scroll did ask him many very personal and perverted questions—

"Is there anyone you like?"

"If no, then why not?"

"Do you have children?"

"Why do you have a child?"

"May I ask if it was an accidental pregnancy?"

"Why did you insist on reproducing when you don't like children?"

"Did your spouse abandon you?"

Xianjun, Xianjun, please don't scold me here. This scroll is only concerned about how you express love. Additionally, in light of your situation, we recommend that you purchase Taobao Manor's sunset-red spiritual instrument. Every week, we will introduce to your single-parent self three to five outstanding lonely xianjun. We wish that you may achieve a happy second marriage as soon as possible.

——

How wonderful. He remembered that unpleasant experience in its entirety now.

Jiang Xi kept a steady face. He thought: even unto death, he would never allow his answers to those answers to be made known to the public.

While he was gloomily resting his hand on his chin, silently considering other potential methods of subduing the scroll spirit, he heard Mei Hanxue's voice: "Sect Leader Jiang, if nothing else, your position is lofty, and you are our elder. This matter is the fault of myself and Sect Leader Xue. Let us gently resolve it; it doesn't appear to be something suitable for your abilities."

Jiang Xi didn't quite understand what he meant by "gently resolve", but he couldn't help but raise his apricot eyes towards Mei Hanxue: "What are your plans?"

Mei Hanxue smiled: "Just like Manor Head Ma, my plan involves crossdressing in order to tempt it."

"....."

Although he didn't quite understand why this young generation was so coquettish, it had nothing to do with him, so he let it slide. Jiang Yechen's eyes swept up and down Mei Hanxue, and he was just about ready to say "Alright, please do your best," and leave the scene; then Mei Hanxue added with a smile, "And it won't be too difficult to get Sect Leader Xue dolled up either."

Jiang Xi stared.

Xue Meng also stared; his expression was exactly the same as Jiang Xi's. "What?! You want me to pretend to be a woman and and flirt with that scroll spirit?"

"Exactly," Mei Hanxue confessed with a grin.

"Why not do it yourself!" Xue Meng yelled.

"The three of us will do it together, then one of us should definitely be suitable, and also—"

Before he finished, Jiang Xi interrupted with a dark face: "Be quiet. Listening to you gives me a headache."

The Mei brothers and Xue Meng simultaneously looked at him.

Jiang Xi's mood seemed cold enough to send people into shock. His face seemed carved out of ice; he glanced at Xue Meng. He then turned his head, and said frostily to Mei Hanxue: "…He's not suitable. I'll do it."

Ch. 338 Xue Meng's Blind Date: Jiang Xi Gets Hoisted By His Own Petard[259]

Although Jiang Xi volunteered to stop the job, in fact, no one believed that Jiang Xi would have any skill in dressing up as a woman.

Everyone suspected that Jiang Xi only had a perfunctory idea of what "women" were. But when Elder Chen ran up to him and cautiously asked: "Sect Leader Jiang, you...you do know the ways that girls differ from yourself, correct?" Jiang Xi only replied indifferently: "I know."

"Ah..." Elder Chen was very surprised. "I thought you'd never had contact with any woman..."

"Who said that?" Jiang Xi said, indifferently again.

Xue Meng was surprised to hear this. Frightened, he thought Jiang Xi would want to use Madame Wang as an example. Hurriedly, he wanted to stand up and stop him, but then he heard Jiang Xi's next sentence:

"A being measuring less than eight che , comprised of skin and flesh. Its outside dimensions are obtained through measurements; once deceased it can be dissected for analysis."[260]

Elder Chen's face showed befuddlement: "...what does that mean?"

"Aiyah, our sect leader is saying," a Gu Yue Ye lackey replied, "that he has dissected female corpses."

"....."

Apologies, this medical sect is truly too terrifying.

Elder Chen sputtered for a while, before he managed to stutter out: "Th-then, Sect Leader Jiang sh-should be very familiar with the particularities of young ladies?"

Jiang Xi glanced at him with indifference, and displayed his thorough understanding of the subject with an expressionless face: "The bones are fine, the voice is pitched high and smooth, there is a high percentage of fatty tissue, the body shape is curved, and contained within are parts such as the vulva, ovaries, and so on."

Dead silence.

Jiang Xi coldly and confidently looked down at him, paused, and said: "I wrote the volume 'Gu Yue Ye's Gynecological Prescriptions Worth A Thousand Gold'. The book contains anatomical diagrams. If you are curious, you can take a look."

Mei Hanxue: "Pfft!"

Xue Meng: "..."

Mei HanXue：“……”

After quite some time, Elder Chen facepalmed. He thought of the ways this cold-blooded hothouse flower might think up to disguise himself as an amorous beauty to deceive the scroll spirit, and couldn't help but softly wail: "It's over, it's all fucking over..."

Excuse me, with Jiang Yechen's level of understanding, how the hell is he expected to convincingly play a woman?

Is he planning on dissecting himself?!

Night time.

Taobao Manor's lanterns were brightly lit, its windchimes gently chiming.

Jiang Yechen had early on finished his preparations, and was waiting alone in a side room. In accordance with Ma Yun's theory on how to catch this spirit, Sect Leader Jiang also lit some bewitching incense in the room. Dressed as a woman, he waited for the scroll spirit to come in. As long as the spirit voluntarily stayed in the room for a cup of tea, their plan would succeed. The scroll spirit would inevitably lose its will, and express its adoration to anyone, even a sow. They could then take the opportunity to subdue it gently.

Of course, the letter inviting it in was written by someone else, because Sect Leader Jiang had no idea how to write it himself. After a long time of deliberation, he had written one vigorous and ferocious character, "COME", which inspired awe in onlookers. Fortunately, Taobao Manor's Shou Hou disciples were experts at soft persuasion. Soon, they wrote a new letter for Sect Leader Jiang, filled with unceasing affection and longing that flowed like the tides. So that emergency was solved.

At this moment, all the manor's disciples were hiding in the dark. Xue Meng also watched from the grass. He whispered to Mei HanXue with some uncertainty: "Will it be okay? Could Jiang Xi really distinguish between all those different makeup powders? Does he really know how to dress up as a woman? "

Mei HanXue replied with no attempt at consolation: "We'll see."

"....."

Feeling even more uneasy, Xue Meng swallowed his saliva, and said with difficulty: "Maybe I should check up on him, I—"

Just as he was about to emerge from the grass, Mei Hanxue grabbed him and pressed him down: "Hush."

Then he motioned at Xue Meng to look at the walkway leading to the side room and whispered: "Here it comes."

In the moonlight, the scroll spirit wore a cloak, probably a deliberate imitation of the style of Taxue Palace. Surrounded by an unceasing ring of floating petals and fluttering butterflies, the spirit wandered aimlessly into the courtyard. Although its face was hidden by a hood, looking at its gait you could tell it wasn't too clever.

From Jiang Xi's chamber came the faint sound of a bamboo flute. After listening to this music for some time, the scroll spirit thought this flute player wasn't too bad, but might be better playing the xiao.[261] It then happily walked to the door, and softly knocked twice: "M'lady, this humble one has received your invitation, and has come to call on you. May I disturb you?"

After its two knocks, Jiang Xi ignored it. Seeing that the door was open, it stopped being polite and said: "If m'lady doesn't mind, this one will enter."

Jiang Xi still didn't answer, but Xue Meng suddenly gasped: "Why does this voice sound so familiar?"

In that side chamber, the scroll spirit has opened the door and entered the room, and the flute finally stopped. Although Xue Meng felt uneasy, he still thought, ah, as long as Jiang Yechen could delay it for a cup of tea, it would then become entranced by the incense in the room, and develop affections for anyone in the room. And then, they could bring it down in one fell swoop—

Before he could finish his thoughts, he heard a loud boom!

Xue Meng said, alarmed: "What happened? It's only been a blink of an eye! Surely Jiang Yechen's disguise as a woman couldn't have been so bad that it made it vomit!!"

In front of the dumbstruck eyes of all onlookers, the scroll spirit flew into the air, along with a wooden door and an overturned table, all of it lit by the light of an unsealed spiritual weapon. Contrary to Xue Meng's expectations, it wasn't making a "bluurgh!" retching sound, but rather an "aaaahhh!" screaming noise. Under everyone's attentive gaze, it smashed into the ground with a "thump".

Everyone: "....."

"Uaaoowwww....." The scroll spirit cried out miserably: "Ow, owowow...it hurts ow...."

Meanwhile, Jiang Yechen came out brimming with murderous intent, brandishing his sword. Mei Hanxue stared, blinked twice, turned his head and asked Mei HanXue: "Am I blind? In what way is he dressed as a woman?"

"You're not blind." Mei HanXue looked at Jiang Yechen expressionlessly from a distance. "He didn't dress up."

But then Xue Meng said: "He did dress up!"

Mei HanXue：“……”

Mei Hanxue: "???"

"...In what way is he dressed up?"

Xue Meng pointed to Jiang Xi's wrist: "Look, he's wearing a slender white jade bracelet. Only women wear that."

The Mei brothers simultaneously fell silent. After a while, Mei HanXue said indifferently: "The way I see it, you and Jiang Yechen really aren't that different. You probably think the difference between whether someone is dressed up or not depends on whether they've put on lipstick."

Xue Meng stared blankly, and said, at a loss: "...well, isn't that the case?"

Mei HanXue：“……”

"While they were talking in their corner, over in the yard:

No one knew exactly what had happened between Jiang Xi and the scroll spirit, but he was so furious that his handsome eyebrows were knit into a vertical line. His spiritual weapon Xuehuang flowed with silvery light in his hands, making a buzzing sound. With one hand, he hauled up the paralyzed scroll spirit that had been lying on the ground. The monster cried out: "Aah! Great beauty! Great beauty! How can you be so tyrannical? How can you bear to raise your hand to my handsome face!"

Jiang Xi snarled: "You're dead!"

"Waaahhhhh this is murder!"

In the fight between the man and the spirit, the scroll spirit's hood slipped down, revealing the face hidden inside—

The onlookers were speechless.

This scroll spirit truly deserved to be beaten to death. It...it it had the audacity to wear Jiang Xi's face!

If they thought about it, this was something they already suspected. Around last night, it had taken on Jiang Xi's appearance to visit courtesans in Yangzhou, and had received quite a warm welcome. This spirit probably got a bit arrogant, so tonight it once again copied Sect Leader Jiang's facial features to show off and swindle the innocent.

It just so happened to bump into Jiang Xi himself.

But because it wasn't very clever, it didn't realize that it was indeed Jiang Yechen himself who it was flirting with. So just now in the room, everyone could think of what kind of things Jiang Xi had experienced—

Unfortunately he probably saw "himself" grinning as he entered the room, flirting and saying all sorts of things as he played with his hair, sweetly and intimately calling out "M'lady~". Maybe he'd even received some arrogantly flirtatious once-overs from "himself."

...no wonder Jiang Xi was so furious. Who wouldn't be furious in his place?

Seeing that Jiang Xi was genuinely seething in rage and wanted to execute the scroll spirit on the spot, the disciples of Taobao Manor who were lying in ambush rushed out one after another, and in an uproar hurried to soothe him.

"Sect Leader Jiang! Don't act impulsively!"

"As soon as you strike it, it'll release all its secrets!"

"Please calm down Sect Leader Jiang!!!"

The scroll spirit looked stupid, but it made a nimble, speedy escape. When it saw that the situation wasn't good, it immediately scrambled away in the chaos, seeming to fly as it scuttled away to escape into the night's darkness.

While running away, it bellowed in a profound theatrical voice: "I, Gu Yue Ye's Jiang Yechen, will return! Wahahaha!!"

"...." Jiang Xi's straight, finely-shaped nose looked like it would grow crooked in his fury.

"You vile little beast!" he screamed, livid.

In this life, he had never before seen "himself" flee like a rat. Who would dare to even think of such a thing!

The scroll spirit probably thought that just yelling wasn't quite irritating enough, so he went ahead and imitated an echo, calling from far away: "I, Gu Yue Ye's Jiang Yechen, will return—will return—return—turn—"

"You're dead!"

All the disciples coaxed: "Sect Leader Jiang, Sect Leader Jiang please—"

Jiang Xi: "I'll show you what happens if you dare use my face again!"

All the disciples begged: "Sect Leader Jiang, Sect Leader Jiang please—"

Jiang Xi roared: "I'll make you suffer from epilepsy, gonorrhea, hysteria, nasal hemorrhage, craniotomy, scrotal gangrene, every single illness in the Feng Lao Gu Ge—"[262] he continued roaring, but everyone had already ceased to have any comprehension of the medical terminology he used.

Everyone tried to coax him down, but only Xue Meng asked a question in all earnesty: "....What does Feng Lao Gu Ge mean?"

Mei Hanxue, standing to the side, said: "I believe it is the four incurable illnesses as described in medical books."

Seeing that Xue Meng seemed to understand (but really didn't), Mei HanXue on his other side explained expressionlessly: "Simply put, he wants it to suffer and be tormented by every single illness until it dies."

Xue Meng's face twitched ever so slightly, and he turned his head to continue watching the fight.

The furious Jiang Xi was surrounded by a group of Taobao Manor's Shou Hou disciples, who ceaselessly begged him: "No, no, let it go, please, let it go!"

"Sect Leader, please calm down, please relax, please!"

Jiang Xi's rage was obviously not easy to quell. Sect Leader Jiang was not a broad-minded man, and having been recently bedridden for several months only made his temper more vile. Adding to that the fact that this spirit took on his appearance to do disgraceful things only made him boil with fury. He momentarily lost all sense of decorum, and ferociously yanked his sleeves away from the grasp of whichever little disciple was supporting him: "Release me!"

"Okay okay okay, i'm releasing you, whatever the Sect Leader says, goes—"

"I will kill that—"

The disciples who had just breathed a sigh of relief hurriedly blocked him again: "You mustn't! You absolutely can't!"

"Hurry, bring the sect leader a seat, pour some tea, let's cool him down."

In the chaos, suddenly there was a flash of green light. The disciples screamed in utter shock, and one after another scattered. At the same time, Jiang Xi's gait suddenly became unsteady; he stumbled a few steps, then suddenly fell into a kneeling position on the ground.

Everyone instantly fell silent. They all blamed each other with their eyes—

Heavens, why didn't you hold on to Sect Leader Jiang!

You were the one close to him, and you're blaming me?!

But what was that green light...

At this time, the little bee that the Manor Head had turned buzzed its way over. Elder Chen Xuyuan froze for a moment, suddenly changed color, slapped his bald head, and shouted: "No no no not good! Sect Leader Jiang couldn’t contain the scroll spirit either! He's going to be cursed too! He's going to turn into an animal too!!"

When Xue Meng heard this, he jumped up from the grass with a crashing sound; alarmed, he said: "WHAT?!!"

Ch. 339 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Go Balls to the Wall Wanning!

Under the moonlight, the disciples of Taobao Manor lined up in a row and looked with utmost deference at the steps in front of them.

In addition to the tiny bee lying prone on the steps, there was also a fantastical bird with a shimmering white body and jade-toned tail feathers —it looks a bit like a crane, a bit like a phoenix, and a bit like a peacock. In short, it looked like an animal that definitely wasn't from the human world.

In truth, there was no such bird in the human world.

It was Sect Leader Jiang's transformed form.

The celestial bird that used to be Jiang Xi has a slender, elegant neck, eyes like colored glass, and pupils that shone like the reflection from a cold sword, like moonlight on a lake. His delicate, yielding plumage was suffused in silvery radiance, and overflowed with brilliant light as if it were Shuangjiang.[263] His entire body was of the lightest silver; only the very ends of his tail feathers were tinted in the palest green, like verdant jade condensed under ice.

"It looks like Sect Leader Jiang's clothes," someone in the crowd whispered.

One female cultivator said softly: "Such beautiful feathers...I want to pluck one out to keep."

Only Xue Meng, that honest and earnest child, solemnly studied Jiang Yechen. After a while, he released the question that had been burning in his soul: "What breed of chicken are you?"

"....."

In response, Jiang Yechen fixed him with a fierce yet icy gaze.

"Or are you a duck?"

If anyone else had dared to ask this type of question, they definitely would have already been killed. But this was Xue Meng. Jiang Xi couldn't do anything; he could only look at him with haughty indifference. He didn't want to deal with these foolish commoners anymore, so he spread his glimmering wings, flowing with light, and flew away from Taobao Manor without a sound.

It looked like he wasn't planning on coming back.

There was a possibility that he would never want to come back to Taobao Manor in this lifetime.

Everyone gazed reverently at Xue Ziming with hero worship in their eyes. Xue Meng didn't understand: "Does he plan on going back to Gu Yue Ye like this?"

The female cultivator who wanted to pluck Jiang Xi's feathers looked at his trail with starry eyes: "Aahhhh, Sect Leader Jiang is sooo beautiful, his flight is leaving behind a trail of silver and green lights!"

Her sisters reminded her: "It might be because of his clothes. You weren't here to see how long Sect Leader Jiang's robes trailed after him...oh hey, do you think when he's walking that he'll trip over himself?"

At these whispered comments, the two major lackeys from Gu Yue Ye, who were intimately familiar with their sect leader's temper, gave a fierce warning to all the people in the courtyard: "No one is permitted to speak of what happened tonight. Otherwise, should you be afflicted with a difficult-to-treat ailment, forget about coming to Gu Yue Ye, and accept your imminent death!"

After they were done, they led away the retinue from Gu Yue Ye, and with flapping noises, followed Jiang Yechen away from Taobao Manor to return to Gu Yue Ye.

Who would have thought that Sect Leader Jiang, head of the world's number one ranked sect, would be defeated by the scroll spirit? Although the scroll spirit couldn't really hurt Jiang Xi, how many people in the world could disgrace him so thoroughly?

Everyone couldn't help but worry. Of the leaders of the nine great sects, Ma Yun and Jiang Xi both had broken. They each had their their own strengths, and neither were weak leaders. So then...the ones who served as the younger generation, Xue Meng and the Mei brothers, could they really smoothly defeat this spirit?

This felt very worrying...

Taobao Manor was suddenly shrouded in a cloud of doubt and a fog of misery. Even the little bee that had been Manor Head Ma drooped his wings, and seemed so dispirited that he might never flutter again.

At this time, Mei Hanxue, who was examining the things that Jiang Xi had left behind in the room, suddenly let out a laugh.

Xue Meng turned to him: "How can you be in the mood for laughter? What's so funny?"

"Come and see."

Xue Meng was still a bit unwilling to deal with Mei Hanxue, but he couldn't help his curiosity, and sidled over.

Mei Hanxue smiled so widely his jade eyes sparkled. He raised a paper document and said to Xue Meng, "I've never seen this method of dressing up as a woman. Sect Leader Jiang is truly brilliant."

"What's this....he relied on a piece of paper to dress up as a woman?" Xue Meng, utterly baffled, took that sheet of paper from Mei Hanxue. Upon reading it, he was gobsmacked.

What the hell is this!

Jiang Xi actually took one of Gu Yue Ye's prescription slips, and wrote upon it, with calligraphy as bold as flying dragons and dancing phoenixes, two lines of script—

This is to certify that this person is a woman.

-Signed, Medicinal Sect Gu Yue Ye Sect Leader Jiang Xi.

He even stamped it in crimson red with his sect leader's official seal.

Xue Meng: "....."

Mei Hanxue looked at him while holding himself back from bursting into laughter. He was resisting so hard it looked like his ribs might crack from the effort.

"Well fuck." Xue Meng crumpled up that prescription. "Is Jiang Yechen a pig??!!"

Mei Hanxue smiled and raised one slender index finger. He brought it close to his lips, indicating that he should lower his voice and calm his temper.[264] He said with a smile, "He's a celestial bird! Not a chicken, not a duck, and definitely not a pig. You saw it yourself just now. Actually..."

He paused for a moment, his smile faded, and looked at Xue Meng thoughtfully: "Why do I suddenly feel like....you look a little like him?"

"!!"

Xue Meng jumped up like a cat that had its tail trampled, and shook his head like a bolang gu:[265] "That, that that's nonsense!!! The two of us are total strangers, we have absolutely no relationship to each other!!!"

"I see." The color of Mei Hanxue's jade-colored eyes deepened. After a moment's silence, he didn't say anything more. He just smiled mysteriously. "I wonder, if you were the one to be defeated by the scroll spirit, what kind of bird would you turn into?"

"....."

Under Mei Hanxue's relentless gaze, Xue Meng felt that he couldn't fail lest he risk death - maybe Mei Hanxue would pluck out all his feathers and gift them to some girl to coax her favor! Yeah! This was definitely the kind of thing Mei Hanxue would do!

He, Xue Ziming, definitely must not fail!

Aside from himself, those who thought Xue Ziming definitely must not fail, and also definitely must not turn into an animal, were the numerous elders and disciples of Taobao Manor.

After all, Xue Meng was the last card in their hand, and couldn't be played lightly.

Thus, Chen Xuyuan said: "I advise that you three gentlemen shouldn't act recklessly. This scroll spirit has been formed by the tastes of Sect Leader Xue and Mei-xianzhang. If you want to catch its eye, perhaps you two should think deeply about what kind of girl you think is the most suitable to your tastes, and could make the scroll spirit fall in love at first sight."

Mei Hanxue said: "I think all the girls in the world have their own beauty. If this spirit is so picky, it must not be because of me." He turned to Xue Meng: "We should consult Sect Leader Xue for his sage opinion."

Xue Meng thought for a moment, and said: "...The best woman in this world is my mother. "

Upon hearing this sentence, Mei Hanxue immediately stopped smiling. The pair of jade-lake eyes below his brows looked askance at Xue Meng's face, and in his heart he ever so softly sighed.

In truth, when he pretended to be Shou Hou to accompany him, it was precisely because he knew how poorly Xue Meng had been feeling for a long time now. Even if Xue Meng would occasionally raise a ruckus like he would do in the past, the part of his heart that had been shattered to pieces was extraordinarily difficult to return to its original form.

He wanted to make him happy, tease him to laughter, help heal him, as a sort of expression of their shared friendly affection.

But it seemed like Xue Meng's scars were still exceptionally difficult to heal.

Mei Hanxue shook his head internally, and raised his hand: "I agree with this statement."

Elder Chen Xuyuan said awkwardly: "But, Madame Wang, she...."

The more the old man said, the more pained he sounded. Mei Hanxue interrupted him and turned to Xue Meng and said: "Let's talk of someone else."

"....someone else? There isn't anyone else. No one else is worthy of me."

"Then think carefully for a bit. It's alright if it's someone that doesn't exist," Mei HanXue said. "Talk about your requirements, we can change our looks to match them."

Xue Meng had no choice but to start thinking seriously.

After thinking for a long time, he finally began to talk about his requirements: "Number one, white skin."

"Okay."

"Number two, big eyes."

"Good."

"Number three, she must be...ah, at least prettier than, you know." He was visibly uncomfortable. "She has to be prettier than...than Shi Mei."

The crowd listened to Xue Meng's spousal requirements. In the beginning, some elders kept notes, in preparation of finding a girl who would meet all the noted demands. But after listening to more than a dozen, the elders stopped this stupid endeavor.

It's because they began to realize that what Xue Meng wanted probably wasn't a woman.

What he wanted was probably a Buddha.

They were afraid that only Buddha had the openness to tolerate Xue Meng's youthful mind—were these really the kind of things that a young man in his twenties could say?

Does he just fundamentally not understand the concept of women???

And he's still yammering on???

"Number twenty, genuinely and sincerely admires me."

"Number twenty-one, is diligent and thrifty, and doesn't waste too much soap when doing the laundry."

"Number twenty-two, restraint is a virtue. I don't want her to eat too much, no more than two bowls of rice at each meal."

"Number twenty-three. I don't really like makeup on girls, so she shouldn't use any cosmetics."

"Number twenty-four, but she should still be beautiful. Her lips should be naturally rosy, her skin should be naturally fair, her cheeks should have a natural blush."

"Number twenty-five, she needs very long legs."

"Number twenty-six, but she shouldn't be taller than me."

Finally, one furious female disciple couldn't take it anymore. In a crowd that had resisted rolling their eyes and yawning this entire time, one person couldn't resist shouting out: "For fuck's sake, enough already!! Why don't you go home and marry a red-crowned crane?!!"

Xue Meng crossed his arms, and turned his head to stare at her: "...."

The present couldn't be compared with the past. Female cultivators from before could dare to challenge Xue Meng, but now he was a sect leader. For the sake of self-preservation, the female disciple nervously licked her lips, and shrunk down with an "eeep!": "I was wrong Sect Leader Xue I was only talking in my sleep eeeeep!"

"Twenty-seven, she can't sleep talk."

The female disciple: "....."

When Xue Meng reached his 370th requirement,[266] Mei HanXue finally interrupted him. Everyone let out a giant sigh of relief. They thought that if there was no one to stop him, Sect Leader Xue might stand there the entire night until dawn. Mei HanXue obviously also had developed a headache; Although his expression remained ice cold this entire time, a trace of aggravation could be seen in his face.

"Xue Ziming, why don't you stop."

"I haven't finished yet."

Not caring that he hadn't finished, Mei HanXue asked coldly: "Are you familiar with Nüwa?"

Xue Meng's expression was blank. "What do you mean?"

"Were you the one who forced her to die?"[267]

"....."

Seeing the two arguing again, Mei Hanxue helplessly smiled and raised his hand: "Alright, let's calm down. Let me ask a question: Xue Ziming, is there someone out there who you would never dismiss, never argue with, who you would never lightly ignore when you see them?"

He paused for a moment and explained to the crowd with a smile: "I think this person will be a little easier to find than Sect Leader's Xue's wife."

All the people who had been tormented by Xue Meng for the last two hours nodded their heads in succession, recognizing this to be true.

Xue Meng glared at him: "Well, it definitely won't be someone like you."

Mei Hanxue wasn't angry, and smiled: "I know."

After thinking for a while, Xue Meng suddenly stood up straight and opened his eyes wide—he actually did think of someone he would absolutely never look down on—

"Yes! I've got it! My Shizun, Chu Wanning!"

A drowsy female cultivator who had fallen into a fetal position listening to Xue Meng enumerate his requirements was suddenly startled awake, and furiously wiped away the drool that had fallen while she was asleep: "Ehh? What got it? Who's got it? Chu-zongshi got it???"

The whole crowd of disciples: "....."

She raised her head, and faced a Xue Meng who glowered at her with the ferocity he would use facing a ghost. The female cultivator let out an

"eeek!," silently shrunk herself into a ball, and sat in this fetal position in the farthest corner.

Ch. 340 Xue Meng's Blind Date: Wanning is Super Great!

>>dubcon

Chu Wanning. Mo Ran. Taobao Manor.

When these three names floated in Xue Meng's mind together, they reminded him of some past events that he couldn't bear to remember—in the past, Taxian-jun told him that Chu Wanning had slept with Mo Ran at Taobao Manor, right in front of him, just behind a curtain.

The trauma this caused to his psyche was far too great.

If he could turn back time, he would scream out, right before Taxian-jun could open his mouth to say that first word—

"Stop talking! I can already imagine what happened!!!"

Yet one cannot walk back to the past, and must face the present.

In order to subdue the scroll spirit, Xue Meng had to ask Elder Chen Xuyuan to write a letter to his Shizun and his cousin, and respectfully invite Chu-zongshi to come out of seclusion to help.

Then they began to wait.

Nanping Mountain was on the banks of West Lake, and is the mountain closest to Taobao Manor. Even if you didn't travel by sword, and went through the barrier hidden in the clouds by foot, it would only take around one or two shichen.[268]

But for some reason, after the letter was sent and they waited until dawn, there still was no response from Chu Wanning.

Mei Hanxue was very perceptive, and realized the cause of this. He looked at the rising sun, stood up, and said to the crowd: "You all should go and get some rest. I'm afraid we won't hear from them at all this morning."

Taobao Manor's disciples had stayed up all night. Hearing him say this, they didn't think too deeply about the implications. They simply nodded their heads, yawned, and scattered, with the intent of taking a restorative nap.

Only Xue Meng frowned and looked at him: "Why aren't we waiting any longer? My Shizun will arrive soon, he never sleeps in."

Mei Hanxue smiled slightly and said: "There is still so much you don't understand about your Shizun."

"Bullshit! You think you know him better than me? Want to bet on that?"

"Oh?" Mei Hanxue saw how obstinate he was, and his spirit was roused. He said, as if to tease a bird: "What are we betting? I seem to recall you didn't take much money when you left, so what are you putting up?"

"Who said I didn't take any? You just wait..." Xue Meng gritted his teeth, and began feeling around in his money pouch.

It wasn't as if he had no money, but he had only recently become sect leader. Although he did his best to puff himself up in front of others, he still lacked experience. Elder Xuanji worried that he would spend money wastefully, or be cheated by a woman like Hua Ruowei, so the Elders as a group scrupulously managed his funds. And so every month, Xue Meng could only get from Xuanji a few handfuls of pocket money.

And this month, shamefully, in order to date Jiang Xi, he has already spent the majority of his savings.

And Jiang Xi still dared to look down on him! That look Jiang Xi had when he was "Ruo Ying" was obviously mocking him for being poor!

Not to mention dating Taxian-jun and those other "marvelous" blind dates.... Xue Ziming, the proudest son of his generation, has been squeezed by those flirty bitches to the point that he had to start rationing the number of straws in his straw hut.

But in order to defend Chu Wanning's reputation, no matter how hard, no matter how exhausted he was, Sect Leader Xue must bet!

If it comes to it, he could cut the amount of straw by half!

So Mei Hanxue watched Xue Meng rummage through all his nooks and crannies, and take out a scattered pile of copper coins, which all together numbered probably less than fifty. Xue Meng slammed them on the table with the air of presenting 500 billion, and two small copper coins rolled and tumbled to the ground.

Mei Hanxue: "....."

"I bet that my Shizun will arrive right after breakfast time!" Xue Meng said with the firmest resolution.[269]

"...and if he doesn't come?"

"That's up to you!"

Mei Hanxue looked at that shabby pile of copper coins, turned his head, and smiled: "I heard that Chu-zongshi said that if you want to gamble, you should gamble big. Why don't we put money aside, and look at something else?"

"What something else?"

"You'll run naked through the streets, and sell your skills in a pleasure house."

Xue Meng: "??!!"

Mei HanXue raised his brows: "What's this nonsense?"

Mei Hanxue covered his mouth with his hands, rolled his hands and smiled: "I wasn't serious, just teasing him."

"Let me think some more..." Mei Hanxue crossed his arms, and frowned in thought. "How about this...Why don't we have the loser dress up as a girl according to the directions of the winner?"

"....." Xue Meng wrinkled his forehead with dissatisfaction. "Hold on, Mei Hanxue, have I ever forced you into women's clothes before? Why can't you seem to get past this issue?"

This time, Mei Hanxue and Mei HanXue both stared at him with an aura of unfathomable mystery, to the point where Xue Meng felt goosebumps rise on his back. Stuttering, he said: "What are you doing? I was kidding, it's not like I've actually done that. I, I have always been upright, never b-bullying the weak... "

"Of course." Mei Hanxue said with a smile, "you are the best."

Xue Meng: "..."

Why did this all feel so ominous....

...

It turned out that Xue Meng's intuition was occasionally truly accurate.

Xue Meng, waiting in hope, waited until that hope was lost, and finally fell into despair. In the afternoon, he finally heard an announcement from the disciples outside the Manor: "Chu-zongshi, Mo-zongshi have arrived—!"

Chu Wanning's hair was bound with a jade guan , his white robes billowing. As always, his demeanor was pure and profound, aloof and cold, carrying the aura of a celestial being. Yet for some reason his eyes were ever so slightly red, his expression unexpected, and there were the smallest hints of anger lines between his brows. Mo Ran, on the other hand, stood to his side a step behind, with an expression of helplessness, looking somewhat comical.

It turned out that last night Chu Wanning had already heard the spirit bird that Taobao Manor sent, crying outside. Concerned that it might be an emergency, he wanted to take a look. But last night was Taxian-jun's turn, and his nature was to be disinclined to care about other people's affairs. He was already so far in, how could he stop? Several times, Chu Wanning wanted to interrupt him, and initially, Taxian-jun humored him, saying things like "almost there," or "we'll take a look as soon as we're done."

But Mo Ran was a dirty lying scoundrel. What "almost there"? What "we'll take a look as soon as we're done"? There was no "done" to speak of! Ma Yun's bird was screaming its head off outside; meanwhile, the head of Taxian-jun's own little bird wasn't the least bit tired.[270]

Finally, Chu Wanning insisted on going out to see just what was going on. In a fit of rage, Taxian-jun actually tied him directly to a pillar, and in order to break Chu Wanning's will, fed him some illicit under-the-counter medications. With these shenanigans, the spring night became endlessly delightful and sweet, and even if later in the night his personality switched back, Mo-zongshi, seeing Chu Wanning in such a state, also couldn't stop himself.

So it wasn't until the next day's afternoon that Chu Wanning woke up from his haze and received the notice from Taobao Manor that the scroll spirit was causing disasters in Lin'an.

This delay was clearly caused by Taxian-jun. However, Mo-zongshi and Taxian-jun were one and the same. Tracing what happened back to its source, it was all due to Mo Ran's own faults. Chu Wanning refused to speak to him the entire trip down the mountain, treating him as if he were a statue.

"Chu-zongshi, Mo-zongshi!"

"Greetings to Chu-zongshi, Mo-zongshi!"

Chu Wanning knew the exact cause and effects of the trouble the scroll spirit caused. So when he entered the reception hall and saw Xue Meng, he wanted to lecture him for his willful stupidity. But Xue Meng's position couldn't be compared to that of the past, and he had to save him some face.

So Chu Wanning, finally, just frowned slightly and said: "how did you get into such a mess?"

Xue Meng originally started to complain, but when he saw Chu Wanning, all his unhappiness vanished. Immediately, he said: "Shizun, the scroll copied me, I didn't intentionally..."

Mo Ran stared: "Xue Meng, after we said farewell at Wuchang Town, you...why did you keep playing with the scroll for so long?"

"What do you mean?"

Mo Ran wanted to roll his eyes, but it was a "secret" between two brothers. So he mouthed to Xue Meng behind Chu Wanning's back: "You dumbass! You're out here sowing your wild oats,[271] is this the kind of behavior worthy of Sect Leader Jiang?"

Xue Meng didn't understand: "Can't you raise your voice a bit? Do you have a sore throat?"

Mo Ran: "....."

Screw him for being a dumbass!!!

But if he turned his back on Xue Meng, this mess will never get settled, so they might as well help. Except—

"What?! You want Shizun to dress up as a woman!??"

Xue Meng said awkwardly: "I don't want to do it either, or, actually, we could have Gu Yue Ye write a prescription, and have it say this person is...is....."

He peeked over at Chu Wanning's austere, frozen profile. "This person is a woman," he wouldn't be able to say something like this even unto death.

Mo Ran looked like the sky was falling. How could he let Chu Wanning show himself in front of other people dolled up like that? This was madness!

But they had to do something about this present situation. He looked at Xue Meng, and braced himself, looking like he couldn't get out what he wanted to say. After a long silence, he finally said helplessly: "Why not me instead."

Xue Meng looked up, completely at a loss.

Mo Ran: "I will face the scroll spirit in his stead."

"You? You want to dress up as a woman?"

"Why not?"

Xue Meng: "....Dage, are you a bit confused about yourself? "

Mo ran startled, and felt a bit wounded. He turned to Chu Wanning: "Shizun, Xue Meng said that I'm not good-looking."

There was a sense of shame in his tone.

Chu Wanning knew that he was talking to himself, changing his tone to be petulant. He didn't bother paying attention. Relaxed, he drank a cup of just-brewed Zhuyeqin,[272] and then raised his gaze: "Why do you have to dress up? Isn't there a ready-made solution available?"

No one understood what he meant.

Chu Wanning turned his face towards Mo Ran slightly and said indifferently: "Your qiankun pouch. Take it out."

It was the first time Chu Wanning had spoken to him since they went down the mountain; Mo Ran couldn't help but be overjoyed. But Chu Wanning's face had an odd expression, and he didn't say anything gentle, which made him feel disappointed. For a moment, he felt very much like a master of the house, being scolded by his pampered concubine one one hand while fishing out his money pouch with the other. He didn't know whether he should be happy or sad about this.

A qiankun pouch was the equivalent of a cultivator's entire treasury. Chu Wanning wanted Mo Weiyu's treasury, and moreover, didn't even have anything nice to say. But no matter how unhappy Mo Weiyu was, he could only hand it over.

Why did he let himself get so beastly last night?

A circle of people intently watched Chu Wanning rummage in Mo Ran's qiankun pouch to see what the so-called "ready-made solution" was.

They all thought these zongshi couldn't think straight. Jiang Xi's idea of crossdressing was to write a prescription; they had no idea what kind of astonishing performance Chu Wanning would produce. Would he find ten night deities to pull a banner behind him, and have written on it something like "Yuheng of the Night Sky Beidou Immortal Chu Wanning Has Entered The Scene"?[273]

As the crowd indulged in their flights of fancy, they heard Chu Wanning, knitting his sword-like brows, say impatiently: "Your qiankun pouch is a disaster. What on earth are you putting in here?"

"....."

Mo Ran self-consciously rubbed the side of his nose. He used to be very clean and tidy. He arranged his bag very scrupulously. However, ever since his entire soul reunited with his body, his character changed every three days, and the secret struggle between the two personalities was reflected in the qiankun pouch. For example, as Taxian-jun, he would sneak in some hot pepper seeds, hoping to plant peppers in Nanping Mountain, but when he became Mo-zongshi, he would throw all the pepper seeds out.

When Taxian-jun reappeared, he was naturally furious. Feeling that his life was unhappy, he would absolutely never let his other self be happy either. So he would make a mess of the qiankun pouch, smash all the trinkets collected by Mo-zongshi, or go down the mountain to pawn his things at the pawnbroker, so as to buy himself beautiful clothes.

So how could this qiankun pouch not be a mess?

Everything was mixed together, and with everything in a jumble things were hard to find. Chu Wanning dropped some objects that were blocking his view onto the table; Xue Meng, curious, looked over to see.

"Records of Gods and Demons."

Mo Ran explained: This is my book, I wanted to know more about the histories of ancient gods and demons."

"Oh... Not bad." Xue Meng went on to read: "The Night Sky Collection".

"This book has the histories of many cultivators. Our predecessors all had different reputations and faced different challenges to those reputations, but they also all had their own aspirations and obsessions. They're like stars in the night sky, each with its own light in the darkness. It's a very interesting read."

"...I can't believe you've progressed this much." Xue Meng was quite surprised. "It's like one book after another."

Mo Ran smiled, and said: "It's because Shizun taught me well."

Xue Meng went to the next book.

"Postpartum Care for Sows."

Mo Ran's smile froze on his face.

Finally, he said resolutely, waving his hand: "....This was purchased by Taxian-jun. It has nothing to do with me."

Xue Meng: "....."

Chu Wanning didn't pay attention at first. Hearing this, he raised his eyes and asked: "Why did he want to buy this? We don't have this sort of animal at home."

Mo Ran said: "I.....he... it's like this. One time he went down the mountain in Yirong and saw that the people in the village were holding a livestock show. At the time, he was inexplicably confident, and ran to compete. The result was that he couldn't beat the village's veterinarian Wang, so he got angry, and bought this book....if he studied hard, he'll definitely win next year, and the shame from this year would...[274]

The more he talked, the more ridiculous he felt. When he heard a young disciple of Taobao Manor who couldn't help let out a snigger, Mo Ran shut his mouth in embarassment, and glanced over at Chu Wanning with some amount of hesitation.

Chu Wanning said, incredulously: "Why on earth would you participate in...a livestock show?"

"There...there were prizes." Mo ran blushed slightly, lowered his head and muttered, "I think...if he won, he thought he could go buy you the finest clothes from Fei Yun Zhai.[275]

Chu Wanning said, silently:[276] "Fei Yun Zhai is near Jiangdong Hall. That Hua Ruowei had sent someone to bring an entire eight boxes of clothes and accessories before, and you burned it all without even saying anything. Now you want to go and buy it yourself?"

"It's not the same." Mo Ran said immediately, "That girl looks at you the wrong way. She better not think I can't see what she's scheming. Look at the kinds of things she sent: outer robes, guan , inner clothes you wear right next to your skin... " The more he spoke, the darker his face became. "She'd better not even think about Shizun wearing those things she brought!"

"....."

As Chu Wanning listened to this speech, one couldn't tell if his eyes displayed helplessness or embarrassment, but those two dark, fathomless pools finally softened. At long last, he pressed his lips together, and suddenly asked: "Mo Ran, today, are you the you from your previous incarnation, or the you from this present life?"

"Of course I'm me from this present life." Mo Ran was briefly stunned. "Shizun, why do you ask?"

"Look at how you are now." Chu Wanning's eyes finally held a glimmer of a smile. "How are you different compared with your previous life?"

He had always been an icy beauty, cold down to the bones, and his expressions were subtle, so no other people would have been able to see this tiny smile of his. But for Mo Ran, even if Chu Wanning developed only a thread of a wrinkle between his brows, he could feel a bright change, like the coming of the wind, the snow, the rain. Seeing that he was no longer angry, Mo Ran couldn't help but lower his long eyelashes, drop his gaze, and smile, his cheeks dimpling.

Chu Wanning seemed to be on the verge of saying something else, but then felt that what he said just then was too embarrassing. So he turned his head, and refused to speak to him again.

But this kind of ignoring him and the kind of ignoring him that happened when they came here obviously meant two different things. Mo Ran just chuckled, and stood beside him obediently like a good boy without speaking.

Chu Wanning finally found what he was looking for from the qiankun pouch—

"The illusion sachet."

His long, slender, well-proportioned hand held the band of the sachet. Chu Wanning said: "These were sold together with the relief scroll, and allow the user's appearance to change in the eyes of others based on their original appearance, without the need for any real change in dress or physical form."

Everyone from Taobao Manor: "....."

Chu Wanning paused for a moment, and finally said, with the greatest amount of incredulity: ".....No one here thought of it? "

The makers of the relief scroll and the illusion sachet shook their heads in unison. It is unknown who first came up with the phrase "to ride a donkey to look for a horse," but "to ride a donkey to look for the donkey" absolutely referred to these cultivators from Taobao Manor.[277]

In this way, the issue of dressing up was finally solved, and everyone breathed a sigh of relief. As it was time for dinner, they all planned to quickly go to the dining hall to fill their stomachs, then wait in the evening for the next appearance of the scroll spirit.

As everyone left one by one, Mei Hanxue suddenly appeared right next to Xue Meng's ear and whispered: "Xue Ziming."

Xue Meng was suddenly extremely alert: "What?!"

Mei Hanxue said with a low smile: "I'll tell you a secret."

Intuition tells Xue Meng that it's usually better not to listen to Mei Hanxue's secrets. But curiosity still drove Xue Meng to open his mouth: "Wh-what is it."

Mei Hanxue said gently: "It's just...that method that Chu-zongshi said....actually, I had thought of it already."

Xue Meng was gobsmacked and turned to look back at him. "Then why didn't you say something earlier?"

Because wasn't it Jiang Yechen who needed to dress up as a woman before?" Mei Hanxue said with a smile, "I didn't tell him, because I wanted to make things a little difficult for him, and give you a good laugh."

"....." Xue Meng was ready to give him a good scolding, but when he said that, his mouth suddenly became dry, and his scolding wouldn't come out.

Mei Hanxue chuckled: "You're not going to thank me?"

"Thank you for what! What about after Jiang Xi left! Why didn't you say anything then!"

"Oh, after he left..." Mei Hanxue paused for a second, his glass-blue eyes filled with emotion.[278] He raised his fingertip to his lips, and smiled: "I didn't tell you then, because I wanted to make things a little difficult for you, and give myself a good laugh."

Xue Meng: "???"

"By the way, I'm reminding you that you lost your bet. Remember your promise. I'll be waiting."

"In your dreams!!!" Xue Meng can't help roaring: "Fuck your waiting! You want me to dress up as a woman for you?!! In your next life! Kill this fantasy now!!! "

The sound of his voice startled the people into looking askance at each other. What they didn't know before, now they knew. In whispers, they conferred: "Aiyah, Sect Leader Xue is going to crossdress?"

"Looks like Sect Leader Xue won't do it, and he'll have to eat his own words."

"Poor Mei-gongzi, he won his bet, and he still has to get scolded."

"How miserable..."

Xue Meng's face was getting greener and greener among the crowd of twittering murmurs. Mei Hanxue was silent for a moment, and smiled: "Are you really so unwilling?"

"Bullshit!"

"Rude." Mei Hanxue smiled again, and nudged Mei HanXue with his elbow, "Ge, look at him. Isn't he fun?"

Mei HanXue glanced at Xue Meng who had blown up like a puffer fish, and said indifferently: "It's not fun. Don't make him crossdress either."

"Why? He's hot enough."[279]

Xue Meng: "You—! You—!"

“Hot enough to make my eyes feel like they’re on fire."

“???" Xue Meng was about to explode!

Mei HanXue was even worse than Mei Hanxue! Mei Hanxue just said he was hot, but Mei HanXue actually said he made his eyes burn!!!

Xue Meng couldn't help but raise his hackles, and yelled, careless of consequences: "Mei HanXue! You stop right now! Come back here! Who the fuck is so ugly they make your eyes burn? Have you ever seen me get prettied up, huh? You think I wouldn't dare!! If you have the guts, we'll see who's better at it!"

Mei Hanxue smiled: "Ah, so you really want—"

Before he could finish, Mei HanXue interrupted him, pulling Mei Hanxue's arm to stop his nonsense. Then he turned to Xue Meng and said: "No. According to what you just said, you would be better off leaving crossdressing for your next life."

"Fuck that!" Xue Meng, roused, pointed at Mei HanXue, raised his handsome brows, and lectured: "When did I say I'd be willing to do it in my next life?"

Mei HanXue raised his own eyebrows: "You just said it yourself. Actually, in this lifetime, please focus on being a good sect leader. Don't be a harlot. "

Xue Meng stuttered: "How...how dare you...you dare to...you said I'm...."

"Yes. I dare," Mei HanXue said, indifferently blinking his turquoise eyes, as if he were taunting or teasing him. "Then that's settled. You owe us a bet. "

"I'll wait for you in our next lives, Xue-guniang."

Xue Meng stood there stunned for a very long time. At the moment that Mei HanXue turned his head, he screamed: "Who owes you a meeting? What did you call me? Mei HanXue! Don't you dare go! I'll fucking kill you! Argggghhh!! You stop right there!!!"

Ch. 341 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Wanning Gets Hoisted By His Own Petard

In order to check everything thoroughly, Taobao Manor's Elder Chen asked Xue Meng to take a look at Chu Wanning while he wore the illusion sachet, before he would officially meet with the scroll spirit. This was to see if there was anything unsatisfactory, or not in line with Xue Meng's taste.

But Xue Meng was still raging at Mei HanXue, and held his rage to the point that his chest hurt. When Chen Xuyuan ran into him in this state, Xue Meng massaged his chest and said angrily: "Nonsense! What's there to be unhappy about! My Shizun is the best in every way! "

Chen Xuyuan said: "Aiyah, Sect Leader Xue, he may be your Shizun, but he is not the scroll spirit's Shizun."

In other words: "You should put aside your own biases and look at Chu-zongshi again. You need to know that the scroll spirit will not bring personal feelings to this meeting, so please look at Chu-zongshi once more, as a stranger, and see if he meets your requirements. "

"Nonsense! How could it be just my opinion that I think my Shizun is incredible in every way?" Xue Meng glared. "I'm telling you, if the relief scroll had made me meet up with my Shizun, even if I didn't know who he was, I would've definitely thought that he was most amazing person on earth, no mistake!"

Xue Meng's conviction seemed ironclad, but Chen Xuyuan still persevered: "No no, we should still test it once, just once." Then he pushed Xue Meng into Chu Wanning's room.

However, as Xue Meng was being pushed right outside his guest room, he raised his head and saw the door. He suddenly froze.

W-wasn't this the same room that Chu Wanning slept in when they first stayed at Taobao Manor together?!!

At that time, Xue Meng didn't know what Mo Ran and Chu Wanning were doing inside. When he had confidently entered with no hesitation, Mo Ran had no choice but to hide behind the bed curtains. Only later would Xue Meng realize that Chu Wanning's watery and steamy eyes were red not because of fever, but because...

Stop right there! He can't bear to remember those events!!

In order to avoid making the same mistake, Xue Meng decided to let them know that he had arrived, especially Mo Ran! He would absolutely never let Mo Ran do such shameless and prepostrous things again! Absolutely never!

So he began to walk back and forth at the door, deliberately coughing loudly. Just in case he wasn't making enough noise, he then stomped forcefully on the floor bricks. He jumped—whirled around—stomped loudly—

The door creaked open.

Mo Ran, dressed neatly, stood at the door, his figure tall and handsome. He looked at Xue Meng like he was seeing a ghost: "....what are you doing?"

Xue Meng was at that moment in the middle of performing a Sand Flat Falling Goose pose.[280] Upon hearing the noise, he turned his head and his mouth gaped. Before he could answer, he heard Chu Wanning's sonorous and cold voice come from the room: "Mo Ran, is it another one of those harebrained young women making mischief outside?"

Mo Ran smiled: "Ah, no, it's Xue Meng."

Then he lowered his voice, and said with a smile: "Why don't you come in? You could've just knocked on the door. With all that coughing and stomping and prancing back and forth, we thought there must have been a ghost outside."

Xue Meng settled down, no longer brandishing his tail feathers, but still wanting to spit onto his cousin's handsome face. Then, from inside the room, he heard Chu Wanning: "Since the Sect Leader is here, what are you blocking him for? Let him in."

"....." Although Xue Meng knew that he had succeeded into the position of Sect Leader, Chu Wanning, Sisheng Peak's Yuheng Elder, should have taken the senior role. Being referred to in this manner made Xue Meng feel like something was squeezing around his heart.

Mo Ran smiled and inclined his tall, upright form: "Please come in."

Xue Meng was unhappy: "I need to talk to my Shizun about some private matters. Leave."

"Ah... are you practicing how to face the scroll spirit? Mo Ran, magnanimous, didn't argue with Xue Meng. Smiling, he said: "Elder Chen told us already that we should rehearse, so nothing unexpected happens."

"What can happen?" Xue Meng crossed his arms and rolled his eyes. "Since the spirit learned from me, it should think that Shizun is faultless!"

"Not necessarily." Mo Ran agreed with Elder Chen. He patted Xue Meng on the shoulder. "In my opinion, you think he is faultless because he is your Shizun. If you had gone on a blind date back then, and had met Shizun, not "Leng Gong," and didn't know his identity, I think you almost certainly would have fought with him."

"Nonsense!"

Mo Ran doesn't argue. Smiling, he inclined his head, and stepped aside. Calmly, he went outside to wait.

Xue Meng entered the room. Before he could speak, he couldn't help but stare—

Chu Wanning was already wearing the illusion sachet, so in Xue Meng's eyes, the person standing by the window was a tall, exceedingly elegant female cultivator dressed in white.

Her skin was luminous, like a solitary white cloud in the night sky. Icy white, she seemed inhumanly youthful. A long, graceful neck rose from the collar of her white silk robes. The candle light seemed to cast a layer of hazy shadows over her taut glowing skin: they fell across her noble forehead and on her long, delicate eyelashes, they sketched the outline of the curve of her soft nose bridge and landed on her lips, as thin and pale as borneol flakes.[281]

Finally, the candle flame, a pale, billowing wave of muddled yellow light, ended softly at her refined chin.

Oh. So it turned out that Chu Wanning's illusory genderswapped appearance is like this.

Xue Meng kowtowed: "Shi-, Shizun...."

"En."

Chu Wanning acknowledged him, and turned around.

His original form would strike anyone with his exceptional beauty, but Chu Wanning's illusory female form had such a sense of austere dignity and cold pride that it inspired awe down to the bones. Especially notable were the eyes beneath those long brows; their shape had a natural charm, and their corners seemed touched by haitang nectar, showing the faintest hint of red. Yet her gaze was extraordinarily alert, and controlled.

Beautiful indeed, but she was a cold beauty. A terrifying beauty.

Chu Wanning glanced over at him: "A bit ugly."

"......ah?" Xue Meng said blankly.

I'm afraid I'll scare the scroll spirit away," Chu Wanning said solemnly.

Xue Meng jolted at this statement, and swiftly said: "What? No no no! How could that be? Good looking! Shizun is very good looking! "

Chu Wanning had never been confident in his own appearance. In his two lives, the beauties he'd seen were as numerous as clouds; leaving aside Mo Ran himself, Shi Mingjing's and Song Qiutong's looks were both peerless among the mortal realm. In his heart, Chu Wanning knew clearly that he was mean and temperamental - difficult to love.

One look at Xue Meng's frenzied panic confirmed this.

The only one who wouldn't turn his back to him was Mo Ran.

Chu Wanning shook his head and said to Xue Meng: "Why don't you sit down."

Xue Meng gingerly and primly sat at the table.

Chu Wanning sat down opposite him, brushed away his sleeves, poured two cups of green tea, raised his eyes, and said: "This appearance is insufficient, but its character can be amended. Tell me, what do you like in a girl?"

Previously, in front of the people from Taobao Manor, Xue Meng had released a deluge of over 300 requirements. But now when Chu Wanning asked, his voice froze.

The thing he was most concerned about was appearing respectful in front of Chu Wanning. To list off his requirements one after another to his Shizun's face, then to have Chu Wanning follow his directions to in order to do battle with the scroll spirit, how could he be so shameless as to do that?

So he mumbled a bit, and finally said, guiltily: "I, I have no requirements. Just...as long as she's alive, and a girl, then that's fine. "

Chu Wanning paused in drinking, and gazed at him through the dense steam drifting off the tea: "Is that so."

"Y-yes. As long as she's decent enough, I could live with that. I don't need anything else."

"But why is it that I heard," Chu Wanning indifferently raised his eyes, "that you had quite a few requirements?"

Xue Meng hurriedly waved off the question: "No, no, no, it was nothing like that! They, they didn't understand what I was getting at, I was just talking nonsense."

"Then I don't need to be a diligent housekeeper?"

Xue Meng immediately replied: "How could I make you clean? I like people who don't know how to do laundry!"

"You don't need me to stand by the door to send you off, and welcome you home kneeling?"

"Hai, it's not like I'm Japanese."[282]

"You don't need someone soft and deferential, who would never strike back if hit or argue back if scolded?"

"No! I like someone with a strong temper."

"... You don't need me to be able to cook?"

"You must absolutely live a pampered life!"[283] Xue Meng said, "If you were to reach for a ladle, I'd fight you for it!"

Chu Wanning raised his eyebrows minutely: "I seem to recall you don't like cooking."

"It, it's a new hobby," Xue Meng explained haltingly. "I just recently started to like this kind of thing."

Chu Wanning paused for a moment, and finally asked: "...Then, you also don't need someone who's received the sect elders' approval?"

"No, I can decide on my own who I like!"

It took nearly an hour for this detailed inquisition to be over, until the conversation finally ended without a hitch. Xue Meng left uneasily. When Mo Ran came in, he asked with keen interest, "Wanning Wanning, how was the questioning? Did he ask for a lot?"

Chu Wanning shook his head and said: "It wasn't anything bad; other people misunderstood. Over the past two years, Xue Meng has really matured quite a bit. I'm relieved."

Mo Ran: "..."

As a former bad disciple who used to deceive his teacher and spew lies to avoid his Shizun's punishment, Mo Ran instinctively thought - why does this feel so off? He thought something fishy was going on; maybe it wasn't that Xue Meng had learned some sense, but rather that the honest Chu Wanning had been swindled...

Nighttime.

A Taobao Manor disciple came to report that the scroll spirit appeared in a brothel towards the south of the city. Turning the establishment upside down, it demanded to see their greatest beauty. But of the women that the scroll spirit had seen previously, all experienced major personality changes. How could the madam allow her greatest beauty to see it?

Fortunately, cultivators from Taobao Manor arrived in time, and had asked her to send some of her people to stall the scroll spirit, after which they'd hurried back to ask Chu-zongshi to come.

"We've already sneaked the great beauty from her room. Chu-zongshi, we'll have to trouble you next. Make sure it consumes that cup of tea, so it becomes drugged senseless!"

Chu Wanning thought: this scroll spirit had been transformed by Xue Meng's preferences. Although the character of the spirit is malleable, Xue Meng was nevertheless an obedient and sensible child. So there shouldn't be any difficulties.

In reality, Chu Wanning was gravely mistaken.

Of his three disciples, Mo Ran used to be duplicitous.[284] In fear that he wouldn't be able to stop himself from entering his Shizun's bed again, he pretended not to like him.

Shi Mei always held dark thoughts in his heart. In fear that he would expose his plans and reveal his true nature, he also pretended not to like him.

In actuality, both of them were people who truly didn't care for little things like whether or not Chu Wanning could cook or do laundry.

But Xue Meng was different from the other two. Xue Meng did pretend to like him.

Of course, Xue Meng did sincerely like his own Shizun, but of the three disciples, Xue Meng was the one who truly couldn't tolerate many of Chu Wanning's habits. However, in order to make him feel better about himself, Xue Meng would force himself to lie against his own conscience that, "Shizun is wonderful!" "Shizun did a wonderful job washing his clothes!" "Shizun's green vegetables and tofu are delicious!".

But the scroll spirit was different. it was equivalent to a Xue Meng who has removed his personal feelings for Chu Wanning.

So that night, after Chu Wanning saw the scroll spirit, the conversation between them went like this——

The scroll spirit: "Are you the greatest beauty here?"

Chu Wanning: "Yes."

"Tch, you're not even as good looking as me."

Chu Wanning: "..."

So this was how Xue Meng really felt.

... well, never mind, it's true that his looks weren't up to par. But no matter. His character could be mended. He has rehearsed everything with Xue Meng before; there shouldn't be any mistakes.

So he asked softly: "Would you like to listen to some music?"

"Nah, I hate listening to music, especially that weird obscene stuff from Kunlun Taxue Palace. Gives me a headache." The scroll spirit spat out a piece of candied fruit from its mouth. Before, it had been beaten into submission by Jiang Xi. And even though when it escaped it yelled out " I, Jiang Xi, will return!", tonight it was still a bit nervous, and couldn't easily take Jiang Yechen's form.

The face it used tonight was Xue Meng's.

So Chu Wanning saw his most well-behaved apprentice swinging his leg and eating candied fruit in front of him with no manners whatsoever, and arrogantly say: "Hey, let's talk about life."

"Alright."

"Do you usually cook?"

"I'm only good at making wontons."

".....Are you kidding me? How useless."

Chu Wanning couldn't help staring.

... Did he hear wrong?

Xue Meng thinks he's useless???

There must be something wrong, maybe he didn't express what he meant properly.

So Chu Wanning explained, "It's not that I don't know how to cook anything else, but I can't do it very well - Didn't I hear that you yourself enjoy cooking? That if anyone were to reach for your ladle, you'd fight them for it?"

"Who said that? Nonsense!" The scroll spirit said: "A gentleman stays away from the kitchen.[285] A manly figure like myself absolutely doesn't cook!"

"...So this isn't a new hobby of yours?"

"Of course not!"

Chu Wanning: "....."

... OK, he understands now.

It turns out that Xue Meng was a total liar!

Chu Wanning kept silent for a moment. His eyebrows twitched slightly, and a sliver of cold light slowly grew in his eyes. This was fine. He really did want to know: how much of his true feelings did Xue Meng conceal from him?

In this way, their continued conversation became more and more tangled, and the smell of gunpowder in the air grew stronger and stronger.[286]

Scroll spirit: "Can you do laundry?"

"I can soak clothes in water and let them dry in the sun."

"Wow! A dog is cleaner than you!"

"....."

Will you stand by the door to send me off, and welcome me home kneeling?"

"You're not even from Japan."

"Wow! A dog is more virtuous than you!"

"....."

"Can you be soft and deferential, and never strike back if hit or argue back if scolded?"

"I don't think you can beat me in a fight."

"Wow! A dog is gentler than you!"

"....."

"Can you work to please my parents and Shizun?

"I'm talking about feelings with you, not with your Shizun."

Wow! A dog has better manners than you!

"....."

"Would you mind if I practiced martial arts all twelve shichen and didn't have time to talk with you?"

With each additional comparison to a dog, Chu Wanning's complexion grew paler and paler, and his expression grew ever more indignant.

Xue Ziming.....Xue Ziming!! He had thought that this disciple would never deceive him. A straightforward child; if he liked something he liked it, if he didn't like something then he didn't. He would have never thought that Xue Meng's brain would actually be like this!!!

He clenched his teeth, and said fiercely: "There are only twelve shichen in a day. Are you saying you never have to go to bed and sleep?"

Unexpectedly, this "Xue Meng" was even fiercer: "Going to bed! All you think about is going to bed! Can you not be so depressing! You have to be more energetic, am I right? Sunnier! A woman's place is to look after her husband and her children; if you're bored, don't go all 'Oh I have to be bedded, I have to get pregnant, oh, I need to bear a son and raise my household standing," blahblahblah! Less romance novels, more cookbooks! Be a pure-hearted upstanding wife!"

“……”

There were so many things utterly wrong with this tirade that Chu Wanning was momentarily left speechless. He couldn't even get a word out; he was so furious he wanted to spit blood. Pushing down his anger, he turned his coldly raging phoenix eyes to stare down the scroll spirit and his Xue Meng face.

After a while, his thin lips trembled, and in anger, he said: "You..."

"What about me? I'm telling the truth. To be my wife, you must be honest and pure. You can't always have your mind full of such lewd things. Sigh. I don't think someone like you will do. Look at you. You're a bad-tempered, friendless, dissatisfied layabout." The scroll spirit said this with a disdainful face, and stood up. "Forget it. I heard that this house's greatest beauty was capable and virtuous, but I guess it was all a lie."

"....." Chu Wanning was about to faint from anger. He had been a Shizun to three disciples. Mo Ran had made him furious, Shi Mei had made him furious, he thought Xue Meng would be the the easiest among them, the one who would never trouble him.

He didn't expect the scroll spirit to vomit out all of Xue Meng's sincere words - so all three of them were the same, all worthless!

"I'm done talking to you." The scroll spirit Xue Meng turned around and left. "Seeya!"

At this time, the real Xue Meng, Mo Ran, and an entire party of other people were hiding in an adjacent room, listening for any developments. Elder Chen Xuyuan held up an hourglass and said: "Aiyah, it's almost time. Chu-zongshi certainly deserves the reputation of Chu-zongshi. Just a little bit longer for the tea to take effect, and the spirit will be stunned. Hehe -"

Before a third "-he" could leave his mouth, he heard from the next room an earth-shattering electric boom slice through the air, accompanied by the scream of the scroll spirit—

"Help! Help!! I'm being repressed!!!"

And then came Chu Wanning's wrathful voice: "I'll show you repression!"

"Waaaaaahhhh!! Someone save me!!!"

Turning pale with fright, they all rushed in. As soon as they pushed open the door, they saw the shining golden light of Tian Wen in Chu Wanning's palm, its willow vine wrapped around the scroll spirit's neck. The spirit's tongue hung out of its mouth; its eyes were rolled back into its head, as if it was just about to kick the bucket. Chen Xuyuan hurriedly jumped up: "Aiyah, Chu-zongshi, please calm down! You absolutely mustn't kill it! As soon as we kill it, everyone's information will be exposed! "

Chu Wanning's black eyebrows furrowed in rage, and he snapped: "So what if it does! What sort of shameful things does it know anyway?"

Xue Meng interrupted: "Shizun....."

Unexpectedly, Chu Wanning was furious towards him as well. Savagely, he said: "Silence, Xue Ziming! When I'm done with this, you're next!"

Xue Meng: "???"

Shi- shi- shizun what happened! Not only did he not call him sect leader, but he even said he would discipline him??

All sorts of emotions suddenly welled up in Xue Meng's heart. He didn't know whether he was happy or panicked - happy since it had been so long since his Shizun had scolded him this way that he actually missed it, panicked that...

For Chu Wanning to say such harsh things to him now, what exactly did that damned scroll spirit say to his Shizun!!!

Seeing that the scroll spirit was just about down to its last breath, wailing all the way, Mo Ran hurriedly grabbed his shoulder: "Wanning, let it go first."

Chu Wanning's eyes were as sharp as bayonets: "I'll kill it first and then let it go!"

Mo Ran didn't know whether to laugh or cry: "Then it'll be too late. Everyone's secrets will be leaked."

Chu Wanning said angrily: "I have no shameful secrets. Do you?"

Mo Ran laughed, and tried to placate him: "Of course I do. It's just, ah, sometimes I can't reveal them. Not because I've secretly done something wrong, but because there are things I'd rather not let other people know."

Chu Wanning frowned: "Like what?"

"Uh... for example..." Mo Ran lowered his head, closed his eyes, and whispered a few words in Chu Wanning's ear.

Xue Meng saw Mo Ran's long eyelashes become still. His black eyes betrayed a sense of helplessness, and yet still brimmed with deep emotion as his lips moved, only making the slightest motion. When he finished, Chu Wanning unexpectedly called back Tian Wen.

Angrily, Chu Wanning said: "Why you—"

Seemingly with some shyness, Mo Ran lowered his eyes and briefly smiled. Though undoubtedly handsome and mature, the dimple on his cheek gave him the air of a pure and inexperienced youth.

Chu Wanning seemed to want to hit him, but Mo Ran took his hand at once and said with a smile, "I'm sorry, I did ask the scroll. I'm being honest."

"....."

Then he lowered his head, turned his face to the side, and clasped Chu Wanning's fingers, his warm breath whispering over Chu Wanning's ear. In a low voice that only the two of them could hear, he said: "But you know, I have no intention of letting anyone know what positions I like Wanning to take when we go to bed."

Although these were words of endearment that thrummed with deep, heavy, sensual longing, Mo Ran unfortunately didn't know what the scroll spirit had just said to Chu Wanning. When Chu Wanning heard his last words, it was like someone stepped on his tail. He immediately slapped Mo Ran's head and raged: "Go where?! What bed! Shouldn't I be less depressing? I have to be more energetic, right? Sunnier! Think more about looking after my husband and children, and stop thinking about this kind of nonsense! Stop reading romance novels, and start reading cookbooks! Be a pure-hearted upstanding wife!"

Everyone from Taobao Manor: "....."

Xue Meng: "......."

Mo Ran: "???"

Only the scroll spirit took advantage of the chaos, and skipped upward like a carp. It hollered: "Yes yes yes! Well said! You have learned my essence!

Congratulations!" Then it quickly flew out a window using qinggong, and as it flew, it cried out repulsively: "I, Xue Ziming, will return! Muahahahaha!!!"

... At this moment, Xue Meng suddenly understood Jiang Xi's murderous rage yesterday.

This spirit is truly the worst.

Truly.

Ch. 342 Xue Meng’s Blind Date: Xue Meng Finally Seizes Total Victory

Since Chu WanNing was also defeated in the confrontation with the scroll demon, it was not a surprise that he was temporarily cursed to become a snow-white cat.

When the silver light dissipated, the white cat sat majestically on the floor, with those beautiful eyes slightly raised looking at the crowd fiercely.

Although it was already known that it would be five days for the curse to loose power, the audience remained in a panicky silence.

The Ma Fangzhi bee.

The Jiang YeChen fairy bird.

The Chu Wanning white cat.

What is happening here? Are the seven masters going to summon Shennong?

Chu Wanning's eyes were more scary than Jiang YeChen's, probably because he is a cat and Jiang YeChen turned into a bird. Birds doesn't have too many expressions, but cats can look very angry. Mo Ran, anxiously and lovingly, wanted to bow down to carry him, but Wanning clenched his ears, bristled his whitish hair, and showed his sharp tiger teeth and let out an angry pur:

"Meow!!!"

A female disciple could not avoid exclaiming in a low voice: "How cuteee!"

"I even believe that Mo-zongshi made him lose it deliberately so that he would become a cat ..."

Chu Wanning heard those words, and suddenly opened his eyes, to look fiercely at Mo Ran and shouted a threatening grunt.

Mo Ran sobbed, "I didn't do it! I didn't do it!"

Chu Wanning narrowed his eyes and hesitated to raise the tip of his paws, as if he wanted to summon Tian Wen for questioning, but as he screamed, the round snow-white paws only spurred a soft golden light, accompanied by the small, fresh pink nose of a white cat; on the contrary, it seemed that this big white cat was lifting his paw to play a dirty trick on him.

Mo Ran only felt that he had been hit in the chest, and he could not avoid kneeling on the floor to touch the rage-boiling snowball, his eyes were shining: "shizun ..."

"Miaouuuuu!!!"

What he got was a fierce scratch from the white cat's paw, Mo Ran could only take a breath, Chu Wanning jumped angrily over Mo Ran's scratched hand: he and Jiang YeChen were as embarrassed as expected.

Jiang YeChen flew away immediately after becoming a fairy bird, and Chu Wanning planned to leave quickly after becoming a white cat.

Xue Meng was overwhelmed and worried that Chu Wanning would get lost because of the hasty way he escaped. He was afraid that he would not be able to run back to NanPing Mountain in that state, so he hastily stopped him.

"Shizun, calm down first, I will find someone to accompany you, so... ah!"

The white cat came down the mountain like a tiger and hit Xue Meng's outstretched hand. Seeing that Xue Meng wanted to hug him, he bit the other's finger without hesitation.

Xue Meng: "sizun!"

Mo Ran: "sizun!"

Well, these two disciples have been hurt by a cat, it's really fair.

After Chu Wanning attacked, he ran away without looking back, his white tail went away and disappeared around the corner of Chu's restaurant, hiding his merit and fame. Xue Meng put away his bitten hand and was taking a cold breath to say something, but Mo Ran rushed in and said first...

"Don't go home by yourself ! What if someone kidnaps you and boils you in a pot?"

Xue Meng also wanted to chase him, but Mei Hanxue stopped him. Xue Meng angrily glared at him and said: "What are you doing?!"

"Can't you see he's mad at you," said Mei Hanxue, "Let Mo-zongshi take care of him by himself. After five days, he will recover. It won't be too late for you to go to NanPing Mountain to look for his forgiveness."

"Nonsense! I'm the dearest of shizun, how could he be angry with me?"

Mei Hanxue looked at Xue Meng puzzlingly, "Are you sure the matchmaking requirements you told him were true, and you didn't lie to him to praise him?"

"..." Xue Meng suddenly felt guilty.

Mei Hanxue smiled and walked, leaning on his brother: "You tricked him, and you weren't honest, were you?"

Xue Meng wanted to argue, but he knew he was wrong, and mumbled for a moment, uncomfortably saying, "I, I didn't mean it, i really think my shizun is the best..."

"I understand but i express my deepest condolences". Mei Hanxue patted him on the shoulder with a smile, "But now Master Chu and Lord Jiang are already cursed, no one can help anymore."

Xue Meng nervously raised his head with a premonition of impending catastrophe.

He looked at Mei Hanxue's face, and Mei Hanxue smiled significantly, "therefore, only you, Xue Ziming, are left."

Xue Meng was surprised: "Why me? Why not you!"

Mei Hanxue touched heis nose and smiled: "Because the scroll demon's aesthetic preferences change according to you, and you have seen my appearance in a female costume. You don't seem to like it much either".

Xue Meng: "But I ..."

"Or do you really like my appearance, but are ashamed to confess, because you are already confused?"

Xue Meng's face turned green: "You're talking nonsense!"

Mei Hanxue laughed, "If you admit that you like my outfit, then I will cleanse the scroll demon. If you don't like it, then you have to face it alone, so if you choose to praise me or follow Catch monsters yourself? "

This was an extremely difficult decision for Xue Meng, and seducing the scroll demon is something that must be done. Anyway, Jiang Xi, Ma FangZhi and Chu Wanning have tried everything, and it is not shameful for him to be the fourth.

But in case he also fails and becomes a bird exactly like Jiang Xi, is it likely that Mei Hanxue will catch him and pluck his feathers out?

Mei Hanxue wanted to see the entanglement in his heart and smiled empathetically: "Is it better to praise me? Just say that Mei Lang[287] is beautiful and that I can help you".

Xue Meng contradicted herself for a moment, looked at Mei Hanxue's smiling face, clenched his teeth, clenched his fists, and said: "Very beautiful? I think your kidney deficiency is almost the same! Mei Lang's kidney deficiency!"

"..." Mei Hanxue sighed, "This is a slander, a really obvious slander."

After refusing his invitation to praise him, Xue Meng said fiercely: "I will defeat the devil and not let him go. What is there to fear? I don't think I can't understand myself! Let's see!"

After that, he pushed aside the Mei brothers in front of him, trampled the crisp wooden stairs, and went down the stairs in anger.

Xue Meng was unwilling to be a man when confronted by the scroll demon, so his choice was the same as his shizun, he decided to use a litttle magic gender change bag. He took a deep breath, stood in front of the bronze mirror, clenched his fist and slowly opened his eyes.

The mirror seems to be the female version of himself that he saw in the wine gourd.

Xue Meng felt uncomfortable and turned around twice. To be honest, he thinks that the person in the mirror is beautiful, very beautiful, but the gestures shows stupidity, of course, he calls it the dominant spirit himself. Thus, when he sees the scroll demon, I am afraid he can only be silent and not speak, like the clay sculpture carved in wood.

Otherwise, if he talks and moves, according to his own aesthetics, he would never like such a girl like him.

Turning his head and looking at his ears, she suddenly saw another person's reflection appeared in the mirror.

Xue Meng immediately turned around: "What are you doing here?"

Mei Hanxue crossed his arms, leaned against the door and said casually, "I came here to give you advice. After all, if you fail too, it will be extremely difficult to defeat this demon."

He was being dead serious, although Xue Meng was not happy, but there was no way to drive him away. I had to frown at the end: "Can you do it?"

Mei Hanxue raised her eyebrows slightly: "Huh?"

Xue Meng asked, "You haven't even touched a girl's hand?

"... You are not qualified to talk about me."

Xue Meng said angrily, "I don't want to see you!"

Mei Hanxue said casually, "It's troublesome for me."

After a pause, Mei Hanxue said casually, "To this day, I have turned down seventy-three sisters for Hanxue."

"..." Xue Meng was suddenly speechless.

How many?

Mei Hanxue: "have you tried something similar?"

Xue Meng squeezed his mouth dry and suddenly felt that Mei Hanxue was very miserable for some reason.

This man is very young, but he is forced to help his twin brother clean up the mess that is not his and is not psychologically distorted.

Seeing that he didn't say anything, Mei Hanxue entered the bedroom and closed the door on the way.

"Come."

Xue Meng said alertly, "What are you doing?"

When he didn't come, Mei Hanxue walked on his long legs, stopped at a distance that was too close and could give people a great feeling of oppression, lowering those Haitang eyes, and his pale golden eyelashes were still without moving.

--

"I will teach you to answer, so that men will not reject you." His eyes were narrow and provocative, and there was a trace of natural sarcasm in his natural indifference.

Xue Meng especially hated his expression and immediately raised his hand to hit him, but Mei Hanxue grabbed his wrist precisely without even looking at him.

Xue Meng opened his eyes wide and said angrily, "What are you doing? Let go of me!"

"It's absolutely impossible like this," said Mei Hanxue, with one strong hand, her strength was extremely strong and her body skills shone quickly, and Xue Meng was taken by surprise and fell to the ground by one of her shoulders.

"I ... fuck!"

"Such crude words are absolutely impossible." Mei Hanxue approached, Xue Meng, who fell to the ground with a face full of surprise and blushed, thought "Get up, if you don't want to be a bird tomorrow night and be plucked by Hanxue. -- "

He paused for a moment, pulled his neck tightly tied, in a posture that was ready to move, and said lightly:

"You were tuned in and taught by me one night."

Xue Meng looked up at him in a humiliating way, his eyes were red.

Mei Hanxue did not care, as if he could not see Xue Meng's anger, he stretched out his thin fingers and extended them to him, "Please go Xue Ziming."

The next day.

Chen Xuyuan in the Taobao village, once again made an agreement with the scroll demon to set where they would meet. The scroll demon was not very intelligent, and went to Hongmen for a banquet, which he happily accepted.

Xue Meng was very dismissive of this: "His wisdom is definitely not inherited from me."

Seeing that she was going to the Hualou in the Eastern City for a date, Mei Hanxue smiled and leaned forward to say a few words to Xue Meng, but Xue Meng coldly shouted, "Don't come here! I feel angry when I see your face!"

After all, everyone in Taobao Mountain Village left in a hurry. Mai Hanxue stood there in a daze and wondered, how did he provoke him?

Xue Meng was still very upset when he sat alone in the room that had been arranged long ago, waiting for the scroll demon. He was demanding with Mei Hanxue all last night, saying that he could not respond like that for a while, and then said that his behavior was wrong.

After teaching him for so long, in the end Mei Hanxue still said that he did not have the roots of wisdom and that he could not master the so-called conversational skill of "not being rejected by men".

When it was almost dawn, Mei Hanxue simply said, "Forget it, don't study it, it's really impossible. You can praise the demon in the scrolls when you see it. You can also praise a cup of tea."

Xue Meng had no temper, he lay in bed with a strange expression on his face, dying: "Why didn't you say that before, ¿just to torture me all night?

Mei Hanxue looked at the head of Xue Meng, who was lying weakly in bed, didn't speak and looked away.

As he remembered this, and was mentally cursing Mei Hanxue, the door opened with a crack.

Xue Meng's body suddenly tensed.

He knew the scroll demon was coming.

Indeed, from the shadow of the carved lacquer door, a familiar and strange figure appeared. With the lights flashing, Xue Meng saw his "self" violently entering the compartment.

She then greeted herself in a very grateful posture: "My little lady is lucky to have a meeting with me, I, Xue Meng, Xue Ziming am kind!

"..."

Xue Meng felt that he had not violently killed anyone, it was a miracle.

Then came the little talk with the scroll demon. Before the beginning of this little talk, Xue Meng thought that he was completely prepared and that the demon would be very satisfied with the answers.

However, shortly after the conversation began, he realized that he was too wrong.

scroll demon: "Do you usually do your laundry?"

Xue Meng answered his question: "Yes."

"But I don't think your hands look like they've washed clothes."

Xue Meng: "..."

Scroll demon: "Do you practice martial arts?"

"Yes ... a little bit, girls are not good at fighting, but they can't be helpless."

"I'm talking about dancing, dancing, what do you think of a girl? Nothing demure or gentle at all!"

Xue Meng: "..."

"Could you stand up as I say goodbye, and kneel down to welcome me?"

Xue Meng looked at him in the face across the table, and did not feel bad for having talked like that. But the position was reversed, comparing his heart with his heart, and he suddenly felt it was quite inadequate: standing to send him off, kneeling to welcome him? Why doesn't he go to heaven? Do you really think you are Fuxi descendant of the world or are you the apparition of Shennong?

But to make him happy, Xue Meng still bit his tongue and said, "There's nothing wrong with that."

"You're not willing to answer truthfully, you lack enthusiasm".

"..."

"You have to say, I would certainly be willing!"

After answering this question, the scroll demon stood up before the hourglass was over and said to Xue Meng, "I'm sorry, I don't think I want to talk to you anymore."

Xue Meng was surprised!

He responded to all the tricks Mei Hanxue had taught him yesterday according to his own spouse's requirements, so why couldn't she talk about it more? In haste, he became wise, remembering MeiHanxue's last words, "If it doesn't work, you'll flatter him," so hehurriedly shouted: "¡¡stooop!!!"

The scroll demon was stunned and turned: "What are you doing?"

Xue Meng hurried to adjust his tone, enduring the discomfort and forced a smile: "So that ... Master Xue, you are so handsome, so beautiful, and you are rich, so rich, but you cannot be alone. You can't be alone. "

It is too rigid.

Flattery really takes talent.

Indeed, the corner of the parchment demon's mouth moved, and a moment later, he said, "No. I admit that you are very beautiful, but it's not enough to make me fall in love at first sight. And I can see that you want to hold on to me, praising me blindly, miss, you have to be sincere. I don't want a girl like you to come near me for the sake of my wealth."

Xue Meng: "???"

"I hope you can recognize as soon as possible that only true love is trustworthy, not as a superficial woman who is greedy, loves money and admires vanity. Goodbye!"

Xue Meng choked on his chest! What is this?

How can you talk to me like that! Too presumptuous!

Indeed, learning from the night of Chu and the blood of Jiang YeChen, Xue Meng was also an angry lord. He was upset, just like his shizun and his father, he suddenly lost his mind, screamed and broke the little ghost bag he had on his waist, and suddenly pulled out Long Chen and ran towards the scroll demon.

The scroll demon was surprised: "Ahhh! you want to kill me again!"

"You're the one who killed! Where did so many requests come from!"

The scroll demon kept shouting: "Harpy! How can you shout at me for what I want! You, you, you ....!!

He brandished the sword, the lights shook.

The scroll monster escaped dangerously, turned his head and was waiting to scold again, and suddenly he saw Xue Meng's face recover its original appearance after removing the little magic bag, and suddenly he was speechless.

Xue Meng noticed that his eyes were bad, and he was instinctively alert, so that he would not be fooled. He drew back his sword, protected his chest, arched his eyebrows and said, "What are you doing!"

The scroll demon covered his mouth, still with an expression of astonishment: "You, you, are you really a man?

"you fool!"

Xue Meng was waiting to wield his sword again, but he heard it cry out in amazement, "You are a man of agility, handsome and simple!"

Xue Meng: "???"

The scroll demon's eyes lit up and he shouted to the sky: "Ah! Finally! Finally I have found my true love!"

Xue Meng: "....."

"That's why Xue Ziming is the most narcissistic. In fact, as long as Xue Meng threatens the scroll demon with a sword, he will feel that the world has its own beauty, and there is no need to spend much time disguising himself as a woman ..."

After the affair was over, the elder Chen Xuyuan stood in the flower room of Taobao Mountain Village, watching as Xue Meng spoke angrily to the sect leader Ma, who had already lifted the curse and recovered his human body.

Because the sect leader Ma was relieved of his urgent complaints, Xue Meng scolded and warned the sect leader Ma, who smiled and did not care that the catastrophe was originally wielded by Xue Meng.

"From now on, you will never sell this broken scroll that is a disaster for the people," Xue Meng ended with such an angry comment.

Sect leader Ma smiled and said, "Yes, yes! I don't want to be a bee anymore. To be honest, I saw the sect leader Jiang become a bird, the great master Chu become a cat, and I was so afraid that they would eat me. Let's stop playing, let's stop playing".

Xue Meng rolled his eyes and then reluctantly agreed not to be held accountable.

As for the scroll demon that surrendered, sect leader Ma cursed it again, sealed it into a small wooden doll the size of a palm and gave it to Xue

Meng as a gift.

Xue Meng originally did not want to accept this little doll, because the little doll opened his mouth and said, " Sect Leader Xue is so handsome and wild" Looking back, this might be right in the middle of Xue Meng's compliments, but Xue Meng was still worried about the disaster of the scroll demon. Hearing his praise like this, he would not feel happy for a while.

He frowned and said, "Okay, okay, okay, where did you hear this? Don't memorize it, don't say it, this is not true at all".

The dummy was anxious when he heard it, and then he quickly said, "Xue Lang is very beautiful! Xue Lang is very beautiful!"

"Mrs. Wang is the most beautiful lady!"

"Shizun Chu is the most amazing!"

"..."

"Don't leave me alone, the sect leader Xue is good-hearted ..."

Come on, the sect leader Xue is easy to change and his nature is hard to change. No matter how these words are heard in Xue Meng's ears, they are still useful. Xue Meng still reluctantly took the little puppet, put it in the box and returned it to the top of Sisheng Peak.

Before leaving, Mei Hanxue said with a smile, "Sect leader Xue, I suddenly remembered to ask ... Are you satisfied with my previous role of gender change? If you are satisfied, I suggest you give a good commentary."

"Commenting on you a ghost," Xue Meng interrupted him angrily, looking at Mei Hanxue, "I have written the accounts of both of you! I will let the Mingyue Tower take care of you when I get back!"

Mei Hanxue giggled and said quietly, "I'm so scared."

Mei HanXue said indifferently, "The sect leader has been in seclusion recently, and I will be the sect leader of the Taxue Palace for the time being. I invite sect leader Xue to come to the Kunlun Mountain to file a complaint at any time and welcome the big fight."

Xue Meng was surprised and shouted: "Mei HanXue... You, you are shameless! There is someone who can speak of justice in the Taxue Palace of Kunlun!"

The morning sun hangs like gold threads on a loom, shining on the white walls and tiles, and on the barrier of Taobao Mountain Village with the totem of the black night cat, the young people who scream and the poor sect leader Ma who raises his hands and cannot persuade him to raise his face.

Life turns in this comfortable world passed like this.

A month later, the sect leader Ma announced who would end up with the big gift box for the scrolls of worry event; due to the lasciviousness of Xue Meng, the sect leader Ma sadly gave away gift boxes to the ten best customers. Wang Xiaoxue "received those gold and silver jewels, plans and magic instruments ... all were brought back to Sisheng Peak.

As for the five hundred limited edition erotic books, Ta Xianjun from NanPing Mountain won them naturally.

“Shizun said that if you give her these books, he will forgive you for lying to him. Ta Xianjun blatantly told Xue Meng."

When Xue Meng, who was waiting for official faction business at Sisheng Peak, saw a paper crane with sound transmission, he tore the paper crane with an annoying blow.

"You want to be shameless! How could my shizun want to see this kind of thing! Besides, my shizun forgave me a long time ago! He wrote me a letter over ten days ago, Mo Ran your cheeky dog, and creating a riot in the middle! "

He was not yet ready to succumb to such an uproar, and said to the little disciple standing under the hall, "You! Take the people to NanPing Mountain and find the five hundred erotic books! Burn them all!"

"This..." The little disciple was horrified, and was struggling.

Sect leader, that's stepping on the fairy! To take the yellow book of Taxianjun is equivalent to taking a tooth out of the mouth of a tiger!

Xue Meng glared at him: "What are you waiting for? Don't let Mo Ran be so shameless as to deceive the elder Yuheng! Go away!"

"..."

The little disciple had to go there with bitterness, and silently hoped to meet the Mo-zongshi, and there might be a way to survive ...

He opened the door and the dazzling sunlight reflected on the newly repaired jade plate in the Danxin Hall. The four characters "Trust from the Heart" above were recently inscribed by Xue Meng. The ink is sharp and bright. The light is not as convincing, but the glass is clear and smooth.

The farewell scars of the past are slowly healing, and the war had ended a year or two years ago ... The old people who have stayed in this world have finally learned to laugh again, to fight, to run, to adapt and to silence their thoughts. Youth gradually replaced old age, vitality gradually replaced sadness, light replaced darkness, and stability replaced hesitation.

You see, no matter how long the darkness is, even the polar night will have a sunny day.

Emotion and laughter will flourish.

Just like today.

Chapter 343 – 350 are MTL and are still unedited

Ch. 343 Fighting for Affection 1

This is Chu Wanning's second birthday after his retirement.

The one from last year was unfortunate and absurd.

Because last year, it was Taxian-Jun’s turn in control of Mo Ran’s body. Although he could not fully remember what he had done under Mo-zongshi's condition, he could still occasionally remember part of it.

The immortals, who are honest men that think "gold represents my heart", will never do anything right. There are no such things as wind, flowers, snow and moon for him. He simply believes that there are only two ways to express love:

First, bed him repeatedly.

Second, give him money.

There was nothing wrong with him. Sleeping repeatedly with him meant that only Chu Wanning could ignite his desire in this world, and spending money on him meant that Chu Wanning could move his purse. Although the soil is a bit earthy, the emperor can’t think of any other elegant ideas, but he can make do.

However, the problem lies in the timing when Taxian jun gave him gold. He held him again and again his whole birthday night. The next day, he came back with nine baskets of gold bars and put them in front of his house like a rainbow. He waved his hand bravely and beautifully: "Chu Wanning! This is this venerable one’s gift for you! Are you satisfied with everything you see? If you are satisfied with it—”

What's he was about to say was unknown. TaXian Jun had been pulled down on the ground by Tianwen together with his gold bars.

Poor TaXian Jun could not understand why he would be beaten like this after they finished sleeping together. He really had no other intention. He just wanted to prove his good will. What's wrong with giving money after sleeping? Should it be given before bed? Should it be given while sleeping?

Should we charge once, fifty little things and eighty big things?

Eighty-eight eighty...

He sat on the stump in silence, wondering what he would do if he was another man. After thinking about it for a long time, he thought he shouldn’t gift someone gold directly in that case, but change it into soft and comfortable clothes, delicate and delicious dishes, new and interesting instruments... Perhaps then, on the day of Chu Wanning's birthday, he will be delighted gain Chu Wanning’s praise.

It's too much.

TaXian Jun thought indignantly and beat his legs secretly in anger: how cunning! How despicable! What a dog-legs!

Chu Wanning also felt that Mo-zongshi was honest.

—Bah!!

Only he knows what he really is!

Mo-zongshi's seemingly gentleman-like behavior, full of flowers and sweetness, really makes him shameless!! What's wrong with gifting gold? Is it not good to gift gold? How real! How practical!

How can these people not see his heart of gold!

He turned his back to the hut where he lived with Chu Wanning and held his cheeks and legs on the stump of the tree. After a long day of silent anger, Chu Wanning planned to come out and talk to him. There were signs of reconciliation. However, right at that moment, the Sect Leader of Ma in Sect Mt. Taobao unexpectedly came crying and climbing up the mountain, crossed the border, embraced Chu Wanning's thighs and began to complain:

"Chu-zongshi, it’s not fair! Mo-xianjun inexplicably went down the hill and emptied the money of my two warehouses at Taobao. He said that a smile of praise is worth a thousand gold.”

Chu Wanning's face was green again just as he was about to relax.

That evening, Chu Wanning did not allow him to enter the house until Mo Ran changed his personality. Mo Ran later wrote 3,000 times: "I will never steal chickens from the hills to get credit for crimes." It was a piece of work.

With last year's painful lesson, this year's Mo Ran was no longer willing to be careless.

Fortunately, on the day of shizun's birthday this year, the more normal consciousness will be in control of the body, so he should not make any mistakes.

Although, from his memory of TaXian Jun, it seemed he still wanted to prepare something for his shizun this year as well. But Taxian-Jun’s personality could not appear on that day, so it was unlikely he will cause trouble. Maybe it's just because he was cold-shouldered last year, fearing that Mo-zongshi’s gift will surpass him this year, he wanted to win favor.

Fight for it.

Mo-zongshi was thinking that everyone's most difficult opponent was themselves, and he had nothing to fear.

And to tell the truth, he really wanted to see what kind of gift he prepared this year, the best way to win the approval and joy of shizun.

"Birthday gift?"

In his bedroom at the SiSheng Peak, Xue Meng stared unexpectedly at his quiet visit, Mo Ran. The latter is sitting in front of the yellow pear table, fiddling with the tea cups in front of him, and laughing, "Yes, what do you think would be the most satisfying gift?"

"Who are you going to give it to?"

"A person close to me."

Because Chu Wanning was cold, he had never celebrated his birthday at the SiSheng Peak before, and he did not talk to his disciples about his birthday. Later, Chu Wanning and Mo Ran went to live in hiding, and Mo Ran relentlessly pestered him several times. Only then did he finally relax and tell him, but he also asked Mo Ran not to tell others about it, especially Xue Meng.

So Xue Meng naturally did not realize it was about him.

But after thinking about it, he couldn't think of another person who got such painstaking consideration from Mo Ran. Xue Meng thought about it, and suddenly realized that his birthday was approaching— ah, maybe not.

——

Xue Meng was startled, and then a warm current came to his heart. His eyes, which were staring at Mo Ran, suddenly warmed up.

Mo Ran: "???"

Xue Meng coughed softly. Although he was happy in his heart, he maintained the coldness and reserve of his own head. He calmly said, "When it comes to birthdays, it's good to put your heart into it. The ritual is not the most important thing."

Mo Ran said, "I still have to give him something. The relationship between him and me is extraordinary. I don’t just want to give him something, it also has to be the best.”

"What a shame. I don't lack anything either.”

Mo Ran startled slightly: "What?"

"Cough! I mean, they probably don't necessarily lack anything."

"It's one thing whether he's lacking or not. It's another thing whether I give him something or not."

Xue Meng's heart became even more touched, Mo Ran’s secret is now really on the road. He was unexpectedly such a considerate brother. It was really touching. He put a lot of calm effort on his face, pretended to be indifferent, and murmured: "... So, then... Let me think about it.”

"Good."

"How about the new set of golden and silver silk green feather armor in Jiangdong Tang?"

"..."

That suit of clothes glitters like a peacock's screen, but the effect of Chu Wanning's upper body was hard to imagine. Mo Ran was silent for a moment, deliberated and said to Xue Meng euphemistically, "That would suit you.” Not him.

Xue Meng said, "That's settled. That's it."

"...Think again." Mo Ran could not bear to attack his taste, so he tried to be subtle about it. "Although Jiangdong Tang's clothes are good, they are not good enough. Help me think of a more precious one?"

Xue Meng Ran opened his eyes and snapped, "How embarrassing is this?"

"?"

"Cough... I mean, it's almost all right. You don't have to spend so much.”

"A birthday only happens once a year, there’s no need to save money."

Xue Meng was so excited that he lowered his head and endured for a while. He raised his hand and patted Mo Ran shoulder vigorously. "Don't say anything, brother. I'll remember what you said today."

Mo Ran: "...???"

When Mo Ran left the SiSheng Peak in his cloak, he still didn't get any inspiration from Xue Meng.

On the contrary, he also felt that Xue Meng was very puzzling today, and acted even a little strange, often showing joy, excitement, emotion and so on. Despite the great restraint, it did little to hide it.

Was it so stressful to be a sect leader?

He would write a letter to remind elder TanLang to give Xue Meng a check in time to stop the illness. Xue Meng is really not easy, alas.

In the next few days, Mo Ran visited famous buildings and shops in Xiuzhen Secretly and checked all kinds of exotic treasures. Not that the treasures were bad, but he thought they were too vulgar, too gorgeous, or too ordinary to rival his loving heart. He wanted to make all his feelings tangible and dedicate them to Chu Wanning's eyes, but he didn't know what could be loaded with his affection. There was a sea in his heart, but only a spoon in the red dust.

How can there be nothing in the world that can be good enough to give it to Chu Wanning?

He was a little anxious.

He even managed to get a copy of the mending list from the black market. The little dwarf boasted that it contained a detailed list of gifts given to them by the distinguished figures in the mending circle over the past 30 years.

Whether the bookseller was boasting or not, Mo Ran read the list. He held the book and studied it for a long time.

"Nangong Si once gave Ye WangXi a handkerchief with a side corner embroidery with `Ru'."

"Rong Yan once gave an arrow bag to Nangong Si, which was made by Mrs. Rong herself."

"..."

Seeing the records of these old people, he could not help sighing and his eyes became slightly dim.

Ye WangXi spent all the past years wandering around the world by herself. After traveling all over the world, she planned to save some money and then reopen a small school palace in Linyi Ru Fengmen.

It is said that many years before Changying founded the school in Nangong, there was a noble lady in Linyi who opened the school and taught the apprentices six virtues, six lines and six arts. Changying Nangong was the last disciple of the school. Later, because of the decline of Xuegong, Changying of Nangong merged with each other. Based on the Tao taught by the teacher, he sprouted his idea of "seven precepts of Ru Feng sect", which created the Ru Feng sect and opened the glory of Linyi Xiaoaoxiu for hundreds of years.

Today, a circle around, Ru Feng sect collapsed, that brilliance is not there anymore, but Ye WangXi at least retained the kindling of Ru Feng gentlemen, in the form of the original learning Palace inherited.

Perhaps thousands of years later, it will be recovered.

Mo Ran shook his head and read on.—

"Nangong Liu once gave Qi Liangji a gift. Phoenix wear seven pieces of peony, silk belly pockets, and embroidered with golden thread at the corners to ward off evil spirits: 'Why are you wearing beautiful clothes?'"

"..."

When he finished reading word by word, Mo Ran was stiffly, and then aroused a strong nausea. He disliked it so he quickly turned over the list of "Ru Feng sect rituals".

"A gift on Gu Yue Ye."

"Female disciple Zhao Tiantian gave a pair of jadeite buckles to Jiang Yecheng."

"Female disciple Zhou Yanyan gave Jiang Yechen Fengyu a folding fan."

"Female disciple Zhang Chunzhen gave Jiang a golden ear stove at night."

There were more than forty pages of this kind.

When Jiang Xi was not in charge at that time, his female disciples gave him records of things, including some very thoughtful brothers and sisters.

Mo Ran can't help but sink into meditation... Jiang Xi didn't make his fortune by beauty, did he?

He turned the pages again.

"All the above 40 pages of gifts were thrown away by Jiang Xi."

That's ok.

... He misunderstood him.

Jiang Xi is really a wonderful person.

After reading for a long time, Mo Ran still couldn’t find any inspiration for the gift. Instead, he found out that Mei Hanxue recently sent Xue Meng a superb Tianshan snow lotus with brain-tonifying effects.

Snow Lotus is a good thing but Shizun is too smart. Although there is no need to make up for it, it would be very appropriate to adopt it for a pond.

Unfortunately, after Chu Wanning's retirement, he liked to hear dogs barking in Chai Men and return to people on snowy nights. He did not like extravagance. Otherwise, the whole Nanping Mountain would have been uprooted now according to TaXian jun’s ideas. Where would there be two small houses and one yard?

Mo Ran sighed and closed the book.

It happened that the sunset had also sunk, and the soft orange-yellow light was shining through the silk paper of the windows. Today, Shizun temporarily rose up and wrapped up some handwriting. By this time, it had been cooked. From the kitchen came the clashing sound of porcelain and jade: "Mo Ran, come and help me."

"Here I am."

Mo Ran echoes, the deep bamboo forest in Nanping is now flowing with the taste of his favorite food. It is not as strong as hot pot, but it can iron people's inner peace and gentleness every time, just like water stopping.

In the kitchen, a small yellow-and-white dog they adopted last year came out bumping and helped Chu Wanning to urge Mo Ran. He circled around him twice, spitting out his tongue and turning around, all the way to lead Mo Ran.

"Move the table to the yard, wipe it, and hold a small jar of wine."

Chu Wanning stood in front of the stove, the wooden pot cover had been uncovered, the inside was rolling full and round dragon handwriting, thin and crystal handwriting skin wrapped in delicate meat stuffing, waiting to be fished into the bowl, sprinkled with red and bright spices. Chu Wanning in the transpiration of the fog and casually asked: "What books do you read outside, so absorbed reading?"

"Idle books." Mo Ran laughed and rolled up his sleeves to move the wooden table.

As soon as the arm is exerted, the muscles and meridians become prominent and distinct.

Chu Wanning frowned and said, "Read more good books. I heard that a lot of absurd words have come out recently. Don't bring them back to Nanping Mountain. There are many wooden spirits visiting here. Some wooden spirits are still young. It is not helpful to read them and teach them badly later."

Mo Ran laughed and said, "Yes."

Moving the table, he went out with the jubilant cry of the puppy Wangwang.

During the meal, Mo Ran ate and bite the chopsticks.

And the puppy squatted at the table of the two, gripping a meat bone without salt.

Chu Wanning looked at him and at the dog. He thought that the man and the dog were like each other, just a wooden stick and a bone. "What are you thinking about?" he asked.

Mo Rans came back to his mind: "Ah... Shizun. I'm thinking…”

"Well?"

Mo Ran didn’t find the words.

Of course, he could not ask Chu Wanning what he wanted. First, Shizun would not tell him. Second, even if Shizun did, the point of the surprise would disappear. He’s afraid the effect would be worse than the nine baskets of gold from TaXian Jun.

So Mo Ran thought of a more tactful way and asked carefully, "I don't know about our home... What else is missing? Does Shizun feel that there is anything else to be added?”

"No. It's quite complete." Chu Wanning said, "Ever since we have Goutou,[288] I even feel that there is some noise here, so I don't need to add any more things."

The Goutou was a puppy. After it finished biting the bones, he came upside down to bite the horns of Chu Wanning’s robes.

It's naughty by nature. When it came back, it was dying. Chu Wanning saved it, and ever since then it lives with them. For a long time, it liked to go to the house to expose tiles and skip around, Chu Wanning always dislikes it, but in the end, it was still spoiled. The corners of his robes had been gnawed, but even if he scolded it, he would not pull out.

The dog only wagged its tail happily.

Mo Ran asked, "Would you like to expand the house a little?"

"It takes a lot of work and it's boring."

"..."

"I'll do it all by myself?"

"It's noisy enough, and you'll add to it." Chu Wanning raised his eyes slightly and stared at him and said, "It's better to have free money than to spread it down the hill and build any house. Dog one, you one, me one?"

"It's fine with Shizun and me, Goutou lives by himself."

"Then it may wander to the point where it doesn't know who it is."

"Pooh." Mo Ran looked down and smiled and asked, "Dog, do you think I'm okay with you? I squeeze a room with Shizun and build one for you alone. Where can you find such a master to hurt you?"

The yellow-and-white Goutou slanted across his eyes and looked at him in a human-like manner. As if to say "why do you want to squeeze Chu Wanning into a room where you have no compulsion in your heart? You have some face."

"..."

There was no result.

Counting the days before the approaching birthday, there were just a few left. Mo Ran couldn't sleep that night. After Chu Wanning went to sleep, he put his hands behind his head and stared at the roof beam for half a day.

It was a good idea to renovate their cottage to be more beautiful and comfortable. But that needs more land, houses, it's better to search around for some exotic treasures, armor maps, build a library, build a machine armor room, build a treasure house...

Alas, let's get over it. Thinking about it, he knew that Shizun will be unhappy. He feels that he hasn't used his money to the right place, and that he will also feel troubled to take care of it.

Feeling sad, he suddenly heard a strange noise coming from outside.

Mo Ran was caught in a flash.

Goutou?

Wrong. He turned his eyes and saw the sleeping yellow and white puppy curled up in the corner. He immediately dismissed the idea.

... Is it a burglar?

But the place where they went to hide was surrounded by a barrier. Except for Xue Meng and Ma Yun, who had received the message and could go in and out at will, no one else could enter easily.

Unless it's not human.

It was very quiet, but it could not escape his senses. It seemed that something was quietly approaching their residence. Mo Ran held his breath and sat up quietly and went to look out through the window. He could hear the thing near the cabin, which knocked three times in a low voice.

"?"

In the middle of the night, who would come up Nanping Mountain and knock on their door at this time?

Ch. 344 Fighting for Affection 2

Mo Ran quietly got out of bed and squeaked open the door, just saw the yard's wooden door open slightly, the wooden door shaking gently, a white fat soft waxy up-warped tail burning a small blue light flashing past.

He thought for a moment that he was mistaken. After all, he had stayed in Nanping Mountain for so long and had never seen anything like that.

A monster?

He wanted to catch up, but before he stepped out, he noticed a tender green lotus leaf outside the bedding threshold and a wooden box of palm size in the middle of the lotus leaf.

"This is..."

He picked up the lotus leaf in dismay. Somehow, the lotus leaf emitted a faint scent of Osmanthus fragrance. On it were a few words written in a very chubby and childish calligraphy.

Gifts for the birthday of Shenmu xianjun.[289]

Come on. I can help you.

A ricecake spirit with the hope of his village

Mo Ran opened his eyes and almost fell to the ground: "What? Is there such a monster called ricecake in this world????"

So, wasn't that what he had invented years ago to deceive Xue Meng?! It really existed?!

He could not help touching his lips. Did the demon forget to tell him that there was a hidden talent in their special beauty race, such as magic lips or something? Otherwise, how could there really be such a white, fat little monster with a little blue light on its tail?

Mo Ran stood in place for a while, although the ricecake ran too fast, and Mo Ran did not see its whole body, he had an intuition, its whole body should be as he was fabricated, round, waxy head with a large lotus leaf...

After a long delay, he returned to the house with the box.

The room was quiet, Chu Wanning and Goutou were still asleep, undisturbed by the unexpected visitors that night. Mo Ran walked close to Chu Wanning, who was curled up asleep, covered him with the quilt gently, went to the dog's kennel, touched it comfortably twice, then sat down at the table and began to look carefully at the small wooden box.

There was no killing or evil intent.

The spirit was quite heavy, but it is also had some kind of friendliness.

He tried to open the box, but unfortunately he couldn't find any keyhole openings, and the rice cake essence didn't leave any hints to tell him what to do.

Mo Ran couldn’t help but frown and wonder: What on earth is this box for? Is it just an ornament?

The problem is that it was tattered and it didn’t look good.

As if responding to his inquiries, soon after he came up with the question, two lines of goldenseal letters appeared on the top of the small wooden box, sparkling:

"Master, I'm a magic weapon from the demon world. I'm a box of thoughts."

Mo Ran was startled and almost fell off the chair.

What a ghost! How can it have the ability to read people's minds?!

"I'm not a ghost, I'm a good thing." New words continued to emerge on top of the box, and the golden handwriting slowly covered the old words. "In addition, I can only read the mind of the owner. I can't see anyone else's."

Too, too scary.

Mo Ran exhaled a few deep breaths and barely stabilized himself. He looked back at Chu Wanning, who was sleeping with his face covered by the quilt, and Goutou, who was sleeping under its paws. After several deliberations, he lowered his voice and asked carefully, "So, I... I am your master?"

"Yes, master, I've been given to you."

Mo Ran slowed down for a while, but there was still some confusion: "Aren't you a gift from the little monster to my shizun?"

"That is to be reformed by you." The small wooden box continued to fade away old words and emerge new ones, "We feel your strong desire to surprise the God-wood celestial lord on his birthday, but we also see that you are not able to give full play to your limitations due to many restrictions. But you don't have to worry anymore. So long as I'm here, you can make your dreams come true and achieve everything you want."

Mo Ran pondered on its underlying meaning and slowly came to the realization.

Yes... It was his sincerity that touched the mountain spirits. They came to help him prepare his gift?!

"Yes, that's it." The small wooden box lost no time to display two lines of shining words, "Rest assured, master, with me, he will surely have a better birthday this year than last year, come on!"

Mo Ran recalled the nine baskets of gold from last year, and didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

"... It's a bit promising, but don't compare it with last year."

After his doubts were dispelled, Mo Ran began to use this box of thoughts. According to the requirements of the box, in order to prevent it from being inadvertently activated by Chu Wanning or others before his birthday, Mo Ran needed to set a password for it. Only when the password is pronounced can it react. Otherwise, it will be like the most common box, and won't attract much attention.

"Let's set it up as shizun."

"No, it's too simple to be opened by mistake."

The little wooden box paused. "I suggest you set five to ten words here."

"So..." Mo Ran thought for a moment and said, "It would be foolish to gift gold."

"All right." The little wooden box said, "It would be foolish to gift gold is the password to open the box. Shall Mo-zongshi use it now?"

Mo Ran naturally couldn't wait to nod and agree.

In the instant he accepted, a dazzling white light flashed in front of him, forcing him to close his eyes instantly. When he opened them again, he found himself in a vast new world.

This is a place similar to an otherworldly fairyland.

In the mountains, there were flowing water and quiet springs. He was situated in a large open space with some wood piled up. In addition, there were clouds, light red smoke, the flourishing crabapple flowers were light and hazy, flying flowers fell red to chase the running water, quiet and beautiful.

A round ricecake spirit sat on a wooden stake, swept his tail with a blue fireball jumping, and was playing with his soft sticky left paw sticking to his right paw. Unexpectedly, it played too hard, accidentally glueing its claws together, and it couldn’t help but panic, two fat claws pulled in the opposite direction, but it couldn’t pull them apart.

Mo Ran went over and cast a separation spell. With a loud cry, the two claws of the ricecake spirit were free again.

It rolled round and fell on its tender belly, sighed heavily in relief, and then raised a pair of mungbean eyes from under the lotus leaf: "Huh… I was saved! Thank you, thank you! "

"You're welcome. Is this the inside of the box? You're in charge of the box... Uh..." He wanted to ask if he was a monster, but he thought it was impolite, so he laughed and said, "Housekeeper?"

"I'm not a housekeeper." The voice of the ricecake spirit was soft and smooth, but it could be said that it was very contrasting with the tone and color of the tyrannical words, "I, four landlord, you this… Sa, Sagua!"

"?” Mo Ran was startled. “How do you swear at people?"

"I, four, the coolest of our village, the most… most simmering ricecake! If I want to swear, I will swear. Deal with it!"

"..."

A good ricecake, not only could swear, but also articulate.

This spirit is not the same as the shy and lovely ricecake spirit that gave him the box before. It seems that it was indeed the village cake bully. No wonder it was sealed in a box by the villagers, and other ricecakes didn’t hang out with it.

The lonely cake bully stubbornly raised his head and waist, stared at Mo Ran, as if ready to meet his counterattack.

It was meant to be a frightening gesture, but Mo Ran looked at its small arms and legs, soft and white, paused for a moment, and could not help laughing out loud.

"Ha ha ha ha ha!" Mo Ran reached out and touched his little head. "You're so cute!"

The ricecake straightened out the lotus leaf on his head which Mo Ran had poked askew, and became even angrier: "Don't laugh! Be serious! You will pay for this!!”

"What did you say? I'm sorry, haha-"

"Stop… Stop laughing! I’m warning you! Your destiny is now in the hands of my search."

Mo Ran: "..."

He really didn't know that his destiny was dirty in the palm of a ricecake spirit. He had to spend all his self-control to stop himself from laughing again.

"Well, well... Cough... Pfft."

"Don't laugh!"

After some difficult negotiations, the cake tyrant and Mo Ran finally reached a consensus.

Mo Ran mustn’t laugh at it anymore, but it had to talk to Mo Ran about the current situation.

During their conversation, he emphasized that there are many cakes in their ricecake village and their personalities are different, but it was not because of his aggressive personality that he was locked in the box.—

"I, Four of our Village, the best ricecake spoken in human Mandarin, have a clear pronunciation and a clear distinction between death and death. So, I am the messenger who was chosen to communicate roughly with the humans!"

"... You’re the messenger?"

"Yes! You shrink right! The messenger!”

Mo Ran stared at it with his head held high and his chest hung up with infinite pride. He held back his chin and couldn't help but laugh again.

"Ah! Why are you laughing again?! Don't laugh at me! I have been learning verbiage for one or a hundred years! Don't laugh! Laugh again and I'll throw you away!"

In order not to let the cake tyrant murder him, Mo Ran used the perseverance he had to resist Tianwen, and once again forcefully held back his laughter.

"Well, I won't laugh. The messenger will tell me how to use this box of thoughts?"

The tyrant cake hong twinkled his mouth, claws hugged his arms, mung beans squinted at Mo Ran for a while. After seeing that he really stopped laughing, he said, "Simple and verbose, just because the space in the four boxes is different from the outside, don't you want to build a bigger house for Shenmu xianjun, even some beautiful flowers and plants?"

Mo Ran nodded his head and said, "Yes, but my Shizun thought it was too extravagant and noisy, so he was not willing to do it."

"Never mind. In this box, you will not occupy the outside place, nor will you fuck your Shizun..."

Mo Ran immediately interrupted it and said seriously, "It doesn't matter if you say something else is not standard. You must pronounce the word 'noise'[290] correctly."

Tyrant Cake's small eyes turned around and tried his best to read, "Fuck-"[291]

"Noise."

"Fuck..."

"You roll up your tongue say 'noise'."

The cake tyrant heavenly restraint small face more and more white, head up, trying to spit out a tortuous voice: "grass -"[292]

"Nevermind, let's move on."

Tyrant Cake: "Where was I?"

"You were saying that I'm not going to take up space in this box, and I'm not going to make noise to Shizun. But if I'm here to quietly prepare a birthday banquet for my Shizun and renovate my house and countryside, I also need those precious seeds, flowers, ingredients and utensils."

He grinned bitterly and said, "If shizun finds out, I'm afraid it'll be a waste."

"Don't worry." The tyrant cake said, "The things here are different from those outside. You can build a house, dig a pond, plant flowers and respect food materials... You don't need money to buy them, all you have to do is exchange with me, Four!"

Mo Ran opened his eyes in surprise: "exchange?"

"Yes." The tyrant Cake pointed to his stomach. Mo Ran found that there was a natural pocket on his white belly. It was only because the bag and stomach were too white that it did not attract people's attention.

"The houses and plants of your people are not good or beautiful! Shenmu xianjun is in harmony with our family's elements! You bring in the outside things and give them to me, such as cloth, flowers, clay figurines... I'll change them for you."

"But how do I know what to exchange?"

"Well, it depends on your luck. But I'm very generous and kind, and I won't usually treat you badly. If you don't believe it, you can die."

Just give it a try.

But when Mo Ran entered the box, he was unprepared, wearing underwear and nothing outside. Think about it, he could just take off his underwear and pass it.

"I have this on me. What can you give me for it?"

The tyrant cake took a look over Mo Ran clothes and took them with small claws: "Four pieces of clothes with four reasons, it has experienced a lot."

After that, he looked back and forth several times, aiming at the blackened upper body. Needless to say, Mo Ran's figure was naturally excellent, with a straight back, thin waist and limbs, and a solid chest, though with an old scar that will never disappear, but the lines of muscles contain very wild tension, which, with the breathing of one volt, seemed to suppress the body's potential to develop lava.

Tyrant Cake said, "You have good wood."

After that, he raised his underwear and looked at it. "I think it's possible to change the clothes made by Mo-zongshi, which are of good wood quality..."

He muttered and his voice faded. He stuffed his clothes into his white pocket and took them out again and again. "Ah! Yes! Four!"

Mo Ran stood up to look, saw its small soft claws lying in a glittering light golden particles.

"What is this?"

"Heshou flower of the monster clan. I think you can exchange your clothes for these seeds with the flower demon embryo. Here you are. You take it or die."

"..."

Although the baker always tells him to die, Mo Ran was not going to laugh at him. He was very curious. He took the seeds and went to the open space in front of him, and the cake tyrant followed him with a whistle.

"How do you grow it?"

"Just drop it on the ground at will!"

Mo Ran did as told. The demon flower in the demon territory was indeed extraordinary. As he sprinkled the seeds, without even blinking, the open space gave birth to a large sea of light gold and silver convergence. Those flowers were golden like pole peony, silver like clove, rich and flourishing and elegantly melting into waves, to the night in the light of stars and dots of brilliance.

What's more surprising is that in the center of each peony sits a female flower demon holding a golden pipa, and between the stamens of each lilac is a boy playing a silver flute. These little demons, who are not big enough to reach the nail cap, all have glittering and translucent wings. They play the light wings between them, dyeing the flower field which is carrying melodious songs with dream-like luster.

"One— one dress can be exchanged for these?" Mo Ran was startled.

"Four ah, all wordy me, I'm generous." The cake tyrant proudly pushed the lotus leaf on his head. "I'm the most beautiful and nice baby in our ricecake Village!"

Mo Ran felt only a ray of hope shining into his heart, and he immediately excitedly said, "Just you wait! I'll be here a lot these days. I'll go out and think about what I can exchange with you."

And he couldn't wait to go back.

But then he realized he didn't know where the exit was.

The cake tyrant turned his eyes white and pointed to the path where he came. "Run there, run for a while, don't stop, you'll get thicker, but four—"

Mo Ran did not let him finish.

He was so happy that he was anxious to figure out what could be brought in and replaced with the cake tyrant. And the more urgent the Tyrant Cake was, the more it stuttered, "but four" for half a day, even if it's stuck there, it can't say a word. After holding up for a long time, he tried hard to utter the second half of the speech:

"But four! Not every exchange is so cost-effective... You, you pick something better and bring it in! Our ricecake village especially likes the objects used by the Shenmu xianjun. I just gave you four uses and lost. Next time, there's no such a big bargain to pick up, and I'm not going to scatter it!”

Huffing and panting, he tried to say so much and looked up.

Mo Ran has disappeared.

"..." The tyrant cake stood in the middle of the flower field, stayed for a long time, scratched his head, " What a way to run so fast! Next time he'll bring—bring sen! Sa, Sa!"

When Mo Ran opened his eyes, he found himself bounced back to the table.

But he did not sit still for a moment, coupled with the agitation, and fell to the ground.

"Ah-!"

The movement immediately woke up the dog lying by the hearth. It suddenly stood up and began to bark at all conditions: "Wan Wan Wan!"

"Shh! Don't get me in trouble, Goutou!" Mo Ran quickly climbed over to hold the dog and touched it's head. "Don't make noise, another noise will wake up Wanning."

"Woo... Wan Wan Wan!"

"..."

Mo Ran was trying to shut the dog's mouth with his head when he heard a gentle noise behind him, and then a slightly tired and impatient voice lazily sounded in the quiet night.

Chu Wanning lay between the pillows, with half closed phoenix eyes, frowning at him, voice also with some special hoarseness from being just woken up: "... What are you fooling around with instead of sleeping in the middle of the night?"

Mo Ran Busily Back: "Wanning..."

Chu Wanning sleepily lying on his stomach, looking at him from the small chaotic forehead, without saying a word, as if completely awake.

But looking at it, a bright light suddenly fell into those misty eyes. Chu Wanning was very serious, and his eyes were wide open. "Why aren't you wearing clothes?”

Ch. 345 Fighting for Affection 3

Chu Wanning was very serious, and his eyes were wide open. "Why aren't your wearing clothes?"

"Ah?" Mo Ran startled, looked down, saw his bare upper body, raised his hand and touched himself, but for a moment he didn't know how to explain, "Er..."

Chu Wanning looked at his guilty actions, and felt suspicious, so he said seriously, "Mo Ran."

Mo Ran raised his hand: "Yes!"

"... Goutou is still small. It may grow to be a demon in the future. Didn't I told you before? Do you want to set an example and not teach it bad things?"

"Yes, yes."

Chu Wanning narrowed his eyes dangerously: "What are you doing then?"

"..."

"That's... That's right." Mo Ran whispered, but can this fat dog really become fine? He's afraid it'd be no use even if he recited Buddha in his ear every day. Besides, what can a dog understand? Even if he slept in front of Goutou every day, the dog probably would probably not understand the true meaning of dog's life.

But what Shizun said could not be rebutted. Mo Ran had to say euphemistically: "Wanning, listen to my explanation, it's not what it looks like. I didn't mean to do anything in secret..."

Unexpectedly, Goutou, fearing that the world would not be chaotic, interrupted him suddenly and began to bark "Wan Wan Wan" in his arms with the head up.

Chu Wanning put his forehead and gritted his teeth and said, "You let it go."

"All right." Mo Ran open Goutou. "Actually, I..."

"Why are you still naked? Put on your clothes and explain!"

Mo Ran froze.

Chu Wanning saw his strange expression, looked around, and found that Mo Ran was not just undressed, but his underwear simply disappeared. He couldn't help but be shocked: "... Where did your clothes go?"

In this embarrassing atmosphere, the yellow and white dog squinted and began to look at Mo Ran with that dirty expression. His expression looked like a sneer: Ha ha! Stupid?

I see how you explain it!

Mo Ran touched his nose, his throat gathered. He hesitated and said, "Wanning, Wanning, if... If I say my clothes have turned into a sea of flowers, you... would you believe it?"

Chu Wanning: "....."

In their cottage at Nanping Mountain, came the angry reproach of Chu-zongshi: "Mo Weiyu, do you think your shizun has become stupid because he hasn't come down in a long time?"

"No, no, no, no, no! Shizun is the smartest, how can you scatter!!!”

"You talk properly! Learn what to stand and how to stutter!"

Mo Ran was really angry with Goutou, really.

He felt that the dog always had some ideas that he shouldn't have, especially when he looked sideways at people, it was more like a demonstration to him.

Well, it wasn't like this when Mingming picked it up from the haystack.

Now it's all right. Chu Wanning, a five-month-old dog, likes it very much. He also says that he's not mature. Therefore, Mo Ran is forbidden to do anything that is harmful to customs and bad for children in the last month.

Mo Ran asked himself that he had done well under Mo-zongshik's condition. He had adopted Goutou for more than half a month. He had tolerated it. Even the state of TaXian Jun had converged a lot. At least after a runaway accident, Chu Wanning taught him severely, and he did not go ridiculous again, nor did he mention it quietly. The Goutou went to the kitchen and stewed it into dog broth.

But now it seems that he has made a very unsuccessful choice.

—— He should have snuffed the dog in the cradle from the beginning!

Qi returns to Qi, Chu Wanning's birthday celebration can not be delayed, so the next morning, Mo Ran decided, or hurry to collect something to bring things into the box.

"Fresh fish, millet, sugar cans... Bamboo dragonflies, paper butterflies, silk handkerchiefs..."

Taking advantage of Chu Wanning to go out and collect fresh fruits in the depths of Nanping Mountain, Mo Ran searches every grain and every inch of rags at home, and can pick up and carry the whole collection into the pocket of the heavens and the earth.

Goutou looked at him with a frightening look on his face. It seemed uncertain whether he was the owner or a burglar posing as the owner. If he could speak at the moment, he would say, "No brothers, why don't you even let my dog bowl go?"

Ah! Incorrect! Pocket-portable dog bowl!

How can we grab its bowl?

Goutou reacted sharply, and a spirit rushed up, clapping its teeth and biting the edge of its own job, and launched a class struggle with the stinky scrape of ink.

Don't snatch my bowl! Wang Wang Wang!

Mo Ran also does not let go, joking, this bowl is Kunlun blue glaze, food placed in it for three days is like fresh out of the pot. Before meeting Goutou, Mo Ran had planned to keep a cat, that kind of soft, white, quiet and sensible white cat. The cat had a small amount of food. Considering that he and Chu Wanning sometimes sworded around and would not go home for two or three days, he wanted the cat to eat fresh food, so he entrusted Mei Hanxue to find such a bowl.

Unexpectedly, the cat has not yet been raised. It's all cheap for this silly dog.

Is this glass bowl good for keeping food fresh and tender for dogs? Food is poured in, not to mention three days, blink three times, it guarantees to eat to the bottom!

"Loose mouth, this is the bowl I bought originally!"

"Wang Wang Wang!" But you gave it to me!

"I borrowed it from you! Now it's due to be recovered!"

"Wang Wang Wang!" You fart!

"Relax!"

"Wang Wang!" Not loose!

"Song!"

"Wow!" Roll!

A man and a dog were sawing hard when the yard door creaked.

Chu Wanning held a basket of sweet and delicate fruits, maintains the posture of pushing the door, stands in the doorway and looks down at Mo-zongshi kneeling in the yard and grabbing bowls with Goutou.

"..." After a long silence, Chu Wanning put the bamboo basket on the stone table in the courtyard, took a fruit, thought about it, and took several more.

Baiyi xianjun drooped his eyes and said to Mo Ran, "You just stay here and I'll wash you two oranges."

Mo Ran in the moment he turned into the kitchen, heard Chu Wanning sigh, murmuring to himself: "Alas... The porridge I cooked for him in the morning was too bad. Why is he so hungry that he grabs food with the dog?"

Mo Ran: "...???"

"Shizun! Wait! It’s not what you think! Ouch!—”

While he was eager to explain, Goutou snapped at the back of his hand with a whine, and Mo Ran screamed and suddenly released his hand. The yellow-white dog ran out of the door with its glass bowl and ran away without smoke.

Mo Ran clenched his teeth, covered his hands and scolded, "This silly dog..."

After lunch, Mo Ran put down his chopsticks and said that he wanted to buy some medicine for injuries in a Lin’an nearby city. So he went out with his mind in the box.

As soon as he left the yard, he quickly found a deserted place, recited the mantra "It's foolish to gift gold" and went into the box again.

Tyrant Cake was basking in the sunshine near the flower field from yesterday. When he saw Mo Ran, he hummed and said, "Come on, come on - come on?"

"Wait a long time."

Cake Tyrant waved his hand to show his disapproval, but his eyes turned to the Mo Ran treasure of heaven and earth: "Have you brought some, some forest?"

Mo Ran is not urgent, first laughed and handed it a fresh peach: "This for you, Wanning's picking."

The small eyes of the mungbean Cake Tyrant suddenly lit up, one claw waved, turned his head, and honestly refused to say, "Death is impossible, death is impossible!" A small claw pulled open its front pocket.

Mo Ran laughed and said, "How can we not do it, just a fresh peach?"

Said it stuffed into its pocket.

The baker who was bribed by peaches coughed a few times and his face slowed down. "Hey, you, look at you, come on, and be polite!"

After that, he coughed a few more times, moved his little buttocks to the stump and sat upright.

"Come on, let me Kangkang. You've brought something with you."

The witty Mo-zongshi laughed and said, "Okay, Mr. Lao Fan Cake has changed some materials."

"No, no problem!"

Mo Ran handed all the bits and pieces that had been searching all day to its little claws. Cake Tyrant opened the brocade bag and roughly doubled it inside, sighing.

Mo Ran's heart tightened: "What's wrong?"

Cake Tyrant raised his eyes and said, "Sao Nian, you are really poor."

Mo Ran down the curtains, some helpless way:"... I don't know what you want. There are better things, but they are all for our daily use. If you don't think it's appropriate, I'll…”

"Come on." Batiao Tian interrupted him. "Nourish that you are always scattering money to help the world, first, first make up for it."

But in my heart, I said: For the sake of the peach you gave me, let's make it up first.

"What I give and give you won't be the best, because you can give me so much. But our monster's utensils are amazing! Even if broken, broken, violet to play your imagination and hard work, but also four can make a very satisfactory drop effect!"

Mo Ran turned from worry to joy and laughed, "Really? Thank you very much.”

Cake Tyrant waved his hand again, and then began to replace the things brought by Mo Ran with the monster instruments in the box one by one.

"Fresh fish - you can change this!"

Cake Tyrant pulled out a pile of soft felt fabric from his pocket.

"What is this?"

"This cloth made of four or four kinds of cat hair!"

Mo Ran opened his eyes in surprise and took the bundle of cloth. "Cat hair can also weave cloth?"

"Nine big cats and demons." Cake Tyrant explained, and then pulled out another thing from his pocket, "Bamboo dragonflies can be replaced by another one!"

Mo Ran looked at the pile of plain sticks and said, "What is this?"

"Take one, put it in the funeral, spit, and you can turn it into the best wood, although not the best, but it's quite good."

Next, Batian Cake added to him a series of strange things, such as bigger shells, bells drifting down snow when the wind blows, swallows who are good at nesting, green bricks that can pave their own roads, and a fire that understands people's words. And so on.

The most valuable one is actually a bag of coke made by Chu Wanning. Batiao Tian loved it very much. He said that it was the favorite food for ricecakes. Mo Ran found it both surprising and funny.

He thought that if it weren't for Wanning, you would not cook everyday, you would have to eat coke, and I could bring you a lot.

He asked, "What can I change for coke?"

"You wait and see." Batian Gagaba chews a piece of coke and flicks his paws.

Soon, Mo Ran saw a golden lotus pond sinking beside the flower field. The water in the pond was like melted gold, and there were many beautiful snow lotus flowers in it.

"Everything comes to mind." The cake-maker, with his tongue still boasting, said, "If you want to read the fish twice by the river, you will have lotus leaves floating to send you mulberry, as well as fresh lotus root and tender rhombus, you can ask for it. Enough, enough for your birthday feast... Well, four no four is great!"

Mo Ran stared at the pond for a moment, then turned his head and cut the railroad at Batian Cake. "I'll bring you a sack of coke next time!"

"Zeng, Zeng! You were great!" he stammered as soon as he was excited.

Mo Ran said sincerely, "No, you are the best."

With these materials from the Cake Tyrant, Mo Ran rolled up his sleeves and began to work.

Shizun's birthday is the day after tomorrow. Tomorrow is TaXian Jun's turn. He must work faster. As long as he works in this box all day today, and the day after tomorrow, he should be able to lead his shizun in the evening after eating longevity noodles and give him a surprise.

While thinking like this, he quickly set up the cloth, shiju, timber of those demons... Start to build an idyllic fairyland beyond the world for shizun. Neither extravagant and wasteful nor disturbing others, it is quite gratifying to move wooden rafters in a smart way with Mo Ran hands and feet:

Kungfu pays no attention. This year's birthday banquet, shizun will have a happier day than last year!

However, Mo-zongshi was still naive.

He did not intend to compete for favor with himself, but TaXian Jun is different. TaXian Jun is a person who can knock himself to death. How can he be willing to be oppressed by him?

He should know that after the retirement to Nanping Mountain, TaXian Jun was always holding his breath with himself, always fighting with himself.

The daily memory of the two personalities is not entirely in common, but shared along with each other. In fact, this situation is worse than thorough knowledge and thorough ignorance. It is like scratching people's hearts through a layer of yarn. It is easier to cause a single moth.

For example, a few days ago, TaXian Jun stared at Chu Wanning porridge, staring at it, and suddenly said, "this venerable one remembers that yesterday you did not cook porridge."

"Yes." Chu Wanning light, "What's wrong?"

"But this venerable one does not remember what you did yesterday."

"Without cooking, I went to the village and bought some steamed buns."

TaXian Jun quit, stared at the black and purple eyes, and said with great force, "this venerable one should also eat steamed buns!"

"... Didn't you wake up in the morning and say you wanted porridge?"

"No. The steamed bun is also needed in this venerable one's diet. You can't just buy it for him but not for this venerable one.”

"... You might as well take some medicine.”

"Steamed buns!"

"Only porridge."

"Porridge and steamed buns!"

Chu Wanning was too lazy to talk to him: "You can eat whatever you like, but you can't eat that."

TaXian Jun almost fainted in anger. He grabbed Chu Wanning's wrist, brought him over, pressed him against the kitchen table, and drooped his eyelashes to look down. "What's with your attitude? Why can he eat solid steamed buns while this venerable one can only drink porridge? You say, do you think he is better than this venerable one?”

"... I just think you were less ill yesterday than you are today.”

TaXian Jun was silent for a while, seemingly trying to get angry, but at last he was still sad and said, "Okay... Very good. Chu Wanning, what you said before is deceptive, what I have always been a person - is that how you treat the same person? You can't do the same dishes. Why do you favor him?”

Chu Wanning said silently: "The same person will not eat the same meal every morning, you quickly stop making noise, the porridge will turn cold."

"I won’t drink it!" said TaXian Jun.

"Really?"

"No!"

Chu Wanning nodded and said: "OK, then I will serve it to Goutou. It's just a pity since the legs of clouds were your favorite last time.”

"..."

That's it. Taxian-Jun is always in such a state of contending with himself for favor and merit.

As Mo-zongshi, who has experienced two worldly sophistications and the presence of old gods, he can't understand this foolish behavior at all.

At this moment, Mo Ran, who is working hard, has no idea at all. In a few more hours, he will switch to the character of TaXian Jun, and what kind of despondent action will he make...

Ch. 346 Fighting for Affection 4

The next morning.

Taxian-Jun squinted and sat under the loquat tree in the courtyard, peeling loquats for himself to eat while squinting at what he was thinking.

After switching over, he could not remember anything else in the past three days. He vaguely remembered that he had got a wooden box, a ricecake. ricecake Monster sent it as if it had something to do with Chu Wanning's birthday gift.

But more than that, he can't recall it.

Taxian-Jun dared not take it lightly. After all, he thought Mo-zongshi was a bird with deep intention. He seemed loyal and honest, but he was honest and respectful. He had a lot of flowers and intestines.

Where like myself, handsome, honest, domineering, powerful, treat people sincerely.

The honest man like himself is really at a disadvantage.

TaXian Jun sighed, a deep light shining in purple and black eyes. The loquat juice was very sticky. He raised his hand and licked his fingertips to taste the delicate sweetness. He said to himself, "You can't lose!" this venerable one is from the emperor's family. For the emperor's court, this venerable one knows much more than the other one. The so-called "know one's friend and know the other" can win a hundred battles. As long as this venerable one sees Mo-zongshi's congratulations in advance, this venerable one can fight back and force him!

But longing to know Mo-zongshi's gift is one thing. How to know it is another profound knowledge.

He did not expect to be able to communicate with his own soul. Mo-zongshi had no ghost until he understood him.

Well, if not... Trying to get Chu Wanning to talk like a routine?

No, No.

This idea was quickly rejected by TaXian Jun himself.

Looking back on his past life, Song Qiutong always dressed up for every festival and tried her best to please him. He came knocking around to find out if his sister Chu had prepared any gifts for him.

At that time, he was holding an evil fire in his heart. Looking at Song Qiutong's seemingly shrewd but silly head melon seeds, he spent his whole life of self-cultivation to not shout abuse - what to do! Ask what! Chu Wanning was not to give this venerable one festival gifts you are satisfied!!!

But each time they did not roar out, but suppressed their anger, grinned and chanted the gloom, slowly and orderly way: "unexpectedly, the Queen was so concerned about Princess Chu, give him a gift to see him alike."

Song Qiutong's beautiful face flashed with apprehension. She showed more submissiveness and charm because of fear, hoping to win the emperor's pity.

So she busily said, "Concubines just can't make up their minds. They want to know about the wishes of Chu's sister..."

"Oh... Want to know the mind of Chu Fei.” TaXian Jun slowly immersed these words in his lips for a while. He sneered and looked like a cold sword out of the box.

"So, you want to show that you, the queen, should have no opinions. You want to be a concubine like him, or you want to be a concubine at all?"

She was so frightened that Song Qiutong staggered and fell to her knees, knocking her head in succession.

At that time, he only felt disgusted and angry at the same time in his heart, dragon and tiger, bite and fight. Gong'e, who had witnessed the incident, said that the emperor was moody, but nobody knew it. Even if Song Qiutong herself did not know it, he was really touched by her. He had been under house arrest for so long and had only won people, but it seemed that he had never received hearts.

As for the obedience, obedience and love he longed for, it was more like a nine-day cold moon, beyond reach.

Even these years, he has not received any Festival ceremony from Chu Wanning. Even when the snow is deep on New Year's Eve, his secret wish of "Happy New Year" was delusional.

In this way, Song Qiutong pricked his self-esteem and poked at his troubles. To mock him for having nothing, for receiving nothing, to mock him for being a lonely widow, a poor wretch who seems to aspire to get what he really wants.——

How dare she... How dare she!!!

The emperor's face turned blue with anger, and Song Qiutong's face turned white with fear. He looked at her sadly. The truth could not be said quickly, and she had no idea what fault she had committed.

Neither the emperors nor the empress realized that, in fact, her struggle for favor was lost from the very beginning.

Yes.

You can't ask Chu Wanning.

After the end of this memory, TaXian Jun became more and more firm in his thinking.

The essence of the competition for favor lies in the light clouds and breeze, which seems to be indifferent. In fact, it is the most undesirable to jump out and expose your concern at the beginning.

However, how can we find out Mo-zongshi's actions lightly and indifferently?

There is not much time left for him. Tomorrow will be Chu Wanning's birthday. He has only the last few hours to win the war of defeat.

In meditation, TaXian Jun saw Goutou running past him chasing a butterfly. The dog perceived his eyes, and made a sudden stop, tilted over his head, with its usual oblique and oblique eyes on the former Emperor who was trapped in trouble. Dogs' eyes are full of wisdom and care.

TaXian Jun had a good idea.

Yes!

"Good dog, good dog, come on." Taking advantage of Chu's Wanning to go out to explore the soul of plants in Nanping Mountain, TaXian Jun took Goutou in his arms, put it on his leg, and then rubbed his dog's paws with a laugh that he thought was very kind and frightening. "This venerable one knows that you are the smartest. What this venerable one said should be understandable."

Goutou: "..."

"This venerable one asks you, do you know that a wooden box was found here a few days ago?"

Goutou: "Whoop..."

"Do you obey me and bring the box to this venerable one? Can you do that?"

"Whoop..." It can't be done.

TaXian Jun's face sank a little, but he still laughed and said, "How about rewarding you with a meat bone?"

"Wang Wang!" Two!

"Yes, two it is."

As a matter of fact, the man-like dog-like immortal monarch was better at communicating with his peers than the man-like Mo-zongshi. One man, one dog, could have reached the consensus of adultery so quickly without being able to speak at all.

"Wow!"

The dog wagged its tail and jumped out of the arms of Taxian-Jun. It ran to the depth of some humble grass. In a short time, it became a traitor of Mo-zongshi. It pulled out the thoughts of Mo-zongshi into boxes, and sent them to Taxian-Jun with mud.

"So fast?"

"Wang Wang Wang!" That's right. You don't want to see who I am.

TaXian Jun was very satisfied, smiling and touching Goutou: "Aiqing is really a good dog, this venerable one will call you -"

Why didn't Feng think of it? Suddenly he heard familiar footsteps outside the courtyard door. As soon as TaXian Jun's face changed, he immediately raised his hand and boxed his thoughts into boxes and received them in his arms in a flash of thunder.

Then he looked back calmly with nothing happening: "Wanning is back."

Goutou wagged his tail calmly with nothing happening, flatteringly spitting his tongue at Chu Wanning.

Chu Wanning, who came back from the mountain tour, looked at the man and the dog, and always felt that there was a kind of mysterious conspiracy breath running between them: "... What are you doing?

TaXian Jun quickly turned to the topic: "How was the harem of this venerable one?"

Chu Wanning said, "Your Xiao Cui and Xiao Hong are dead."

"!!!" Taxian-Jun was shocked, "What?!"

"In the storm last night, your planted Xiangfei bamboo and red crabapple on the south hillside were blown down. I told you before that you should not plant them in the windward part of the rock wall. If you refuse to listen, you can only learn from this lesson."

Taxian-Jun was instantly sad, and he quit.

When he arrived to Nanping Mountain, he rushed to pull the grass planted by Chu Wanning together. Although he had been playing tricks on Wanningooe by calling the flowers and plants his harem, there were not only concubines in the empress palace, but in fact he was quietly trying to seal the trees they planted together as princesses and princes.

Now that their children have died, that will he do?

"No! This venerable one is going to take a look!”

"Look at what." Chu Wanning was amused that he was taken seriously. He immediately pulled him over and said to him, "I have applied magic, and I have connected all the broken flowers and plants back."

"All ready?"

"It's all ready."

Taxian-Jun stared at him, and after a moment, Chu Wanning did not respond, when he suddenly opened his arms, and firmly embraced him.

"..." Chu Wanning was unexpectedly surrounded by arms embracing his waist embraced. He gave a sad and helpless laugh, "What are you doing...?"

TaXian jun sat, Chu Wanning stood, and TaXian Jun's head rested on Chu Wanning's abdomen, wanting to rub against it, but didn't have the face, and finally only muffled: "this venerable one... Is happy."

This was Chu Wanning's heart. He will be distressed. He expects that all the plants and trees planted will be destroyed by the wind and rain. He will save them without saying a word. The withered wood is still in the spring, and his once withered heart, accompanied by Chu Wanning, gradually has a bright red color, with blood, love and love.

At last he was able to walk carefully into the light.

In order to let the light shine a little more for himself and a little less for Mo-zongshi, TaXian Jun became more and more firm in his determination to solve the mystery of Mo-zongshi's gift. Unlike Mo-zongshi, who was very conscious, he refused to admit that they were one, so Mo-zongshi was not hostile to the other, but he blushed and fought with Mo-zongshi roughly every day.

TaXian Jun took "the venerable one is in a good mood today, this venerable one cooks in person" as the reason to shut himself quietly in the kitchen and began to study this idea in the box.

The emperor's experience told him that as long as he could open the box, Mo-zongshi's secret would be exposed under his eyes.

But the problem is that the box is seamless. How on earth can it be opened?

"Open the box!"

Useless.

"You want it!"

It's still closed.

"Show you this handsome face."

The box stayed motionless.

Taxian-Jun tried all kinds of statements, all of which were incomprehensible. At last, he was a little manic. He planned to harden his palm and split one in two.

He slammed down, only to hear a crash!

The bench under the box was broken.

But the box was still in good condition.

"Funny, this venerable one doesn't believe this evil..." Taxian-Jun was angry and called out the blade to cut it horizontally and vertically for more than twenty knives. But he could not freely release his spiritual power in the kitchen to prevent the house from being destroyed, so he could not exert one-tenth of his strength. After half a day of splitting, the box was still safe and sound.

On the contrary, Chu Wanning knocked on the door: "Mo Ran? What are you doing? Why are there so much noise in it?"

"... Cut stuffing!" TaXian Jun casually said, "I'm making pies!"

Chu Wanning waited for a while: "Bingjian in the day before yesterday's remaining, I had not used up the wrapping hands."

"Yes, I see."

After answering the voice, TaXian Jun reacted sensibly afterwards - no! Chu Wanning wrapped hands for Mo-zongshi again?!

Why didn't he!!!

This thought, more angry, feel more unable to let go of Mo-zongshi, never let the other party invite a contribution on his birthday! That hypocrite, villain!

Strive for favor with him? Why don't you try your best?

Taxian-Jun's eyes were covered with a layer of darkness. He stared at the box. His slender and smooth fingers were rubbing the rough texture on his head. Bad water rose in his heart. He thought, otherwise... Why don't you just drop this box at the bottom of the cliff?

Isn't it a birthday gift? He could have found a better one for Chu Wanning before sunset today.

He is the emperor of the cultivation world. What can he not do if he wants something unique in heaven and earth?

Although he was tired of the days when he was a noble king and loved the warmth of returning to the world again, he always liked to dress up and sniff the fireworks in the mountains. He even felt that he secretly disguised himself as a "Gou Master" to collect the miscellaneous money, which was worse than that in the silent and cold palace at that time. The rare treasures presented should be much more precious and meaningful.

Such a vulgar sweetness is good, but he is reluctant to show his love.

Taxian-Jun has a face, especially in order to distinguish himself from the poor Mo-zongshi. Even if he secretly loved the cabbage and boiled tofu of the farmer's family, he would hum and pretend that his favorite food is still the grand parade, which is a precious seafood.

This kind of swollen face and fat man's prestige is also good occasionally.

For example, TaXian Jun firmly believes that as long as he risks the risk of being sucked to death by Chu Wanning, arrogantly returns to the rivers and lakes, and searches for treasures everywhere, he will be able to quickly find the kind of luxurious and exquisite on the stage, novel and meaningful congratulations!

Definite!

After this idea had taken root in his mind, Taxian-Jun stood up, intending to put away the wooden box and take it out to throw it away in the afternoon.

But in retrospect, if he really wanted to do so, his recovery conscience was somewhat disturbed.

...Well, that's one less gift for Chu Wanning. What if we can't find a better one? Should Chu Wanning really like this box and be destroyed by this venerable one, isn't it? Er... Aren't you coming to make trouble with this venerable one? This venerable one is now his favorite, he will really make trouble, then what should be done? How to coax? Would it be useless to cajole?

In this way of thinking, he felt a little sad.

Since ancient times, the ruthless emperor's family, once the emperor is in love, he can only fall into the family with his lover.

Even such a trivial matter, thought Chu Wanning may not be happy, his heart hardened.

This venerable one is not promising!

TaXian Jun sighed in his heart.

But at that moment, he suddenly found a white figure passing by the small window of the wooden grate. He knew something different and immediately grabbed it, but it ran so fast that he could only see a small blue lamp held by a white tail. Without seeing its whole picture, it had disappeared into the grass.

A rolled green lotus leaf was stuffed between the cracks of the window-only wooden fence.

... a ricecake spirit!!

A sudden flash of inspiration in the mind of Taxian-Jun suddenly aroused the memory of another adventure that belonged to him two days ago.

He immediately raised his hand to pull out the lotus leaves left by the rice cake essence, and smoothed them out by the sunshine sprinkled outside the window. He could not help but be overjoyed, but then he immediately became angry.

TaXian Jun scolded himself angrily: "Mo Weiyu, how daring you are! How dare you mock this venerable one!"

Seen only on the lotus leaf, writes a few lines askew:

Good Emperor! I'm the ricecake of the Emperor's personality. I sneaked out of the village to report to the Emperor. It's a box of thoughts. There's a fairyland in it. Mo-zongshi's personality is the key to opening the curse. It's called "It's foolish to send gold." I can only help you here! Come on. You can do it!

Although TaXian Jun did not know what "jigger" meant, he felt that the demon had not learned the common people's Mandarin well, and there were also some demon words in his speech, but he understood that the other must be praising himself with his witty mind and context.

This ricecake is very good! He knew the current affairs very well! He intends to make it a master of Nanping Mountain after it has been accomplished.

Taxian-Jun finished thinking like this and paused. In order to accomplish great things, he suppressed the humiliation which was despised by another man himself and gnashed his teeth at the wooden box.

"It would be foolish to gift gold."

A golden light flashed and TaXian Jun disappeared in the kitchen.

He was sent into the box too.

Ch. 347 Fighting for Affection 5

When Taxian-Jun came in, Cake Tyrant was sitting in the hills and rivers that had been built by Mo Ran, chasing butterflies with his short legs.

When he heard the sound of his arrival, he turned his head at once, almost fell to the ground for moving too fast, and finally staggered back to his feet. The cake tyrant put out his paws to straighten out the lotus leaves on his head and shouted, "Ah, Ah, Ah, Ah— small male harvest, you finally came. I was dying of boredom!"

TaXian Jun stared at it for a moment, and came to the conclusion that it was a foolish ricecake guard.

So he turned his eyes away.

Then, with his sharp eyes, he looked back and forth at the house thoroughly.

The paradise had not been completed yet, but it was close to. TaXian Jun could fully appreciate its elegance, flying sparkling flower fields, dwelling between the flower stamens playing piano and flute, golden flowing lotus pond, tree house twined by vines, shell summer couch in the courtyard...

The look of the gentleman's face became gloomy.

He knows Chu Wanning. Chu Wanning looks serious but, in fact, he is very curious. He certainly likes this kind of strange place which does not belong to the mortal world.

The only possible cause of Chu Wanning's dislike is that of Chu Wanning.
——

He turned his head and stared at the Tyrant Cake.

When the thin lips were opened and buttoned, Mo Ran asked, "How much is the price here?"

At this time, Tyrant Cake has not responded to the current temperament has changed greatly, some confused: "silly, silly..."

TaXian Jun wrinkled his long eyebrows and suddenly lifted them up in his palm.

"Eh-"

"Who are you scolding for being silly?"

The net pockets for catching butterflies in the hands of the baker heaven dropped, and his eyes turned white under the stranglehold of the emperor Taxian. He shook his calves sadly and gave his substandard Mandarin to the standard: "What, what's the situation?"

TaXian Jun: "....."

It was a misunderstanding. With a cold hum, he loosened his five fingers and threw the monster back on the ground. Cake Tyrant touched his neck, exhaled heavily, looked up at the man's apparently hazy face, and suddenly felt the taste.

Ouch?! This is not Mo-zongshi!

They all know that Mo Ran’s personality changes every three days. It has been in exile for a long time, so they forgot about it. In front of him, this vicious and violent version of Mo-zongshi, who was kind two days ago, is clearly...

"Ah!" Cake Tyrant uttered a scream and got up and was ready to flee. "Help! He's here!!! He's not coming back with him!!!!”

He was too scared to stutter.

The two soft ricecake legs of the Cake Tyrant strode hard, closed their eyes and ran hard for half a day. When they opened a gap and looked out, they realized that they were still there.

"..."

I don't know when, TaXian Jun has turned into a spiritual cage, like a roller water car, which runs like a hamster for half a day, but has not gone anywhere.

Cake Tyrant swallowed his saliva and turned back trembling, embarrassed and frightened.

"Brother, Brother..."

"Are you looking for death?" "Who is your brother?"

"Emperor, emperor, good!"

TaXian Jun once again: "....."

In order to survive, Cake Tyrant soon succumbed to the lewd authority of TaXian Jun. It tells the emperor everything about boxes of thoughts in great detail, and tells him the answer he least wants to know.——

"No, no, no, no, no, no, it's cheap here!"

TaXian Jun fell into silence.

It's not expensive, it's not wasteful, and it's intentional.

How can you compare yourself with a gift like this?

... Damn, luckily he found out earlier, otherwise the birth of Wanning would be in front of him. If Mo-zongshi really played this card, he would lose.

TaXian Jun's heart way, the opportunity can not be lost no longer come, he must take advantage of the time is still early, to remove the cover of the field!

His handsome face flickered with blurred shadows. He stared at the landscape dwelling built by Mo-zongshi and listened to Cake Tyrant nagging.

Cake Tyrant explained, "Everything outside can be used to exchange materials with me, but it's beautiful inside. Fourth, these building materials are not the best now. You sent them two days ago to exchange items, all four of them are not worth much money."

"Oh? Really?" TaXian Jun Road, "But this sea of flowers looks very valuable."

"Those four gifts."

TaXian Jun pointed to the pond again: "This pond does not look cheap either."

"The four were exchanged for the best thing you sent."

TaXian Jun raised his ears: "The best thing?"

"Four."

"What is it?" He can afford it, and so can this venerable one, if you will.

When the baker heard his words, his small eyes lit up: "Give me a drop?... Well, then, we like the coke made by Taxian-jun!”

"..."

He is wrong.

There is one thing in the world that he is almost paranoid and doomed not to be able to afford.

That's what Chu Wanning cooked.

In this respect, Mo-zongshi is different from him. He has not experienced the life and death years of the Wushan Palace in his previous life, nor in the suffocating loneliness, so madly missed the dishes that are not delicious but steaming with the heat of the world. Therefore, Mo-zongshi's craftsmanship of Chu Wanning was never a morbid possession.

On the contrary, Mo-zongshi always wanted to make his cooking recognized by more people, or by the monsters of mountains and forests, so that Chu Wanning would be happy, and he would be happy too.

So he heard that Cake Tyrant liked to eat the coke made by Chu Wanning. In fact, he was very willing to share it.

But TaXian Jun is different.

TaXian Jun is like a person who has been hungry for ten years and poor for ten years. He occupies all the cooking food of Chu Wanning in revenge.

Even if it is unpalatable, he will swallow it hungrily and thirstily. He has a stomachache and is unwilling to share it with others. The most exaggerated thing is that once Chu Wanning had nothing to do to wrap five pieces of bamboo flat handwriting, originally thought of putting them away and eating slowly, enough to eat for half a month.

As a result, TaXian Jun knew that he was going to cut back to another state the next day. In order to avoid cheapening another himself, he really ate half a month's handwriting before the time of his son arrived.

Then Master Jimo lay in bed for three days.

So when he heard that the Baker was so covetous, he immediately angrily said, "Don't even think about it!" Chu Wanning made coke can only be eaten in this venerable one! "

Cake Tyrant looked at him with tears in his eyes.

"It's no use crying!"

Cake Tyrant sadly wiped his eyes with his paws and claws: "Whoop..."

The emperor is indeed a bad, bad thing!

Since coke could not be replaced, TaXian Jun began to make other ideas.

"Tell this venerable one, besides coke, what else can I give you for more exquisite and valuable monster utensils?"

Cake Tyrant choked, did not want to answer, but had to answer: "... The emperor and the emperor can first grope for themselves and try four things for a change.

TaXian Jun frowned: "Mo-zongshi tried it like this?"

"Well." Ba Tian bowed grievantly. "You used your clothes the first two days and changed into a flower field."

"So... So he took off his clothes... He murmured, pinched his chin and thought for a while, feeling that he could not lose to himself.

So he also took off his robe and handed it to Cake Tyrant.

"This is the dress of this venerable one. Take a good look at it and see what you can change?"

Cake Tyrant held up his clothes and looked up and down for half a day, but he did not speak for half a day. Just when TaXian Jun was a little impatient, he hesitated to poke half of his head against the lotus leaf from behind his clothes.

"Emperor, change, change the forest is not my own decision, four rules, if the exchange of rough things is not your intention, can you stop pinching my neck..."

"Say less nonsense, what on earth can I change?!"

The voice of cakes and bullies is like mosquitoes singing: "... Keep natural, pollution-free and pollution-free... Wash, wash water..."

TaXian Jun thought he had misheard, "Foot wash water?"

"Four... Four washes of hanging water..." Cake tyrant looked like a weeping day, and then he said, "three days in a wash, in March, nourish the essence of natural herbs. You, you will be more powerful, stronger and more powerful than now."

When he was stiff, he looked like the bottom of a pot and said angrily, "I'm sorry to hear that." Do you want to die?!"

"Whoop no! I don't want to!!!! Batiao Tian shook his head and burst into tears.

"Why can he change the sea of flowers? My change is washing water! Do I look like I need this kind of thing? Ah??!"

"Whoop you don't need!"

"Think of something else! Can you change for another one?'

"No..."

On TaXian Jun's horrible eyes, Cake Tyrant cried out repeatedly: "No. 4 I can decide, we also have rules of the demon clan!"

"What rules cannot be changed? You are so absurd, believe it or not, this venerable one killed you!"

"It's useless for you to throw me away. You've also gone around my guide!"

"You...!"

TaXian Jun choked and suppressed his anger.

"All right, forget it!" In the face of great events, endure the sea and the sky for a while.

He also pointed to this cake to defeat his opponent Mo-zongshi.

So he swallowed a lot of dirty words and tried to be calm, but he gritted his teeth and asked, "Then tell this venerable one immediately what you want to get in order to change it." He pointed to the field that had been built almost. "Better materials than these?"

"I, I can't be wordy..." the baker choked.

The emperor of Taxian jumped violently and broke through his muscles. He said angrily, "Never say that this venerable one really cuts you!"

"Whoop!"

No way out.

In order not to be knocked flat to make sweet-scented osmanthus candy ricecake and eat out, the Cake Tyrant had to sit on the stump, choking, and began to reveal the replacement tips to TaXian Jun.

It took half a day in its pocket with its plump little short hand, pulled out a tattered little book of bark, and handed it to TaXian Jun grievantly. Where else was there a little swaggering in front of Mo-zongshi? TaXian Jun was not polite either. He took the book and turned two pages.

"Goddess of the Flower... This is not good. You can't be glad at Chu Wanning."

"Supreme cook... It's not interesting either. The craftsmanship of this venerable one is much better than that of the cook. No one else has to do it."

Frowning disdainfully for half a day, TaXian Jun was suddenly attracted by one of them.

"Flowering rain - a cloud, will float over the pastoral courtyard after acquisition, constantly sprinkle petals down."

TaXian Jun, who has a delicious taste, read the praise of the festival and said, "Okay, this is good, how can I change this?"

The cake tyrant stretched out his paws weakly and turned a page for him.

Behind it was written the following words:

Exchange terms: living people.

TaXian Jun suddenly opened his eyes: "Living people? Live sacrifice?"

"... Don't think, think so bloodily." The cake tyrant buzzed and said, "Just grab someone and shut them inside the box... Close in, it rains, let go, it rains, it stops. Very literary and civilized!"

"Then why shut people in?"

Cake Tyrant poked his soft little finger with some embarrassment: "Because there is no other person in the box, in fact, the fourth year cake in our village can run around with the door, grab and catch them, so that everyone can visit."

"You demons, visitors?"

Cake Tyrant continued to rub his hands with embarrassment: "Four or four ah."

"That's a great story! How could this venerable one do such absurd things! "

Cake Tyrant: "You can also not change these, these things for living people, are the highest, but you can also change a level of..."

"Wait a minute."

As soon as TaXian Jun heard the highest level, he raised his hand and interrupted it. "Are all the living people the best?"

"Yes, yes."

TaXian Jun snapped shut the bark book and embraced his arms with righteousness and righteousness.

"Whom are you going to catch?"

.

Chu Wanning thought Mo Ran was abnormal these days.

First it was Mo-zongshi, staying awake in the middle of the night, lying naked on the ground and pressing Goutou.

Then it was Taxian-Jun. He confined himself mysteriously in the kitchen for half a day, saying that he was going to make pie, but when lunch time came, he didn't even send out the flour. When he asked him what he had been doing for so long, he answered that he was thinking about life.

What is more odd is that TaXian Jun only appears once in three days. He likes to be entangled with him most on weekdays. Although he occasionally goes downhill in the daytime and makes some secrets of his own, he will come before dinner, and he always carries a jar of good wine or a box of snacks in his hand. Don't be embarrassed and hand them to him.

But today is different. They did not eat the pie at noon, boiled some noodles, and then Taxian-Jun said he had to go out.

Chu Wanning asked, "What do you want to eat in the evening? Let me do it."

TaXian Jun hesitated for a moment. It seemed that he was engaged in a fierce ideological struggle. At last, he said abnormally, "No, this venerable one will come back very late tonight. You don't have to wait. Go to bed earlier."

Chu Wanning open his phoenix eyes wide.

This is...

Seven years itch?

But seven years don't seem to have arrived, or has it passed?

—— That's it. Chu Wanning completely forgot that his birthday was coming.

But in fact, for the former Chu Wanning, birthdays were not a particularly beautiful thing. When he was a child and was with Huai Zhiu in Wubei Temple, in the first few years, he would deliberately give him some small things to play with and pastries on this day. Every time, he was very happy, holding a wooden sword or a sweet snack, looking at the monk, smiling and saying “thank you, shizun. Shizun treats me very well.”

Huai Zhui’s look at that time seemed to be pricked somewhere.

But at that time, Chu Wanning did not know that he was bearing the pain of guilt inside.

Later, from a certain year on, the Huai Zhui suddenly stopped giving him birthday gifts. Of course, snacks and other things often happened. The monk would pull them out by magic from his broad and elegant sleeves, but not necessarily stick to the day of his birthday.

Chu Wanning thought that if he grew up, he would not celebrate his birthday every year.

He asked if it was true to cherish sin. After a while, he looked at the evergreen giant cypress in the Zen Temple all the year round and touched the head of Tanning. He said, "Yes, Tanning is very big. In a few years, it will be a weak crown."

At that time, he did not look into his eyes. When he said these words, he kept looking at the twilight sun.

A bright red reflection on the horizon was in the monk's eyes.

Like blood.

Chu Wanning had no reason to feel guilty. His face was very complex. He was not deep in the world. He had seen many words only in books, but he never found concrete expression in his life. At that moment, he seemed to realize that his guilty face was half cruel and half sad.

He didn't know why Master had such an expression when he mentioned his weak crown, but he just felt blocked and saddened by the sorrow of being guilty.

He stood up, while the guilty man was still sitting next to him. He had the courage to touch the guilty man's bald head and coax the great monk in front of him clumsily.

"Master, don't be unhappy. When I am weak, I will give you my birthday."

There was a stiffness of guilt and then a drop in the head.

Chu did not see his face in the shadows at that time.

Half a time with guilt, he laughed hoarsely and said, "No grown-up man can live this day... It's only a child.“ After a pause, Chu Wanning got up before he could say more.

The broad monk's robes and gowns floated in the evening breeze. At that time, the monk's figure was so tall. When he stood up, he covered all the oblique sunshine bloodstains that fell on Chu Wanning.

"It's not too early. There's something to go out for the teacher. You... Hello, late study."

He left without looking back.

Later, after a long period of more than 20 years, Chu Wanning never received a sentence of "Happy Birthday". No one ever wished him another year, wishing him well for the rest of his life.

Until returning to Nanping.

Until this time, he finally had his own life stability, Mo Ran will sincerely read his birthday, want to make up for the past years. Unfortunately, this concern is too late. Chu Wanning has been used to being forgotten in the loneliness of the past.

He was used to forgetting himself.

Yuheng elder, who can't remember the "birthday" at all, frowned in the courtyard and fell into deep thought. What happened to Mo Ran?

Is there anything he's been unhappy about lately?

Or is there something big going on outside?

Otherwise, no matter whether it was Mo-zongshi or Taxian-Jun, they were both very strange these days...

Ch.348 Fighting for Affection 6

Not yet.

Four hours before Chu Wanning's birthday.

Taxian-Jun steadily landed on the beams of the study on the lonely moonlit night, and could not help shouting cheers for himself in his heart. Time is so tight that only he can move freely between heaven and earth. After all, Royal Sword can not be so fast, and can not travel around the world in a short time, but he is different, he will be able to space teleportation.

Taxian-Jun was too proud of himself.

"All over the sky, rain and clouds, need to capture the level of human beings `Esais'- ginger, evening Cen, ginger Tibetan Gate, in order to exchange." Tyrant Cake’s words were still in his ears.

And I was very vigilant and serious at that time and asked, "What is the level of 'Essex'?"

"Then there are four demons." "Cake Ba Heavenly Way," on the four verbose, not hard to catch, four by our demon clan labeled as the thinning of human beings.

Hard to catch?

Taxian-Jun gave a cold hum in his heart.

It depends on who gets out of the horse. For him, it's not difficult to catch Jiang's night sinking.

He looked down from the girders painted with gold and vermilion. Jiang was so happy and quiet at night that he hated being in contact with people. Therefore, there was no boy in the room. He was alone, sitting by the window, reading books.

Jiang Xi has been badly injured since the war and has been in poor health. He was originally a man of manly stature and dignity, but he spent months on his bed and lost a lot of weight. Now he is still very thin, but his appearance is so pale that he is somewhat lacking in authority and shows some morbid decadence and beauty.

But beauty is beautiful. Although Taxian-Jun's aesthetics is not faulty, he knows that Jiang Yechen is a rare beauty, but what's more, he has seen more beautiful people in his life, and he has not learned to pity the jade.

Taxian-Jun, who did not know how to pity Xianyu, looked at Jiang Yechen for a while, finally found an angle, took out the box in his arms, and clicked open the wooden box.——

"Go ahead, you'll have everything in your mind!"

He threw it down like a rainbow and hit the melon seeds in the back of Jiang Xi's head.

In his imagination, the moment the box touches Jiang Xi's head, Jiang Xi should send out a white light, then the "whip" is absorbed by the box quickly, the lid "bang" is closed quickly, the box vibrates and struggles, and finally ends in calm.

Then he recaptured Essex's level of ginger nightfall and could get the clouds.

Unfortunately, when the wooden box was about to touch Jiang Xi, the seemingly sick door of Jiang Zhang suddenly disappeared and swept away. The broad blue and gold clothes on the door flowed with silk and satin, and instantly flashed into the middle of the study.

Perfect evasion!

Things fell to the ground in a box, and Jiang Xi stared at it and raised her head gloomily. "What are you doing?" she said.

Before the word "man" was spoken, Taxian-Jun walked down from the beams and waved his palm. He summoned a scarlet chain of spiritual power and swept straight towards Jiangxi.

Jiang Xi's face changed and her sleeves swept back to avoid the second attack.

Taxian-Jun sneered and said, "Okay, one or two but three. The third time I see you can still run away?"

The so-called "twelve but three" is actually the first recovery of Jiang Zhangmen's serious illness, who was bullied by Xianjun. Jiang Xi had dealt with him in his last life, and he did a lot of tricks under his hands. Finally, he was subdued to violence. But at the moment, Jiang Xi was caught off guard, never killed her breath, and she was still very weak.

Under such circumstances, it is impossible to avoid the third attack of Taxian-Jun.

When the scarlet chain struck again, Jiang Xi could have flicked away, but there was a sudden sweetness in his throat, which just flickered so fast that his sickness surged up and he couldn't help choking.

A master will lose if he makes a mistake.

Jiang nightfall was instantly locked in a chain, lost his center of gravity, and suddenly fell to the ground.

He gasped, raised his apricot eyes, stared at the past fiercely, but when he saw the face of Taxian-Jun, he was shocked: "... Is it you?

"Don't worry, this venerable one won't kill— "

Before he had finished speaking, he heard Jiang Xi angrily say, "Who sent you to humiliate me?"

"How did this venerable one humiliate you?" Taxian-Jun said curiously.

Jiang Xi couldn't break the rope and turned blue with anger. "Did Xue Meng send you here?"

Taxian-Jun was even more surprised: "What is the relationship with Xue Meng? What festivals do you have with him? Why does he humiliate you?"

Jiang Xi bit her thin lips and stopped talking. A few slightly disordered forehead hair hung over his icy pale face. A pair of apricot eyes stared at him in the dark light in the corner of the study.

"... Pop, wait a minute." Taxian-Jun frowned and found that things were not simple. "Why did this venerable one suddenly feel that your eyes are a little familiar with ah?" It seems that there's somebody like you..."

Jiang Xi was stiff. She immediately turned her face, closed her eyes and stopped talking.

Taxian-Jun habitually stretched out his hand to break off his face, but before his fingertips touched Jiang Xi's chin, he suddenly thought that it was not appropriate. This action was somewhat ambiguous. Although he had no other intention but to observe Jiang Yechen's eyes again, he would probably be unhappy if he wished to know in the evening.

So he quickly took back his hand and wiped his fingertips exaggeratedly on his clothes to prove his innocence.

Forget it, who does Jiang Xi look like? Anyway, he is not interested in Jiang Yesheng's affairs.

Grab it and grab it! Put Jiang Xi in a sack and add color clouds to it!

With this in mind, Taxian-Jun turned his suspicion into joy, raised his fingertips and directed Jiang Xi across the chain of spiritual power, drifting in the direction of thinking things into boxes.

How did Jiang Xi ever receive such treatment? "Let me down!" he said angrily.

Taxian-Jun did not listen at all. After commanding the chain, he put his arms around him and laughed playfully. "When you go in, let you go down. The space inside is very wide. You can rest assured that this venerable one is not interested in you. Tomorrow, you finish your task, and the day after tomorrow, this venerable one will set you free."

"You look for death!!!"

Jiang Xi's nose was so angry that she wanted to scold again, but she was chained to the wooden box. The chain circled behind him and poked him on the back.

"Come in, you."

"You...!" Jiang Xi scolded half, suddenly turned the whole into a ray of light, and was absorbed into a box of thoughts by the instantaneous powerful evil spirit.

Taxian-Jun was so proud that he bent over and picked up the wooden box and snorted, "Revolt against this venerable one? It's not like you have to put your hands together.

Just after saying this, he suddenly heard footsteps outside the study, Taxian-Jun for a meal.

Who?

Come and stop at the door, tap softly two times, gentle way: "Father, decoction is ready, you should drink medicine."

Oh... Is it Jiang Yechen's cheap son? Taxian-Jun restrained to smile, which can be a little troublesome, to let dry son see that he tied his father, not to fight with himself?

Although he was happy to fight, it was important to prepare gifts for Chu Wanning's birth. If we can't fight, we should take the best course.

Taxian-Jun thought that before the other party came in, he opened the transmission array and sent himself to the nearby Yangzhou Port.

Outside the study on the lonely moonlit night, Jiang Xi's adopted son knocked on the door for half a day without a response, frowned for a moment, hesitated, and coughed softly. "Please forgive the presumption of the younger generation." Raise your hand and squeak open the door.

After entering the door, he opened his gentle eyes in astonishment and said, "My righteous father?"

I saw only an empty room, a volume of books lying in front of the window, marking the ink was not dry, and Jiang Xi did not know where to go.

No time

There are still three hours to go before Chu Wanning's birthday.

Because of the crowding of people in the streets and alleys, he grabbed the roof of Yangzhou City and took a nap beside the lofty top of Wenfeng Pagoda, where he leaped to the top of Wenfeng Pagoda with golden pink and fluttered clothes.

Down here, you can see the streets far away. It's near evening, pedestrians are knitting on the road, but the top of the tower is very clear.

He yawned, put his arm behind his head, fell on the tile top and looked at the gradually burning clouds in the sky. Very well, Jiang Xi had caught them, and there were flying flowers in the box. Chu Wanning must have liked them.

It's too early for him to catch a few more so-called "Essex" people.

With this in mind, Taxian-Jun reached into his skirt and found an old bark pamphlet of Baba, with a few twisted words on the title page, "Outline of Ethnic Observation". He turned it over and squinted at a few.

"Esais is quite a lot." As he watched, he touched his chin and murmured to himself, "But the writing is too incomplete. It only shows the monks who want to observe Nian Cake, but it doesn't say what they can change if they catch it."

But then he thought, that's okay. Anyway, the cake tyrant said that all these high-level people can get is good stuff. They have energy. They just keep people in cages. This business is not bad.

"Jiang Xi, Ma Yun, Xuan Ji elder..." Looking at each other, I suddenly saw myself and Chu Wanning were among them.

Taxian-Jun was a little angry. He thought that these rogue officials and thieves dared to observe the emperor and the Beidou immortal. What a bold man! But on second thought, if there were no two of them, they would be looked down upon.

With this in mind, Taxian-Jun was angry again.

He roughly read all the people in the booklet "Es Ais", and thought, "This is the nearest Peach Bud Villa. It's better to grab Ma Yun in first and see what can be changed."

As soon as he said that he would do it, he flew down the pagoda immediately, intending to capture the second rare people at Taobao Villa.

But before he opened the space transmission array, he heard a familiar voice behind him: "Hey? Isn't this Mo-xiong?

Taxian-Jun was shocked. He went out in a cloak. Who was so eyesore that a blurred figure could tell his identity?

He suddenly turned around and saw a handsome man with long pale golden hair and Jasper eyes standing outside the painted yellow courtyard wall of Wenfeng Monastery. His skin was a pale ivory color, whiter than the magnolia tree out of the courtyard wall.

A blonde man with deep facial features, lips and hands on his back, leaned against the temple wall and looked at him with a smile.

"Coincidentally, I didn't expect to find Mo-xiong in Yangzhou."

"Snow in plum?"

Mei Hanxue smiled and said, "Well, long time no see."

Taxian-Jun did not like Mei Hanxue. He was stabbed by Xue Meng in his last life. Xue Meng could ignore it, but he was still unhappy with Mei Hanxue, a fellow who was angry with Xue Meng.

But besides Chu Wanning, he was not very interested in other people, and did not understand Mei Hanxue brothers. He could not immediately distinguish the twins from their expressions and gestures.

So he wrinkled his brows and swept his eyes. When he saw that there was only a blonde man here, he asked, "Are you big or small?"

"..." Mei Hanxue is very clever. Naturally, he is different from Taxian-Jun. In a word, with a few expressions, he knows that he has mistaken his personality.

I am afraid this is the personality of Emperor Taxian in his previous life, not the personality of Mo-zongshi, which he is familiar with.

If I knew it, I would not say hello.

But now that the voice has come out, Mei Hanxue has to smile, but the enthusiasm in his eyes has faded a lot. He answered, "I haven't asked Mo-xiong whether he is old or young. Why did Mo-xiong first ask me whether I am big or small?"

"What's old? You are the old one!" said the emperor.

Mei Hanxue shook his head and laughed, "How can you be alone in Yangzhou? What about Chu-zongshi, is he not with you?”

This reminds him of a meal of TaXian Jun.

He came to Yangzhou to catch Jiangxi.

Jiangxi is Ais. It can turn clouds into clouds.

Hey... Wait a minute. Mei Hanxue is Essex too!

Taxian-Jun's eyes are bright. It seems that before he goes to catch Ma Yun, he can catch another rare one first.

"..." Mei Hanxue is very good at observing his words and looks. When he sees his different appearance, he can't help stepping back and vigilantly wanted to take out his weapons. However, Taxian-Jun moved faster than he did, like a black flash of illumination coming close to him.

"Mo-xiong, you --!"

Before Mei Hanxue could say more, he could see that Taxian-Jun opened an ugly wooden box and pressed it against his head.

"What is it?"

Taxian-Jun said, "Put your sack on!"

"Mo-xiong --!"

A golden flash flashed.

Mei Hanxue disappeared.

Taxian-Jun quickly covered the box, the handsome face showed a malicious smile, purple and black eyes flashed the light of ambition, triumphantly said: "Grab another one."

Two.

Where can Mo-zongshi's small wood, small shells and small flowers compare with his Ais ethnic group? Only when Mo-zongshi wins his favor this time can he be a ghost!

He shook the box satisfactorily, opened the transmission array and went to Taobao Villa to catch the third person, Ma Yun.

At the same time, inside the box of thoughts.

Mei Hanxue was suddenly snatched in and fell on his knees unsteadily. He got up from the ground, coughed, dusted his robe and looked around with blue eyes.

As far as he can see, there were mountains and rivers, fairylands, trees and grass are different from the rest of the world. Flowers are floating in the sky, lotus ponds are flowing with gold, houses are exquisite and magnificent, and there is also a large field of flowers with the sound of tinkling elegant music.

This place... is... Where?

He looked at it suspiciously, and suddenly saw a man lying on the ground, shackled by chains, humiliated on the ground, stained with dust and unable to move. However, Mei Hanxue had been with numerous people and was very sensitive to good looks. Even though he was very confused and far away at the moment, he still knew that he was a very beautiful person by looking at his silhouette alone.

Why?

This beauty… is... Who?

Ch. 349 Fighting for Affection 7

At present, Mei Hanxue always pays attention to her appearance. He brushed the dust off his body, raised his hand and tied up some messy blonde hair, pulled up a neater ponytail behind him to make sure he was not so messy, so he cautiously went to the unfortunate ghost lying on the ground in the distance.

It's not that Mei Hanxue is too calm to be sent to a strange place and cares so indifferently about whether his clothes are wrinkled, his hair is untidy and his partner is beautiful.

It is because he knows that Mo Ran is now under the control of Chu Wanning. It is impossible for him to do anything harmful to nature and reason. Besides, there is no evil and murderous spirit in this place - except for the sad lady lying there.

However, as he approached, he could see more clearly the face of the "beauty" and suddenly opened his blue eyes.

Although it’s dull again, Mei Hanxue was somewhat surprised: "Jiang... Lord?"

Jiang Xi was tightly bound and frowned. He was really a pig. He was so glad to have thrown him in. He forgot to spell it out for him.

Mei Hanxue was speechless for a moment. She quickly walked over and half knelt down to check Jiangxi's condition.

Taxian-Jun's chain is the kind that the other side struggles and gets tighter. Jiang Xi's noble person, of course, has never suffered such humiliation, and has been trying to break it, but the result is extremely tight. Mei Hanxue noticed that his wrist, which is tied back, has been worn even skin, deep red marks.

"... Lord Jiang?

More disturbing is that Jiang Xi may have been ill and failed to take medicine in time, so at this time he had already passed out. Ren Meihan-xue called him several times, and he did not show any signs of waking up.

Mei Hanxue can't help feeling frustrated. Alas, when I went out today, I really didn't see the Huang Calendar. How could I encounter such troubles?

To be honest, Mei Hanxue is somewhat hostile to Jiangxi. At the foot of the SiSheng Peak, because he could not bear to see Jiang Xi's willingness to accompany those who condemned the summit of death and life, he sneered at Jiang Xi. Mei Hanxue had always been light and breezy. He could not understand Jiang Xi's persistence in power, let alone the way that Jiang Xi was restrained and put up in a high cabinet when he became the Lord of the Ten Gates School.

What's more, Xue Meng and Jiang Xi have always been out of line, and the relationship always seems to be somewhat delicate.

Mei Hanxue is naturally close to Xue Meng, so I don't like Jiang Xi more and more. Otherwise, how could a person with exquisite heart like him before give a cold face to the world's richest man and respectful master so clearly?

Mei Hanxue has some headaches.

Why did Jiang Xi fall unconscious?

No way, no one left or right, he had to take care of it.

Mei Hanxue raised her hand and probed the neck of Jiangxi's collar, which was overlapping. She felt that the pulsation was extremely disordered, and the skin touched was burning fiercely.

Mei Hanxue's heart is not good. He stops and calls out:

"Wake up."

"..."

"Lord Jiang, wake up soon!"

There was no movement.

Mei Hanxue was not optimistic, so he had to sit down on his knees and take his wrist pulse to give him the Kunlun Snow-treading Therapy for a while to ease, but once his spiritual power was lost, Mei Hanxue felt the chaotic Yanyang bumping in Jiangxi's body, which was a kind of fierce magic gas running around him.

Jiang Zunzhu was seriously injured during the war. Although he barely recovered his life, his body gradually became abnormal.

That's what I think.

Fortunately, Mei Hanxue was able to heal the water system. After pressing his dry fire for a while, Jiang Xi finally slowed down a little.

He frowned slightly, his eyelashes trembled slightly, and slowly opened his apricot eyes.

The eyes looked very loose, everything inside was chaotic, and seemed to be suppressing something. Jiang Xi half opened for a moment, closed her eyes again, and in his high voice, tired and tired, "Medicine..."

Mei Hanxue said helplessly, "There is no medicine."

Hearing his voice, Jiang Xi was still drowsy at the beginning, but after a while, he suddenly came to his senses. He suddenly opened his eyes and coughed in a hurry.

"You... Why are you?

"Otherwise who do you think it is?"

When Mei Hanxue asked this question, he realized it first. He looked at Jiang Xi's appearance when she was just awakened, and his tone of command was taken for granted. Ninety-nine times out of ten, she burned her head and regarded herself as someone on his lonely moonlit night.

"I thought you were..." Jiang Xi's dry and pale lips moved, trying to say something, but a wave of evil fire came up, forcing him to shiver slightly, and cold sweat soaked his underwear. Suddenly he closed his eyes, snapped his lower lip, and tried to suppress something.

Mei Hanxue knows that he always loves the limelight, likes face and does not want to be embarrassed.

He must be very uncomfortable to look like that in front of his younger generation.

Although Mei Hanxue did not like him, he did not hate him. Besides, Mei Hanxue was always kind-hearted and did not like to see people suffer, especially beauty suffer.

In her heart, Jiang Xi hates it.

But good looks are really good.

Mei Hanxue sighed and asked, "Lord Jiang, can you sit up?" I'll get you through the cold. You should be more comfortable."

He wanted to help him.

Unexpectedly, Jiang Xi's shoulder had not been touched before he was violently torn away.

Jiang Xi gasped and raised her eyes at once. The apricot eyes were bright and moist. They were like beasts trapped in cages. They were painful and vigilant. He said hoarsely:"... Don't touch me."

"..."

"Get out of my way... Ten feet away... No, the farther the better."

Mei Hanxue said silently, "But you are sick..."

Jiang Xi's forehead was wet and sweaty, and her neck and carotid arteries were beating suddenly. She said angrily, "Do you have any medicine?"

"... No."

"That's not going to go yet?!"

"..."

Mei Hanxue had nothing to say. He thought Jiang Xi was really a wonderful flower. After a while, he talked rationally and not at all. Before that, he also talked to Xue Meng. After a while, he was very fierce and after a while, he was okay. This man was really... Somehow...

The atmosphere of plum snow and Jiangxi is stiff here. On the roof, Cake Butian Cola blossoms, hiding under lotus leaves and peeping. Good wife! Yes, there are two Es to watch! It needs to look quietly to see if they can fight or not!

Yeah, look in the dark!

As long as it is silent, no one can find it, BAHA ha ha ha!!

Not yet.

There are still two hours to go before Chu Wanning's birth.

Xue Meng sat in the palace of Danxin Hall and stared at the unexpected rain.

"What do you mean? I don't understand you."

Taxianjun also turned a wicker which had just been broken from Taobao Villa - when it was really cheap to pick up passengers, he went to catch people, but rushed to empty, the owner of the villa went out to swim in the clouds, not in the villa.

Taxian-Jun thought for a moment, the rest of the "Es Ah", or Xue Meng had better catch, or even do not catch, deception can be.

So he turned around and came to the SiSheng Peak.

Xue Meng stared at him. "What is it that you invite me to play in the box? Are there any mistakes? I have a lot of things on hand. How can I play with you?

Taxianjun mysteriously said, "this venerable one guarantees that you will be surprised when you go in."

Xue Meng was upset when he was approving the files. He had no good way to say, "Mo Ran, do you have -"

Before the word "sickness" was uttered, Xue Meng thought unexpectedly, oh, no!

His birthday is approaching. Mo Ran asked him what gift he wanted before.

So is this ugly box just like...

Congratulations???

Xue Meng looked down at the wooden box on the table between them and turned angry.

Mo Ran said, after entering there is a surprise, that must be his birthday gift! It's too bad that I didn't react immediately and I didn't have a good temper towards ink.

With this in mind, Xue Meng could not help feeling embarrassed and embarrassed.

"Cough..." He coughed softly and said, "You're too... It's too early."

"Morning?" Taxianjun was stunned for a moment. He didn't know what he was talking about, but he responded quickly and kindly, "No sooner, no sooner. It's too late. Get in now."

Xue Mengba made a couple of mouths, peered at the box secretly and tried to refuse it again with restraint, but his curiosity was strong and he still had the upper hand in hesitation.

Xue Meng, who couldn't help smiling, said, "Xie Lao Ge, then I'll go in."

"?"

Although Taxianjun does not know why, as long as Xue Meng can go in, it is good.

He immediately blushed and said, "You're welcome, please!"

When Xue Meng also turned into a golden light and disappeared, Taxian-Jun clicked on the lid of the box and was very happy -- "the third one."

Only a few hours later, he caught the rare people Jiangxi, Meihanxue, Xue Meng, and the emperor Taxian was still young.

In two hours, he can catch it again!

Xuan Ji and the corrupt wolf on the top of death and life are also the people of "Es Ais". These two can't be let go either!

With great ambition, Taxianjun gathered the wooden boxes into the skirts of his robes, put on his cloak and headed for the residence of the elders.

At this time, the mind is in the box.

Xue Meng stared at everything in front of him, the golden running water, the Yale fields, the rain and the ice crystal windmill.

However, all the wonderful scenery can not shake the two people in the courtyard.

Mei Hanxue, the elder brother of Kunlun Taxue Palace, kneels half in front of Jiang Yechen, Jiang Zhangmen, on the lonely moon night in Yangzhou. He is frowning and talking to him. Jiang Xi...

Xue Meng took a cool breath.

Mei Hanxue actually locked Jiangxi with a chain!

Jiang Xi seems to have been cruelly tortured! His face looks so ugly, his forehead is messy, his cheeks are sweaty and his eyes are flushed. That's what it is.——

Xue Meng suddenly shouted, "Mei Hanxue! What are you doing?!"

Mei Hanxue looked back blankly. When he saw Xue Meng striding towards himself, he felt his nose. Before he was surprised and greeted Xue Meng, he was picked up by Xue Meng with one hand and his skirt on the ground.

Xue Meng pointed at Jiang Xi with another finger, pushed his nose and face, and said to Mei Hanxue, "Who made you do this? You let him go!!!!

Mei Hanxue: "???"

"No, Xue Zhangmen, don't be so excited..."

"Although Jiang Yechen is not a human being, it's not your turn to clean up! Why did you tie him up?"

Mei Hanxue was shocked for a moment and thought it over. He couldn't help laughing and pulling his sleeve: "Xue Ziming... You are really... Well, what are you thinking about? What am I doing with him?"

In response to him was Xue Meng's angry punch: "How do I know what you tied him up to do?" I'm not as perverted as you are! You still don't let go?!"

"..." Mei Hanxue was scolded for pervert without any reason, and felt very wronged.

Brother, he wants to let it go. Question chain is tied by the immortal monarch, who can untie it?

Just now, Xue Meng and Mei Hanxue were quarrelling with each other, while Jiang Xi closed her eyes and didn't want to look at them. Suddenly, outside the courtyard, there were two loud noises.

Xue Meng turned his head and was shocked again. "Elder Xuan Ji, elder corrupt wolf?"

It was Xuan Ji with a blank face and the angry wolf who appeared in the box of thoughts.

"Why did you come in?"

Tan Lang scolded angrily, "It's not the man who burns the ink. Without saying a word, take a broken box and press it on the forehead of both of us. He's looking for death!"

Xuan Ji sighed, "Then we are here."

Xue Meng: "..."

Xuan Ji looked around and asked, "Where is this?" Lord, why are you here? And Mei Xianjun and Jiang..." Seeing Jiang Xi bound by chains, Xuan Ji's face suddenly changed and he was surprised and said, "Ah, Lord Jiang?!"

That's all right. The head of the world's largest faction was tied up in such a humiliating way and thrown between the fields. There are still people on top of death and life around. What should we do with this account?

Mei Hanxue, the only one who is not at the SiSheng Peak, touched his nose and said, "I was also transported by my brother Mohist. Although this Lord Jiang Zunzhong was reluctant to talk to me, he should have been captured here by his brother Mohist. That's right." Suddenly he looked at the corrupt wolf elder and said, "Your excellency is the elder who is healed at the top of death and life."

Tan Lang said angrily, "What's the matter?"

Mei Hanxue said, "Lord Jiang seems to be in a bad condition. I am an amateur. I only slowed down a little. Please help him to heal his wounds."

Unexpectedly, Jiang Xi's face turned pale and immediately stopped, "No need."

"But you..."

"Take another time to simmer the fragrance." Jiang Xi closed her eyes, slightly moved her throat knot and slowly breathed in the wet air. "I'll be fine by myself... Not Raul and so on."

Since Jiang Xi had to persist in this way and refused to let anyone touch him, others had no choice but to let him go.

Mei Hanxue and Xue Meng walked through the world created by boxes of thoughts. Mei Hanxue asked, "Why did you come in?"

Xue Mengganba said, "Because this is a birthday gift from Mo Ran to me."

Mei Hanxue was surprised: "Birthday Congratulations?... But your birthday hasn't arrived yet?"

"Send it off early." Xue Mengdao, looking at the landscape and pastoral. Since Xuan Ji and Tan Lang came in, there suddenly appeared stars shining all over the sky. Although it was dusk, the nebulae formed by these magic powers were still shining. In the field, there are also many fragrant flowers, sniffing at the tip of the nose, sweet and pleasant, unlike the common flavor.

"The place is a good place." Xue Meng said, "I don't know why he wants to catch you all."

Mei Hanxue thought for a moment, "Maybe I want to be lively and celebrate your birthday?"

Xue Meng, tired of walking, sat on the ridges of the fields and watched the rolling golden wheat waves, the flying willow catkins and the vast sky.

Xue Zhengyong started from scratch. When Xue Meng was very young, he was very embarrassed at the top of his life and death for some time, but even so, his parents never made up for his birthday.

Almost every year, he is surrounded by praise, favor and congratulations. Xue Zhengyong always gives him the best things he can. Mrs. Wang will cook him a bowl of longevity noodles with full color, fragrance and flavor.

He spent more than twenty years like this, and he was infinitely happy.

Until he had no parents.

For a long time, Xue Zhengyong and Wang Chuqing are like two mountains, across Xue Meng's life, so that he can not see the horror of death and aging, so that he has always maintained a fearless innocence and brilliance.

After they left, Xue Meng's heart lost its shelter, and his pain and cruelty hit his flesh and blood. Suddenly, he understood what is impossible, what is helpless and what is death.

However, because of their unreserved love, Xue Meng, though overconfident and arrogant, always has a heart of gold. In the small phoenix's jumping and shouting body, it is always loaded with kindness, gentleness and compassion belonging to Wang Chuqing, and with integrity, strength and magnanimity belonging to Xue Zhengyong.

This is the fire they left in Shu, which will follow the road of the SiSheng Peak.

Mei Hanxue walked up to him and sat down. The wind blew through his long, pale blond hair. He pushed it to his ear and turned to Xue Meng and said, "That's all... I wish you a happy birthday in advance.

"..."

Xue Meng crushed the earth with his toes meaninglessly and hummed, "Don't care."

"Brother Mo is very careful to make such a beautiful world for you." Mei Hanxue's arms stretched back and a line of geese flew across the sky. He laughed. "If it weren't for his brother, I would think you were his sweetheart. He took so much trouble to prepare gifts for you and surprise you."

Xue Meng hummed again, "Take you in for the birthday celebration. I think it's almost frightening."

Mei Hanxue didn't mind. He laughed and said, "But he's prepared so well that it's better to give you gifts from my brother than to go down..."

When you find yourself losing your voice, shut up immediately.

Xue Meng, the gift-taking maniac, immediately raised his ears. "Mei Hanxue is ready for me, too?"

"... Yeah." That's terrible. I missed my word.

"What did he prepare for me?"

"... I won't tell you."

Xue Meng stared at him, stared for a moment, and felt that it was impossible to pull anything out of Meihan's snowy mouth. He had to turn his face away sadly. He pretended not to be curious and looked at the scenery for a while.

Mei Hanxue asked, "But then again... Why did Brother Mok grab Jiang Yesheng into the box for you? Is Jiang Zhangmen familiar with you?

Xue Meng stiffened for a moment and said, "No. Not at all."

What is Jiang Xi? He is indifferent and ungrateful. He can't compare with his father, Xue Zhengyong. He can't match his mother.

At this time, the elder Xuan Ji shouted at them in the far yard. It seemed that someone had been caught by the ink and thrown in. With the man's entry, a fairy mist was floating in the box.

Xue Meng did not need to discuss Jiang Xi's affairs with Mei Hanxue. He got up and dusted the ashes and strode toward the courtyard.

The evening breeze blew the wheat waves to him, and he paused for a moment, suddenly a slight sour gush came from the bottom of his heart.

He felt that the breeze was like the hands of Mrs. Wang and Xue Zhengyong, gently touching his brows, eyes and forehead.

There will be no more birthday wishes from them.

Xue Meng couldn't help looking down, and his long eyelashes covered the gloom in his eyes.

Mei Hanxue walked up to him and asked with concern, "What's wrong?"

"... Nothing. Xue Meng whispered.

But he thought that he had at least such a warm home, a pair of parents who loved him and spoiled him. They sheltered him from the rain for more than 20 years. They loved him, respected him and protected him every moment of every day. We spent so many unforgettable birthdays with him.

Ch. 350 Fighting for Affection: End

When Xue Meng thought like this, Chu Wanning sneezed in Nanping Mountain.

Not yet.

There is still one last hour before his birthday.

But Chu didn't realize that. He and Mo Ran had been in Nanping Mountain for only two years. In the previous two lives, the tens of millions of years, it was too difficult for him to live. Those who are accustomed to bitterness and suddenly taste sweetness are not so stable or used to it.

—— He is Xue Meng's eye, the kind of person who has never been spoiled.

At least in the past.

It's late at night, and it's going to be midnight soon, but the ink hasn't come back yet.

Chu Wanning stood in front of the green bamboo wood, put on a single dress, held Goutou and looked for a while, but he could not see the Mo Ran. In the evening, when he was dewy, he rolled up his hands, coughed a few times, frowned, and the dog raised his head and patted his side face, making a "whine" pleasant sound.

Chu Wanning looked down and asked, "Are you sleepy?"

"Wow!"

He put it down and said, "Go back to the house and sleep. I'll wait a little longer."

"Whoop!"

Pagoda lanterns woven from bamboo sticks are covered with silk paper, swaying gently under the eaves of the courtyard door. Bright yellow candlelight spreads on Chu's elegant and smooth face, and glitters on his brows, eyes and shoulders, making him look more sharp and gentle than plain. Goutou went to the corner of his robe and barked around him.

"Don't want to go back?"

"Wow!"

Chu Wanning then lifted it up again, pointing its small, wet and cool black nose at the tip of his nose: "Okay, then you can continue to wait with me."

"Whoop!"

But Goutou is not reluctant, Chu Wanning and its communication is not so comfortable, I do not know why each time Mo Ran and Goutou can quickly understand each other's meaning, he is much slower.

He pondered for a while before he realized, "You want me to go to bed, don't stand here?"

"Ouch!"

Goutou was happy because the owner finally understood what he meant. He wagged his tail and jumped in place.

"Wait a little longer."

"Wang Wang Wang!" It's been a long time!

"Don't you want to go back to bed alone?"

"Wang Wang!"

Chu Wanning saw it shaking its head and tail, can not help but think of the day, Mo Ran before leaving with his own words - early rest, do not care about him.

"... Night does not end, when the wings are really hard. Chu Wanning sighed, looking somewhat unhappy. Seeing Goutou pleading eagerly, he finally looked back at the path up the hill, closed his hands behind the yard door, and took Goutou back to the house.

Who knows that sleepiness is not so easy to fall asleep.

Chu Wanning left a lamp for Mo to light up and shake. He curled up in bed with his eyes closed and began to dream dimly. In spite of his usual calm and plain appearance, his body, which bears the souls and memories of two generations, is uneasy in the end.

In the first few months of his retirement from Nanping Mountain, he woke up almost every night.

After a while, I dreamed of the pale face of the emperor Taxian-Jun who was assassinated by Xue Meng in Wushan Hall. It was ghostly and gloomy against the thunderstorm outside the hall.

After a while, I dreamed that outside Tianyin Pavilion, Mo Ran knelt on the ground, blood poured out from my chest and asked him with a choke, saying, Master, have I paid off? Have I been clean?

He dreamed of the death of the SiSheng Peak, of the silence of guilt.

In his dream, he said to him, Chu Wanning, this venerable one hates you very much.

In my dream, it was Nanping Mountain. On that snowy night, Mo Ran said, "Wanning, I will always love you."

But after Mo Ran said this sentence, he slowly lost his heartbeat, leaving him with only one night of sadness and despair. He could not forget the unspeakable feeling at that time. Every time he dreamed about it, he would wake up with his grieving pain. He could not even recognize the geometry of the years. He could not help but rely on the past, repeatedly confirming that the sleepers around him had breathing and heartbeat, and that pain would gradually fade away.

But in the latter half of the night, they no longer slept soundly. From time to time, they wanted to open their eyes, look at their Mo Ran faces, and look at the peaceful sleeping faces of young people today.

Later, he was found so strange by Mo Ran.

That day was the personality of Taxianjun, a lonely man who wandered in the empty Wushan Palace for many years. At a glance, he could understand why Chu Wanning was suffering and why he did not sleep at night. So Taxian-Jun said nothing, opened his arms and held him tightly in his arms.

Over the years, across the flesh and blood, the heartbeat is strong and powerful to pass on to the people in the arms.

Dispel the shadow of nightmare.

Taxian-Jun kissed the top of his hair and coaxed him in a low voice: "... All right. Late Ning, it's all over."

Chu Wanning did not say a word, Xu is dead face, do not want to lose face.

But Taxianjun could feel the wet skirts of his obscene clothes, with warm tears in his heart. Clearly not a hot thing, but let his whole heart are hot, trembling fiercely.

He was in great pain and love, but he didn't know what to do.

He used to possess it roughly and make it difficult.

He clumsily patted Chu's shoulder and back, rubbed his lips against the top of his hair and ears, and finally lowered down to hold his cool lips.

"Wanning, I will always love you."

During the kiss, he murmured to him vaguely. He felt the obvious tremor of the man who had never been cruel in his palm. He could not help it. Then he went to sink with him again with the tender rhyme of the past.

And every day after that, no matter what kind of consciousness, Mo Ran is sleeping with Chu Wanning. Every time before going to bed, I will say once, I will always love you.

Today's sweet will slowly wash away the bitterness of the past.

This sentence, also finally in the ink incapable of repeating, from the other words of death, has become a promise to keep.

For two years, no matter what reason Mo Ran went out alone, he would always come back before dark, because he knew Chu Wanning did not say it, but he did not love the cold night of Nanping Mountain. His brother-in-law needed his company. It's the first time like tonight.

Mo Ran did not go home before sunset for the first time.

Chu Wanning calm good face, will not cross-examine that, but his mouth does not ask, face to be strong, does not mean that he will feel better.

So after such a long time, he fell asleep and fell into a nightmare again.

He returned to that year's Nanping Mountain, the day Mo Ran died.

He dreamed that no matter how he wakes up the Mo Ran, the scar left by Tianyin Pavilion on his lover's chest is so fierce and shocking that he watches over him and chokes...

He kept repeating his lover's name: "Mo Ran..."

Mo Ran.

And in this cold dream, it seems that someone suddenly took his hand and caught it and kissed it gently on his lips.

The man said to him, "Master, it's all right. It's all over."

It's all over...

Chu Wanning felt his eyelashes moist, and when he woke up, he sighed low, calm in his heart, and wanted to sleep again, but suddenly found himself leaning on a familiar warm chest.

He was startled, the blurred point of sleepiness disappeared, the wet curtain suddenly lifted, Feng eyes on the last pair of purple and black eyes.

"Mo, Mo Ran...?"

Mo Ran unexpectedly did not know when it had returned, with some deep night dew on his body, lying beside him. In order not to disturb him, Mo

Ran did not hold him tight to sleep, only carefully grasped his hand, close to him.

When Chu Wanning woke up, he raised his eyebrows slightly.

"Well? Is this venerable one still waking you up?

Chu Wanning also when he wanted to apologize, unexpectedly Taxianjun put his arm around him forcefully: "Wake up just right, simply let this venerable one hold well."

"... Get out of here."

Taxianjun knows that he has not much time left today. He has to fight with Chu Wanning on weekdays. But this time, after he hugged, he went straight in, leaned over Chu Wanning's ear and said with a deep smile, "Roll what, this venerable one has prepared a surprise for you, for fear that you will hurt me too late."

"..."

This man's face is growing with each passing day.

Chu Wanningben nightmare wake up at the beginning, get up heavy, at the moment he was hot and heavy body pressure, not from the sword eyebrows raised, Feng Mou still with the wet and sad dream, but with a sense of sleepiness and anger: "do not sleep in the evening?"

"No sleep."

Chu Wanning more angry: "What do not sleep?"

Taxian-Jun lifted his chin, rubbed it carefully, and his eyes wandered from his eyebrows to his slightly opened lips.

The man in his bosom is obviously somewhat fierce and imperfect, but for two lifetimes, every time he looks at him, he feels hot and secretly happy. Once upon a time, he refused to admit it, but in fact, he always knew in his heart that only this person could make him feel like a fire in an instant.

Want to hold him, kiss him, want him. It hurts to bully him, but it hurts him terribly.

Nowadays, I feel that although there are many beautiful people in the world like clouds, all the clouds gathered together are less than half an inch of the glory of his evening tranquility. He looks good when he's murderous, but he looks good when he's angry, and he looks good when he's angry.

Taxian-Jun then laughed and said, "There are still many things to do if you don't sleep in the middle of the night. Didn't all of you have been taught by this venerable one?"

Chu Wanning: "....."

Seeing that he was sleepless, angry and helpless, he stepped in the heart of the Immortal Emperor and couldn't help bowing his head and kissing him.

"Mo Ran-!"

"You're kidding." After a kiss, Taxian-Jun touched the tip of his nose intimately. "The time for this venerable one is coming, today you owe this venerable one, and ask you to come back in three days."

"..."

"Tonight the only thing we want to say is..." Taxianjun paused for a moment, laughed, dimples deep on the cheek side, three points of evil and seven points of pity:

"Happy Birthday, Wanning."

Chu Wanning was suddenly stunned.

At this time, the distant Jingci Temple bell sounded leisurely. It was the alternation of childhood and bamboo leaves.

At the end of 1911.

At the beginning of the year.

Mo Ran pupils still have Taxian-Jun’s pride, but can not say anything, and has changed into the gentleness of Mo-zongshi. Mo-zongshi slowed down and adapted to the memory of yesterday shared with him by fate. He felt puzzled and did not know what he had done under the condition of Taxian-Jun for a moment.

But seeing the person in front of me is my sweetheart, after the Mo Ran slightly, my heart is full of joy, so I lean against Chu's forehead and whisper, "Ning."

"Well?"

"Happy Birthday."

After thinking about it, he said, "I have prepared a gift for you."

He had planned to do some repairs in the daytime tomorrow, and then led Chu Wanning to think things into boxes. But he did not think that when he switched back, Chu Wanning had not fallen asleep, nor did he think that he would naturally say this sentence.

He had too much sweetness for Chu Wanning, as if he couldn't bear it for a moment or at all.

It is clear that he has lived for two generations. He has married twice in real and false. His past life lasts for eight years day and night, and his present life has been accompanied for two years. But at this time, he is like a rash young man who shows his heart by offering treasures to his beloved for the first time. He is impatient, even sweating at his fingertips and trembling slightly.

"I... I haven't finished all of it yet, but... Shall I show you around first?

Chu Wanning then thoroughly reflected that today was his birthday.

In fact, Mo Ran was busy in the daytime for congratulations and did not go home.

When he lost his confusion, he was amused and guilty. He couldn't help raising his hand and holding his Mo Ran face, and his heart was soft.

"You've been busy for so long. You're busy with this."

Smile when Mo Ran.

"Does Master want to see it now?"

Chu Wanning sat up, gathered his long black hair, and followed his meaning: "Okay, what are you prepared for?"

"An extraordinary surprise."

Mo Ran said, led Chu to their courtyard, dog head sleeping soundly, face buried under his paws did not wake up. Mo Ran dived into the grass, intending to dig out his thoughts before hiding here into a box.

However,——

A scream pierced the silent night of Nanping: "Come on! Where's my box?!!!!!!

The dog continued to sleep peacefully.

Nothing happens, the head of the dog says, you can never wake up a sleeping dog, bah ha ha ha!

It took me a long time to close my eyes and try to recall what happened when I was a stepper. After thinking about it for a while, it finally reminded me of some memory fragments.——

Set a sack for Jiang Xi.

Cover Xue Meng with sacks.

Give Mei Hanxue a sack of hemp...

It's over, it's all fucking over!

Chu Wanningwei frowned and asked, "What's wrong with you?"

Mo Ran embraced his head: "I... It seems that I did some very absurd things yesterday..." He said he was looking around the house, and finally he found a box of ideas from his own pocket.

"Are you going to give this to me?"

"Originally, it was..."

"Now?"

Now... Now I'm afraid I don't know what's going on inside.

Mo Ran throat is gathering, want to leave Chu Wanning outside, oneself go to see first. But the helpless words have been spoken out, and it is not appropriate to leave the Master and enter the box alone at this time, so I have to pray in my heart that I did not make the box overturn yesterday. He was hard-headed.

"Now I can't explain it for a while... Anyway, let's go in and have a look first.

When Mo Ran and Chu Wanning entered the box of thoughts, they were both shocked by the present situation. Especially Mo Ran, when he left the day before yesterday, the box was still a normal place, but at the moment, his house was rebuilt and repaired, and there were many more glittering and magnificent ornaments.

In addition, the sky is flying, clouds and mists are dim, wheat waves are rolling, and nebulae are scattered in the sky... Originally, it was very interesting and there were white mountains and rivers in the countryside. It was filled with colors stiffly, and it was too dazzling to teach people how to cope with them.

Where is the Pillow Water Family?

It's the style of the local landlord!!

What's more, five wooden shelves were erected in the flower fields of the small courtyard. They were tied up by Jiangxi, Meihanxue, Xue Meng, corrupt wolf and Xuan Ji, like five scarecrows.

Chu Wanning looked at the five sacrificial-like people, some frozen: "... This is... You're going to give me... Gifts?"

Mo Ran was shocked. He turned to peep at Chu's face. After reading it, his heart was beating like a drum. He hurried and said, "Master, no, it's not what you saw!" That's not what I did!"

Before the words fell, a soft rice cake jumped from the roof.

Tyrant cake flickered his small tail with bright blue lights, came out clattering, looked up at his head, flashed stars, and stretched out two small claws towards Chu Wanning. "God, God Muxian Jun!"

However, before embracing Chu Wanning, he was lifted up by Mo Ran's hands around the creaking nest. Mo Ran almost collapsed, shaking it hard: "Batian cake! What the hell's going on here?'

"Huh?" Tyrant cake did not respond to the Mo Ran personality has been switched again, very confused, "Then, then, you seized four of your own Es Ah-level people? Come and exchange the idyllic landscapes! "

"..."

Mo Ran his forehead and jumped suddenly. After a long silence, he finally understood.

Suddenly he closed his eyes and wished he could not lift his hand to kill himself.

—— What on earth did he do all day yesterday!!!

Taxianjun is fighting for favor with himself again!

There was nothing to say to him. Xue Meng, who was tied up on the wooden frame, was mad and shouted, "Mo Ran!" You dog! What the hell are you doing? You're going to let me down! "

Tyrant cake twinkled his eyes and looked at Xue Meng and them for a moment. He explained to Mocifier, "This is what you did an hour ago. You caught five Ais in total. I'm afraid they would make trouble in it. So you just tied them up after the capture."

Mo Ran: "..."

Xue Meng was still shouting, "Master! Teacher saves me!”

Chu Wanning Fu sleeve: "... Look at what you've done!"

After that, he immediately went forward and untied them one by one from the bondage of the immortal monarch.

After everyone was released, Xue Meng rubbed his red-tied wrist, which was very grieving and very inexplicable: "Mo Ran!" You, you and you, what the hell are you doing?!"

"Yes." The corrupt wolf elder was not very angry. "Why do you want us to come to this box?" Say and glance at the ricecake essence, "What is this tofu ghost thing?"

The cakes overlord protruded furiously and said, "Save, Save! Lao Tzu's Four Years Cake!! Not four beancurds!"

Mei Hanxue and Xuan Ji did not say a word, but their eyes were also inquiring about the intentions of Chu and Mo.

Jiang Xi's face was so gloomy that he tidied up his expensive and delicate sleeves, smoothed out the wrinkles one by one, then raised his eyes, and said, "You'd better give Jiang an explanation."

Mo Ran wants to pass by, raises his hand and laughs, "Er, this is just a misunderstanding, sorry..."

"Excuse me?" Jiang Xi sneered. "I'm sorry it's worth money."

"..."

He narrowed his apricot eyes and said rudely, "Mo-zongshi, do you know that I have a business to discuss with Huohuangge today?"

"I, I compensate..."

"Ninety million Golden leaves, you compensate?"

Mo Ran: "..."

Xue Meng was also angry. "Didn't you say you wanted to surprise me?" I thought it was... Yes..." It's a birthday gift for me - it's embarrassing to say it again anyway, even in retrospect.

Xue Meng finally said angrily, "What on earth are you doing?"

Mo Ran was questioned by a group of people around Xingshi. Gradually, it became overwhelming and had to apologize. But these people themselves have no bad relations with them, but they are provoked to seek an explanation, which is inexplicable, and naturally endless. Mo Ran just don't know what to do. Suddenly I heard Chu's Wanning Road beside me.

"I'm sorry, but I didn't manage another kind of spleen."

The mountains and rivers were quiet in the countryside.

Only Tyrant cake was excitedly clacking and clapping his feet around Chu Wanning.

Mo Ran back and said, "Master..."

"I will try to compensate for the delay, and I hope you will forgive me."

Xue Meng waved his hand and said, "Teacher, Master, I don't mean that... I just wonder...

After that, he turned to Jiangxi and said, "Hello! You and your ninety million golden leaves can't rest on my master. I and my master have no money..."

Jiang Xi: "..."

The world's richest man seems to have ignored Xue Meng's words and stared at Mo Ran for a while. His sharp eyes turned to Chu Wanning again.

As soon as he wanted to say something, he saw the Mo Ran blocked in front of Chu Wanning and said in a hurry, "Lord Jiang, I will try to make up for it. I also ask you not to embarrass my teacher today, first and foremost. Because... Because..."

Mo Ran hesitated, the voice gradually faded down, and finally whispered, "Because today... Today... In fact, it's my teacher's birthday..."

Jiang Xi: "..."

"He never had a good birthday, so... Jiang Zunzhu's loss, I will try to make up for, personally go to Huohuangge to apologize for anything, you can."

The youth blocked between him and Jiang Xi, almost pitifully: "Just ask Jiang Zunzhu Haihan tonight, will you?"

Today is Chu Wanning's birthday?!

That's why everyone here was shocked. Xue Meng was particularly shocked, his face was like gold paper, his lips were open and closed for half a day, but he couldn't say a word. Chu Wanning did not expect Mo Ran to tell the story, but for a moment did not know what to do.

Finally, Tan Lang, who was not quite in line with Chu Wanning, broke the silence. He heard the words and held his chest with both hands. "Yuheng, no, what did you send your apprentices to catch us all for your birthday?"

"No, no!" Tyrant cake explained that the little claw pointed to the Mo Ran. "He grasped and grasped you, four or four because you four Esais class people can change very good instruments to decorate the idyllic mountain dwellings in Zeli!"

Xue Meng was shocked and said, "Take us for a changer?"

Mei Hanxue touched her chin and responded: "... No wonder every time a person comes in, the effect here will add one more weight. It was because of this."

Only Jiang Xi felt incredible, angry and flicked his sleeve: "... It's really sick to talk about love!" Looking at the Mo Ran again, he made a diagnosis without hesitation. "Mo-zongshi, you are so ill that you may be hopeless and hopeless!"

Mo Ran laughed and went to Lachu's hands. "There's no cure for it."

Jiang Xi could hardly bear it. She turned her head and held her hand. She was silent for a moment. She caught a glimpse of Xue Meng staring at Chu Wanning. She seemed to be embarrassed that she, as a disciple, had almost missed her teacher's birthday, and was blaming herself for not being able to give Chu Wanning salute.

Jiang Xi's eldest brother was impatient. He thought Xue Meng was really disgraceful, but he was not easy to attack. He also took Xue Meng for a moment and was silent. Finally, he said, "Forget it. But ninety million Golden leaves."

Mo Ran: "???"

Xue Meng: "???"

"There's no need to pay for it. It's not enough to shine shoes."

Mei Hanxue: "..."

Chu Wanning: "..."

Xue Meng: How dirty are your shoes?

Jiang Xi turned around and looked like a sudden flash of electricity. He sneered and said, "Xue Jianmen does not speak. Nobody treats you like a dumb man."

"You --!"

In the midst of the uproar, the whole story of this absurd farce was explained clearly, and the birth of Chu Wanning was eventually known by these people. Although in the end they all said they would not tell the story, nor tell others when the birthday of Beidou Xianzun was, now that they have gathered, they will naturally stay to celebrate.

According to Xuan Ji, this is also fate.

When the baker saw the people in a harmonious atmosphere, he felt that he had completed the appointment in the ricecake Village. He moved over happily and wanted to make a lively gathering. But Xue Meng turned around and stared at it.

"Mo Ran, this is the little monster you said you caught in the back hill?"

Mo Ran laughed and said, "Yes."

Xue Meng felt his chin and looked at it carefully. "It's really made of sweet osmanthus sugar cake."

"I, I and I are the prettiest babies in our village!" The Baker flicked his blue tail lamp.

"Coincidentally, I am the most beautiful kid in the lower repair circle."

Tyrant cake: Let's make friends then.

Xue Meng: Then I'll cook you and eat you.

One man, one demon and one demon at the same time speak out, the cake tyrant is stiff, the little foot Ya quickly retreats two steps, pauses for a moment, turns around and runs: "Xue Meng is not four people ah!" Help! Monk Monster!! Ouch ah ah!!!

Xue Meng burst into laughter and finally revenged himself for being caught and tied up as a scarecrow.

In this silent night, there are many old friends gathered in the box. On intimacy, it is not all intimate with Chu Wanning, but as Xuan Ji said, it is probably a kind of fate.

In this case, all of us have come, and we are not tired of making such a noise. We simply boiled a night in the Happy Mountain Residence, set off fireworks, and sat around a table in a lively way for a drink next month.

The golden pond picks up the fish, the rice wind blows away the late smoke, and the millet is washed like pearls, and boiled in a pot. Sweet meal fragrance drifted away between the ridges. Mo Ran down the kitchen. The pot was hot and the stir-frying was very sharp. The fire under the stove lit up when the pot was turned, reflecting his bright face.

When he looked back, he saw Xue Meng and Xuan Ji talking outside in the evening. Xuan Ji and the corrupt wolf were helping to pick the fresh fruit of the demon race. Jiang Xi was walking in the field waiting for dinner. Mei Hanxue was teasing the demon playing the piano among the flowers to teach them Kunlun melody.

Mo Ran in a sudden good mood.

Although he wanted to monopolize everything in Chu's evening, his teacher was so good, he wanted to make him get a few more wishes, three or two company. Yesterday's own miscalculation of Yin and Yang, thus fulfilled his wish.

Think of things into a box, peach blossom flowing water eel fat, Mo Ran smooth fingers will be white tender and plump shoots on the desk, fine cut into silk, and fern with the overheated soup boiled, is patiently handling fresh fish and shrimp, bamboo curtain behind a fall, Chu Wanning came in.

"The Master waited a little longer and soon finished."

"No hurry. I'll bring them some melons and fruits to the yard."

Mo Ran laughed and said, "OK."

Chu Wanning went to the corner of the kitchen to pick up a pile of fresh and sweet fruits in a small basket of bamboo baskets. When I got there, I suddenly found that there was also a porcelain jar with a seal on it. It was not embarrassing to write "Happy Birthday".

He pinched it down and looked at the brush strokes, which were obviously left under the personality of Taxianjun.

Chu Wanning opened the sealed pottery altar and could not tell what was in it. Qidao said, "This is...?"

Mo Ran to see, "ah" a sound, laughing: "Carmine pear flower goose preserve, really made a success?"

"What is that?"

"It's a dish I've worked out under another personality. It takes quite a lot of time to make it. First, we need to marinate goose meat with salt, then wrap it in lotus leaves and steam it in the kettle, and then the spring water is colder and put it into the well water ice. After the ice is finished, it is sealed in the altar and brewed with pear blossoms. He said, take out the goose meat from the jar, and end it with the fragrance of wine, cool and drunk.

"Looks like it's all in one's mind and ready to go." Mo Ran weighed the degree of goose curing and laughed, "Not all bad things."

Said the fat and rich goose meat on the ginkgo cutting board, fingertips pointed to the full goose breast, sliced the meat, only to see that soaked pear blossom white and salt salted goose color like rouge, flesh rich and tender.

Mo Ran thought for a moment and said to Chu Wanning, "Master, look in the sauce cabinet again, there should be another sauce jar."

Chu Wanning went and found a yellow glazed pot with seals on it. It was still not embarrassing and awkward to write five words.

"I have my seat for the rest of my life."

Chu Wanning shook his head, but felt infinitely quiet and gentle in his heart.

He handed the pot to Mo Ran and watched him ladle out a pickle sauce carefully prepared by Xiaobamboo ladle and Taxian-Jun yesterday. The sauce was carefully poured on the carmine goose which had been packed. The sauce opened along the texture of goose meat and collided with the wine, which produced a strong peculiar fragrance.

Chu Wanning said, "How did you come up with such a dish?"

"You don't feel hot in the summer. Once you didn't take a few bites of what I cooked... Do you remember?

He said that Chu Wanning remembered that not long ago, Taxian-Jun patted his head and cooked a table of delicacies. But he was tired of the heat and did not eat much. Although Taxian-Jun did not say anything in the end, he did look disappointed that day.

"I think it's sad that I can't even take care of the taste of the people I like." Mo Ran smiled and turned around, sleeves pulled around the elbow. "So I thought about it day and night, and went outside to steal a restaurant teacher, and finally came up with such a dish."

He looked at the roll of carmine pear blossoms brewed goose preserves, with some treasure-giving fears, and with some meritorious expectations, carefully asked:

"Would Wanning like it?"

Chu Wanning was quiet for a while, and then laughed.

He put away the two notes left by yesterday's Mo Ran. He picked up the plate of carmine goose with clear sebum, fresh meat and thick sauce and went to the kitchen hall. Before serving out the dishes, he turned to the handsome young man standing at the kitchen counter and said, "... Thank you, Mo Ran."

Thank you for your past life, for your personality and for your soul. Thank you for being here.

Thank you for giving me the best birthday of my life.

I used to have a teacher, but the celebration at that time was not sincere. In the past, you had a wife, but the days were too bitter to eat even a full meal.

Now that all this is over, I will always remember the day when you were born, the day when I was still in the Zen Temple, and I don't know what the world is like, nor do I know that there are people who will spend their lives with me.

But every year after that, I will accompany you.

From now on, with you.

The banquet was not luxurious, but Mo Ran craftsmanship was rarely tasted by others. He was good at cooking. This table was made for Chu's birthday banquet. It was delicious and unusual. Even Jiang Xi, who was accustomed to the delicacies of mountains and seafood, opened his apricot eyes slightly and looked a little surprised across the wine table.

It seems that Jiang Xi would like to ask Ink-burn whether he would like to go back to cook with him on a lonely moonlit night, accompanied by a frightening salary price.

However, Jiangxi was a smart man. He took a look at Chu Wanning and swallowed the invitation back. He was a little nauseous, and thought that in his lifetime it was necessary to develop a medicine that could completely cut the roots of human relations.

It's really sick to talk about love. Looking at the case of Mo Ran, you know that a good cook delays love.

Forget it, eat a few more pieces of meat, there will be no chance in the future.

Jiang Xi lowered her eyes quietly, and her chopsticks stretched gracefully and quickly.

At the banquet, Xue Meng suddenly caught a glimpse of small white shadows flashing in the fields. He thought he was dazzled, rubbed his eyes and looked closely, so that he could not make a sound of "ah".——

"Years of cakes!"

They ran very fast, peeping among the grasses, fields, ridges and rocks, doing their interesting "human observation", but they were reluctant to let them see their own features, only shaking the little blue light on their tails, making a slight creak. Only the most beautiful cub, Batian, stood on a tree that Xue Meng could not grasp easily, and translated the evil words between the grass and the grass into words.

Although, its Mandarin is also very miserable.

"Shenmu xianjun, Sen Censen Day Joy!"

Xue Meng stared at it: "Is it birthday?"

"Do you want a gift? I am proficient in human language! Verbose words are not wrong, very standard!"

Mei Hanxue laughed and held on to Xue Meng, who was also shouting at the baker, "You don't understand. It's really hard to practise mandarin. Don't laugh at it. It's a lovely ricecake."

Xue Meng looked back at him again and said, "If you have something to say, don't pull me!"

In the midst of the bustle, there are Nian Cake geniuses on the opposite hill that ignite the fireworks of the devil tribe. The brilliant fireworks explode in the night. In the starry sky, the colorful flowers are really scattered all over the mountains.

Xuan Ji saw the situation and felt that the atmosphere was just right. He raised his wine and laughed at Chu Wanning and said, "Yuheng, happy birthday."

Chu Wanning first responded to such battles, do not know how to answer, stiff under the unexpectedly answered: "You are the same."

Xuan Ji stared, opened his eyes wide, wanted to laugh but did not dare to laugh.

"Happy Birthday." Tan Lang grunted.

"... Thank you very much.

Mei Hanxue wanted to follow his wishes and was dragged to the back by Xue Meng. He rushed to say, "I'll come first, I'll come first!" Shizun! Wish you a happy life, peace and joy, always come to see me at the SiSheng Peak!”

"Naturally, it will come. I miss your birthday for a long time. He prepared it for you a month ago.

Before the word "gift" was uttered, he was interrupted by Mo Ran coughing.

Chu Wanning: "... Nothing was prepared."

As a matter of fact, the Master of Mind and Taoism would not lie, so it would be better not to say so.

Jiang Xi also bowed his hand and said lightly, "Master Chu, Xianfu Yongheng, congratulations."

Xue Meng pouted his mouth and hugged his chest and said, "What congratulations do you offer? You give money."

Everyone said good wishes, Chu Wanning embarrassed, he is not used to - no, should say do not know how to face such a blessing.

After all, I never got it.

At this moment, Mo Ran quietly grasped his sweaty hand under the table, which was slightly wet due to nervousness. Mo Ran laughed in his heart. Sure enough, the Master was calm and calm on his face. In fact, his fingertips trembled slightly.

He clasped Chu's hand tightly, clasped ten fingers with it, and delivered the tenderness in this grasp, slowly smoothing Chu's uneasiness.

Mo Ran looked at him, in the wind and wheat waves, under the starry night, in the drifting rain and magnificent fireworks, solemnly said: "Ningxia."

"..."

The ink burst into laughter, and the dark purple eyes carried the deep feelings of the two generations.

This time, in the brilliant stars and rivers.

"I wish you... Happy Birthday, and good for the rest of my life."

For thirty years, the two worlds are intertwined.

In the brilliance of the spark tree and the silver flower, Mo Ran eyes are bright and moist. His face was filled with the sincerity of Mo-zongshi, the paranoia of Taxianjun, and the gentleness and obedience of the young man who was standing in front of the Tower.

They walked for two lifetimes, and finally came to this idyllic fairy house, pillow water in the south of the Yangtze River. There are Chan sounds in Nanping, bells in the evening temple, and the two generations are crossing. Their robbery has gone through, but their fate is still deeply entangled and they are inseparable.

He and he eventually calmed down.

In that year, I regretted that I was late to realize your kingdom and that I had a peaceful life for the rest of my life.

This voice "Happy Birthday, Happy Remaining Life". Mo Ran knows that he will tell Chu Wanning all his life.

Till it's snowy and frosty.

He will keep his fire. He keeps him, and so does he.

They may not be the best people in the world, the most beautiful people, the richest people, the greatest, the most powerful and broad-minded people, but for Mo Ran, Chu Wanning is no match.

The same is true for Chu Wanning. No matter what fragment the Mo Ran, what kind of personality, what kind of life, there is no need to argue. Those are the souls that have gone through two ups and downs together with him. They are the wounded and fragmented lover who wants to protect him. He will always love him deeply, illuminate him, love him and spoil him.

A lifetime.

I have given all I have, and I will give all I have—

Love you.
